KILLED BY THE CARS.

ROBERT S. ORR AND THREE OTHERS STRUCK BY THE TRAIN.

Ann Arbor's Street Cars—The Sister Found—Entertainments—Brief but Heated Council Meeting.

Our Street Cars.

The street car project is not dead nor sleeping. The projectors are daily expected in the city to make arrangements for pushing the work next spring. It will be remembered that according to the terms of the franchise the belt line must be completed a year from next January. Mr. Peet, one of the main projectors, has met with sad bereavement this fall in the death of two of his sons from typhoid fever. The other members of his family, who have been down with the dread disease, are now recovering.

The Postoffice Inspected.

Eugene Pearsall, formerly sheriff of Genesee county, now U. S. postoffice inspector, inspected the Ann Arbor postoffice last Saturday. In conversation with an ARGUS reporter he stated that he had been in many postoffices but he had never found a better post-office official than John Duffy, the present assistant postmaster. Everything was right where he could lay his hands upon it and the work was thoroughly systematized. Mr. Pearsall reported that he found everything in good shape. The inspector is a sharp, wide-awake, active man.

Two Great Stars.

Some are discovered every day by astronomers, others come periodically to delight our gaze. In music, too, we like to hear the wonderful artists who have risen to the highest pinnacle of talent and fame, and regret that instead of appearing to us now and then like flashing meteors, they cannot stay with us as fixed stars. However it is a great boon to have the opportunity to listen to such eminent artists as Miss Emma Juch, the prima donna, the leading soprano of the American lyric stage, and Mme. Teresa Carreno, the most accomplished and world renowned pianist.

Such will be the rare opportunity given our citizens on Monday evening.

Prof. Ford at the M. E. Church.

Prof. S. T. Ford, of New York City, the graceful and accomplished elocutionist, will give one of his delightful entertainments under the auspices of the Cocker League, on Friday evening, November 23rd, at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the Methodist church. Prof. Ford is the professor of Elocution at Van Norman Institute, New York City, and is widely known as an excellent teacher and an imitable reader. The Washington Republican says of him, "his enunciation of different dialects and phrases of the many walks in life were inimitable" and the Brooklyn Eagle says "it is hard to tell in which he excels, fun or pathos." No one can fail to be pleased with his delightful rendition of both humorous and pathetic selections, and we hope a crowded house may greet the accomplished elocutionist in this, his final appearance before an Ann Arbor audience. The admission has been fixed at twenty-five cents.

The Sister Found.

The ARGUS of last week containing the inquiry of Mrs. Elizabeth Downing, of Chicago, for her sister, whom she had lost trace of a number of years ago, was quickly answered by George Clarken, who is a cousin of the parties and by Miss Margaret Riley, the sister in question, who resides on Fourth street of this city. The sisters have been placed in communication with each other and the coming reunion will no doubt be a joyful one. The ARGUS is establishing something of a reputation for reuniting relatives, who have lost trace of each others whereabouts. It was through an article in the ARGUS, it will be remembered, that the relatives of Miss Helena Stone, who was taken to France when a very little girl and who had no knowledge of the whereabouts of any of her relatives, discovered her whereabouts and brought her to this country, where she is now staying with relatives in Kalamazoo.

The Merry Comedy "Zig Zag"

The astonishing "Zig Zag" is coming, and Monday night, November 26th, it will be played at the Grand Opera House in its original form, that is with the same scenery and costumes, as has won for it so great a reputation at the Star Theatre, New York. "Zig Zag" is a musical farce comedy of the side splitting order. It is, in fact, one of the jolliest laughter provoking pieces that has been produced for many years. Its success has been and continues to be phenomenal, and in New York the people, to use a slangism, "went mad over it." There is enough fun in "Zig Zag" to make a dozen comedies and the mythological minut and the Turkish ballet are such accessories, as have never before been seen in that order of play. W. W. Tillotson brings with him his powerful company including Miss Anna Boyd, who has few equals as a comedy actress and vocalist. "Zig Zag" is a happy concoction of light wit and merry jokes; and it has the great merit of being able to drive away "the blues" and give, for two hours and a half, enough opportunities for hearty laughter which all wise folks agree, is the best tonic on earth. "Zig Zag" will be played on Monday night Nov. 26, and its success in Ann Arbor is a certainty.

The Fire Limits Discussed.

A brief but rather warm council meeting was held Monday night when a petition from Messrs. Harriman, Manly and Doty was considered for permission to erect a frame building on Fourth street, next to the Hamilton block, forty by eighteen and one story high to be covered with iron and iron roof. Capt Manly, in behalf of the firm, stated that the proposed building was to be built on ground that could only be leased for five years and subject to sale and the only building that they could erect was one that they could move off at any time. They intended to place $8,000 worth of books in it and they didn't want to risk their books in a fire trap. They had the consent of the adjoining property owners. Ald. Allmendinger moved that the petition be denied. The council, he said, had endeavored to secure the erection of a better class of fire proof buildings and had denied many petitions for buildings covered with iron, which insurance companies regarded as risks no better than wooden buildings. He thought that if one petition was granted all ought to be granted and that unless they were observed there was no need of fire limits. Ald. Herz thought Mr. Gauss on Liberty street had some months ago been granted permission to erect such a building and this building would be a big improvement on an old bill board. Ald. Miller thought permission might be granted conditional that the building might be removed at the expiration of five years. Ald.

Wines thought the precedents already established ought to be carried. The motion that the petition be denied was carried by a vote of 5 to 4, as follows:
Ayes, Ald. Allmendinger, Sutherland, Hammond, Wines and Recorder Bach—5.
Nays, Ald. Herz, O'Mara, Miller and Mayor Beakes—4.

The mayor in voting explained that he was not prepared to vote in favor of the petition but he voted against denying it on the ground that he thought it ought to follow the regular custom and be referred to the fire committee to report upon it.

Recorder Bach moved that the vote be reconsidered, which was carried. He then moved as a substitute for the resolution that the petition be referred to the fire committee, which was lost by a vote of 4 to 5. The original motion that the petition be denied was then carried by a vote of 5 to 4 and the council adjourned.

A Sad Railroad Accident.

