P. G. SUEKEY'S SPEECH.

The County Treasurer's Eloquent Speech at Relief Park.

THE DEATH OF MRS. HARRIET WING.

Meeting of the School Board. Ann Arborites at Chicago. Three Men Injured. Arrested on Suspicion. Suit for Damages and other Items of Local Interest.

Three Men Injured.

Tuesday afternoon Henry Gaige, Sam Pike and William Clancy were plastering the new brick receiver at the Ann Arbor Gas Works, when the scaffold suddenly gave way precipitating them to the ground. Pike was badly bruised and Gaige had a lower rib broken, while Clancy escaped with a few slight scratches.

To Test Title.

Last Saturday the Street Commissioner preferred charges against Henry W. Douglas, the superintendent of the Ann Arbor gas company, for obstructing the highway west of the gas works. The gas company claim that they own the land and the charge was made to settle the question of ownership.

Death of Mrs. Harriet Wing.

Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Harriet Wing passed away. She was born in New York, in 1833 and was a daughter of J. W. Bradford one of the early pioneers of Scio township. She leaves a son, George Wing, of Scio, and two daughters, Mrs. Minnie Vanderwerker and Miss May Wing. The funeral services were held at her late residence at 3 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. W. Bradlow officiating.

Suit for Damages.

Mrs. Andrew Sutherland has commenced a suit in chancery against J. L. Cox and the Duplex Printing Company, of Battle Creek, in which she claims she was injured $6,000 worth by breach of a contract rendered by her late husband in selling a patent printing press and organizing the company. George A. Cutler, of Grand Rapids, is the solicitor, with Thompson, Harriman and Thompson as counsel.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Wednesday afternoon the officers arrested two bright appearing boys, who gave their names as Thomas and Bernard McCabe, on suspicion of stealing a quantity of cheap jewelry, which was in their possession. They claimed that their mother, who keeps a fancy goods store at No. 108 Michigan avenue, Detroit, had gone to Marshall to visit a brother, and that because she had refused to take them with her, they had taken the goods and started off for a time. They are quite young, one giving his age as 13, the other 11. Sheriff Brenner is investigating the truth of their statements.

Board of Education.

At the regular meeting of the school board held Tuesday evening, Trustees Mack, Wheedon, Bach, Scott, Sheehan, Gruner and Smith were present.

Bills to the amount of $251.70 were reported and allowed.

The committee on teachers and text books made their report as follows, which was accepted.

That the resignation of Miss Alice Hunt, as teacher of drawing, be accepted, and that the committee receive further time before making a recommendation to fill the vacancy.

That Prof. Jabez Montgomery have charge of botany and physiology in addition to what he now teaches.

That six microscopes, with a case for their storage, be purchased.

That Miss L. Conrad be employed as assistant in botany at a pro. rata salary of $600 a year.

That $500 be appropriated to fit up the chemical laboratory.

That Miss Gertrude Breede be appointed teacher of French, etc., at a salary of $600 per year.

Prof. Harrington Vindicated.

The Washington Post of July 3rd., has the following to say in regard to Prof. Harrington which will doubtless be of interest to his many Ann Arbor friends.

"Prof. Harrington, chief of the Weather Bureau, has our congratulations. It must be said that a careful examination of the charges against him, and of the evidence brought forward to sustain them, had quite prepared us for the result, but of course an exoneration by his official superior is of more importance to Prof. Harrington than any quantity of unofficial conjectures could possible be.

"It remains to be said only that Prof. Harrington has borne himself with remarkable dignity and moderation under circumstances that might well have extorted signs of irritation from a less completely balanced subject. The accusations were conspicuously frivolous, and the manner and the form in which they were passed would have excused, even if they did not justify, a much greater demonstration of resentment than he deigned to manifest. Prof. Harrington, however, contented himself with a very temperate policy of defense, and this has only served to emphasize and strengthen his vindication.

"There are to be radical and sweeping changes in the organization of the Weather Bureau, we hear. It is possible that these changes will involve Prof. Harrington. But, in the light of the events to which we refer, Prof. Harrington will retire, if at all, without a stigma for suspicion upon his record. He will take with him into any new field of usefulness he may conclude to enter, the respect and confidence of the country and the untarnished prestige of an honorable name."

Mr. Suekey's Address.

