How Ann Arbor Real Estate Has Boomed.
The School of Music's Good Work.
An Uneventful Week.

A $10,000 Bequest.

Harris Hall has been given another generous bequest. Mrs. Catherine B. Davis, who recently died in Detroit, left $10,000 to five trustees, the income of which should be perpetually "expended for the maintenance of Bishop Harris Hall at Ann Arbor." Besides this bequest Mrs. Davis left $20,000 and a house to the Episcopal church. The bequest to Harris Hall will be particularly useful.

A Coasting Accident.

Last Tuesday evening three boys on a sled coasting down North State street, struck a post at the turn in the street above the depot. The sled was going at a rapid rate and the boy who was steering was unable to manage it. Harry Brown, son of H. J. Brown, who was the middle boy on the sled, and so unable to get his leg out of the way of the post, had it broken below the knee. The boys succeeded in getting him home, where he is doing as well as could be expected. The two other boys escaped with slight scratches.

Accident on State Street Hill.

J. P. Kearney, son of T. P. Kearney, of Northfield, a clerk in the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank, was coasting Tuesday evening on the State street hill, with a number of companions, when the person in charge of the steering apparatus lost his grip, and the bobs striking a post at the side of the road, threw young Kearney off, badly fracturing and splintering the bones of his right leg in two places. At first it was thought that he would lose the member, but at present he is mending rapidly, and the indications are that he will entirely recover.

University School of Music.

The work done by the faculty of the University School of Music has been of such a nature as to commend it to our citizens. The faculty concerts have been remarkably fine, the pupils' recitals have been crowded with interested listeners, and the pupils are interested and enthusiastic. It is desirable that those intending to study in the school should register this week in order that the lesson hours may be adjusted without conflicting with the work of the school. A fine course of Chamber Concerts will be given the second semester. These concerts, in connection with the Choral Union series, the Faculty Concerts and the Pupils' Recitals, will give the music lovers of Ann Arbor an opportunity to enjoy a feast of music.

Death of Hon. E. P. Harper.

Hon. Egbert P. Harper died at his home in Saline last Friday. He had been ill, but on Friday morning had so far recovered as to ask for a hearty breakfast. When it was taken to him, he was found dead. Mr. Harper was born in Wayne county, New York, October 24, 1832, and had resided in Michigan for nearly sixty years. For fifteen years he was supervisor of Lodi township. He served two terms in the state legislature in 1885 and 1887. He owned a fine farm in Lodi, and was an excellent farmer. Last year he built a residence in Saline village and removed to it just a few months before his death. He was a fine man, level headed, courteous in his manner, kind to everyone, a good Democrat, and had many friends throughout the county.

The Poetry of Motion.

Despite the inclement weather of last evening, the Grand opera house was well filled when the curtain rose on the first presentation of "Living Whist," given by the pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Granger under Mr. Granger's direction. To say that the large assemblage was pleased with the presentation is but doing scant justice to Mr. Granger.

It is impossible to pick out those who did well without mentioning each one concerned, but the parts of Master Bradley F. Granger and the four jacks were particularly good.

The many Varsity students, participating did themselves credit. Probably the gorgeousness of the presentation was expected by but few, and certainly the complete success on its first appearance was an agreeable surprise to all.

The players appeared in full dress; the "cards" in attractive costumes becoming their separate parts, and with easy grace they played a game of whist, the movements of the living, breathing cards being regulated by graceful and pleasing dances. "La Serenata," a combination of movements originated by Mr. Ross Granger, was a credit to that gentleman's artistic taste.

Value of Ann Arbor Real Estate in 1890.

The Dexter News of last week contained a sketch of Chauncey S. Goodrich, who settled in Dexter in 1827, written by his son, Morrell Goodrich, in the course of which the following interesting reminiscence is given:

"He was the second supervisor of the town of Dexter, in 1830. In the fall of that year he purchased a house and lot of Greely Cook, of Ann Arbor, removing there in 1831, and in April he purchased of Esq. Abbott, of Detroit, the block on the east side of the court house. Moses Boylan owned one lot in the block at the time. The price paid for the block was $1,000. He had a race with James Kingsley and Daniel Brown, on ponies, to Detroit to purchase the place. There was a frame house on the premises. It contained eight rooms and a family lived in each room. The house now stands on the same block and is owned and occupied by his daughter, Sarah Goodrich. In 1831-2 there was an addition built on the main building. When this was completed he put out a shingle for a sign and opened a hotel which he kept for twenty-five years, and here he resided until his death.