Last Friday evening, while James L. P. McAllister, Robert S. Orr, Nathan Woodmansee and a colored man named Wm B. Johnson, were crossing the Toledo and Ann Arbor railroad track on State street in a wagon driven by Mr. McAllister, train number 4 on the road was coming into the city, and struck the wagon just as it crossed the track. Messrs. McAllister, Orr, and Woodmansee were sitting in the front seat of the wagon and Mr. Johnson in the bottom. Johnson saw the train coming and jumped out three rods from the track. Mr. Woodmansee about two rods before the wagon reached the track, called out, "Whoa! the train is coming." Mr. McAllister replied, "I can get across," and commenced whipping the horses, Woodmansee jumping out, leaving McAllister and Orr in the wagon. The horses crossed the track safely, but the wagon was struck, both men thrown out, the wagon utterly demolished and the harness stripped from the horses. Mr. Orr was so badly injured that he died Sunday. Mr. McAllister sustained severe injuries. So suddenly had the whole affair occurred that Mr. McAllister, when picked up, thought that he had crossed the track in safety.

An inquest was held before Justice Pond, Wednesday, with Moses Seabolt, H. J. Brown Leonard Gruner, John Finnegan, Charles Spoor and Charles H. Worden as jurors. The evidence showed that the train was coming at the rate of thirty miles an hour and was eight minutes late, that it was growing dark, but was not quite dark enough for the headlight to do much good. Engineer Dodge, Fireman Long and Conductor Hatcher, testified to the blowing of the whistle eighty rods before the crossing was reached and the ringing of the bell by the fireman. Mrs. Mary Fox, who was milking a cow near the track, testified to the cow being frightened by the whistling, but two ladies who were near the crossing heard no whistle and Mr. Woodmansee heard the whistle when the train was only about fifteen rods away. Mr. McAllister testified that he was close to the track, when he first saw the train and was afraid to stop for fear he could not control his horses. The jury rendered a verdict that the collision was an accident and that no one was to blame for the same.

Unpunished Law Breakers.

According to the figures published in the British Blue Book, just issued, it appears as though America is not the only country where criminals so frequently escape justice. During 1886-87 there were in London 42,391 indictments and only 19,045 of the offenders were placed under arrest. This shows that more than one-half escaped. It is further to be noted that of those apprehended 3,769 were discharged for want of evidence and 1,325 for want of prosecution, so that the number held to bail or committed was reduced to 13,958. Of these, again, only about 10,468, or 75 per cent., were convicted, or less than one-fourth of the number of crimes committed.—New York Telegram.

Hint to the Census Taker.

I have one suggestion to make: that our national government, when it takes the next general census, include in its statistics information about all the people in the United States above 90, the kind of information to be determined beforehand by the most eminent physicians and scientific men generally in this country or in the world. I believe that such information would be of more value to the world, after having been properly digested, than all the facts about the manufacture of cotton cloth, the raising of tobacco, the production of whisky, etc., that could be collected in a century. For do we not all desire to live long?—Clement M. Hammond in Popular Science Monthly.

The "Gangs" of London.

The London police records show that "gangs" flourish here as they do in New York. The Marylebone gang, the Fitzroy Place gang, the Monkey Parade gang, the Black gang, the Newcut gang, the Greengate gang, the Prince Arthur gang, the Gang of Roughs, the Jovial Thirty-two, are some of the most important, each one having its own stamping ground. The Monkey Parade gang infests Whitechapel.—New York Sun.

Pipes for Natural Gas.

The discovery and utilization of natural gas have proved a powerful stimulus to the manufacture of iron pipes and tubes in this country. There are now 2,300 miles of mains in the United States for conveying natural gas.—Chicago Herald.

Loreghan. The funeral services of Mrs. Ann Coy, who died in Mason, November 14, were held in Dexter last Saturday. The Dundee cheese manufactory has made 100,000 pounds of cheese this year, which has found a ready sale. The marriage of John W. Dancer, of Lima, and Miss Lizzie Hallen, of Webster, is announced for next Tuesday. The December meeting of the Southern Washtenaw farmers' club, will be held at J. R. Holmes, December 7. Michael Houston, an aged resident of Salem, was found dead in his bed on Tuesday morning of last week. He died of old age. The pastor of the Universalist church in Manchester, told the ladies of this congregation how to become beautiful last Sunday. Supervisor Kress will tell at the next meeting of the Bridgewater literary club, whether it will improve politics for women to vote. Beale, of the Ypsilanti Congregational church told the young men of that city something about "an investment which pays," last Sunday evening. The editor of the Grass Lake News enjoys the distinction of dishing up local news in a style which makes the average Michigan local editor turn green with envy. The Manchester fire laddies give a masquerade ball at Goodyears' hall Thanksgiving evening, when prizes will be given for the handsomest and the homeliest couples present. If our subscribers hear of any news in their neighborhood—deaths, births, accidents, fires, &c., we would be much pleased if they would drop us a postal card telling us about it. Wm. Arnold a smooth faced German, aged 25 years and weight about 140 pounds, hired to E. M. Field, of Whitmore Lake, about six weeks ago. Cowell, of Ypsilanti, have a two-third interest in the Lehnendorf Cushing Co. just organized for the purpose of making car seats, chairs, cushions, etc. Andy Palmer for the past two years has been entering the dry goods store of J. J. Kelly in Stockbridge and taking out money and goods. Last week he was captured in the act. He entered the store by means of a hickory key. Mrs. Jane Hammon died in Bridgewater, Thursday, November 8, of old age, having reached the advanced age of 86 years. She was the mother of Seymour Hammon and Mrs. M. Case, of Manchester, and Mr. Hiram Welch, of Bridgewater. Grass Lake belles must order their shoes from Chicago, where shoemakers have generous sized lasts. A stocking displayed in front of a Grass Lake dry goods store is 43 inches long, with a foot 21 inches long and measures 26 inches around the ankle. None but Grass Lake girls could wear stockings of that size. Ed. Wallace, of Saline, Washtenaw county, Michigan, drove an old-fashioned two wheeled carriage, of the calash order, into town yesterday. The hubs of the wheels are very large, being about eight inches in diameter, and the vehicle was drawn by one horse. This ancient carriage, he said, was presented to Gen. Lewis Cass over 40 years ago. It was in excellent condition.—Detroit Journal.

Saline Ratifies.

