The lecture announced to be given by Miss Bartlett, of Kalamazoo, on Monday evening next, will be given by Mrs. Fanny B. Williams, a colored woman of Chicago, who has been lecturing under Miss Bartlett's patronage. Although Miss Bartlett was to speak on the rights and wrongs of the American Negro, she thought that Mrs. Williams could present the subject more satisfactorially. Mrs. Williams' subject will be "The Progress of Colored Women Since their Emancipation." By all who have heard her speak, especially at R; highway commissioner, Mason ten days to unseat Mr. Joy, as the the Women's Congress held in May Whipple, R; justice of the peace, last and at the Parliament of Religions held in Sept., she was spoken of as an able and accomplished woman. She is to be introduced by Miss Bartlett and the club feels confident that its patrons will be well pleased.

Burglary.

Robert Taylor, Arthur Crump and John Gant were arrested Wednesday by Officer Schall, assisted by Officer McCabe, on the charge of burglarizing the auction rooms recently in business on N. Main street. Two gold watches and chains and revolver were recovered. Officer McCabe secured the revolver by wading in very deep water in the Huron river near the bridge where it had been thrown. John Gant claimed that he had purchased one of the gold watches in good faith not believing it to have been stolen. The officers were convinced of the truth of his statements and released him. Yesterday George Flowers was arrested in Detroit by Messrs. Schall and McCabe on the charge of being implicated in the same robbery, Flowers taking a shirt. The men will be brought before Justice Bennett for examination.

Nomination for Postmaster.

Tuesday evening the news was flashed over the wires that the President had sent to the senate the name of E. B. Pond, for the position of postmaster of this city. The Detroit evening papers contained D the same information, and the Free Press of Wednesday morning contained the following:

Washington, April 3.—(Special).— The name of E. B. Pond for postmaster at Ann Arbor, was sent to the sen-ate by President Cleveland this afternoon. Congressman Gorman was greatly surprised at the nomination and says he thinks it came through some clerical error in the postoffice de partment. He had himself as yet made no reccommendation in the matter. The term of the incumbent, Eugene E. Beal, did not expire for about a month yet, and Mr. Gorman intended to file all the papers of the different candidates with a recommendation for one of them early next week. He will make every effort to have the nomination recalled. Mr. Gorman does not state whom he intended to recommend, but he leaves no doubt that he did not intend to indorse Mr. Pond.

More About the Blood of Ellsworth.

More About the Blood of Ellsworth.

While going through the Normal School museum at Ypsilanti in company with Prof. Sherzer not long since, and prying into the recesses of various forgotten relics there preserved, there were brought to light two bottles about three inches long and an inch in diameter. In one there were some coalcinders saturated with blood and an old and badly faded label yellow with age pasted upon the bottle conveyed the information that the bottle contained some of the blood of Col. Ellsworth. The other bottle was about half full of a dark red liquid and the label gave out the information that the bottle contained the blood of Jackson, the murderer of the gallant Ellsworth. The bottle seemed to be carelessly sealed and yet the blood after the lapse of more than 30 years was still in a liquid condition. There was some further writing upon the labels which the writer does not at this time recall. The history of these two interesting relics, that is, how they came to be in the museum there, no person now about the institution can relate. They were probably sent to the institution by some alumnus or friend who was a member institution can relate. They were probably sent to the institution by some alumnus or friend who was a member of the First Michigan Infantry which was with Ellsworth in Alexandria at the time of his murder. It is strange what a train of thought such relics will awaken in the mind.—Ann Arborarus

The above was brought to the attention of D. A. Wise, of this city and it now turns out that he is the man who forwarded the two little bottles to the Normal School. The following is his interesting story:

