A JULY SESSION.

THE COUNCIL DOES A GOOD HOT NIGHT'S WORK.

The Second Street Matter—The Slaughter Houses—North Main Street Grade—New Patrolman and other City Matters of Interest.

All the council were present at the regular July meeting last Monday evening.

PETITIONS.

Ex-Gov. A. Felch and A. M. Doty asked that a new walk be laid on the west side of North Thayer street from East Catherine to East Huron streets.

A. F. Martin and seven other residents of Geddes avenue asked for a new walk on the south side of Geddes avenue between Elm street and Washenaw avenue.

S. Bullock and twelve other tax payers asked for a water hydrant on the corner of Madison and West Second streets.

John Manning and forty-two tax payers and residents of the third ward including most of the residents of North Main street, presented a remonstrance against altering the grade of North Main street as at present existing.

J. F. Lawrence, S. Wood and twenty-five others of the heavier tax payers of the city petitioned that North Main street be lowered to the grade as shown by the records of the city engineer and agreed with Mr. Robison.

These petitions were received and referred to their appropriate committees.

THE SLAUGHTER HOUSES.

This old question was brought up in a communication from Dr. Breakey, the health officer, who urged action to be taken on the large petition presented to the council a year ago. He recommended that measures should be taken to remove the most offensive and troublesome thing in connection with the slaughter houses, viz: boiling bones and rendering of soap and other impure fats and grease from putrid and decaying animal matter. "The odors", he said, "from this business in the fifth ward is well nigh intolerable and we believe that nothing short of removal to some point outside the city limits distant from dwellings or business will permanently abate the nuisance it now causes. It seems so manifestly wrong as not to need argument, that so many citizens, families and schools should suffer annoyance, discomfort and risk of health, and the city itself suffer discredit with strangers and travelers at the railway station by reason of the abominable odors and business of one man."

Resolved, that it is the sense of this council that Second street should be opened provided the railroad will agree to build a depot such as the size of the city, the large patronage obtained by the road here and the liberal contributions of our citizens towards the building of the road, warrants.

Resolved, that this council does not believe that a frame depot costing $3,500 is such a public improvement as would warrant the city opening and properly grading second street.

Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to confer with the railroad company concerning the erection of such a depot as the mutual interests of the city and company demand and that the committee report on next Monday night.

Messrs. Sedgwick and Henry Dean were heard in opposition to the resolution. They urged that the road could not build more than a $3,500 depot and it was useless to ask them to do it. The council took the ground that the opening of Second street would cost about $2,500 and if the railroad desired so much money to be spent, they should at least agree to build a suitable depot and if they did not desire Second street to be opened, they would have an opportunity to say so. The resolution passed by the following vote.

REPORTS OF CITY OFFICERS.

The treasurer reported $7,094.13 on hand. The receipts for the month were $6,380.10 and the payments $2,944.15. The balance on hand in the contingent fund was $5,309.06; general street $725.08; first ward, $928.20; second ward, $976.40; third ward, $645.96; fourth ward, $30.18; fifth ward, $91.98; sixth ward, $312.17; city cemetery, $60.82; dog tax, $100; water works, $3,407.08. The overdrawn funds are the general fund, $3,930.23 and the delinquent tax, $1,562.57.

The marshal's report showed $137.51 expended for the poor of the city during June in the various wards as follows: first, $1; second, $6.23; third, $14.88; fourth, $39.94; fifth, $58.06; sixth, $17.70. Of this amount, $50.25 was spent for wood, $20 for coffins.

The marshal also reported eleven arrests during the month, two for petty larceny, two for vagrancy, five for drunkenness, one as a tippler and one for using profane language.

The recorder's report was also filed.

THE NORTH MAIN STREET GRADE.

The troublesome question of the grade on North Main street was brought up by a resolution of Ald. Kearns that the original grade of the street be re-established. Ald. Wines inquired if the resolution would leave the street as it now is and was answered in the affirmative by Ald. Kearns. There being no further remarks the question was put on the resolution and it carried without a division.

PAYING THE BILLS.

The finance committee's report, which was allowed, showed large expenditures for the month, owing principally to the payment of six months rental to the water works company. The bills allowed, aside from the supplementary report amounted to $4,051.25 divided among the various funds as follows: first ward, $150.83; second ward, $226.02; third ward, $156.20; fourth ward, $174.35; fifth ward, $18.50; sixth ward, $99.74; general street, $282.57; general fund, $88.55; contingent fund, $466.99; water works fund, $2,387.50. Considerable discussion was evoked before the report was adopted concerning the advisability of paying the firemen ordered to watch all night, after the fires at the capsule factory and the Jewett house. The bills were allowed as was also that of the gas company to which objection was likewise made. A supplementary report was made allowing additional bills amounting to $1038.30, principally for electric lighting and stone for the general street crossings, was made and adopted.

A PAID FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Ald. Miller made a verbal report from the fire committee recommending inquiry into the cost of maintaining a paid fire department and on motion of Ald. Allmendinger, the fire department committee was instructed to bring in a report showing a plan for the reorganization of the fire department and showing the probable expense.

LIQUOR BONDS.

The committee on bonds reported the bonds of August Schneider for the sale of brewed and malt liquor on the corner of Liberty and Main streets and of Millman & McNally with new sureties as ordered by resolution of the council, and recommended the approval of the bonds. The bonds were approved.

ON OPENING SECOND STREET.

The mayor from the committee on securing the right of way for opening second street reported that Mr. Philip Bach's release of a right of way through his land could be obtained for $1,000. Ald. Herz moved that the T. A. A. & N. M. railroad be requested to show the council the plans and estimated cost of the proposed new depot, which motion was carried.

The following resolution offered by Ald. Miller was carried after debate.

WHEREAS, the Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan railroad requests the city council to open Second street and

WHEREAS, the opening and proper grading of second street would cost a large sum of money.

Resolved, that it is the sense of this council that Second street should be opened provided the railroad will agree to build a depot such as the size of the city, the large patronage obtained by the road here and the liberal contributions of our citizens towards the building of the road, warrants.

Resolved, that this council does not believe that a frame depot costing $3,500 is such a public improvement as would warrant the city opening and properly grading second street.

Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to confer with the railroad company concerning the erection of such a depot as the mutual interests of the city and company demand and that the committee report on next Monday night.

Messrs. Sedgwick and Henry Dean were heard in opposition to the resolution. They urged that the road could not build more than a $3,500 depot and it was useless to ask them to do it. The council took the ground that the opening of Second street would cost about $2,500 and if the railroad desired so much money to be spent, they should at least agree to build a suitable depot and if they did not desire Second street to be opened, they would have an opportunity to say so. The resolution passed by the following vote.