I cannot forbear to mention some of the features of the ratification (?) meeting, held by the truly loyal at Saline Saturday night, which was a stupendous effort on the part of a few, who were desirous of doing something for their country in a manner befitting to the occasion. First and foremost in the parade, came the leader of all leaders, O. E. Hawkins, the political editor of the Saline Observer, bearing a banner, "What I Know about Politics." Next came the redoubtable hustler and orator, H. T. Nichols, bearing aloft a Chinese lantern, symbolic of their great leader, headed by the Saline cornet band playing, "This is the Way I Long Have Sought," and passed the reviewing stand on which was R. H. Marsh, holding aloft the American flag and his petition for the postoffice, and as the winsome throng of thirty torches passed along, their pathway was lighted by two ten cent roman candles and a Chinese lantern. But the dessert was yet to come, and, ye gods! it was dished with no sparing hand. At the hall, L. S. Pierce opened the meeting with prayer and was greeted with cheers as he referred to our Maker, the crowd thinking he meant Harrison. H. T. Nichols followed with an address on the future of the republican party, which was received in sorrow and greeted with tears, as one republican said he came out of the hall, "joy was one thing, but he was sorry to see one man make a fool of the whole republican party." So ended the most glorious fiasco that was planned by careful hands two weeks in advance.

Darling for 2½ cents per bushel and board himself. The Morgan school does not begin this week as reported by us last week on account of the teacher going back on her bargain. On Monday of last week while going to the cemetery at Stony Creek to bury his son-in-law, Geo. Bennett had a slight stroke of paralysis and in the evening of that day and the day following he had two more shocks but at the present writing he is able to be around again.

$500 Not Called For.

It seems strange that it is necessary to persuade men that you can cure their disease by offering a premium to the man who fails to receive benefit. And yet Dr. Sage undoubtedly cured thousands of cases of obstinate catarrh with his "Catarrh Remedy," who would never have applied to him, if it had not been for his offer of the above sum for an incurable case. Who is the next bidder for cure or cash?

Lyndon.

Marshall has rented and taken possession of the Tate Watson farm. Mrs. Thomas Blakiey, of Ingham, is visiting friends in Lyndon and Webster. Mrs. Farrel, of Sanduskey, Ohio, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. V. Heatley. Myrtle, daughter of A. J. Boyce, has been quite sick, but is out of danger at this writing.

Milan.

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained untraced as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

A. Crolius has returned from Williamston. Star Voght spent Sunday with Milan friends. Dr. and Mrs. Chapin spent Thursday in Detroit. J. C. Rouse visited Ann Arbor the last of the week. Mrs. Harper went to Detroit on business, Wednesday. Mrs. Teweksberry is suffering from a paralytic stroke. Amos Taylor is at home, returned from Williamston, Saturday. J. C. Rouse and wife entertained several of their Saline friends, Sunday. Snow storm Sunday and Sunday evening. The rain washed it all away. Thurl Blackmer returned from Detroit for good the first of the week. The young people of Milan talk of organizing a dancing school, this winter. Miss Grace Blackmer gave a party Tuesday evening to a number of her friends. Several new bet hats in town and various other articles won in the same way. Mr. and Mrs. Whitmarsh and daughter returned from their Grass Lake visit, Friday. The Methodist Aid Society netted $14.00 last Wednesday at their chicken-pie social. Saturday evening, Miss Grace Wilson entertained several of her friends by having a candy pull.

Chelsea.

Business has been lively here this week. Good timothy hay brings $14 per ton here. Clare Durand and wife are having a vacation here. Wheat comes in slowly at $1.00 per bushel this week. The apple evaporators are through work and have done well this fall. Elders Robinson and Reilly exchanged pulpits last Sunday night. There are more empty houses in this village now than there has been for years. Rev. J. E. Reilly will preach the Thanksgiving sermon here at the M. E. church. James Leach, of Paw Paw, was here this week to see about the Downer estate. James Spencer, of Barry county, was here this week with the remains of his brother. The ladies of the M. E. church are having their art loan this week and it is a success. Judge Harriman was here last Wednesday and protected the will of Darwin Downer deceased. Henry Murray has just returned from Cadillac and says snow is two feet deep there and sleighing good. Upwards of 2200 loads of wheat have been taken in at this place in the company's elevator since the first of last January. John Hummel and Henry Fern, have bought R. S. Armstrong's drug and grocery business and are now running the same.

Catarrh

May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and the most liable to be neglected. It cannot be cured by local applications. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the catarrh, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes one feel renewed in strength and health. If you suffer from catarrh, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ringed Noises

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by yawning and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold."

Prosecuting Attorney Norris was here Monday and had three tramps, bound over to the circuit court for robbing a man here.

A. Steger paid out $2200 last Tuesday for turkeys and chickens. Eight cents were paid for turkeys and six cents for chickens.

If Cleveland had been re-elected, republicans would have said the late decline in all the markets was caused by that fact, but now they deny that the election of Harrison had anything to do with it.

Elmer Spencer, a young man about 30 years old, formerly of this place, but lately of Barry county, fell from a load of hay and broke his neck a few days ago. His remains were brought here last Tuesday and buried in the Vermont cemetery.

Saline.

Dr. E. Hall is on the sick list. Thomas F. Spears died Thursday the 15th inst. Mr. Geo. J. Nissly has purchased the Saline Observer. Mrs. Robison, who has been very sick for some time, is on the mend. Mrs. S. C. Hawkins had the misfortune to fall and break her arm, last Monday. Cornelius Parsons is doing a rushing business, two stores in Saline and one in Manchester. The article in the last week's ARGUS seems to disturb the would-be post masters of Saline. Dennis and Glover received three boilers from Detroit, Wednesday morning for their dairy engine. Mr. O. E. Hawkins and family move to Eaton Rapids next week. Mr. Hawkins will wield the editorial shears there in the future. Success to him.

The republican jollification meeting here last Saturday evening turned out to be a general time of making all the most hideous noises that one could imagine. Such a performance is a disgrace to any party.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in the best of health." CATARRH.

Catarrhal Deafness, Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membranes of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated, whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N.B.—For Catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (whites) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. DIXON & SON, 303 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should read the above carefully.

You can tell when a dog is warm, the same as you can tell a dude when you meet him on the street—by his loud pants.

"She's Much Older Than Her Husband."

We heard a young girl make the above remark the other day with whom we are slightly acquainted. It was not true, yet the lady in question does look five years older than her husband, although she is really several years his junior. She is prematurely aged, and functional derangement is her cause. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would cure her, and should be recommended to her, and to all others who are in the same condition. If the reader of this changes to be a similar sufferer, let her get the "Prescription." It will bring back her lost beauty, and better still, it will remove all those distressing symptoms which have made life a burden to her so long. Money refunded if it don't give satisfaction. See guarantee printed on bottle wrapper.

"Was the baby brushed at all when it fell in the cistern?" "Not the slightest. It was soft water you know."