The One-fifth Mill Tax.

The following is from the Detroit Free Press of Tuesday morning:

One of the measures before the present legislature that should receive its favorable action, is that of allowing a fifth-of-a-mill tax as a fixed and constant source of revenue to the University of Michigan. That great institution of learning is not only the pride of our state, but gives it credit throughout the civilized world as maintaining one of the most advanced and prosperous seats of learning. A niggardly policy towards such a creation of the state is shortsighted and unworthy a rich, progressive commonwealth like Michigan. The University should not be compelled to appear at each session of the legislature and labor for an appropriation such as will enable it to maintain its high standing and meet the imperative obligations thereby incurred. It is too often confused with the less meritorious applicants for state generosity, and made the victim of an economical policy from which it should be exempt. It belongs to the state and should be one of her most cherished possessions. A determinate sum should annually be placed at its disposal so that improvements in any desirable direction can be made with a definite knowledge of funds available for meeting the attendant expense. This much is due the character and dignity of such an institution. Treat the University as it deserves and relieve it from the embarrassing necessity of regularly appearing before the legislature as an applicant for financial aid.

Kentucky's Brilliant Son.

Henry Watterson, who lectures in University Hall, tomorrow night, has had a varied and distinguished career. He was born in Washington, D. C.,

HENRY WATTERSON.

fifty-three years and six days ago. Because of defective eye-sight his education was chiefly intrusted to private tutors. He began his journalistic career in Washington at the age of 18.

During "the late unpleasantness," from '61 to '65, he served as staff officer and chief of scouts in the Confederate army. Soon after the war he took up his residence in Louisville, Ky. In 1868, in connection with W. N. Haldeeman, he founded the "Louisville Courier-Journal," of which he has ever since been the editor. The only public office he ever held was that of congressman, from August, '76, to March, '77, being chosen to fill a vacancy.

He has represented Kentucky in five national democratic conventions, presiding over the St. Louis convention in '76. He served as chairman of the platform committee in the Cincinnati convention 1880. He also took a conspicuous part in the Chicago convention of 1892, where his quick perception and far-sightedness at a critical moment carried an amendment to the platform which contributed materially to the party's success.

Mr. Watterson is a most graphic and entertaining writer. As a word-painter he is equalled by but one American—Ingersoll. As a lecturer, he is intellectual, polished, fluent. His style resembles that of Wendell Phillips. Among his notable addresses there are three which have attracted national attention: one delivered at the late banquet of the Army of the Tennessee, another at the unveiling of the Grant statue in Chicago, and the dedicatory oration delivered at the dedication of the World's Fair.

His famous lecture, "Money and Morals," which he will deliver here tomorrow evening, made a great and instantaneous hit on its original production, and has since grown steadily in public favor.

Briggs to Lecture.

The case of Rev. Dr. Charles Briggs has been the most remarkable of its kind in the history of the Presbyterian church and has attracted the attention of the whole religious world. On Jan. 20, 1891, Dr. Briggs delivered an address upon the occasion of his induction into the Edward Robinson chair of Biblical theology at the Union seminary. In which he declared that there were three great fountains of divine authority—the Bible, the church and reason. Through anyone of these agencies a man became a Christian. Many persons had found the divine authority through the church. The essential thing is to find God, and if God is found without the mediation of the church and the Bible the church and the Bible are means, not ends; they are avenues to God, but not God.

REV. DR. CHARLES BRIGGS.

The Bible as a book is paper, print and binding and nothing more. There is nothing divine in its text, its letters, words or clauses. The divine authority is not in the style or the words, but in the conception. Men have no right to drive persons away from the Bible by the theory of its absolute correctness. The Bible itself nowhere makes this claim.

"It has," said he, "maintained its authority with the best scholars of our time, who, with open mind, have been willing to recognize any error that might be pointed by historical criticism, for all of these errors are in the circumstantial and not in the essentials; they are in the human setting and not in the precious jewel itself."

