FOR POLITICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.—ONE NIGHT ONLY.

The Board of Regents in their partisanship on Tuesday threw open the doors of University Hall for a republican meeting. Recognizing the hole in which they had placed themselves, they hastened to extend the same privilege to the other political clubs, although last week they refused the Democratic Club.

PROTECTION.

That's What The Great McKinley Tries to Talk About.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS CRAWL IN A HOLE.

A Murderous Assault Yesterday.—Apportionment of Primary School Funds.—"The Damnation of Faust."—Population Statistics.

The much-talked of gathering of the Republican clans under the auspices of the University Republican Club was held Tuesday. It was a success—from a Republican standpoint and if they are satisfied, the Democrats have no reason to complain. The "big guns" of the Republican party were all here, and if there was an occasional mistake in aim or a complete failure to fire on account of dampened powder, it made no difference to the wildly enthusiastic Republicans who so seldom have a chance to express their feelings in this Democratic city. Numerous outside Republicans, of both high and low degree, were on hand to assist the local believers in that faith. McKinley, the chief expounder of protection, was here, with a following of friends from Columbus. H. S. Pingree and John T. Rich, the two rivals for the Republican nomination for governor, met here for the first time since the candidacy of both was announced to the public. Neither lost any time here in advocating his cause and if reports are true each strengthened his following. Other politicians were here hustling for themselves. On the whole the affair was a creditable one. It did not compare with the ovation given Cleveland here recently, nor were any of the responses made at the banquet equal to those made before the Democratic Club on Jefferson's birthday. The promises made by the managers were not all fulfilled. The torch-light procession, "5,000 strong," failed to materialize and the wonderful display of fire works was "away out of sight." Nor were the hundreds of citizens and farmers too well pleased who waited around the court house until after 9 p. m. to hear the great McKinley speak, only to find out at last that the arrangements had been changed too late to give notice and the speech had been delivered at University Hall.

But, in one particular the management degenerated to what had every appearance of a "fake" of which the late P. T. Barnum would have been abashed. McKinley is looked upon as the greatest exponent of the doctrine of protection, and people of every political faith have a great curiosity to hear him speak on this subject. In all the public announcements made the fact was set forth that McKinley would be heard at the banquet. Willing to part with two hard-earned dollars to hear this renowned gentleman, in the neighborhood of a thousand persons were induced to purchase tickets to the banquet, probably not one-third of whom would have given up their cash for the supper and to hear the other speakers. The result was not what was expected. The gentlemen and ladies who had paid their money were permitted to sit and feast their eyes on McKinley from the time the banquet began until it ended, only hearing him speak a few words when his toast was announced, while the public who were not inclined to pay, had the privilege of listening to an address of forty-five minutes duration at the University Hall earlier in the evening.

The organization of the American Republican College League was a success. Delegates were here from nearly every northern, eastern and western state, the colleges represented being forty. The gathering was an enthusiastic one and it was really a great undertaking to gather the Republican students from Maine to California under one banner. Much of the success of the affair was due to Jas. F. Burke, president of the University Republican Club, and a score of the other members of this organization.

The delegates met Tuesday morning at Newberry Hall and effected a temporary organization. In the afternoon the meeting was held at the opera house, where amidst great enthusiasm a platform was adopted, resolutions were passed thanking everybody and praising everything that is Republican and condemning everything Democratic. Harrison's administration was mildly approved and Blaine and his work received an ovation when it was mentioned.

When the election of officers of the newly formed league was reached, the Harvard delegation nominated for president James F. Burke of the Michigan university. One delegation after another swung into line and seconded the nomination and his election was made unanimous. The other officers elected were: J. D. Wallingford, Leland Stanford, first vice-president; E. M. Pollard, University of Nebraska, second vice-president; A. E. Munger, Iowa State University, third vice-president; E. G. Smith, Lafayette, fourth vice-president; B. B. McAlpin, Princeton College, treasurer; J. M. Perkins, Harvard University, secretary; N. J. McGuire, Michigan University, sergeant-at-arms.

Immediately after supper, Marshal Soule with his aides attempted to form the procession in front of the law building. A band playing near by presented a stronger attraction and the major finally gave it up in disgust.

