DEMOCRATS AT ST. LOUIS

The National Convention Assembles to Nominate a Presidential Ticket.

President Cleveland the Choice of the Convention, He Being Nominated by Acclamation.

Proceedings of the Convention — The Speeches of the Temporary and Permanent Chairmen, Etc.

FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 5.—Convention da y had barely dawned when the various delegations and clubs were astir and the early risers besieged the doors of the dining-rooms long before the cooks and waiters were ready for the charge.

A massive bronze statue of President Cleveland, supported by a vase containing a gigantic bouquet of the choicest flowers, looked down upon Convention hall when the doors were opened at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Above an oil painting of his excellency, were oil paintings of Tilden and Hendricks presenting a vivid reminder of the past and present. Decorations in the form of colored bunting of tasteful designs gave the two tiers of galleries a handsome appearance, and a life sized equestrian statue of Gen. Washington, which stood beneath a canopy of flags in the northern gallery directly facing the stage aided materially in adding effect to the general ensemble. To the south and northwest was accorded the chief positions of honor in the space on the floor reserved for delegates. Alabama, Missouri, Nebraska and Wisconsin occupied the first two rows of seats, with Virginia, West Virginia, Mississippi, California and Arkansas close in the rear. The extreme back seats were allotted to the big Ohio contingent which for some inscrutable reason had been relegated to the extreme southwest corner. In the center Pennsylvania rubbed shoulders with Little Rhody and Indiana with Illinois; South Carolina nestled in between New York and New Jersey; Iowa hugged Kansas; Maine fraternized with "My Maryland," and the men of Louisiana exchanged greetings with the brethren from "Bleeding Kansas."

There was no hurry on the part of the delegates in assembling. The Indianians were the first upon the grounds. They came in straggling, without any attempt at show and were in their seats before the audience had time to give them a cheer. Then there was a lull, broken by the arrival of the Cleveland Democracy from Buffalo. They marched in at the entrance to the upper gallery with a band of forty pieces and a blue silken banner at their head, took off their hats in response to the applause which came from the visitors' section, tr tted around the building, and then took up their quarters in the balcony directly above the chair.

Another lull ensued, during which the band rendered a medley of national airs, which failed to evoke any particular enthusiasm. When the Pennsylvania delegation, headed by W. L. Scott, made its appearance the strains of "God Save America" were re-echoing through the structure, and the audiance rising to its feet gave the personal representative of President Cleveland a round of applause. Equally hearty despite their Gray banner and badges was the reception accorded to the Hendricks club of Indianapolis, which was escorted to seats in close proximity to the Cleveland Democrats from Buffalo. The Colorado delegation came in without ostentation, closely followed by the Texans and Marylanders. For the next fifteen minutes the delegates came in pretty rapidly but nevertheless at 12 o'clock, when the convention should have been called to order, there was a big empty space in the body of the hall. The Missouri, Minnesota, Mississippi, New York and Illinois delegations were the principal laggards, but the latter was cordially received when it came in, the enthusiasm even causing the hard, stern lines in Col. Morrison's face to relax.

While the different delegations were being seated Cleveland roses were distributed along each row, and every delegate who wanted a red bandanna could have one for the asking. The Californians hoisted theirs on their banner, the Kansas people following suit. Wisconsin, Mississippi, West Virginia, followed suit amid enthusiastic cheers, and the Indianans hoisted a white hat for Gray. There were more cheers when the bandanna went up over Alabama, Oregon, and New Jersey, and when Minnesota, New Mexico, Massachusetts, and Tennessee followed suit, Iowa fell into line. The Californians called for three cheers for Iowa, and they got it with a vim.

North Carolina came into line, and the Californians shouted themselves hoarse. The Californians had taken time by the forelock in starting the Thurman enthusiasm of the day, and they were in a decidedly jolly mood over the success of their scheme. Still the cheering and applause cropped up from one quarter or another and the convention was in danger of becoming a good-natured mob, when at 12:33 Hon. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, chairman of the national committee, arose, smiled patronizingly through his gold-framed eye-glasses upon Cleveland's bust and brought down his gavel upon the desk. The convention had been formally called to order. Without any remarks he introduced Bishop C. Granberry, of St. Louis, who, while the delegates rose to their feet, delivered a brief but fervent prayer.

STEPHEN M. WHITE.

When the prayer was ended and the delegates had resumed their seats, Chairman Barnum presented the report of the national committee naming Lieutenant Governor White, of California, as temporary chairman. The report was unanimously adopted, and Senator Gorman, of Maryland, Gen. Powell, of Ohio, and Col. Dawson, of South Carolina, were appointed to escort the temporary chairman to the platform. His appearance was greeted with a double round of applause, and when it had subsided, in a clear ringing voice, which penetrated to the furthest extremity of the hall, he spoke as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: Profoundly grateful for the distinction just conferred upon me, I am nevertheless conscious that I have been chosen for this position because of your appreciation of that important section of our common country from whence I come. For the first time during a period covering more than a quarter of a century, the Democratic national convention is held while the affairs of government are conducted by a Democratic administration. The platform of principles adopted by our last national convention prescribes with accuracy the rules of conduct which should control governmental action. Grover Cleveland was selected by that convention as the man whose firmness, ability, integrity, and statesmanlike qualities pre-eminently fitted him to undertake the task of carrying out the great reforms thus suggested by an organization to whose tenets he has ever been ready to yield compliance.

For years it had been generally conceded that it was necessary to reform the tariff. The present administration has realized its promises made by the Democratic convention of 1884. It has sought to reduce and lighten the burdens of the people and to reduce the revenue so as to prevent undue accumulation in the treasury and has at the same time taken the requisite steps to foster and protect domestic industries.

During Republican dominancy many millions of acres of the public domain passed into the hands of corporate and foreign syndicates. The obligations imposed as conditions precedent to investure of title were persistently violated by the beneficiaries and these violations passed unheeded until a Democratic administration, in conformity with the doctries of the party, declared the forfeiture, thus tendering to those seeking homes in good faith more than 40,000,000 acres, which had been withheld by the Republican party for the benefit of the selfish few. In accordance with the views of the president a statute has been enacted preventing the acquisition of lands by those not citizens of the United States, and restricting the power of corporations to obtain titles to realty in the territories.

For years universal attention has been directed to the dangers of Chinese immigration. The advent of hordes of Pagan slaves, disciplined to starvation and inured to unremuneration, has rigidly been considered destructive of the interests of labor and a menace to the republic. The Democracy, unlike its political adversaries, has always been with the people upon this issue. The administration has entered into a treaty with the Chinese which must result in excluding the Mongolian from our shores.

I can not permit myself to dwell at length upon the many subjects which this occasion suggests. I can not permit myself to point out the benefits which have accried to all from the wisdom and prudence of our chief executive. The proprieties of the hour bid me hasten to the performance of the duties incident to this place. Suffice it to say that the re-election of Grover Cleveland is demanded by the patriotic sentiment of the land.

Unable to reinstate themselves upon any meritorious issues, corrupt politicians, whose transgressions have excluded them from office, seek restoration to authority by endeavoring to reanimate the buried issues of a past generation But these unseemly efforts must fail. Those who participated in the struggle are not anxious to renew it. The agitators of to-day were in most instances non-combatants. A new generation has come upon the scene. The younger voters know of the war only through tradition and history. While they glory in their fathers' heroic deeds they yet believe that unkind words and exaggerated references to the past are not promotive of present harmony or future prosperity, and that an administration which treats all alike and recognizes that there is no distinction before law of race or section is best calculated to further the general interest and to perpetuate the blessings of liberty. The honest, intelligent elector, whose judgment is untainted by prejudice, is prepared to again entrust this government to the Democratic party. That that organization has accomplished so much, notwithstanding the continued opposition of its foes, is ample evidence that during the next four years its policy will be finally and completely adopted. The coming contest will result in the triumph of Democracy. The nominees of this convention will be the chosen of the people, and if we do our duty the Republican party will be unable to retard the progress of our country.

Cleveland's name when mentioned by the temporary chairman took the convention by storm, and the applause was deafening. He got another round of applause when he referred to tariff reform. When the speaker concluded he was thanked with applause which came from all parts of the house, and for which he had repeatedly to bow his thanks.

Just as soon as he had taken his seat Governor Green, of New Jersey, sent up a resolution adopting the rules of the last convention subject to some slight modifications. Waller, of Missouri, objected on the point of order that until the committee on credentials had reported they did not know who composed the convention. The point was overruled, and the resolution was adopted by a majority vote. Patterson, of Colorado, in behalf of the delegations from that state, rose in his seat to present to the chair a solid silver gavel, the material from the bowels of Colorado's earth, the workmanship the handiwork of Colorado's artisans. He hoped that with it would be made the announcement of President Cleveland's renomination. The present was accepted, the chairman saying that for the present the convention would have to be ruled by silver. Senator Gorman, of Maryland, who upon being recognized received a warm welcome, moved that the roll of states be called for the members of various committees and that all resolutions be referred to the appropriate committees without debate. The resolution was adopted without opposition and the roll was called.

As the states were called the names of the principal leaders were received with applause. Henry Watterson, ex-mayor Cooper, of New York; ex-Governor Abbett, of New Jersey; Senator Turpie, of Indiana; Senator Gorman, of Maryland; Lewis C. Cassidy, of Pennsylvania, being among those honored. The following is a list of the committees as officially announced during the call.

Dickson; Washington territory, J. J. Brown; Utah, B. L. Williams; Montana, Martin MaGinnis; New Mexico, William B. Childers.

