Last Night's Storm.

The storm last night was especially severe on the north side. The rain came down in torrents all over the city, but the damage seems to have been mainly on the north side where berry patches were destroyed and gardens washed out. Reports of damage to fruit came in from all directions. On the Ann Arbor railroad a big gang of men were at work all night removing two feet and 1-2 eight inches of sand which had been washed on the track in Hagan's cut, for a distance of over ninety feet. A private culvert belonging to Mr. Rohde was washed out. The new crossing on Hiscock between Gott street and Miner street was entirely washed away. A large number of shade trees were blown down.

The Street Railway Looking Up.

Mr. F. H. C. Reynolds, of Banger Maine, representing the bond holders of the Ann Arbor street railway was in the city Wednesday, with power of attorney from five-sixth of the bond holders. He desires the stockholders to turn their stock over to the bond holders. If they are unwilling to do this, he proposes to take steps to close them out, asking erary faculty recommending that the fend the constitution of the United the United States court to appoint a receiver. Mr. Reynolds and his counsel, who was with him, was called to Philadelphia yesterday, but will return in a week when he expects to learn just what the stockholders will do. He has absolute power of attorney and it is his expressed purpose to see that the road is rebuilt and requipped. His plans are of course not fully matured, but he expresses himself as satisfied that much more of a line is needed here to make the road profitable. He expects to bring street railway experts here to lay out a plan of the road that a resident of any part of the Senator Patton has been a fullfledgedUnited States Senator ever since the afternoon of the 10th instant, when, with uplifted hand, he took the usual oath administered to nesday. Regents Barbour, Cocker, all Senators and Representatives in congress, which is as follows:

"I, ---, do solemly swear (or A communication from the lit- affirm) that I will support and defixed at 120 and the maximum per and domestic; that I will bear true about to enter. So help me God." While there were many interested spectators who witnessed the swearing in of the new Senator, including several Michigan men, the most in-Supt. Reeve was directed to pre- terested of all were the wife and two little sons of the man upon whom Governor Rich had so sudany state can bestow upon one of its citizens. They, in company with two or three lady friends who accompanied them to the capital from Mr. Patton's old home in Pennsylvania, where they visited for a day committee considered the same use- senate chamber. It is stating the less. He also asked for more time case mildly to say that it was the to consider the list of instruments to proudest moment in the life of the forty-four years old, was thus enter-

Although having had no previous by, Mrs. Mary Sheldon Barnes, was promoted to assistant professor legislative or congressional experience, the new Senator takes hold like a veteran. If he continues to apply himself as closely to his new duties as he has thus far, he will very soon familarize himself with the multifarious duties that belong to or are thrust upon a senator of the United States, and his influence in shaping legislation will very soon begin to be felt. While he is well known to be a ready and eloquent speaker, tradition will keep him from attempting to make a speech until after he has been a senator for at least several months if not for a year or two. Unless he is elected by the legislature next January to succeed himself, he may not find a suitable occasion to make a senatorial speech during the eight months for which Governor Rich appointed him. A senator or representative can, however, be a very active and successful legislator and never make a speech. There are some notable examples of men who have never made a speech, long or short, during the entire twenty years of their congressional career.

Senator Patton occupies a seat in the rear row on the republican (east) side of the chamber, almost directly behind Senator McMillan, who now becomes the "senior senator from Michigan' instead of the "junior." "For God, and Home, and Native as before the late senator's death. They sit so near each other that they can pass letters or telegrams back and forth during the session, without either rising from his seat. The "boys" are not required to stand on the floor or sit with the big girls every time they whisper, as was the case in the old fashioned district schools of long ago, so the two Michigan senators are very favorably located for visiting or talking business, as they may wish to do, during sessions of the senate.

