Two Suits Against the Lake Shore.

Charles A. Sloat, of Manchester, has begun a suit in the circuit court against the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad for $1,000. The suit was occassioned by the passenger train on the Jackson branch of the Lake Shore striking Sloat's team while he was driving across-the track on July 25, 1892, killing one horse and disabling the other and throwing himself and son out of the First Year Students..... 134 wagon.

The bill sets up that the train was running at an unlawful rate of speed and that no warning of its approach around a curve was given, Lehman Bros., are attorneys for the plaintiff.

On the same day, Addison R. Smith, through Lehman Bros., brought suit for $20,000 against the Lake Shore for injuries received in a collision in 1891 between Vermillim and Elyria in which he received severe injuries to his back.

was granted a divorce from her husband, Louis W. Halliday, on Wednesday by Judge Kinne and was given the custody of her two children and permanent alimony of $20,-000. The ground on which the divorce was granted was extreme cruelty. Besides the permanent alimony, $250 was allowed for solicitors fee and $70 for expenses and costs. Halliday was married to Miss Susie Clark in January 1888, while a student here. The marriage was solemnized by Justice Griffin, of Ypsilanti. Their married life was not a happy one and in September, 1892, she filed her bill for divorce. In the bill she charged that he used coarse and brutal languege to her, that he had threatened to kill her, and that he was addicted to the use of morphine and had become a drunkard, that she had been compelled to have him arrested for carrying concealed weapons, and that he had compelled since the above table was comher to move twenty-one times in one pleted. year during their married life. She also charged that he had not done a single hour's work for compensation during their married life, and that the only thing that occupied his time was his personal appearance.

Special Capitol News Co. Correspondence. WASHINGTON, D. C., March. 20, 1894.

Congressman Avery, of the Eleventh Michigan district, has set in motion an investigation, or an expense, that will no doubt result in saving a large number of good dollars to citizens of Mighigan. For years a claim attorney of this city, named Harvey Spalding, has been sending circular letters to postmasters and ex-postmasters of the third, fourth and fifth classes, not only in Michigan but all over the country, offering to collect from the government certain amounts he claims to be their due under the law for the re-adjustment of salaries of postmasters. In spite of the fact that the courts have repeatedly ruled that no valid claim existed against the government, this man has persistently represented that he knew better than the courts, and that he could and would collect the several amounts that he placed, in different cases, from a few dollars up to several hundred. He has offered to About 75 of the best citizens of Ann do this for a certain per cent. of the

Says HOOD'S Rallies the Vital Forces and Cives Strength

Rev. J. Merritte Driver, D. D. Is widely known as pastor of the First M. E Church at Columbia City, Indiana, and is a powerful pulpit orator. His book, "Samson and Shylock, or a Preacher's Plea for the Workingman," has received much praise from press and clergy. Dr. Driver says:
"Columbia City, Ind., June 3, 1893.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. "Dear Sirs - Among the ralliers of all the vital forces, I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as the general-in-chief. "THEM WAS HIS SENTIMENTS."

And the Old Unreconstructed Confederate Took Pains to Make Them Known. Very many of the early settlers of Montana were natives of Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas and the border states of the war. They came by the Missouri river to Fort Benton or by coach from majority at elections, when they held the flag of Democracy to the masthead. The result of this immigration was a strong sentiment for the confederacy in the early days, and in 1873, when General Phil Sheridan and staff made an official visit to the northwestern posts, the sentiment had not disappeared. Helena, Mon., was just emerging from the garb of a mining camp, but a few enterprising citizens with ex-Governor Hauser at the head determined to give a fitting reception to the visitors. A delegation met Sheridan and his party in a stagecoach several miles from the town and escorted them to the leading hotel. On the following afternoon a banquet was given in the First National bank, located then in the present gambling district. The menu consisted mostly of canned goods, jack rabbit meat and fresh game, because the town was remote from civilization. There was, however, plenty of champagne, since that wine is usually found in mining camps even when nothing in the way of food is left but flour. The gathering was very democratic. Everybody in town was invited to see "Little Phil," though there was much grumbling among the unreconstructed Confederates over the display made for a Union general. There were lawyers and mining camp politicians mingled with gamblers, miners and exroad agents, many of whom wore six shooters at their belts. Among them was one old time Confederate soldier, who had turned his talents from the chivalry of war to dealing "bank." He was restless and uncomfortable during the feast, and when the toasts began this restlessness increased. His face darkened and his eyes flamed with anger as various toasts were given to the United States, the president of the United States and the army of the United States.