McKinley addressed an audience of 3,000 people in University Hall, going over the points of his pet theory and treating his listeners to just about such a discourse as any of the Republican speakers of this city could give and with about as much effect. He made one good point, which touched the feelings of his audience. He mentioned Cleveland's name and the effect was electrical, a large portion of the audience cheering wildly and it was several minutes before the speaker could again proceed.

The banquet given at the rink was very complete in its arrangement, the only objection that could possibly be found being that an effort was made to crowd a thousand people into a space that would comfortably accommodate not over six hundred. The rink was handsomely decorated, finer than ever before on any similar occasion in this city. The tables heavily laden with a fine spread served by Hangsterfer, ranged through the hall, the speakers table being on a platform on the east side, partially hidden by potted plants. A hundred or so ladies, about an equal number of Democrats, and seven or eight hundred enthusiastic Republican students and citizens made up an audience which would have inspired a dead man to talk.

J. F. Burke made a neat speech introducing J. L. Burnett, the toastmaster who welcomed the guests and then introduced Gen. Alger. The latter gentleman, realizing that he couldn't make a speech, didn't try, only making a few remarks. Hon. J. M. Thurston made the address of the evening in responding to his toast. Hon. J. Sloat Fassett was witty in his remarks, and then in closing made an eloquent non-partisan appeal concerning the duty of citizenship. McKinley, who came near the end of the programme, having delivered at University Hall the address which he had intended for a response to "Protection" and not having another on hand, simply congratulated everybody. The other responses were of two classes, the sort common to the Republican stump speaker and the school-boy orator. The Chequamegon orchestra, the Business Men's Quartette and the Olivet Quartette rendered fine music, which was duly appreciated.

A Political Meeting in University Hall.

For the first time since it was built, University Hall was used on Tuesday evening for a purely partisan gathering. The very appropriate ruling of President Angell, that the hall could not be used for partisan politics was overruled by Regents Cook, Howard and Cocker. The story of how it was done may prove of interest to our readers. But first let it be stated that the use of the hall had previously been refused the Democratic and Prohibition Clubs. On Monday Messrs. Dean, Beal and Scott visited Regent Whitman and asked for the use of the hall. The regent as well as President Angell informed the committee that the hall could not be used for political purposes. The committee then turned their attention to the other regents. Letters were written Howard, Cook and Crocker and Keifer was telegraphed to. The letters tended to deceive the regents named. They were told that Cleveland, Breckenridge and other Democrats were allowed the use of the hall. Nothing was said about the fact that there were not political speeches or political occasions, and no mention was made of Ingalls and other prominent Republicans who had spoken in University Hall under similar circumstances. Political pressure was brought to bear on the Republican regents and their consent obtained.

One of the Republican Citizen's committee said it was agreed by the committee to equalize the matter by having on Democratic meeting if the Democrats wouldn't want too great a partisan!

At the regents meeting Wednesday the matter was brought up and a lively discussion ensued. The regents who had given their consent evidently repented. Regent Keifer said that the board had better own up that it had done wrong, and adopt a rule prohibiting the use of the hall for political purposes. The other Republican regents didn't want to go this far, and finally a resolution was adopted reciting that the use of the hall had been granted to the Republican club and that therefore the Democratic and Prohibition clubs shall be given the use of the hall for one meeting each, and that thereafter no political meetings be held in the hall. The Democratic club may call for its meeting next fall, and, then, there will be weeping in the Republican ranks.

Summer Schools Wanted.

ANN ARBOR, May 19, 1892.
ED. ARGUS.—Since you are an alumnus, cannot you explode a dynamite cartridge full of enthusiasm under the University faculty and cause them to provide for and advertise summer schools immediately, so as to attract to Ann Arbor from July to September 500 to 1,000 teachers, this year, who will come from all sections of the country to prepare themselves in their different specialties,—some in French, some in German, some in the classics, and some in physics, etc., etc. Our boarding houses are empty from July to September, and we can fill some of them, and summer schools, once opened, will, in a few years, attract 2,000 or 3,000 teachers, or as many as there are students in the University now, and help to advertise the University, and benefit both the city and the University. The University needs this to counteract the influence of the Standard Oil College, which is getting so many of the leaders in the famous eastern colleges.

FOR POLITICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.—ONE NIGHT ONLY.