Dr. Briggs set forth firmly the idea of progressive sanctification after death. He held that judgment immediately after death was a bugbear. It makes death a terror to the best of men. The idea of a magical transformation in the dying hour should be banished from the world. It makes the experience of human life count as nothing. "Renouncing them as hurtful, un-Christian errors," he went on, "we look with hope and joy for the continuation of the processes of grace and the wonders of redemption in the company of the blessed, to which the faithful are all hastening."

Charges were preferred against Dr. Briggs in the presbytery of New York, but the case was dismissed upon argument of the defense by a vote 94 to 39. An appeal was taken to the general assembly, and from there the case was remanded back to the New York presbytery for trial. It is this trial that Dr. Briggs has so recently been engaged in winning every point.

The Inland League have induced Dr. Briggs to come to Ann Arbor to lecture before them, and next Tuesday evening, Feb. 14, in the Presbyterian church, he will speak on the subject of "Works of the Imagination in the Holy Scripture." Pecuniary arrangements necessitate would be listeners procuring a season ticket to the Inland League entertainments of which some fourteen are yet to come, but the charge is only a dollar and holders of season tickets are permitted to buy one extra admission for 75 cents.

The Horticulturists.

Pruning was the topic at the February meeting of the Horticultural Society. B. G. Buell, whose experience has been mainly with the apple, had found large limbs to heal over best when removed in July. The application of paint, wax, etc., to cut surfaces to prevent rot had proved of little benefit, as such coatings nearly always became loose in a year or two. He had observed a tendency in the apple to be short-lived in this climate, and recommended heavy pruning when the trees begin to fail to get all the new growth possible. Not an orchard in twenty pays for keeping after 25 or 30 years of age. Such orchards should be removed and new trees set in fresh soil. Jacob Ganzhorn had found that heavy pruning at one time of large bearing trees would put them out of bearing for a few years. W. L. Stotts, of Canada, who is visiting friends in the city, stated that if large roots were cut off at time of planting, the trees would become black-hearted. Peach trees should branch not over two feet from the ground where the winters are severe. Pruning is most successfully done in summer, soon after the blossoms fall. If pruned in winter the limbs die back. Bearing pear trees should have the top kept open so that the sun may reach all the fruit. E. Baur cuts back his standard pear when young, to cause them to form low heads to protect the trunk, but afterwards he prunes very little. He maintains fertility, by mulching. W. F. Bird mentioned the experience of an Ohio fruit grower, who always pruned his bearing pear trees very heavily. The trees were dwarfs, rooted from the pear. They bore well and did not blight. A. A. Crozier recommended the cutting back of old, feeble peach trees severely. J. C. Shenck cut back every year all new growths over one foot in length. He preferred to head his peach trees high, so as to work under them with the two-horse plow and cultivator. Trees in wet soil, even on high ground, are liable to die out. Such localities should be under-drained, but a partial remedy is banking the trees with soil in the fall when the ground is dry. If done while the ground is wet, the soil freezes to the tree and they winter-kill, the same as if not banked. Mrs. Whiting inquired if mulching might be employed as a substitute for cultivation. Mr. Ganzhorn replied that the mulch would attract mice, which might do damage, especially to young trees. Mr. Stotts said he had succeeded in killing off the mice with poisoned grain. Mr. Crozier said that mulch was a good substitute for cultivation, and perhaps better in some cases, if enough of it could be obtained.

In regard to the pruning of raspberries and blackberries the general testimony was in favor of removing the old wood as soon as possible after fruiting. Blackberries and black caps should be nipped back in the growing season and the laterals shortened during winter or early spring. Mr. Ganzhorn thought the Snyder blackberry should not be cut back as much as was usually done, that if headed back at all it should be left four or five feet high. The Lawton needed to be headed low so as to produce its fruit upon the laterals, but Snyder did better fruited on the main cane. In all cases of summer pruning care should be taken to begin in time so as to avoid the necessity of removing much foliage, going over the field from time to time as the canes attained the proper size. If the growing canes get too much start so that a foot or more of the top has to be removed in order to bring them to the proper height they had better not be pruned at all, as excessive summer pruning weakens the plants. Mr. Ganzhorn mentioned a new seedling blackberry found on his place, which was larger than the Snyder, ripened late, and continued in bearing until frost set in. Mr. Shenck, who grows Outbears, largely thins out the weak canes after fruiting, at the time of removing the old wood. He does not nip the canes in summer, for if laterals are formed they are liable to kill back to the main cane. He heads back the fruiting canes in early spring to 3½ feet, but will try heading back in late autumn hereafter, to prevent the canes from being broken by winter storms.