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum, and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Eberbach & Son's Drug Store.

The reason why Mohammed refused to go to the mountains was because the hotel rates were so high.

The Population of Ann Arbor is about ten thousand, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottles 50c and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Only One Powderly,

And the Knights Determine to Stand by Him.

MANY CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES.

All Made in the Line of the Master Workman's Wishes—His Power Largely Increased—Other Representative Gatherings—Meetings of Gentlemen in Chicago and St. Louis—Three Thousand Westerners Call for the Opening of Oklahoma.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21.—In the general assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday the committee on laws submitted a partial report recommending that section 15 of article 3 of the constitution be so changed as to provide for the following officers: General master workman, general worthy foreman, general director of woman's work, general executive board of five, including the general master workman (instead of seven, as now); general co-operative board of three, including the general worthy foreman (instead of six, as at present), and general secretary-treasurer (instead of two separate officers, as now). It was further recommended that all these officers should be nominated upon the floor of the general assembly and elected by ballot, a majority of the vote to make the choice. The term of office was fixed at two years, as now. The duties of the various officers were specifically named in the report, those of the general master workman including his acting as ex-officio chairman of the general executive board. The general worthy foreman is provided with the chairmanship ex-officio of the general co-operative board.

In selecting a general executive board the general master workman is to submit to the assembly the names of eight knights eligible to the position, from which the assembly is to choose four members of the board. The general co-operative board, it is provided in the report, shall be composed of three knights, taken from a list of four to be submitted by the general worthy foreman.

All the changes except that relating to a consolidation of the offices of general secretary and treasurer were strongly opposed. The friends of Powderly, however, urged that a general master workman could not accomplish the result desired unless he could have men about him who are in harmony with his views. Charles H. Litchman favored the amendments, and George A. Schilling led the opposition, but the committee's report was adopted by a vote of 93 to 54 without change.

At the afternoon session a resolution from the committee on laws embodying the suggestion of Powderly that the time of the annual meeting be changed so as not to come directly before or directly after elections was reported upon adversely, and the report was approved.

The committee also recommended that article 22, of the constitution be amended so as to permit the general master workman to fill by appointment all vacancies occurring in the general executive board; that the general secretary-treasurer be required to submit weekly instead of daily financial statements; that any member of the general executive board may audit the accounts of the general secretary-treasurer, instead of requiring the general master workman to do the work, as now; that the secretary-treasurer shall furnish quarterly itemized accounts of the financial condition of the order, and that he shall send out quarterly a list of local assemblies and their standing in the order; that the seat of any general officer may be declared vacant by a majority vote of the general assembly; that the condemnation of the provisional committee by General Master Workman Powderly be endorsed. The report as to all these matters, together with several others of minor importance regarding the government of the order, was concurred in by the assembly.

As its concluding work of the day the assembly approved every decision by General Master Workman Powderly during the last year. Barry last night gave the public an open letter in which he reiterates all the charges he has heretofore made against Powderly and his followers. He will organize a new order to be called the Brotherhood of United Labor.

THE OKLAHOMA CONVENTION.

Resolutions Adopted Calling for the Opening of the Territory to Settlers.

WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 21.—The inter-state Oklahoma convention held in this city yesterday was the largest demonstration ever held in the west for the purpose of opening the Oklahoma territory. Among those present were Congressman Springer, of Illinois; Weaver, of Iowa, and Mansur, of Missouri, and Governors Adams, of Colorado, and Martin, of Kansas. There were 3,000 delegates present when the meeting was called to order in Crawford's Opera house. The first business was the unanimous adoption of a preamble and resolutions. The preamble recites that the rights of the Indians would not be impaired by the opening of Oklahoma to settlement; that unless it is so opened lawfully, possession will be sought by illegal means, and that the peaceable settlement of the territory would put an end to the lawlessness and crime which now prevail in the absence of any civil government. The resolutions call upon congress to pass the pending bill to organize the territory of Oklahoma, and upon the president of the United States to enforce the laws now existing, or to be enacted, looking to the establishment of the new territory.

Congressman Springer delivered an address, paying particular attention to his bill now in congress. Congressman Weaver and Mansur spoke at night, and all pledged themselves to work for the passage of the Springer bill during the early days of the approaching session.

National Cattle Growers' Association.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The annual meeting of the National Cattle Growers' association was held Tuesday morning at the Grand Pacific hotel. W. A. Towers of Kansas City was elected chairman, and A. K. Saunders, of the Breeders' Gazette, secretary. Mayor Roche welcomed the association to Chicago in a short speech. H. H. Hines, of Michigan, representing a committee appointed to investigate the contagion of Texas fever read a paper giving the results of several experiments. Mr. Pickrel, president of the American Short Horn Breeders' association, followed with a paper on the same subject.

The Cattleman's Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.—The delegates to the Range association and Butchers' convention, which was to have opened here yesterday, spent the entire day in caucusing.

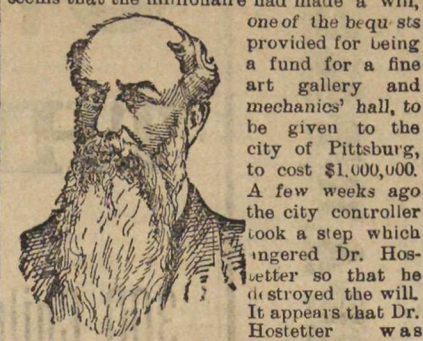

Massachusetts Feels an Earthquake.

MILFORD, Mass., Nov. 19.—Residents in Milford and vicinity felt a slight but continuous earthquake Saturday morning, lasting from two to four minutes. Dwellings were slightly shaken.

HE LEFT NO WILL.

Dr. Hostetter, the Bitters Man, Said to Have Died Intestate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A Tribune special from Pittsburg, says it has just been ascertained why Dr. Hostetter left no will. It seems that the millionaire had made a will, one of the bequests provided for being a fund for a fine art gallery and mechanics' hall, to be given to the city of Pittsburg, to cost $1,000,000. A few weeks ago the city controller took a step which angered Dr. Hostetter so that he destroyed the will.

It appears that Dr. Hostetter was bondsman for a city contractor against whom a judgment in favor of the city had been rendered. On that judgment the city controller had an execution issued on some of the doctor's property. The doctor felt that undue haste was used, as he was good for the amount and would have paid it without the necessity of an execution. The controller's action so angered the doctor that he sent to the safe deposit company where he had deposited the will, and tore it into shreds, and up to the time of his death he could not be induced to make another.