MISCELLANEOUS RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Ald. Herz, Jacob Fisher and Henry Allmendinger were appointed special policemen for July fourth without cost to the city.

The sum of five hundred dollars was transferred to the fourth ward fund, to be re-transferred to the contingent fund next February.

The grade of Pontiac street as furnished by the city engineer was adopted.

Ald. Barker and Martin were instructed to trim certain trees and the chairman of the committee on parks was instructed to remove the dead limbs from all trees in the courtyard.

Miss Shaw was given $3 a month.

Drinking cups were ordered attached to the public fountain at once.

On motion of Ald. Allmendinger, the city engineer, mayor and the city attorney were appointed a committee on the inspection of halls and buildings.

A NEW PATROLMAN.

Ald. Ware moved that the chief of police be directed to recommend two patrolmen for appointment on the police force. Carried. The alderman asked that an opportunity be given the marshal to make the recommendation and the council took a recess of five minutes to allow him to consult with the police committee. After the recess the committee recommended the appointment of Michael Clark and James Murray as patrolmen. Carried.

ADJOURNMENT.

A motion was then made to reconsider the matter of opening Second street, pending which the council adjourned.

Exposing Loiset.

Probably no one in Ann Arbor is ignorant of the fact that the 500 persons who paid $5 for memory lessons of Prof. Loiset were badly cheated in buying that which they would not place to any particular use. Now comes the claim that Loiset is a fraud, that his memory system is as old as the hills and that his secret, which he binds his pupils so solemnly to keep, is no secret at all. The mere fact that it is a secret was the chief attraction. In fact it is claimed that Loiset is not Loiset at all but a Yale graduate by the name of Larowe, and lately a lawyer. But memory teaching has proven more profitable than practicing. In the last year it is claimed that he has made $500,000 He took $2,500 out of this city, 3,000 out of Detroit and in the eastern cities his hauls were larger.

The Price of Wool.

There seems to be considerable difference in the prices paid in different parts of the state for wool, the following prices being gathered in the different towns by the correspondents of the Detroit Tribune for the week ending June 30. The prices range from 10 to 28 cents.

Wool in Grand Rapids is quoted from 23 to 25 cents; Lowell, 24 cents; Alma, 18 to 27 cents; St. Louis, 20 to 23, the average price 25 cents; Port Huron, 25 cents; Eaton Rapids, 20 to 25 cents; Charlotte average, 23½ cents; Lansing, 22 to 27 cents; Hillsdale, 20 to 23 cents; Marshall, 23 to 25 cents; Howell, 20 to 25 cents; Pinckney, 10 to 25 cents; Jackson, 21 to 24 cents; Owosso, average price, 23 cents; Big Rapids, highest 24 cents; Kalamazoo, 23 cents; Adrian, 25 cents and buyers glad to get it at that; Hudson, 20 to 25 cents; Ann Arbor, 20 to 22 cents; Dexter, average 21½ cents; Chelsea, 22 cents; Saline, 19 to 22 cents.

The New Church.

A meeting of the committee who have in charge the building of the new Christian church in this city was held last Friday evening, when the question of changing the location from the corner of Division and William streets to a lot on South University avenue came up. It was decided to build on the corner of William and Division. The agent of the Woman's Board of Missions of the church, which will erect the building was present. The perfected plans were accepted. The church will be one of the handsomest in the city as everyone who has seen the plans will admit. The front of the church will be on William street. The front room will be the reading room and over it the library, on each side will be the entrances to the church proper. The auditorium will seat 400 people but folding doors between thereading room, the Sunday school rooms and the church will admit of the seating of 700 persons, in case of necessity. The Sunday school rooms are in the rear of the auditorium and front on Division street with entrance on that street. There are two towers shown in the exterior plan of the building, which is a very tasty and ornamental design. The total cost of the building will be $25,000. The object is to have a small but very pretty church. As our readers know, it will be of stone. As the season has already so far advanced only the foundation will be laid this year.

Dividing the Medical Department.

The Detroit papers are now engaged in a movement looking toward the disintegration of the medical department of the University. They wish to see the clinical part of the study of medicine pursued in Detroit. The whole scheme is a selfish one for Detroit. It is not planned for the good of the University, but for the good of that fledgling medical college located at Detroit and run as a private institution with a small number of students. The state at large has no interest in this college. Detroit however has and Detroit also wants the students who are attending the University medical department to live in Detroit. Detroit proposes a union of the medical department with the Detroit college. But it proposes that instead of the University swallowing the Detroit college, that small institution shall absorb the medical department. Put in these terms the absurdity of the matter is evident. But the argument used by the Detroit papers cloak the real design of the scheme for the absorption of a public institution by a private college so that the private college may be sustained by the state, under arguments which are false because based upon false assumption of fact.

The whole argument for the removal of the clinical department to Detroit is based upon the assertion that there is want of proper clinical material in this city. That assertion is false. There is an abundance of such material obtainable. Many are turned away from the hospitals for want of accommodations. If the hospitals are not large enough, it is much cheaper for the state to enlarge them, than to maintain a Detroit corps of physicians on the salaried list. Cases are brought here from all over the state. The number furnished by this immediate vicinity form only a small part of the whole. Whenever there has been a lack of material in any particular branch of disease, it has arisen largely from want of proper care and accommodation and sometimes it is charged, with what truth we know not, to the efforts of the Detroit part of the faculty to secure the cases for that city.

The Free Press concedes that a member of the faculty in charge of clinical cases should reside where his work is. Hence Drs. Maclean and Lyster should either remove here or resign their positions. The statement that good talent cannot be secured here is the sheerest nonsense. The mere fact that one or two Detroit doctors, who want positions in the faculty, refuse to come here on the assumption that they will get the positions anyway proves nothing at all. Doctors just as eminent in their profession and with more of a national reputation are willing to accept the professorships and remove here. It is about time that the Detroit physicians understood that the regents of the University are able to find men of some ability outside of Detroit.

These statements may be a little tart, but there is no valid reason for dividing the University. If in union there is strength, let there be no disuniting of the medical department.

A QUESTION OF HEALTH.

What Baking Powder Shall We Use.