When the call of the roll had been completed at 1:40 Mr. O'Brien, of Minnesota, moved that as there was a contest in Dakota all those claiming to be delegates from that territory be excluded from participation until the contests had been disposed of. The resolution was adopted. This matter disposed of, W. H. Pucey, of Iowa, suggested that the hall be left open during the recess for the inspection of visiting clubs, and Baker, of Ohio, asked to have the sergeant-at-arms instructed to find places for all the uniformed clubs that had come to the city. This latter proposition evoked a lively debate. Baker declared that 4,000 tickets had been given to the members of the chamber of commerce which should have been given to the visiting clubs. Wilson, of Minnesota, denounced the scheme as impracticable, and ex-Governor Abbett, of New Jersey, elicited applause by the statement that there was no difference between uniformed clubs and ununiformed clubs. Finally, after several other speeches, the whole matter was disposed of by being referred to the national committee.

The delegates were now getting tired and there was so much confusion that the chair broke his gavel in obtaining order. Roswell P. Flower, of New York, moved a recess until noon Wednesday be taken. Governor Abbett objected and suggested 10 a. m. on the ground that he desired to see the president renominated on the second and not on the third day. The majority settled the question in favor of Governor Abbett, and at precisely 2 o'clock the convention took a recess until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

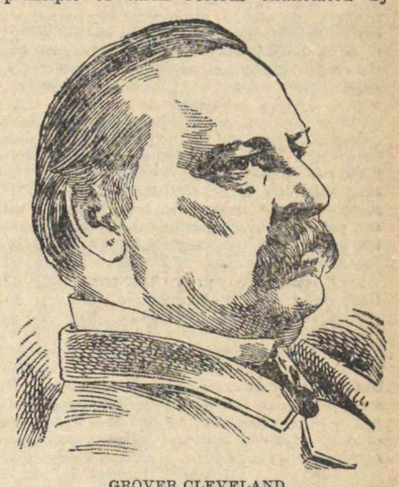
SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the doors of the exposition building were thrown open and the hall began to fill rapidly.

The first applause of the morning was evoked when a magnificent floral shield about four feet in hight was carried upon the platform and placed before the chairman's desk. It was a tribute to the permanent chairman, P. A. Collins, of Massachusetts, whose name with that of his state was inscribed across the center in yellow roses. The Church delegates from Dakota, Col. W. T. Steele and George H. Megguier, who had been elected by the committee on credentials, were among the first to arrive, and there was a self-satisfied look upon their faces as they picked out their location.

At 10:22 Temporary Chairman White dealt the desk several blows with the silver gavel and called the convention to order. Then the Rev. T. J. Green was introduced, and while the delegates and visitors arose, he prayed. The chairman announced amid applause that credentials had been handed in from a delegation from Alaska, this being the first time that a delegation of that territory had sought admittance to a Democratic national convention. He announced that the papers would go to the proper committee and was about to call for the report of the committee on permanent organization when Congressman Timothy J. Campbell presented a memorial, declaring that the Monroe doctrine should be strictly enforced; that American states should be protected from European encroachment, even by force if necessary; and that the closest commercial and political relation should be maintained with the Mexican, Central American and South American states. Referred to the committee on resolutions.

Then Stephen Mallory, of Florida, took the floor and submitted a resolution, the first line of which was greeted with prolonged applause which was renewed at the close. Mr. Mallory's resolution sets forth that this "convention approves of and hereby endorses the principle of tariff reform enunciated by



GROVER CLEVELAND.

President Cleveland in his first message to the present congress, and to the policy recommended by him for the practical application of these principles to the administration of government we give our unqualified and universal support." Referred to the committee on resolutions.

John C. Webber, of Alabama, next submitted the report on credentials, the reading of which was waived, except so much as related to the seating of the Church delegation. It also reported that it had no official information of an Alaska delegation, but Mr. Webb corrected this, and the report was adopted, Arthur H. Delaney and A. H. Ranning being seated from Alaska. Next the report of the committee on rules and permanent organization was called for, and ex-Attorney Lewis Cassidy, of Philadelphia, received a round of applause when he took the platform. It recommended that the convention should adopt the same rules and order of business that prevailed at the Chicago convention of 1884, with the modification that no delegation shall be permitted to change its vote until after the call of states and territories has been completed. For permanent officers the following names were submitted:

Chairman, Hon. Patrick A. Collins, of Massachusetts; secretary, H. H. Ingersoll, of Tennessee; assistant secretaries, Alfred Orendorff, of Illinois; T. E. Barrett, of Missouri; W. W. Scott, of Virginia; O. M. Hall, of Minnesota; Leopold Struss, of Alabama; L. G. Rowley, of Michigan; John Triplett, of Georgia; T. J. Lingle, of Missouri; O. Newell, of Colorado; T. L. Merrill, of Nebraska; chief reading secretary, Hon. Thomas Pettit; sergeant-at-arms, R. J. Bright; chief doorkeeper, Daniel Able, of St. Louis. There was no opposition to the adoption of the report, and the temporary chairman selected Hon. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut; Roswell P. Flower, of New York, and John O. Day, of Missouri, to escort Mr. Collins to the chair. His presence upon the platform was the signal for long and continued applause, the Massachusetts delegation getting upon its chairs and yelling itself hoarse. The enthusiasm was renewed when Mr. White, thanking the convention for the courtesy extended him, introduced his successor, and it was continued while two of the Tennessee delegates carried upon the platform a framed vignette of the coat of arms of that state with pictures of the president and Mrs. Cleveland, the whole surmounted by a magnificent floral wreath.

Mr. Collins thanked the convention for the honor, and after paying a glowing tribute to Thomas Jefferson and the Democratic party, he said:

We meet to-day under conditions new to the Democrats of this generation. How often we stood in conventions as if the shadows of death closed about us; when the day of victory seemed almost as far away as the day of general judgment. It could not then be said that we met for spoils or personal advantage. The Republican party, sometimes peacefully and sometimes by force, sometimes fairly and sometimes by fraud, succeeded in holding power twenty-four years; till at last the American people, no longer condoning its faults or forgiving its sins, hurled it from power, and again committed to the historic party of the constitution and the whole Union the administration of our public affairs.

The day on which Grover Cleveland, the plain, straightforward, typical American citizen, chosen at the election, took the oath of office in the presence of the multitude—a day so lovely and so perfect that all nature seemed exuberantly to sanction and to celebrate the victory—that day marked the close of an old era and the beginning of a new one—a Democratic administration, faithful to its mighty trust, loyal to its pledges, true to the constitution, safe guarding the interests and liberties of the people.

And now we stand on the edge of another and perhaps a greater contest, with a relation to the electors that we have not held for a generation—that of responsibility for the great trust of government. We are no longer auditors, but accountants, no longer critics, but the criticized. The responsibility is ours, and if we have not taken all the power necessary to make that responsibility good, the fault is ours, not that of the people. We are confronted by a wily, unscrupulous and desperate foe, but we stand at guard, full-armed at every point to meet them. Our appeal is not to passion or to prejudice, to class or faction, to race or creed, but to the sound common sense, the interest, the intelligence and patriotism of the American people.

The administration of President Cleveland has triumphantly justified his election. The prophets of evil and disaster are dumb. What the people see is the government of the Union restored to its ancient footing of justice, peace, honesty and impartial enforcement of law. They see the demands of labor and agriculture met so far as government can meet them by legislative enactments for their encouragement and protection. They see the veterans of the civil war granted pensions long due them. They see more than 32,000,000 acres of land, recklessly and illegally held by the grantees of the corrupt Republican regime, restored to the public domain for the benefit of honest settlers. They see the negro, whose fears of Democratic rule were played upon by demagogues four years ago, not only more fully protected than by his pretended friends, but honored as his race was never honored before. They see a financial policy under which reckless speculation has practically ceased and capital freed from distrust. They see for the first time an honest observance of the law governing the civil establishment, and the employes of the people rid, at last, of the political highwayman with a demand for tribute in one hand and a letter of dismissal in the other. They see useless offices abolished and the expenses of the administration reduced, while improved methods have lifted the public service to high efficiency. They see tranquillity, order, security, and equal justice restored in the land, a watchful, steady, safe and patriotic administration—the solemn promise made by the Democracy faithfully kept. It is "an honest government by honest men."

Four years ago you trusted tentatively the Democratic party, and supported with zeal and vigor its candidate for president. You thought him strong in all the sturdy qualities requisite for the great task of reform. Behold your splendid justification No president in time of peace had so difficult and laborious a duty to perform. His party had been out of power for twenty-four years. Every member of it had been almost venomously excluded from the smallest post where administration could be studied. Every place was filled by men whose interest it was to thwart inquiry and belittle the new administration. But the master hand came to the helm, and the true course has been kept from the beginning. We need not wait for time to do justice to the character and services of President Cleveland. Honest, clear-sighted, patient; grounded in respect for law and justice; with a thorough grasp of principles and situations; with marvelous and conscientious industry; the very incarnation of firmness, he has nobly fulfilled the promise of his party, nobly met the expectations of his country, and written his name high on the scroll where future Americans will read only the names of men who have been supremely useful to the republic.

FELLOW DEMOCRATS: This is but the initial meeting in a political campaign destined to be memorable. It will be a clashing of nearly even forces. Let no man here or elsewhere belittle or underestimate the strength or resources of the opposition. But, great as they are, the old Democratic party, in conscious strength and perfect union, faces the issue fearlessly.

The applause was general when Chairman Collins had concluded his address, and then the convention took it easy for a few moments while the numerous gentlemen who had been honored by their selection as vice presidents found their way to the stage. Order once more secured, the delegates had an unpleasant surprise in the announcement by the chairman that he had received a communication from the committee on resolutions saying that it would be impossible to present a report until 8 p. m. A murmur went through the crowded hall, and it was evident that the delegation was anything but satisfied with the prospects of staying here another night. Nothing could be done, however, and Delegate Walters, of Missouri, availed himself of the opportunity to submit a long preamble and a series of resolutions, which were read amid a great deal of noise.