In regard to pruning the grape, Mr. Ganzhorn stated that he pruned longer than formerly, as he had become convinced that our rampant growers needed more wood in order to maintain their vigor. He mentioned in particular the Bacchus and White Ann Arbor, which formerly were unproductive with him, but which now fruited abundantly since he had adopted a more liberal system of pruning. Mr. Farnum, who has vineyards on Bath Island, in Lake Erie, agreed with Mr. Ganzhorn, and said he would leave plenty of wood but thin the fruit. The Delaware in particular required this treatment and was likely to be poor in quality if allowed to bear a full crop. W. F. Bird preferred early spring as the time for pruning, and had seen vineyards enfeebled by fall pruning, unless the vines were covered with earth. In severe winters like the present 20 per cent of the canes killed back more or less when pruned in the fall if left upon the trellis.

The executive committee appointed the following scientific officers for the society: Botanist, Prof. V. M. Spalding; ornithologist, Dr. J. B. Steere; Hygienist, Dr. V. C. Vaughan.

The March meeting will be devoted as in previous years, to the subject of road making.

OUR LOUNGER.

Pays Some Attention to the Prevalent Coasting Fever.

THE COMPLAINTS OF A CHRONIC GRUMBLER.

City Ordinances Being Revised At Last. Good Men Should be Named for City Offices.—Why is it Difficult to Get Candidates.

Our Lounger has been invited to assist in shoving the street cars through the ice which incumbered their tracks the past week. The invitation came from one who said that our Lounger could do much more good that way than he could by grumbling as he did last week. People who talk like that forget that it is an unalienable right of American citizens to grumble. Our Lounger is a grumbler by nature and if he couldn't grumble he would feel that he was deprived of one of his dearest rights.

Our Lounger has heard considerable complaint about coasting. This is to be expected at this time of the year, especially when the coasting is so good as it is now. Some of the complaints, however, are in loud and profane talk especially on Sunday evenings, kept up till after midnight. This disreputable conduct, for it cannot be termed less, calls for a severe reprimand at least of those who indulge in it.

A week or two ago two boys were coasting on the sidewalk on Miller avenue. Two ladies were going down the sidewalk. The boys came down full tilt calling "Hailey, hailey," and ran into one of the ladies, who fell back on the sled. When reprimanded one of the young scamps said: "Why, I called hailey, hailey, and she didn't hailey and so I ran into her."

The long coast down the Broadway hill often makes it dangerous for teams going out of the city, especially as the sleds now coast with such rapidity.

The two accidents on the State street hill, Wednesday evening, will probably make the boys much more chary of coasting on that dangerous hill. Considerable danger is also incurred by coasting across the Ann Arbor railroad tracks.

Some of the residents of the city complain that after they have thoroughly removed the snow from the sidewalks, the boys have carted the snow back on for the purpose of making a track for coasting. And they have been pretty hot about it, too.

Our Lounger has been informed that very satisfactory progress has been made on the revision of the ordinances of the city. The council will take an evening to the consideration of new ordinances next Monday, and it looks as if soon the people could find out just what the ordinances of the city are.

There is a great dearth of candidates for city offices this spring. It behooves the leaders of the two great political parties to hunt up their best men and insist that they take the nominations. It is of more real importance to the people of Ann Arbor that they have a good mayor than that the state should elect a good United States senator. It is a little strange that although you can find plenty of good men willing to take a place on the board of public works, an arduous place, you could not induce these same men to run for mayor. Is it because there is too little honor or emoluments in the office to pay for testing their personal popularity with their fellowmen?

This plan is very practicable and seems to meet the general approval of the class.

Colorless, Emaciated, Helpless A Complete Cure by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is from Mr. D. M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and one of the most respected citizens of Otsego Co., N. Y.