Following is the oration of Mr. Paul G. Suekey on the Fourth of July, 1893, at the dedication of the flag of the Harugari Singing Society in Relief Park:

FELLOW CELEBRATORS; LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: So swift that one scarcely notices it, has the rapid flight of fifty-two weeks brought us again to the celebration of the Glorious Fourth, and I have no objection to such a day of glory and joy, which reminds us and our children of the highest and most beautiful moment of our history, so rich in glorious deeds and events, for such a day can not be too often celebrated. And here we of German descent seize the rope at the right end and celebrate here in the new as formerly in the old Fatherland. John Adams, one of the founders of our Great Republic, proclaimed with regard to the right celebrations of the Fourth: "That the great anniversary festival ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other." And so also do we celebrate this day. I have now the honor for the sixth time to let my voice be heard from this place on this our most important national holiday, and, when a week ago, your president and my dear friend, requested me to speak a few words at the dedication of your flag, I thought I ought to refuse, as I consider it somewhat monotonous to have to listen on similar occasions again and again to the same speaker; however, I succumbed to the wishes of my friends and today I am happy to have accepted, for this is a quite notable 4th of July celebration. It is now 400 years since the great discoverer, Christopher Columbus, discovered America, and in the young giant city of the west has been erected by all nations of the civilized world a monument such as has never before been erected and such as probably will never again be dedicated to mortal man with such grandeur and magnificence, containing the best and most beautiful productions of God and man, for the celebration of this important, if not the most important, event in the history of the world. And in all the cities and villages and hamlets at the first hour of this day there resounded over fields and meadows from metallic mouths, the sound of the bells in honor of the Liberty which was first proclaimed by a small common bell in Philadelphia 117 years ago, after such men as Jefferson, John Adams, Hancock, Franklin and other brave and noble men had attached their bold signatures to the Declaration of Independence. On such an occasion to let one's voice join in praise and honor as a young yet enthusiastic member of our young and wonderfully progressive fatherland is a privilege not to be despised by any one to whom the request has been made. That of which I have not hesitated on former occasions from this place to give repeated warnings—for it is the duty of every Patriot not only to study himself and his nation, but to utter the word of criticism when necessary and also to accept criticism with thanks—has unfortunately come upon us; as others, as well as myself had expected. The remarkable development of our country became too one-sided, and those who with narrow-mindedness placed their own advantage and that of their party above the common welfare,—to whom cliques, unions, combines and trusts were preferred to country must experience with those who for a long time have sought to check it the threatening evil of a terrible crisis which our country has thus far narrowly escaped and they will probably have to suffer for some time the consequences thereof. But why mix bitterness with the joys of festivity? Let us rejoice that we have escaped a crisis, and let us take that which has happened as a warning to do better; and today, full of hope for the future, proud of what is worthy of remembrance in the past, let us rejoice and let us celebrate.

Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa in the year 1433 or 1434. As neither his natal day nor the year of his birth can be accurately determined, so also it can not be ascertained where his bones found their last resting-place. Even the land which he discovered, and to whose discovery, wrapt in thought, he devoted thirty of the best years of his life, traveling from country to country to interest the potentates in his plans, going from the house of one important man to that of another to gain his influence,—this land, the land of his dreams, of his discovery, does not bear his name.

However interesting on such an occasion it would be for an orator to enter into the minute descriptions of Columbus' life's history which have been disclosed by late investigations, it would not be appropriate for this occasion. However, I beg you, honored guests, to bear with me for a short time, while I refer to a few points of the history of the discovery of our country, so far as they pertain to its discoverer. Full of his plans, Columbus went from Italy to Portugal, but without accomplishing his desires. He went full of hope to Spain in 1485, in order to find his long-wished-for assistance at the court of Ferdinand and Isabella, trying every means, stimulating every influence. Feeling himself close to the accomplishment of his aims, the one obstacle which seemed to be insurmountable always came in his way. At one time he was on his way to the court of France, on foot. The year 1487 seemed at last to be the fortune-bringing year, but neither this nor the next succeeding ones brought the fulfillment of his desires—to reach the Indies from the west— which his phantasy, dreaming and waking, had mapped out for him. At last, in 1492, his plans were to be realized, and through the influence of the friends who remained true to him, and particularly of one lady friend, Queen Isabella of Spain was induced to furnish the necessary means for the expedition; and on August 3rd, 1492, the three little caravels set sail for the unknown sea, hoping to land in India, sailing westward, but in reality to set foot upon a new continent. Unintentionally Columbus discovered the land which in the fulness of time was destined to give to mankind and to civilization a new direction, and in which the freedom and equality of humanity were to be crowned with undreamed-of success. To the reader of the history of America and the history of Columbus, the following views must become impressive: The two potentates to whom we are indebted for the most terrible and bloody of institutions—the inquisition—gave also the means which enabled Columbus to begin the voyage which led to the discovery of that land in which all lovers of freedom should find a refuge and a home! Those who introduced the most shameful outgrowth which ever sprang from tyrannical minds to satiate their religious hatred and crush out the smallest spark of freedom, furnished all the means to help discover the land in which, later on, belief, thought and personal liberty should develop their noblest blossoms, i. e., so long as the blossoms were and are genuine.

