GONE OVER THE ROAD.

Two Prisoners Sentenced While a Bicycle Thief is Fined.

DOES BREWING STOCK FORFEIT INSURANCE?

Mary Collins Whiting is Defendant in a $10,000 Suit.—A Big Divorce Suit from York.—An Important Week in Court.

A Compliment for Dr. Vaughan.

Mr. O'Sullivan, the well-known New York City criminal lawyer, while in Detroit, Monday, in speaking of Dr. Vaughan, said:

"He gave expert testimony in the Buchanan poisoning case, in which we appeared, and it was of such a thoroughly scientific character as to astonish everybody. Prof. Vaughan is the foremost chemist of this continent. He is better known in Germany today than he is in America, and far better known and appreciated in New York than in Michigan. It is a pretty state of things that we have to come from New York and hunt through the woods here, so to speak, when we want the services of a first-class chemist, and one whose deductions can be demonstrated and relied upon as absolutely correct."

Three Prisoners Sentenced.

Three prisoners were sentenced by Judge Kinne, Monday, all of whom had plead guilty of the charges brought against them. One, who stole a watch, got two years in state's prison; another, who stole a horse, got two years in the Ionia-house of correction; and the third, who stole bicycles, was fined $100, which enriched the school library fund by that much.

Jacob Schmitter, who stole a watch valued at $30 from Theodore Egloff, the foreman of Nowland's lumber camp in Pittsfield on June 28, and who was arrested while attempting to get a marriage license in company with his intended bride, plead guilty of larceny and was sentenced to two years in the state's prison at Jackson.

Charles Davis, charged with stealing a bicycle, plead guilty, and was fined $100, which he paid.

Henry Miller, charged with stealing a horse in Ann Arbor, Sunday before last, which he abandoned after driving it four miles, was sentenced to Ionia for two years.

Matthew Heath, of Ypsilanti, was arraigned on three counts, one of rape, another of intended rape, and one of indecent assault upon a girl under fourteen years of age. He pleaded not guilty and was put under $1,500 bonds, Nelson Grunda and D. Rockwell going upon his bond.

Mrs. Mary Collins Whiting Sued for $10,000.

The well known woman attorney, Mrs. Mary Collins Whiting, has been sued in the circuit court for $10,000 damage by Benjamin McGraw, her brother-in-law. The declaration sets forth the cause of action as follows:

"For that whereas, the said defendant, contriving and wrongfully, wickedly and unjustly intending to injure the said plaintiff, and to deprive him of the comfort, fellowship, society, aid and assistance of Abi McGraw, wife of said plaintiff, and to alienate and destroy her affection for him, the said plaintiff, to wit, on the fourteenth day of February, 1890, and on divers other days and times between that day and the date of the commencement of this suit, at Ypsilanti, in said county, unlawfully, wrongfully and unjustly enticed, persuaded and procured the said Abi McGraw, so then being the lawful wife of the said plaintiff, to depart from the home of said plaintiff, by means of which said enticement, persuasion and procurement, and for no other reason whatever, the said Abi McGraw  then and there departed from the home of said plaintiff, and hath remained and continued absent from such home for a long space of time," etc.

The case will prove an interesting one, largely from the personality of the defendant.

An Important Divorce Suit.

An important divorce case, involving considerable property interests, was begun in the circuit court last Friday. The parties reside in the township of York. The plaintiff is Mrs. Julia S. Wheeler, who asks the divorce from her husband, Paul H. Wheeler. The were married in Chicago, June 9, 1863. In the thirty years of their married life, over twenty of which was spent in this county, they had eight children, seven of whom are now living. Those of age are Charles Wheeler, Mrs. Libbie Dexter, Park H. Wheeler, Mrs. Lola J. McMichael and Miss Minnie M. Wheeler. Paul H. Wheeler, jr., is 19 years old and the youngest, Dollie E., is thirteen years old.

Mrs. Wheeler, in her bill, charges extreme cruelty during the past two years, during which time he has forbidden the four oldest children who are away from the homestead to visit her and that when she visited her oldest son last December he forbid her returning home, that at one time he refused to speak to her for several weeks and that he had called her vile names. She values her husband's 120 acres of land at over $5,000 and his personal property at over $3,000.

She asks for alimony, the guardianship of the youngest child and an injunction preventing him from disposing of the property pending the suit. A temporary injunction has been issued.

A further complication in the case arises from a mortgage of $4,000 given Mrs. Betsey Robinson on the real estate in 1872. Mrs. Robinson died April 14, 1892. Mrs. Wheeler claims that she had taken care of her for some years previous to her death and that before her death, Mrs. Robinson promised to assign the mortgage to her, and executed a paper which she supposed to be an assignment of the mortgage, which then amounted to $2,600, but which through a mistake of the person drawing the instrument, proved to be a discharge of the mortgage. Mrs. Wheeler asks that the court decree that this amount be paid her in addition to suitable alimony. Thompson, Harriman & Thompson are her attorneys.

