MY HEART AND I.

BY ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING.

I.

Enough! we're tired, my heart and I,
We sit beside the headstone thus,
And wish that names were carved for us.
The moss reprints more tenderly
The hard types of the mason's knife,
As heaven's sweet life renews earth's life
With which we're tired, my heart and I.

II.

You see we're tired, my heart and I.
We dealt with books, we trusted men,
And in our own blood drenched the pen,
As if such colors could not fly.
We walked too straight for fortune's end,
We loved too true to keep a friend;
At last we'er tired, my heart and I.

III.

How tired we feel, my heart and I!
We seem of no use in the world;
About men's eyes indifferently;
Our voice which thrilled you so will let
You sleep; our tears are only wet:
What do we here, my heart and I?

IV.

So tired, so tired, my heart and I!
It was not thus in that old time
When Ralph sat with me 'neath the lime
To watch the sunset from the sky.
"Dear love, you're looking tired," he said;
I, smiling at him, shook my head;
'Tis now we're tired, my heart and I.

V

So tired, so tired, my heart and I!
Though now none takes me on his arm
To fold me close and kiss me warm
Till each quick breath ends in a sigh
Of happy languor. Now alone
We lean upon this graveyard stone,
Uncheered, unkissed, my heart and I.

VI.

Tired out we are, my heart and I.
Suppose the world brought diadems
To tempt us, crusted with loose gems
Of powers and pleasures? Let it try.
We scarcely care to look at even
A pretty child, or God's blue heaven,
We feel so tired, my heart and I.

VIII.

Yet who complains? My heart and I;
In this abundant earth no doubt
Is little room for things worn out:
Disdain them, break them, throw them by!
And if before the days grew rough
We once were loved, used—well enough,
I think, we've fared, my heart and I.

The Battle at West Point.

BRICK HOUSE POINT,
NEAR WEST POINT, VA., May 8.

The first of this division of the grand army of the Potomac arrived here yesterday afternoon, under command of Gen. Franklin, and by dark most of the troops were landed on a beautiful plain, which is surrounded on three sides by dense woods, and on the fourth by the river, on the south side of the Pamunkey river, and about half a mile southward from West Point. The reason why we landed here is obvious.—Had we landed on the other side of the river—West Point—where it was at first intended we should land, we should then have had a considerable stream of water between us and the rebels, and would have had considerable trouble to reach them, as all the bridges have been destroyed. Our gunboats have taken undisputed possession of the point, the rebels having disappeared at the appearance of our forces, and the American flag of our Union now floats from one of the most prominent buildings in the village. I have yet to see a white man among the original inhabitants of this place.

Immediately on the landing of our forces from the transports, pickets were thrown out to the edges of the surrounding wood, and our tents were pitched on the banks of the river; not one of the chivalric sons of the sunny south had made his appearance, and our men became anxious to know why they had been brought to a country where there was no foe. About dusk a part of the division of Gen. Sedgwick, under command of Gen. Dana, arrived in transports from Yorktown, and remained in the center of the river, while some of our light draught gun boats took a trip up the rivers Pamunkey and Mataponey, to capture a portion of the rebel mosquito fleet, which were brought into use for carrying our men from the transports to the shore, as the river here is too shallow for vessels drawing over six feet of water.

During the night some of the rebel pickets made a sortie on one of our advanced videttes, and shot him thro' the heart. The news spread through the camp, and by daylight this morning the plain, which takes in about a thousand acres of ground, running southwest from the York river, presented a scene such as I have never before witnessed. Long lines of men extended from left to right across the center of the field, in dim outline, their forms against the heavy woods and under brush, which presents an unbroken front to us on every side except that bounded by the river. Here the men stood for some time, ready to march at a moment's notice; but no foe appeared, and the men were permitted to return to their camps for the purpose of getting their breakfast, and, perhaps, some sleep. A strong picket, composed of the New York Thirty-second, Ninety fifth and Ninety-sixth Pennsylvania troops, were left at the edges of the woods to keep a sharp look out for the enemy, who were now believed to be in close proximity to our lines.

About this time one of our gunboats discovered a regiment or two of the enemy on the west side of the river, who dispersed in great confusion after having received some half dozen of our heavy shells in their midst. This was communicated to Gen. Slocum, who immediately made strenuous efforts to get the brigade of Gen. Dana on shore, that he might be able to give the enemy a warm reception should he make his appearance. General Dana was indefatigable in his labors to get the troops off the transports, and, through his exertions, most of the men and horses were off the boats by nine o'clock, and preparations were being made to breakfast the men of the brigade, when the order was given for the Sixteenth, Thirty first and Thirty-second New York, and the Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth Pennsylvania Regiments to advance into the woods and drive off some of the rebel scouts who were firing occasional shots at our pickets, and were supposed to be strongly supported by a force concealed in the woods. This supposition proved correct, and no sooner had our men made an advance into the woods, than they were received with a volley of musketry from the rebels, who were hidden in the dense growth of under growth. Our men pressed on, and gave them a volley, after which the enemy retreated further into the woods, with the thirty-second New York close at their heels: but they were too swift-footed for our boys, being more protected and they soon left the Thirty-second struggling in the mud.

While this scene had been going on on the right center, another was transpiring in the center where the Ninety-fifth Pennsylvania Regiment had entered the wood. In a few moments after they entered they found themselves in a dense swamp, and in their struggles to get across became separated from each other. One of the companies managed to get to the other side, and was climbing a bank on the opposite side when they descried a party of soldiers lying in ambush. "Who comes there?" cried the party in ambush. "Friends," was the answer. "What are you?" was the next interrogation. "A company of the Ninety-fifth Pennsylvanians." No sooner was this answer returned than the party, whom the Captain had mistaken for some of his own regiment, opened a terrible fire upon our men, who returned the fire and then returned to our reserves. In this affair Captain Beateasa, of Company B., was shot through the shoulder, but not dangerously wounded, and one or two privates, whose names I am as yet unable to learn, were killed and carried off the field by their friends, who, before they quit the ground, revenged the fall of their comrades by giving the enemy a few well directed volleys.

But now the action became more general throughout the lines, and from every quarter of the woods came the sharp crack of musketry. The sharp reports came nearer and nearer, and at length a ball lodged in a tree at my side. I was about to remove from my dangerous quarters when my attention was attracted to that portion of the woods where the Thirty first and Thirty-second New York State Militia had entered. Four men were carrying the body of a man, which, upon inquiry, I understood to be Captain Young, of Company G., of the Thirty second regiment, who was shot in the throat, and died instantly. The fight had now been going on for three hours here without intermission, and a number of men were killed and wounded. At this juncture our men were withdrawn from the wood, where they were evidently getting the worst of it, and the Second United States Artillery, under Captain Arnold, was ordered into position on the right, and Captain Porter's First Massachusetts Battery took up a position on the left, and in a few minutes the shells were flying through the air at the rate of about ten a minute. This soon compelled the rebels to make a move more on our left, where the shells flew less thick than upon the ground they were then occupying. But there is evidently no rest for the wicked; for no sooner had the rebels moved their forces on our left than our gunboats, which up to that time had been unable to have a hand in the affair, opened their batteries upon the foe with so much effect that, when I commenced to write they had completely driven the enemy out of sight and hearing. I am inclined to think that this move upon our left was an expensive one to the rebels. As soon as the guns of Captain Porter commenced to fire among them, accompanied by those from the river, the rebels undertook to move one of their batteries which they had got into position. The New Jersey regiment received orders to charge upon this battery, and at it they went with cheers that made the very forests ring; but the rebels were again too fleet-footed. Before the Jersey boys got through the woods, the enemy had made tall traveling and got out of sight in the woods.

Everybody has done well, and the troops have acted nobly. They have been under arms all day thus far, and standing in the broiling sun without anything whatever to eat, except that which they may have had in their haversacks. I have yet to hear a word of complaint from any quarter. The idea of having an opportunity to fight with the rebels seems to have absorbed all their other faculties.

More troops are constantly arriving, and just now Capt. Saunders' company of Massachusetts sharpshooters pass by me to the front. These are the men who can teach the rebels that two parties can lay concealed in the woods.

The artillery has now ceased firing and I hear nothing except the occasional discharge of a musket; it seems to be far off towards Williamsburg. I think we have got into the rear, and, if we have, we intend halting them for a few hours until General McClellan can come up to carry them back to their deserted quarters at Yorktown.

At the close of the action in the afternoon the Fifth Michigan Regiment won encomiums from all the staff for their bravery in heading an advance into the woods on the left.

The gunboats are still throwing shell into the woods, to keep the enemy from erecting batteries. We expect to have an attack or make an attack tonight. We have no fear of the result. The rebel army now in front of us, I have just learned, is under the command of General Robert Lee.

General Franklin has just sent a dispatch to General McClellan announcing the battle of to-day.

Salt for Cabbages.

A correspondent last month speaks of the benefits arising from the use of a dressing of salt for turnips. Last year I tested the value of salt on cabbages. I watered them some two or three times a week with salt water, which contained about fifteen grains of salt to the pint. The cabbages grew beautifully, and headed up very finely; while those which had no salt given them produced loose open heads, which were unfit for any other purposes than boiling. Rain water was given them at the same time, and in the same quantities, as the salt water. I do not know how strong a solution of salt the cabbage would bear without injury, but I am fully satisfied that a solution no stronger than I used is decidedly beneficial.

We are familiar with the fact that it is decidedly fatal to cold blooded animals. This desirable property makes it doubly valuable to cabbages, which suffer greatly from the ravages of insects.—Farmer and Gardener.

THE MICHIGAN FIFTH AT WILLIAMSBURG.

Official Report of the Killed and Wounded

We are under obligations to Col. H. D. Terry, for the following official report of the killed and wounded of his regiment in the Battle near Williamsburg. In a note to us Col. T. says: "I send you an exact list of our killed and wounded, after waiting to ascertain all the facts. Broad, of Co. C, and Ross, of Co. I, have since died of their wounds. We went into action with about five hundred men. The official reports will determine the behavior of the regiment."

From another friend in the regiment we have received, and give below, the order of Brig.-Gen. Berry, which shows that the "5th and 2d Michigan Infantry" did their whole duty, bravely and heroically. All honor to them. The large list of killed and wounded prove that they were in the thickest of the fight. Of the five hundred who went into the fight, nearly one third were killed or wounded, viz.: thirty-one killed and one hundred and eighteen wounded:

Gen. Berry's Complimentary Order.

Camp near Williamsburg, Va.
May 8, 1862.