Is it not worthy of notice that after all obstacles seemed to have been surmounted and everything seemed favorable to Columbus, want of funds threatened to shatter the whole project? and in the last moment one of the Jewish race—in the urgency of the moment, however, allowing himself to be baptized—came to his relief and furnished the necessary money to discover that land in which money and riches in plenty were wrapt up in the mother earth and in which later on thousands upon thousands of persecuted Jews should find peace, happiness and justice, contentment and riches! Is it not also remarkable that it was especially due to the untiring efforts of a woman, the Countess Mayo, to influence her queen, that America was discovered and that now here the greatest results of the woman's suffrage legislation that have yet been attained in the civilized world have been reached? Had not Columbus' own personality many of the distinctions that are so peculiar to the people inhabiting the land he discovered? Was not the discovery due to Columbus' own self-confidence? And is not self-confidence one of the strongest powers with which those of our citizens were actuated who brought this country to what it is? Was it not partly selfish motives that made Columbus the discoverer of the New World? Was not in him the thirst for renown and for riches closely intermingled with the desire to find new homes for the Christian race? Do we not also find these motives closely entwined with our national life's history; although often appearing to have been laid aside, do they not always play an important part in it? Is it not also strange that in the land discovered by a southerner the northern races were destined to bring their peculiarities, their possibilities to the highest perfection? And yet this many-sided man in whom all shades of light and shadow possible to man were peculiarly inherent and who gave up his whole life, his whole being to a plan which stood fully developed before his soul, and the well deserved lion's share of which he had properly secured to himself through negotiation, this man alone and foresaken drew his last breath of life in a small little chamber, a storm-tossed, tired wanderer! and to-day, and ever since, and God grant it, also in the future—has it been possible for the most insignificant person who sets his foot upon this God-blessed country to earn enough for himself and his loved ones to establish a pleasant home in which it is possible for him and them to enjoy the remainder of their lives as free and happy citizens. What a contrast!

However we ought not to close the day without impressing it upon our minds that we owe everything beautiful, good and grand to our Star-Spangled-Banner and to the legislation which was possible only through the declaration which 117 years ago to-day declared all men born equal and entitled to freedom and equality under the Stars and Stripes. Let me not close without reading to you the grandest, noblest and most golden words of our Declaration of Independence:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nerveine she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nerveine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. RIGHT HERE WE WANT TO SAY A certain competitor is offering a piano for which we are state agents at a price absurdly low and at which it is known it cannot be furnished. Such conduct is beneath the dignity of responsible dealers who are above misrepresentation and falsehood. Parties making such statements simply misrepresent facts and have no intention of making such offers good. A state agency for a reliable piano carries with it reasonable business protection which every legitimate manufacturer invariably gives to those agents who sell his piano. We sell the pianos we represent on their merits regardless of those sold by others, or misleading statements made by them. Dealers having a reputation usually do the same. NEVER A FAILURE.
The Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota has never had a failure of crops. It produced 30,000,000 bushels of wheat besides other cereals in 1890. Farms can be had on the crop plan, or long time cash payments. It is not an uncommon thing to pay for a farm from the proceeds of one crop. It has all of the advantages of an old country in the shape of school, church, market, postal & railway facilities and all the chances of a new country in the way of cheap lands, rich soil, and increase in values. It is one of the most fertile and promising regions in America not yet fully occupied. In the rush to the far west, however, this rich valley has been over-looked. It has room for a million more people. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn for particulars. Publications sent free.

Eternal Vigilance
Is the price of health. But with all our precaution there are enemies always lurking about our system, only waiting a favorable opportunity to assert themselves. Impurities in the blood may be hidden for years or even for generations and suddenly break forth, undermining health and hastening death. For all diseases arising from impure blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is the unequalled and unapproached remedy. It is King of them all, for it conquers disease.
There is joy in heaven when a sinner repents, but nothing said on a millionaire's monument has any effect.

"Be sure you get Ayer's" is an important caution to all in search of a thoroughly reliable blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being the one on which there can be no manner of doubt. It has stood the test of nearly half a century, and has long been considered the standard.

A New Pile Remedy
has created a sensation among physicians by its wonderful effects in speedily curing every form of Piles. It is called the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is cheap and simple to use, but nothing removes the disease so quickly, safely and surely. Any druggist will get it for you.