"Col. E. E. Ellsworth was in command of the famous New. York Fire Zouaves and upon the formal secession of Virginia they were dispatched together with the First Michigan Inthe morning of May 24, 1861, the Zouaves went down by steamboat. while the First Michigan Infantry took the river road. As soon as Col. If took down the flag and highly elated men wish to work in America, Mr. started to descend the stairs at the same time exclaiming, 'Boys, I've got the first prize.' 'And I the second,' said Jackson, coming out of his bedroom in his night clothes, and immediately fired his gun at Ellsworth with fatal effect. Francis E. Brownell, who was in Ellsworth's command, then fired upon Jackson and pinned him to the floor with his bayonet. MEMORIAM.-Died at her home in Dexter township, March 3, 1894. Cora Mae, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilsey, aged 10 years, 9 months and 3 days. Cora, as she was familiarly called, was a bright, interesting little girl, a loving and affectionate child. She loved to attend school, always aiming for a good education. Her illness was brief but severe, but she was patient and anxious to get better; and although loving hands did all that skill could do to relieve her, it was in vain. The wider trade extends, the faster and the higher the advance of human progress.

"A man's right to the fruits of his toil is not complete without the freedom to exchange it. To abridge that freedom is to limit that right.'

The campaign of 1892 resulted in a great victory for tariff reform. The demand of the hour is that the verdict of the people be enacted into law.

Speaker Crisp is the right man in the right place. Being convinced of this fact his collegues in the house besought him not to resign the speakership to take a seat in the senate tendered him by Gov. Northan of Georgia. After careful consideration of the matter he decided to put the new honor aside and remain in the house. He was influenced in this decision, undoubtedly, by patriotic motives; for had he consulted his ambition and comfort alone, he would have gone into the higher body (?) where his labors would be far less laborious. He chose, however, to continue in his present exalted position where he has served the people so acceptably and well. He has made an admirable speaker, one of the best we have had, and he can be of vastly more service to his party and the people where he is than in the senate. His action is to be commended.

Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, is having an immense amount of trouble in his efforts to enforce the law restricting the debasing work of the liquor traffic. Under the dispensary law of South Carolina, the state alone has the right to conduct the liquor business. Of course, the whiskey interest would oppose such a law as it can gener ally be relied upon to work against restrictions put upon the traffic. The Governor seems, however, in spite of the most violent opposition to be honestly trying to enforce the statute. The law may be wise or otherwise, and the Governor may be judicious or injudicious; but one thing is certain, he is a man with the courage of his convictions and he means to enforce the law to the letter so far as he may be able to do it. His course in the matter is refreshing in this, that as a rule those who advocate the restriction or prohibition of the traffic rest back and feel that their duty is done when a law is placed upon the statute books. The Governor is worthy of commendation for his purpose to to enforce the laws.

resent was intrusted with power in the nation because it was in favor of lower tariff rates. Its victory was won squarely on that issue after years of educational campaigning, and was the most decisive in recent years. The failure of the senate to carry out the commands of the people in this matter is unquestionably the most prominent factor in the present drift of public opinion to ward the opposition. There is no evidence of a change of opinion on ! arises not from any change of belief can laborers. as to the advantages they would derive from the principle of a tariff for revenue only, but from the becratic majority in congress must, therefore, redeem the party pledges and strike down tariff extortion, or be obeyed.

has gone wrong. A few days ago Deputy Secretary of State Lindholm when informed that on a certain day he would be expected to turn over occasion to hie himself to parts unknown and an examination of his accounts proves him to be short in the sum of about $2,000. There are those who do not think his flight was caused solely by this shortage, but on account of knowledge he, as Secretary Jochim's confidential agent, may have of the frauds with which his superior stands charged. Whatever there may be in this, the certainty remains that he is short in his accounts, and thus one more page is added to the infamy of the present state administration. None of its predecessors have ever compiled such a shady record. Three of the most important officers of the administration, Jochim, Hambitzer and Berry were deposed from these positions to which the people elevated them and stand charged with felony. Marcus Petersen, clerk of the board of state auditors, is an embezzler and is under indictment. And now comes Lindholm with peculations amounting to $2,000, besides several clerks who went wrong. This is all attributable to the present g. o. p. state government and

The present season being a year o general celebration, in honor of the times, they have striven to outdo all former efforts in their desire to ex cel all precedents and represent with minstrelic perfection the American standard of their art. Their company is full of merit, being artists in their several directions and include the names of many who have won universal praise. The entertainment will be found novel in form, refined in expression, original in its features and rich in its costuming and scenic effects. Grand Opera House, April 12.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will no read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and best those parts until they were sore, to overrome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and avanidary waist, together with an indescribable gove feeling in my stomach. Physicians said if was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is are rehef. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer diea. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

The William H. Barnum Sank In the Straits.