Finally he could stand it no longer. He arose with a wineglass in one hand and a six shooter in the other, and in a voice hoarse with rage shouted:

"Here's to all mankind, so that no -d fool will be overlooked."

With that he dashed the wineglass on the floor and emptied the six shooter into the ceiling so that the room was filled with smoke. The guests reached for their revolvers, but the gambler, with a look of contempt, returned his 'gun'' to his pocket and walked out.

General Sheridan afterward said that it was one of the most dramatic and suggestive scenes in all his experience. -New York Sun.

cured two bottles of Parks' Sure Cure for the Liver and Kidneys. He says: "I believe Parks' Sure Cure excels all other medicines for Rheumatism and Urinary disorders." Hot In Australia.

The weather in Australia during the antipodean summer has been unusually hot and oppressive. In Adelaide during January the thermometer several times registered over 100 degrees in the shade, and one day it climbed to 107 in the shade and 163 in the sun. In Melbourne the 100 notch has been reached more than once, and the scorching north winds have made the atmosphere exceedingly oppressive. The Am Arbor Argus, should be apparent to all thinking men. The result of the present system of protected American industry is to compel workingmen to pay an enhanced price for all manufactured goods which they consume while competing for work in a labor market thrown wide open to the world. The disadvantages to labor under such a system are too apparent to need further comment.

> The Grand Ledge Republican, one of the most hidebound of the g. o. p. organs of the state, comments as follows upon the present State administration at Lansing:

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Charter Election in and for the City of Ann Arbor will be held on Monday the Second Day or April. A. D., 1894, at which election the following City Officers viz:

A Mayor, President of the Common Council will be elected by the qualified electors of the whole city, and a Supervisor, an Alderman and a Constable will be elected in each ward of the said city at the following places that is to say:

Last Tuesday the supreme court handed down a decision sustaining by an unanimous vote the action of Cov. Rich in removing the three state officials, Jochim, Hambitzen and Berry for gross carelessness in the performance of their official duties whereby an adverse vote of more than 11,000 on the constitu tional amendment increasing each of their salaries was changed to an affirmative vote of about 1,800 There is much satisfaction in this to the people. They now know that the language of the constitution means just what it says and that it is so plain as to prevent even the lawyers who are always ready to raise all sorts of technical questions for "revenue only" from defeating justice and fastening upon the people a set of unworthy officials who should have stepped down and out without the necessity of an appeal to the court. The decision establishes, once for all, the fact that than are constitutional means provided whereby the people may rid themselves of derelect and crooked efficials when the legislature is not in session. In view of the language of that document it seems strange that any other claim could have been seriously entertained. That the effect of the governor's action wholesome there can be no question. There will probably be no further attemps at falsifying the will of the people in election matters for some time to come; and those who in future are honored by the people with positions of trust will be apt to administer their offices with an eye single to the public interests.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter. Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

COMMUNICATIONS. FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

To the Honorable Common Council:
Gentlemen—The Board of Public Works would respectfully report concerning the sidewalk heretofore ordered by your honorable body, on the east side of W. Third street, that they have been asked by the property owners to change the order from the east to the west side of W. Third street from Huron to Liberty street. We would recommend that said change be made.

By order of the Board of Public Works.

W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

Accepted and leave being granted the following resolution was offered: By Ald. Kitson:

Resolved. That the grading and construc-tion of the sidewalks nereinafter mentioned is deemed and declared a necessary public improvement.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered that plank sidewalks be graded, built and constructed on and along the following street and in front of the following property in the city of Ann arbor, viz:

Arbor, viz:
On and along the west-side of West Third street, from Liberty to Huron street.
That all of such walks be graded, built and constructed in the manner, within the time and of the material prescribed by the provision of an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Relative to Sidewalks," and on the grade established.