To the Editor of the Detroit Tribune:

Knowing the interest the people of Michigan feel in the well being of their own brave boys in the conduct of the present campaign of the army of the Potomac, I forward, at the request of several officers, the following special published at this evening's dress parade. It will be needless to give an account of the battle referred to, of Monday, May 5th, as before this reaches you the official report will doubtless have been seen by all your readers.

Our Brigade, you are aware, is composed of the 2d Michigan, Col. Poe, 3d Michigan, Col. Champlin, 5th Michigan, Col. Terry, and 37th New York, Col. Hayman.

Very truly yours,
DEG. W.,
Quartermaster 2d Michigan Regiment.

HEAD QUARTERS, 3d BRIGADE,
KEARNEY'S DIVISION,
On Williamsburg Battle Field.
May 7th, 1862.

SPECIAL ORDER.—The Commander of the Brigade takes great pleasure in making this communication to his command, that they, by heroic fortitude on Monday last, by making a forced march through mud and rain, each vieing with the other to see who could most cheerfully stand the hardships the time called for; making thereby a march that others shrank from, coming into a fight at double quick, made doubtful to our side by the overwhelming mass of the enemy poured upon our centre; by a rapid deploy and quick formation, and by coolness, precision and energy beat back the enemy, recapturing our lost position and artillery; also by a heroic charge took a stronghold of the enemy, and thereby dislodged and drove him to the plain beyond his well chosen position, have done themselves great honor, have honored the States of Michigan and New New York, and have won a name in history that the most ambitious might be proud of.

Our loss of brave comrades has indeed been large. We mourn the departed—"green be the turf above them"—they have a place in our heart's memory, and in the history of our common country.

Soldiers! You have won by your bravery the hearts of all your commanders—brigade, division, and corps, and even those higher in command.

Soldiers, I thank you—my superiors thank you—your country thanks you, and will remember you in history.

Our labors are not yet over. The insolent rebels that have endeavored to destroy, and have laid to rain and waste portions of the best Government and the fairest land of earth, are still in force and to be conquered in other fights. I have pledged you, men of the 3d Brigade, in all future trials. I know my men. They are not pledged in vain.

Commanders of Regiments will have this order read at the heads of their respective Regiments this afternoon, (8th inst.)

H. G. BERRY,
Brig.-Gen. Commanding 3d Brigade.

Killed, Wounded, and Missing of the Second Regiment.

A correspondent of the Advertiser sends the following list of killed, wounded and missing of the Michigan Second, in the Williamsburg battle:

COMPANY A,—CAPT. MORRIS.

Wounded—Julius Rash, hip, severely; Lieut. Johnson, (lately promoted from Sergeant Major,) and Corporal Wm. Kerl—both of the last named, very slightly, scarcely worth mentioning; they now do duty.

Missing—Corporal R. W. Wright.

COMPANY B,—CAPT. HANDY.

Killed—Corporal Nickolay. Privates Jas. Aikens and Wm. S. Frazer.

Wounded—Joseph Jessup, reported a prisoner; 1st Sergeant H. H. Daniels, in leg, serious; Sergeant Evans, in the left side, slightly; Wm. L. Maps, abdomen, dangerous.

Missing—John Yost and H. A. Kidder.

COMPANY C,—CAPT. BAYINGTON.

Wounded—G. Fox, slightly, in the leg.

Missing—Edgar Spencer, and Mortimer Lunt.

COMPANY D,—CAPT. HUMPHREY.

Wounded—Theodore Oakley, seriously in back, side and hip: John Doreman and Lyman Heath, both of these last but slightly.

Missing—A. Seymour and John C. Ryan.

COMPANY E,—CAPT. BROWNELL.

Killed—Sergeant J. N. Shannahan; privates P. H. Gallup and John M. Kown.

Wounded—1st Sergeant B. F. Lee, left breast, dangerous; Corporal John S. Glidden, slightly in shoulder; Joel Cowgill, dangerously in left side; W. H. Casto, slightly; Chas Richardson, seriously in hand; Wm. Jay, do. in right elbow; Wm. Jackson, slightly in leg; Wm. Rucker, seriously in shoulder blade; John B. Farnum, through right wrist; Thos. Stevenson, in hip, seriously; James K. P. McClary, seriously in right arm.

COMPANY F,—CAPT. MORSE.

Killed—Geo. Calmer.

Wounded—Captain Morse, seriously in knee; Sergeant Stuart, in hand; Francis Haver, in hand and neck, slightly.

Missing—M. D. Cooly.

COMPANY G,—CAPT. M'CREARY.

Wounded—Capt. M'Creary, wrist and thigh, serious; private Chas. Morton, left arm; S. Knight, hip; Jeremiah Eckliff, through wrist, not serious.

COMPANY H,—CAPT. WHIPPLE.

Killed—Corporal Eddy; privates Hugh Mills, Henry Harbeck and Joseph Dezela.

Wounded—Sergeant Dobson, thigh, serious; privates D. Hill, probably fatal; Francis More, two wounds, but not dangerous; Geo. Kalber, severe; John Ohda, slightly in the head: Henry Howe, in the back, but not dangerous.

Missing—Wm. Longo.

COMPANY I,—CAPT. WM. H. BENSON.

Killed—Corporal O. A. Wallace.

Wounded—Private Geo. A. Wilson, right arm, amputation probably necessary.

Missing—Chas. Allen.

COMPANY K,—CAPT. RUEHLE.

Killed—Private Theodore Lemon.

Wounded—Privates Wm. Stewart, mortally; John Young, in hip, severely; Morris G. Walker, slightly in breast; Geo Champlain, do in the mouth; Corporal Wm. C. Loomis, in knee, seriously.

Missing—Wm. B. Paris.

This is a correct list, and can be relied upon as far as killed and wounded are concerned, but the list of the missing will probably be lessened in a day or two.

Company A, Second Regiment, was the first Company in battle and under fire; the brigade and the boys did nobly.—Great credit is due to all our officers, for the brave and gallant part they took in the affair. Their coolness cannot be surpassed. The same can with truth be said of the Fifth. Their loss is greater than ours. Lieut. Gunning is dead.—Captain LeFavour is wounded. I shall send you a complete list of their killed and wounded soon. I write with secesh ink. H. U.

ANN ARBOR.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1862.

Special Correspondence of the Argus.

"On To Richmond."

IN CAMP OPPOSITE WEST POINT, VA.,
May 10th, 1862.

DEAR BROTHER:

As you will perceive by the date of this letter, we have once more made an onward movement, towards Richmond; and we are now encamped within 30 miles of that place. The advance of this army must now be within 15 miles of Richmond.

At noon, of Thursday, we struck tents, and at a slow pace marched to Yorktown, to embark on board of steamboats, for a sail up the river to this place. On arriving at Yorktown, we halted on the beach for a number of hours, waiting for the rest of the brigade to embark. During the halt I took the opportunity of scouting around some. As soon as we entered within the old picket line of the rebels, we came across the hidden mines which they had laid to blow up the unlucky federals who should happen to tread upon them. These were now marked—as far as discovered—by a stake, on which was placed a white rag to warn the soldiers not to approach them. The road ran within a few feet of them. The dirt had been thrown off from a number of them. Those that I saw were made of a percussion shell, buried a few inches beneath the surface of the ground, and so arranged that the moment they were tread on, they would explode, and send the unlucky man higher than a kite.

The village of Yorktown consists of a few dilapidated buildings. The walls of the fort completely surround it. It is one of the dirtiest places I ever saw. Filth of every kind has collected, six inches deep inside of the walls, and on the outside of them there is no bottom to it. From the number of graves that you see in all directions, on the outside of the walls, disease and death were no strangers amongst them. Had not we driven them from the place, it s my opinion that the hot weather, acting upon the filth within the walls, would have eventually compelled them to evacuate it.

As I have said, the place was completely surrounded by walls, or fortifications of earthworks. These works were of very great height, and a number of feet in thickness. Surrounding these works, on the outside, was a very deep ditch. On the top of the wall were mounted numerous cannons, of different sizes, which commanded the approaches in every direction. On the inside, and against the wall, steps were made for infantry to stand and pour their leaden shower upon our troops as they approached the works. An open and almost level field lay in front of the works, over which the approach had to be made. Had Gen. McCLELLAN undertaken to take the place with light artillery and infantry alone, thousands of lives would have been lost. In that case I will not venture to say whether the place would have been taken or not. The General determined to save lives, and make a sure thing of the place at the same time, entered upon a siege, and the pick and shovel drove the enemy from their strong hold. I wish you could get time to visit Yorktown, look at their works, and then at ours.

We embarked at 10 o'clock in the evening, sailed up the river, and anchored off this place sometime during the night. Yesterday forenoon we landed and pitched our tents in this place. We probably shall not stop long here. While I am writing they are dealing out three day's rations.—These rations consist of hard bread, salt beef, sugar, and coffee. The meat, as a general thing, is cooked; the coffee, each man cooks for himself, and on a march it is done in this way: when we halt for meals each man takes his pint cup, fills it with water, then puts his coffee in, builds up a little fire—of anything that will burn—here we have used cornstalks, places his cup upon it, and keeps replenishing it till the coffee is cooked. In this he soaks his bread—providing always that it will soak—eats it always with a little salt beef, and calls his meal ended.

The first division that landed here, had a fight with the rebels. It took place in the woods. Of course the rebels were whipped, but quite a number of federalists were killed and wounded. I saw and talked with a number of men that were in the fight, and they tell some hard stories about the outrages perpetrated by the rebels. The day after the fight, they found a number of their men, who had received but slight wounds, with their throats cut from ear to ear. Another one, with a slight bullet wound, had seven bayonet stabs through his body. They say that there were a great many negroes in the fight. One of these interesting specimens of humanity,—that some of the politicians of the north say are as good as white men, and to liberate whom they would trample on the constitution and destroy the Union,—was caught in the act of cutting the throat of a wounded soldier.

The Michigan 2nd and 5th were in the engagement, that took place on Monday last, near Williamsburg. It is said they fought like tigers. The enemy was concealed behind rifle pits. In approaching these, the Michigan boys threw themselves flat upon the ground, and worked themselves along, firing every time a head would appear above the works, and in this way they reached them. Here they loaded, then raised their guns, placed the muzzles over the intrenchments, and fired amongst the rebels, then reloaded and fired again; and thus they kept up a continuous fire till the command was given to charge bayonets, when they were up in a moment, and over the ditch they went, and away went the rebels. The regiments lost quite a number, how many or their names I cannot say.

The country is very pleasant here The weather is very warm.