"Fourteen years ago I had an attack of the gravel, and have since been troubled with my Liver and Kidneys gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I feel well and am well. All who know me marvel to see me so well." D. M. JORDAN.

Parsons & Hobart, of Grass Lake, shipped a carload of lambs to Buffalo, N. Y., last week. In Ann Arbor the butchers think themselves in luck if each of them can procure two three lambs a week, and have to sell them at a figure away beyond the reach of anybody classed below the limit of quarter-millionaires.

Mrs. Robert Boyd died at her home in Lima on the 28th of January. She was born in Seneca county, N. Y., in 1837, and came to Lima in 1851. She was married to Mr. Boyd in 1854. She was highly esteemed in the community in which she lived, and was a true friend and helper in time of sickness or trouble among her neighbors.

No more cases of small-pox are reported from Pittsfield, and Saline will get out of it altogether. Mr. Parsons, of Saline, writes us that the girl who came down with the disease in the German school, was taken home before her condition could have transmitted it to others. There were about thirty pupils in the German school.—Milan Leader.

C. W. Sanford has furnished us some figures concerning his last year's business from which we find there was made at his creamery 116,000 pounds of butter, which was sold to Buffalo parties; 8,252 gallons of buttermilk were sold in Adrian and Jackson. He uses the gathered cream system and is now making 2,000 pounds of butter per week. What creamery can make a better showing for a town of this size? He also bought and sold 25,000 dozen eggs.—Manchester Enterprise.

Some scallawag is getting himself into trouble by meddling with freight trains standing in the Wabash yards. Several times lately, when trains attempted to pull out, it was found that the coupling pins had been removed in two or three places. Only a few days ago a freight received orders to run to Willis ahead of a passenger train, but were so delayed by this nuisance that they had to back up on a side track and let the passenger out ahead, thus losing at least an hour's time.—Milan Leader.

Charles Kent is at the Detroit house of correction serving out a ninety days sentence dealt out to him in Justice Chestnut's court, Saturday. According to his own admission, Kent is the thief who has been playing hob with the poultry roosts of this vicinity for some time. He sold $47 worth of poultry at Reading a few days ago, including eight turkeys which were identified as the property of Wm. Norris. This led to his arrest and plea of guilty under Mr. Norris's complaint.—Hillsdale Democrat.

For many years the farmers of Bridgewater have felt the need of a good road running west to this village from the road running past the old VanHorn farm, but have been unable until now to get the right of way through. They were compelled to travel about four miles when if a road was cut through to the Gump farm in Solesville it would be less than two miles to town. Now the road has been surveyed and will be opened.—Manchester Enterprise.

The Ann Arbor Argus thinks that Manchester would be benefited by a railroad running half way between this village and Clinton. We can't see it that way. Manchester would be even better off if the Ypsi branch had never been built, but the road was to be built and was to have gone by the way of Clinton. We knew that would kill us sure, so we went to work and got them to build it through here. If another road be built south of the village, a new station will be established which will make a competing market and shipping point, and a percentage of the business of this village will be delivered to it.—Manchester Enterprise.

Perhaps some of our Ann Arbor and Detroit exchanges thought they were doing our village a kindness last week, in firing into the small-pox scare as they did, but we fail to see it in that way. The disease itself is bad enough without making it any worse than it really is, by exaggerating the matter as did the Evening News and two of our county brothers, who state emphatically that there were fourteen cases, all very bad, when at that time there were but three and one of those slight, and as for (as is stated) their being near Saline, we think we are about as far from the death-stricken hovel as is our sister city, which, only last Saturday, permitted one of the family where the disease is raging to go to and around her streets and stores and no one offered any objections. Neither did the now dead girl come down with the disease in our school, as was stated.—Saline Observer.

Justice Owen's court was engaged last week Tuesday in the trial of a suit between Frank Buck and Adelbert Libby, Milan township parties. The suit was brought to collect pay for work performed upon an uncompleted contract. Buck contracted to erect a barn for Libby for a certain price; when the frame was in readiness for raising, a hitch between the parties was encountered, Buck claiming that it was Libby's duty to provide the necessary help to raise the frame, according to usual custom. On that rock the parties split and Buck abandoned the job. On the trial it was shown by several builders that the usual custom was that owners and not the contractors provided the necessary help to raise the frame, and the justice awarded Buck judgment for the amount of his claim for portion of work performed, together with $10 costs. It is said that the case will be appealed to the circuit court.—Dundee Reporter.