The Maccabees Sued.

Mrs. Catherine M. Fillmore, widow of Ald. A. H. Fillmore, on Wednesday filed a bill in the circuit court against the Maccabees, asking that he be reinstated in the order and that a policy of $2,000 on his life be paid.

The bill shows that Mr. Fillmore became a member of the order in March, 1885, and had paid $250 on assessments; that in February last the executive committee of the Great Camp took some action by which they assumed to expel Mr. Fillmore from the order, and notified the Ann Arbor tent to expel him. This action was taken under a by-law passed September 1, 1892, which provided that "any member who shall hereafter engage either as principal, agent or servant in the manufacture or sale of spirituous or malt liquors as a beverage, shall thereby forfeit his membership in the order."

The bill sets forth that Mr. Fillmore was not engaged as a principal, agent or servant in the manufacture of lager beer, as the executive committee assumed, but that he did own $5,000 stock in the Northern Brewery.

The bill further shows that the by-law was not in force at the time of Mr. Fillmore's admission to the order; that no notice was served upon Mr. Fillmore that any charges had been filed against him. Assessment No. 48 was paid by Mr. Fillmore and forwarded to the Great Camp, but returned to Finance Keeper W. F. Stimson in February. Mr. Fillmore was notified to call for it, but never did, and the assessment is now in the treasury of the Ann Arbor tent.

Mr. Fillmore died June 10, and the executive committee refused to audit the claim for $2,000 presented by Mrs. Fillmore. Hence the suit is brought compelling the order to reinstate him, and to compel the auditing of the claim. The defendants to the suit are made the Great Camp of the Knights of Maccabees, the Ann Arbor tent, and the Executive Committee of the Great Camp. Thompson, Harriman & Thompson are the attorneys for the complainant.

The case presents considerable interest throughout the state, as many members have been expelled recently on similar grounds, at least half a dozen in this county.

THE MACCABEE PICNIC.

The Whitmore Lake Picnic Which was Held Yesterday.

GREAT RECORD KEEPER BOYNTON'S SPEECH.

Pleasing Speeches by Messrs. Connors and Ball and Miss Bower.—A Little Boy Accidentally Shot. A Highly Successful Occasion.

The Knights of Maccabees held a picnic at Whitmore Lake, yesterday. They were out in force, going by special train and with livery rigs from this city and assembling from the surrounding villages. About 1,500 people gathered around the speakers' stand after they had eaten their picnic lunches and listened to some good speeches. The K. O. T. M. cornet band of Brighton furnished the music. Dr. Swartz, of Hamburg, presided and introduced the speakers in a pleasant manner. Ex-Representative Roland Connors, of Saginaw, was the first speaker, and possessed an excellent voice, a ready command of language and a keen sense of the ludicrous. His speech was liberally applauded. Ex-Lieutenant-Governor Ball, of Hamburg, was next called upon, as he nearly always is when present in gatherings of this kind. The governor takes to speech making, an usual thing for a farmer, and makes a good speech. He did yesterday.

Great Record Keeper Boynton, of Port Huron, the "father of the Maccabees," was the next speaker, the big gun of the occasion. His remarks were in a humorous vein. He said he would rather talk to half a dozen women on the subject of the Maccabees than 500 men, because before tomorrow night all the good things he would say would be known all over the neighborhood. When a woman hears a good thing, she goes and tells it. When a man hears a good thing, it goes in one ear and out of the other, but when he hears a mean thing, he tells that. Women are the most interested parties in the order because they are the beneficiaries. He spoke of the reason women could not belong to the main branch of the Maccabees, resting it mainly in the initiatory services, which were not suited for them. They were designed to interest men and especially young men. It was desirable to get young men to join the organization and so keep down the average age and make the cost less. The average age of the Maccabees now was only 33 years. Last year there were only five assessments. The lodge and the church go hand in hand. These great organizations are the outgrowth of Christian civilization. The lodge room is no more secret than your own homes. The home is the most ancient secret organization in the world. The organizations like the Maccabees make better citizens, better husbands, better fathers. Mr. Boynton's speech contained many striking sentences such as "Did you ever see in any painting or any picture book such a thing as a man and women angels. What kind of an angel would I be, flying about with wings? Why, you would take me for a wasp." "What would I say to the ladies whose husbands won't join the Maccabees? I would say get a divorce. I would testify for you. And after you had got your divorce I would see that you got a real good Maccabee husband." "The man who joins the Maccabees is simply carrying out his pledge made in the marriage ceremony." He described his feelings in a battle, his knees trembling, and feeling a thousand angworms crawling up his back, and said that that was the way he felt when he got married—real scared. When he married, he thought the girl he married was an angel—all men do. He hadn't found any wings yet. But he made certain promises. He would have promised anything to get that girl. If the minister had told him to jump into the river, he would have done it, to get that angel. These few extracts will give some idea of Mr. Boynton's speech.