Adopted as follows:

Yeas-Alds. Schairer, Martin, Snow, O'Mara, Ferguson, Manly, Prettyman, Kitson, Pres. Watts-9. Nays-None.

tion. CHAPTER II. THE TOWN OF THETFORD AND TOMBS OF

MY ANCESTORS. On my arrival in London I halted among the old country towns and villages. There I would begin a series of antiquarian researches. I would be a claring his doctrine utterly perverse, young American specially interested in

Wishing to at once get into some old chairman, for their consideration and and thickly settled section of the counapproval and report to this council try, I took the Great Eastern road and went up into Norfolk.

Speaking of my antiquarian hobby and special fondness of old churches and churchyards to a fellow passenger, he mentioned the town of Thetford, on the Little Ouse, in Norfolk county (and partly in Suffolk), as a place in which I er. "There, on the Norfolk side of the Ouse," said my fellow passenger, "you will see St. Peter's, called the "black church" because built of flint. Also in Thetford, on the Suffolk side of the Ouse, you will find St. Mary's church, a large thatched structure, with a lofty square tower. And in Thetford you will see er religious edifices." My fellow traveler appeared to be quite an antiquarian himself. He said Thetford was a very ancient town, even for England, and told me so much about the place that I decided to make the town my headquarters and from it for a time prosecute my archæological researches, though it is only about 95 miles out from London.

the remains of a Cluniac priory and oth-

As there are in Norfolk county alone no fewer than 700 parishes, I had before me an excellent hunting ground. I very soon discovered that I had landed in what must have been the original rookery or hatchery of the Johnsons in England. The ground was full of the "croppings" of Johnsons of both high and low degree; also there were "Johnstones," "Jonsons," and even "Johnssons,"

I did not devote much time to the examination of the large cemeteries in Thetford, but at once set to work at "prospecting" the old dilapidated church-vards of the neighboring parishes, many of them so overgrown with weeds and brambles as to be in what we would call a "shocking condition." However, the people explained that they were now almost disused and many of them wholly deserted on account of the shifting of the population, so many people leaving the farms and going into the large manufacturing towns. As you can imagine, all this suited my purpose well.

After "prospecting" about a week I found a Sir Archibald Johnson in an old parish churchyard, who had "departed this life" in 1798. The tombstone was about 6 feet in height and of proportionate width. The inscription was in a good state of preservation, which I considered a fortunate circumstance. The date was about what I required for a great-great-grandfather.

By the side of the tomb of Sir Archibald was that of his "beloved wife," Eleanor, who had closed her eyes upon things mundane two years earlier than her lord.

I surveyed this new and unexpected 'find" with great satisfaction. Instantly I decided to extend my original plan and take back with me a great-greatgrandmother as well as a great-greatgrandfather. A sense of justice and the "eternal fitness of things" told me that to carry away Sir Archibald and leave Lady Eleanor behind would be simply outrageous. As they had not been separated in life, they should not be in death. I knew my father well enough to feel sure that he would be delighted with Lady Eleanor; that he would receive her with the greatest enthusiasm.

The next day, while wandering aimlessly in another old churchyard, I chanced upon an earl, one Reginald Johnstone. He was hidden away in a thicket of briars. "Why not go in for an earl while I am about it?" I asked myself. This earl for a moment sorely tempted me, but it soon occurred to me that he was rather too ancient for my use, the date on his tombstone being 1630. After due reflection I arrived at the conclusion that a good, well matched pair, though of lower rank, would be preferable in the game I was about to Besides all this, there was a fitness of the names of the pair I had at first found that seemed almost providential. My father's name when given in full is James Archibald Johnson, and I have a sister Eleanor. Thoughts of these curious coincidences made me resolve to cling to my first find. Indeed I began to feel a sort of affection for the old couple. My sister would be in raptures when I took home to her the remains of Lady Eleanor, her great-great-grandmother.