Fires are raging in the woods. They were set by our gunboats throwing bombshells into them on Sunday last.

P. S. Enclosed I send you some cotton, taken from a bale that helped make the embankment around a two hundred pounder, mounted on the walls at Yorktown. This cannon burst, killing the men around it, and it now lies on the ground, on the inside of the wall, broken into hundreds of pieces. This cotton was taken from its bale by Capt. BARRY, and by him presented to me.

The captain has just informed me that we move towards Richmond tomorrow. J. P.

Genesal Butler's Proclamation to the People of New Orleans.

We copy from the New Orleans True Delta of Saturday morning the following proclamation of Gen. Butler, on the cessation of assuming control as Military Governor of that city. It will be found stringent enough, certainly:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF,
NEW ORLEANS, May 1, 1862.

The city of New Orleans and its environs, with all its interior and exterior defences, having been surrendered to the combined naval and land force of the United States, and having been evacuated by the rebel forces, in whose possession they lately were, and being now in occupation of the forces of the United States, who have come to restore order, maintain public tranquility, enforce peace and quiet under the laws and constitution of the United States, the Major General commanding the forces of the United States in the Department of the Gulf, hereby makes known and proclaims the object and purposes of the Government of the United States in thus taking possession of the city of New Orleans, and the State of Louisiana, and the rules and regulations by which the laws of the United States will be for the present, and during a state of war, enforced and maintained for the plain guidance of all good citizens of the United States, as well as others who may heretofore have been in rebellion against their authority.

Thrice before has the city of New Orleans been rescued from the hands of a foreign government, and still more calamitous domestic insurrection, by the money and arms of the United States.—It has of late been under the military control of the rebel forces, claiming to be the peculiar friends of its citizens; and at each time, in the judgment of the commander of the military forces holding it, it has been found necessary to preserve order and maintain quiet by the administration of law martial. Even during the interim from its evacuation by the rebel soldiers and its actual possession by the soldiers of the United States, the civil authorities of the city have found it necessary to call for the intervention of an armed body, known as the "European Legion," to preserve public tranquillity. The Commanding General, therefore, will cause the city to be governed until the restoration of municipal authority, and his further orders, by the law martial—a measure for which it would seem the previous recital furnishes sufficient precedents.

All persons in arms against the United States are required to surrender themselves with their arms, equipments and munition of war. The body known as the "European Legion," not being understood to be in arms against the United States, but organized to protect the lives and property of the citizens, are invited to still co-operate with the force of the United States to that end, and so acting, will not be included in the terms of this order, but will report to these headquarters.

All ensigns, flags, and devices, tending to uphold any authority whatever, save the flag of the United States and the flags of the foreign Consulates, must not be exhibited, but suppressed. The American ensign, the emblem of the United States, must be treated with the utmost deference and respect by all persons, under pain of severe punishment.

All persons well disposed towards the government of the United States, who shall renew the oath of allegiance, will receive the safeguard and protection in their persons and property of the armies of the United States, the violation of which is punishable with death.

All persons still holding allegiance to the Confederate States will be deemed rebels against the government of the United States, and regarded and treated as enemies thereof.

All foreigners not naturalized and claiming allegiance to their respective governments, and not having made oath of allegiance to the supposed government of the Confederate States, will be protected in their persons and property as heretofore under the laws of the United States.

All persons who may heretofore have given their adherence to the supposed government of the Confederate States, or have been in their service, who shall lay down and deliver their arms, and return to peaceful occupations and preserve quiet and order, holding no further correspondence nor giving aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States; will not be disturbed in person or property, except so far, under the orders of the Commanding General, as the exigencies of the public service may render necessary.

The keepers of all public property, whether State, national or Confederate, such as collections of art, libraries, museums, as well as all public buildings, all munitions of war, and armed vessels, will at once make full returns thereof to these headquarters; all manufacturers of arms and munitions of war will report to these head-quarters their kind and places of business,

All rights of property, of whatever kind, will be held inviolate, subject to the laws of the United States.

All inhabitants are enjoined to pursue their usual avocations; all shops and places of business and amusements are to be kept open in the accustomed manner, and services to be held in churches and religious houses, as in times of profound peace.

Keepers of all public-houses, coffee-houses, and drinking saloons, are to report their names and numbers to the office of the Provost Marshal, and will there receive license and be held responsible for all disorders and disturbances of peace arising in their respective places.

A sufficient force will be kept in the city to preserve order and maintain the laws.

The killing of an American soldier by any disorderly person or mob, is simply assassination and murder, and not war, and will be so regarded and punished.

The owner of any house or building in which such murder shall be committed, will be held responsible therefor, and the house be liable to be destroyed by the military authority.

All disorders and disturbances of the peace done by combination and numbers, and crimes of an aggressive nature, interfering with forces or laws of the United States, will be referred to a military court for trial and punishment. Other misdemeanors will be subject to the municipal authority, if it chooses to act. Civil causes between party and party will be referred to the ordinary tribunals.

The Great Trot of Bonner's Team on Fashion Course.

Bonner's famous trotters made extraordinary time on Fashion Course on Tuesday, as has been announced by telegraph. The Tribune gives the following account of the go:

A large crowd covered the course, and fair faces graced the ladies' stand. Amid the throng which took in the noted ones both of the regular whips of the track and the fast-going gentleman of the road, conspicuous were Mr. Bonner, with his two "the fastest teams of the city," and Comodore Vanderbilt.

The feature of the day was a bit of sport not in the programme, and which no one looked for. He of the Ledger, the Bonner, the great Bonner—who has not yes been headed in the weeklies, nor on the road, behind a gray pair of trotters with the ribbons in his own hands—showed on the track with his equine wonders, Lady Palmer and Flatbush, of "vast renown." Handling the ribbons, he gave the throng a taste of both his and his horses' vitality.

After a preliminary turn of a mile, he halted before the stand, and asked the judges of the race just over to time him, and away he set his horses spinning at a rate that no double but Bonner can do. He went without a skip through the first mile, well in hand, and with pace to spare, until near its end, when a chirp quickened them for a spirt to the stand, to which they came in 2:32¼. The first mile over, the gay and noble pair rushed into their bits and flew away as no others, in double, to the pole, could fly, with steady stride, and never a break or flaw of pace, dashed through the mile and past the stand in 2:29.

Clapping of many hands, waving of fair handkerchiefs by the fair hands of delighted ladies, and the shouts of the strong lungs, greeted the noble horses as they came home in so gay and so grand a manner; and when the signal went up with 5m. 13 4s. as the time of the two miles done by a pair of gentleman's horses, again the air was filled with huzzas, again fair hands waved white handkerchiefs, and fair lips smiled applause at so noble a feat. The throng had seen what no other throng had ever before seen, and covld only be wild with delight. Mr. Bonner then announced that he would give any gentleman who, driving his own pair, should go two miles beating 5m 1-3-4s., the magnificent prize of ten thousand dollars, a willing gift for the pleasure conferred.

Our readers will recollect that this great feat is not Bonner's first one, for last October, with the same pair, he trotted over the same course a mile in 2m. 27s. This feat of yesterday, like that of last year, was a public display, and scores of watches told the tale of flight that Bonner had done. To these we may add another yet more wonderful. A few days since this same pair did a single mile on the Fashion Course in 2m. 26s.

AN AXE TO GRIND—ORIGIN OF THE TERM.—"When I was a little boy," says Dr. Franklin, "I remember one cold winter morning, I was accosted by a smiling man with an axe on his shoulder. 'My pretty boy,' said he, 'has your father got a grindstone?' 'Yes sir,' said I. 'You are a fine little fellow,' said he, 'will you let me grind my axe on it?' Pleased with the compliment of 'fine little fellow,' 'Oh yes,' I answered,' it's down in the shop.' 'And will you, my little fellow,' said he patting me on the back, 'get me a little hot water?' Could I refuse? I ran and soon brought a kettle full. 'How old are you, and what's your name?' continued he, without waiting for a reply. 'I am sure you are the finest little fellow that I ever saw; will you just turn a few minutes for me?' Tickled at the flattery, like a fool I went to work, and bitterly did I rue the day. It was a new axe, and I toiled and tugged until I was almost tired to death. The school bell rang, and I could not get away, my hands were blistered, the axe was sharpened, and the man turned to me with, 'Now, you little rascal! you've played truant; send for school or you will rue it.' Alas! thought I, it's hard enough to turn the grindstone this cold day, but to be called a little rascal was too much. It sank deep in my mind, and often have I thought of it since. When I see a merchant over polite to his customers, begging them to take a little brandy—that man has an axe to grind. When I see a man flattering the people, making great professions of attachment to liberty, who is in private like a tyrant, methinks, look out, good people, that fellow would set you turning a grindstone. When I see a man hoisted into office by party spirit, without a single qualification to render him respectable or useful, alas! deluded people, you are doomed for a season to turn the grindstone for a booby."

Fruit Trees—Manuring.

Wood ashes form an admirable manure for fruit trees, for they contain an infinate variety of alkaline and other products, and in precisely the condition for re-appropriation by trees.

The pear tree requires additions of potash, and in common with all other fruit trees, it also requires the entire range of organic matters found by analysis in their ashes. Phosphates and potash for the pear, particularly, lime and phosphates for the apple, slight quantities of chlorine and soda for the quince, plum, peach, apple, &c., and still more minute quantities of these two latter substances for the cherry; for if common salt be added, but slightly in excess, the cherries will exhibit saltness in their taste the first year, and the second the tree will die.

Wood, earth and chip-manure are admirable fertilizers for fruit trees, for they contain proximates in precisely the same degree of progression to be reappropriated by fruits.

Stimulating manures, and those subject to excessive fermentation, such as the manures of the stable, barn-yard and hog-pen, should never come near fruit trees. They cause an unconditional growth, soft and imperfect in texture, and incapable of standing our changes of climate.—Working Farmer.

THE NEGROES OF SOUTH CAROLINA NOT TO BE ARMED.—The New York Express correspondent learns that upon reconsideration, or by the interposition of the President, the negroes of South Carolina are not to be armed, and thus be put upon an equality with the white soldiers now there. Negroes are to be used there, as elsewhere, in service, or for labor only, with this novelty, that they are to be clothed at the expense of the United States government.

MCCLELLAN'S STRATEGY.—The Toronto Globe, in speaking of the capture of Yorktown, says: "The results which have followed the fall of Yorktown have justified the policy of General McClellan in making Fortress Monroe the base of his operations, and not Washington. By a single movement that cost but a few lives, he has obtained possession of Norfolk and Yorktown, destroyed the only ships remaining to the Confederacy, and will probably be in Richmond within a few days."