Miss Emma Bower, of this city, was then introduced to speak for the Lady Maccabees. She had been given no notice and so of course was not prepared. Her brief speech was a very pleasant one. In closing she referred to her candidacy for Great Record Keeper of the Ladies of the Maccabees and counseled patience in the little dissensions which had arisen in the ranks recently.

While speaking was going on, the professional skill of Dr. Swartz, the presiding officer, was required. Charlie Moss, a twelve year old boy living at the lake, was leaning over the side of one of the target shooting arrangements, when a gun lying on the rack went off, the bullet entering his elbow and being extracted at the wrist. This was the only accident of the occasion.

The usual hucksters found at the lake picnics were on hand. Everybody had a good time excepting the few fish who were pulled out of the lake by the Maccabee fishermen. In the evening dances were held at the hotels, commencing at seven o'clock, and the few who returned in the early evening found a number of young couple on their way to the lake.

Maccabee picnics will probably be an annual feature.

Harvest Festival.

Wednesday, August 16, the farmers of Washtenaw, Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties will hold the fifteenth annual harvest festival and basket picnic at the fair grounds in this city. Gen. James B. Weaver will deliver an address on the "Economic Questions of the Day."

A reception will be given from 11 a. m. to 12 m. at the Cook house. Entrance to the Fair grounds and grand stand free. The Toledo & Ann Arbor has arranged for a special train and reduced rates and it is expected that the Michigan Central will do likewise. A fine program has been provided and it is hoped that the efforts put forth by the committee may be amply rewarded by a large attendance and a good time.

Excursion to Detroit.

The Young People's Building Association of the Bethlehem church will give a grand excursion and basket picnic to Detroit and Belle Isle on Thursday, August 10, '93, for the benefit of the new church building fund. Fare for the round trip, including boat ride on Detroit river to Belle Isle and back, for $1.00. Children under 12 years, 50 cents. Bring your lunch baskets. Special train will leave the M. C. R. R. depot here at 7:05 a. m. and returning leave Detroit at 7:30 p. m. All friends of the church and others are cordially invited to take advantage of the cheap rate to visit Detroit and her beautiful Island Park.

Tickets will be on sale up to Wednesday evening at the following places: L. Gruner's, Koch & Henne's, Hutzel & Co., Ann Arbor Organ Co., Wahr & Miller, Illi & Reule, on E. Washington street; L. Rhode, on E. Huron street; and at the depot on the morning of departure by members of the committee. Secure your tickets at once and don't wait till the last day.

THE COMMITTEE.

Baumgardner's Marble Works.

A representative of the Argus having heard quite a few remarks about the improvements being made at Baumgardner's marble works, called at the office of that institution yesterday afternoon and was most courteously shown through the works. Since the incorporation of Ann Arbor as a city, over $1,000,000 worth of granite has been sold here, and of that amount not a dollar's worth of it was dressed here. This inspired Mr. Baumgardner with the idea of procuring a machine for polishing rough granite, which idea he immediately put into effect.

The machine is run by an electric motor, which also runs a huge grindstone used for sharpening tools. The whole outfit was purchased at a cost of over a thousand dollars, and is a witness to the untiring enterprise of Mr. Baumgardner. The granite is purchased directly from the quarry in carload lots, and then shipped here, where it is polished and worked into any desirable shape. Since obtaining the polisher, Mr. Baumgardner has manufactured a $300 and a $400 monument, to be placed in Forest Hill cemetery, and an $800 monument for the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Baumgardner employs twelve men, who are housed in a large, airy shed, which is constructed so that draughts of air remove the marble dust, or at least a great part of it. He also keeps a blacksmith, who does nothing but sharpen tools. The manufacture of granite monuments is very interesting, and our readers could not spend a more profitable hour than can be spent in viewing this new Ann Arbor industry.

Two Japanese girls and two boys of the same nationality spoke at Randolph Cook's grove, Sharon, last Sunday. A large crowd was present, and a collection of $19.11 was taken up for the orientals. The money will be used in defraying their expenses at school in Ann Arbor.—Grass Lake News.

W. H. Rogers has a knife in his boot, so to speak, for the rascal who entered his house by unlocking the kitchen door, about one o'clock last Saturday morning, and sneaked about ten dollars out of his trousers pocket. He took the garment from Mr. Rogers' bedroom into the kitchen, where he rifled it and made off with the contents before the family was thoroughly aroused and realized that someone was in the house. The thief left no clew, but Mr. R. thinks his money went in the same direction as Stannard's stolen shoes.—Dexter News.

A girl over at Brighton tried to ride a bicycle the other day. After she got out in the country a couple of miles her dress caught in the gearing of the frisky machine. The girl couldn't do a thing. It took all her strength to manage to get off the machine. After a while a young man came along. He couldn't free the girl without tearing the dress into shreds, and this she didn't want. The young man picked up wheel, girl and all; and carried them to the side of the road, and sent to town for a wrench. When it arrived the machine was taken apart, and she went home.—Chelsea Herald.