The mail of the Michigan senators and representatives is being flooded with letters from Michigan editors and others who labor under a mistaken idea in regard to book the children of the city in the postage. All the children of the books, etc., was increased from two up to eight cents per pound, and that the senate is likely to pass the bill in the same form, unless some strong influence can be brought to bear upon that body. The facts are that when the bill in question was being considered in committee of the whole by the house, a new section was added to it as follows:

Sec. 4. That all publications purporting to be issued periodically and to subscribers, but which are merely books or reprints of books whether they be issued complete or in parts, whether they be bound or unbound, or whether they be sold by subscription or otherwise, when offered for transmission by mail shall be subject to postage at the rate prescribed for third-class This fact was telegraped all over the country, hence the scare. When the bill went back to the full house for its action, the obnoxious amendment was promptly voted out of the bill by a vote of about four to one. The bill, minus the amendment, was then passed by the house, and in that form will pass the senate in due time. Chairman Henderson, of the house postoffice committee, who offered the amendment to his own bill, and tried to secure its passage, said to the writer hereof, when questioned about the amendment:

"As the house voted down the amendment before the final passage of the bill, the people of Michigan need have no fear that it will come up again for rhe present at least, for it dead beyond resurrection during the life of ths present congress.

TEMPLARS IN SESSION.

Thirty-Eighth Annual Conclave Opens at Kalamazoo.

STREETS OF THE CITY DECORATED.

The Order Shown to Be Steadily Increasing In Numbers and the Financial Condition Good-Grand Master Hugh Me-Curdy Delivered an Address-Knights of Pythias Assemble at Benton Harbor.

KALAMAZOO, May 16.—The 38th conclave of the grand commandery, Knights Templar of Michigan, began here Tuesday afternoon. The rain early in the morning was disappointing to the ladies. A carriage drive had been arranged by the local committee for their entertainment. But as it began to clear off about 11:30 many of the ladies, despite the dampness, rode to the asylum, where they were given every attention by the officials.

In honor of the great occasion many local merchants decorated their stores with flags and bunting, until the business streets assumed a holiday appearance, which helped to dissipete the gloomy day.

At 1:30 p. m. the lines of grand commandery were formed at the American House; then under the escort of Peninsular commandery, No. 8, Knights Templar, all the members being in full uniform, the procession marched to the Masonic hall, where the grand commandery meets.

At 2 o'clock the grand commandery of the state met in solemn conclave. The session was opened by Grand Commander Henry L. Anthony of Sturgis, who introduced in a few chosen words Hon. Hugh McCurdy of Corunna, grand master of the grand encampment of the United States, and who was fraternally and cordially welcomed to the session. Mr. McCurdy responded in an eloquent

The grand commander then delivered his annual address, which showed the condition of the order in this state and its steady increase. The report of the grand secretary was then read, as also that of the grand treasurer. Both reports showed that the financial condition of the order was good.

At night an elaborate banquet and ball was given the grand commandery decorated.

Ear.

DETROIT, May 16 .- Oscar Hess, aged 24 years, of 1029 Chene street cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor about 6 o'clock last night. He had consumption, was out of work, poor and wanted to die. Dr. Augustus Ahlborn of 1236 Dubois street was summoned, but found the young man's condition so serious that he called an ambulance and had him sent to Grace hospital, where at a late hour he was hovering between life and death, with all the chances against living.

Hess has been afficted with weak lungs for some time, and lately his condition became so bad that he had to give up his job. He was very despondent at times and frequently threatened to take his own life. Those with whom he boarded tried to cheer him up, but it was useless. He managed to get hold of a razor, and before he could be prevented, cut an ugly gash in his throat. The windpipe was severed, and the physicians at the hospital say he cannot

Just a little pain may so distract a a man's mind that it will cost him hundreds of dollars. Life is a bat- judiciary committee, board of censors tle. To succeed one needs all his energies and all his brain force to apply to the question at hand. Even a corn will make him irritable, cross, angry-and an angry man seldom succeeds. The trifling pain of a corn is a pleasant feeling beside the agonizing ache of piles. That is a pain which seems to pervade the whole body. It communicates itself to all the parts near the seat of the trouble and brings on a heavy, dragging feeling in the perineum. Those who have never so suffered do not know what it means. It racks the nerves, prevents sleep, prevents concentrated thought and makes a man lose flesh as fast as he would with a virulent fever.