A communication was the read from Mrs. Virginia L. Minor and Mrs. E. A. Meriweather, stating that they had been appointed by the Women's convention, recently held at Washington, to present the cause of women to the present convention, and asking that one of their number be heard for ten minutes. There were cheers, laughter, jeers, ironical applause, and shouts of "No."

Mr. O'Donohue, of New York, offered a resolution giving the women an opportunity to be heard, which was adopted. Then Delegate Charles E. Boyle, of Pennsylvania, secured the passage of a resolution upon which all further resolutions should go to the committee without reading. But it happened that Delegate Timothy J. Campbell, of New York, had in his hand a resolution expressing sympathy with Gen. Sheridan in his illness, and without stating its purport, asked unanimous consent for its consideration. A storm of objections were raised from all parts of the hall, and it was not until Mr. Campbell had stated that the resolution in no way referred to the platform, that objection was withdrawn and he was allowed to proceed. There was applause when its nature became apparent, and it was adopted by a rising vote, all the delegates as well as a majority of the visitors getting upon their feet.

The representative of the women of the country was now presented. She proved to be Mrs. Eliza Meriweather, of St. Louis, who took a prominent part in the Prohibition convention at Indianapolis. So much confusion prevailed that she could not be heard beyond the platform and before she was half through with her written address, cries of "time" compelled her to come to an abrupt conclusion. She retired from the platform with great disappointment and chagrin.

Mr. Barnum, of Connecticut, moved that when the convention adjourned it should be until 10 o'clock Thursday morning. This was amended to 8 p. m. Wednesday. Renewed confusion prevailed and in the midst of the uproar Delegate Hensel, of Pennsylvania, moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, but that no ballots be taken until the committee on platform had reported. Brown, of Ohio, asked that the latter clause be stricken out, but by a majority vote the convention refused to adjourn and adopted Hensel's resolution. The clerk commenced to call the roll and a ballot was called for. The chairman of the delegation responded that they tendered the first place on the call and the right to speak to New York. This brought out great cheering, which was renewed when Daniel Dougherty was named as the first orator to present the name of Grover Cleveland. When this talented acquisition from Tammany appeared upon the platform to the right of the chair, the enthusiasm of the vast audience knew no bounds. Even this outburst, however, was put in the shade by the storm that met his first mention of the president's name and his declaration that New York pledged him her electoral vote. Climbing up on chairs, desks, anything that could give them an elevated position, the people cheered and cheered, and cheered until it seemed as if the very walls and roof were quivering. It was a magnificent, a memorable exhibition of the inspiration that the name of Grover Cleveland brings to the Democracy. Nothing could have been better than the delivery of the speech, which was as follows:

I greet you, my countrymen, with fraternal regard. In your presence I bow to the majesty of the people. The sight itself is inspiring, the thought sublime. You come from every state and territory, from every nook and corner of our ocean-bounded continent-covering country. You are about to discharge a more than imperial duty. With simplest ceremonials, you, as the representatives of the people, are to choose a magistrate with power mightier than a monarch, yet checked and controlled by the supreme law of the written constitution.

Thus impressed, I ascend the rostrum to name the next president of the United States. New York presents him to the convention and pledges her electoral vote. Delegations from the thirty-eight states and all the territories are here assembled, without caucus or consultation, ready simultaneously to take up the cry and make the vote unanimous. We are here, indeed, not to choose a candidate — only to name the one the people have already chosen. He is the man for the people. His career illustrates the glory of our institutions. Eight years ago unknown, save in his own locality, he for the last four has stood in the gaze of the world discharging the most exalted duties that can be confided to a mortal. To day determines that, not of his own choice, but by the mandate of his countrymen and with the sanction of heaven, he shall fill the presidency for four years more. He has met and mastered every question as if from youth trained to statesmanship. The promises of his letter of acceptance and inaugural address have been fulfilled. His fidelity in the past inspires faith in the future. He is not a hope, he is a realization.

Scorning subterfuge, disdaining re-election by concealing convictions, mindful of his oath of office to defend the constitution, he courageously declares to congress, dropping minor matters, that the supreme issue is reform, revision, and reduction of national taxation. That the treasury of the United States, glutted with unneeded gold, oppresses industry, embarrasses business, endangers financial tranquillity and breeds extravagance, centralization, and corruption. That high taxation, vital for the expenditures of an unparalleled war, is robbery in years of prosperous peace. That the millions that pour into the treasury come from the hard-earned savings of the American people. That in violation of equality of rights, the present tariff has created a privileged class, who, shaping legislation for personal gain, levy by law contributions for the necessaries of life from every man, woman, and child in the land. That to lower the tariff is not free trade; it is to reduce the unjust profits of monopolists and boss manufacturers, and allow consumers to retain the rest. The man who asserts that to lower the tariff means free trade insults intelligence. We brand him as a falsifier. It is farthest from thought to imperil capital or disturb enterprises. The aim is to uphold wages and protect the rights of all.

This administration has rescued the public domain from would-be barons and cormorant corporations, faithless to obligations, and reserved it for free homes for this and coming generations. There is no pilfering, there are no jobs, under this administration. Public office is a public trust. Integrity stands guard at every post of our vast empire. While the president has been the medium through which has flowed the undying gratitude of the republic for her soldiers, he has not hesitated to withhold approval from special legislation if strictest inquiry reveals a want of truth and justice. Above all, sectional strife, as never before, is at an end, and 60,000,000 of freemen, in the ties of brotherhood, are prosperous and happy.

These are the achievements of this administration.

Under the same illustrious leader we are ready to meet our political opponents in high and honorable debate, and stake our triumph on the intelligence, virtue and patriotism of the people. Adhering to the constitution, its every line and letter, ever remembering that "Powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution nor prohibited by it to the states are reserved to the states respectively or to the people," by the authority of the Democracy of New York, backed by the Democracy of the entire Union, I give you a name entwined with victory. I nominate Grover Cleveland of New York.

The climax was reached when with arms raised over his head and hands clenched the orator concluded, "I nominate Grover Cleveland, of New York."

The convention seemed to go wild and the cheering continued for exactly twenty-three minutes. Cleveland's nomination was seconded by McKenzie, of Kentucky, and others, after which the rules were suspended and the nomination made by acclamation.

The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

A Great Battle

Is continuously going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

THE SOUTHERN WASHTENAW CLUB.

Meet With the Farmers' Club at Norvell—Minutes of an Interesting Meeting.

A joint meeting of the Norvell and Southern Washtenaw Farmers' Clubs was held at "Fair View" farm June 1st. This farm consists of 1,200 acres in the township of Norvell, Jackson county, ond is owned by the proprietor, L. D. Watkins. His beautiful residence is upon an elevated piece of land near the road, overlooking a large portion of the farm and giving a fair view of a small lake and the L. S. & M. S. R. R. (Ypsilanti branch). From this fact the Farmers' Club gave it the name some years ago of "Fair View," which name it has since retained.

The day was cold and cloudy, but fully 100 were present from the clubs and invited guests. The Southern Washtenaw Club embraces Sharon, Manchester and Bridgewater Townships, and is one of the oldest, if not the oldest club in the State. It was organized more than nine years ago, and has kept up its regular meetings. The Norvell club was organized soon after across the line in Jackson county. According to a programme previously arranged the topic for discussion at this meeting was what constitutes a practical education for farmers' sons and daughters. A paper from each of the clubs was to be furnished, also an essay upon a topic of their own choosing, from each of the clubs. The guests arrived early and had a very social time before dinner, which was served in good style and in abundance.

After all had eaten to the full, S. M. Merrithew, of Sharon, president of the Southern Washtenaw Club, called the meeting to order and announced that Mr. Hollady, president of the Norvell Club, would preside. He made a nice little speech and proceeded to the programme. A. R. Palmer asked leave to read a letter from the editor of the Michigan Farmer. The letter was read, in which Mr. Gibbons expressed his sincere regret that his business was such he could not be present. The president then called upon Mrs. R. D. Palmer, of Norvell, for her essay. She announced her subject, "Home". To say the essay was a good one would express it very feebly. It should have been heard to be been appreciated. Each one resolved within themselves to make their own homes better, with more love and devotion.

Miss Nettie English, of Manchester, was called upon. She announced her topic as "Modern Conversation". The essay showed careful thought and study in its preparation. Conversation to be agreeable and profitable should come from a cultivated heart and intellect, much of the reading matter of the present day ought to be destroyed as it leads to unprofitable conversation. The essay was full of practical thoughts; it may be seen in the Household Department of the Michigan Farmer sometime, as also the other.

A paper upon the topic for discussion was then read by A. R. Palmer, secretary of the Norvell club. He thought farmers sons and daughters ought to have as good an education as anybody, and what he would denominate as an educated person was one whose physical, mental and spiritual or moral faculties are so trained or developed that he can make the best use of them of which they are capable. C. M. Fellows, of Sharon, also read a paper upon the same topic. He thought in its broadest and highest sense education made the man, for it implies not so much the communication of knowledge as the discipline of the intellect, the establishment of principles and the regulation of the heart. A full discussion followed, participated in by members of the club and visitors. C. M. Starks, of Webster, thought parents should educate their children in that direction which their thought or inclination tended toward, if the calling or profession was a worthy one. D. W. Palmer, Esq., of Bridgewater, for many years a school teacher and a pioneer in the county, gave a very interesting talk, relating to his experience as an educator. Mr. Smith, of Sommersett, Woodard, of Clinton, Rev. J. W. Pachen and many others expressed themselves that a good practical education should be given to every child in America—thus passed one of the best joint meetings the clubs have held.