"How do I look?" That depends, madam, upon how you feel. If you're suffering from functional disturbances, irregularities or weaknesses, you're sure to "look it." And Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy. It builds up the system, regulates and promotes the proper functions, and restores health and strength. It's a legitimate medicine, not a leverage, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and made especially for woman's needs. In the cure of all "female complaints," it's guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money is refunded. No other medicine for women is sold so. Think of that, when the dealer says something else (which pays him better) is "just as good."
"Times have changed." So have methods. The modern improvements in pills are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They help Nature, instead of fighting with her. Sick and nervous headache, biliousness, costiveness, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

HE TALKED TOO MUCH.

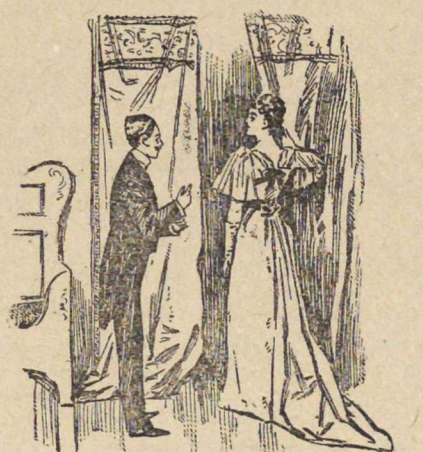

The Story of a Little Chap Who Wanted to Get Aboard.

"It ain't no sign of bravery ter abuse folks over a high fence or from t'other side the river," said the captain, tilting the keg on which he was sitting so that his back might rest against the fish house. His companion sat by mending his nets. "Now when I was quite a lad," he went on, "I had an experience that showed me what uncommon poor policy it is to be too funny—even at a distance."

"How was that?" "Well, I was put in alternate cap'n on one of them steamers that runs in Frenchman's bay, an' bein' young an' tolerable successful I got to thinkin' I knowed pretty much the whole of it. "One day we was layin at the wharf loadin in the freight on, an' I see a little man walkin up an down waitin ter get aboard. He was a pompous lookin individual, an' follerin a hangin on his words was two or three men that seemed ter consider what he said as golden speech."

"I kept thinkin that I wished it would come time ter start when he was way up t'other end of the wharf, an' sure enough, just as he got much as a rod away it was time ter pull out. "I pulled the whistle an' waited full time, but he turned round mighty moderate an' come toward the plank. The men commenced ter haul it on, an' we fell back from the wharf. Then he broke into a run an' waved his hat an' shouted. "When we was clear of everything I holled back, 'Hurry up, little chap, or you'll hev ter walk' an' a lot of sech talk, when I got a signal from the cap'n that was 'long-side ter put back, an' findin somethin unusual was up I hed to. "The men lowered the plank, an' the little man walked on board an' come right up ter the pilothouse an' passed me his card. "He was the owner of the whole line of steamers, an' he says very slow an' kind: 'Speakin of walkin, p'raps you'd better go ashore now 'fore they draw the plank in. We shan't need you on this trip.' "What did you do?" "Do? Why, I went of course, an' my assistant run the trip. The matter was fixed up, but when I make a joke now I take keer it's one that ain't comin home ter rooster."

Youth's Companion.

But Not Bright. He—Did you tell her I would be there bright and early! She—I told her you would be there early.—Life.

Just the Name. Some years ago a Rochester clergyman in baptizing a baby paused in the middle of the service to inquire the name of the infant, to which the mother, with a profound courtesy, replied: "Shady, sir, if you please." "Shady?" replied the minister. "Then it's a boy, and you mean Shadrach, eh?" "No, please, your reverence, it's a girl."

A Contrast. Governor Russell's little son Eustis surprised his mother one morning a short time ago by exclaiming, "Mamma, I want a dark breakfast." "Mrs. Russell was at a loss to know what he meant and demanded an explanation. "Well," replied the young hopeful, "last night you told Mary to give me a light supper, and I didn't like it. Now, mamma, please do let me have a dark breakfast."—Boston Globe.

Have been treated by the best physicians without relief. I am now taking the fourth bottle of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and firmly believe it will work a permanent cure. It acted upon the liver and regulated my kidneys and digestive organs immediately, and has done me more good already than all the other medicines I have ever taken. I cheerfully recommend this medicine. Mrs. ALTHA HERRINGTON, Altona, Mich.

How Composer Gounod Works.

Charles Gounod, the great composer, is a white haired, stoop shouldered man, with soft, smiling blue eyes and a full beard of old gold copiously streaked with gray, and is much addicted to a sealskin cap and a huge fur collar. He is somewhat given to posing on occasion, and there is just the slightest suspicion of affectation in his manner, which is profoundly sympathetic, but this dissolves on acquaintance, and he has a horror of anything cold or stiff. He is fond of sandwiching his talk with poetic metaphors, and is altogether of an intensely religious and sentimental turn of mind. He is now four and seventy, and lives, like Verdi, in complete seclusion save when composing some opera or oratorio, when he hurries to the privacy of an old cathedral town and hires a lodging in its very quietest corner, subsequently obtaining from the cure an order to work in the cathedral, which permission is never refused, so that it is quite a common thing in the churches of Amiens or Rouen to see him seated in the center of the choir, flourishing his arms, or else pacing to and fro, occasionally penning notes with frantic haste.

