THE MISSING JONES SUICIDES IN YPSILANTI

Driven to Desperation, He Uses the Revolver on Himself with which He Shot Smith.-His Father and Mother Arrested.

A New Mill Dam Suit.

Thomas Fleming, of Lyndon township, has filed a bill in chancery through his attorney, Charles R. Whitman, asking for an injunction restraining Beeman & Rummel from flooding seventy acres of his land with water. The bill sets forth that Orson Beeman and Jacob Rummel are owners of the Waterloo grist mill, which is situated on the creek flowing from the western outlet of Sugar Loaf lake, which stream flows across Flemings' land and near the center of his land widens out into a large pool or small lake, and then flows into a narrower form until it reaches the mill pond, that for several years Beeman & Rummel have maintained at the upper end of the mill pond a flood gate, which has caused the water to overflow seventy acres of Fleming's land, that besides rendering the land unfit for cultivation, the overflowing of it with water in June and July causes foul odors to arise. Mr. Fleming asks for an injunction restraining Beeman & Rummel from overflowing his land.

An Encounter with a Burglar.

Wednesday night about midnight Comstock F. Hill, an old and wealthy resident of Lodi Plains, was aroused from his slumbers by the ringing of an electrical burglar alarm connecting his barn and residence. He and his son Ernest arose, hastily dressed themselves and started for the barn, Mr. Hill being armed with a double-barrelled shot gun and Ernest Hill with a revolver. They separated, one going one way around the barn and the other the other. In a moment the burglar appeared in the door of the shed of the barn. Mr. Hill raised his gun and fired full at the burglar, but failed, so far as known, to hit him. The burglar returned the fire with a revolver, sending two bullets after Mr. Hill, and then started to run around the barn. As he went through the gate, Mr. Hill fired the other barrel at him but lar appeared in the door of the shed fired the other barrel at him but without bringing him down. As he ran around the barn he encountered ing letter by mail from the suicide: young Hill who fired at the burglar when about 60 feet distant. The burglar ran toward Hill and when 10 or 15 feet away fired.

The ball embedded itself in young was house Hill's watch, but did no further harm. The burglar then, closed in on Hill and struck him over the head with a revolver, knocking him down. In the meantime Mr. Hill had returned to the house, reloaded his gun, and returned to the affray. Young Hill having recovered from the blow dealt him, started for the house, and meeting his father informed him that he (Ernest) was shot. His father returned with him to the house, and the burglar made his escape.

It was afterwards found that the burglar had been in the house, entering through a front window. He had been to the secretary and removed therefrom $110 or $115 in cash, and had then gone to the barn stock in the story about the mother to steal a horse. In entering the not knowing of the stolen goods shed to the barn he sprung the elec- and say that it does not agree with tric burglar alarm, which aroused her story. Mr. Hill and his son. FIGHT WITH A BURGLAR by his own hand. He committed suicide Wednesday. With frozen feet and hands, aware that the officers were after him, with a scar on Seven Shots Fired at Comstock F. Hill's his neck which prevented concealment, denied shelter at his mother's house, he lacked the courage to crimes and took his own life.

night William Iones appeared at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Simpson, Prospect street, Ypsilanti. He was warned by his mother that it was no place for him, the officers were watching and they were looking after the house with the idea that he might come back. He asked to get warm. His hands and feet were frozen. He had ridden back to Ypsilanti from Jackson on the bumpers and exposure in the winter weather had told on him. He had a hunted look in his face. His mother impressed on him the fact that he must not stay in Ypsilanti. He replied that he wouldn't bother her long as he intended to make away with himself. After setting by the fire for awhile he went out, stepped across the lane into an orchard and then shot himself. He was found at once by Charles Simpson with a bullet hole in his head. He had shot himself in the right temple and his lifeless body lay face downward in the snow with a bull dog revolver under it. The suicide occurred shortly after midnight.

Justice Beach empaneled a coroner's jury and the inquest will be held this morning.