Committees of St. Mary's parish are very busily engaged in making arrangements for their first annual picnic at North Lake, on Tuesday, August 15, 1893. Mr. Louis Burg, of Liverpool, Ohio, the famous comic singer, who is so well known to Chelsea people as a fine artist, has promised to come. Negotiations are now pending for some good speakers, and there is a good probability that Col. John Atkinson, Rev. Dr. Reilly, of Detroit, Hon. T. E. Barkworth, of Jackson, and Hon. C. R. Whitman, of Ann Arbor, will be present and address the crowd. Singing will be an important feature of the picnic.—Chelsea Herald.

Our beloved contemporary, the Argus, stated in its last week's issue that Dexter is so proud of its new clerk that the Dexter Leader takes a column to talk about it. It's true that our people are proud of Mr. Barley, but this is the first space occupied by the Leader in talking about it. There's nothing new about Barley either, for he's an old timer, a good democrat, a lover of good literature, hence a devoted reader of the Argus. All this is, of course, to his credit; and this, too, is a kind of an "Old Uncle Josh" mode of advertising him in less space than a column. He is a true, honored member of the grand old democratic party.—Dexter Leader.

John Croarkin, Alfred Lavey and John Costello fell into a reminiscent mood last Monday morning as they met at the postoffice, and recited scenes of over forty years ago, when in each other's company they sailed for California. A fire on shipboard in mid-ocean was vividly recalled, and Alfred Lavey's attempt to cut a chain with his jackknife on which buckets were strung. When on their way from Sacramento into the mountains, with a limited supply of provisions, John Costello let the bag containing the eatables fall into a stream which they were crossing, causing almost as much fright as the fire in mid-ocean. It takes Reuben Queal, though, to tell some of the funny scenes of California life in the early 50's, especially the hotel scene with John Croarkin and Phil Armour.—Dexter Leader.

Mr. Chas. N. Hauer

Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Everything which could be thought of was done without good result, until he began taking which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Hauer is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent all who address C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner PILLS, assist digestion, cure headache and biliousness.

The Alkali Regions of Arizona.

The curious alkali pots or geysers are near Stein's pass, the birthplace of the Apaches, and it is a fitting place for them too. Whenever I have looked at this grim and ghastly region I have not wondered that the Apaches are savage. In the distance the country is as white (but for some opallike spots) as though melted lard had been poured over it. It is as white as snow and hard as plaster. It is almost as slippery, too, as glass. There are no flourlike splotches anywhere, and the wind does not carry the curious whiteness into the air. All that is to be seen is alkali and its effect. The reservoirlike places in the dazzling white are actual reservoirs of alkali water. Some of them are but as large as a bucket in diameter, while others are 30 or 40 feet across.

I have strung 100 feet of riata together and dropped it in and found no bottom. Neither cattle nor horses nor any living thing, so far as I know, will ever touch the water. They dare not, for a mouthful of it would kill. About the alkali pots and large reservoirs and scattered over the lava rocks, hot in the blazing sun, are the different forms of the cactus, and among all at times may be seen mottled reptiles crawling lazily in the heat.—San Francisco Examiner.

Drying Sheets and Tablecloths.

It is a good plan, always considered of course whether time and strength will allow, to take linen sheets and tablecloths from the line when about half dry, shake them and smooth them out, fold them once over and hang them over the line without any stretching or pulling. A couple of pins at a little distance from either edge will keep them in place. This gives more line room, which is often greatly needed and allows the pieces to dry in much better shape.

Many laundresses seem to think that clothes may be flung on the line in any way whatever, wrinkled, folded or twisted, as the case may be, but this means just so much additional work when ironing day comes. Things that are done right in the first place save much labor and perplexity as well as not a little wear and tear of the articles themselves.—New York Ledger.

A congregation which contemplates building a church in Allegheny, Pa., held a meeting the other night to discuss plans and to provide a temporary place of worship. After a discussion more or less prolonged one brother said: "I think it would be well for us to hire Hanna hall, and I make a motion to that effect." The motion was promptly seconded, and then a brother who had not followed the discussion very closely arose and said: "I don't know about this, brethren. I'm afraid your action is rather precipitate. Who is this Hannah Hall?"

NEVER A FAILURE.

The Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota has never had a failure of crops. It produced 30,000,000 bushels of wheat besides other cereals in 1890. Farms can be had on the crop plan, or long time cash payments. It is not an uncommon thing to pay for a farm from the proceeds of one crop. It has all of the advantages of an old country in the shape of school, church, market, postal & railway facilities and all the chances of a new country in the way of cheap lands, rich soil, and increase in values. It is one of the most fertile and promising regions in America not yet fully occupied. In the rush to the far west, however, this rich valley has been over-looked. It has room for a million more people. Write to F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn for particulars. Publications sent free.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Eberbach Drug and Chemical Co., Ann Arbor. Geo. J. Haussler, druggist, Manchester.