And yet piles are looked upon as a little thing. They are neglected -allowed to run on from month to month and year to year. By and by comes a dangerous surgical operation. Maybe it cures - maybe it

There is only one sure, safe and quick cure for piles. It is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is a recent discovery and its properties are such that it cleanses, soothes and heals the inflamed parts, reduces the inflammation at once and with continued treatment, removes all swelling and all trace of the disease. It puts the membranes in a healthy, active condition and cures completely and permanently.

SUGAR TRUST RECEIVES THE HIGHEST AND PAYS THE LOWEST.

A Government Favorite That Pays No Attention to Census or to Antitrust Laws. An "Infant Industry" Now Laboring to Retain Its $12,000,000 a Year.

For 30 years our government has been in partnership with the sugar refiners. The terms of the contract under the Mc-Kinley act are that, in consideration that the refiners shall stay on our soil and continue to pay "American wages to American workingmen," the government grants them license to collect from consumers from 5-10 to 6-10 cents per pound more for refined sugar than it the same time it gives them free raw thrown out hundreds of wage earners, protection. but they have shamefully mistreated

The government, being a silent partprofits of ½ cent a pound on the 4,200,-000,000 pounds of sugar annually con-supply a basis for future agreements. The census statistics, taken every 10 years, might answer for this purpose. In 1890, however, the sugar refiners refused to show their books or to submit compiled or incomplete statistics, but to "give away their business" by complying with the "act to provide for taking the eleventh and subsequent cen-

Under these conditions it would take contract or to ask to have the government continue as the financial backer of the industry. Yet this is what the Sugar trust is doing with a vigor not found outside of the well nourished, protected

On March 28 Senator Pettigrew offered a resolution which the senate agreed to, calling on the census office to state whether it was a fact that the Sugar trust, substantially alone among all manufacturers in this country, refused to answer the census questions. Colonel Carroll D. Wright made to congress the same reply that Mr. Robert P. Porter made more than a year ago, adding to against the refusing refiners.

Concerning this reply, The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin of March 23, 1894, said:

"The superintendent of the census made a report to congress last year of his efforts to get from the sugar refiners the same sort of information that he had got from the flour mill owners, the steel rail makers and the woolen manufacturers. Harrison, Frazier & Co. of Philadelphia made a report so deficient as to be worthless. They were requested to supply the missing information, and they refused. Mr. Porter called their attention to the act of July, 1892, and they promised to supply the information, but they failed to keep their promise.

'The Louisiana Sugar Refining company of New Orleans and the Havemeyer Sugar Refining company of Brooklyn referred all the census officials to the American Sugar Refining company at 117 Wall street. The Havemeyer refinery in Jersey City referred all census inquiries to Matthiessen & Wiechers at the same address. Agents of the census went again and again to 117 Wall street. 'From written reports on file in this office,' says the superintendent, 'it appears they received numerous promises, and at other times refusals, to comply with the requirements of the law. They finally reported, however, that they were satisfied that further efforts on their part to secure the returns would be without avail.

"Why should sugar refiners be any more reluctant to 'give their business away' than iron or lumber or cotton men? If Mr. Havemeyer will not obey the law, why should the law make Mr. Havemever exceptionally opulent? He certainly would not invest any of his money in a business the particulars of which were refused to him, but he and his associates and their hired agents insist that the people of the United States shall guarantee them profits of $12,000,- stitions.—Truth.

PROFITS AND WAGES. 000 a year, though they refuse to answer the census questions that other people

"It is about time that this foolishness were stopped. If there is any reason why the refiners are entitled to protection by the tariff, let them show it. It is intolerable effrontery that these people should refuse to answer the ordinary census questions that every one else answers and demand from the government they defy, and whose laws they trample on, a rate of protection that enables them to divide 22 per cent in a year on their vastly inflated common stock. Let the sugar refiners obey the law or get along without the help of the law."