A letter was found on Jones's person which was as follows:

Son which was as follows:

This is to certify that I have this night taken my own life. My mother has closed her doors on me. My feet are frozen so bad I can't walk, so every avenue of escape is cut off I hope the courts will not hold my dear mother responsible for anything that was found in her house that was stolen. I know she was asleep when it was brought in the house. I also wish to take all blame off Chas. Simpson. He is innocent. He knew nothing about any of the things that was found. He was also asleep when they came in. I will now explain the whole thing in which I was connected. I cannot remember the night we took the hams and bacon, but they were left in the woodshed until the morning the officers came to arrest us, then they were brought in the cellar, as I expected to go to Chicago that day, but I am no nearer Chicago now than I was then. I hope my dear mother, sister and stepfather will forgive me for the awful disgrace that I have brought upon them. I shot an officer three or four times, but I have suffered ten

I know the people will look down upon you and think you knew all about it, but you was asleep when that stuff came into your house. Please do not worry over us boys, for I think we are not worthy of so good a mother. It was despondency that drove me to do it. I have been out of work so long without money or clothes so what could I do? I am in a barn, they have searched for me, but was not game enough to go but I will not stop to find out. At about nine o'clock Wednesday | Committee On Buildings Favorably Dis posed.-Congressman Griffin's Telegraph Bill .- Mr. Gorman's Accident. - Michigan Notes.

> Special Correspondence from Capitol New Co). Washington D. C., Feb. 19, 1894, Heretofore Congressman Griffin has been keeping pretty quiet and learning how to be a congressman, He has, up to date, introduced only two private pension bills, but he has been preparing a bill he is about to introduce that will be decidedly public in its character. The time may grow ripe for such a bill, and stant. The committee on Postofsometime, but probably not during Mr. Griffin's time as a congressman, and possibly not in the present century, such a bill may pass. The bill is to provide for the ownership by the government of all telegraph ines, as the government now own and controls the postoffices. When questioned about his proposed bill,

Ir. Griffin said:

Poor Health No Appetite

Neuralgia - Very Miserable Hood's Sarsaparilla Cave Cood Health.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. "About one ago, I was in very poor health and had no appetite. I could not work, for I did not have any energy. I was suffering with neuralgia and the pain was intensified by my being kicked by a horse. Altogether I Was Very Miserable and had fallen away so that I only weighed ninety pounds. I took doctor's medicine, but it did me no good. Perchance I noticed an adver-tisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the Christian Evangelist. I sent at once for a bottle of the medicine. When I had emptied the bottle my appetite was quite good and I was A Good Deal Stronger.

I therefore kept on until I had taken three bottles. By that time I was well, and my weight Hood's Sarsa Cures had increased to 120 pounds. Mrs. SARAH E.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

A petition was received from the Ferguson Cart & Carriage Co., asking permission to erect a frame barn on the south side of the residence of A. P. Ferguson, about ten or fifteen feet from the west property line.

Ald. Wagner moved that the petition be referred to a special committee of three.

Adopted.

President Watts appointed the following committee:

Ald. Prettyman, Wood and Manly. A petition of Ambrose Kearney as administrator of the estate of Richard Suppel, deceased, makes the petition in behalf of said estate, that on the 1st of January, 1894, Richard Supple was in the employ of the city, as a laborer, in constructing the main sewer and upon the premises of Heinzmann & Laubengayer, the said Richard Suppel was buried in said sewer causing his death. The petition represents that the said Richard Suppel left surviving him Johanna Kennedy, that she was wholly dependent upon him for support and maintenance. Petition asks damages to wit the sum of $6,000

"Ignorance of things ginerally pervents us from enjoyin a dreadful lot of happiness in this life," said Aaron Linscott to the minister one day. He was given to this form of discourse with the clergyman, doubtless on the same principle that led him to talk sickness with his doctor and crops with his neighbors.

You git a ter'ble blind view of life an the way things is runnin if you don't edicate yourself up to knowin a blessin when you see it. When I see folks throwin their blessin's away, it allers makes me think of a barr'l of cranb'ries.'

A barrel of cranberries! If the visitor felt small interest before, he certainly lacked none now. He expressed his surprise none now. He expressed his surprise.

"Yis, a barr'l of cranb'ries," said Aaron.
"When I was out in the West Injies, there was a man tuk keer of me when I was sick, an he wouldn't take pay, but said I could send him somethin off the farm, so when I got home I shipped him a barr'l of cranb'ries by a vessel that was goin out from our place.