"Just Hear That Child Scream!"

said Mrs. Smith to her Sister, Mrs. Davis, as the sound of a child's shrieks came across the garden from a neighbor's house. "What kind of a woman have you for a neighbor? Does she abuse her children?" "No, indeed," replied Mrs. Davis. "She is one of the most tender mothers in existence. But you see, she believes in old-fashioned styles of doctoring. When a child needs physic, she fills a spoon with some nauseous dose, lays the victim flat on her lap, holds his nose till he is forced to open his mouth for breath, when down goes the dreadful mess. Then come the yells." "No wonder." said Mrs. Smith, "Why doesn't she use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? They are effective without being harsh, and are as easy to take as sugar plums. I always give them to my children." "And so do I," said Mrs. Davis.

Hand organs have been banished from the streets of Vienna by imperial decree.

"For a long time I had no appetite, was restless at night, and very much debilitated. After taking two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my strength and appetite returned, and my health was completely restored."—D. M. Fisher, Oswego, N. Y.

Peculiar in medicinal merit and wonderful cures—Hood's Sarsaparilla. Now is the time to take it, for now it will do the most good.

Fifty thousand tons of soot are taken annually from the chimneys of London. It is used for fertilizing.

Is Consumption Incurable.

Read the following; Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jessie Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died with Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottle free at Eberbach & Son's Drug Store.

A box of Ayer's Pills have saved many a fit of sickness. When a remedy does not happen to be within reach, people are liable to neglect slight ailments and, of course, if serious illness follows they have to suffer the consequences. "A stich in time saves nine."

Clothes soaked for an hour in a tub of hot water in which some of THE DINGMAN SOAP has been dissolved, and covered over with a thick cloth of any kind to keep the hot steam in the tub, will require little or no rubbing, as the dirt will squeeze or wring right out.

It is the great labor saver and invention of the age. Remember the name of Dingman, and beware of imitations claiming to be like it, as there is no soap made like the Dingman soap is made. Ask for it, and take no other until you try it.

THE BEST

ROAD MACHINE

You ought to have one in your township. It will save money Better roads at less expense. Speak to your supervisor abou it. Call the highway commissioners attention to this advertisement. It's to your interest if you pay taxes.

THE AMERICAN

CHAMPION ROAD GRADER

The best made, the most enduring, greatest capacity, easiest of operation, steadiest motion, turned in narrower space than other machines. P. W. Richardson, Tremont, Me., writes that he can build more roads for $100 with it than could be built for $2,000 the old way. Dimon Roberts, road commissioner of Lynn, Mass., says "road expenses since purchasing American Champion half as great as formerly and more than twice amount work done each year." The

LITTLE WONDER GRADER

Warranted to do any work possible to any two-wheel machine and do it with lighter draft and less friction on the axles.

The New Daisy Road Machine

A low price machine, the beet thing for the money in the market. Read what Supervisor Dansingburg of Augusta says

WHITTAKER, MICH., DEC. 2, 1887.

DEAR SIR:—I would say that the New Daisy Road Machine bought of you last May is all that you represent it to be. I consider it superior to the Boss, on account of its hollow all-steel bar, allowing the dirt to move away freer and causing a good deal less side draft, consequently running easier, I think any one who buys one will be satisfied with it.

Yours,

WM. DANSINGBURG.

Township clerk, J. M. Clark, of York, received for record as an estray last Thursday one light cream colored female pony, with black mane and tail, has B. C. branded on left shoulder, and a small scar on right shoulder, about four years old, weighs about five hundred pounds. The pony was taken up by Charles Hettler.

Mrs. George McKim, who died in Superior recently, was born in Vermont in 1797, coming to Michigan with her first husband in 1826 and settled in Superior. Two years later, E. Stacy, her first husband, having died, she married John Bramble, who died a year and a half after their marriage. She married her third husband, George McKim in 1831 and survived him twenty-seven years.

Mrs. Mosette, aged 90 years, passed through town last Saturday on foot en route for Leoni. She had been visiting friends in this locality, and her erect figure, bright eye and sprightly manner made her appear much younger than a person just entering on the home stretch of a full blown century. Mrs. M. never took snuff, smoked a pipe, or took opium. She expected to reach Leoni without undergoing much fatigue.—Grass Lake News.

Norman Dwight, of Scio township, died Monday noon on his farm which has been his home continuously for fifty years. His death was caused from dropsy. He was buried from the Webster Congregational church, of which he has been an active member for over half a century. Mr. Dwight was born in Massachusetts in 1815. When twenty-three years of age he came to Washtenaw county. He was a school director in the township for over ten years, a deacon in the Webster Congregational church and had been superintendent of their Sunday school.

Jonathan Holmes, of Manchester township, and his son Sam, went fishing in a little lake near his farm the other day and the former came pretty near furnishing food for the fish. It seems that he is subject to sudden attacks of faintness, and while he and his son were sitting quietly in the boat, one of these attacks came upon him. Without any warning Mr. Holmes, senior, dove headlong over the side of the boat. The son saw the movement just in time to jump to his rescue and grabed him by the foot. By dint of hard work Sam pulled his father into the boat and saved him from drowning. It was certainly a narrow escape.—Tecumseh News.

Chelsea.

Corn is making poor headway because of cold weather.

The Chelsea ball club beat the Dexter club here last Saturday.

A. F. Freeman, of Manchester was here Wednesday on legal business.

The village engine house is now ready to receive the new fire machinery.

Business is very dull in town, farmers are very busy and have very little wheat back to market. It sells here at 88 to 90 cents.

The supervisor reports only 28 births in this township the last year. That is rather thin for a population of nearly 3,000 but he thinks the showing will be better next year.

Married' at the residence of the bride's father, James McLaren, in this village on Wednesday by the Rev. Dr. Holmes, Miss Josie McLaren to William Brewer, of East Saginaw. A large number of invited guests were present and the happy couple took the afternoon train for Detroit.

There is very little said yet about the wool though the usual season for selling it is close at hand. A few farmers have already sheared but the most of them will not shear until the weather is warmer. The sale will be slow this year because of the low price and the great caution of the buyers. It is to be hoped that the price will improve before the market opens.

Dexter.

Mrs. Chubbick, of Amboy, Ill., who has been visiting her father, Thos. Spafard, returned home Wednesday.

This is the second defeat our ball team has suffered at the hands of Ann Arbor ball tossers. The first score was 10 to 2 and the score Wednesday 6 to 3.

[From another correspondent.]

Fred Macomber was home over Sunday.

Mr. L. D. Watkins is sick with the mumps.

Bert Wade was quite ill the first part of the week.

Rev. Schoettle returned home last Saturday evening.

A large crowd witnessed the Milan-Manchester game.

Mr. B. F. Wade and son drove to Ann Arbor last Sunday.

Sharon people had a picnic at Wolf Lake last Saturday.

Our little German band goes to Wrampler's Lake, Wednesday.

Prof. Thos. Moran, of Elk River, Minn., is expected home next week.

Miss Fanny Blinn, of Milan, visited at Mrs. Hauessler's one day last week.

Prof. Phillips and family left Tuesday for Macon, where they will spend the summer.

The new steamer built by Clark Bros. will be run on Wrampler's Lake this summer.

The base ball game on Tuesday was very interesting, Milan leading up to the seventh inning. Kempf's over-the-fence and home-run hit were the features. The score:

	R.	B. H.	E.
Manchester	7	9	3
Milan	6	8	2

Batteries.—Manchester, Geraden and Scofield; Milan, Lewis and Booth.

Fred Gauntlett has rented a "bi" to fall from a few times, for exercise. But then, cyclers must expect to tumble once in a while to gain expertness. To know how to fall well is a trick but few ever acquire, but when learned is almost invaluable to a rider.

Four girls, all sisters to each other, made some fine music in different parts of our little village at the still hour of 12:30 a. m. Wednesday. Several of our prominent young men were favored with the sweet strains of their voices with "Autoharp" accompaniment.

D. A. Bennett and family visited at "Ypsi" last Sunday, and while there the team became frightened, breaking the carriage tongue and as good fortune would have it the tugs became unhooked before a line broke, when they left D. A. and family in the carriage unhurt. The horses were soon caught and repairs were made so they arrived safely home.

The Remarkable Cures

Which have been effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla are sufficient proof that this medicine does possess peculiar curative power. In the severest cases of scrofula or salt rheum, when other preparations had been powerless, the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla has brought about the happiest results. The case of Miss Sarah C. Whittier, of Lowell, Mass., who suffered terribly from scrofulous sores; that of Charles A. Roberts, of East Wilson, N. Y., who had thirteen abscesses on his face and neck; that of Willie Duff, of Walpole, Mass., who had hip disease and scrofula so bad that physicians said he could not recover, are a few of the many instances in which wonderful cures were effected by this medicine.

A Welsh gentleman has planted the side of a mountain on his estate with forest trees ranged to make "Jubilee, 1887," in letters 600 feet long and 25 feet wide. Six hundred and fifty thousand trees were used.

Electric Bitters.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democrats of Michigan will meet in State Convention in the Detroit Opera House at Detroit, on Thursday, July 19th, 1888,

At eleven o'clock a. m. to nominate candidates for State Officers and for Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

According to the rule adopted by the state convention held at Detroit in 1880, every county is entitled to one delegate for each 500 votes cast for governor at the last general election, and one additional delegate for a fraction of not less than 250 votes, but any county is entitled to at least two delegates. All delegates must be residents of the counties they represent.

The delegates from each Congressional District will meet in caucus at 10 o'clock a. m., on day of the convention.

I. M. WESTON. Chairman.
WM. J. McGEE, Assistant Secretary.

CLEVELAND OUR CANDIDATE.

"A name entwined with victory" is again placed at the head of the democratic national ticket. By acclamation and amidst the wildest enthusiasm, Grover Cleveland has been renominated for president. He is the strongest man in the democratic party. He has shown that he possessed more statesmanship than any man now in public life. He is a man who does his own thinking and who has the backbone to carry out his convictions of right and wrong.