PROPELLER WAS LADEN WITH CORN

She Was Undoubtedly Weakened by Heavy Weather Encountered In Lake Michigan-The Crew Taken Off by the Tug

MACKINAW CITY, April 4 .- The propeller William H. Barnum, Captain William Smith of Marine City, cornladen, Chicago to Port Huron, sank in the straits Tuesday morning. The crew robbed of $96, was rescued. The Barnum left Chicago last Sunday noon in the van of the grain fleet. She had on board 55,000 bushels of corn, shipped by Irwin, Green & Company, for export via Port Huron. She encountered rough weather in Lake Michigan, and found a great deal of ice when she entered the straits.

Soon after entering the straits the Barnum began leaking. Strenuous efforts were made to check the inflow, but they were unavailing. The tug Crusader responded to the propeller's signals of distress and took her towline.

She was taking water so rapidly that the Crusader tried to get her on the beach, but the ice, which extended in a solid mass far out from shore, prevented this. Then the tug started for steam pumps, but before they could be put to work the Barnum sank in 11 fathoms of water, directly off Freedom, at the westerly end of the straits, at 6 o'clock. The crew was taken off by the Cru-

Captain Smith says that he did not think the ice he was encountering in the straits was heavy enough to cause damage to the steamer and thinks the Barnum must have been weakened by the heavy weather on Lake Michigan. It was Captain Smith's first trip on the

The Detroit and Toledo Electric Railway Having Some Trouble.

CARLETON, April 4 .-- The township board of Ash refused to grant the Toledo, Monroe and Detroit electric street railway a franchise for 30 years to cross the east end of Ash township. The board was divided and quite a dispute was raised, but it was finally settled by agreeing that when Frenchtown signed a franchise Ash would do likewise. Attorney Golden is attorney for both townships. Mr. Bicks of the company says the line will go through whether they get a franchise from Ash or not. The line will run from the Boody House in Toledo out on the old United States turnpike to Vienna and LaSalle into Monroe city, thence north on the telegraph road to Flat Rock, Taylor Center, Dearborn and into Woodmere cemetery, and then into the city hall on the Fort Street and Belle Isle road. The company will be known and is incorporated in the state of Michigan as the Toledo, Monroe and Detroit Electric Street Railway company, with $100,000 stock. Most of the stockholders live in Toledo and the east. The surveying is all finished from Toledo to Monroe city.

Damage Suit on Trial.

Jackson, April 4.—The case of Frank Perry vs. the Michigan Central Railroad company is occupying the attention of the circuit court. When Perry was acting as brakeman on the Grand Rapids division he met with an accident at Grand Rapids June 29, 1892, whereby he lost his right hand. He sues the company for $15,000 on the claim that the freight car was defective, inasmuch as the draft iron was loose and misplaced, and the deadwood was driven back six inches, which, it is alleged, was the cause of the accident, these defects should have been noticed at the time of inspection. The company alleges that the car was properly inspected at different places and times and that Perry met with the accident through his own carelessness and they are not responsible for his in-jury. Some 10 or 12 Chicago and West Michigan railroad men from Grand Rapids have been subprensed by the Michigan Central Railroad company as witnesses. The freight car which it is claimed caused the accident came off the Chicago and West Michigan rail-road at Grand Rapids.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The following patents have been granted to Michigan inventors: Claude M. Bennett, Penn, and F. Wants an Assistant.

Lansing, April 4.—State Game and Fish Warden Hampton insists that the duties of his office have so increased as to render it necessary for him to have a clerk, but unfortunately for him the law does not seem to be elastic enough o warrant the anditing authorities of the state to approve vouchers for the salary of such an employe. In response to an inquiry from Auditor General Turner, Attorney General Ellis has written an opinion in which he de-clares that the statute makes no provision for the pay of a permanent clerk for the warden. He says that if an occasional service were necessary it is possible that the board of state auditors might legarly audit a bill for such service, but on this point he gives no positive opinion.