The Board of Regents in their partisanship on Tuesday threw open the doors of University Hall for a republican meeting. Recognizing the hole in which they had placed themselves, they hastened to extend the same privilege to the other political clubs, although last week they refused the Democratic Club.

PROTECTION.

That's What The Great McKinley Tries to Talk About.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS CRAWL IN A HOLE.

A Murderous Assault Yesterday.—Apportionment of Primary School Funds.—"The Damnation of Faust."—Population Statistics.

The much-talked of gathering of the Republican clans under the auspices of the University Republican Club was held Tuesday. It was a success—from a Republican standpoint and if they are satisfied, the Democrats have no reason to complain. The "big guns" of the Republican party were all here, and if there was an occasional mistake in aim or a complete failure to fire on account of dampened powder, it made no difference to the wildly enthusiastic Republicans who so seldom have a chance to express their feelings in this Democratic city. Numerous outside Republicans, of both high and low degree, were on hand to assist the local believers in that faith. McKinley, the chief expounder of protection, was here, with a following of friends from Columbus. H. S. Pingree and John T. Rich, the two rivals for the Republican nomination for governor, met here for the first time since the candidacy of both was announced to the public. Neither lost any time here in advocating his cause and if reports are true each strengthened his following. Other politicians were here hustling for themselves. On the whole the affair was a creditable one. It did not compare with the ovation given Cleveland here recently, nor were any of the responses made at the banquet equal to those made before the Democratic Club on Jefferson's birthday. The promises made by the managers were not all fulfilled. The torch-light procession, "5,000 strong," failed to materialize and the wonderful display of fire works was "away out of sight." Nor were the hundreds of citizens and farmers too well pleased who waited around the court house until after 9 p. m. to hear the great McKinley speak, only to find out at last that the arrangements had been changed too late to give notice and the speech had been delivered at University Hall.

But, in one particular the management degenerated to what had every appearance of a "fake" of which the late P. T. Barnum would have been abashed. McKinley is looked upon as the greatest exponent of the doctrine of protection, and people of every political faith have a great curiosity to hear him speak on this subject. In all the public announcements made the fact was set forth that McKinley would be heard at the banquet. Willing to part with two hard-earned dollars to hear this renowned gentleman, in the neighborhood of a thousand persons were induced to purchase tickets to the banquet, probably not one-third of whom would have given up their cash for the supper and to hear the other speakers. The result was not what was expected. The gentlemen and ladies who had paid their money were permitted to sit and feast their eyes on McKinley from the time the banquet began until it ended, only hearing him speak a few words when his toast was announced, while the public who were not inclined to pay, had the privilege of listening to an address of forty-five minutes duration at the University Hall earlier in the evening.

The organization of the American Republican College League was a success. Delegates were here from nearly every northern, eastern and western state, the colleges represented being forty. The gathering was an enthusiastic one and it was really a great undertaking to gather the Republican students from Maine to California under one banner. Much of the success of the affair was due to Jas. F. Burke, president of the University Republican Club, and a score of the other members of this organization.

The delegates met Tuesday morning at Newberry Hall and effected a temporary organization. In the afternoon the meeting was held at the opera house, where amidst great enthusiasm a platform was adopted, resolutions were passed thanking everybody and praising everything that is Republican and condemning everything Democratic. Harrison's administration was mildly approved and Blaine and his work received an ovation when it was mentioned.

When the election of officers of the newly formed league was reached, the Harvard delegation nominated for president James F. Burke of the Michigan university. One delegation after another swung into line and seconded the nomination and his election was made unanimous. The other officers elected were: J. D. Wallingford, Leland Stanford, first vice-president; E. M. Pollard, University of Nebraska, second vice-president; A. E. Munger, Iowa State University, third vice-president; E. G. Smith, Lafayette, fourth vice-president; B. B. McAlpin, Princeton College, treasurer; J. M. Perkins, Harvard University, secretary; N. J. McGuire, Michigan University, sergeant-at-arms.

Immediately after supper, Marshal Soule with his aides attempted to form the procession in front of the law building. A band playing near by presented a stronger attraction and the major finally gave it up in disgust.

McKinley addressed an audience of 3,000 people in University Hall, going over the points of his pet theory and treating his listeners to just about such a discourse as any of the Republican speakers of this city could give and with about as much effect. He made one good point, which touched the feelings of his audience. He mentioned Cleveland's name and the effect was electrical, a large portion of the audience cheering wildly and it was several minutes before the speaker could again proceed.