The Man Who Tired Carlyle.

There is a story of Carlyle in his old age having taken the following farewell in his broadest Scotch of a young friend who had had him in charge for walks, and who while almost always adapting himself to Carlyle's mood had on a single occasion ventured to disagree with him, "I would have you to know, young man, that you have the capacity of being the greatest bore in Christendom." The boredom had consisted solely in the rather negative sin of not having been convinced of the truth of one of Carlyle's dogmas, a sin all the more heinous because, instead of standing boldly up to Carlyle and dethe companion had betrayed his weakness by an apologetic tone. Now, Carlyle liked disciples, and he respected antagonists, but he could not endure being merely thwarted without being thoroughly roused. He felt in that case that he had made no impression at all on his interlocutor; that he had neither won him nor excited him to resistance. And nothing bored him so much as that. Of course it is only exceptionally despotic minds that are bored in this way.—London Spectator.

KALAMAZOO, March 22.-The close confinement to which the jury which is | quite minutely. trying S. J. De France are subjected, has been telling severely on the members thereof, and three of the jurors are in a bad physical condition.

Wednesday morning the argument of Attorney A. J. Sawyer was concluded. He took the little things of the trial which had cropped out, linked them with the idea of possibly convicting an innocent man and bringing disgrace and tuin upon his family, and made a mag-nificent appeal. He characterized the testimony of Con W. Britt as that of a confessed perjurer.

Frank E. Knappen began the closing argument in strains of touching and pathetic eloquence, argued that symoathy should have nothing to do with the guilt or innocence of the respondent.

Mr. Knappen, as he progressed in his argument, clinched points and made the whole alibi of the defense appear in a decidedly ridiculous if not an entirely false light. He appealed to the manhood of the jurors not to be moved by sympathy, but to render a verdict in accordance with the law and the evidence and justice. He characterized 'Con" Britt as just the kind of a person whom the respondent would seek out to do his dirty work for a price. He compared De France to Napoleon Bonaparte at Waterloo, Britt being his

Two of the jurors are ill and for this reason Judge Buck postponed the charge to the jury until this morning.

Kalamazoo, March 16.—The greater part of the forenoon Thursday in the De France trial was devoted to the introduction by the defense of evidence to show the good regutation of the respondent before his arrest on the charge of which he is being tried.

Messrs. W. W. Hannan, James E. Hanna, James E. Scott, Harry J. Keena and John J. Meurer, all of Detroit. swore that the general reputation of the respondent was good, and that they did not believe that he would commit the crime charged against him.

KALAMAZOO, March 17.—When the De France trial opened Friday morning R. L. Parkin, who formerly kept the Burdick House news stand, and had often seen Forrest, John Rice, who had driven Forrest out to Hammonds, and others were called and did not identify De France as the man.

Mrs. Tracy May De France then took the stand. She gave her age as 29 and her birthplace as La Crosse, Wis. The family finally moved to Toronto, where her father kept a bird store. He died in 1885 and they moved to Detroit soon after. She met De France in 1886 and they were married July 12, 1887. Her mother died in 1890. She bought a use on Trumbull avenue in 1892. De France was then in the life insurance business. He presently took up real estate. The year they bought the house they went to Carlsbad for her health. Coming back from New York in October, 1892, she met "that gentleman," pointing to J. K. Wagner, on a New York Central car. Mrs. De France

"While Mr. De France was in the smoking car the gentleman smiled on me several times. When he came back I told him the man was trying to flirt with me. My husband went and sat down with him and after a chat came

Stonewall J. De France next took the stand in his own behalf, and was questioned by Mr. Taylor of Detroit. He reviewed his life from his birth in 1861 and told of his work in life insurance in Detroit. He was made superin-tendent of agencies in 1888 and got $2,000 traveling expenses in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Later he went to work for the New York Life. After his wife got her mother's money he was given some to loan. He told of his connection with the Galvins and identified the contracts. The $10 was paid on the Monday as before stated. He corroborated the testimony relative to the purchase of the house. KALAMAZOO, March 19.—De France was again on the stand Saturday. stated that he never saw J. K. Wagner until he arrived home from Europe, when Mrs. De France flirted with him. He could not describe his clothes except that they were dark. Witness testified that he was engaged with the New York Life Insurance company after he retired from Thayer & Dunning's, and still is their agent; never saw Sophie Lyons until af or his arrest; knew John Considine, but none of the others.