This plain question comes home to every housekeeper. We all desire pure and wholesome food, and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer a question that all the cheaper, lower grades of baking powders contain either alum, lime or phosphate acid. As loath as we may be to admit so much against what may have been some of our household gods, there can be no gainsaying the unanimous testimony of the official chemists. Indeed, analysts seem to find no baking powder entirely free from some one of these objectionable ingredients except the Royal, and that they report as chemically pure. We find some of the baking powders advertised as pure, to contain, under the tests of Professors Chandler, Habirshaw and others, nearly twelve per cent. of lime, while others are made from alum with no cream of tartar. This, we presume, accounts for their lack of leavening power as sometimes complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found in the biscuits so frequently complained of by ourselves.

But aside from the inferiority of the work done by these powders, the physicians assure us that lime and alum taken into the system in such quantities as this are injurious. Their physical effects are indigestion, dyspepsia, or worse evils.

The question naturally arises, why do these cheap baking powder makers use these things? Alum is three cents a pound, lime still cheaper, while cream of tartar costs thirty-five or forty. The reasons for the chemical purity of the Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York Times in an interesting description of a new method for refining argols, or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process that cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered chemically pure; that the patents and plant for this cost the Royal Baking Powder Company about half a million dollars, and that they maintain exclusive control of the rights.

Professor McMurtrie, late chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., made an examination of this process, and reported upon the results attained in the refined cream of tartar. The following extract from his report would seem to answer the question repeated at the head of this article, and which is so frequently propounded by the housekeeper.

"I have examined the cream of tartar used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure and free from lime in any form. The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder prove it perfectly healthful and free from every deleterious substance. The Royal Baking Powder is purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."

Thirteen old men, Uncle Thomas Spafard's old friends, gave him a surprise last Thursday, June 21. When Mr. Frank Spafard found that his house was besieged, he came from the lot, and the teams were soon stowed away in the large, commodious barns. After refreshments, and by the way, did you know that it takes an artist to set a table as well as Mrs. Frank Spafard? Frank proposed that the company should all be weighed, and it was jolly to see 14 old men on the hay scales asking the machine how heavy a load it had on. It did not complain, however, of the whole weight, which was 2112 pounds.—Manchester Enterprise.

From the annual report of D. J. Loomis, the principal, to the board of education, we find that the Chelsea high school, during the year just ended, enrolled 406 of whom 201 were boys and 205 girls. There were 29 non-resident pupils enrolled in the high school and 5 in the grammar school. The high school course covers topics sufficiently extended to enable the diligent pupil to enter the University. The principal recommends kindergarten work in the primary department.

Quite a little excitement was occasioned on board the late train from Detroit, Monday night. A gang of sharpers managed to steal $25 from a fellow passenger; the fellow passenger kicked, the car doors were locked and the matter settled by the sharper returning $15 of the stolen money. It seems that one of the gang went and sat down in the seat with the victim and engaged him in conversation, when another of the gang came up and wanted small bills for larger ones; the victim pulled out of his pocket $25 in fives, which sharper No. 2 took and walked out of the car without giving his large bills in return; the victim's seatmate quieted him for a time by telling him to let him go, they would fix him; this kind of taffy did not last long before the unhappy victim considered him an accomplice. Hence the kick and the settlement.—Milan Leader.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democrats of Michigan will meet in State Convention in the Detroit Opera House at Detroit, on Thursday, July 19th, 1888.

At eleven o'clock a. m., to nominate candidates for State Officers and for Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

According to the rule adopted by the state convention held at Detroit in 1880, every county is entitled to one delegate for each 5000 votes cast for governor at the last general election, and one additional delegate for a fraction of not less than 2500 votes, but any county is entitled to at least two delegates. All delegates must be residents of the counties they represent.

The delegates from each Congressional District will meet in caucus at 10 o'clock a. m., on day of the convention.

I. M. WESTON, Chairman. WM. J. MCGEE, Assistant Secretary.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democrats of Washtenaw County will meet in county convention at the court house in the city of Ann Arbor on Thursday, July 12, at 11 a. m., for the purpose of electing 18 delegates to the Democratic State Convention to meet at Detroit on July 19, also for the purpose of electing 18 delegates to the Congressional Convention to be hereafter called and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

All voters who are in accord with the present Democratic administration are invited to participate in the selection of delegates to this convention.

The Towns and wards will send delegates as follows.

Table listing delegates from various wards in Ann Arbor, including 1st ward, 2nd ward, etc., and their respective counts.

A full attendance is requested. J. F. SCHUH, Chairman. J. R. BACH, Secretary.

Democratic Ward Caucuses

The democratic ward caucuses for the election of delegates to the democratic county convention to be held July 12th for the purpose of sending delegates to the state and congressional conventions will be held Wednesday evening, July 11 at seven o'clock in the following places:

- First Ward—Charles King's shop. Second Ward—Eugene Osterlin's office. Third Ward—Court house basement. Fourth Ward—Fireman's hall. Fifth Ward—Engine house. Sixth Ward—Engine House.

HARRISON'S father-in-law is over eighty years of age—old enough to retire from active labor. Harrison had him appointed to a position in the U. S. pension office in 1882, where he still is. It was easier for Harrison to get him supported by the government than to support him, himself. But if Harrison as senator has this record, what would Harrison as president do?

THE republicans in their platform claim the credit for restoring millions of acres of the public domain during Cleveland's administration. Probably their process of reasoning runs about like this. Cleveland's administrations restored the land to the public domain. Cleveland was elected by the mugwump vote. The mugwumps were republicans. Hence the republicans are responsible for Cleveland's election and are entitled to claim the credit for the reforms he instituted.

SENATOR INGALLS is one of the leading lights of the republican party. A letter written by him just before the Chicago convention has been published. It was not intended to be made public and hence it tells the truth in such plain language that everyone should read it. The republicans have nominated a man with an awkward record on the labor question, etc., and a man like Phelps, viz, Morton, to get contributions from Wall street. The farmers will read with interest how the republicans expect to succeed with a man who is not a leader and one named to gain the support of Wall street. The letter says.

"It does not make much difference who is nominated in my judgment. The candidates will cut but a small figure in the fight. We can elect anybody or we shall fail. The least conspicuous and therefore the least complicated man will be the best—somebody like Hayes in 1876. Among all the men named there is not one 'leader.' No one whose personal or historical relations to the people would make a difference of 1,000 votes in the canvass. Sherman, Allison and Harrison, have records that would be awkward on the tariff, the currency, the Chinese question, etc. Depew's connection with the railroads and corporations would be a heavy load, especially in the agricultural states. We might as well nominate Gould or Vanderbilt at once. My impression is that Alger or Gresham come nearer filling the bill than any of the others, with some fellow like Phelps, of New Jersey, who could reach the conservative forces of the east and get contributions from the manufacturers and Wall street.