Nothing can be said in favor of the best medicine in the world that may not be said of the most worthless. In one case, it's true; in the other, it isn't;—but how can you distinguish?

Judge by what is done. There's only one blood-purifier that's guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and this is what is done with it; if it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you get your money back. Isn't it likely to be the best?

All the year round, as well at one time as another, it cleanses and purifies the system. All blood-poisons must go. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetters, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequalled remedy.

It's the cheapest, too. With this, you pay only for the good you get. And nothing else is just as good." It may be better for the dealer. But he isn't the one that's to be helped.

A Fearful Heritage.

Gentlemen: My wife and babe, fourteen months old, and a boy of five, have suffered for years from hereditary scrofula or King's Evil, and would frequently break out in sores. I have employed the best physicians, but found nothing to relieve them until I tried Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup. Have used fourteen bottles, and find to my astonishment they are entirely cured. Words cannot describe the value of your medicine as a blood purifier. I shall recommend it to all who are troubled from impure blood.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs were badly swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 550 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1893.

The hard times which oppress the country, came under the laws passed by a republican congress and signed by a republican president. They are due to two things, the Sherman silver law and the McKinley tariff bill, neither of which the democrats have yet had an opportunity to repeal. This fact is respectfully commended to the frenzied republican organs.

The council at its meeting, Monday night, will take up the consideration of the waterworks question. The time for talk has passed. Injunctive is out of place. Action is wanted. The city must have fire protection, and water suitable for domestic use must be obtained. The rumors concerning the lack of fuel, the dismantlement of the large pump, the fact that but one of the two boilers can be used, etc., should be investigated. The council, in order to look out for the interest of the city, needs to know the condition of the works, whether or not ample provision is made for a big conflagration. But to know this, they need other information than mere rumors. It would seem prudent to hire an expert to investigate the whole system, the works, the water supply, etc., so that the council may know just exactly where it stands and how far the company is deviating from its contract. The company should have fair treatment. But the city should see that it carries out its contract. After all, the Argus is inclined to believe that city ownership of the waterworks is what is needed.

How the School of Music Site Was Chosen.

It is due to the stockholders of the School of Music Building Association, and to all citizens interested in the project, that a statement be made giving the reasons why other locations were rejected, and the lot, No. 7 Maynard street, owned by the Latson heirs, was purchased. This is especially true since there has been some adverse criticism from persons whom the directors think have not given the matter as careful consideration as themselves.

For obvious reasons the board deemed it extremely desirable that the School of Music should be located near the University, and also near the street car line. The following properties were taken into consideration, and the advantages and disadvantages discussed from every standpoint:

Dr. W. H. Jackson's property, corner of Liberty and Division sts., price $10,000, on account of location was not considered satisfactory for the purpose.

Mr. C. H. Worden's residence and adjoining lot, corner of William and Thompson streets, price $9,000. The board wished only the vacant lot at $3,000, but could not purchase this without buying the entire property. This would burden the association, or the directors as individuals, with a residence worth $6,000 to be disposed of.

Mrs. Margaret R. Clancy's residence and adjoining house, corner William and Maynard streets, price $8,000. The lot on which the smaller house is located would have been entirely satisfactory, but could not be purchased alone. As in the case above, the directors would be obliged to sell the residence, valued at $5,500.

The property of Miss Rachel S. Smith, 16 South State street, price $7,000, was examined; also lot of Mr. J. E. Beal, next to Newberry Hall, price $6,000; the residence of Mrs. W. D. Smith, west corner of North University avenue and South Thayer street, price $5,500; also lot of Dr. Winchell estate, on opposite corner, which could not be purchased separate from the entire property; residence of Mrs. Mary Whiting, southeast corner of William and Maynard streets, price $5,000; also residence of Mr. Samuel Andrews, southwest corner of William and Maynard streets, price $4,100.

The house belonging to Mr. O. L. Matthews, on the west side of Maynard street, between Liberty and William streets, price $2,950; also property, No. 7 Maynard street, belonging to the Latson heirs, situated on the east side of Maynard street, price $2,060, were both taken into consideration.

The directors had about $12,000 in subscriptions with which to purchase a lot, erect a building of ample dimensions, to include hall, office, a number of teaching rooms with deadened walls, sufficient not only for present use, but for the future growth of the school, to maintain a guarantee fund, and also to purchase an organ, pianos, and whatever furnishings might be necessary. Had the board—whatever the sum subscribed—purchased property at $4,000 to $6,000, which would only be available as a site, it surely would have been subjected—and rightly, too—to the censure of persons of good business judgment.