He has shown the possession of a great capacity for executive government. He has developed a comprehensive grasp of public questions. He has exercised a practical method of dealing with important questions. He looks at the details of government with the eyes of a practiced business man. He has made a president of whom every intelligent American may well be proud.

The democratic party builded wiser than they knew, when they first nominated Cleveland for president. He has placed the party on a higher plane. He has infused into their ranks the courage of the conviction that their cause is just. He has planned the battle and placed the republicans on the defensive, and made them defend the indefensible robbery from the hard earned savings of the people to pile up an immense public treasure.

Like a watch dog, he has stood at the treasury door to prevent the squandering of the people's money. With clarion voice he says: Reduce taxation. Let hard earned dollars stay in the pockets of the men who earn them, and don't squander public funds.

No one to-day, doubts Clevelnnd's honesty. No one to-day denies that he is a man with a backbone. No one to-day denies that he has the courage of his convictions and the ability to express what he means in the Kings English. That is the kind of a man we have for our candidate, a man whom every intelligent voter ought to be proud to support for president.

THE Hudson Post, a republican paper, is afraid the prohibition vote will be large enough to keep the republicans from getting the next legislature and passing a state prohibitory law.

THE Register persists in telling its readers what is not true concerning the liquor bonds accepted by the common council. If the Register would take the trouble to send a reporter over to the county treasurers office, he will find by looking at the liquor bonds there filed that no bond was accepted where both the sureties did not swear that they were residents and freeholders in this city. The ARGUS repeats—no illegal bond has been accepted by the council. If the Register thinks any bond is illegal, let them publish a verbatim copy of that bond.

THE closeness of the vote at the taxpayers' meeting is in part an indication that the people of the city have made up their minds that extravagance in managing the affairs of the city should cease. We do not think, however, that it means that they are not in favor of pub[illegible] account of time. Our farmers and business men should take this topic in hand.

The topic, fruit exchange, should call out every fruit grower. Lack of system in the sale and distribution of fruit will result annually in great loss which we have suffered too long already.

The committee on fruit exchange will have a special meeting next Saturday at 7 p. m. at the residence of President Baldwin. All members are expected to be present promptly on time.

Childrens' Day To-morrow.

Children's day, as announced last week, will take place in University hall at 2:30 p m., where there will be singing of four hymns and addresses by Judge Harriman, President Angell and Rev. Dr. Earp. After the exercises the children will adjourn to the campus until 5.30, when they will disperse for their homes.

The court house bell will ring at one o'clock p. m., at which time all the children of the different wards should be assembled at their respective schools.

The sixth ward school with the Marshal and city band at the head, will leave their grounds at 1:15 p. m., and passing through the University campus by the diagonal walk to Sheehan's corner, join the first ward school, which will form behind them, going north on State street, they will pass the high school where the procession will be joined by the eighth grade pupils, who will form in the rear of the first ward.

Thence the procession will go north to Bowery st., then west to Division, where it will be joined by the fourth ward, St. Thomas, and fifth ward schools in the order in which they are named. The procession will then move south on Division st. to Ann, west on Ann st. to Fifth where the second and third ward schools will form in the rear of the second division, in the order named.

From this point on the procession will be complete. The line will now move south on Fifth st. to Huron, then west on Huron to Fourth, north on Fourth to Ann, west on Ann st. to Main, south on Main to Liberty, east on Liberty to Division, south on Division to Jefferson, east on Jefferson to State, north on State to main entrance to the University Hall.

Each ward and school are expected to be prompt in joining the procession, so that there may be no delay.

The first ward and eighth grade should time the starting in reference to the 6th ward. The fifth ward, headed by the Huron Band, should start at 1:30, go up Broadway and Detroit st. to Division, up Division, and from behind the St. Thomas school, which should start at 1:45.

The second ward should leave their grounds at 1:20, go north to Liberty st., on Liberty to second st., north on Second to Catharine, here the third ward, which has started at 1:45, will form behind, The two wards will then move east on Catharine to Fifth, then south on Fifth to Ann where they will join the main procession.

The Huron Band will have a position in the rear of the fourth ward.

Each school will have a banner which will be carried at the head of the school.

The line of march has been planned with a due consideration to the comfort of the children. Everything possible will be done to make this day one of the most pleasant of their lives.

It is suggested that citizens, along the route of the procession, decorate their residences and places of business, and in that way contribute to the pleasures of the day,

Those who have teams and vehicles in the city, Saturday afternoon, are respectfully requested to keep them off the street, over which the line of march extends, at the time the procession is passing.

The glee club sang in Detroit Monday night before a large audience which the Free Press says, "became thoroughly enthusiastic as the concert proceeded and heartily re-echoed the sentiments incorporated in the closing ensemble, "Ann Arbor, 'Tis of Thee we Sing."

Gifts of Poison.

It is time that respectable merchants combined with consumers for the suppression of all gift, prize and lottery schemes in connection with the sale of articles of merchandise. These schemes are not only demoralizing to legitimate business and to the morals of the community, but in the extent in which they are being carried in the sale of articles of food have become a source of great danger to the public health. They are, no matter in what form they appear, nothing more or less than devices to swindle honest and unsuspecting people.

It is gratifying to learn that in some instances the officers of the law have taken hold of the matter. In New York, and also in Chicago, parties who in this way offered gifts to purchasers of their packages have receatly been arrested upon indictment for lottery swindling. The latest candidates, both for public execration and criminal prosecution, are the manufacturers of the alum baking powders, who are both, by means of gifts and lottery tickets, disposing of large quantities of their corrosively poisonous compounds, which are so well known to be detrimental to health that no housekeeper will admit them to her kitchen knowingly. This form of swindle is not only being peddled from house to house, but under the promise of large profits to be realized, the manufacturers are entrenching themselves behind the counters of many grocers by getting them to offer the alum goods with the gifts or lottery tickets attached, thereby shifting the liability to prosecution, in part, upon other, and perhaps innocent parties. Every grocer or dealer, for instance, who sells or offers for sale any of the prize or lottery baking powders is a criminal in the eye of the law, and liable upon conviction, to fine and imprisonment, while those who sell the gift goods are, morally, as responsible, for they are offering an inducement, or prize, to housekeepers to use a food that contains a corrosive poison. This is a predicament in which it is not possible our grocers will care to place themselves when they come to think seriously of the matter.

It must be borne in mind that every one of these gifts or prize baking powders are alum baking powders. These powders cost less than four cents a pound to produce; the gift or prize costs but a few cents more. They are sold at the price of a first class baking powder, so that the swindle in a commercial sense, is enormous. But the chief iniquity of the business consists in selling, as presumably wholesome, an article of a positively injurious character, and by means of gifts or bribes, inducing servants or unsuspecting housekeepers to purchase and use it in our daily food.

There should be some prompt method of reaching these dangerous practices and punish the parties engaged in their promotion. If the present laws are not ample, we commend the matter to the consideration of our State Board of Health for recommendation of such additional legislation as shall be effective for the protection of the public.

Grand Democratic Rally.

A grand democratic open air ratification meeting will be held in this city to-morrow, Saturday evening, with good speeches, plenty of music, fireworks, etc. Every democrat should be out to it. A telegram received from St. Louis last night announces the greatest enthusiasm for the ticket. Old Washtenaw's enthusiasm will be heard from to-morrow night.

A Fraud Exposed.

The officers found a tramp Monday, begging for food and money, with his arm done up in a plaster cast, and telling a pitiable story of a broken arm. He was taken to Dr. Darling's office and the plaster cast removed from his arm. The doctor on making the examination pronounced the tramp a fraud, his arm never having been broken. A search revealed the fact that he had $2.26 about his person. He was taken to jail. This is only one of the numerous ways in which these tramps are endeavoring to sponge a living from the public. It is a pity that we don't have a stone yard to put such fellows at work.

Dr. Smith's Barns Burned.

The barns of Dr. W. B. Smith's farm just outside the city limits were burned Monday afternoon, while no one was at home on the premises. The loss on the barns, carriages, machinery, etc. was $3,500 and there was an insurance of $1,500 upon the property. Luckily no live stock was consumed in the flames. Some setting hens stuck to their nest and were burned. A day or two before the fire a couple of tramps, who were driven away from the farm, left threatening to get even and vowing vengnace. As the fire is supposed to be incendiary, it seems not at all unlikely that the tramps may have taken this method of getting even.

Breaking Champagne Bottles.

Four students must have been on a high old drunk Tuesday night. The next morning rumors were afloat that and of them had been killed by a blow from a champagne bottle. This proved to be an unfounded rumor. They were however seen smashing bottles on the corner of Main and Ann streets and one of them throwing a bottle on the sidewalk so as to break it, threw it on his foot, cutting it very badly. He limped to a lamp post and afterwards started off up the street, leaving a blood trail. Pools of blood showed where he endeavored to enter Goodyear and Mann's drug stores. The matter was hushed up as soon as possible and everybody is curious to know who the injured student is. Whoever he is, he ought to be ashamed of himself and probably is.

Pomological Meeting.

Mr. J. D. Baldwin presided at the June meeting. Secretary Ganzhorn. read a letter from secretary of state asking for fruit statistics. Mr. Ganzhorn expects a full crop of peaches; plums looking very favorable; quinces full; grapes very well set.

Dr. C. Howell never saw peaches, apples, quinces and pears more promising. Grapes, blackberries and raspberries are looking well. Strawberries have suffered some from the cold.

Mr. E. Baur thinks Bartletts and the earlier pears are looking more favorable than a month ago. Flemish Beauties over-bore last year and the crop will be light this year.

Prof. B. E. Nichols, chairman of the committee that has done such good work for the society, saving for the fruit growers from five to six hundred dollars on transportation last year, gave a full report of his work thus far this year. Berry shippers will get cheap rates this year if they ship at least fifty bushels per day.