HOW A TARIFF RAISES WAGES.

The argument that larger profits for manufacturers means higher wages for employees is the thinnest argument we have heard in many a day. Wages are determined not by the profits made by the employer but by the amount the laborer will take for his work. A rich man pays no higher wages than does a man in moderate circumstances. In fact, the rich are often closer in paying wages. The amount that a man is able to pay does not enter into the calculation. As has been well said, Jay Gould is able to pay $500 to his bootblack but he only pays his five cents like a little man. The manufactory that is losing money can obtain its employees at no lower a rate than an adjoining factory which is making money. These things being granted, it must be seen that the underpinning has been knocked out from under the doctrine of protection so far as it relates to the increasing of wages. That this statement is not theory alone, we may quote from that apostle of high tariff, the New York Tribune, to prove, prefacing the quotation with the remark that cloaks are among the most highly protected of American industries and any one who would import $100 worth of cloaks must pay $67.75 in duties. If the doctrine of the protectionists be true, then we would look for high wages paid cloak makers. And yet this is the way the cloak makers live as told by the New York Tribune:

"In a room ten feet square, low ceiled, and lighted by but one window whose panes were crusted with the dirt of a generation, seven women sat at work. Three machines were the principal furniture. A small stove burned fiercely, the close smell of red hot iron hardly dominating the fouler one of sinks and recking sewer gas. Piles of cloaks were on the floor, and the women, white and wan, with cavernous eyes and hands more akin to a skeleton's than to flesh and blood, bent over the garments and would pass from the invisible filth furnished as air. There were handsome cloaks, lined with fur or sealskin, and retailing at prices from thirty to seventy-five dollars. A teapot stood at the back of the stove; some cups, and a loaf of bread, with a lump of streaky butter were on a small table absorbing their portion also of filth. An inner room, a mere closet, dark and even fouler than the other one, held the bed; a mattress, black with age, lying upon the floor. Here such a rest as might be had was taken when the sixteen hours of work ended—sixteen hours of toil relieved by not one gleam of hope or cheer; the net result of this accumulated and ever accumulating misery being $3.50 a week. Two women using their utmost diligence could finish one cloak a day, receiving from the 'sweater' through whose hands all must come, fifty cents each for a toil unequalled by any form of labor under the sun, unless it be that of the haggard wretches dressed in men's clothes, but counted as female laborers in Belgian mines."

If a protective tariff is such a blessing to wage workers, why does not such a high tariff on cloaks raise the wages of the cloak makers?

IN WHOSE INTEREST?

In whose interest are the republicans running their campaign this year? Is it in the interest of the farmer, the wage-worker, the merchant, the people? Or is it in the interest of the manufacturer, the rich owner of pine lands, the railroad and other corporations, the monopolists? Let the party leaders speak for the party. Their own words tell the story better than any words of ours can do. The Michigan club runs the politics of the republican party in this state. The republican national league is becoming to the party of the country what the Michigan club is to the party in this state. Its president, James P. Foster, of New York, has issued a circular to the manufacturer of the country. It was a private circular but it fell into the hands of some who did not believe in tariff robbery. It has been published for several weeks now and the genuineness of the circular has never been denied. It is couched in plain terms. The circular letter tells the monopolists to whom it is addressed. "The league stands for protection and is fighting in your interest." It is a plea for money and says "we want money and want it at once." Another soap campaign has commenced. In order to get the contributions of the manufacturers it says, "the manufacturers of the United States are most benefited by our tariff laws." Foster quotes the remarks of a republican senator from a state which has never had a democratic representative in congress as saying:

"I was solicited to contribute to a protective tariff league, and I replied that if the manufacturers of the United States in their associated capacity were an eleemosynary institution that I would vote to give them a pension, but that I did not propose myself to contribute money to advance the interests of men who were getting practically the sole benefit, or at least the most directly important benefits of the tariff laws. I am in favor of protection; not precisely the kind we are having, but I might be willing to keep even that, rather than not to have any, but I am sure I can get along without any of it, fully as well as the manufacturers can, and if they think the republican party is going to maintain a high protective corps for this benefit, and that the men who do the work in that party are going to keep up the expenses of a campaign out of their own pockets, leaving them to reap the fruits of the tariff policy without any deduction for political expenses, they are very greatly mistaken."

Foster further quotes this republican senator as proposing to fry the fat out of the Pennsylvania manufacturers "who are more highly protected than anybody else and who make large fortunes every year when times are prosperous," because they do not contribute more liberally to the republican campaign fund. The republican national league very truthfully represents the issue. The tariff favors those who "make large fortunes every year." The fortunes are made out of the people. They foot the bills. They make the protected manufacturers a new fortune every prosperous year. And it is to take more money out of the peoples' pockets that the protected industries are asked to set aside a portion of the amount of which they rob the people to put the republican party back in power.

The First Year of Free Delivery.

During the year ending June 30, which was the first year of the free delivery, the mail carriers collected 285,033 letters, 18,860 drop letters, 9,069 drop postal cards, 54,849 mail postal cards and 16,635 newspapers. During the same time they delivered 488,005 letters, 92,115 postals, 1,000 registered letters and 366,716 newspapers. In other words the carriers delivered 947,836 pieces and collected 384,415 pieces. The total postage on local matter amounted to $1,204.97. During the same period the number of letters, postal cards, newspapers and news paper packages dropped into the office and not included in the above classification were 629,704. The largest amount of mail collected or delivered was during June just ended and the smallest of any one month was in August when only 26,470 letters were delivered besides the postal cards and newspapers. There has been a steady increase of mail matter carried by the carriers which indicates the growing popularity of the delivery system.

Chelseae.

F. D. Cummings returned from Pontiac Tuesday.

C. E. Letts, of Detroit, was here Tuesday on business.

L. E. Sparks and wife, of Jackson, spent the fourth here with friends.

Haying progresses rapidly now. The quality will be good but the crop light. Clare Durand and wife, of Ann Arbor, spent the fourth here with relatives.

They had an ice cream festival and dance in Thomas Fletcher's new barn in Lima the evening of the third.

Unless we get rain soon potatoes will be a light crop again about here. Barley and wheat will be ready to cut in this locality next week.

There was a large crowd of people at Cavanaugh Lake the fourth. Various sports were engaged in and a good picnic occasion was had.

The dogs of this village are notified by posters that they must have their muzzles on this month and next or be liable to be dispatched to the happy hunting ground. Very few of them take lead yet.