The "Ironsides" Frigate.

Philadelphia papers give a full description of the new iron plated frigate Ironsides, launched at that port on saturday. The ship is notable from the fact of her being the first iron-plated sea going war steamer built in the United States. The Philadelphia North American has the following:

She is constructed from plans and specifications presented to the Navy Department last September, by Messrs. Herrick & Sons of this city, who are the sole contractors with the Government. They in turn have contracted with Messrs. Cramp & Sons, of Kensington, for the hull, with the Bristle Forge, Brown & Co., of Pittsburgh, por the 4 inch plating, and with Traner & Mercer for the inch plating, reserving to themselves the construction of the machinery and the general arrangement of the several parts.

The contract is dated October 15th, 1861, and the vessel is to be ready for steam, July 15th, 1862. Chief Engineer W. W. Wood, of the navy, superintends the machinery and plating; the Naval Constructor, Henry Hoover the hull. She is 210 feet long, 58 feet 6 inches wide and 25 feet deep, being 3,250 tons, and having a berth gun and spar deck—the latter being shot-proof. Her frames are of white oak, filled in solid and calked, and the average thickness of her sides is 20 inches. The iron plating commences at a point 4 feet below the water line, and extends to her spar deck; the lower course is 3 inches, all the rest is 4½ inches thick. All the plates are 15 feet long, and width varying from 25 to 30 inches; each plate is fastened to the vessel by twenty 1½ inch screw bolts 23 inches long, which secure the several thicknesses of timber to the plates, thus tying all together.

The machinery consists of two horizontal direct action steam engines, with cylinders of 50 inches diameter and 30 inches stroke, intended to make 85 revolutions per minute, and drive a brass four-bladed propeller of 13 feet diameter and 18 feet pitch. The boilers are four in number, horizontal tubular, each 17 feet front, 11 feet deep and 11 feet high, of a collettive force of 1,600 horses. The armament will consist of 16 11 inch Dahlgren guns on the gun deck, and 2 200 pound Parrott guns on the spar deck.—The port holes will be closed by iron shutters five inches thick, worked from the inside.

As this is a sea-going steamer, intended to sail as well as steam, she will have three masts, and be bark rigged, her topmasts and yards being so arranged that in action they are lowered, and leave simply the three lower masts in view.

When in action all the men on board are protected from shot and shell, and are all below the spar deck. The commander only is above that deck, and he occupies a shot proof iron lookout, which rises above the spar deck, and from which he can see all surrounding objects, and by signals communicate with the officers below.

Unlike the Monitor and Galena, this vessel can carry a large crew, sufficient to board and capture any vessel. Impenetrable to shot or shell, she will seek close action, and by means of her iron prow sink, or her heavy guns capture, her opponent; her light draft of water (fifteen feet) will enable her to enter all our southern harbors. Even Moultrie and Sumpter can be visited by her, and she may be able to make an impression on those forts before they are repossessed by the United States.

The Eighth Regiment.

Soon after the victory on Wilmington Island, on the sixteenth of April, where 200 of the Michigan Eight repulsed 800 rebels, a correspondent of the New York Tribune, in giving an account of the affair, reflected severely upon the officers and men engaged in it, attributing, in pretty broad terms, cowardice to them. This we had every reason to believe was false, and so branded it at the time. The mere fact that a detachment taken by surprise, could defeat four times their number, showed that they could be no cowardly set. Our supposition was correct, as the following letter received from Col. Fenton yesterday amply testifies:

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH MICHIGAN REGIMENT, BEAUFORT, S. C. May 5.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

My attention has just been called to the statement in the New York Tribune of April 28th, by its Port Royal special correspondent of April 22d, reflecting upon the officers and men under my command on Wilmington Island April 16, 1862. That correspondent was by some designing person misinformed, if he believed what he wrote.

In justice to the several officers and men who on that occasion co-operated in routing an enemy at least four times their number, I have to say that their duties were discharged with promptness, gallantry, and daring. Four out of ten officers were shot (two killed and two wounded), and the casualties among the men were one to five. With the exception of one company mistaking the bugle call and retiring about fifty yards, not one inch of ground was lost by us during a two hours' sharpshooting fight; and the affair was closed up by a charge of our remaining troops, officers and men pushing forward with loud cheers

Lest some deserving men might be omitted, I have refrained in my official report from particularizing names; but the article alluded to does such gross injustice to officers and men, that I have to request the publication of this statement in Detroit, that they may be "all right at home."

I am willing to trust my own life in their keeping at any future time of peril, and I hope their friends will appreciate my desire to present the facts as they actually existed on the occassion.

Order to Burn the Cotton.

Memphis, April 27.

The following address has been issued:

To Planters South:

"The casualties of the war have opened the Mississippi to our enemies. The time has therefore come to test the earnestness of all classes, and I call on all patriotic planters owning cotton in the possible reach of our enemies to apply the torch to it without delay or hesitation.

"G. T. BEAUREGARD."

THE NEW GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.—Hon. Edward Stanley is on the eve of departure for North Carolina. He received his commission as Military Governor of that State on the 20th. He is invested with the powers, duties and functions of that station, including the power to establish all necessary offices and tribunals and suspend the writ of habeas corpus during the pleasure of the President, or until the loyal inhabitants shall organize a State Government in accordance with the Constitution of the United States. His powers are exactly similar to those with which Gov. Johnson, of Tennessee, is invested.

The News.

The general advance of Gen. MCCLELLAN's army commenced on Monday, and it was expected to camp near Richmond on Wednesday night. The advance reached within eight miles on Tuesday night, and drove in the enemy's pickets. If a general engagement is to come off at Richmond, it may be in process to-day; in fact, may have been entered upon yesterday. We look for the intelligence of it with both anxiety and hope.

—Gen. MCDOWELL had not, at the latest dates, advanced from Fredericksburg, and Gen. BANKS was at STAUNTON.

—There has been daily skirmishing in the vicinity of Corinth, and a general engagement has perhaps taken place before this. Beauregard has a large force, is well posted, and the battle will be one of the hardest fought and bloodiest of the war.

The President Stands Firm.

President LINCOLN repudiates the proclamation of Gen. HUNTER, who, seated in his headquarters at Port Royal, imagined that by one stroke of his pen he had freed over eight hundred thousand slaves and struck the death blow to the rebellion. The President says that the time for such proclamations has not arrived, and that if it ever arrives it is not the province of Generals to issue them.—And even the ultras who were applauding HUNTER and praying that the President might endorse his act, applaud the President. There may be exceptions to this latter statement, but they have not yet come to our notice, either in our reading or conversation,

This action of the President is hopeful. It shows his determination to stand by the constitution, and to make good his oft repeated and solemn declarations that this is not a war upon the "domestic institions" of any State, but a war against rebellion and for the restoration of the Union. This proclamation will reassure all the Union men in the border States, and of the States farther South who just begin to see daylight. We accept it as an evidence that the radicals, in Congress and out, need not undertake to over-ride all law, organic or statutory, for the sake of propogating their isms.

With such declarations as this, if the men of the South persist in any large numbers in attempting to defy the authority of the Government, and in the end bring,—through an actual overrunning of their whole country,—their cherished institution falling about their heads, the fault as well as the loss will be their own.

☞ We once heard a Republican member of the Michigan State Senate remark, in response to a suggestion that some measure advocated by him was unconstitutional: "D—n the Constitution, we can't run the State without breaking it, so we must shut our eyes, and put it through." The Peninsular Courier adopts the same philosophy when it declares that "to adhere to the Constitution in such a time as this would be inevitable ruin." We endorse no such doctrine. The rebels have trampled upon the Constitution, and violated its letter and spirit, to break up the government and bring "inevitable ruin" upon the country. We believe that to restore the Union and the government, it is only necessary for the President, and the Congress, and the law-abiding and law enforcing armies, to stand by the Constitution. Desert that, and we are at sea without chart or compass. It is dangerous, yea damnable doctrine to advance, that it is necessary to violate the Constitution in order to enforce obedience to it on the part of the rebels.

☞ Hunter says "Slavery and martial law are incompatible in a free country."—Courier.

Hunter is certainly a bright luminary. If his assertion is true it is only because martial law and a free country are "incompatible" things. Martial law takes away or at least suspends all the civil rights of freemen and "subjects them to the severity of military regulations."—Then, if the incompatibility Hunter asserts really does exist, martial law makes temporary slaves of freemen, and permanent freemen of slaves. By such logic as that the Courier might prove that a Deputy is not a Deputy.

☞ Gen. Buell reports his total loss at Shiloh 2,167, of whom 263 were killed, 1,816 wounded, 88 missing.—Gen. Nelson says his division went into action 4,541 strong, of whom 6 officers and 84 privates were killed, 33 officers and 558 privates wounded, 58 privates missing, making a total of 739.

☞ Congress during the past week has been considering the several confiscation bills, and the tax bill; the House is discussing a proposed adjournment from the 28th instant to June 2nd, to allow the members to visit home—or Richmond.

☞ Capt. RUFUS SAXTON, of the U. S. A., now Brigadier-General of Volunteers has been appointed Military Governor of South Carolina, and of the Department of the South, and sailed from New York for Port Royal on Thursday of last week. He is known as an able and prudent man. He will relieve Major General HUNTER from the necessity of issuing any more proclamations.

Returned Prisoners.

Eight hundred and eighty-five prisoners arrived at Washington from Richmond last week, having been released on parole. Among them were 48 members of the old Michigan First, captured at Bull Run; 6 members of the Second, 4 of the Fourth, 1 of the Fifth, and 13 of the First Michigan Cavalry. In the First list we notice the names of the following members of the three companies which went from this County:

Co. D—FROM MANCHESTER.

Corp. W. A. Metzkie, John Gregg,
A. DuBois, Wm. Johnstone,
M. S. Martin.

Co. E—FROM ANN ARBOR.

Wm. B. Newell, J. G. Rauser,
John Lang, D. Schnaithman.

Co. H—FROM YPSILANTI.

G. W. Baker, M. S. Baker,
G. S. Phillips.

Col. WILLCOX was left at Richmond, and in very good spirits; and five or six of the Michigan First boys were supposed to be at Saulsbury, N. C.

—Forty of the released Michigan prisoners left Washington on Wednesday, en route for home, and probably arrived in Detroit this morning by the Cleveland boat.