JO CHAMBERLAIN'S BRIDE.

The Distinguished Briton and Mary Endicott Quietly Wedded.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—Quietly and simply, in the presence of the bride's relatives and personal friends, a few of the members of Washington's official society, and several hundred of the general public, the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain and Miss Mary Endicott were married at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. John's Episcopal church.

The president and Mrs. Cleveland entered the church just before 2 o'clock, and were escorted to seats in one of the pews in the first row. Members of the Endicott family and relatives were seated immediately in the rear, while as many of the public as could find room in the little church filled the gallery and hallways.

Mr. Chamberlain entered the church at 2 o'clock and waited at the chancel. His appearance was the signal to the organist, who immediately began to play the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and the bride leaning on her father's arm, attired in a pearl gray traveling dress and wearing a dark bonnet, passed up the right aisle, and joining the bridegroom knelt before the altar. The Rev. Dr. Leonard, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Franks, of Salem, Mass., performed the Episcopal wedding service. Both bride and groom gave the responses in a firm and audible voice, prayer was pronounced, and Joseph Chamberlain and Mary Endicott were man and wife.

The wedding presents were numerous and costly, among them being some beautiful jewelry in diamonds and sapphires, the gifts of the groom and others.

RULES FOR BASE BALL.

Some Modifications Being Made By the Men Who Run Things.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The base ball magnates met in annual convention at the Fifth Avenue hotel this city, yesterday, and the "talent" in that line thronged the corridors of the building and talked ball. The convention is held with closed doors, but when anything is done the press is promptly informed. The first business was the official award of the pennant to New York for last season's work.

The matter that principally interested the players and the public—revision of the rules of the game—is in the hands of a joint committee of the League and Association, and this committee met shortly after noon. It refused to move the pitcher's box to fifty-five from the home plate, because, although such a change would help the batter to hits, the pitcher would have better command of the bases to prevent runs. In lieu of this the batter is to get his base on four bad balls instead of five, and outs on foul "tips" are abolished. It was also decided that if a batted ball hits the umpire, on duty inside the diamond, the player gets his base. It was also agreed that in addition to the substitute player now allowed another player may be present on the ground to take the place of any player at the end of any even inning. The committee refused to permit the over-running of second base.

FOUND DEAD BY THE WAYSIDE.

Mysterious Death of a Young Woman in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—What purports to be a terrible murder was the discovery at a late hour Saturday night of the bleeding form of a young and handsome girl lying on Grand boulevard, near Forty-third street. The girl was insensible and was bleeding profusely from a dreadful wound in the back of her head. Upon being removed to the hospital, the physicians found that she had received a compound fracture of the skull, evidently having been struck with a blunt instrument. Every effort was made to restore consciousness, without avail, and the girl died an hour after reaching the hospital. She was neatly dressed, and from all appearances was a respectable sewing-girl. A large number of persons called at the morgue yesterday, but failed to recognize the remains.

LATER.—The identity of the young woman has been discovered. Her name was Eva Mitchell, her former residence Washington, Ia., and she lived with her brother Oliver Mitchell, a south side street car conductor. A flagman at the Forty-third street crossing says he saw her get into a buggy with a man but don't know who the man was. The flagman was detained and the man was. The flagman, Stungis, who was a frequent caller on Eva, was arrested, but there is no evidence to convict either as yet.

THOSE INDIANS WILL FIGHT.

The Chickasaw Nation on the Edge of Civil War—One Man Killed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—Dispatches from the capital of the Chickasaw nation at a late hour last night say that the troubles between Governor Guy and the Byrd faction have broken out afresh and a conflict will surely follow. A fight occurred yesterday between some of Guy's friends and followers of Byrd, in which one of the latter was killed.

The Biggest Day on Record.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Monday was the biggest day on record at the Union stock yards in this city. The receipts of cattle aggregated 20,068 head, being the greatest number ever received in one day, and all of them were sold during the regular business hours.

Five Persons Roasted to Death.

OUR PRESENTS.

The ARGUS will make its readers for the coming year a present of a $35 India ink portrait with French crayon finish of themselves or some member of their family, a $25 suit of clothes, a Waltham silver watch and four large and elegant steel engravings, and this is the way the ARGUS proposes to do it.

Two thousand numbers will be taken and from these six numbers will be chosen by a disinterested party in whom we are sure our readers will have confidence, who will be blind folded, while making his choice of numbers, which will be sealed up in envelopes numbered and placed in a bank of this city, not to be opened until February 1st. Each subscriber as he pays for the ARGUS for the coming year will have the privilege of guessing a number not already chosen by some other subscriber. In other words the first to pay has the largest choice of numbers. No two subscribers can in this way guess the same number. On February 1st, the envelopes in the bank will be opened and the subscriber having chosen the number found in envelope No. 1 will receive a fine Bust Portrait, 22 x 27 inches done in India Ink with French Crayon finish with six inch bronze and plush frame of any person whom they may designate. The portrait is to be executed by I. M. Long & Co., the well known portrait artists of this city. The portrait is to be finished in every particular as the one now on exhibition in our window, with a duplicate of the handsome frame. This portrait is listed at $35 by the artists, who have established a reputation for doing the finest portrait work ever produced in Ann Arbor.

A twenty-five dollar suit of clothes will be given to the subscriber who has chosen the number in envelope No. 2. A suit will be on exhibition at Blitz & Langsdorfs, such as the lucky subscriber may secure, but he has the choice of any twenty-five dollar suit of clothes in the store. The Two Sams have one of the finest stocks of clothing in Michigan and the subscriber will have plenty of suits to choose from.

A Silver Stem-winding Waltham Watch will be given to the subscriber who is lucky enough to have guessed the number contained in the third envelope. This watch is warranted a reliable time keeper by J. C. and W. W. Watts, who are known to all our readers as a reliable jewelry firm, and it will be on exhibition at their store.

The subscribers who have guessed the numbers in the other three envelopes will have their choice in the order named of three handsome steel engravings 30 x 40 inches in size and appropriately framed, a description of which will be given next week, when we will give a more extended description of the presents.

These are the ARGUS' gifts to its readers, each and every one of whom we intend, during the coming year, shall receive the best paper we have ever given them. Those of our subscribers who have already paid for the coming year will please send in a number which they may guess is in one of the envelopes, between one and 2,000 inclusive. Our subscribers can tell how their subscriptions stand by the printed address on each paper which designates the time to which their subscription is paid.