Eight hundred loads of wheat were delivered at this elevator between Jan 1st. and July 4th. this year, against about 2,300 in the same time in 1886 and 1887. Our flouring mill has used enough more than usual to make this year's deliveries about half that of former years. The coming crop will be about two-thirds of an average crop.

The fourth passed very quietly here except from about ten until three o'clock the night of the third some young boys made night hideous and sleep impossible with yelling, shooting, burning bonfires and ringing fire bells and such like sports. One plate glass was broken and some other damage done. The boys say they had permission from some of the authorities to go on with such disgraceful conduct.

Wool moves very slowly yet. About two car loads have been bought here at 20 to 25 cents but the tendency of the market would indicate that these are unprofitable figures to buyers. The farmers are holding for better prices and time only will tell whether they will get them or not. They are not likely to get better prices sooner than fall if they do before winter. Not near the usual amount of wool will be bought at this place.

Prize Studies of Tornadoes.

The American Meteorological Journal, desiring to direct the attention of students to tornadoes, in hope that valuable results may be obtained, offers the following prizes:

For the best original essay on tornadoes, or description of a tornado, $200 will be given.

For the second best $50.

And among those worthy of special mention $50 will be divided.

The essays must be sent to either of the editors, Professor Harrington, Astronomical Observatory, Ann Arbor, Michigan, or A. Lawrence Rotch, Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory, Readville, Mass., U. S. A., before the first day of July, 1888. They must be signed by a nom de plume, and be accompanied by a sealed envelope addressed with same nom de plume and enclosing the real name and address of the author. Three independent and capable judges will be selected to award the prizes; and the papers receiving them will be the property of the Journal offering the prizes. A circular giving fuller details can be obtained by application to Professor Harrington.

No matter what may be the ills you bear from indigestion, a dose of Ayer's Cathartic Pills will ease you without injury. Just try them once and be assured; they have much worse dyspepsics cured. You'll find them nice and amply worth the price.

The Ypsilanti Sentinel last week contains the following contribution to the early history of Ann Arbor: YPSILANTI, June 18th, 1888

A notice in a late Ann Arbor paper of a wedding in the Court House as being the first that ever occurred there, may be true of the new building, but not by many of the old. When I, a little girl, came with my father to Ann Arbor (as it was then spelled) in 1831, the Methodists held service in a large unfinished two-story brick building standing on the old jail square.

When I, a little girl, came with my father to Ann Arbor (as it was then spelled) in 1831, the Methodists held service in a large unfinished two-story brick building standing on the old jail square. There was a large belfry, brick foundation up to the roof with an unclosed frame work, roofless, and towering high above the building. A door on each side led into a vestibule partitioned off with boards from the rest which was one room with unplastered walls, and a tall desk standing in one corner. The seats were long moveable benches. Here have I listened to Mr. Pilcher, Gavet, Wiley, Elliot, Gilruth, and others that are rubbed from memory's tables by more recent events.

On week days a private school was kept here by Miss Sarah Sarjent, and for four years I went to school to her, seldom absent a day, no vacations lasting over a week, and Saturdays alternately. Her sister, Miss Mary Sergeant assisted by Delinda Sias. Their success was limited. Miss Jocelyn was the next teacher. Her education was inferior to many of her pupils and her reign was short. Rev. Mr. Nelson, then opened a school part of the time in the upper room, and a part of the time in a rickety flight of stairs running down at right angles from the only door in one corner of the back part of the building.

In forty-two or three, this building was reconstructed into a dwelling house, owned and occupied by a Mr. Norton.

After the Court House was built in 1834, the Methodists occupied the court room until the fall of 1837, when the basement of their church was completed. Sometime in the spring, one Sabbath morning, Mr. Levi Brunt, a brother-in-law of Wm. S. Maynard, by a previous marriage, was united in a marriage to Miss Relief Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Jones standing with them while the beautiful marriage ritual was read by a Methodist clergyman, whose name has passed from mind.

Having at last "hit the owl," I send you this leaf from memory's journal. M. M. J. W.

LINCOLN AND CURTIS.

Two Eloquent Speeches Made on Gettysburg Battlefield.

EDITOR CURTIS TALKS TO THE VETS.

The Armies of Meade and Lee Represented in the Audience—Monuments Dedicated—The Martyr-President's Historic Address Twenty-Five Years Ago—Edward Everett's Compliment to Its Lofty Inspiration.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 5.—There was a strange similarity between Tuesday and that of just twenty-five years ago. Then the armies of Meade and Lee confronted each other. So the Federals and Confederates were once more on the field, and again was the one on Seminary ridge and the other on Cemetery hill. Nothing unusual occurred to break the monotony until 4 o'clock, when the Union and Confederates met once more at almost the same hour at which they had joined in deadly combat twenty-five years ago.

The monuments which were dedicated were as follows: The Fifth New York cavalry; the One Hundred and Fourteenth New York Infantry ("Garand Tigers"); the Sixty-seventh New York (first Long Island volunteers and known as Beecher's regiment, at which Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, of Elmira, N. Y., delivered the oration; the Third New York Independent battery, with Maj. Gen. W. S. Rosecrans as orator; Battery B, New York artillery, and the Thirteenth New York Independent battery.

The Signal Corps association of the army of the Potomac held a meeting. They determined to erect an imposing tablet on Little Round Top commemorative of the work done by this branch of the army in the battle. They also elected Gen. Jesse Merrill president, and decided to hold their annual reunions at the same time and place where the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic takes place.

Gen. J. B. Gordon, of Georgia, was compelled by his official position as chief executive to leave for Atlanta.

At 3 o'clock the procession, composed of the same military commands as Monday, entered the national cemetery and marched past the rostrum. At the conclusion of the parade Gen. Robinson, of New York, as presiding officer, requested Rev. Twitchell, of Hartford, to open the exercises with prayer. The poet of the occasion, George Parsons Lathrop, was unable to be present, but his poem was read by Gen. Horatio C. King, the secretary of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, and was received by the audience with much applause.

When the orator, George William Curtis, was presented, three cheers were called for by Gen. Sharpe, and he was greeted with hearty applause at the conclusion of his oration. Mr. Curtis spoke as follows:

"On this field we consecrate ourselves to the American Union. In this hallowed ground lie buried not only brave soldiers of the blue and gray, but the passions of war, the jealousies of sections, and the bitter root of all our national differences—human slavery. As the fate of Christendom was determined at Tours, that of American independence at Saratoga, and that of modern Europe at Waterloo, the destiny of the American Union was decided at Gettysburg.