The association was not organized for the purpose of buying and selling real estate, and the directors, therefore, would not be authorized to engage in such an enterprise. Certainly the directors, as individuals, could not be expected to assume such obligations for the association. This, consequently, would exclude the properties of Dr. Jackson, Mr. Worden and Mrs. Clancy. The prices asked for the properties of Miss Smith, Mr. Beal, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Whiting and Mr. Andrews were deemed altogether too high for the purpose, as the lots only were available, the houses themselves being of no consequence to the association.

The last two properties, namely, that of Mr. Matthews and the Latson heirs, were the only ones which the directors could afford to purchase with the fund subscribed. The one selected is, however, only about 250 feet north from the corner of William and Maynard streets, where the board was extremely anxious to locate the building. It is only this same distance from the street car line, and convenient to both University and High School. Probably the attendance at the school would not be affected one per cent simply from the building being located on any one of the sites named. After a thorough and careful canvass by the board, consisting of Messrs. H. S. Dean, Ottmar Eberbach, E. F. Mills, Moses Seabolt, L. D. Wines, G. F. Allmendinger, and A. L. Noble, also by the director, Prof. A. A. Stanley, all were well pleased with the location selected, and the decision was unanimous.

More About Mrs. Emma Covell.

Our readers will remember the case of the well-dressed young woman who fell in front of the residence of Christian Mack a few weeks ago, her strange actions and apparently contradictory stories. She was working her way to Dakota and according to the article in the Chicago Tribune, published below, has got as far as a hospital in Chicago.

While here she kept asking for Mrs. Julia Ricketts. This at the time was thought to be a blind, Mrs. Ricketts, who is a daughter of Daniel S. Millen, not now living in the city. The Argus editor recently met a sister of Mrs. Ricketts, who said that she knew Mrs. Covell and that she had been a very estimable lady, with whom Mrs. Ricketts boarded while in Dakota. That Mrs. Covell had had a great deal of trouble, her husband with whom she lived very happily being killed by lightning at the same time her father was killed. Afterwards she married some man in this county who is said to have maltreated her and then she went East to live with her mother. These facts gathered from a third party corroborate Mrs. Covell's strange story. The Chicago Tribune says:

Mrs. E. Covell is, or rather was when she was sound in health and body, a good looking woman, having the appearance of intelligence and refinement. Her attire was neat, modest and in good taste. Three years ago her husband died, leaving her at the age of thirty to make her own way in the world. This she was able to do until misfortune overtook her.

Last spring she went to visit a sister at Newark. Early in May she started to return to her home in Sanborn, S. D. She was coming west on the Michigan Central. Some miles east of Jackson, Mich., she went to the water cooler to get a drink. A sudden lurch of the car threw her violently to the floor. She felt a sharp pain in her back, and that was the last she knew for some time. When she regained consciousness she was unable to help herself. Every motion of the train caused her intense agony.

When Jackson was reached she was removed from the train and taken to the city hospital. There she was told she had sustained a severe injury of the spine. It might be weeks before she would be able to walk, or it might be months; perhaps she never would walk.

Week dragged after week and found no improvement in her condition. Mrs. Covell says the Michigan Central railroad company paid the expenses of keeping her at the hospital. However this may be, and whether he had a right or not, the overseer of the poor, a man named Hawley, went to the hospital Thursday and told Mrs. Covell he had come to send her to her home in Sanborn. It would not have required a particularly keen observer to see that the woman was in no condition to be moved. The president of the hospital is Dr. Williams. The hospital physician is Dr. Wright. How much or how little blame is to be laid at their door for permitting her to be moved cannot now be known.

At all events, Mrs. Covell was taken to the depot and placed on board a west-bound train. Then she was given a ticket which read to Chicago instead of Sanborn, S. D. She protested, expostulated, and begged Overseer Hawley to give her a through ticket. But Overseer Hawley told her she would be sent on from Chicago and left her.

It is 210 miles from Jackson to Chicago; it seemed like 210,000 to poor Mrs. Covell, for every lurch of the car caused her agony. What she suffered cannot be imagined, much less described. At last Chicago was reached. Utterly exhausted, and too faint to move, Mrs. Covell was carried out of the car and into the station by the trainmen. The matron did all she could for her, but that was not much.

Mrs. Covell has a sister in Newark, N. J., but her circumstances are not such as to permit her to help the cripple. Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary E. Prindle, lives on a farm near Sanborn, S. D. She, too, is in humble circumstances, but she is still willing to give Mrs. Covell a home and care. But this is all she can do. Prairie fires last spring destroyed granaries and out-houses, so the family cannot raise the money to pay Mrs. Covell's passage. So when the Jackson authorities learned of her they determined to get rid of her somehow or another, lest she might become a burden on the county.

Although the horses were driven at a walk down the smooth pavement of Michigan avenue, the ride to St. Luke's hospital caused her intense pain. She was exhausted and suffering greatly when placed in bed. Late last night the hospital authorities reported that her condition had not improved.

Europe reports 70,000,000 people wearing wooden shoes.