DEATH OF LIEUT. POND.—The feelings of this community were shocked at the news of the death of Acting Lieutenant Jabesh A. Pond, who was killed at the battle of Williamsburg. No young man in this community stood higher in public estimation than he did, and the sudden death of no young man would create a deeper feeling. Patriotism impelled him to leave the law-office for the army, in which he enlisted as a private, and rose by his merits to the rank of a commissioned officer. A private letter says that Lieut. Pond had distinguished himself during the battle for his coolness and bravery, and that he was cheering on his men when he fell, with a bullet through his head. His last words were, as reported,—"Keep steady, boys, fire low, and take good aim."

All the national flags in the village were displayed at half-mast on Thursday and Friday as a token of respect for the deceased.—Livingston Democrat.

Sergeant POND was a son of NATHAN POND, of Howell, and a cousin of the Editor of this journal. His only brother has been a member of our family for about two years, a fact which makes the blow seem to fall near, and draw out our sympathies freely towards his aged father. He also leaves four sisters by whom he was much loved, and who will hardly be consoled by the glory of his death. But, such is war.

☞ The Monitor, Galena, Naugatuck, and their wooden consorts, ran against a snag in James River, a few miles below Richmond, in the shape of sunken vessels and other obstructions, protected by an elevated battery. See particulars inanother column.

—Com. GOLDSBOROUGH will take up some mortar boats, and elevate that battery still higher.

☞ The Detroit Advertiser adproved the proclamation of Gen. HUNTER, freeing all the slaves in his department; and approves the proclamation of the President modifying the same. At the same time, it warns the President to beware of the baneful influence of the border State Unionists, Messrs. Holt, Crittenden, Carlisle, etc. The President ought to call the Advertiser man into his Cabinet.

☞ The New York Tribune's Washington correspondent says that a careful investigation has satisfied the authorities that not 500,000 effective men are in the field, and the States will be immediately called upon for an additional 100,000 volunteers, to be held in reserve for emergencies.

☞ The rebel officers captured at Yorktown and Williamsburg protest in the name of humanity against MCCLELLAN'S order requiring them to remove the torpedoes and other infernal machines left for the benefit of the Yankees. It was not "inhuman," nor a violation of military usages to plant these torpedoes, not a bit of it.

☞ The General Assemblies of both the Old and New School Presbyterian Churches met last week, the first in Columbus, O.; the second in Cincinnati.—The Rev. Dr. DUFFIELD, of Detroit, was elected Moderator of the N. S. body, by a large majority.

☞ EX-GOV. NEIL S. BROWN, of Tenn., has been arrested on a charge of treason, by order of Gov. ANDY JOHNSON. Gov. J. is determined to hold a steady rein, and in the venerable Judge CATRON he has a reliable co operator.

☞ The latest reports from the Mississippi say that the rebels have evacuated Fort Wright and fallen back on Fort Randolph, 12 miles below; also that a Union fleet had reached Vicksburg on the way up the river.

☞ We see it announced that Stockton's Independent Regiment of Michigan Infantry has allotted over $8000 monthly. This is doing nobly, and other Michigan regiments would do well to emulate such an example.

☞ Report says that Gen. SUMNER has been suspended from his command for neglect or refusal to reinforce Gen. HEINTZELMAN at the battle of Williamsburg. We have no doubt that "somebody blundered" in the management of that battle.

☞ The aged father of the late Col. Ellsworth has been appointed Superintendent of the United States Arsenal at Vergennes, Vt.

☞ Col. Ellsworth's Fire Zouave regiment arrived at New York on the 19th, to be mustered out of service.

☞ The Pasha of Egypt will be among the visitors to the London Exhibition.

Repulse of Our Iron Clad Boats.

WASHINGTON, may 17.

The following has been received at the War Department:

WILLIAMSBURG, May 17.

The gunboats Galena, Monitor, Aroostook, Naugatuck, and Port Royal were repulsed from Fort Darling, seven miles below Richmond, yesterday. A portion of them have returned to Jamestown Island, near this place, in James River. Seventeen have already been buried, and there are numbers wounded aboard the vessels, including Lieutenant Morris. The 100-pound gun on the Naugatuck exploded at the first fire.

THE REPULSE OF THE GALENA.

NEW YORK, May 20.

The following was written on board the Galena yesterday morning:

"We ran up to Watches' Bluff, where we found the river full of sunken steamers, the Jamestown, Yorktown, and a number of others. The bank was lined with rifle pits, and on the top of the bluff the rebels had a very heavy battery, mounting ten guns, some of them ten inches, and three or four very heavy rifles. We ran within half a mile of the battery, anchored, and swung broadside to them. They opened fire, the first shot striking our port bow and going through the armor. About five minutes after we got another shot very near where the first one struck. As it came through it killed one man instantly and wounded four more. We fought them four hours until we got out of ammunition, when we had to retire. We got twenty-eight shots in our side and seventeen on deck. We had twelve men killed, two dangerously wounded, who have since died, and fifteen slightly wounded.

"We made a gallant fight, but had we taken the battery we could not have held it, and the obstructions in the river prevented our going up any higher. One thing we have demonstrated, the Galena cannot stand heavy shot at a short range. We fired two hundred and thirty-eight rounds, all that we had. Had we had plenty of shells we could have silenced the rebels in two hours."

WASHINGTON, May 20.

A private letter from an officer of one of the flotilla, speaking of the recent engagement, says the Galena, iron clad, was admirably maneuvered, so beautifully and saucily that she passed five or six times as close as she could get, and silenced one of the batteries. She then passed and repassed the second battery six times, but finding they were using so much ammunition, for which we expect to have better use further up, Com. Rogers ordered the wooden vessels to run up, while he in the Galena lay abreast off the battery and disconcerted the rebel gunners.

The Galena then followed, but the buoys had been displaced and misplaced so that the pilots last evening ran the Galena ashore, and she is still aground.

No one of our vessels is seriouly injured.

THE MONITOR IN THE FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, May 20.

The following is the report of Wm. F. Jeffers, commanding the Monitor in the late engagement near Richmond. It is addressed to Com. Rogers:

U. S. IRON-CLAD STEAMER MONITOR,
JAMES RIVER, VA., May 16.

"SIR—I submit the following report of the movements of this vessel during the action of yesterday. Shortly after emerging from our position near Kingsland Creek, a sharp fire of musketry was commenced from both banks on all the ships. At half-past seven I discovered an extensive fortification on an elevation of about 200 feet with several smaller batteries, all apparently mounting guns of the heaviest calibre. At the foot of the bluff in the river there is an obstruction formed of sunken vessels and steamers secured with chains. The Galena having anchored about one thousand yards distant from the fort, and being warmly engaged, I endeavored to pass ahead of her and take off some of the fire, but I found that my guns could not be elevated sufficiently to point at the fort. I then took position on the line with the Galena and maintained a deliberate fire until the close of the action, when, in company with the other vessels, I dropped down to the anchorage. The fire of the enemy was remarkably well directed, but vainly, towards this vessel. She was struck three times, one solid 8 inch shot square on the turret, and two solid shot on the side armor forward of the pilot-house. Neither caused any damage beyond bending the plates. I am happy to report no casualties.

In conclusion permit me to say the action was most gallantly fought, against great odds and with the usual effect against earthworks. So long as our vessels kept up a rapid fire they rarely returned our fire, but the moment our fire slackened, they remanned their guns. It was impossible to reduce such works except with the aid of a land force."

MORE ABOUT THE MERRIMAC.—The armament of the Merrimac consisted of twelve guns—two seven inch rifled pivot guns fore and aft, each working out of three port holes; four nine-inch smooth-bore guns, Dahlgren pattern; four six inch rifled guns; and two boat howitzers, twelve pounders, both on her upper deck, fore and aft, to repel boarders.

Commodore Tatnall made a speech to the crew, who had been mustered on deck, after a boat from Norfolk had reached the vessel, bringing the news of the occupation of the city by our forces. The substance of his speech, as related by the gunner, was this:

"Boys, Norfolk has been taken by the Yankees, and our supplies are cut off.—Although the vessel has been lightened, the pilot says he cannot get her up the James river, as we had intended to do; therefore we have concluded to blow her up. You can make your escape in the best way possible."

Tatnall was carried away from the Merrimac in a litter, he was so feeble.

The Merrimac's crew numbered three hundred and sixty men. At the time of her explosion her magazines, fore and aft, were full of ammunition. Seventy of the crew have taken the oath of allegiance in Norfolk. They had received but fifty dollars for their services in the Confederate navy—the money was Confederate shinplasters.

THE HOMESTHAD BILL.—The Homestead bill which has passed both Houses of Congress gives every head of a family twenty-one years of age 100 acres of land, provided he remains upon it and cultivates the land for a period of five years. The bill also gives every person who has been in the military or naval service of the United States during the present war all the benefits of the homestead act, without regard to limitations made elsewhere in the bill in regard to residence.

GEN. MCCLELLAN ADVANCES.

White House, Va. May 19.

The army commenced moving at an early hour this morning in the direction of Richmond, and will encamp some miles in advance of this place.

The advance under General Stoneman reached the railroad bridge at the Chickahominy yesterday. It is a long tressle bridge, two spans only of which are burned. It can be rebuilt in a very short time.

The pickets of the enemy are guarding the whole line of the river in front of Richmond, making it very difficult to obtain any reliable information from that city.

Gen. McClellan went on a reconnoisance to day to the Chikahominy. The programme of operations in front of Richmond will soon be decided upon.

Tunstall's Station, Va., May 20.

The advance under Gen. Stoneman reached Coal Harbor on the road running to Richmond by way of New Bridge, yesterday, where he found the enemy to be in force. He drove their pickets into within two miles of their main body, and encamped for the night. Everything indicates that the rebels intend to defend Richmond with all the available force they can bring forward. Congressmen and representatives from every Southern State are there, encouraging their troops by their presence, and counseling a determined resistance to the advance of the Union troops.

Richmond papers of the 16th have been received They contain a correspondence between the Virginia Legislature and Jefferson Davis in relation to the recent movements of the rebel army. He stated that he had never entertained the thought of withdrawing the army from Virginia and abandoning the State, that if in the course of events the capital should fall, the necessity of which he did not see or anticipate, that would be no reason for withdrawing the army from the State. The war could be successfully carried on and maintained on Virginia soil for twenty years

The rebel General John B. Floyd has been appointed Major General of the Virginia forces, with authority to raise a force of 20,000 men, new conscripts, for the defence of Western Virginia.

The engagement on Thursday at Drury's Bluff, seven miles below Richmond, between our gunboats and the enemy's batteries on James River, produced a great panic among the people of Richmond. They acknowledge the loss of six killed and seven wounded.