The banquet given at the rink was very complete in its arrangement, the only objection that could possibly be found being that an effort was made to crowd a thousand people into a space that would comfortably accommodate not over six hundred. The rink was handsomely decorated, finer than ever before on any similar occasion in this city. The tables heavily laden with a fine spread served by Hangsterfer, ranged through the hall, the speakers table being on a platform on the east side, partially hidden by potted plants. A hundred or so ladies, about an equal number of Democrats, and seven or eight hundred enthusiastic Republican students and citizens made up an audience which would have inspired a dead man to talk.

J. F. Burke made a neat speech introducing J. L. Burnett, the toastmaster who welcomed the guests and then introduced Gen. Alger. The latter gentleman, realizing that he couldn't make a speech, didn't try, only making a few remarks. Hon. J. M. Thurston made the address of the evening in responding to his toast. Hon. J. Sloat Fassett was witty in his remarks, and then in closing made an eloquent non-partisan appeal concerning the duty of citizenship. McKinley, who came near the end of the programme, having delivered at University Hall the address which he had intended for a response to "Protection" and not having another on hand, simply congratulated everybody. The other responses were of two classes, the sort common to the Republican stump speaker and the school-boy orator. The Chequamegon orchestra, the Business Men's Quartette and the Olivet Quartette rendered fine music, which was duly appreciated.

A Political Meeting in University Hall.

For the first time since it was built, University Hall was used on Tuesday evening for a purely partisan gathering. The very appropriate ruling of President Angell, that the hall could not be used for partisan politics was overruled by Regents Cook, Howard and Cocker. The story of how it was done may prove of interest to our readers. But first let it be stated that the use of the hall had previously been refused the Democratic and Prohibition Clubs. On Monday Messrs. Dean, Beal and Scott visited Regent Whitman and asked for the use of the hall. The regent as well as President Angell informed the committee that the hall could not be used for political purposes. The committee then turned their attention to the other regents. Letters were written Howard, Cook and Crocker and Keifer was telegraphed to. The letters tended to deceive the regents named. They were told that Cleveland, Breckenridge and other Democrats were allowed the use of the hall. Nothing was said about the fact that there were not political speeches or political occasions, and no mention was made of Ingalls and other prominent Republicans who had spoken in University Hall under similar circumstances. Political pressure was brought to bear on the Republican regents and their consent obtained.

One of the Republican Citizen's committee said it was agreed by the committee to equalize the matter by having on Democratic meeting if the Democrats wouldn't want too great a partisan!

At the regents meeting Wednesday the matter was brought up and a lively discussion ensued. The regents who had given their consent evidently repented. Regent Keifer said that the board had better own up that it had done wrong, and adopt a rule prohibiting the use of the hall for political purposes. The other Republican regents didn't want to go this far, and finally a resolution was adopted reciting that the use of the hall had been granted to the Republican club and that therefore the Democratic and Prohibition clubs shall be given the use of the hall for one meeting each, and that thereafter no political meetings be held in the hall. The Democratic club may call for its meeting next fall, and, then, there will be weeping in the Republican ranks.

Summer Schools Wanted.

ANN ARBOR, May 19, 1892.
 ED. ARGUS.—Since you are an alumnus, cannot you explode a dynamite cartridge full of enthusiasm under the University faculty and cause them to provide for and advertise summer schools immediately, so as to attract to Ann Arbor from July to September 500 to 1,000 teachers, this year, who will come from all sections of the country to prepare themselves in their different specialties,—some in French, some in German, some in the classics, and some in physics, etc., etc. Our boarding houses are empty from July to September, and we can fill some of them, and summer schools, once opened, will, in a few years, attract 2,000 or 3,000 teachers, or as many as there are students in the University now, and help to advertise the University, and benefit both the city and the University. The University needs this to counteract the influence of the Standard Oil College, which is getting so many of the leaders in the famous eastern colleges.

The Ypsilanti druggists have made a sensible arrangement so that only one store will be open each Sunday, giving the others a chance to take rest.

Will Mathews and Miss Franc Kress, two popular young people of Bridgewater, were married at the residence of the bride's parents Wednesday.