Some fruit growers, who have never born any of the burdens of the society, but who are always ready to take advantage of the hard work of their fellows, have neglected to pay the small tax of one cent. per bushel for handling, that the active members paid cheerfully long ago.

Mr. Ganzhorn reported that the fruit exchange of South Haven is incorporated. The fruit inspector attends to the shipping and distribution of fruit and rejects inferior fruit and bad measures. The exchange saved the fruit growers $1.50 on every barrel of apples shipped last year.

J. D. Baldwin: We should make arrangements for shipping peaches in refrigerator cars. Especially Crawford peaches and Bartlett pears.

E. Baur: The berry business should not be overlooked. Last year strawberries did not pay because large growers flooded the market here and full quarts had to compete with small baskets.

The creamery question was laid over business men should take this topic in hand.

The topic, fruit exchange, should call out every fruit grower. Lack of system in the sale and distribution of fruit will result annually in great loss which we have suffered too long already.

The committee on fruit exchange will have a special meeting next Saturday at 7 p. m. at the residence of President Baldwin. All members are expected to be present promptly on time.

The glee club sang in Detroit Monday night before a large audience which the Free Press says, "became thoroughly enthusiastic as the concert proceeded and heartily re-echoed the sentiments incorporated in the closing ensemble, "Ann Arbor, 'Tis of Thee we Sing."

Gifts of Poison.

It is time that respectable merchants combined with consumers for the suppression of all gift, prize and lottery schemes in connection with the sale of articles of merchandise. These schemes are not only demoralizing to legitimate business and to the morals of the community, but in the extent in which they are being carried in the sale of articles of food have become a source of great danger to the public health. They are, no matter in what form they appear, nothing more or less than devices to swindle honest and unsuspecting people.

It is gratifying to learn that in some instances the officers of the law have taken hold of the matter. In New York, and also in Chicago, parties who in this way offered gifts to purchasers of their packages have receatly been arrested upon indictment for lottery swindling. The latest candidates, both for public execration and criminal prosecution, are the manufacturers of the alum baking powders, who are both, by means of gifts and lottery tickets, disposing of large quantities of their corrosively poisonous compounds, which are so well known to be detrimental to health that no housekeeper will admit them to her kitchen knowingly. This form of swindle is not only being peddled from house to house, but under the promise of large profits to be realized, the manufacturers are entrenching themselves behind the counters of many grocers by getting them to offer the alum goods with the gifts or lottery tickets attached, thereby shifting the liability to prosecution, in part, upon other, and perhaps innocent parties. Every grocer or dealer, for instance, who sells or offers for sale any of the prize or lottery baking powders is a criminal in the eye of the law, and liable upon conviction, to fine and imprisonment, while those who sell the gift goods are, morally, as responsible, for they are offering an inducement, or prize, to housekeepers to use a food that contains a corrosive poison. This is a predicament in which it is not possible our grocers will care to place themselves when they come to think seriously of the matter.

It must be borne in mind that every one of these gifts or prize baking powders are alum baking powders. These powders cost less than four cents a pound to produce; the gift or prize costs but a few cents more. They are sold at the price of a first class baking powder, so that the swindle in a commercial sense, is enormous. But the chief iniquity of the business consists in selling, as presumably wholesome, an article of a positively injurious character, and by means of gifts or bribes, inducing servants or unsuspecting housekeepers to purchase and use it in our daily food.

There should be some prompt method of reaching these dangerous practices and punish the parties engaged in their promotion. If the present laws are not ample, we commend the matter to the consideration of our State Board of Health for recommendation of such additional legislation as shall be effective for the protection of the public.

Air of a Smoking Car.

"Here is a curious thing," said a doctor, as he walked through an Erie railroad train the other day "This smoking car seats fifty persons, and yet there is seldom a chance for a seat after the train starts out of New York. The men in this car have gone into the country at considerable expense and disadvantage for the sake of their healths. The only time they spend at home is at night, and most of it in their bedrooms in heated houses where the air is very little different from that in a city bedroom They spend from two to four hours of the only leisure they have in this car, where the air is so vitiated with tobacco that though I am an old smoker it makes me as sick in fifteen minutes as did my first cigar It is safe to say that the health of these men would have been better guarded had they stayed in town."—New York Sun.

The Young Art Critic.

A bright youngster who visited the Corcoran art gallery the other day was apparently very deeply impressed with that famous little example of Italian sculpture, "The Forced Prayer." It will be remembered that the statue represents a small boy in a very abbreviated garment who holds his chubby hands together in front of him in an attitude of prayer, while his small face represents every possible shade of disgust and rebellion. But our youngster had a different explanation of the motive of the statue, which he tersely stated to his father on his return home somewhat in this wise: "An', papa, I sawed a little image of a boy what had been chasin' a little chicken in his night gown. An' he des catch de little chicken up in his hands an' he squoshed it."—Washington Hatchet.

BACH AND ABEL'S COLUMN.

BACH & ABEL.

Too many things to tell. You wouldn't stop to read, and the printer's bill might surprise us—although we are quite used to large bills. Besides all the things referred to in this column, there are scores of others clamoring for recognition. Could fill a page daily in telling what we ought to tell, and you ought to read.

The conclusion is simply, come to us to supply your wants, even though the newspapers don't refer to them, and remember that there are many bargains here that never get published.

The whole town seems to be looking this way for Black and Colored French Sateens, and for a half dozen other kinds.

60 and 65c Dress Goods for 50c. Dress Goods that have never before sold under 60c and 65c, that have been thought rare value at 65c, a happy trade turn lets us drop 15c from last week's prices.

Some very pretty Coaching Umbrellas have just come. They will be in great demand soon as the season is young.

We commence a Hosiery Sale to-morrow morning that for quality of goods and lowness of prices will surpass anything we have ever done. 50 dozen Women's striped cotton hose, last week 25c, Friday 15c. No restriction as to time, they are ready now. No restriction as to quantity. You can have what you want, and you will want a lot when you seen them.

We have been advertising fast BLACK HOSIERY the last two months and yet there seem to be but very few ladies in Ann Arbor who know that we have in stock such an article. Well, we have, and we guarantee them stainless. The color is immovable even after washing any number of times in SOAP and SODA.

Every Stocking is stamped VICTORIA FAST BLACK, none others are genuine.

Try them, and if they are not as represented return them and get your money.

BACH & ABEL.

CAUTION!

Don't be lead by some house who say they buy goods for cash cheaper than their neighbors. There are other houses who have cash also and can buy as cheap as the next. We buy in large quantities and watch the market for bargains. Try us. We charge you nothing to look us over. We warrant every pair of shoes. Look at our Ladies Kid Shoe $1.00.

Said the Dundee Reporter of last week. Last Friday quite a number of distinguished persons came from Ann Arbor to go on a fishing tour with our physician, Dr. Schuyler. The party consisted of Drs. Herdman, Gibbs and Hubert of the medical faculty of the University, Dr. Dorrance of the dental department and Prof. Cooley of the mechanical laboratory. On arrival the party made their headquarters at Dr. Schuyler's and immediately after dinner the learned guests made a piscatorial survey of the river Raisin. Dr. Gibbs who is an accomplished fly fisherman, caught several blue bass and pronouced the Raisin a superior stream for that noble fish. All returned and the evening was spent in a social manner. Next morning at an early hour the party left for Monroe for a days fishing. The party were invited to dine with Hon. H. A. Conant at the Monroe Marsh Co's Club House. A large number of fish were caught and the party returned taking the late train for Ann Arbor. They all speak in the highest terms of the fishing facilities of this section of the country and all are desirous of repeating their visit.

Milan.

The Milan gardens are not very far advanced.

After a struggle they have one live saloon in Milan.

Dr. Kishpaugh and wife visited Clinton the last of the week.

Mr. O. P. Newcomb visited his Milan friends the first of the week.

Childrens' day will be observed in all of the churches here Sunday.

Ypsilanti ball players visited Milan Saturday. Not much playing done we understand.

Alva Dexter's new residence is growing, and will soon be a fine home ready for occupancy.

Several of the Milanites did Detroit, Toledo, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and various places last week.

Mrs. J. H. Ford visited friends in Detroit several days last week, and returned home this week Monday.

At the base ball game at the Milan driving park, Wednesday, the games stood for Milan 10, Pearls, of Detroit 5.

Miss Alma Sill, who has been visiting friends here for several days, returned to her home in Detroit, the last of the week.

H. E. Burnham, of Detroit, visited Milan a few days ago and says that he is doing a nice business in a pleasant part of the city.

Mrs. O. P. Newcomb and son and Miss Laura Potter, started on a visiting tour Monday. They will be gone several days and will visit several places before their return to Milan.

The Milan driving park opened Saturday afternoon. The weather was auspicious. The crowd was large. The races were intetesting. A number of prizes were won in Milan by the several contestants.

Commencement exercises next Friday. The professor will make the programme one of interest to all. Miss Millie Hitchcock is the only graduate this year from the Milan high school but there will be fine music, recitations, essays, etc.

The Baptist church looked home like, neat, clean and decidedly cozy Sunday with its new carpet, etc. The auditorium was well filled Sunday morning and the sermon was very interesting. Altogether the Baptist society in Milan is in a very flourishing condition.

There seem to be whisperings in the air that sound strange and thusly—shall—will—had Milan better celebrate the Fourth of July? The glorious fourth that the American eagle has soared over so long. An answer is wafted back to interesting listeners. This year would be as good a time to celebrate as any so Milan had better celebrate. The American Eagle and the American citizens would enjoy it.