Hon. Geo. A. Smith, who has been ill for a long time at his home in Somerset, died Sunday afternoon, January 29. Mr. Smith was born in Danbury, Conn., March 8, 1825. At an early age he removed with his parents to this county, where he has since lived and where the family are well and favorably known. Deceased was one of the most extensive farmers and stock raisers of this section, owning over 1,000 acres of land, mostly under cultivation. He operated a grain elevator at Somerset, and bought largely of general produce. He was also interested in a store of general merchandise and a flouring mill at Addison. For twenty years he was postmaster at Somerset. At one time he was president of the county agricultural society. In 1863 he was elected to the Michigan legislature by the republicans of this district, and in later years he served two terms as state senator for the district comprising Hillsdale and Branch counties. Mr. Smith had twice been married and was the father of eight children.—Hillsdale Democrat.

Many farmers are foolishly cutting away all the timber on their farms. They justify the act on the ground that it is cheaper to burn coal than wood and that a very few acres of woodland when cleared and put into cultivation will produce crops which will sell for more than enough to supply them with fuel. This may be all very true now but it will not always remain so and besides they ought to take a deeper and broader view of the subject. A farmer needs timber for fencing and for hundreds of different purposes about the place. A good piece of timber adds greatly to the general attractiveness and value of every farm, and in the course of a few years, farmers who have cut away all their timber will find themselves at the mercy of the trusts, combines; and grasping monopolies of coal mine owners and dealers and wire fence manufacturers they will wish they had kept some of their land in timber. The cutting away of all the timber gives the wind a greater sweep and has a great influence on the climate, producing drought and irregular rainfall, and all sorts of sudden and extreme changes in the weather. There is no telling to what extent the evil will be to the people of this state when the timber is all gone.

A woman's aim is to look her best—but she'll never reach it without perfect health. For perfect health, take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. All the functional irregularities and weaknesses that make life miserable to women, are cured by it. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nerve—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. For ulcerations, displacements, bearing-down sensations, menstrual discharges—everything that's known as a "female complaint"—it's a positive remedy.

It's the only one that's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case. It costs you nothing, unless it helps you. You can afford to try it, on these terms. Can you afford to neglect it? A remedy that does cure is one that can be guaranteed. That's what the proprietors of "Favorite Prescription" think. If it fails to benefit or cure, in any case for which it's recommended, they'll refund the money. No other medicine for women is sold on such liberal terms.

It is Strange That people suffering from Piles will endure them for years or submit to dangerous, painful, cruel, and expensive surgical operations, when all the time there is a painless, certain lasting cure, which gives instant relief and costs but a trifle. It is called the Pyramid Pile Cure and can be found at all drug stores. Any druggist will get it for you if you ask him.

It has been truly said that half the world does not know how the other half lives. Comparatively few of us have perfect health, owing to the impure condition of our blood. But we rub along from day to day, with scarcely a thought, unless forced to our attention, of the thousands all about us who are suffering from scrofula, salt rheum and other serious blood disorders, and whose agonies can only be imagined. The marked success of Hood's Sarsaparilla for these troubles, as shown in our advertising columns frequently, certainly seems to justify urging the use of this excellent medicine by all who know that their blood is disordered. Every claim in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully backed up by what the medicine has done and is still doing, and when its proprietors urge its merits and its use upon all who suffer from impure blood, in great or small degrees, they certainly mean to include you.

THE ARGUS appears this week under slightly changed management. It is now issued by the firm of Beakes & Curtiss. The senior member of the firm has been the editor of the Argus for the past six and a half years. The junior member of the firm is Mr. S. W. Curtiss, recently of Monroe, and a graduate of the literary department of the University. With two hands at the helm, we hope to be able greatly to improve the ARGUS, increase its circulation and also largely to build up our job printing department. The editorial policy of the paper will not be changed. This week, we fear, the paper will not appear up to the mark, owing to the time necessarily taken up in arranging the transfer of the business to the new firm.