CHAPTER VIII. AGAIN AT PASONAGESSIT-PEACE AND GOOD WILL PREVAIL.

I was received with open arms by everybody on my arrival at Pasonagessitnot alone by members of my own family, not of course by the Bradford of it was on my departure for England. My father's house now seemed to be headquarters for nearly all the young people of the town. My sisters were "in the swim," and of course I very naturally dropped in with them.

in our family mansion. Our secret had the least suspect how matters stood between their brother and the "Mayflower in what might, by some puritanical of the Mayflowers." Not a soul was in sticklers for the purest and best methods the secret except our true blue Captain of rendering the human race unhappy, Shrimp, and to be the sole repository of be termed "body snatching," I do not such a secret made him the happiest of feel that the freak of digging up and mortals. Besides, he did not much like bringing over the sea some neglected old Amariah Bradford and "jist naterally hated" Standish. He had faithfully conveyed to Prudence all the letters I had written, both from England and much as a fly. On the contrary, out of New York, and began to feel almost like a father to the dear little Puritan maiden.

Prudence was a close and shrewd student of her austere father's whims and father's wrath. We therefore concluded to bide our time-to quietly wait and watch the effect of the ceremony of the entombing in the Pasonagessit cemetery of my titled ancestors. Whenever spoke of these ancestors to Prudence, I twinkle continues to the present day with the addition of a roguish smile. The plainest hint she has ever given me in regard to the business was one day after my mother and sisters had been displaying and explaining their ancient jewels. On that occasion, as soon as we were done, she said, "Oh, Sam, I feel guilty, too, for I suspected all the time. yet said nothing." "You suspected what, my dear?"

"Oh, Sam, only think that I am at the bottom of it all; that it was all on my account," and her eyes told what she would not permit her tongue to utter.

But I must not anticipate. As soon as we returned to Pasonagessit my father was again at work at what now seemed the one great business of his life. He at once had our genealogical tree placed in Johnson from Salem, where they were a massive oaken frame. "Heart of oak, Sam, my bog!" cried he as he suspended it upon the wall. Next he began the planting of evergreens on his lot in the cemetery, erecting brick walls in places and sparing neither pains nor cost.

He was now well up in the genealogy, and I am firmly of the opinion that from poring over it he had come to believe ter of Thomas, fourteenth earl of Linhear him entertain Rev. They were never tired of the story of their faithful preservation for so long a time by the old barrister and his descendants, heirs and assignees, for I continually remembered new circumstances and wonderfully improved upon my original sketch. Not an article but had been stolen or lost to be miraculously recovered in some way; even from the fishes of the sea and the birds of the air, not to speak of dishonest servants and regular out and out burglars.

One poor girl was arrested at the very altar with one of the bracelets on her arm. My sisters always pitied that poor creature. She was a servant in the barrister's family. To the last, with tears and heart breaking wailings she declared that she only took the jewel for the occasion and intended to return it to its case immediately after the ceremony. But, poor thing, to Botany Bay she went, her mean spirited husband deserting her at the altar and leaving her to her fate. These jewels became my father's pride and delight. He soon came to have full faith in their genuineness and in the truthfulness of the legends connected with them. He seemed to have quite forgotten that on my return from Lon-

Importing an Ancestor whether I did not in all this business feel some compunctions of conscience. I can truthfully say that I felt nothing of the kind. In all I had done I had not wronged or in any way injured a single living soul. On the contrary, wherever I had gone and in all I had done I had made people happy. In Pasonagessit I had found all going wrong socially, and instead of setting to work with a butcher's cleaver of reform and getting myself heartily cursed for my pains I gently, gently ministered to all the whims and prejudices I found in my path, when all rose up and called me blessed. In a peaceful and congenial way I had been all the Bradfords and a few others of able to bring about a greater harvest of that special brand of Bradfords, but I happiness than any fierce reformer with found life there very different from what | brandished cleaver could even have proposed or dreamed of.