Few composers who have risen to eminence have had more failures at the outset of their career than the author of "Faust." It is now four and thirty years since the most successful of modern operas took the musical world by storm and placed Gounod at the head of operatic composers. This success was more remarkable seeing that, though Goethe's masterpiece had been previously set to music almost a hundred times, not one of these efforts was considered worthy of the theme.—Lippincott's.

Tobacco In the South. The price of cotton is turning the attention of southern planters to the advantage of substituting tobacco culture on a part at least of their cotton lands. During the decade from 1880 to 1890 the tobacco growth in the southern states rose from $38,000,000 to 360,000,000 pounds, or nearly 74 per cent of the total growth in the United States. Since 1890 there has been a very considerable increase, and in Florida large tracts have been cleared and devoted to the production of Havana leaf, which is claimed to be similar in many respects to the leaf produced only 100 miles or so distant in the island of Cuba.

However, the great bulk of the southern tobacco of today is of a coarse, rough grade, especially that of Kentucky, which, by the way, is the greatest tobacco producing state in the country, its crop in the year of the last census reaching 221,000,000 pounds, or nearly 50 per cent of the whole crop of the United States. Tobacco of this kind is largely marketed for pipe and chewing purposes in this country, and much goes to Europe, whose people are satisfied to use kinds of tobacco not only for pipes, but for cigars, that could hardly be sold in this country, or if salable only at prices which would barely pay the cost of manufacture and handling by dealers. Outside of the Florida product, very little of the entire tobacco growth of the southern states comes in competition in any way with our Connecticut tobacco, which is chiefly of the finer wrapper and binder grades.—Hartford Times.

Felt the Blood In His Boot.

"During the war I belonged to a cavalry regiment, and our company was ordered to dismount and make a charge upon General Bate, who with his men were entrenched behind breastworks at the battle of Stone river," said a gentleman yesterday. "We charged, but the bullets came so thick and fast that every man of the company who was not wounded turned and made tracks for our own breastworks. I was a fleet runner and made better time than that race than ever before. About 100 yards from our breastworks I felt a ball strike my leg near my boot, and in less time than I can tell it I could hear the blood 'goosh, goosh,' in my bootleg, yet I never slackened my speed, although I went with a limp. I tumbled over the breastworks and lay gasping for breath. One of the boys said, 'Al, what is the matter?' I replied that a bullet had struck me in the leg, and that I was bleeding to death. "Two of my comrades came up and began searching for the wound. The boot was drawn carefully from my foot, when out fell a minie ball. It had passed through the leather but had not even broken the skin. A swollen place the size of a hickory nut where the ball had struck it was all the wound that could be found, but I never could imagine why I could feel the blood slosh around in my bootleg when the skin was not broken."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dress In the New Japan.

On so simple a matter as the abandonment of the national dress we do not take the slightest trouble to inquire whether what has been done—which, after all, is only a very partial adoption of western dress—was not absolutely necessary. One point alone is sufficient to establish the necessity and to prevent any relapse. The national dress is suited only to the national life, to sit on the mats. It is incomplete without the pipe, the cup of tea and the fire box. It is quite unsuited to the busy life of routine in an office. It is a dress in which to be delightfully lazy, in which to enjoy the little pleasures of life. It is impossible to sit at a table in it and copy dispatches. With the introduction of office hours and during office hours, the national dress became impossible. After the day's work is done it is resumed. But this in itself produces a very serious difficulty. Cloth is dear, and pay is small, and inferior cloth, such as the west loves to export eastward, often wants renewing. The "lower division" clerks often find themselves in serious financial straits owing to the purchase of a suit of European clothes; indeed it is not invariably accompanied by all the necessary parts. By and by they will perhaps get cheaper and perhaps also get better made, and then a new era will dawn of greater ease to clerks purses and comfort to western eyes.—Nineteenth Century.

About Having the Last Word.

A young girl once heard a bit of wisdom from the lips of a very aged woman—a woman who had rounded the full term of 90 years, and with eyes still bright and clear looked out upon the inrolling waters of eternity. The girl was impressed by the emphasis with which the venerable dame said to her, "Bessie, never insist on having the last word." The determination to have the final word leads to more quarrels and more bitterness of feeling at home than almost anything else in domestic life. The fact is that one may so control her tongue and her eyes that she may allow her opponent the pleasure of this coveted concluding thrust and yet placidly retain her own opinion, and in the homely colloquial parlance of the up country, where one finds strong willed people living together in great peace with the most pronounced diversity of characteristics, "do as she's a mind to."—Harper's Bazar.