Tunstall's Station, May 21.

The pickets of the enemy were driven across Bottom bridge yesterday by the troops advancing in that direction.

The rebels attempted to regain the post by the use of their artillery, but failed.

Our batteries opened, shelling the woods on each side of the bridge.

The advanee under General Stoneman reached Newbridge yesterday within eight miles of Richmond, but found no enemy in force this side of the Chickahominy, which, at that point, is a small creek.

The country in that locality is in a good state of cultivation.

Six pieces of artillery were found posted on the opposite bank, but his purpose not being to bring on an engagement, he retired one mile from the bridge and encamped during Wednesday. While driving in the enemy's outposts he had one man killed and three wounded.

The whole army moved this morning early with the intention of making a lengthy march. What roads they took it is not necessary to state, but the headquarters of Gen. McClellan to-night are within a short distance of Richmond, in front of which city is supposed to be encamped the main body of the rebel army. If they intend to give the Union forces battle, which is almost universally acknowledged to be the case, the hour is drawing near at hand when they will have an opportunity.

From New Orleans and the Gulf.

Fortress Monroe, May 20.

The United States dispatch boat Rhode Island arrived here this morning with mails and dates from New Orleans to the 8th, Southwest Pass to the 9th, Ship Island the 10th, Pensacola the 11th, Key West to the 14th, and Port Royal to the 18th. She brings between 40 and 50 passengers, naval officers captured on the Mississippi below New Orleans. Among them are several Lieutenants formerly of our navy. The news from New Orleans is not of special interest.

Gen. Butler commenced landing on the 1st of May, established his headquarters at the Custom House, took possession of the City Hall, Mint, &c., and compelled the St. Charles Hotel, which was closed, to open for the accommodation of himself and staff.

A conference had been had between General Butler and the authorities of the city, with Pierre Soule. The proclamation was discussed and modified in some particulars.

As an act of humanity to the suffering inhabitants, the boats and railroads were allowed to bring supplies to the city.

Negotiations for Confederate scrip are forbidden, but other species of currency in circulation is allowed.

The newspapers continue their publication. The Delta was suppressed for refusing to publish the proclamation, but was subsequently allowed to go on.

Algiers has been occupied by our forces and Forts Jackson and St. Philip garrisoned by our troops from Ship Island.

The Opelousas and Jackson Railroad was taken possession of and all the approaches to the city cut off, General Phelps had advanced to Carrolton, five miles up the river, and occupied the place.

There was very little public demonstration of Union feeling in consequence of the uncertainty in reference to the future. A great want of confidence is prevailing, but under the firm course of Gen. Butler business is slowly recovering, the city is generally becoming quiet, and affairs gradually are perfectly satisfactory.

It is stated that Porter's mortar fleet had been off Mobile and in the bays. Soundings had been made in the channel. On the 7th the fleet was fired on while engaged in this work by Fort Morgan, but no reply was given. The fleet afterwards returned to Ship Island.

☞ England has paid simply in interest money on her national debt, during the last 169 years, hard cash to the enormous amount of £3,130,882,179, or more than ten and a half thousand million dollars.

A SOLDIER IN LUCK.—The Monroe Commercial says that Levi French, a private of Captain Strong's Company, who belongs in the town of Milan, while walking near the Tennessee River, on ground which had been recenty occupied by the rebels, picked up a package, which, on examination, was found to contain $700 in gold.

Hunter's Proclamation Repudiated.

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, May 19.

Whereas, There appears in the public prints what purports to be a proclamation of Major General Hunter; and whereas the same is producing some excitement and misunderstanding;

Therefore I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, proclaim and declare that the government of the United States had no knowledge or belief of on the part of General Hunter to issue such a proclamation, nor has it yet any authentic information that the document is genuine; and further that neither General Hunter, nor any other commander or person, has been authorized by the government of the United States to make proclamation declaring the slaves of any State free, and that the supposed proclamation now in question, whether genuine or false, is altogether void so far as respects such declaration.

I further make known that wheather it be competent for me as Commander in-Chief of the army and navy to declare the slaves of any State or States free, and whether at any time or in any case it shall becomea necessity indispensable to the maintainance of the government to exercise such supposed power, are questions which, under my responsibility, I reserve to myself, and which I cannot feel justified in leaving to the decision of commanders in the field. These are totally different questions from those of police regulations in armies and camps.

On the 6th day of March last, by a special message, I recommended to Congress the adoption of a joint resolution, to be substantially as follows:

Resolved, That the United States ought to co operate with any State that may adopt a gradual abolishment of slavery, giving aid to such State in its discretion to compensate for the inconveniences, public and private, produced by such change of system."

The resolution, in the language above quoted, was adopted by large majorities in both branches of Congress, and now stands an authentic, definite and solemn proposal of the nation to the States and people most interested in the subject matter. To the people of the States now I earnestly appeal. I do not argue, I do beseech you to make the arguments for yourselves. You cannot, if you would, be blind to the signs of the times. I beg of you a calm and enlarged consideration of them, ranging, if it may be, far above personal and party politics This proposal makes common cause for a common object, casting no reproaches upon any. It acts not the Pharisee. The change it contemplates would come gently as the dews of heaven, not rending or wrecking anything. Will you not embrace it? So much good has not been done by one effort in all past time as, in the providence of God, it is now your high privilege to do. May the vast future not have to lament that you have neglected it.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be annexed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 19th day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-sixth.

(Signed) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.
By the President:
WM. H SEWARD, Secretary of State.

The following is the proclamation of Gen. HUNTER so signally repudiated by the President:

HEADQUARTERS DEP'T OF THE SOUTH,
HILTON HEAD, May 9, 1862.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 11.

The three States of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, comprising the Military Department of the South, having deliberately declared themselves no longer under the protection of the United States of America, and having taken up arms against said United States, it becomes a military necessity to declare them under martial law. This was accordingly done on the 25th day of April 1862. Slavery and martial law in a free country are altogether incompatible. The persons in these three States, Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina, heretofore held as slaves, are therefore declared forever free.

[Official] DAVID HUNTER,
Major General Commanding.
ED. W. SMITH, Assistant Adj't General.

Union Demonstration at Nashville.

Nashville, May 13.

The Union demonstration to-day was a complete success The meeting was held in the Hall of the House of Representatives, and comprised at least fifteen hundred persons, together with a band of music. Ex-Governor Campbell presided, assisted by Vice Presidents from various districts and counties, including Memphis. Speeches were made by ex-Governor Campbell, Governor Johnson, Messrs. W. B. Stokes, William H. Polk, W. P. Weens, Edmund Cooper and John S. Brien. The tenor of all the speeches was an earnest appeal to the deluded Tennesseeans who embraced the cause of the rebels to return to loyalty to the Union.

The evening meeting was attended by Colonel Lewis D. Campbell, Hon. Jordan Stokes and others. Resolutions setting forth that the safety and welfare of their relatives and friends in the rebel army and prisons can only be assured by the return of Tennessee to the Union; that Congress be appealed to to end the war; complimenting the Union officers and soldiers on their considerate conduct, and approving of Governor Johnson's address of March 18, were adopted by acclamation.

The greatest enthusiasm was manifested throughout the entire proceedings. Everything here bears an auspicious aspect for the Union cause.

The Evacuation of Pensacola.

Before Corinth, Miss., May 18.

The Mobile Advertiser and Register contain the following special:

"PENSACOLA, May 10.—At 12 o'clock last night Pensacola navy-yard and the forts were set on fire and destroyed.—When the enemy discovered what was going on, Fort Pickens opened a furious bombardment and kept it up during the conflagration but without doing damage to any body. At Pensacola all public property excepting the custom house, which is incapable of being burned, was burned, but all Confederate property has been saved. The railroad track leading out of the city towards Montgomery was torn up.—This morning a Federal vessel, with a flag of truce, came up to the city, demanding a surrender. Mayor Ballbe refused to comply with the demand, but as all the military force had left he had no power to oppose. The Federal officers replied that they would occupy the city to morrow, but that the inhabitants need not be alarmed."

☞ Capt. G. P. SANFORD, of the First Michigan Infantry, has resigned, because of ill health.

☞ From J. A. ROYS, Detroit, we have received a carte-de-visite portrait of Col. WILLCOX, and a good one it is, too. ROYS has them for sale at 10 cents each.

☞ We are requested to say that the call extended by the Congregational Church of this city to Rev. A. E. BALDWIN, is for a single year, and not for a settlement, as would be understood by our notice last week.

☞ The Courier appropriates to its own use the table of Primary School and Fine moneys apportioned to the several Townships in this County, and neglects to give the ARGUS the credit due. Is such its idea of newspaper courtesy?

☞ JAMES H. EASTMAN, of this city, a member of the Senior Class in the University, has been appointed cadet from this Congressional District to West Point. It is a good selection, and we wish him an honorable career.

☞ We give place on our first page to full lists of the killed, wounded, and missing in the Second and Fifth Regiments at the battle of Williamsburg. Quite a number of the wounded in Company I, 5th Regiment, lived in the North part of this County.

☞ In another column we advertise "The Rebellion Record," issued in numbers by G. P. PUTNAM, each number being illustrated by steel portraits, maps, etc. It is arranged in three parts, the documentary, history, narrative history, and poetry, of the war. Great pains are taken to make the text authentic history, and it is printed in a superior style.—See prospectus.

☞ The several Druggists of this city have, we are informed, entered into an arrangement by which only one store will be kept open for the purpose of putting up prescriptions and dispensing medicines on the Sabbath.—When the schedule of alternation is matured the public will be notified of the same.

☞ On Sunday last there was a decided change in the weather, and Monday morning the mercury stood at 32°, but with very little indications of frost. Monday night we caught it, however, and at 5 A. M, Tuesday, the mercury marked 30° and everything out doors was encased in white. A heavy fog prevailed, which in connection with the dampness of the ground prevented the serious injury that was feared. Grapes were badly scorched and look as though they had been through fire—we shall have to buy Kelly Island Catawbas next fall—and Peaches, Pears, and Apples were thinned out a little; no more than they needed, provided the thinning was scientifically done. Cherries, we think, escaped uninjured; also Strawberries and other small fruits. The weather is now beautiful.

INTERESTING TO TOBACCO CONSUMERS.—The tax bill, as amended by the Senate Committee, imposes the following duties on manufactured tobacco:

On tobacco, cavendish, plug-twist, fine-cut and manufactured of all descriptions, not including snuff and cigars, twenty cents per pound—increase, 10 cents.