"Well, after a time a letter kem back. He writ very perlite an seemed grateful, but he said, most unfort'nate, that the fruit looked putty, but he hed to throw it away, for in comin it hed turned sour."

And then Aaron added his moral, "That's what I call missin the sweetness of things 'cause you didn't know how to get at it." Youth's Companion.

She Got a Pass.

Mayor Joe Rhinock of Covington last evening related to his friends an amusing adventure of the day before. A colored woman, burdened with a lusty, squalling baby, called at his office. "Am dis de mayor?" she wanted to know

"It am," responded the executive. "Den jest you sit down and write me a pass to Pruitts, Ky.," she ordered, without any palpable waste of words.

His honor explained that this was not one of his prerogatives and that her request would have to be laid before the chairman of the council relief committee.

"It does, eh?" asked the madam. "I'ze got to catch dat 2 o'clock train. Gimme dat pass, or I leave de baby!" She made a motion to drop the pickaninny into Mr. Rhinock's lap. That settled the argument She got the pass.-Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Last Monday Gov. Rich, after listening to their defense, served formal notice of removal upon the members of the state canvassing board for gross neglect of duty in canvassing the returns on the salaries amendment to the constitution last spring. The end is not yet, however, as they refuse to surrender their offices. Quo warranto proceeding have, therefore, been commenced in the Supreme Court to determine by what authority they continue to exercise the functions of their respective offices in the face of the governor's order of removal.

To the lasting honor of Joseph Pulitzer, of the New York World, be it said that, although a millionaire several times over, he is a consistent advocate of the income tax. The World, in fact, is the only great metropolitan paper that has warmly and ably advocated this just tax from the start. He believes that as the possessors of wealth are the greatest beneficiaries of the government, they should willingly contribute their just share towards the maintenance of the governmental burdens. If there were more people of wealth possessed of the spirit of Mr. Pulitzer, there would be in this country a more equitable distribution of wealth and less friction between classes.

Tis said that the sub committee of the senate finance committee is in favor of reporting the Wilson bill in substantially the condition they received it from the House. The desire for changes in the interest of on sugar, Senators White, of California, and Smith, of New Jersey do policy of tariff reform applied to their states and the New York senators are said to have promised a hearing to interested parties and threaten to vote with the Republicans to recommit the bill, if these hearings are not granted. Such log-rolling schemes are of course expected of the supporters of protection, but that the professional advocates of tactics is infamous. The McKinley bill, the most disreputable tariff measure ever forced throught Con-"herring" combinations. Whole people. paragraphs are said to have been copied verbatim from the documents furnished by the trusts and protected interests. It was a dishonest measure throughout, framed in the interest of classes as opposed to the masses, and consequently such tactics were befitting its origin and purpose.

Such, however, is not the history of the Wilson bill. It is a conservative, honest measure, framed in the interest of the people, and designed to redeem the platform pledges of the Democratic party. These pledges were accepted by the people and the majority in Congress was commissioned to carry them out. That any Democrat should now be found willing to engage in the miserable log-rolling methods of the Three things will be especially noted. Ann Arbor is spelled Ann Arbour. This spelling in the records continues down to 1833. There were only three towns in the county. In 1829 four towns were shown in the county, the fourth town being the township of Panama. The third Osborne, of Owosso. interesting fact is the small number of votes cast in the county, 247 in all. In November of the same year the vote had increased to 277 and in 1829 it had increased to 444.

How an Enemy was Foiled

Hiow an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and be those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had take a possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around every waist, together with/an indescribable and the ling to their universal conclusion, there is melef. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

CHARGE UPON WHICH THREE OFFI-CIALS WERE OUSTED.

Governor Rich's Application For a Mandamus to Compel a Recanvass of the 1891 Vote on the Salaries Amendment Argued Before the Supreme Court-An Opinion Expected Next Tuesday.

LANSING Feb. 20. - At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon Governor Rich announced that he had decided to declare vacant the offices of land commissioner, state treasurer and secretary of state. An hour later the formal order removing John C. Berry, Joseph F. Ham-bitzer and John W. Jochim was filed in the office of the secretary of state and seized upon the offices.