A Wrap For the Sickroom.

An invaluable wrap for a convalescent is the nightgale house sack. It is easily slipped on and over a nightdress and also adjusts itself to fit the figure closely, affording ample protection. The making of these useful garments is a simple matter. Hem the ends of 2 1/2 yards of eider down flannel or French flannel; fold in half and take a plait deep enough to form a pointed hood; sew a bow here and strings in front to confine it at the neck; fasten each end together for about two inches to make loose sleeves. One seen recently was made of cream white flannel, and pieces of old rose quilted silk had been laid over neck and sleeves to form a broad collar and cuff effect. This treatment, however, is not necessary, the garment being quite complete without it.—New York Times.

A Game For an Evening.

"I Love My Love With an A" is a new game, and all the fun depends upon its being kept up briskly. Any player who requires time to think should be called off. One begins: "I love my love with an A because he is a lie. I hate him with an A because he is a lie. He took me to the sign of the 'Antic' and treated me to arrichokes and asbinte." The next continues: "I love my love with a B because he is bankrupt. I hate him with a B because he is bankrupt. He took me to the sign of the 'Bachelor' and treated me to biscuits and bananas." So the game goes on through all the letters of the alphabet, although the unfortunate "X" must be ruled out, and "Z" and "Y" will be found almost as impossible.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

It is possible to float a house like a ship on a sea of mud, if only enough concrete be spread round to keep the most foundation from rising round the walls; or whole cities may be built on piles in a peat bog, like Venice or Amsterdam. A foundation of slipping clay can be kept in place on the side of a hill by running a drain above the clay bed, and so keeping it dry and stationary; and a house built on sand is often as firm as another on a rock.

GOOD HEALTH.

IS YOUR BLOOD IMPURE? Are you suffering from any Kidney or Female Complaint? Have you a Cough, Cold or any disease of Throat, Chest or Lungs? Is your Liver performing its functions properly? If you have any of these complaints it will certainly pay you to try the medicines mentioned below, which are warranted.

A REMARKABLE CURE. MESSRS. FOLEY & CO., Chicago. GENTLEMEN:—I had a scrofulous taint of the blood from childhood. An ulcer began on the side of the nose, having all the appearances of a most malignant cancer, became about the size of a silver dollar and ended a thin, offensive matter. The agony of mind I suffered cannot be described as I contemplated the progress of the disease. I was induced to try the Clinic Sarsaparilla; it appeared to neutralize the poison in the blood, the ulcer ceased. The diseased tissues in the bottom and edges of the sore seemed to loosen and the natural flesh, to take its place. Thus the cure continued until an even surface remained. No part of the disease remains. Mrs. H. B. ADAMS, 1609 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

SUFFERED 27 YEARS. Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes, August 10th, 1891: MESSRS. FOLEY & CO. GENTLEMEN:—Your Kidney Cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself, am able to testify to its merits. My face to-day is a living picture of health, and your Kidney Cure has made it such. I had suffered twenty-seven years with the disease, and to-day I feel ten years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qualities.

WHAT A PHYSICIAN SAYS. Agnew, Ottawa Co., Mich., Feb. 14, 1883. FOLEY & CO., Chicago. GENTLEMEN:—Please send me six dozen Honey and Tar at once. I will say that within the past two months I have had three or four cases of Pneumonia, in all of which I have used your Honey and Tar with the most gratifying success. Yours truly, J. C. BISHOP, M. D.

A BATTLE IN PRISON.

Convicts at Ionia Make a Desperate Attempt to Escape.

They Are Frustrated Only After a Fierce Fight with Guards, in Which One Prisoner Is Killed and Three Others Wounded.

FOUGHT FOR LIBERTY.

IONIA, July 11.—A daring attempt to escape from the state house of correction in this city was made at 9:30 Monday morning, and as a result Convict Oscar Miller is dead and three more are seriously wounded, one probably fatally. The leaders were five of the most desperate men in the institution, who already have a state reputation for crime. Those who reached the wall were Oscar Miller, from Detroit, serving a seven-year sentence; William Egan, sent from Grand Rapids for manslaughter for fifteen years; Charles E. Jones, a five-year man from Detroit; Michael Lynch, who has spent a large part of his life in prison, and William Smith, the leader and desperate character, a five-year man.