On snuff manufactured of tobacco, ground, dry or damp, of all descriptions, except aromatic or medical snuff in phials, pots, boxes or packets, twenty cents per pound—increase, 12 cents.

On cigars, valued at not over five dollars per thousand, fifteen cents per pounds—increase, 5 cents.

On cigars valued at over five dollars, and not over ten dollars per thousand, twenty cents per pound—increase, 5 cents.

On cigars valued at over ten dollars per thousand, and not over twenty dollars, twenty-five cents per pound—increase, 5 cents.

On cigars valued at over twenty dollars per thousand, thirty-five cents per pound. (New clause.)

DEATHS OF SOLDIERS.—George Hambleton, Co. B, 13th Mich.; Gilbert Beckwith, Co. C, 10 Mich., and S. B. Goodrich, 3d Mich., died on their way to St. Louis from Pittsburg Landing.

Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that application will be made to the Circuit Court for the county of Washtenaw, by Henry E. & George A. Peters, to obtain an order from said Court vacating Warren S. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

A Slight Cold,

Cough, Hoarseness or Sore Throat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Cough or Slight Cold in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs.

Brown's Bronchial Troches were first introduced eleven years ago. It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, the Hacking Cough in Consumption, and numerous affections of the Throat, giving immediate relief.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES

DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE REGULATING PILLS

THE HEALTH AND LIFE OF WOMAN

is continually in peril if she is mad enough to neglect or maltreat those sexual irregularities to which two-thirds of her sex are more or less subject.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS, prepared from the same formula which the inventor, CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, M. D., of New-York, has for twenty years used successfully in an extended private practice—immediately relieve without pain, all disturbances of the periodical discharge, whether arising from relaxation or suppression. They act like a charm in removing the pains that accompany difficult or immoderate menstruation, and are the only safe and reliable remedy for Flushes, Sick Headache, Pains in the Loins, Back and Sides, Palpitation of the Heart Nervous Tremors, Hysterics, Spasms, Broken Sleep and other unpleasant and dangerous effects of an unnatural condition of the sexual functions. In the worst cases of Fluor Albus or Whites, they effect a speedy cure.

TO WIVES and MATRONS.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS are offered as the only safe means of renewing interrupted menstruation, but.

LADIES MUST BEAR IN MIND

There is one condition of the female system in which the Pills cannot be taken without producing a PECULIAR RESULT. The condition referred to is PREGNANCY—the result, MISCARRIAGE. Such is the irresistible tendency of the medicine to restore the sexual functions to a normal condition, that even the reproductive power of nature cannot resist it.

Dr. JOHN HARVEY, having for upwards of twenty years devoted his professional time exclusively to the treatment of Female Difficulties, and having succeeded in thousands of cases in restoring the afflicted to sound health, has now entire confidence in offering publicly his

"GREAT AMERICAN REMEDY,"
DR. HARVEY'S
CHRONO-THERMAL FEMALE PILLS.

Which have never yet failed (when the directions have been strictly followed,) in removing difficulties arising from

Obstruction, or Stoppage of Nature, or in restoring the system to perfect health, when suffering from BODILY AFFECTIONS, PROLAPSUS UTERI, THE WHITES, or other weakness of the UTERINE ORGANS. Also in all cases of DEBILITY OR NERVOUS PROSTRATION, HYSTERICS, PALPITATIONS, &c., &c., which are the forerunners of more serious disease. ☞ These Pills are perfectly harmless on the constitution, and may be taken by the most delicate female without causing distress; at the same time they ACT LIKE A CHARM by strengthening, invigorating, and restoring the system to a healthy condition, and by bringing on the monthly period with regularity, no matter from what cause the obstructions may arise. They should, however, not be taken during the first three or four months of pregnancy, though safe at any other time, as miscarriage would be the result.

Each box contains 60 Pills. Price One Dollar, and when desired will be sent by mail prepaid by any advertised Agent, on receipt of the money.

Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills.

THE BEST FAMILY Cathartic in the world, used twenty years by five millions of persons annually; always give satisfaction; containing nothing injurious; patronized by the principal physicians and surgeons in the Union; elegantly coated with sugar.

Large Boxes 25 cents; five boxes for 1 dollar. Full directions with each box.

TALLAHASSEE, LEON COUNTY, Florida, July 17, 1860.

TO DR. HERRICK, Albany, N. Y.—My Dear Doctor:—I write this to inform you of the wonderful effect of your Sugar Coated Pills on my elder daughter. For three years she has been afflicted with a bilious derangement of the system, sadly impairing her health, which has been steadily failing during that period. When in New York in April last, a friend advised me to test your pill. Having the fullest confidence in the judgment of my friend, I obtained a supply of Messrs. Barnes & Park, Druggists, Park Row, New York. On returning home, we ceased all other treatment, and administered your Pills, one each night. The improvement in her feelings, complexion, digestion, etc., surprised us all. A rapid and permanent restoration to health has been the result. We used less than five boxes, and consider her entirely well. I consider the above a just tribute to you as a Physician, and trust that it will be the means of inducing many to adopt your Pills as their family medicines.

I remain, dear sir, with many thanks,
Your obed'nt servant,
S. G. MORRISON.

Address

WM. B. HURD & CO.,

Tribune Buildings, New York.

☞ Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH, TOOTH POWDER, and TOOTHACHE DROPS cannot be sent by mail, but they can probably be obtained at your Drug or Periodical Stores. If they cannot, send for the DENTAL TREASURY, Price ONE DOLLAR, which contains them.

NOW,

Are Dr. Hurd's Preparations Good?

The best evidence that they are is, that their firmest friends and best patrons are those who have used them longest. Dr. WILLIAM B. HURD is an eminent Dentist of Brooklyn, Treasurer of the New York State Dentists' Association, and these preparations have been used in his private practice for years, and no leading citizen of Brooklyn or Williamsburgh questions their excellence, while eminent Dentists of New York recommend them as the best known to the profession. Without the aid of advertising, dealers have sold them by the gross.

The Editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times says:—"We are happy to know that our friend, Dr. HURD, is succeeding beyond all expectations with his MOUTH WASH and TOOTH POWDER. The great secret of his success rests with the fact THAT HIS ARTICLES ARE PRECISELY WHAT THEY ARE REPRESENTED TO BE, AS WE CAN TESTIFY FROM THEIR LONG USE."

The well known P. T. Barnum writes:—"I found your TOOTH POWDER so good that my family have used it all up. WE WISH IT THE BEST POWDER FOR THE TEETH THAT WE EVER USED. I shall feel obliged if you will send me another supply at the Museum at your convenience, with bill."

But their cost is so small that every one may test the matter for himself.

☞ Beware of the ordinary Tooth Powders. Dr. HURD'S TOOTH POWDER contains no acid, nor alkali, nor charcoal, and polishes without wearing the enamel.—Use no other.

What will Dr. Hurd's Remedies Effect?

Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH AND TOOTH POWDER will give young ladies that finest charm in woman—a sweet breath and pearly teeth. Try them, ladies.

Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH AND TOOTH POWDER will cleanse the mouth from all foul exhalations, and if used in the morning, will make the breakfast taste sweeter and the day begin more pleasantly. Hundreds of persons can testify to this. Try them, gentlemen.

Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH AND TOOTH POWDER are the best preparation in the world for curing BAD BREATH and giving firmness and health to the gums. Hundreds of cases of diseased BLEEDING GUMS, SORE MOUTH, CANKER, etc., have been cured by Dr Hurd's astringent wash.

Dr. HURD'S MOUTH WASH AND TOOTH POWDER give an additional charm to courtship, and make husbands more agreeable to their wives and wives to their husbands. They should be used by every person having which are liable to impart a taint to the mouth.

Dr. HURD'S TOOTHACHE DROPS cure Toothache arising from exposed nerves, and are the best friends that parents can have in the house to save their children from torture and themselves from loss of sleep and sympathetic suffering.

FARMERS and MECHANICS! you cannot well afford to neglect your teeth. For a trifling sum, you can now get preservatives, than which Rothchild or Astor can get nothing better. Remember that DYSPEPSIA and CONSUMPTION OF THE LUNGS often originate in Neglect of Teeth.

Send for the Treatise on Teeth, and read Dr. Fitch's observations on this subject. If too late to arrest decay in your own teeth, save your children's teeth.

NEURALGIA PLASTERS.

Dr. Hurd's Neuralgia Non-Adhesive Plasters are the most pleasant and successful remedies ever prescribed for this painful disease. The patient applies one, soon becomes drowsy, falls asleep, and awakes free from pain, and no blister or other unpleasant or injurious consequences ensue. For Earache and Nervous Headache, apply according to directions, and relief will surely follow. Nothing can be obtained equal to Dr. Hurd's Compress for Neuralgia, Try them. They are entirely a novel, curious, and original preparation, and wonderfully successful. They are of two sizes, one small, for the face, price 15 cents, and the other large, for application to the body, price 37 cents.

Will be mailed on receipt of price and one stamp.

What are the People Doing?

The American people are intelligent enough to appreciate preparations that contribute so much to the happiness of those using them, and thus we want them. Every mail brings us letters, some ordering the Treatise on Teeth, some the Neuralgia Plasters, and not a few enclosing 37 cents for the Mouth Wash to be sent by mail; but to these we are compelled to reply that it is impossible to send a half pint bottle by mail. The people want these remedies.

WHO WILL SUPPLY THEM?

Now is the

CHANCE FOR AGENTS.

Shrewd agents can make a small fortune in carrying these articles around to families. The DENTAL TREASURY is the neatest article that a man or woman can carry around. Send for one, or, better, a dozen, which we will sell, as samples, for $7. Agents supplied liberally with Circulars.

Now is the time to go into Business!

☞ do good, and make a profit. We are spending thousands for the benefit of agents. New England men or women! here is something nice, and a chance to take the tide at its flood. Address

SPEER'S

SAMBUCI WINE,

PURE, AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

Of Choice Oporto Fruit,

FOR PHYSICIANS' USE, FOR

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS & INVALIDS

Excellent Wine for Females

Sambucus Tree of Portugal, the Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Kidney Affections, and all Chronic Complaints.

Every family, at this season, should use the SAMBUCI WINE,

Celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families of Europe and America.

AS A TONIC,

It has no equal, causing an appetite and building up of the system, being entirely a pure wine of a most valuable fruit.

AS A DIURETIC,

It imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout, and Rheumatic affections.