After observing that only the smaller manufacturers of sugar and molasses even pretended to answer census inquiries The Journal of Commerce and Comsells for outside of our boundaries. At mercial Bulletin of April 14, 1894, said:

"It is probable that these concerns make smaller profits than the great re-This is very much of a one sided bar- fineries that compose the trust, partly gain: 1. But the wages in the sugar business are exceptionally low. The average wages in all manufacturing instatements to census officials. Some of dustries in 1890 were $485, but in the the smaller refiners submitted carelessly sugar and molasses business they were only $374. The sugar business appears several of the largest made no attempt to be at or near the head of all industries in profits and at the foot of all industries in the proportion of its earnings distributed to labor and in the rate of wages paid."

Not only has the Sugar trust openly an unusual amount of assurance for an defied and violated the census laws, and industry to ask congress to renew the thus rendered almost worthless the whole census statistics for 1890. It is perhaps the greatest lawbreaker now doing business in our territory. It flagrantly and constantly violates the federal antitrust laws as well as those of "infant industries." The sugar infant New York and all other states that have has, in fact, gone to Washington with such laws. It also disregards the interstate commerce act in that it has mad secret contracts with many railroads so wants or defeat all tariff legislation, and that it obtains discriminating rates and thus compel the government to continue | can quote freight rates prepaid at less than the usual rates for sixth class freight. It shares its illegal spoils with its large sugar dealers in our cities, and thus subsidizes them. This is one of the reasons (rebates are another) why the wholesale grocers stick to the trust and do its bidding, as they did when hundreds of them sent telegrams to congress asking members to vote against Warner's free sugar amendment.

This high handed lawbreaker, criminal and conspirator is now in congress "holding up" legislation until it can get a renewal of its license for robbery and spoliation. It should be kicked from our legislative halls and outlawed even if we should have to lay discriminating duties to break up this band of conspirators. Congress should investigate the books of this robber gang to see what laws it breaks and to see how the spoils are divided and to what corrupt uses BYRON W. HOLT. they are put.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will peread with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, bands and legs. I had to rub and best those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had take a possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and aroundarry waist, together with an indescribable "gones' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

WILL MEET NEXT YEAR IN SAGINAW

Charles H. Pomeroy of Saginaw Elected as Grand Commander-Pythians Also Select Officers at Benton Harbor-The Body of a Ypsilanti Man Found In the KALAMAZOO, May 17.--The grand commandery Knights Templar of Michigan closed their annual session here Wednesday noon. The morning session was a busy one and the outcome was very satisfactory to all concerned. The knights are all loud in their praises of Kalamazoo as a city and of the member of Peninsular commandery, whose guests they were for two days.

The committee on jurisprudence reported, indorsing all the decisions of the grand commander, and the same was adopted. The committee on charters made two reports, both of which were adopted. One advised granting a charter to a commandery at Sault Ste. Marie, to be known as Sault Ste. Marie commandery. The other advised restoring the charter to the Fenton commandery, taken away one year ago.

J. S. Conover, the committee on the templar dead, was granted permission to report to the recorder and have his report published in the proceedings.

The election resulted in the choice of the following officers: Grand com-mander, Charles H. Pomeroy of Saginaw: deputy grand commander, William E. Jewett of Adrian; generalissimo, Edward D. Wheeler of Manistee; cap-Edward D. Wheeler of Manistee; captain general, Albert Stiles of Jackson; grand prelate. Rev. Francis A. Blades of Detroit; senior warden, Francis M. Moore of Marquette; junior warden, Robert B. McKnight of Saginaw; grand treasurer, Charles A. Warren of Detrait; grand recorder, John A. Gerrow of Detroit; grand standard bearer, Eugene P. Robertson of Albion; grand sword bearer, Pailip T. Van Zile of De-troit; grand warden, Charles R. Hawley of Bay City; grand sentinel, Alexander McGregor of Detroit.

following committees: Tactics and drill—L. D. Harris of Grand Rapids, James Findlater of Detroit and Major Seymour Howell of Adrian. To arrange for the biennial conclave—C. H. Pom-eroy of Saginaw, Thomas H. Williams of Jackson and P. T. Van Zile of De-

The commandery voted to hold the next conclave at Saginaw next year.
Grand Commander Charles H. Pomeroy was installed by Eminent Grand Master Hugh McCurdy.