Two tinners had been at work on shop 21 on the west side of the prison yard repairing pipes. They had two long ladders placed against the roof. The convicts were at work in the furniture shop and Warden Parsell was on the lookout. Deputy Warden Rowley having been informed at 9 o'clock that something was going to happen. Consequently, he had sent a guard outside the walls with orders to shoot if it was necessary and had sent Teacher Gourley to the vicinity of the ladders.

At 9:30 Convict William Smith left the shop and was followed by four more. They went out and around the building to the west side and took the ladders and placed them against the west wall, which was about 10 rods distant. Teacher Gourley was stationed near the shop. When he saw the convicts acting in this unusual manner he ordered them back, and they not obeying he fired a shot from his revolver into the ground. This did not affect the men, who were bound to escape. He fired twice more without effect. Smith was at the foot of the ladder when the shot was fired.

The other officers about the yard ran to the scene and a life and death struggle ensued. Warden Parsell and Deputy Rowley were quickly on hand, and as Miller mounted the ladder Guard Thomas Mitchell came up and, after warning Miller to go back, he fired a shot from his Winchester. The shot pierced Miller's heart and he dropped to the ground dead. In the meantime a terrible riot was going on. Smith, the leader of the prisoners, was all the time urging the convicts on. The prison officials knocked the ladder down and had the best of the situation from the start. Smith, who had a hammer, dealt a murderous blow at Deputy Warden Rowley, who saved his life by dodging. As Rowley dodged this blow he struck Oscar Jones a blow in the head. The wound caused concussion of the brain and he cannot live. Egan was also badly cut on the head.

That the attempt to scale the walls was prearranged was very evident from the fact that five of the leaders were armed with different dangerous weapons. Seventy-five or a hundred convicts stopped work as soon as they saw Smith and his pals leave the building, and it is generally supposed that had the first few been successful and scaled the walls the rest would have followed.

It was only by prompt action that the wholesale liberation of the convicts was averted. Hall Master Parsell grabbed up the iron rods by the local tinner and commenced prodding the convicts who ran back. Gradually the convicts were forced into their cells.

FOUND GUILTY.

The Jury Brings in a Verdict Against the Murderers of Molter.

ALPENA, July 11.—Vogler, Fuhrman and Jacobs have been found guilty of the murder of Albert Molter. The case was given to the jury last Saturday night at 8 o'clock, and three hours later a verdict of murder in the first degree was returned. The prisoners will be sentenced later on. In all probability the trial of Repke, the self-confessed murderer, will now be taken up. This makes four men convicted, Grossman having been sentenced to Jackson for life last January.

Albert Molter, a merchant at Rogers City, and his clerk, named Sullivan, were murdered on the evening of August 23, 1875. Nothing definite was ever learned until William Repke, a farmer living in Moltke township, Presque Isle county, becoming a conscience-stricken man after sixteen years of silence, confessed in July, 1891, that he and sixteen other men then working in and about Rogers City entered into a conspiracy to kill Molter and Frederick Denny Larke, but that while they succeeded in shooting Molter, they made a mistake as to Larke and killed Sullivan in his stead. Repke gave the names of such of the other murderers as he recollected. Warrants were at once issued and prosecution of the murderers begun, resulting to the present time in the conviction of four of the accused. The cause of the crime was alleged unfair treatment in political affairs.

UNTOLD HARDSHIPS.

They Are Suffered by the residents of Ironwood.

Capture of a Man Held to Be Responsible for the Typhoid Epidemic—Hundreds Are Utterly Destitute and Starving.

AN AWFUL STATE OF AFFAIRS.

IRONWOOD, July 10.—S. A. Souther the former superintendent of the Ironwood Waterworks company, who is charged with criminal neglect in his management of the waterworks, was arrested at Glidden, Wis., a small station south of Ashland. The impure water furnished while Souther was superintendent is alleged to have been the principal cause of the terrible epidemic of typhoid fever which has raged here for over a month. Indignation runs high, and as it was feared that violence might be done Souther were he to be brought here he was taken to Bessemer for safe keeping. Threats of lynching are freely made, but it is believed better counsel will prevail and that there will be no violence.

For over a month past there has been an average of 200 cases of typhoid fever in the city. For a time the death average nearly fifteen a week. The death rate is lower now, but the epidemic lessens very slowly.

When matters assumed such a serious aspect in the middle of June, mass meetings were held and a committee was appointed to investigate the city water supply and the other causes which were believed to contribute to the epidemic. The committee, which included the mayor, the common council, a couple of doctors and four prominent citizens, went to the waterworks plant and examined the standpipe on Norrie hill. The revelation was appalling. The bottom of the standpipe was covered to a depth of from 8 inches to a foot with a sickening mass of dead fish, birds and other substances, the whole in a state of putrefaction. The stench was unbearable and some members of the committee were unable to stand the awful sight. It was also discovered that the superintendent had failed to filter the water as had been agreed upon.