In rebuttal, Dr. Land of Detroit testified that Mrs. De France called at his office since her husband's arrest and asked him if money would be any obect for him not to be here to testify. He replied that he would have to be here to testify. She then replied that he was not like some men. KALAMAZOO. March 20.—The testimony presented at the morning session of the court Monday was all in rebuttal of that presented by the defense. In the afternoon a bomb was exploded in the De France camp in the shape of testimony by "Con" W. Britt of De-troit, who was an attorney for De France when he was arrested and assisted in preparing the defense. He said that he wrote the contract which De France and the three Galvins swore they signed Nov. 21, 1891, between Jan. 1 and 15, 1894. The witness said that he signed the name S. J. De France to the contract by the authority of a power of attorney given him Nov. 25 last in the presence of Deputy Sheriff

L. P. Stafford in the county jail here. Kalamazoo, March 21.—Mrs. De France was on the stand again Tuesday morning, and entered into a general denial of Britt's evidence. She said Britt had called at her house several times and proposed a plan to get her husband out of the Detroit jail. Britt and his brother were to take papers to the jail which they were to say needed the prisoner's signature. When De France was in the office, she said Britt's scheme was to have men there who would rush the prisoner out of the office and get him away. Witness said she slammed the door in Britt's face, atterly repudiating. This simple scheme of escape caused the court loungers to smile. De France was then recalled. He said he knew Britt's writing, and admitted that gentleman wrote the power of attorney. He declared the Galvin contracts were written by the witness. He said the memorandum in court purporting to be notes on the Galvin contracts, is in Britt's writing, but were to indicate questions Britt was to ask defendant on the stand.

This closed the evidence. Counsel agreed to take but six hours in arguments on both sides. Attorney Frost opened the argument for the prosecu-

Colonel E. M. Irish followed with a logical and fair presentation of the case for the defense. His plea was argu mentative and covered the testimony

A. J. Sawyer then spoke for nearly two hours. He set up his claim that the people must prove beyond a shadow of doubt five things: That the body of the draft was forged; that the signature of the bank cashier, Albe Lull, was a forgery; that S. B. Hammond's signature was a forgery; that it was uttered with intent to defraud, and that S. J. De France was Louis Forrest who ut-

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZI EMENT

Thomas Tuite, Ex-Treasurer of Detroit, Arrested In New York.

DETROIT, March 22. - Thomas P. Tuite, ex-city treasurer of Detroit, was placed under arrest Wednesday in New York city on the charge of embezzlement and will be held until the necessary extradi- stant, and wrote: tion papers can be forwarded from this city to bring him back here for trial.

The fact that Tom Tuite was to be arrested for his shortcomings while acting as treasurer of the city of Detroit has been kept a profound secret, al-though the warrant for his arrest has been out almost two months.

The warrant against Tuite charges him with the embezzlement of $15,-522.52 from the funds of the city and county while holding office as custodian of those funds. Tuite stepped out of office July 1, 1892, when he was suc-ceeded by Louis B Littlefield. When the funds were turned over there was a shortage of something over $21,000.

Mr. Tuite was at that time confined to his house by sickness and managed to keep the shortage a secret for a time by promising to turn over the money as soon as he could get about. He did pay over $6,125, but this was all.

STATE OFFICERS OUSTED.

LANSING, March 21.—The supreme court Tuesday morning rendered a de-cision sustaining Governor Rich in removing Secretary of State Jochim, State Treasurer Hambitzer and Land Commissioner Berry for gross negli-gence in failing personally to canvass the returns on the amendment election

A judgment of ouster is entered, to take effect immediately.