The genealogy and pretended ancient jewels were mere harmless toys, the making of which doubtless placed food in many hungry mouths. And besides these toys gave to several hearts daily I was glad to be able to meet Prudence and hourly a vast deal of happiness which they would never have known been well kept. My sisters did not in had I not caused the pretty baubles to have an existence. As for my exploit and forgotten bones, to give them new sepulchers and fresh honors in a younger land, under brighter skies, harmed so this freak grew all the good that was accomplished at Pasonagessit and in every other place to which I came while in process of working up my plan for humoods. She advised a continuance of our manizing out of the way of wholesome secrecy, as a premature avowal of our and hearty happiness the whims and engagement would probably arouse her prejudices that upreared themselves in my path.

Before me I now every day saw the good fruits of my work. My father had in a remarkably short time gathered in and deposited with the Pasonagessit undertaker the remains of my great-grandfather, Walter Johnson, put down in our genealogy as being the only son of Sir Archibald: those of my great-grandmother, Mary Johnson, and also those of Samuel and Martha Johnson, my grandfather and grandmother, all of which had been placed in fine and costly caskets provided with silver plates properly inscribed.

Having secured these, I thought my father would rest satisfied. But not so. He had set his heart upon obtaining the remains of Lady Arbella or Arabella interred in 1630, only 10 years after the landing of the pilgrims on "Forefathers" Accompanied by the Pasonarock." gessit undertaker, and having with him the great parchment genealogical record as authority, he went to Salem and actually returned in triumph with the ashes and tombstone of "Lady Arbella, daughevery word of it. It was beautiful to coln, wife of Isaac Johnson," as was inaffixed to the beautiful casket containing the noble ashes. This being an exploit of my father's own conception and execution it gave him great satisfaction.

HARK FROM THE TOMBS.

Conviction of Voters Who Came From New York's Doleful Prison.

Three men were convicted in the court of oyer and terminer on Monday (two of them pleaded guilty) of the offense of voting from the Tombs in violation of section 3 of article 2 of the state constitution, which declares that "no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while in the service of the United States, or while kept in any almshouse or other asylum at public expense or while confined in any public prison.

The case of the defendant Cady, who was found guilty by a jury, was peculiar. He had voluntarily resided for seven years, without commitment for any offense, in the Tombs. He had no other home. He was not qualified to vote from any other domicile. He registered and voted from the city prison, from which he readily obtained egress, and he was tried and convicted. Judge Barrett announced, however, that he would give a tally disfranchised, might be decided by a higher court. The situation is certain- is meant.-North China Herald. ly an odd one.-New York Sun.

Heavily Insured Monarchs.

The crowned heads of Europe seem to take a great deal of stock in life insurance. It is announced that the king of Portugal has just taken out a $200,000 policy on his life, but that is an insignificant investment compared with those of some of the other potentates. The late Emperor Frederick of Germany was insured for $4,000,000. The queen regent of Spain has her life insured for a large amount in behalf of her two little daughters, following the example of her husband, whose death mulcted the various companies in which he was insured for $5,000,000.

King Leopold of Belgium's life is heavily insured, as is also that of Queen Victoria. The queen's husband, the late prince consort, was insured for close upon $5,000,000, the income of which has been enjoyed by his widow. About the only sovereign in Europe who is not insured is the czar of Russia, the companies regarding him as too unsafe a risk on account of the nihilists.—Boston Herald.

MAY BROCKYN'S SUPERSTITIONS.

The Actress Kept In Her Room What Seems to Be a List of Omeus.

In Miss Brookyn's room were writings which attested her superstition. The name of a "test medium and psychometrist" of this city was on a card which she kept. In her handwriting was what appeared to be a list of omens. It began with an incomplete account of what the months had in store for her. This was as follows:

Feb.-Avoid O. S. June-P. I. Aug.-Good. Nov.-

Below this was a statement of what the letters meant. This was as follows:

H-Good; deal freely. E-Not so good in woman as man. O-Very bad.