SPEER'S WINE

Is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure, from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wine in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES WINE,

Because it will not intoxicate as other wine, as it contains no mixture of spirits or liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor, and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

A few well known gentlemen and physicians, who have tried the Wine:—

Gen. Winfield Scott, U. S. A.	Dr. Wilson, 11th st., N. Y.

DR. HOOFLAND'S

BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

For the speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Diseases of the Bowels, arising from Cold, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief and (if at all possible) cure of Patients in advanced stages of the latter disease.

THE Balsamic Cordial is entirely a Vegetable production, combining the healing properties of the Balsam, with the invigorating qualities of a Cordial, producing a combination so well adapted to the purposes intended, that there are but few cases of disease which will not, at an early period, succumb to its healing and life giving properties.

For ages, has the treatment of pulmonary diseases occupied the greater portion of the attention of the scientific of the medical world, but none acquired more eminence in his treatment of these diseases, than the celebrated Prussian, Dr. Hoofland, the originator of the Balsamic Cordial. His life was devoted to the production of remedies that would stand unrivalled. How well he has succeeded, the American people are able to judge: and we positively assert, that no preparations that have ever been placed before them, have conferred the same amount of benefits on suffering humanity, or have elicited so many commendations from all classes of society, as the remedies of Dr. Hoofland, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson & Co., of Philadelphia.

The Cordial is designed for a class of diseases more general and more fatal than any other to which the people of this country are subject—those springing from a "slight cold." That eminent authority, Dr. Bell, says: "I will not say that Colds are to our inhabitants what the Plague and Yellow Fever are to those of other countries; but I can aver confidently that they usher in diseases of greater complexity and mortality than these latter."

TRADE REGULATIONS

Proclamation of President Lincoln.

Whereas, By my Proclamation of the nineteenth of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, it was declared that the ports of certain States, including those of Beaufort, in the State of North Carolina; Port Royal, in the State of South Carolina, New Orleans in the State of Louisiana, were, for reasons therein set forth, intended to be placed under blockade; and whereas the said ports of Beaufort, Port Royal and New Orleans have since been blockaded, but as the blockade of the same ports may now be safely relaxed with advantage to the interests of commerce:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, pursuant to the authority in me vested by the fifth section of the act of Congress approved on the 13th of July last, entitled "An act further to provide for the collection of duties on imports, and for other purposes," do hereby declare that the blockade of the said ports of Beaufort, Port Royal and New Orleans shall so far cease and determine, from and after the first day of June next, that commercial intercourse with those ports, except as to persons and things and information contraband of war, may, from that time, be carried on, subject to the laws of the United States, and to the limitations and in pursuance of the regulations which are prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury in his order of this date, which is appended to this Proclamation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this twelfth day of May, in the [L. S.] year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-sixth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By the President:
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Secretary Chase's Circular.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, May 12, 1862.
REGULATIONS RELATING TO TRADE WITH PORTS OPENED BY PROCLAMATION.

First—To vessels clearing from foreign ports, and destined to ports opened by the proclamation of the President of the United States, of this date, namely, Beaufort, in North Carolinna; Port Royal in South Carolina; and New Orleans, in Louisiana; licenses will be granted by Consuls of the United States, upon satisfactory evidence that the vessel so licensed will convey no person, property or information contraband of war, either to or from the said ports—which licenses shall be exhibited to the Collector of the port to which said vessels may be respectively bound, immediately on arrival, and if required, to any officer in charge of the blockade; and on leaving either of the said ports, every vessel will be required to have clearance from the Collector of the Customs according to law, showing that there has been no violation of the conditions of the license. Any violation of the said conditions will involve the forfeiture and condemnation of the vessel and cargo, and the exclusion of all parties concerned from any further privilege of entering the United States during the war, for any purpose whatever.

Second—To vessels of the United States clearing coastwise for the ports aforesaid, license can only be obtained from the Treasury Department.

Third—In all other respects the existing blockade remains in full force and effect as hitherto established and maintained; nor is it relaxed by the proclamation except in regard to the ports to which the relaxation is by that instrument expressly applied.

(Signed) S. P. CHASE,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Preservation of Leather.

Mr. Jenne, of Elgin, Kane Co., Ill., writes to the Prairie Farmer, in answer to an inquiry for a preservation for leather, that he has two—one for boots, the other for harness, which he obtained from a man who has been employed in cleaning and oiling harness in the East India service—as he said—by paying for it; the former was given him as a special favor. He says:

"I have tested them both for several years, and find them first rate. They are as follows: For boots and shoes, take six ounces of bayberry wax, four ounces beeswax, six ounces mutton or beef tallow, one-third paper lampblack pulverized. Melt and stir a good deal. Heat a brush to apply with. For harness—beeswax, one-half pound; neats foot oil, one pint; yellow soap, one-fourth pound. Boil until completely melted, keeping them well stirred all the the time. Apply warm; the leather being moist and clean. Hang the harness in a warm place—a warm sunny day is best. When finished, if rubbed briskly with a dry, clean cloth, a fine polish will be obtained, giving every appearance of new leather. If any blacking is needed, add lampblack. I am confident that fifty per cent will be added to the wear of harness treated once a year with the above preparation."

Value of Soot as a Manure.

In response to an inquiry relative to the worth of soot as a manure, the Working Farmer replies:

Its chief component is carbon, and in so divided a form as to be nearly equal to a solution in water. As soot is formed on the side of the chimney, thousands of cubic feet of atmosphere are passing over it, much dilated by heat, and containing ammonia; this is absorbed by soot, its fine carbon retaining the ammonia, and in a condition not defined by chemistry, but certainly known in practice to have high value. In England the soot from both coal and bituminous coal is habitually saved, and many farmers buy it largely. In this country, soot, in common with many other valuable substances is wasted. Some English farmers use thousands of bushels annually, and with great profit, applying twenty-five to fifty bushels per acre. Its great value, however, is for the compost heap, where it not only absorbs new quantities of ammonia, but assists in insuring that kind of decay of woody fiber known as ermacaucis, and arresting the putrid fermentation which frequently is so violent as to cause the loss of much of the volatile products, producing the condition known as fire-fanging. Soot may also be used like other finely divided black powders, for dusting over young turnips and other plants infested with the turnip fly, and after performing this office, it will find its way into the soil.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Accumulated Capital, - $3,500,000.

WILL INSURE LIVES for any amount not exceeding $10,000 for the whole term of Life or for a term of years, on the most favorable terms.

N. B. The Company is purely mutual and the policy holders get all the surplus over the exact cost of insurance It accomodates the insured in the settlement of their premiums ON LIFE POLICIES, if desired, by taking a note for one half the amount, bearing interest at six per cent, per annum.

Dividends are Declared Annually!

and since they now amount to FIFTY per cent on the premium, cash and note, and are increasing they may be applied to cancel the notes.

The rates of premiums are as low as any other responsible Company and the large accumulated fund of $3,500,000 is securely invested, as may be seen by reference to the statement made according to law, on file in the office of the County Clerk, at Ann Arbor.

Great Reduction in the Price of

SINGER & CO.'S

Standard Machines.

Well known to be the Best for Manufacturing Purposes.

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90, reduced to $70.

No. 2, of same kind of Machine, formerly sold at $100, reduced to $75.

SINGER'S LETTER A MACHINE

Is the best Machine in the world for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing Purposes: (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented $50.

The Nos. 1 and 2 Machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No. 3 Machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy Leather Work, in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, and with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sizes dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table of these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machine works as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for light manufacturing purposes. They embody the pridciples of the standard machines, making like them, the interlocked stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and light manufacturing purposes as four standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand, HEMMING GAUGES, SILK TWIST LINEN AND COTTON THREAD, ON SPOOLS, BEST MACHINE OIL in bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the "genuine article"

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps, or bank notes.

Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should, in each case, know the Post Office, County, and State.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of

I. M. Singer & Co.'s Gazette,

Which is a beautiful Pictorial Paper entirely devoted to the subject—It will be sent gratis.

We have made the above REDUCTION IN PRICES with the two-fold view of benefiting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest peice, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are laid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderat prices. The best designed machines, BADLY MADE, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repaire

The qualities to be looked for in a Machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability, and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the way and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last longer in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machines as a gift.

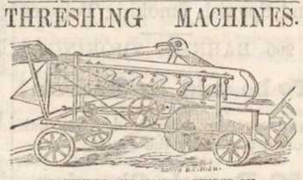
THRESHING MACHINES.



PATENTED AND MANUFACTURED BY

Nichols & Sheppard,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Improved for the Season of 1862

In this Separator the grain is separated from the straw by means of lifting fingers, that toss the straw up and down with a sudden motion from the time it leave the cylinder until it passes to the stacker, and the grain falls through a bottom made of slats, clear from the straw. The parts containing these fingers and the tight grain bottom are made to vibrate or swing backward and forward, which works the straw to the stacker and the grain to the sieves. The superiority of this machine over all others consists in its

Perfect serationtion of Grain from Straw,
Great simplicity, having no pickers or beaters to clog up, and less machinery than any other machine now made.
Great capacity, as it will not waste when crowded.
Perfect cleaner, having larger seives than any other.
Easy draft, better constructed, simple and durable.

THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA: A Popular Dictionary of General Knowledge. Edited by GEO. RIPLEY and CHARLES A. DANA, aided by a numerous select corps of writers in all branches of Sciences, Art and Literature. This work is being published in about 15 large octavo volumes, each containing 750 two-column pages. Vols. I., II., III., IV. V., VI., VII., VIII., & IX. are now ready, each containing near 2,500 original articles. An additional volume will be published once in about three months.

Price, in Cloth, $3; Sheep, $3.50; Half Russia, $4.50 each.

The New American Cyclopædia is popular without being superficial, learned without being pedantic, comprehensive but sufficiently detailed, free from personal pique and party prejudice, fresh and yet accurate. It is a complete storehouse of all that is known upon every important topic within the scope of human intelligence.—Every important article in it has been specially written for its pages by men who are authorities upon the topic on which they treat. It is not to be expected that a work of this subject up to the present moment; to state just how it stands now. All the statistical information is from the latest reports; the geographical accounts keep pace with the latest explorations; historical matters include the freshest just views; the biographical notices add a new only of the dead but also of the living. GREAT INDUCEMENT TO SUBSCRIBE!

PREMIUMS and REDUCTIONS.

L. SCOTT & CO., NEW YORK, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals, viz:

1. THE LONDON QUARTERLY (Conservative).
2. THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig).
3. THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free Church).
4. THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal)
5. BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE (Tory).

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints, inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions.

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and need almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully. Yours,
ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same;