Grand Opera House, Tuesday Eve., January 14, 1893.

Aiden Benedict's Fabio Romani, a dramatization of the "Vendetta," was produced last night at the Grand Opera House. A large audience assisted on the occasion, and showed its appreciation by frequent and hearty applause.

The play is essentially sombre in tone, but is relieved by comedy. The situations are thrilling, and the motive strong and dramatic. The title role was played by Walter Lawrence, in an earnest and forcible manner. The false wife, Nina, was well played by Miss Frances Field. The scenic effects, particularly an eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, were very pretentious. The Spanish skirt dance by Szerina was repeatedly encored.—New York Evening Sun.

"Struck the Golden Mean" As a Blood Purifier.

The Detroit Free Press says: "Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, prepared by The Charles Wright Medicine Company, of this city, has struck the Golden Mean, in the treatment of all blood diseases, and its success is an evidence that an honest, pure and valuable medicine is not incapable of attracting the attention of every family. There seems to be but one opinion as to its merit as a family medicine."

This is the real secret of the success of this wonderful remedy. Its perfect and speedy action in removing all impure and poisonous matter from blood. No home should be without it, as a thorough and effectual blood purifier for young and old. For sale by all druggists.

AN HONORED NAME.

Some Surprising Statements by the Bearer.

A Well-Known Man Whose Son is a Brilliant College Professor.

Says Just the Right Thing and at Just the Right Time.

A name honored wherever spoken.

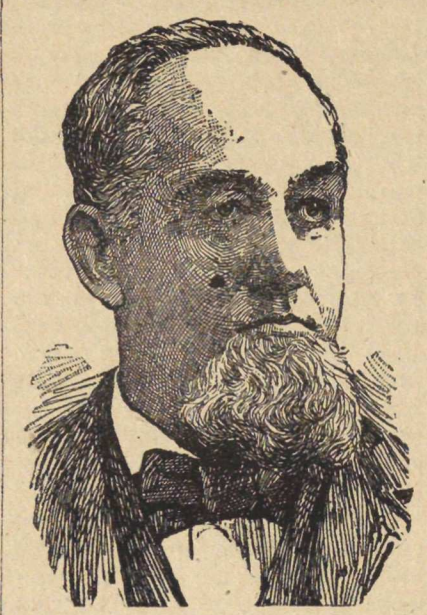

Such is the high reputation of the Hon. Walter S. Lovejoy of Tapleville, Mass., who has lately been brought so prominently before our people.

Mr. Lovejoy is of an illustrious family. Indeed, the brilliant and scholarly Prof. Lovejoy of Macon (Ga.) University is no other than his son. The professor, in passing through town, spoke feelingly of his father's recent serious illness, and became enthusiastic concerning his restoration to health. He stated that it was perfectly wonderful to see the change in his father's health since he took the well-known medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

And the Hon. Mr. Lovejoy himself was found overflowing with gratitude toward this great remedy.

"I was very low indeed," he said, "I suffered from vertigo and heart disease. I had frequent attacks of faintness and failure of heart action. These attacks were sometimes so bad that it was with great difficulty the heart could be restored to its natural action."

"I was totally incapacitated for either mental or physical labor. I have been a sufferer from these complaints more than twenty-five years, and I have used many medicines, but have never found a medicine from which I have derived so much substantial benefit as I have from Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"If this should meet the eye of any one who is a sufferer from these or any other nervous disease I earnestly recommend a trial of this wonderful remedy."

We emphatically indorse Mr. Lovejoy's advice. The sick and suffering should by all means use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for if the disease is curable this truly remarkable medicine will certainly cure. It is indeed the great health and strength giver. All druggists keep it for $1.

A discovery so great among purely vegetable medicines and prepared by the eminent specialist in venous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, carries the indorsement and recommendation of physicians, which is in itself a guarantee of its marvellous curative powers. The doctor, too, can be consulted by anyone free of charge, personally or by letter.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is a new discovery for the prompt, permanent cure of Piles in every form. Every druggist has it.