S-Unpleasant news from a distance; surorise.

A—Good; male or female.
P—Good.
L—Very good; male or female.
K—Good; new friend.
V—New friend; good; fair man.
Don't marry in '94; '96 good.
58 or 61. S Q. 5 S.
B—Is very good; deal freely.
W—Proposition; good for flirtation; never marry.

marry. C-Good: male or female. M-Better woman.

T—New friend; good.
G—Very good.
N—Not quite so good; be careful.

She had drawn a rude circle, and there were dots in it as if a pencil point came down in many places. The supposition is that the letters were placed inside a circle, like the numbers on the face of a clock, and she then let the pencil held in her fingers drop wherever chance brought

it. The letter on which it hit signified the outcome of whatever she might have been thinking of. In this manner doubtless she found whether the months were to be good or bad for her.

She had marked February as a month to avoid and with the letters "O S." According to the mystic dictionary, "O" meant that February was very bad for her and "S" that she would receive unpleasant news from a distance. Curiously she did get some news from New been unpleasant, and February proved to be the month of her grievous exit from the world.

A spiritualistic doctor lingered around the Baldwin theater yesterday until he could tell Mr. Presbrey, manager of the Palmer company, that he had received knowledge of the reunion of the souls of Lovecraft and Miss Brookyn. The spiritualistic theory is that when her efforts to establish communication with her lover's spirit failed she felt the necessity of taking exactly the same terre: 'rial route that he had journeyed on. To employ any other poison than carbolic acid might serve to keep them parted forever, and so she submitted herself to the scorching liquid. She bought the deadly draft in Columbus, O., on Nov. 20 and treasured it until she felt impelled to put the bottle to her lips.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A WEIGHTY YOUTH.

A Virginia Boy Who Is Only Fifteen Years Old, but Weighs 535 Pounds.

Wythe county numbers within its population the greatest man in the commonwealth, if one considers his dead weight-Melvin Grubb, whose wondrous girth and ponderous limbs make him the daily wonder of his neighbors. He was born something more than 15 years ago and has ever since that event kept his neighbors wondering at his growth. Each year since he was 10 has seen from 50 to 100 pounds added to his weight, will soon break all the heavyweight records since Adam. At 13 years of age he weighed 410 pounds; at 14, 450, and now at 15 the scales creak at 535 pounds, and the end is not yet.

Grubb is not merely a mountain of flesh, but an active and intelligent boy. He can follow a plow all day without unusual fatigue and is a bright and intelligent pupil of the public school near his father's farm at Walter's Bridge, 24 miles west of Wytheville.-Richmond Times.

A Many Named Royalty.

The extra two characters "Ch'unghsi" containing the name which is to be given to that already greatly benamed personage, the empress dowager of China, in honor of H. I. A Late Fad of Royalty.

The latest fad among the ladies of the English royal family, including, it is said, the queen herself, is to beguile the winter hours by plaiting straw for the fabrication of bats to be presented to their sons and husbands at the approaching season. A well known hatter has just finished a handsome straw hat for Prince Henry of Battenberg, every inch of which was plaited by Princess Beatrice's own hands. It is said to be a remarkably delicate piece of workmanship. -London Letter.

ANN ARBOR ARGU
REPORT FROM THE SIDEWALK COM-
To the Common Council:
Your committee on Sidewalks, to whom was referred the communsca- tion from the Board of Public Works, asking that an appropriation of $200.00 be made for the construction of two crosswalks on and along the east side of Fourth avenue across Liberty and south sides of east Liberty street across Fourth avenue, one on and along the north side of east Ann street across Fourth avenue, also a resolution which was referred to your committee at our last meeting, asking that $150.00 be appropriated for the construction of two crosswalks, one on along the north side of Washington street across Thayer street and one on and along the east side of Thayer street across Washington street.
Your committee find that the above crosswalks are a necessity, we therefore recommend that the appropriation of $450.00 be made from the Bridge, Culvert and Crosswalk Fund, for the construction of the above crosswalks.