The duty of good democrats is plain. There is no need that they should feel discouraged. The exuberant outbursts of joy from the republicans, the wild poems of victory to which they give utterance, the contumely they seek to heap upon the party which gave them battle, the extravagant predictions of a long period of republican party rule should not cause a good democrat to be cast down. Eight years ago we remember a republican victory, which they claimed was to be the death of the democratic party. Yet in 1884, the party was resurrected better and stronger than ever. During the campaign just passed, the ARGUS uttered no prediction of its result. Looking calmly over the election returns and to the principles which animate the parties, the ARGUS is now perfectly free to predict that 1892 will witness the return of the democratic party to power on the tariff reform issue. The victory in 1892 will be owing to no accident, it will be due to no third party abstracting votes from the opposition. It will be due to the intelligence of American freemen. The campaign just closed was an educational one. The time was too short for it to bear full fruit. But the seeds have been sown and in time will bring forth abundantly. We were defeated this year in the rural districts. The farmers were not educated up to the issue. The question at stake was not presented to them fully. If any set of men are injured by the tariff they are the farmers. The bedrock of American institutions, the farmers are thoroughly unprotected. They pay extra prices for their manufactured articles because they are forced to buy in an inflated home market, while they sell in the markets of the world in competition with India and all the other cheap labor countries of the world. It hardly seems possible that to them, of all men, should be due the defeat of a party which champions their cause. Yet such the prejudice against change in rural districts, such the partisanship which shuts the eyes of men to their own individual interests to advance those of a party which antagonizes those interests that temporary defeat greets the party of reform.

If a protective tariff has any valid claim for its existence at all, it is the claim that it increases the wages of the laborers in the protected industries. It is in the cities that such laborers are found and if tariff reform would injure anyone besides the protected millionaire manufacturer, it must be the employees of this manufacturer. This statement ought to be self-evident. In the cities the tariff question has been more generally discussed than in the country. The workingmen have been seeking all the light to be found on the question. In their meetings and on the street corners they have discussed the question pro and con. And despite the sophistries of protection, despite the desperate effort to convince the laborer that lower tariff meant lower wages, the scales have been falling from their eyes and the cause of tariff reform has gained largely in the cities. The election returns show it. Cleveland has gained heavily in the manufacturing cities and lost in the country.

The duty of the hour is patent. The time to run an educational canvass, is when no candidate is in the field, when the intoxication of an election canvass is not muddling the brain of the voter. Let the same attention be paid to bringing these facts before the farmers that has served to enlighten the workmen and it will bring forth fruit more abundantly. The intelligent yeomanry of America will demand for itself freedom from taxation for the benefit of the few millionaires who maintain lobbies to deceive the representatives of the people and who keep a party committed to the support of their unjust system of taxation by liberal contributions for its success. Now is the time for the leaven of reform to work. It is because we have confidence in the intelligence of the American people that we predict success in 1892.

"The well fought campaign for right principle of government has been lost—Cleveland and the democratic party are defeated. The chief reason for this disaster is the want of adequate preparation for meeting the main issue.

Eleven months was not time enough in which to enlighten the mass of unthinking voters educated for a full generation in the belief that taxes promote prosperity and tariff regulates wages.

The World questioned last June whether the president had not in precipitating this issue in the beginning of the campaign done the right thing at the wrong time. We commended his courage, but doubted his discreetness. Had the issue been forced a year earlier it is improbable that the errors and sophistries and bugaboos of the protectionists could have prevailed against the plain need of the country for a reduction of taxes through a reform of the tariff.

However, it was a case of 'better late than never.' The president at least gave to his party an issue worthy of such a contest. He lifted the plane of national politics from the petty strife for spoils of the rabble to contests for principle. He buried beyond resurrection the dead issues of the past, and brought both parties face to face with the living questions of the present. He submitted a campaign of education for a campaign of detraction, and though the education of the voters was not completed, the movement he inaugurated will not stop, it being well said that 'no great question is settled until settled rightly' as Lincoln said of slavery.

If unnecessary taxation is not wrong, nothing is wrong. The war taxes will be reduced, the surplus will be stopped. The tariff that enriches the few at the expense of the many will be reformed. Cleveland and his party can afford to wait for a vindication of their position in this contest. It is better to have deserved success and lost than not deserved it and won. The democratic party is never so vigorous, united or determined as when in opposition. It has only to be true to its principles and steadfast in support of its policy to triumph. Right will prevail for the republics all needed reforms are possible.—New York World.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says.

Toledo, O., Jan 10, 1887. Messrs. F. J. Cheeney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly, L. L. Gorsuch, M. D. Office 215 Summit St. We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally. F. J. Cheeney & Co., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75cts.

The portrait in the window of Mr. George Clarken's tobacco store is a fine one. The subject is Burt J. Junius E. Beal, the presidential elector from this district, is said to be one of the youngest men ever elected to this honorable position. He will have the privilege of voting for Harrison twice as many times as the ordinary man, in one sense, and in another sense, he will have the privilege denied the ordinary republican of voting for Harrison. There is a good deal of machinery about the election of our presidents and if Mr. Beal were not an honorable man, he could vote for Blaine if he saw fit. The position of elector indicates the confidence of a majority of the people of the state in the men elected to the position.

SHERMAN AHEAD FOR PREMIER.

The Wisconsin Put Him There - Some Other Assignments.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 20.—The Star says: "In cabinet gossip Mr. Dingley is being spoken of with growing frequency for secretary of the navy. The prophets still hold the state department open to Senator Sherman, and it is pretty generally accepted as among the most probable things that John Wanamaker will be postmaster general. If Sherman goes into the cabinet it is said to be likely McKinley would take his place in the senate. It would lie between McKinley and Foster, with the chances favorable to the former. Under this arrangement it is thought that Butterworth would be speaker of the house. The opinion is very often expressed that the speakership will go to either Butterworth or Cannon of Illinois. There is much doubt expressed as to whether McKinley would want the speakership, even if the senate should not be open to him."

The ardor of politicians of both parties in cabinet-making continues unabated. The two northwestern favorites, Senators Spooner and Allison, have upset all calculations by positively declining to allow their names to be used. Senator Spooner, however, desires to see Governor Rusk in the cabinet as secretary of the interior, and Senator Allison will be satisfied if Hon. John S. Clarkson will take care of it. It is understood that Mr. Clarkson does not care to get into the cabinet, but would like to be public printer, which office he can, undoubtedly secure for the asking. Congressmen Thomas and Payson still continue to be strong favorites for cabinet positions.