"Fellow-Americans, in telling any part of the story of America we seem to boast. The simple statement of the truth sounds like a fairy tale. Yet could the citizen of any country exalt his land with more reason? What other civilized state stretches from ocean to ocean with such a varied realm of natural grandeur and beauty, with so vast a population—so free, so intelligent, so industrious, so contented.

"Not easily nor rapidly can the passions sprung from bitter local differences, and cherished and strengthened for a generation, disappear. Often in hot and reckless protestations those dying emotions will break forth like the distant muttering thunder of a retiring storm. But the central fact is as bright as a fixed star. The line across the Union drawn by the flaming sword of hostile social and industrial institutions and irreconcilable theories of the nature and powers of the government itself—this latent revolution and nascent civil war, have disappeared forever. At the end of 100 years the Union is the sacred, seamless garment of equal rights, of harmonious institutions, of accordant views of the government, in which 90,000,000 of people in thirty-eight states are invincibly arrayed.

"The suffrage is the mainspring, the heart of our common life; and whatever affects it injuriously touches the national sentiment and the whole country thrills. No community politically founded upon the legal equality of the suffrage can habitually disregard that equality without moral deterioration, growing indifference to the authority of the law, and destruction of the democratic-republican principle. If ignorance and semi-barbarous dominance be fatal to civilized communities, not less so is constant and deliberate defiance of law. In a national union of states, where fair elections are assumed, systematic fraud or violence or suppression of votes, in the event of a closely contested poll, would inevitably destroy the conviction that the apparent result represented the actual will of the legal voters, and that result would be challenged and disorder. It is not enough that a national election be fair; it must be the national conviction that it is fair.

"The citizens of this magnificent commonwealth can not reach across the Potomac and impose their will respecting the suffrage upon the mother of states; nor can the states of New England, debate legislation to the states of the northwest. But the Virginian knows that the Pennsylvanian is vitally interested in his action. Iowa and Wisconsin know that Maine and Rhode Island have a common stake in such local laws, and as Washington and Pinckney, Jefferson and Madison and Martin, took counsel with Alexander Hamilton, Dr. Franklin, Rufus King and Roger Sherman, bent upon a common purpose, but with due regard to every local condition, so will their sons confer, fraternally conferring, until the great problem of the suffrage, and all other problems are solved.

"Can we wrest from the angel of this hour any blessing so priceless as the common resolution that we shall not have come to this consecrated spot only to declare our joy and gratitude, nor only to cherish proud and tender memories, but also to pledge ourselves to union in its sublimest significance? Here at last its sacred secret revealed. It lies in the patriotic instinct which has brought to this field the army of northern Virginia and the army of the Potomac. It lies in the manly emotion with which the generous soldier sees only the sincerity and courage of his ancient foe, and scorns suspicion of a lingering enmity. It lies in the perfect freedom of speech and perfect fraternity of spirit which now for three days have glowed in these heroic fields and echoed in the enchanted air."

"The Beauty of Mob Law."
MATTSON, Ills., July 2.—It has transpired since the lynching of W. A. Moore for alleged outrage on Mary A. Bumgardner, of Altamont, Ills., that the girl has an exceedingly bad reputation for purity, and also that she is suspected of arson. On account of the indignation of the citizens of Altamont at her and her mother's "goings on," and the suspicion of arson, she left Altamont and came to this city. Her story about Moore was contradictory and the people of this city are now, when it is too late, indignant at the lynchers, and there is talk of prosecuting the "best citizens" of Charleston who are implicated in the affair.

At Warren, Minn., Joseph Cheviakowski confessed to having murdered his uncle, Joseph Tawowski, in the hope that he would secure some of the latter's property.

uals from different sections. Among the few organizations present are the Norfolk and Portsmouth camps. Wherever a gray uniform is seen it is found to be surrounded by a crowd of old veterans in blue, anxious to shake hands and express their kindly feeling toward their old antagonists. This fact impresses the old soldier observers with the recollection of former scenes of twenty-five years ago, when the gray were their prisoner guests in this city.

A reception was held at the Springs hotel at night. The trains leaving here are filled with departing veterans, but the city still remains full, and it is expected that the fourth day will be one of the most enjoyable to those who remain.

At night a banquet was served at the Springs hotel. At a business meeting of the department held in the cemetery it was decided to hold the next summer encampment at this place, the time to be determined at the winter session.

The first celebration on the field of Gettysburg was held November 19, 1863, the year of the battle. The state of Pennsylvania had purchased a portion of the battle-ground for a burial place for the Union soldiers who had fallen there. The tract included 1 1/2 acres adjoining the town cemetery. It was planned to consecrate the ground with imposing ceremonies, in which the president, accompanied by his cabinet and a large body of the military, were invited to assist. The orator of day was Hon. Edward Everett, of Boston, and it was understood that President Lincoln would make a short address on the same occasion.

Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Everett met for the first time on this memorable day. Mr. Everett's oration was a finished literary production. Smooth, euphonious, and elegant. It was delivered with the silvery tones and the graceful gestures of a trained and consummate speaker. When he had finished and the applause that greeted him had died away the multitude called vociferously for Mr. Lincoln. With an unconscious air the president came forward at the call, put his spectacles to his nose, and read, in a quiet voice, which gradually warmed with feeling, while his careworn face became radiant with the light of genuine emotion, the following brief address:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate, we can not consecrate, we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people by the people for the people shall not perish from the earth."

This was one of the briefest of the many speeches with which Mr. Lincoln had swayed the impulses and opinions of crowds of his fellow-men, but it is the one which will be remembered above all others as hallowed by the truest and loftiest inspiration. As the final sentence ended amid the tears and sobs and cheers of the excited throng, the president turned to Mr. Everett, and, grasping his hand, exclaimed with sincerity: "I congratulate you on your success." Mr. Everett responded, in the fervor of his emotion: "Ah, Mr. President, how gladly would I exchange all my hundred pages to have been the author of your twenty lines."

Congressman Thomas a Victim of Cocaine.
WASHINGTON CITY, July 3.—The condition of Representative Thomas, of Illinois, it is now learned, is much worse than it was generally supposed to be. In addition to the inflammation of the bowels the captain has been delirious for some days, and while his physicians believe that he will eventually recover his physical health, they much fear that his mind will never be restored to its normal condition.

Cap. Thomas' affliction, it is understood, is due to the excessive use of cocaine, which he has been taking for some time past for his throat.

