Charitable Union Report.

The 26th annual meeting of the Charitable Union was held on March 1. Mrs. Celia Jaycox was re-elected president. Mrs. Steele 1st vice president, Mrs. A. L. Butts, 2d vice president, Mrs. M. L. D'Ooge secretary, and Mrs. Philip Bach treasurer. The ward committees were constituted as follows: First ward, Mrs. Jaycox, Mrs. Bach: Second ward, Mrs. Bach; Third ward, Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Junius E. Beal, Mrs. Rathbone; Fourth ward, Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Parker, Miss Henning, Mrs. R. A. Beal; Fifth ward, Miss Brown, Mrs. Cushman, Mrs. Miner; Sixth ward, Mrs. Butts, Mrs. Steele.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports for the year were as follows: SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The months pass quickly and we are surprised to find that again the time has come for us to pause and review the work accomplished during the year. We have had but eight meetings since. In June there was no quorum, and in July, August and September meetings are never held, though the ward committees as usual make and receive visits. The average attendance at the meetings has been the same as last year. namely eight, and it need hardly be said, it is the same eight ladies who Morgan and others formed the have come. Through the kindness of many friends we were enabled to provide 66 families with Thanksgiving dinners. Thus we have had abundant means with which to meet the unusually farge Lant and the heirs appealed to the demande made upon us, and we desire Washtenaw circuit court, and then to express to all who have helped to had the case transferred to the make this possible, our own most hearty Wayne circuit court about a year thanks, and also the thanks which we and a half ago. One year ago last feel sure many a poor family would gladly utter through us.

We realize the great responsibility placed upon us in receiving so valuable donations for distribution, but, to the best of our ability we have faithfully discharged the responsibility. Our ward committees are always most conscienthose really in need. Since we are the only organization which does systematic charitable work in the city, we can but feel that we know better than others where the greatest need is, and are better fitted to render assistance. Unorganized charitable work, it is generally admitted, often does more harm than good. Clothing of all kinds has been distributed by us to the destitute, fue Finally, last April, the probate bought for the sick, nurse's wages have been paid and assistance given in defraying funeral expenses, bedding has also been furnished and rent paid. Various have been the needs, but all, when genuine, have been met. We seek also, when possible, to give assistance in such a way that it may enable the recipients to help themselves. With this in view, we have, during the past year, considered the advisability of esbe enabled to go out to work by the day. In each ward the visiting committee made a careful canvass to see whether this would be the case, but it tees and 160 have been received by them; 50 families have been assisted. Donations of new and secondhand clothing valued at $143.60 have been distributed and in the sewing school garments, sheets, etc., valued at $15. We wish to thank the city papers for their kindness in always publishing our communications free of expense.

At the beginning of the year the name of the union was changed from "The Ladies' " to "The Women's Charitable

We have been glad to welcome once again to our monthly meetings our vice president. Mrs. Steele, who at this time last year we much feared would hardly be able again to meet with us.

Such in general has been the history of the Union's work during the past year, a work quiet and unobtrusive, but in its results far reaching and preventive of much suffering. While we shall rejoice if the need for this work decreases, so long as it continues we trust that in the future, as in the past, we may be enabled to meet the demands

Sometimes it is asserted that our state would fare better at the hands of its officials, if it paid better salaries. This seems to have been proven untrue. Several members house of representatives and the of the state government by a little need of reform in the rules of that sharp counting more than doubled their salaries, but they continued to the Argus has came round to its way charge up big expense bills just the same, bigger, in fact, than any of means to imply by this that the their predecessors.

making such a vigorous kick against the Wilson bill and who succeeded in getting their representative in Congress, the Hon. Charles D. Haines, well-known to some of the monied citizens of this city and Ypsilanti, to vote against it, are the self same people who imported pauper Armenian laborers to take the place of their men who struck against a reduction of wages not long after the McKinley bill went into operation. They are now greatly wrought up over the prospect of pauper competition. They desire the continuance of the duty on their product to protect American labor, you know.

For the past thirty years the United States has had a higher tariff than any other nation except Mexico. During the last two decades of the time the condition of our farmers has been growing worse and worse. The staples of the farm are probably worth less today than at any time since 1850. The value of farm lands, of wheat and of wool has steadily declined as the tariff mounted up. The home market which has been so eloquently expatiated upon has not materialized to the advantage of the farmer. In fact, every promise made the farmer as to the advantages he would receive from the tariff has been proven untrue. As there is no hope of better conditions for them under a high tariff, is not the experiment of a tariff for revenue worth trying. It cannot be any worse for them than the McKinley tariff has been.

