Courier. writes to Mr. Hiscock, "he is surely the smoothest man that has undertaken to make hay in Iowa." In his letter Mr. Richards enclosed newspaper slips from which the following is condensed:

Feb. 21, the fellow was in Waterloo, Ia., and registered at the Logan House as "C. E. Hiscock, Ann Arbor Michigan." He hunted up a real estate firm and said the purpose of his visit was to look up a location for the Michigan Furniture Co., of Ann Arbor. The president of the company had been in Waterloo, and reported that it was the most desirable place he had been able to find. The company proposed giving employment to 185 men. He then called at the First National Bank and tried to get the money on a certified check for $350 drawn by himself on the Ann Arbor Savings Bank and certified to by the bank. He said he wanted to use a little money to bind the bargain on some property he had purchased.

When Cashier Eighmey said he must be identified he was so pleasant and gentlemanly that the bank people were almost afraid that they might hurt his feelings. He said he would be in the next morning and be identio take him to Hudson. The next day years."

he tried to pass forged checks in Des Moines, succeeding in getting about $250. The name he used there was John Miller. Later he became musical and worked off a certified check of $450 endorsed by the Des Moines Piano Co.

Death of Rev. Dr. Studley.

The sad news of the death of Rev. Dr. Studley, formerly pastor of the M. E. church of this city, reached at his home in Evanston, III., on Sun- tion. day evening, of pneumonia. The remains were taken to Detroit for burial in Woodmere cemetery.

The Rev. Dr. William Sprague Studley was born in Boston, Mass., May 26, 1823. He received his early education at the public schools in that city, and when old enough, entered a printing office, where he served his time and became thoroughly conversant with all branches of the printer's art. Partly with the money that he earned at his trade, and partly by what he inherited from his father, he possessed such means as decided him to give up the printing business and acquire a thorough education. He entered the preparatory school at Wilbranham, Mass., where he took the regular course. From there he went to Middleton, Ct., and studied for four years at the Wesleyan University, where he was duly graduated, having won distinction in all his branches

The first experience Mr. Studley had in preaching was while he was still a student at Middleton University. There was a temporary vacancy in St. Paul's church, Lowell, Mass., and he was asked by the president to supply the pulpit, which he did for six months to the satisfaction of the congrega-

After graduation he became pastor of the Methodist church at Malden, Mass. The ministerial term was then two years, and having completed his term in Malden, he toook charge of the church at Charlestown, Mass., his gifts as a pastor and a pulpit orator gaining him an increasing number of friends. His pastoral engagements afterwards were with churches in the east until he went to Detroit eight years ago, at the Central M. E. church, where he served three years, then came to Ann Arbor, serving two years, and the last three years have been spent ministering to the First Methodist Episcopal church at Eaviston.

Among the pulplits he has filled have been the most prominent in Boston, Lowell, Mass., Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Buffalo, etc.

Democratic Club's Election.

The University of Michigan Democratic club met in the law lecture room last night. Much enthusiasm prevailed. President Turnipseed presided. The election of officers was immediately proceeded to, which resulted as follows: president, Mr. Bordeaux and Mr. Hegner were nominated; the former received 154 and the latter 80. Mr. Bordeaux was declared elected and took the chair. The following additional officers were then elected. the ballot being cast by the secretary, acting under the unanimous vote of the club. Harry Moore first vice-president, E. C. Shields second vice-president, A. W. Lackton corresponding secretary, B. S. Gailey recording secretary, H. K. Bente treasurer, and H. E. Naegley, marshall.

A motion was made and duly carried, that the president be empowered to appoint all committees necessary to make arrangements for the banquet to be given on Jefferson's birthday.

Arrangements are being made to have many democrats of national prominence present at the banquet, and it promises to be a notable

The Legislature Visits Ann Arbor.

The legislature of the state will be here on the 9th and 10th to visit the University. They come on invitation of Mayor Doty and the common council of Ann Arbor and preparations are already being made to give the visitors a pleasant reception, and the following committees have been appointed:

Reception-The Mayor and Common Council. Finance-Col. H. S. Dean, Thos. J. Keech, Fred Schmid, J. E. Beal, J. V. Sheehan, Dr. W. J. Herdman, H. J. Brown, Prof. A. C. McLaughlin. tainment - Ald. D. F. The faculty is also preparing to entertain the legislature. It is also the intention of Secretary Wade to let the legislature see the students all together, and for that purpose there will be a meeting in University hall on the evening of the 9th. A musical program will be given if the Varsity Glee and Banjo club is in the city, and other attractions will be on the program.