A dispatch from Maine says that Milliken, Manley, and others, who have been in close consultation with Mr. Blaine for the past four days, are positive in their statements that Mr. Blaine will and should be secretary of state. Letters received from Senator Allison here state with great positiveness that he will not accept a position in the cabinet, and intimate that the only position that his friend Col. Clarkson aspires to is that of public printer. If this is the case Mr. Clarkson will be pretty sure to get there.

The talk of Congressman Thomas, of Illinois, for secretary of the navy continues. One of the old observers here said yesterday, in speaking of the matter: "There has never been a member of congress in my knowledge who was as thoroughly posted on navy matters, historical, theoretical and practical, as Thomas, and no man now in public life could do for the navy what he would. His appointment would be gratifying to navy people and to congressmen as well."

CLAIMING WEST VIRGINIA. Senator Kenna and Chairman Quay Both Sure of It.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 21.—Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia says: "West Virginia is Democratic. My latest information is to the effect that we have elected the governor by a nice majority—probably 30. We also have the legislature by a majority of two. The congressional contests have, I think, resulted in giving us two of the districts, but there is still room for a little doubt on that score. Our electoral vote is for Cleveland by a plurality of not much less than 1,000. Our friends, the enemy, had a magnificent organization; its like has never been seen in West Virginia. In my own county the Republican committee brought back more than 300 voters, 119 of them negroes, who had gone away from the state to live, but who had not, up to election day, forfeited their right of suffrage at their old homes. Some of these had strayed as far away as Kansas and Nebraska, but they all returned in time to do their utmost for their party on the eventful 4th of November. The sinews of political warfare were not absent. There was a good deal of sieving, and it exerted itself mightily. Had it been put into active operation a few days earlier, and had the Republicans had time to reach the back counties we would have been beaten out of our boots. Secretary of State Henry S. Walker, of West Virginia, telegraphed to a friend here last night: "Goff's claim that he has carried the state is based on falsified returns published in the Intelligencer. Fleming is elected governor. The legislature is Democratic on joint ballot by one majority; second congressional district Democratic; First, Third, and Fourth close, and awaiting final count."

Senator Quay said last night to several members of the Philadelphia committee that is here seeking quarters for the inauguration that he now felt sure that the Republican majority in the house would be from seven to ten; that he believed that the first district of West Virginia would have a Republican representative and that Goff (Republican) was elected governor of that state by a majority of 200.

BELMONT AN AMBASSADOR. The New York Congressman Appointed Minister to Spain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The World says this morning: "Congressman Perry Belmont has been appointed United States minister to Spain. He sent a letter to the president by last night's mail accepting the position. The place has been vacant for some time. The fact of the appointment has been kept secret, but Mr. Belmont, who was seen last night, admitted it and said he had decided to accept. He will sail for Spain early next month. Mr. Belmont has been chairman of the house foreign affairs committee during the last two congresses, and is well equipped for the position. He was not a candidate for re-election to congress, and would have retired from the house on March 4 next. His appointment was not generally known last evening, but it will be received as a fitting tribute to Mr. Belmont's services to his party."

MORE POSTOFFICE STATISTICS. Removals of Postmasters, Increase of Offices and Other Information.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 19.—First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson, in his annual report, states that during the past fiscal year fourth-class postmasters were appointed as follows: On resignations and commissions expired, 6,521; on removals, 1,234; on deaths of postmasters, 659; on establishment of new postoffices, 3,864; whole number of appointments, 12,268.

During the year 1,645 offices were discontinued. There were 821 more offices established and 145 more offices discontinued during the year than during the previous year. The increase in the whole number of postoffices is shown to have been 2,219 increased 1,548 during the year 1887. In the New England states the net increase was 5, against 45 during the previous year; in the middle states, 183 against 202; in the southern states, including Indian territory, 148 against 785; in the three states and three territories of the Pacific slope, 190 against 115; in the ten states and six territories of the west and northwest, the net increase was 412, against 896. There was an increase in the number of offices in all the states excepting Maine and New Hampshire, and in all of the territories excepting Idaho and Utah.

THE TREMBLING EARTH.

A Quake Felt at San Francisco That Creates a Panic.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Great excitement prevailed in this city yesterday afternoon, caused by the unmistakable shock of an earthquake. Thousands of people rushed into the streets from private residences and the hotels throughout the city, fearing that the buildings were about to topple down upon them. The shock was a severe one and lasted for about a quarter of a minute, the vibration being from northwest to southeast.

Dispatches from central California state that the shock was felt throughout that section, causing general consternation and fright.

Death of Rear Admiral Baldwin. NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Rear Admiral Charles H. Baldwin, of the United States navy, died at his residence, 590 Fifth avenue, at noon Saturday from Bright's disease. He had been ill for many years, and only recently had returned from the south of France, where he went for the benefit of his health. He was born in 1832, and served his country with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars.

The Indiana Returns. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—The full vote cast at the recent election for Alvin P. Hovey for governor was 263,194; for Courland C. Matson, 263,994; for Jasper B. Hughes, 9,930; for John B. Milroy, 2,705; Hovey's plurality, 2,800. Every county in the state gave some Prohibition votes, Hamilton leading with 406. The increase of the Prohibitionist vote over that of 1886 is 735, and over that of 1884 about 100 per cent. In 1886 the Labor vote in the state was 4,646, the net decrease in the late election being 1,914.

Refers to His Speeches. AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—Yesterday morning's Chronicle published a letter from Gen. Harrison to its editor declining at this time to comply with its request to write something upon what is commonly called the southern question. The letter concludes: "What I have said during the campaign is accessible to you. When the appointed time comes I shall not hesitate to express such views as I hold, and shall hold all my views subject to modification upon further consideration."

Senator Sabin and the Cabinet. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Senator Sabin, of Minnesota, who arrived here yesterday, says that he is in the field again for United States senator for all he is worth, and there is no position in the cabinet that he would accept. He has not seen Gen. Harrison since the election, and knows nothing of the report that he had been offered a portfolio under the new administration.

Fifer's Plurality. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 20.—Returns of the gubernatorial vote have been received by the secretary of state from every county except Cook. The total number of votes cast for Fifer outside of Cook county is 284,897; for Palmer, 267,853; Fifer's plurality exclusive of Cook county, 17,044.