Found In the River.

DETROIT. May 17.—David E. Fisher, residing at 181 1-2 Russell street, while at the foot of Randolph street discovered the body of a man floating in the river a short distance from the dock The harbormaster was called and notified Coroner Beatcher, who had the body removed to Dick's undertaking establishment. The remains had been in the water a long time and were in a bad state of decomposition. Three letters were found in the clothing addressed to Fred M. Stevens, 634 River street, Ypsilant, and an investigation showed that that was the name of the deceased. He has a grandmother and sister in Ypsilanti. From the police it was learned that Stevens had been somewhat dissipated, and the supposition is that he committed suicide in a fit of despondency. Coroner Beatcher will hold an inquest.

May Again Run Into the City. Port Huron, May 17.—It is probable that the trains on the Detroit division of the Grand Trunk railway, which discontinued running to Court street and North Port Huron about a week ago. since then only coming as far as the Tunnel depot, will again run into the city. The reason for this is that a lease existing between the Grand Trunk railway and Flint and Pere Marquette will not expire for some time.

The Flint and Pere Marquette own that portion of the road between Court street and North Port Huron, over which the Grand Trunk railway runs its trains, paying $15,000 per year rental for the privilege. As the lease will not expire for some time and the Flint and Pere Marquette refuse to relieve the Grand Trunk railway from their obligations the latter will run its trains until the expiration of its contract.

He Probably Sulcided.

Jackson, May 17 .-- Wednesday morning section men discovered the dead body of a stranger in the carhouse at Eldred station, six miles from Jackson. Nothing was found on the body that might establish the dead man's identity, save a card upon which was written "F. Richter, Chestertown, Ind."

The remains were brought to this city. The man was about 45 years of age, with clean shaven face and gravish In his pocket was found a vial half filled with morphine pills, which leads to the suspicion that the wanderer may have committed suicide.

He was seen by the section men the day before. To them he said that his home was in Toledo; that he had been to Lansing to obtain work as a wagonmaker, but was unsuccessful.

Pythians Elect Officers.

BENTON HARBOR, May 17.—Grand lodge Knights Pythias in session here elected the following officers: G. C., F. M. Douglas, Ionia: G. V. C., W. D. Clizbee, Birmingham; G. P., J. W. Hopkins, Lansing; G. K. R. S., H. C. Hall, Hudson; G. M. of E., James Gray, Detroit: G. M. at A., E. F. Woodcock, Niles; G. I. G., O. D. Jones, Marquette; G. O. G., D. P. McMullen, Cheboygan.

Health of the State.

Lansing, May 17.—Reports to the state board of health show rheumatism, neuralgia, bronchitis, tonsilitis, consumption, in order named, causing the most sickness in Michigan during the week ending May 17. Consumption is reported at 213 places, measles at 68, scarlet fever at 50, diphtheria at 25, typhoid fever at 15, smallpox at 4.

Smallpox at Grand Rapids.

GRAND RAPIDS, May 17. - Grand Rapids has a case of smallpox. Silas White, a negro, who came here from Chicago Saturday as a witness in a circuit court case, was found to have the disease, and has been taken to the pesthouse. White has been in and out the circuit court-tourings, schools, churches and public buildings room during his stay and it is feared has exposed a considerable number. drowned.

MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

His Home.

SAGINAW, May 17 .- Mrs. William A. Michigan Knights Templar Baker reported to the West Side police station that her 17-year-old son, Conrad, had been missing from home since his whereabouts she had become greatly alarmed for his safety.

Young Baker has, until a short time the jail. ago, been attending the West Side high scholar and hard worker. He had an attack of diphtheria which must have in some way affected his reason, as ever since that time he has not been him-self, when he returned to school he got the mistaken idea that the teachers "had it in for him" and told his mother he would run away from home unless taken out of school.