Mrs. Blinn and Mrs. G. R. Williams attended the W. C. T. U. convention at London, Wednesday. The entertainment was fine, the papers interesting, the addresses all that could be wished for. Mrs. Bailey, of Hastings, delivered the address, and she is a very able woman. Altogether the Monroe county convention was a grand success in every way. The president, Mrs. F. J. Sumner, a very intelligent lady, is residing temporarily in Ann Arbor, her home being in Toledo.

Decoration day the memorial services were properly observed. The post and the ladies relief corps formed in a procession at the hall and marched to the Union church where the services were held. Post commander W. Robison conducted the services. Very fine and brief addresses were made by Revs. J. W. McGregor, M. H. Bartram, J. Huntington and McMahon. Most excellent music was furnished by the male quartette consisting of Dr. Chapin, F. Trussell, G. E. Hause and C. W. Thompson. The services were interesting and impressive and the decorating of the soldiers monument was witnessed by a large concourse of people.

South Lyon.

Business places are in good demand for the first time in two years.

Decoration day was duly observed by the G. A. R. post of this place.

Milk shake is one of the leading drinks of our village, to be found at the corner drug store.

Several of our firemen and others were quite severely burned last night while fighting the flames.

It is rumored that H. Whipple will move the Commercial House down town in a short time.

Merchants this morning are busy getting their effects together and looking for a place to continue business.

E. V. Chilson (editor of the Picket) and lady attended the meeting of the editors in Detroit last week. Bert brought home a very fine bicycle, which may prove the destruction of him before he gets to be an expert in that line.

Another disastrous fire took place here Tuesday night about 12 o'clock, commencing in the rear of Thos. Dunlap's drug store and spreading in both directions until eight business places were swept away by the flames. Those suffering losses are J. McDonald, A. G. Barnes, H. Bennett, Alfred Botsford, Thos. Dunlap, D. Dunlap and L. R. Moshier. As far as learned there was no insurance except on D. Dunlap's building. He saved all of his goods and household furniture. The total loss will amount to about $15,000, the only insurance being held by D. Dunlap, $500 The fire is considered by the majority of the community as the work of an incendiary, as none of the buildings occupied had any fire in them at the time the fire occurred.

Chains for Russian Prisoners.

A point on which false information has been spread relates to the manner prisoners wear their chains, which some, like the author of "Called Back," would have us believe is under their trousers. But this is purely a hoax. I have in my possession pairs of Russian handcuffs and leg chains, and a prison suit which I obtained in Siberia, where also I saw scores, not to say hundreds, of leg chains. The last consist each of two rings, to be riveted around the ankles, and attached by a chain thirty inches long, which, for convenience in walking, is suspended in the middle by a strip of leather from the waist. Between the rings and the prisoner's skin there is worn first a coarse woolen stocking and over that a piece of thick linen cloth; then come the trousers, over which is bound round the shin a leather gaiter. How, then, could these chains be worn under the trousers? The chains in my possession weigh five and a quarter pounds, the handcuffs two; but of these latter I should observe that in going across Siberia and through its prisons I saw only one man manacled, and he a desperado, who, to the crime for which he was judged, added that of murder in the prison.—Henry Lansdell, D. D., in Harper's Magazine.

New Artesian Well at Paris.

The artesian well of Place Hebert, at Paris, has just been finished, after twenty-two years' work on it. It was necessary to bore to a depth of 2,360 feet to reach water, and such depth was attained only with the greatest difficulty The work had to be stopped several times, either on account of the hardness of the strata traversed or of the crushing of the metallic tubing caused by the pressure of the earth. The new well is the third of the public wells of Paris, the others being those of Grenelle and Passy Its diameter is 5¼ feet and the weight of the tubing about 880.000 pounds. The temperature of the water that it furnishes is 84½ degs. The cost of this important undertaking was $500.000 —Scientific American.

Symptoms of Catarrh.

Dull heavy headache, obstructions of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking and coughing together with scabs from ulcers, the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. If you have all or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from Nasal Catarrh. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more successfully treated, by physicians. Five hundred dollars is offered by the manufacture of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy sold by druggists at only 50 cents.

One of the fast railway trains in Florida is called the Flying Cracker. To those who are acquainted with the "Crackers" of Florida and Georgia this designation seems as appropriate as would be the Lightning Snail.

"Coaline" cures neuralgic headache. Druggists.

A New Haven man has just invented a college cane—hollow, and containing the small flag of college colors required in various athletic sports, which a touch of a spring will give to the breeze when needed.

The day the emperor died there were sent off from the Berlin telegraph office 29,878 messages, aggregating 799,926 words. On the following day this record was beaten with 36,615 messages, aggregating 1,225,551 words.

Many imitators, but no equal, has Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Baked potatoes must be eaten as soon as they are done. When they are taken from the oven they should be put into a napkin or towel and the skin broken, so as to allow the steam to escape; this will keep the potato mealy.

REASONS

Why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is preferable to any other for the cure of Blood Diseases.

Because no poisonous or deleterious ingredients enter into the composition of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains only the purest and most effective remedial properties.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prepared with extreme care, skill, and cleanliness.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prescribed by leading physicians.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is for sale everywhere, and recommended by all first-class druggists.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a medicine, and not a beverage in disguise.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla never fails to effect a cure, when persistently used, according to directions.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a highly concentrated extract, and therefore the most economical Blood Medicine in the market.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla has had a successful career of nearly half a century, and was never so popular as at present.

—Thousands of testimonials are on file from those benefited by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

NEW SIDEWALKS.

ORDERED BY THE COUNCIL LAST MONDAY NIGHT.

A Petition for Opening Second Street Heard—Bills Audited and Allowed—The City's Financial Condition—A Big Night's Work Outlined.

The regular June council meeting was held last Monday night, the full council being present to answer to roll call, excepting Ald. Hammond.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been approved, the recorder read a communication from E. B. Gidley, secretary of the board of health last year, asking for $75 for extra services as member of the board of health and detailing the work he had done. The communication was referred to the finance committee.

The Toledo and Ann Arbor railway, representented by Sedgwick Dean, presented a large map showing the location of their tracks and asking permission to put in another sidetrack. On motion the matter of the new side track was referred to the street committee and the city engineer.

Daniel Hiscock, in behalf of the T. A. A. and N. M. Ry, asked for permission to put in a crossing for sidetrack across High street. Referred to the street committee.

A petition from George Schlimmer and twenty-one other taxpayers for a hydrant at the corner of Elm and S. Brown streets was referred to the fire department committee.

W. H. McIntyre, Henry Allmendinger and fourteen other residents of the fourth ward petitioned for a stone culvert on Felch street crossing, the race just west of the Toledo railroad track. The petition was referred to the street committee.

PETITIONS FOR SIDEWALKS.

Joseph Martin, John Flynn and Grace Felch petitioned for a sidewalk on the east side of Fifth street, between Pontiac and North streets.

Mrs. E. R. Curtis, A. J. Mummery, Mrs. E. S. Smith, A. Moore, S. Ellsworth, M. C. LeBeau, P. O'Hearn, L. Gruner and Mrs. Alice Condon petitioned for a sidewalk on the east side of Thayer street, between Washington and North streets.

Wm. H. Lodholz and twenty-seven other taxpayers of the fifth ward petitioned for a sidewalk in front of the premises, owned by the Ann Arbor Agricultural Company, fronting on Broadway and extending from Mill street to the Huron river bridge.

A. D. Seyler represented that he wanted to build a sidewalk on Thompstreet adjoining the lot on which he is building his new house and that a dilapidated old barn belonging to Mrs. Terry, adjoining his lot and was partly in the street, across the line where the sidewalk should be build, according to the present survey. He asks that the council cause the barn to be removed from the street and the proper lines and grade for the sidewalk fixed by competent authority. Referred to the street committee.

A petition was next presented for the OPENING OF SECOND STREET from the present south end to West Jefferson street, the street to be sixty-six feet wide. The land to be taken for the street is owned by Philip Bach and the T. A. A. and N. M. railroad. The petition was signed by William Arnold, Christian Eberbach, Sedgwick Dean, F. L. Parker, L. Gruner, Henry S. Dean, J. M. Reinhardt, Oscar O. Sorg, Jacob Laubengayer, J. T. Jacobs, P. McKernan, J. W. Hunt, and A. Teufel. It is for the purpose of laying out a street to the proposed new T. and A. A. depot. The petition was not acted upon at this stage of the proceedings but later the council passed a resolution fixing June 20th at eight p. m. as a time for hearing the petition and giving notice to all persons interested therein of such meeting.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

reported a number of bills as allowed. Considerable discussion of the bill of City Attorney King was excited and the bill was finally cut down to $44.16 by a vote of 9 to 4. With this amendment the report carried. The bills thus allowed amounted to $2,754.03. Of this $1,087.20 was for electric lights for April and May and $1,031 was for work in the various wards paid out of the ward funds. Out of the general street fund $16.30 was allowed and warrants were ordered drawn on the Contingent fund for $633.70. Of this amount, $104.57 was for the fire department, cleaning hose, cisterns, janitor, drawing hose carts, &c.; $115 was for salary of marshal and patrolman; $50 for recorder's salary two months; $142.50 for salary of the board of review; $24.16 for the city attorney and $168.55 was for the marshal's orders for the poor of city. The following were the amounts spent in the various wards included in the above report, first ward, $118.56; second ward, $62.12; third ward, $477.82; fourth ward, $166.95; fifth ward, $155.15; sixth ward, $50.40. A supplementary report was made and the expenses of the special taxpayers election, including inspectors, clerks, etc., were allowed at $12.50. The bill for costs taxed up against the city for $26, in the suit of E. Treadwell and others was allowed. The bill for three years rent for the market place at $50 a year was laid upon the table, no contract for the rental having been presented and it being represented that the contract lay entirely in the memory of a former recorder.

Ald. Herz expressed himself briefly upon cremation.