One of their clerks did not appear that morning, however, and his absence enabled them to put this construction on the telegram: "Amos quite ill."

A FATHER'S DEED.

Joseph Ashley Kills His Babe at Clark's Siding.

While in a Drunken Rage He Dashes Out His Little One's Brains Against a Post—He Is Placed Under Arrest.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

CADILLAC, July 29.—At Clark's Siding, north of Manton, on Friday night Joseph Ashley, in a drunken rage, snatched his own child from the hands of his brother and dashed its brains out against a post. Ashley was very violent and quarrelsome in the house, and the brother took the child out in the yard to keep it from the father. The father followed him, and after a struggle, got the child, and before he could be prevented committed his crime. He was arrested and brought here. The victim was only a baby about 1 year and a half old.

When arrested Ashley denied his guilt, charging his brother with the crime. Afterward he confessed. His wife swore at the inquest that his brother was the guilty one. She has been placed under arrest.

GAVE BIG MORTGAGES.

Hon. Isaac M. Weston, of Grand Rapids, Embarrassed.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 30.—Isaac M. Weston, president of the Michigan world's fair commission and widely known in business and political circles, filed real estate mortgages Saturday to the amount of $67,420, of which $55,000 was to banks and the balance to his brother. Of the security thus given, $10,000 is on personal obligations and the rest for contingent liabilities as indorser. He says that in his lumbering and other operations he found that he could not meet papers coming due, and to secure extensions gave the mortgages as additional security, and when the flurry is over he will straighten out everything. Mr. Weston has been at the head of the Democrat for two years, but the paper is in a stock company, and it will not in the least be affected. He was president of the Whitehall savings bank, but resigned Friday, and H. E. Staples was elected in his place. The bank will not be affected any.

The citizens turned out in force and a heavy rain coming on helped to obtain control over the flames. A large lot of lumber belonging to Ketcham & Co., of Chicago, was destroyed. A FEW WOMEN RIDERS

ONE OF MRS. CUSTER'S TRIPS ON HORSEBACK IN A BLIZZARD.

Several Noted Women Who Take Much Pleasure and Exercise in Horseback Riding—A Southern Rider—Miss Jordan's Riding Outfit.

The privilege of horseback riding was one not generally accorded to women until within our grandmother's time, and it is not until our own day that the canons of propriety dictate the liberty of a woman riding without an escort.

Thus custom has made it impossible, speaking generally, for women to have become accomplished in the art of riding, although there have been a few like the famous maid of Bregenz, Joan of Arc and the nautch heroine, Frieda, who have saved nations by their daring horsemanship.

Much has been said about woman—that she is fickle, wavering and sentimental—but her worst enemy gives her the powers of endurance, instinct and courage.

These are just the qualities which go to make a perfect rider. French women as a rule do not take to riding; they prefer driving and less fatiguing sports. But the German, Russian, English and American women seem as though born to the saddle when once they are initiated into its properties and pleasures.

The empress of Germany sits a saddle like an amazon and rides a horse but few men dare mount. She appears on gala occasions by her husband's side and looks ever in—what she is—the wife of a ruler and the daughter of a queen.

In London the Prince of Wales' daughters are fair riders and have covered much ground, while Princess Mary of Teck is far famed for her skill as a horsewoman.

In America, or to be more local, in New York, there lives one woman who has eclipsed all her nineteenth century sisters in horseback riding, for to her it was a necessity, not a luxury. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Custer, the wife of the late celebrated general who gained so many victories on the frontier, and who died valiantly fighting for his country.

Mrs. Custer leads a very quiet, uneventful, peaceful life in her home upon Lexington avenue, with only a few months' lecturing tour and an occasional trip abroad to break the monotony.

After her stirring life upon the frontier one wonders that everyday domestic life suffices her. She has eaten breakfast, dinner and tea to the tattoo of a drum and the warwhoop of Indians. She has lived in the saddle for months at a time. She has traveled over all the broad western states in their crudest and most primitive condition, and proven the statement that women can stand hardship as well as men.

Mrs. Custer is of the opinion that women, when the occasion calls for it, manage horses with more judgment than men. She thinks that some of the sensitiveness of the rider permeates the animal's intelligence, and he realizes that he has a precious burden in his care. Then, she says, a woman is so much lighter on a horse, and so very lithe, swaying and moving in harmony with the animal, whereas a man weighs down heavily upon the back, and from his very carriage necessitates a tremendous load.

"The Indian women," remarked Mrs. Custer, "ride like beings of supernatural lineage, throbbing with life, spirit and muscular elasticity."

A famous ride of Mrs. Custer was made through the snowdrifts of North Dakota, where she was the life of the party and prepared the scant amount of food in a delicate, appetizing way, as only a woman could. Any one who knows aught of a Dakota snowstorm is aware of the peril the Custer party were in—miles and miles from a station and with no means of making known their distress. The snow, ice and sleet piled round them like uprooted monuments anxious to bury them beneath their huge bases and leave only the howling winds to tell the story.