Idle Iron Workers.
The Wage Trouble Will Stop 100,000 from Working.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Francis Hinton, manager of the North Chicago rolling mills at Bay View, said last night that the works would shut down Saturday night and remain closed until the disputes were settled. The mills generally employ about 1,300 men, but nearly 400 have been idle for some time. The workmen claim that the shut down will not last more than three months, as, according to their statement the stock of manufactured iron in the market will not last longer than that time. They regard the shut-down as practically a victory for them, as they had before stated their willingness to have the mills close for three months to reduce the surplus stock in the market.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—A telegram received at the Amalgamated association headquarters last evening from Akron, O., announces that the Akron Iron-Works company, employing about 500 men, has signed the Amalgamated wage scale and will keep its mills in operation. This break in the manufacturers' ranks is considered very important. Still the shut-down will involve nearly 100,000 workmen.

The Beauty of Mob Law.
MATTSON, Ills., July 2.—It has transpired since the lynching of W. A. Moore for alleged outrage on Mary A. # High-Pressure

Living characterizes these modern days. The result is a fearful increase of Brain and Heart Diseases—General Debility, Insomnia, Paralysis, and Insanity. Chloral and Morphia augment the evil. The medicine best adapted to do permanent good is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It purifies, enriches, and vitalizes the blood, and thus strengthens every function and faculty of the body.

"I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for years. I have found it invaluable as for Nervous Debility caused by an inactive liver and a low state of the blood."—Henry Bacon, Xenia, Ohio.

"For some time I have been troubled with heart disease. I never found anything to help me until I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have only used this medicine six months, but it has relieved me from my trouble, and enabled me to resume work."—J. P. Carzant, Perry, Ill.

"I have been a practicing physician for over half a century, and during that time I have never found so powerful and reliable an alternative and blood-purifier as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Dr. M. Maxstart, Louisville, Ky.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

'Tis said that four-fifths of Ishpeming's taxes are paid by laboring people. The man of riches usually finds a way of escape.

Rev. Mitchell, of Cadillac, has introduced an innovation by holding Saturday services for children only. The plan is working admirably.

P. H. Hicks, of Ionia, has plans for a new hotel at that place for the inspection of some fellow who may want the job of building it at a low figure.

A couple of Corunna boys engaged in a game of burglar, when one of them took too good aim, inflicting a wound in the other's neck which may prove fatal.

Thomas Hyland, of Grand Rapids, goes to Jackson prison for a term of five years for stealing 1 cent. The bank cashier who gets away with a few hundred thousand, spends a season in Canada, and finally compromises the "transgression" by returning one-third or one-half the booty. Circumstances do alter cases.

It has cost St. Clair county $3,000 to try Robert Murray for murder, and another trial is necessary to legally decide the case. Criminals are an expensive class.

Missaukee county's old jail at Lake City was burned Sunday evening, but the court house adjoining was saved by hard work.

Oscoda has a $5,000 damage suit on her hands, all because she harbored dangerous sidewalkers. A citizen having "put his foot into one of them."

A monument is to be erected at Norway to commemorate her great fire. It will be made of thirteen safes that passed through that blaze but were rendered useless for the purpose originally intended.

Canned mackerel that had been exposed to the open air for forty-eight hours poisoned the family of D. V. Spencer, of Gowen, though all recovered except a little child.

A Grand Rapidsite is building a fiddle from material that was used in the construction of a house in 1754. If there's any virtue in age he ought to have a good one.

Ed King, a Grand Rapidsite who is supposed to have "killed his man" at East Saginaw some twenty-four years ago and who skipped, turns out to be a wealthy resident of the City of Mexico. Of course he is "respected."

THE ITALIANS MUST GO.

Ominous Placards Posted by "Many Citizens" at Findlay, Ohio.

FINDLAY, Ohio, July 2.—Five or six hundred Italian laborers have lately been employed here on various enterprises. This large importation of foreign labor has aroused the wrath of American workmen. Several secret meetings have been held and angry speeches made. Hundreds of copies of the following notice, headed by skull and cross-bones, were thrown about the city and posted on the walls:

Not Italians wanted. Notice is hereby given to the honorable council of the village of Findlay and to all contractors and sub-contractors to take some action at once in regard to Italian labor, as it must, and shall be prohibited, from working on the public works of this city. The American laborers and tax-payers in the city have become thoroughly aroused, and advise you to be warned in time and save you further trouble.

It is feared that the bad feeling will soon result in mob violence, as the leaders appear to be proceeding with that intention.

McGlynn Advises the Anti-Poverties.

NEW YORK, July 2.—There was a big turnout at the meeting of the Anti-Poverty society to hear more about the campaign against landlordism. The discussion was: "Is the Campaign Legal and Practical?" Dr. McGlynn was received with the usual outburst of applause. He said it was now time for rent-payers to band together and refuse to pay more than house hire. "Let 20,000 people refuse to pay ground rent and take the course of eviction," said he. "There are only eight justice courts in New York, and it would take a long time to go through all the eviction trials. Meanwhile the people would be enjoying free rent and eventually the landlords would come to terms. Try this first in a single block," the doctor suggested, "and let us all pledge ourselves to see that no tenant is without shelter. The tenement-house market would soon come down."

Charles Pinkerton's Discovery.

CLEAR WATER, Minn., July 2.—Charles Pinkerton, of the town of Corunna, twelve miles from here, in digging for a cellar came across the remains of seven persons in a good state of preservation. They were found in a kind of a mound, and were buried with their heads down. They were from seven to eight feet in height, and must have been placed there at least 300 years ago, as on top of the mound was the stump of an elm tree two feet in diameter. From the formation of the skulls they must have been of an inferior race of men. The teeth in the jaw-bones were mostly sound, and not like the teeth of the present race of men.

Flack and His Boat.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 2.—Robert W. Flack, who will race through the whirlpool rapids Aug. 1 with Charles A. Percy, has arrived here, and will make a trial trip Wednesday afternoon in his peculiar craft, the Phantom. Flack thinks he can go the seven miles to Lewiston, including a considerable distance of comparatively still water, in thirty minutes. His race with Percy will be for $500. Flack seems perfectly confident of succeeding, but some old river men who saw his boat called it a death-trap.

Two Men Killed by a Train.

BRAZIL, Ind., July 2.—Mike Williams, aged 50 years, and Allen Campbell, aged 40, were run over and instantly killed by the New York east bound express on the Vandalia. They had been drinking in the city till late at night and had doubtless gone to sleep on the track. Campbell's remains bore some evidence of foul play in what appeared to be a bullet hole in the shoulder, but the evidence did not seem to warrant a post mortem examination.