The governor's order of removal re-cites the various charges made against the three officials in connection with the '93 canvass, their appearance in answer to the charges, the hearing and charges preferred. The order then concludes: "Therefore, by virtue of the author ity vested in me by the constitution, I. John T. Rich, governor of the state of Michigan, do hereby remove you, John W. Jochim, from your office of secretary of state, and you, Joseph F. Hambitzer, from your office of state treasurer, and you, John T. Berry, from your office of commissioner, for gross neglect of duty, as members of the board of state canvassers, and said offices of secretary of state, state treasurer and commissioner of the state land office are hereby declared vacant."

JOHN T. RICH. the governor's decision that the three named had been proved guilty of the said:

LANSING, Feb. 21.-Governor Rich has not yet appointed successors to Jochim, Hambitzer and Berry. He will await the action of the supreme court as to whether the governor has the power to remove state officers. It is almost positively known that Washington Gardner of Albion will be secretary of state if Secretary Jochim's removal

LANSING, Feb. 21.—Nearly the entire afternoon Tuesday was occupied in the supreme court in arguments upon the application of Governor Rich for a mandamus to compel the state board of canvassers to convene and recanvass the 1891 vote on the salaries amendment. Edward Cahill, ex-justice of the supreme court, and Harrison Geer appeared for the governor, and J. P. Lee for the board, while Otto Kirchner of Detroit appeared as special counsel for Detroit appeared as special counsel for Attorney General Ellis in an attempt to prevent the issuance of the writ, as it would result in a defeat of the amendment and require a return by Ellis of $5,000 in salary. The court took the case under advisement and announced that it would come on again on Tuesday next. An opinion is expected at that time.

PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

morning. There are but three witnesses needed now to complete the case, so far as the grand jury is concerned, against the amendment conspiracy of 1893 and the man who instigated and carried out the foregree of stigated and carried out the forgery of the election returns of 1891.

The first witness Wednesday morning was John Cole of the auditor general's office. He was followed by Auditor General Stanley Turner, who had come over with Mr. Cole. Mr. Turner carried a bundle which contained the vouchers for all the money paid to At-torney General Ellis since the amendment was passed in 1891.

Captain Alex Cameron, the deputy land commissioner, was before the jury for a few minutes. Rudolph Lutz, who now lives in Mason, but in 1891 was in the secretary of state's office and assisted in the canvass of the vote: E. R. Haven of the land office: William Woods, colored, of the auditor general's office; Kacherine Blair, a clerk in the secretary of state's office, who had tes-Whitely of the land office, Adele Haslett of the land office, H. L. Shults of the auditor general's office, C. H. Chapman and O. S. Kerr of the secretary of th state's office, who had testified before, were all recalled to answer a few short and direct questions upon matters that they had previously remained silent about or which confirmed statements made by other witnesses.

LANSING, Feb. 17.—The first witness before the grand jury Friday was Dr. Webster, an attorney from Ionia. He was before the jury for about 10 min-utes. What he said cannot be posi-tively known, of course; the grand jury meeting in secret. It it understood, however, that he testified that last April Jochim, on his way to Lansing, met the doctor at the depot in Ionia. Jochim told him that the amendment was defeated. That was before the metting of the canvassing board—a small circumstance, perhaps, but a link in the chain of evidence that the prosecutor is slowly and rather painfully trying to weave.

Lansing, Feb. 19.—Ex-Senator J. H.
D. Stevens was before the grand jury at Mason Saturday. His testimony was to the effect that Attorney General Ellis on Jan. 21 attempted to induce him to assist in changing the figures of the Gogebic election returns. A. Garner, cashier of the People's Saving bank at Ironwood, was also a witness. He is in precisely the same position as Postmaster Healey—that is, he signed one of Mr. Ellis' affidavits.

until evening.

MASON, Feb. 21.—Fourteen witnesses were before the grand jury Tuesday. They were principally clerks in the senate and house of the last legislature and department clerks in the capitol. Ex-Clerk Warren was of the number examined and it is believed that he gave important testimony in regard to gave important testimony in regard to the canvass of 1893. He had been before the jury before, but again appeared at his own request.

DE FRANCE MAKES A DENIAL. Says His Fathor-In-Law Was a Bird Dealer and Not a Showman.