Why party affiliations should make any difference with the merited punishment of the Lansing rascals who so wilfully and wickedly wronged the people of this state in the salaries amendment frauds, is a mystery. Who would think, if he had been plundered or crimnally wronged in any way of inquiring the party label of the offender before proceeding against him? Would it not be enough to know the dastardly act had been committed and the perpetrator of the same. Yet in the face of the most gigantic frauds ever committed in Michigan, frauds the very thought of which causes the blush of shame and anger to mantle the cheek of every honest citizen, a considerable portion of the republican press of the state persists in its priate. Pennsylvania is the Mecca against the competition of the finer lie business.

The Times of last Saturday in commenting upon a recent editorial in the Argus relative to the filibustering tactics being employed in the body, says that it is glad to see that of thinking. Now, if the Times Argus has come round to be a believer in the Reed method of count-The Troy luandry men, who are ing a quorum, it errs egregiously. The Argus believes now, as it always has, in the duty, as well as the right of the majority to do business, but it insists that the method of determining the presence of a quorum should not rest solely upon the ipse dixit of the speaker. By the Reed method it happened more than once that members were counted as present when they were not only not officer to determine to a certainty, with a single sweep of the eye, the presence in so largh a body of each individual member. That such mistakes should occur under such a method of counting a quorum is quite inevitable. The Reed rnle is, therefore, faulty in this that an error in counting might arise which would invalidate some act of the house. This danger might easily be obviated by bringing the member who refuses to vote to the bar of the house and then calling his name. If he still refused to vote he could then be counted as present but not voting. The Argus believes, further, that a member refusing to perform his duties under such circumstances should be fined. The loss of a day's salary for the first offense and a heavier penalty for each succeeding offense would unquestionhis senses. All members are thordrawing their full salaries, if not on questions pertaining to the interests of their constituents. That the rules should be amended at once all agree, but that the changes shall be in the direction of safety and right is quite as important.

> Our esteemed contemporary, the Ypsilantian, of last week, after commenting upon the "phenomenal republican majority" in Pennsylva. nia, proceeds to say that the democrats by an appeal to prejudice marshaled their forces for an attack upon the industries of the country and polled their vote in 1892 in favor of a policy that bids fair to reduce them (their followers) to a level with the ill-fed and illclad workmen in the factories and Wilson Bill as it came from the tage of never disturbing prices. No tax levied by a just government, a government which faithbe such indications, but the vote of all such governments are instituted, Pennsylvania is not one of them. It can in any proper sense be looked upon as a penalty. The only right the government has to demand a portion of the earnings of its subjects for its support lies in the supposed return of an exact equivalent comes the duty of every subject of tection policy, which enables the the government, therefore to pay towards its support according to the benefits received; that is, in proportion to the revenue each enjoys under its protection. WEST VIRGINIA MINERS BURN A BRIDGE. The Country Surrounding the Scene of the Rioting in a State of Terror-Telegraphic Communication With the Authorities Cut Off. CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5 .-Masked and armed strikers are terror-

izing the country in the neighborhood of Coalburg, sixteen miles from this city, and the authorities fear that lives will be sacrificed fore the marauders can checked. About 12 o'clock last night more than forty of the rioters with their faces carefully concealed, and heavily armed, started from Coalburg to the new $30,000 bridge between that town and Acme, which spans Cabin creek on the short line of the Chesapeake and Ohio. Resistance on the part of Division Superintendent J. M. Gill of the railroad, was useless, and the mob quickly prepared to burn the bridge. With arms displayed the rioters waited while the flames consumed the structure and then disappeared. Superintendent Gill telegraphed Sheriff Silman here that the road was at the mercy of the striking miners and called for protection Scarcely had his plea been dispatched when the strikers cut the wires.

Hastily gathering a posse of fully armed men Sheriff Silman started for Cabin Creek at 12:30 o'clock this morning. Arriving an hour later he found the bridge in ruins and rail communication with Acme absolutely cut off. No traces could be found of the masked men who had caused the destruction. Leaving a detail to guard the company's property from further molestation, the sheriff returned at 5 o'clock.

and Powellton the excitement is intense and the strikers are assembling in great numbers. Work at these in great numbers. Work at these places will be suspended until Monday, but no temporary movement can possibly avert the violence that is sure to occur at this point. Some of the leaders among the rioters are in high glee over the destruction of telegraphic communication with the governor, whose orders directing the military at Eagle and Powelltown are thereby delayed. However the Chespeake and Ohio officers are co-operating with the governor, and are carrying passengers by rail as far as Cabin Creek, whence they will proceed on horseback and report to the governor.

Col. Wyant and the prosecuting attorney of Fayette county are located at Fayetteville, where men are securing evidence to warrant complaints against the rioters. As fast as definite information is obtained against the lawbreakers warrants are issued by the prosecuting attorney.

The inquest upon the body of John Atkinson, one of the victims of the riot, is being conducted at Fayettville to-day. It is said upon the authority of a state official that the governor will move sufficient military to Eagle and Powelltown to awe the rioters, and that the threatened outbreaks will be averted without bloodshed.