Dr. C. F. Baker, of the state board of health, also made an investigation and reported that the water supply had been the principal cause of the epidemic, though poor sewerage and defective sanitary arrangements had contributed to the spread of the disease. Superintendent Souther at once left the city and it was not until Sunday that he was located at Glidden, across the state line. The papers call for his prosecution on charges of criminal neglect and murder. Within the past week many wells have become infected with the disease germs and Health Officer Nevins has ordered nearly all the wells closed. The city board of health advises all who can do so to leave the city at once.

Added to the horrors of the plague, 3,000 miners are idle and the city and county poor funds are exhausted. Five hundred persons are now living on public or private bounty and thousands more are on the verge of requiring charity to buy food.

FORCED TO SUSPEND.

Heavy Withdrawals of Funds Cause the Northern National Bank at Big Rapids to Close.

BIG RAPIDS, July 9.—Saturday morning the Northern national bank of this city failed to open its doors, and a notice on the entrance informed the public that "Owing to the continuous heavy drain on its funds the bank has been closed by order of the board of directors, who feel confident that the depositors will be paid in full." Within a few days upwards of $90,000 has been withdrawn, and the bank, being unable to negotiate paper that is said to be good, concluded to close its doors. It is impossible to get any figures of assets and liabilities, but while the failure is considered serious no run has been made on the other banks and the general belief is that depositors will get their money in due time. The May statement of the bank showed upwards of $300,000 in deposits. Examiner Caldwell has been ordered to take charge of the bank.

Convicted on False Testimony.
LANSING, July 8.—V. O. Harrison, who has done nearly two years of a ten years' sentence to state's prison for incest, was pardoned by Gov. Rich Friday, the basis for the pardon being the affidavit of his alleged victim that her testimony given at the trial was forced from her by her aunt, who was her father's bitter enemy, and was false in every detail.

Will Sell No More Liquors.
LANSING, July 8.—Gov. Rich has issued orders abolishing the system of canteens for the sale of liquor by the state which was in full blast at the annual encampments of the national guard during the Winags administration and which was almost universally protested against by the better class of citizens.

Promoted.
LANSING, July 8.—J. E. St. John, of this city, has been appointed superintendent of the industrial school for boys in place of W. H. S. Wood, resigned. The exchange will take place on August 1. Mr. St. John has been connected with the institution at various periods for the past twenty years.

Michigan Crop Report, July 1, 1893. DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Lansing, July 8, 1893. The estimate herein made of the 1893 wheat crop is based on the number of acres in wheat in May as shown by the returns of supervisors, and the average yield per acre as shown by more than 1,200 estimates received from our regular crop correspondents and supervisors. The estimates of yield per acre have been made while the crop was yet all standing, and are of course subject to revision. The area in wheat in Michigan this year, as shown by the returns of supervisors to this office, is 1,578,252 acres. Multiplying the acres in each county by the estimated yield per acre in the same county and footing the products, gives 20,895,374 bushels as the probable total yield in the state. This is an average per acre of 13.09 bushels in the southern counties; 14.18 bushels in the central counties, and 12.63 bushels in the northern counties. The average for the state is 13.24 bushels. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in June is 751,001. The total number of bushels reported marketed in the eleven months, August-June, is 13,760,490. This is 2,304,814 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year. The unfavorable weather in May not only delayed corn planting but caused a reduction of acreage. The area planted in the southern counties is estimated at 94 per cent. in the central, 89 per cent., and in the northern, 99 per cent. of a full average. In condition the crop is from five to fourteen per cent. below an average, but in the southern counties it is 22 per cent. and in the central 15 per cent. better condition than one year ago. Oats are doing well. With favorable weather until harvest a nearly full average crop may be expected. Compared with an average there is a loss of from two to three per cent. in the area planted to potatoes in the southern and central counties, and a gain of three per cent. in the northern counties. In condition the crop in the southern counties is 93 per cent., or 12 per cent. higher than on July 1, last year. In the central counties the condition is 87, and in the northern 92. Meadows and pastures, and clover sowed this year, are in the southern and central counties, in fine condition. In the northern counties the weather has been less favorable, and the condition is from 20 to 26 per cent. below an average. Apples in the southern counties now promise about one-third, in the central two-fifths, and in the northern two-thirds of an average crop. Since June 1, this crop has declined 22 per cent. in the southern and central counties, and 16 per cent. in the northern counties. Peaches promise in the southern counties and the state, 82 per cent. of an average crop. The figures for the central counties are 87, and for the northern, 74. JOHN W. JOCHIM, Secretary of State.