GOOD WORK OF SIDEWALK COMMITTEE

This committee reported that the sidewalk on north Fourth street had been built as ordered, and the owners of property on east Monroe street would voluntarily lower the grade. They reported an inspection of all the sidewalks in the First, Third and Fourth wards, and that orders for repairs had been sent out by either the marshal or chairman of the committee, which were being quite generally complied with. They recommended that a sidewalk be ordered on Wilmot street from Elm to Washtenaw avenue.

The liquor bond of Gustave Roehm was returned as insufficient. The marshal was instructed to notify Millman & McNally to get another surety on their bond in the place of John Beahan, deceased.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

showed that $1,069.36 had been paid out during the past month and $4.33 received. The general fund was overdrawn $3,930 23. There was $2.83 left in the general street fund, $1,472.33 in the contingent fund ,$58.82 in the city cemetery fund, $188.32 in the dog tax fund, and $3,407.08 in the water works fund, while the delinquent tax fund was overdrawn $1,562.57. The balances in the ward funds were as follows: first, $1,046.76; second, $1,048.52; third, $1,099.24; fourth, $219.38; fifth, $243.38; sixth, $364.32. The total balance in the treasury is $3,658.18. The balance in the ward funds is $4,021.60, which leaves the city funds overdrawn $363.42.

POOR ORDERS

were given by the marshal during May to the amount of $168.55. The amount given to the poor of the first ward was $3; second, $9.33; third, $29.96; fourth, $50.76; fifth, $60.10; sixth, $15.40. In the whole city orders were given for coffins amounting to $20; wood, $73.75; shoes, $2.30, and the balance for groceries and meat.

Five arrests were reported during the month, of which two were for petty larceny, two for drunkenness, and one for vagrancy.

The D. K. E. was given permission to cut down two trees in front of their property.

The city attorney was instructed to frame an ordinance making it obligatory upon physicians and mid-wives to report the death of any person they may be professionally attending, to the board of health within twenty-four hours after death.

RECOMMEND REMOVAL OF FENCES.

A resolution offered by Ald. Wines was passed as follows:

Resolved, That this council looks with favor on all improvements designed to beautify our streets, and recommends the removal of all fences about our front yards, and hereby instructs all citizens making improvements in lawns outside of sidewalks to widen them to a line parallel to and sixteen feet from the line of the front fences on all residence streets that are four rods wide.

On motion of Ald. Allmendinger a warrant was ordered drawn on the dog-tax fund in favor of the treasury of the school district for $88.32.

On motion of Ald. Miller a crossing was ordered across Detroit street at the north end of Division street, and on motion of Ald. Wines a crossing was ordered across State street on the south side of Washington street.

On motion of Ald. Martin Heinzman & Laubengayer were allowed the use of half of west Washington street for building purposes.

The recorder was instructed to index the proceedings of future meetings, and the matter of building a sidewalk in front of the Agricultural works was laid on the table for two months.

The report of the tax-payers meeting was read and approved.

Suggestion to Stock Exhibitors.

Breeders and exhibitors of the various breeds of fine stock should get together in good time, and see to it that mistakes of the past be avoided. We are none of those who would by any means charge the mistakes of the past to superintendants of departments, on the contrary we consider that but very little of this power should be left in the hands of the superintendants, as there are enough of minor details for them to attend to. Besides this there is a question that eminently pertains to the best interests of breeders themselves, and if they will only take the trouble they are by far the best qualified to make selections of strong, competent men of integrity, undoubtedly. Experts are few and far between, and it takes years to educate enough to do the work required. The object of agricultural fairs and live stock shows is to educate not alone the farmer but the exhibitors themselves. The decision of an incompetent judge is worse than no decision, because no matter how absurd it may be, there are people who will conclude that it is just, and they frequently follow in the line such a decision has marked out. Let us have the best judges obtainable.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." A NAME ENTWINED WITH VICTORY.

And The Noblest Roman Of Them All.

THE GRAND TICKET NOMINATED AT ST. LOUIS, WITH THE PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE AS A PLATFORM.

The St. Louis convention has nominated Cleveland and Thurman and every democrat will feel proud of the ticket. The proceedings of Tuesday and Wednesday are given on our first and second pages.

The convention reassembled yesterday morning at half past ten and after three and a half hours hard labor and wild enthusiasm completed the work so auspiciously begun Wednesday. All the delegations excepting eleven were flying bandanas. The platform was introduced by Henry Waterson, chairman of the committee. Cleveland's message is indorsed as the correct interpretation of the platform of 1884. It treats of the reclamation of public land, reconstruction of the navy and the negotiation of the Chinese treaty. A supplementary resolution was unanimously passed recommending the early passage of the Mills bill. A resolution offered by Gov. Abbott, of New Jersey, expressing sympathy with struggling people of all nations in their efforts to obtain the blessings of liberty and especially with the patriots led by Gladstone and Parnell was passed unanimously amid cheering. Resolutions referring to the deaths of Hendricks, Tilden, Seymour, McClellan and Hancock were adopted.

Allen G. Thurman was placed in nomination for vice-president by Torpey, of California. His name was greeted with the waving of bandanas everywhere and with wild cheering. Torpey's speech was interrupted with cries of Gray and amid great confusion Gray's picture was hoisted by an alternate. T. M. Patterson, of Colorado, introduced Gen. Black's name and read a telegram from him saying that he had hoped for the honor of the nomination but had too long wrought for the success of the party not to give way for its good and hence he favored Thurman. Piggott, of Connecticut, seconded Thurman's nomination and Senator Vorhees nominated Isaac P. Gray amid cheers and excitement. Indiana rising and giving three cheers for Gray. His nomination was seconded by Albert S. Cox, of Georgia and E. E. Settle, of Kentucky. Gov. Green, of New Jersey also seconded the nomination of Thurman amid wild applause. New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Vermont, Texas, Virginia and Montana also seconded Thurman's namination.

Voting began with Alabama casting 15 votes for Thurman, 4 for Gray and 1 for Black. New York and New Jersey voted solidly for Thurman. Ohio cast 45 votes for him and 1 for Gray. North Carolina waved a Cleveland and Thurman banner. Before the roll call was finished Black's name was withdrawn. Indiana also withdrew Gray's name and Thurman's nomination was made unanimous. The convention adjourned at 2:11 p. m. after a good day's work.

Uncertain.

Mr. Van Rensellaer—Do you go to Europe this summer, Miss Manhattan?

Miss Manhattan—It is uncertain. Papa has not yet made up his mind as to whether he shall fail or not this spring. If he fails, we shall go. If he doesn't, we must be content with Long Branch or Cape May My own impression is that he will not fail this year, but hold over until next spring. By that plan he could make a good deal more and we could remain abroad for two or three years —Boston Courier.

A Little Previous.

A couple from across the border came to the city yesterday and stopped at one of the best hotels The young lady was plainly but neatly dressed, and was a handsome brunette. The young man stepped up to the clerk after having escorted the lady to the parlor, and asked where he could find a minister, as he wanted to get "spliced." Upon being informed the clerk handed him the pen to register

"I don't want to register now," said the young man "wait until after we get married, then I can write it Mr and Mrs. ——."

"That don't make any difference," said the clerk, "as long as you are going to get married."

The youthful swain stepped up to the desk, took the pen, looked it over carefully and then at the register His face grew red, and he hesitatingly inscribed "Joseph Link" upon one line, and upon the next, "Mrs Lotta Link, all of Scranton"

"I wonder what she would say if she knew it," he said in an awestruck voice, and then hurried out in search of a clergyman. The inscription was soon legalized.—Binghamton Republican.

System Galore.

A drummer from New York took the elevator to the fifth story of a Duluth wholesale house and walked into the office where one of the proprietors was busy at his desk. The drummer was informed that the house needed nothing in his line, but he persisted in opening his sample bag and making himself the cause of much distress, when finally the enraged proprietor kicked him down the first flight of stairs An employe observing his mode of descent repeated the dose with like effect, and it was dittoed till the drummer found himself on the curbstone and unupholstered highway Shaking himself he looked back over the course of events and ejaculated. "Vell, dot ish a great establishment. I don't know dere berticular line of pishness, but mine gootness, what system!"—Exchange.

One Way.

According to "Don't" you must never heed any little accident you should happen to meet with when out anywhere. It looks vulgar When you unwittingly sit down upon a lady's very best bonnet, don't appear concerned, but smile pleasantly and act as if nothing had happened. Otherwise, it would appear as if you thought it the only bonnet she had.—Tid Bits.

Not Long Out of the Water.

"These fish, my dear Mrs. Hendricks," remarked the minister, who was discussing a Sunday dinner with the family, "are deliciously fresh. I am enjoying them very much."

"They ought to be fresh," volunteered Bobby, who was also enjoying them. "Pa caught them only this morning."—New York Sun.

Parisian Lack of Comfort.

Each day that I live here, certain things strike me more forcibly in this great city, and just now I am trying to solve the problem of why the French people have not the many comforts about them that we Americans have in our so much younger country To begin with, they are only beginning to have gas put into their houses from garret to cellar; telephones in private homes are few and far between, and the messenger boy system is not even known. You can get a messenger, it is true, but he is not the bright, agile American boy, but a man grown old with hard work. Then he is called by the dignified name of commissionaire, and expects to be made much of accordingly, and never half does his work. I have already spoken of the poor arrangements for fires. Could we transfer some of our fire brigades to this fair land, the good people would fairly marvel at such a wonderful institution Then, again, the general use of elevators is only just making headway, and a hundred other things that have become second nature to us are still to be heard of in the city of cities.—Paris Cor The Argonaut.

And the Twelve Are Texans.

Visitor (who expects to stay to dinner)—Do you think, really, that it is a bad omen when there are thirteen at table?

Mrs Yerger—Yes, if there's only victuals enough for twelve.—Texas Siftings.