Within a few minutes after the decision of the supreme court Governor Rich announced his appointments to succeed them. They are as follows: Secretary of state—Washington Gardner of Albion. State treasurer-J. M. Wilkinson of Marquette.

Land commissioner -W. A. French of Belle, Presque Isle county.

Told Nothing New.

MONROE, March 20 .- At the Gierman inquest Monday nothing new of importance was brought out. Gierman was subjected to a rigid examination and told practically the same story. One other witness was examined and an adjournment taken to Friday. There was a large number of people from Exeter township present, and the inquest had to be adjourned to the courthouse. Many people still point to Gierman as the guilty party, and there is consid-erable talk about disturbed family relations, another woman in the case and the recent insurance of Mrs. Gierman's lift, but no evidence to sustain most of the talk has been brought out.

Tragedy at Reed City.

REED CITY, March 17.—This city was in a furore Friday afternoon over one of the most tragic events in its history. Shortly after 5 o'clock when workmen were returning to their homes, three sharp revolver reports startled the com-

Investigation showed that Dingman Vernon had shot and killed John M. Johnson in his saloon, during an altercation. Vernon is a woodsman, and having some words with Johnson shot him three times, twice in the temple and once through the lungs.

Found Dead In Bed.

PORT HURON, March 19.—James Christie was found dead in his bed at the home of his father, Alex Christie, in Port Huron Saturday morning. He complained of a toothache Friday evening and requested not to be disturbed. On the stand was found two bottles which had contained laudanum. There is a diversity of opinion as to whether the deceased died from an overdose of the drug taken to relieve his toothache, or deliberately committed suicide. Some of the neighbors say he made remarks which indicate the latter. He was 35 years of age and single.

Killed While at Play.

DETROIT, March 21.—Charles Mon-foncon, a lad of 14 years, was killed in the yards of the Detroit Pressed Brick company, corner of Federal avenue and company, corner of Federal avenue and the railroad. He was formerly em-ployed in the yard, and was playing about the machinery when his clothing is supposed to have been caught in a revolving shaft. He was discovered by the workmen lying on the ground with most of his clothing torn from his body. Both legs were broken, also one arm and his skull was fractured. When arm, and his skull was fractured. When discovered he was unconscious, and he died before a physician arrived.

Health of the State.

Lansing, March 22.—Reports to the state board of health show rheumatism, neuralgia, influenza, bronchitis and tonsilitis, in the order named, causing the most sickness in Michigan during the week ending March 17. Scarlet fever is reported at 51 places, diphtheria at 37, measles at 18, typhoid feyer at 13 and smalipox at three places. Consumption was reported present by 30 per cent of the observers making weekly card reports.

Verdict For Damages.

LAPEER, March 22.—The case of Mrs Mary Steele for damages from the Chi-cago and Grand Trunk railroad comcago and Grand Trunk railroad company for the killing of her husband, was given to the jury Wednesday noon. After being out several hours it brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff $4,500 damages. This does not include damages for the loss of her son, killed at the same time. The case will undoubtedly be appealed.

I enclose herewith for your further information, a printed copy of the decision of Mr. Justice James, delivered October Tuesday, March 27th. the District of Columbia, in general term, in the case of Elizabeth Trask against the Postmaster General, which case was decided by the Court of Claims, in May, 1892, against the claimant, and was taken to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, in general term, on an appeal."

The decision, which was a full, exhaustive and able one, denied the writ asked for to compel the payment of the amount claimed to be due by Mrs. Trask, and the case was an exact parallel with all the cases Mr. Spalding still claims are collectable.

The department officials, in talking to Dr. Avery of the affair said, that Mr. Spalding had admitted to them that his first move in the matter consisted in sending out 50,000 circular letters, asking for one dollar from each person so addressed, and that he received favorable responses to 30,000 of them. Dr. Avery was also informed that Spalding had been debarred from practicing before the postoffice department, so if the would not be allowed to collect them.