There will be a meeting at the Church of Christ next Sunday night, under the auspices of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. The C. W. B. M. built the Church of Christ in Ann Arbor, using a bequest given by Mrs. Sarah Hawley Scott, of Detroit. The members of the C. W. B. M. now propose to assist the Disciples of Michigan in endowing some professorships at Ann Arbor as the nucleus of a theological school. The last national convention of the Disciples of Christ endorsed this enterprise and recommended an educational meeting to be observed in the churches of the Disciple denomination the 2d week in February, to raise a special fund to inaugurate the work. The principal object of the meeting at the Church of Christ, Sunday night, will be to secure a contribution large enough to manifest a deep interest in the recommendation of the national board. Rev. J. H. Garrison, editor of the Christian Evangelist, St. Louis, Mo., has promised to be present if possible.

NEVER A FAILURE. The Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota has never had a failure of crops.

It produced 30,000,000 bushels of wheat besides other cereals in 1890.

Farms can be had on the crop plan, or long time cash payments.

It is not an uncommon thing to pay for a farm from the proceeds of one crop.

It has all of the advantages of an old country in the shape of school, church, market, postal & railway facilities and all the chances of a new country in the way of cheap lands, rich soil, and increase in values.

It is one of the most fertile and promising regions in America not yet fully occupied.

In the rush to the far west, however, this rich valley has been over-looked.

It has room for a million more people. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn for particulars. Publications sent free.

A DOCTOR'S EVIDENCE.

The Rationale of the Cure of Chronic Catarrh.

How Permanent Cures are Made.

The order in which the symptoms of chronic catarrh occur are nearly always as follows: A cold, which hangs on longer than usual; a sensitiveness of the air passages by which one catches cold easily; a continual settled cold in head, throat or chest; discharges growing thicker and more offensive; loss of flesh, despondency, loss of appetite, headache or cough, and general lassitude.

This is exactly what Pe-ru-na will do in the cure of chronic catarrh: It first invigorates the system, increases the appetite, then the patient begins to gain flesh, hope takes the place of despondency, and all the mischievous symptoms which the chronic catarrh has produced will disappear one by one in the reverse order of their appearance.

A complete treatise on chronic catarrh in all its stages and complications will be sent free, on application by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

"THE STORE"

Last week closed another year of the business career of "The Store." Another year of business experience has been added to our life, the result has been reduced to figures and the measure of our success is known to us.

So much has been said among business classes regarding the methods we have adopted for extending our business; so many predictions have been made that "The Store" cannot keep on selling goods as they have for the past couple of years; we consider this a proper occasion to outline, as far as possible, our policy for the coming year.

By many it has been considered impossible for any house to do business on the low margin of profit we have placed on our merchandise and that having been fully convinced of the futility of our efforts we would relapse into the old style of doing business, content to accept small sales and large profits instead of the reverse.

It will not be unwelcome news to the purchasing public when we say that instead of making an advance on the price of our goods as prophesied, we will, whenever possible, make further concessions to the trade. Being in a position to take every advantage of the market, snapping up bargains whenever they appear, we will let no occasion pass to increase our trade by offering inducements impossible to obtain elsewhere.

The recent advance in cotton goods has found our store room full of all kinds of domestics and the old prices prevail while they last.

It is rather early to talk about New Spring Dress Goods, but an opportunity came to us in the way of a concern who wanted spot cash and we purchased several large lines at less than cost of importation. These goods are now on sale, among which, as of special value, we call attention to a line of Crepons, in all shades and colors; they are a fine all wool fabric and have been sold for 75 cents to $1.00. Our price on them is 50 cents.

Another bargain we are offering is a line of Diagonal Whip Cords, such as you have been paying 75 cents for; we are going to sell them at 50 cents.

A large assortment of fancy novelties in stripes and mixtures entirely new in color and design, very fine and all wool, these also go into our 50 cent bargains.

Gilbert's Sateens are guaranteed not to fade in the sun, wear or washing. We have an immense line of these in the plain, black and colored Brocades, Ondine, Satin Stripes, Satin Striped Challies, India Repts, etc., prices 11 cents to 35 cents. Gingham, Printed Muslin, Satin Glorias, in the newest spring styles.

We have also placed on sale this week a new line of over 500 pieces Hamburg Suisse Cambric and Nainsook Embroidery. The designs this spring are very pretty and you cannot fail to be pleased with them.