The First Chamber Concert.

The Chamber Concert given by the Detroit Philharmonic Club, under the auspices of the University School of Music, last evening, was fairly well attended. The great number of members of the faculty present was remarkable. The program was well selected, being arranged in chronological order of quartette music.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Joint Convention:

It is unfortunate for me that I have been chosen to follow the eloquent gentleman who has just addressed you. The addresses to which you have just listened, pronounced in eulogy of the illustrous dead, whose distinguished services have long been profoundly rec-ognized by the people of this republic, have brought sadness to your hearts, and tears to your eyes, as only the ut-terances of such masters can, and who There is not a millionaire in Cleveland's cabinet. Judge Hooker his opponent.

The Democratic state convention nominated an excellent ticket of the property of the people.

He was in the civic chair an esteem of his country, in every duty in life he has been first. As a student he was foremost, as a lawyer he was in the front rank, as a soldier, he was among the bravest; for history bears numeraction, fighting after he fell. A hundred days exposed to death under fire;
—these are evidences of as lofty a courage as is yet known among men.

President Hayes was a man of high courage; he had no personal enemies; his private life was so pure that no man has ever dared assail it. He had in his character that which makes men noble, manly men. His constant ten-der care of the soldier, sharing his blanket, his last crust and his last Although the Register is a republican paper, it sometimes tells the truth, possibly by a slip of the pen.

His discussion was logical, and won for him third place. Mr. Troy, the third negative speaker, had more of a conversational style than his competitors. His speech was well delivered. Mr. Purdy, the last speaker of the affirmative, was given the first place, which he undoubtedly deserved. He appears well on the platform, and has a clear, strong voice. He talked with moderation, but made careful and strong statements. The last speaker, Mr. Kilbride, became embarrassed and as was easily apparent, did not do him-

Lord Rosebery's Guest. In the month of May, 1889, there was an evening party in Berkeley square, and in the early part of the day Lord Rosebery had met in Piccadilly a Scotch farmer with whom he had some acquaintance, and he asked his friend to 'look in" in the course of the night. The farmer duly presented himself in something that resembled his idea of an evening dress. All went well until the Scotchman got into the supper room, and after eating a variety of delicacies he lighted on an ice cream-a form of nourishment that was new to him. Having taken a large spoonful he managed to conceal his discomfort. But seeing his host he thought it his duty to inform him of what had taken place. "I don't suppose you know, my lord," he loudly whispered, "but I think I ought to tell you-there has been a mistake somewhere and this pudding's froze."

Lord Rosebery grasped the situation in a moment. With perfect courtesy and with a pretty appearance of critical inquiry, he tasted the ice cream. "So it is," he said: "that's very strange." And then, after speaking to one of the servants, he returned and said to the Scotch farmer: "It's all right. I am told that this is a new kind of pudding they freeze on purpose," and taking his friend's arm led him out of the room .-H. W. Lucy's "Salisbury Parliament."

Using Postage Stamps for Seals.

Americans who chance to receive letters from Russia are usually surprised to find the foreign postage stamp on their envelope used as a seal-affixed, that is to say, to the center of the side opposite to that on which the address is written. Sometimes Russians settling in the United States continue the practice acquired at home, much, of course, to the annoyance of United States postoffice officials. A case of this kind occurred recently in New York state, but it was explained quite inadequately by a writer, who alleged that the colonists sealed their letters with the postage stamps because communications from the United States were usually opened in the Russian postoffices before being delivered. As a matter of fact the habit is diffused all through Russia, and simply means that distrust of the imperial postoffice in that country is widespread.

Baldness Among Young People.

If the unsatisfactory statistics that I have been able to collect can be relied on, the proportion of baldness in boys and girls under twenty is about eighty to seven. As the majority of girls at the age under consideration wear their hair loose, or in simple "Marguerite" braids, so that there is little likelihood of deception, while unwholesome headgear or other individual practices can sufficient to hold him, and the case hardly as yet have had time to produce any material effect upon either sex, we may regard the differences indicated by the figures as practically due to the working of heredity alone.-Miss E. This Interests the Whole State. LANSING, Feb. 27.—On account of some disagreement between the city government of Detroit and the Michigan Peninsula Car company over the matter of taxation, the story has gone abroad that the car works would not be unwilling to leave the state metropolis if the proper inducements were offered. This has started a number of towns to bidding for this rich industrial plum. The works employ several thousand men constantly, and among the offers recorded so far is one from the city of Monroe of 500 acres of land and $100,000 in cash. Several other towns have formulated bids.