Remains of a Scythian King. In the same building where the relics of Peter the Great are preserved, can be found the sarcophagus of a monarch interred more than 2,000 years previously. Among all the treasures of the Hermitage there is none more valuable than the so-called Kertch collection. On the shore of the Black sea, 600 years before Christ, the Greeks founded colonies, which, uniting with the native Scythians, were usually under Scythian rule. Without the gates of the modern town of Kertch long rows of tombs and mounds exist, which of late years have been carefully examined by the Russian government, and the objects found there, remains of the former Grecian colonies, have been preserved in St. Petersburg, forming the richest collection of the kind in the world. In 1831 a mound was opened called by the Tartars "The Hillock of the Brave," and in a room of hewn stone the remains of a Scythian king were found, together with his wife, his war horse and servant. His golden crown and ornaments were there untouched. Even the sarcophagus of carved cypress wood in which his body was laid, remains undecayed; and the carving and gilt figures upon it are still sharp and beautiful. It seems incredible that a substance so frail should have endured for more than 2,000 years un injured. The gold bars of his shield, the silver staves of his heralds, the collar of twisted gold wire are to be seen here, beside many other articles found in his tomb, although a large number were stolen at the time of the discovery.

But still more interesting and beautiful were the contents of a tomb discovered in 1868 of a priestess of Cybele, with all her rich ornaments, and these were all preserved. Most exquisite they are; all gold chains, buttons, bracelets, necklaces, equal the best workmanship of Venice or Florence at the present day. The golden plates from her headdress are of repousse work of perfect beauty. —St. Petersburg Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

Food Eaten by Old People. The statistics tell one simple story, with so few variations as to be positively monotonous, in relation to the food eaten by these old people. The diet has been regular New England home dishes of meat, vegetables, and pastry, with breakfast early, dinner at noon, and supper late. Very few are mentioned as small eaters or large eaters; most are mentioned as not particular, with good appetites through life. A half dozen never eat meat, and two have abstained from water. More than two-thirds have been habitual users of tea and coffee, and of the remainder nearly all have drunk tea. Few of the men, and none of the women, are given as users of more intoxicating beverages than cider, and not a dozen out of all have ever used liquors to excess. Ten of the women are mentioned as habitual smokers, and a score as snuff takers. Of the men, a large majority have used tobacco—either chewing, smoking, or both. Most of the tobacco users have been moderate, although numbers of cases are given where the amount consumed is enormous, and continued constantly up to the time when the census was taken. A few broke away from the habit after it had lasted for twenty, thirty or fifty years, and have now been without the narcotic for perhaps a decade or more.

The record of sickness is so varied that scarcely half a dozen cases are alike out of the whole long list, except where there has been no illness other than the usual complaints of infancy. Out of 1,049 men, 332 never were ill since early childhood; and of 880 women, 286 have enjoyed the same good health. One hundred and fourteen men and 171 women have had petty diseases only, and 495 men and 402 women have been seriously ill. The serious illness of the majority was a fever of some sort, typhoid heading the list. —Clement M. Hammond in Popular Science Monthly.

THE WHEEL OF THE WORLD.

The wheel of the world turns round and round; Those who are uppermost soon may lay Down in the dust or under the ground;

The wheel of the world moves day and night, And its swift revolutions bring Nations from darkness into light;

Around and round the wheel turns and goes, And we go with it, now up, then down; Few win the prize that many must lose;

The Footgear of Kings. A curious museum has just been opened at Dresden. In it are collected a number of breeches, shoes and slippers in which emperors, kings, queens, princes and other august or famous persons have some time or other trodden the path through life.

Among them are a pair of boots worn by Napoleon I at the battle of Dresden, on April 27, 1813, and a pair of white satin shoes, embroidered in gold, which the same great emperor wore on the day of his coronation; another pair of strong leather boots which belonged to the famous French marshal, Murat, afterward king of the Two Sicilies; a pair of high heeled boots of Maria Theresa; boots of the philosopher Kant, and many others, forming a curious assembly.

If the promoters of the museum have any energy they will not find it difficult to increase their curious collection considerably and to make it one of the sights of Dresden. But they must search both highways and byways for their treasures; thus, for instance, they might perhaps obtain an interesting article from the good nuns at Nazareth House, Hammersmith, who preserve a large comfortable looking slipper of the late pope under a dainty glass case in one of their large rooms.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Beggars of China.

A writer in a Shanghai journal referring to the beggars of China, says that large donations are given to them by the people, but these are in the nature of an insurance. In the cities the beggars are organized into very powerful guilds, more powerful by far than any organization with which they can have to contend, for the beggars have nothing to lose and nothing to fear, in which respects they stand alone. The shop keeper who should refuse a donation to a stalwart beggar, after the latter has waited for a reasonable time and has besought with what lawyers call "due diligence," would be liable to invasion from a horde of famished wretches, who would render the existence even of a stolid Chinese a burden, and who would utterly prevent the transaction of any business until their continually rising demands should be met. Both the shop keepers and the beggars understand this perfectly well, and it is for this reason that the gifts flow in a steady, if tiny, rill.—London Times.

Puritan Idea of a Gentleman.

In an address on the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of New Haven, William L. Kingsley says: "The Puritans gave to the world a new idea of what it is to be a gentleman. With the views respecting manhood, which they received from the Bible, they conceived a new idea as to what is the proper way to treat others. Polished manners and a gracious deportment to one's equals is not enough, according to the Puritan idea. A man may smile and smile and be a villain." There should be such delicacy of perception of the rights and feelings of others as to lead a person not only to avoid giving offense to any, high or low, but the perception should be accompanied by such a treatment of all as reveals a friendly feeling.

"This idea of a gentleman did not exist before the time of the Puritans. I do not say that there were not persons who had such a character. But Shakespeare uses the word 'gentleman' more than five hundred times, and not once to designate anything more than a person of high social position. One of the most eloquent English essayists of modern times, Rev. Charles Kingsley, a dignitary of the Anglican church, says that 'Puritan and not the cavalier conception of what a British gentleman should be is the one accepted by the whole British nation at this day.'—Magazine of American History.

Where are the Large Families?

The Detroit Journal has instituted a novel search for the largest families, and has sent out cards that are intended to be passed on until they reach and obtain the signatures of nine mothers with large families. The last one (the 9th) to sign the card is requested to return the card to the Detroit Journal. In order to make the scheme work and keep the card moving, the Detroit Journal offers $1 each to the nine mothers on any one card, the aggregate of whose children should prove to be the largest. Will this have the effect of increasing the number of large families?

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.