Crooked Whisky Transactions.

NEWPORT, Tenn., July 2.—W. O. Harper's distillery burned and there were 550 gallons of whisky not accounted for, which Harper said were burned, but which were found buried in barrels near Harper's house. Harper claimed the whisky had been stolen and the distillery set on fire. Revenue officers will arrest Harper and J. M. Boyd, his storekeeper, besides a dozen others.

A Strike Falls for Want of Cash.

CINCINNATI, July 2.—The brass-workers' strike has been declared off. The men quit work several weeks ago because they were required to work sixty hours instead of fifty-four. Since then they have been supported by District assembly No. 48, but for want of support the strike now ends, and the strikers are compelled to apply for work at the various shops.

Annual Six Weeks' Shut-Down.

PITTSBURG, July 2.—The annual six weeks' shut-down of all the flint glass factories in the west has commenced. About forty-five factories and 3,200 men are affected. The stoppage this year will be shorter than usual, owing to the prolonged strike in the early part of the year.

The Influx at Castle Garden.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Four steamships have landed 1,593 immigrants at Castle Garden. The Etruria from Liverpool brought over 265; City of Richmond, from Liverpool, 512; Polaris, from Hamburg, 310; and La Gacogne, from Havre, 319.

Forest Fires in Michigan.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., July 2.—Forest fires are raging in this vicinity. Smithsonian's camp, six miles south, is in great danger. Two fire engines from this place are working to save the lumber yards and mills.

DR. PEPPER SENT FOR.

Gen. Sheridan Takes an Unfavorable Turn Aboard Ship.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 5.—Dr. William Pepper, one of Gen. Sheridan's physicians, is a guest of H. B. Denmar, who has a cottage here. Dr. O'Reilly has telegraphed for Dr. Pepper to come on at once, as the general's condition was serious. Ex-United States Senator Rufus Blodgett, the superintendent of the New York & Long Branch railroad, had a special train made ready, and at 3 a. m. Dr. Pepper started for the Delaware breakwater. The train ran over the Pennsylvania road to Camden, where it took the West Jersey road to Cape May landing, where Dr. Pepper found a government tug, which conveyed him to the Swatara. Dr. Pepper's special train had a clear track, but the run took nearly five hours, and nothing had been given out regarding the general's condition at this writing.

The following is the bulletin issued Tuesday evening on board the Swatara at Delaware breakwater:

"About 11 this morning Gen. Sheridan had an attack of pulmonary congestion. It was more easily controlled than on any previous occasion. At 8 p. m. he was resting rather quietly with but little cough. His respiration is about 30 and irregular. His pulse is 96 and his temperature 99. He has had several refreshing naps, the position of the Swatara is quite sheltered from any motion of the sea, and absolute quiet has been maintained on board."

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of its kind which can truly be said to "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's.

Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, as no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

Although Mr. Gillen wasn't talking politics on his trip here, it is safe to remark that there are few better political hustlers than he is. THE 'VARSITY GIRLS. Luke Sharp in the Detroit Free Press thus gives his Impressions of a Visit to this City. I spent a day in Ann Arbor last week. The city is the educational capital of the State, and it is really an Arbor, for there are trees everywhere. Every street is shaded and the hills are covered with forest. But the beauty of the University town is its co-educational features. "Fair girl graduates with their golden hair," and also their black and brown and ruby-colored locks abound in the learned town. On graduation day they wore the most jaunty costumes, and on top of all was that equilateral triangled arrangement called a mortarboard, the sides of which parallel to each other and equal and the angles opposite the equal sides being equal to each other, each to each, which was to be demonstrated. The girls wore this mortarboard on top of their shining curls with a rakish set that the Oxford "man" can never hope to attain. Talk about divinity students! If those girls were not the most sublimely divine students I ever saw then I know nothing of the blessings of co-education. Quite a number of the young ladies had had their portraits taken in educational cap and gown, and I stood in front of one of the photographic groups for hours and hours. When the heartless prosaic policeman ordered me to move on I merely went round the block and came back to the same fascinating spot where that photograph was taken. There were about a dozen girls in the group, and each one was simply distractingly pretty. I don't know how the faculty expects the average susceptible young man to graduate with so much loveliness around him to knock the co-signs and useful algebraic formula out of his head. I confess that I could not make up my mind which to choose in that entrancing photographic group. The girl with the glasses was charmingly Bostinque. The one to the right, with the saucy tip to the mortarboard, was perfectly lovely. So was the demure young lady to the left. The one with "SS" marked on her scholastic cloak was just too sweet for anything, and the one with—it's no use. I can't choose. I wish the University of Michigan would follow the example of Cornell and establish a school of journalism. I would like to take the professor's chair in that department at a very small salary. In the drizzling rain I wrote the following lines, which I respectfully dedicate to the pretty— CLASS OF '88. Oh, charming girls of '88! I bitterly bemoan the fate That landed me in '77. And thereby made me miss the heaven— Of class of '88. Oh, lovely girls of '88! As I walked down the Rue de State In fair Ann Arbor town, I saw photographic print, Mounted on card of amber tint; A group of sweet and pretty girls, Where some had bangs and some had curls, And some had cap and gown. Oh, girls! oh, girls of '88! The day was wet, the hour was late, I stood there in the falling rain; I knew I'd miss the evening train; But early, late, wet or dry, I breathed a long regretful sigh, To think that you and yet not I, Belonged to '88. Beauty and grace of '88! You look so learned and sedate In Mortarboard and gown; What awful lots of things you know How water is but H<sub>2</sub>O; The spectrum analysis; How to pronounce in proper fettle That mountain, Popocatepetl; The flattened parallel Achenia; The states from Maine to fair Virginia; The fifteen flowered Serrisocaropus; That admiral that swears fish and the porpoise. You know minutely each particular Of how a straight line perpendicular Bisects some obtuse stupid angle And leads us to a tresome jangle About the figure A B C, Being therefore equal to F D. And so quod erat demonstrandum All things exact and none at random, You've gathered this enormous knowledge By days and days at that big college In fair Ann Arbor town. Yet, graduate of '88, When you be lean o'er a gate Before your father's door, Those learned, abstract, useful themes Will then give place to sweeter dreams; But early, late, wet or dry, That grammar lesson meant for you You will recite. Then he and you of '88 The verb "to love" will conjugate Some starlight night. That tender verb of school-day hours, Perfumed with the breath of woodland flowers, Excels all college lore. I know the truth of what I state, Though you're 19 in '88 And I am 44.