Kalamazoo, Feb. 22.—Stonewall J De France was seen in the jail in regard to a story published in a Toronte paper that his wife was the daughter of a circus proprietor named Barnard. He is absolutely false. Mrs. De France was the daughter of a former well known citizen of Toronto, Karl Von Bergman. Mr. Von Bergman was for years a dealer in birds and animals for zoological gardens, importing from the West Indies and other countries. At the time of his death his estate was reported to be worth $200,000, but that was excessive.

Bealth of the State.

Scarlet fever was reported at 53 places, diphtheria at 25, typhoid fever at 18, measles at 15 and smallpox at 2 places. Consumption was reported present by 39 per cent of the observers making weekly

Pythians Celebrated.

GRAND RAPIDS, Feb. 20.-Monday was a great day in this city for Pythianism. Aside from the usual brotherly patriotism to be drawn out by Pythian day, there was the laying of the cornerstone of the handsome new Pythian temple, and the double celebration was made a grand one. The ceremonies began with a parade through streets gaily decorated with the colors of the order, and although the weather was bitterly cold, the parade was very large. There were brass bands and inspiring music. uniforms, glistening accounterments and the pretty plumes danced gaily in the wind.

In their answer the A. W. Wright Lumber company claims that it already had a line traveling the same route and also that the Flint and Pere Marquette did not give it the rates promised in the Paccaloni Innocent.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 17.-After being out two hours, the jury in the case of Paccaloni, who was charged with murdering his wife, brought in a verdict of not guilty. The result of the trial surprised everybody, as the gult of Paccaloni seemed to be a fore-gone conclusion. McMahon, Oran & Snell, the attorneys for the defense, are the talk of the town, as they not only had to contend with a case that seemed to present no hope, but with a brilliant prosecution as well. The case occupied a week, and the courtroom was crowded to suffocation every day.

Struck by a Train.

IONIA, Feb. 21.—Henry Sprague and William B. Taylor, two prominent farmers of Berlin, were returning home and while attempting to cross the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee track at Steele street the horses were struck by a passenger train and one killed. The two men were thrown from the wagon quite a distance, but by a miracle escaped unburt. The horses were owned by Mr. Sprague and the one killed was valued at $200.

They Smuggled Horses.

ALPENA, Feb. 21.—James H. Black-more and William Eagle, farmers of this county, were arrested by United States Officer Carter, charged with smuggling four horses from Canada. The men claimed to be Canadian emigrants and as such entitled to bring the horses in free of duty. As a matter of fact they were residents of Michigan. They will be taken to Bay City for trial.

Jag-Cure Law Invalid.

Lansing, Feb. 21.—The supreme court reversed the decision of Circuit Judge Kelly of Alpena in the case of the senate of the Happy Home Clubs of America vs. the Board of Supervisors of Alpena County. The court's opinion is, in effect, a declaration that the socalled jag-cure act of the last legislature is invalid.

Cornell Disgraced.

Experience keeps a dear school but Cornell can learn in none other This conclusion may be drawn from the reports of the freshman ban quet or rather "melee" which wa held Tuesday night. The particu lars of the "fun" as it is called, a near as can be learned, are as fol

The banquet was spread in the large hall tormerly occupied by the Masonic fraternities. At 9 o'clock the freshmen were to meet on the hill and march down to the banque hall. Tioga street was well filled with students long befor o o'clock waiting for the coming freshmen, ready to pounce upon them and spoil their banquet. The whole o the Ithaca police force was on hand to quell any serious trouble. Abou ten o'clock the freshmen reached Tioga street. Then a "rush," as they called it, began, but in reality it was nothing less than a free fight. The freshmen surged toward the door leading up to the hall were attacked from all sides. Faces were punched, hats smashed, and a general melee resulted in which the officers, were tossed about like chaff. The "rush" was only ended when the last freshman was safely in the hall.

until about 11 o'clock, when a sensation was discovered. First appeared a colored woman, led by two men. She was fainting and apparently nearly dead. She was taken to a doctor's office, and means taken to resuscitate her. But all attempts proved of no avail, and a few moments after 11 o'clock she died. Soon after she was led out of the building a number of students were carried out. The efforts to revive them proved more successful, and they recovered sufficiently to be taken home and put under care of physicians.