Hours and days passed without a sign of the storm's abatement. The skies took on the deathly color of sorrowful gray and the low cries of animals in pain rent the air. Yet through all this uncanny, terrible life the brave woman lay wrapped in her blankets telling simple, interesting tales in a charming way and keeping the anxious minds from thoughts of hunger and of death from the bitter cold.

Mrs. E. S. Beach, teacher of riding at the New York riding school, is one of the most graceful and robust of the New York equestriennes. She first became acquainted with a horse when a girl of 5. She has made that noble beast her best friend ever since. She spends 10 hours a day in the saddle and declares that she does not know the meaning of the words ache and pain.

"My longest ride was through the big tree district in California," replied Mrs. Beach to a question put to her in regard to long rides. "I was in the saddle for several weeks steadily and rode over much rough country."

Elizabeth Jordan, the talented writer, spent over a month on horseback in the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee. She started out with a long riding habit and all sorts of fashionable paraphernalia, but gradually disposed of these accessories and came down to a short gown and a gripsack.

"The greatest trouble I found about riding in the southern mountains," she said, "was that the distances between towns was too great, and the darkness came over the paths too quickly. I enjoyed every hour of my trip and studied the characteristics of the people with interest and curiosity."

Miss Alice MacGowan, the daughter of a well known southern editor, has won quite a reputation in her native state, Tennessee, and in Texas for her wonderful riding powers. She rode a thousand miles at a stretch two years ago over the Tennessee mountains and through North Carolina, carrying only such baggage as could be attached to the saddle, and stopping for brief stays at humble mountain cabins. She has spent months in the Texas cattle and sheep country on lonely and remote ranches in typical cattle towns and frontier settlements, riding the range, attending roundups and roping contests, visiting sheep camps and living as completely as possible the wild, untrammelled life of a frontier woman.

Miss MacGowan, who taught school in Texas, was obliged to ride 20 miles a day to and from the schoolhouse.—New York Telegram.

Letting Children Alone.

In order to thrive children require a certain amount of "letting alone." Supreme faith in the mother, few toys, plain food, no drugs and early to bed are the best things for making them happy. It will be necessary to begin very early in their lives to teach the little ones to be contented with simple pleasures. When the baby first sits on the floor, a teacup and spoon or a tin box with a cover will amuse him better than a high priced toy. When older, give him rice, sawdust or meal to measure with a spoon, or in any way that pleases him.—Exchange.

A Fast Color.

Miss A.—Some people's faces always betray their feelings, but fortunately I am not so constituted.

Mrs. B.—Yes. I have seen you faint without even changing color.—Life.

The Courtesy She Expected.

"When I was down in North Carolina last," remarked the drummer, "I met a mountaineer beauty in Asheville for a day's sightseeing. She was tall and angular, and her calico dress and limp sunbonnet of the same material clung to her as if they had no other support in the wide world. Her face was freckled. I met her in the railroad station, waiting for a train, and she spotted me on sight.

"'Ain't you a drummer?' she inquired.

"'I'm a traveling salesman,' I replied. 'What will you have?'

"'I want to know about my train, anther ain't nobody round that seems to know anything. Drummers know it all,' she laughed.

"I told her what she wanted to know, and then she branched off.

"I wuz over thar in the men's side uv the deopot awhile ago," she said, 'lookin' round, and when I went in thar every man was smokin', and the way they treated me wuz real insultin'.

"'You didn't expect them to stop smoking when you came in, did you?' I asked. 'That's their waiting room, you know, and they have the right of way.'

"She tapped the floor with the toe of her big calfskin shoe for a moment.

"'But they might have been polite,' she contended weakly.

"'What did you want them to do?'

"'Well, some uv 'em,' and here she pointed, 'might 'a' axed me to smoke.'

"Then I offered her my cigar case, and she took all I had, and I smiled."—Detroit Free Press.

Disconcerted.

Patrick and Michael went out hunting one rainy day—it was the only day that they could get off. All went well with them until, when they were several miles from home, they discovered that neither one had brought a cartridge, and that not a shot could be fired.

"Beggara," said Pat cheerfully, "what's that to do with the huntin'? Is the want of a cartridge anny rayson to prevent a man from huntin'?"

"None at all," said Michael.

So they continued to hunt. By and by a rabbit started up close to Pat and then came to a stop, curiously watching the hunters. Pat instantly brought his gun to his shoulder.

"The gossoon that ye air!" exclaimed Mike. "Wud ye shoot him widout a carthridge?"

The rabbit hopped away.

"Whisht!" said Pat angrily, "there ye go, spillin' the sport wid yer blatherin' tongue!"

"Patrick! An yer gun was not loaded!"

"Sure, ye spalpeen. But the rabbit would niver 'a' knowed it if ye'd hild yer blather!"