J. H. Kingsley, who owns the electric light works at Manchester, has contracts for 230 commercial lights, besides those that the city will pay for.

Mrs. Mary J. Stocking died at Esccondido, Cal., on March 23rd, of heart failure, aged 66 years. She lived at Tecumseh from 1847 to 1852, when she moved to Van Buren county.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of M. E. church dedication at Whitmore Lake will occur May 15th. Several able speakers have been secured for the occasion, among them Rev. Dr. Morgan, of Howell, Rev. C. T. Allen, of Detroit, Rev. Calkins, of South Lyon.

The next meeting of the S. W. Farmers' Club will be held at the residence of Mr. and Miss Hitchcock, in Sharon, June 3. The programme will include the following: Selection, Mrs. Hulbert; essay, Nettie English; paper, "Is free rural delivery of mail practical and desirable?" by George Rawson, followed by a general discussion.

Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Welch, of Bridgewater, were driving into town and when approaching the east end of the iron bridge at East Manchester, the horse became frightened and backed off the embankment. Mrs. Welch had an arm broken and the carriage was considerably damaged, but Mr. Welch was not injured.—Enterprise.

During February the ladies of Tecumseh gave the leap year party to the old bachelors of that village, which surpassed anything ever before attempted in that vicinity. On May 6th, the young men who had been so well treated felt a little ashamed of themselves and on May 6th they gave a "Return Party" to the ladies in part payment of their debt.

While two masons, Coquillard and Stever, were building a chimney at Ypsilanti, the scaffold upon which they were standing gave way. Coquillard grabbed the top of the chimney and hung on like death until rescued. Stever fell to the roof ten feet below and then bounded off onto the ground, a distance of forty feet more. He was picked up for dead, but in a few minutes was as well as ever with the exception of a sprained ankle.

Harvey Trotter, of Ypsilanti, nearly lost his pair of trotters last week. He drove back of Ainsworth's mill on a steep bank near the river. He blocked the wheels of the wagon so that it wouldn't slide back into the river, but it didn't work. The ground was soft and the wagon and horses gradually went back until they went out of sight in twenty feet of water. The horses and wagon were finally rescued after considerable hard work by the crowd which collected.

'Squire Barr, of Stony Creek, noticed our mention of Erastus Samson's old account book, in which was reported his purchase of a fife, about fifty years ago, for $1.25, and last Sunday he brought in the identical semi-centennial instrument for us to see. It is as good as the day it was bought, and still resounds with enthusiasm at its owner's skillful manipulation. His dental vicissitudes have compelled him to employ a mouth-piece, but the fife shrieks as shrilly now as when young Watson Barr led the column at the big Clay barbecue; and he played again for us the Harrison march with which in 1840 he helped to rouse the enthusiasm that carried into the presidential chair the grandfather of our present Chief Executive.—Ypsilantian.

There are more horses in raining at the Dundee track than at any place in this part of the country, and the directors have decided to hold three matinees, the first to be given June 4th.

At the last meeting of the S. W. Farmers' Club the following officers were elected: Pres., B. G. English; Sec., Mrs. Eva Spafard; Treas., A. Hitchcock; Vice Pres. for Manchester, Wm. Pease; Vice Pres. for Sharon, S. M. Merithew; Vice Pres. for Bridgewater, Jas. Weir; Programme Com., Mr. and Mrs. Tracy, B. F. Matteson.

One of the most exciting scenes this place has witnessed in a long time, occurred Monday forenoon. One E. King, a piano and organ tuner, hailing from near Dundee, and who has been at work here for over a week past, was the victim of a mob. He is a man 38 or 40 years of age apparently, with a tall massive frame, good looking, intelligent, and at the time was boarding with his wife at the home of Wm. Hoover. For one or two days previous it had been hinted around that he was forcing his company upon little girls, giving them candy, etc., and had been detected in acting in a more improper manner with them by prominent ladies of the place. The word was given out in the morning that if he was discovered on the street that day he would be ducked in the pond without delay. No sooner had the sentence been completed than he was discovered near the Western Hotel coming from the depot, whither he had been with some luggage preparatory to getting away from town. The mob fell in behind him, crowding him on towards the pond, whooping and threatening and nearly scaring the fellow to death. The gang seemed to lack for a leader at the critical point on the trestle bridge, and King took advantage of this by taking to his heels, and he was not overtaken until he had reached the Wiechers corner, where he was overhauled, kicked, pulled about, having clothes torn and an umbrella shattered. Officer Seger took him into custody and locked him in the village lock-up. The matter was promptly investigated and as there was a lack of evidence in the charge, the prisoner was released. We have heard since that there was plenty of good evidence, but the ladies did not wish to go into court, etc. On the other hand King and his wife left for Owosso on the evening train, and said before leaving that they would return the latter part of this week or forepart of next and prosecute the mob, village or someone else for damages.—Brighton Argus.