A vigorous investigation as to the cause of the trouble showed that someone had entered the room underneath the kitchen and bored two holes in the ceiling above. On the table stood a large jug corked. In the cork were two rubber tubes, which ran nearly up to the ceiling where they connected with two glass tubes. These ran through the holes in the floor, thus liberating in the room above the gas generated from the jug, which was found to be chlorine, a mixture of salt and sulphuric acid. There was, however, no clue to the party who had been guilty of this dastardly piece of business. A rigid investigation is being made and if the culprit is found he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the

TILT IN THE SENATE

AN AIR OF ACRIMONY PERVADED THE CHAMBER.

Senators Accuse Each Other of Unworthy Acts-Still No Quorum In the House on the Bland Silver Seigniorage Bill-Effort to Adjourn Over Washington's Birthday Failed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 .- The tariff question came up in quite an unexpected way in the senate Wednesday and for two hours it held the floor to the exclusion of all other business. The matter was indirectly alluded to by Senator Voorhees, who arose to a question of privilege to deny a newspaper statement indicating that the Democratic members of the finance committee were submitting to the president's directions in matters relating to the tariff bill.

After this denial by Senator Voor-hees Senator Chandler of New Hampshire precipitated the discussion of the day by an inquiry as to the part that Senator Mills is performing in the consideration of the bill in committee and whether he is still acting as the proxy of Senator McPherson since the latter's return to the city. Senator Voorhees at first referred Senator Chandler to the record for his in-formation, but when the New Hampshire senator insisted upon a direct answer, Senator Voorhees finally de-clared that it was no business of the senator how the finance committee con-sidered the bill. This provoked an air of acrimony and for the next hour senatorial courtesy had no place in this dignified body. Many senators accused each other of unworthy acts, and Senator Vest finally quoted from a record in an attempt to prove that Senator Chandler had promised to take care of certain officials in the southern states in 1876 if they would decide against the Democracy and in favor of Hayes for the presidency.

The controversy was finally brought to a close by Senator McPherson and Senator Mills both explaining their positions, the former stating that Sen ator Mills, at his request, was still acting as a member of the finance subthat he was opposed to public hearings and did not believe in consulting the tariff beneficiaries in framing a law solely designed to check their rapacity and benefit the whole people.

Still No Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 .- Mr. Bland failed to secure a quorum Wednesday on his motion and after four hours of fruitless rollcalls the house adjourned. The highest number of votes polled was 170, 9 short of a quorum. An effort was made to adjourn over Washington's birthday, but Mr. Bland insisted that if the Democrats of the house could not do business it was not proper to fritter away time on holidays and his supporters sustained him.

The big brute first sprang upon Mrs. Allison, fastened his teeth in her neck and threw her down. Her throat was torn and she was bleeding fearfully, but splendid courage saved her from an immediate and hor-rible death. She managed to regain her feet and fought the mad dog desperately, but coolly. Finally, after he had mangled her arm, she flung him off. He rolled over on the floor, sprang up again and attacked her little granddaughter, crunching her arm and shoulder in his bloody jaws. Mrs. Allison bravely flew to the rescue and beat the mad brute off. then ran out of the house and, after biting several dogs, attacked a man, who crushed its skull with a rock. The other dogs that were bitten have been killed. Mrs. Allison and her grand-daughter left immediately with a physician for Chicago to be placed under the Pasteur treatment.

Against the Silver Basis.

Prof. F. M. Taylor Monday evening discussed "Some Recent Phases of YANKTON, Feb. 20. - Mrs. Choska, nee the Monetary System in the United Cora Bell Fellows, who was married at | States." His treatment of this complicated subject was clear and unpartisan although his position was stated in an unmistakeable manner.

> The Professor severely criticised our present monetary system, stating that it was complex, unstable, insecure, inelastic, and in general bad. We have three kinds of money in circulation: 1. Gold, the standard or real money, worth as much in bullion as in coin, of which there are in circulation in the United States 600 millions; 2. Credit moneys, made up of greenbacks, 346 millions; treasury notes, 153 millions; and bank notes, 209 millions; 3. Semicredit moneys, which include 419 millions of silver dollars, worth 49 cents each; and 65 millions of subsidiary coins, worth even less per dollar. All credit moneys are redeemed by the United States on demand, in gold. Silver dollars are not redeemed, but can be exchanged for credit moneys and these are redeemed. For purposes of redemption the government keeps a reserve fund of 100 millions, and this has been as low as 65 millions. The outcome of the attempt to keep these 1200 millions of credit or semicredit moneys upon a par with these 600 millions of gold, and with such a paltry reserve as 65 millions, is extremely uncertain. The realization of this uncertainty was what caused the beginning of the present panic. Everybody wished to be prepared for the coming earthquake, and so money disappeared as by phone, No. 128. Office telephone No. 134. magic, simply from lack of confi- Hours: 10 a. m. to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m. dence in the government's ability to redeem, and hence in the security of banks. The bond issue to increase the reserve will avail little, for every man has the right to exchange at the treasury any amount of other money

Congressman Bland admitted recently in debate that he did not expect under free coinage a parity to be maintained between gold and silver. This means the silver basis. His bill to increase the amount of silver money by coining the seigniorage is but the thin edge of the wedge which is to accomplish that G. R. WILLIAMS. basis.

Is silver, wheat, etc., falling or is gold rising? Gold is not rising if we judge by wages. The most reliable set of reports the census department ever put forth shows that carpenters in 1840 received on an average for ten hours' work, $1.50; in 1860, $2.00; and in 1891, $3.50. Judged by some kinds of goods, gold is not rising. The same report shows that a bill of goods such as a workingman would be likely to need for a week's supplies cost $10.22 in 1840, $10.73 in 1860, and $12.17 in 1891.

The silver basis means that a $10 Late of Nichols Bros. Over Adams's Bazaar dension would be worth $5, and a similar reduction for all those whose income depends upon a salary, an annuity, interest on instruments, or wages. We can not afford to go to a silver basis while Europe maintains a gold basis, for our export would be immensely increased and the silver we should receive in return would rapidly depreciate, leaving us bankrupt.

HOW WOOL DECLINED UNDER PROTECTION

A Comparison with English Prices .-Why Free Wool will not Lower the Price - Where the Sheep Are.

Hon. James S. Gorman, our congressional representative, in a speech in the House of Representatives, on the Wilson bill, devoted part of it to the wool tariff, from which part of the speech we quote as follows:

"I am frank to confess, in view of the fact that we do not produce all the wool that is consumed by the manufacturers of this country that a protective tariff ought to increase the price, and I am equally as emphatic to deny that it does. Two causes I allege for this condition of things; The first is that we do not produce the variety and quality of wool that our manufacturers require in the production of certain grades of goods that enables them to compete with our foreign competitors who get all the grades; and second, the more we have taxed our woolen manufacturer for the imported wool that he needs to mix with the domestic in the manufacture of paran equal footing with his foreign com-

In statement that these two latter grades are the only fair comparisons.

When we find that Port Philip wool sells for practically the same price in London that Ohio fine sells for in ticular grades of goods, the greater Boston at the same time, I am curious necessity it has been to decrease the to know what effect the tariff has on price of the domestic wool to make up the price of domestic wool. Much for the extra price that he pays for the effort has been made to show that if imported wool in order to place him on the duty was taken off of wool that our woolgrowers would have to destroy their flocks. Can not our woolgrowers We also produce about 60 per cent of compete with foreign competition as successfully as the Canadian woolgrowers that have no duty on wool, tation of the other 40 per cent drives and only 271 per cent tariff on woolen none of our domestic wool out of the fabrics? AGNES HERNDON.

All people have hobbies. Agnes Herndon, who plays here Feb. 26th, has a peculiar one, that of ordering shoes she sees, and an exchange who sent a reporter to interview her the maid busy preparing her costumes for the evening's performance. The aforesaid maid was well up in her business, and particularly in that priceless gift for a maid-namely, silence when asked regarding things which should not interest strangers.

The maid wore a smile on her face and had a dainty bronze shoe in her hand, and the dressing room was a complete shoe store, a large trunk having just been emptied.

"Does Miss Herndon wear all these in the play tonight?" was asked.

"Heaven forbid," said the maid. 'She only wears four pairs, and one pair is particularly lovely. See!" and she held up a pair-a delicate suede pink, low cut shoes.

"These," she said, "are made especially to suit the pink Greek robe."

"What does Miss Herndon do with so many?" was asked.

"Just keeps them-it's her hob-"Do you keep any of the shoes