It should be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay street, Sharpsburg, Pa., says that he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. A new time card went into effect last Sunday and the new arrangement does not accommodate us as well as the old one did. Several trains have been taken off.

Quite a large number from here attended the Republican love-feast at Ann Arbor, last Tuesday. The price of wool is getting so low that it requires much and frequent encouragement to keep the faithful in line.

The market has been very steady the past week. It stands at 85 cts. for red or white wheat, and 72 cts. for rye; $1 for barley; 30 cts. for oats; beans, $1.20; eggs, 13 cts.; butter, 18 cts.; arrivals light the first of the week.

The continued wet weather has much delayed plowing and planting, and the farmers are getting very nervous over the prospect for oats and corn. Many pieces of oats that were put in are nearly ruined with the rain, and it is getting late to sow over again.

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY.

Why don't all shoe manufacturers stamp their names on the shoes they make and guarantee them to give proper service? Simply because they cheapen them by using Shoddy and Inferior Stock to save a few cents per pair, leaving the consumer to take chances of their breaking after a short time.

For over a Quarter of a Century we have been devoting our energies to making durable and artistic footwear at reasonable prices, and have a standing offer of a 1,000.00 DOLLARS REWARD! for shoddy or spurious leather of any kind found in any shoe of our manufacture. Ten to twenty-five cents per pair is a small amount to save in purchasing a pair of shoes and take chances of poor service, and perhaps spoil your feet by ill-fitting, ungainly appearing shoes, which will be a source of vexation instead of pride.

Nothing Adds More to the Appearance of a Well-Dressed Person than a well-made, properly-fitted shoe, for, as Thackeray well said, "Poverty first attacks one at the extremities." Since the inception of our firm in 1868, our senior partner, has had supervision of the entire business, and from a small start it has increased to one of the largest in the West, our sales now exceeding all goods of our own manufacture. This has been accomplished by steadfastness of purpose, honesty in all dealings and indomitable energy, and has resulted in great benefit to the Whole State of Michigan.

H. S. PINGREE,

We know of many persons who now have attained their majority and have never worn any shoes but ours. If you are not using them, don't fail to buy a pair, and have the satisfaction of wearing

A SHOE WITH A RECORD!

Made for Ladies, Gents, Boys and Girls. All styles, fine and medium grades. We are well equipped in all departments. Fourteen different styles of lasts for both Ladies' and Gents' Shoes.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Grand Opera House, Ann Arbor, Monday, May 23.

James Reilly is not a star very well known in this city, but he is undoubtedly destined to rank well up with those comedians who make a specialty of dialect impersonations. At H. R. Jacob's theater last night he appeared in "The Broommaker," a play especially written to show off his accomplishments. He gave evident satisfaction to a good sized audience and proved himself to be a pleasing singer and a graceful dancer. His songs were new and pretty, and the play, if not highly original, was exciting and picturesque.—The New York Evening Sun, May 19, '91.

Forbidden the Jail.

Ex-County Clerk Howlett is in luck. He has been forbidden to enter the county jail under any circumstances, and if he were charged with a crime it is doubtful whether the sheriff would take him in custody. The reason for this is that it was through Mr Howlett that Sheriff Dwyer's pride was most fearfully hurt.

Mr. Howlett was standing in the jail corridor, talking in his usual quiet manner, the other day. A prisoner, a lady neither homely nor old, kept her eyes on the handsome ex-county clerk, and finally calling the sheriff over to her, she said: "Is that your son? I would like to meet him." The way the sheriff hustled Mr. Howlett out of there was a caution, and Dwyer will never get over it—to have anyone imagine that he was old enough to be Howlett's father.