His father is a foreman of bridge gangs for the Detroit, Lansing and Northern railroad and is now working near Grand Rapids.

It was thought the boy might have gone that way, but in answer to a telegram Mr. Baker said he had seen nothing of his son.

Missed His Pocketbook.

ADRIAN, May 17.—J. S. Edgerton, Detroit, a guest at the Lawrence hotel, representing the Mutual Life Insurance company of Burlington, Vt., missed his pocketbook. Search revealed it between two whisky barrels in the hotel bar. Three hundred dollars in promisory notes and $35 in currency were missing. notes and $35 in currency were missing. The thieves overlooked $500 worth of negotiable notes. Drowned While Bathing.

KALAMAZOO, May 17.—Ross West, 20 years of age, was drowned while bath-ing in Lake Michigan near South Haven.

While topics of common interest are considered, the chief object of the league is to extend the market for American flour in foreign markets. They will take steps to secure legislalation favorable to a fuller sale of flour

The Physicians Puzzled.

Toledo, May 17 .-- A mysterious case of suspended animation is puzzling the physicians of this city. Mrs. Hannah S. Stevens, aged 86, of Washington township came to the city on May 5 to attend the golden wedding of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Crabb. Since Sun-day evening all efforts to arouse her have proved fruitless and it is thought that she is slowly sinking.

Fifteen Hundred Affected.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 17.—Three hundred men employed at the brick yards here have gone out on strike. The men who would not quit work were attacked and compelled to flee to the woods for safety. The owners of the yards have applied to the sheriff for protection. Fifteen hundred men are affected by the strike.

WILL GO TO LONDON.

Princess Colonna Will Spend the Season There With Her Mother.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Princess Colonna, John W. Mackay's stepdaughter, arrived in this city from California in her special car Traveler. She was accompanied by her children and her brother, who met the car at Chicago. She was driven at once to her father's apartments at Belgravia, Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street. She and her children are in the best of health. They will remain a few days, and then the princess will go to London and spend the season with her mother.

The children will remain here and the mother it is said, will return in the autumn and make her permanent residence here. She says there is no truth in the rumor that she is going back to her husband, nor did she go to the west to secure a divorce.

HAIR RAISING FRIGHTS.

Is the "Standing on End" Sensation a Real How the Last Men Who Came Had to Pay A bed of roses where the sunlight falls; or an Imaginary One?

As a general rule unscientific opinions on a scientific subject are of but little value to the student and the investigator. Yet to be permitted to ask such questions appears to relieve one to a certain extent, even though the answer be far from satisfactory.

There is a variety of opinions among the authorities concerning the subject of the hair "standing on end" in time of extreme fright, some of which are tenable and altogether probable, others ridicnlous in the extreme. The notion, if notion it be, that the hair occasionally raises and lifts the hat is of extreme antiquity. In the oldest book in the Bible Job iv, 14-15) I find the following: "Fear came upon me and trembling, which made all my bones to shake. Then a spirit passed before my face. The hair of my flesh stood up."

Do you remember what Virgil says about his hero in the celebrated vox faucibus hoeset passage? I read from Conington's translation:

While thus in agony I pressed From house to house the endless quest, The pale, sad specter of my wife Confronts me larger than in life. I stood appalled, my hair erect, And fear my tongue tied utterances checked.

Macbeth relates his experience as fol-

Why do I yield to that suggestion Whose horrid image doth unfix my hair? And again in Hamlet we read: could a tale unfold whose lightest words Would harrow up thy soul, freeze thy young

Make thy two eyes, like stars, start from their spheres, Thy knotted and combined locks to part And each particular hair to stand on end,

Like quills upon the fretful porcupine. Similar instances of "hair raising" being mentioned in literature could be multiplied, but the above are sufficient, even without scientific corroboration, to prove that the phenomenon is not a freak of the imagination.

One of the authorities before me gives this opinion: "Plainly stated, the hair raising notion is without a substantial basis. In short, the sensation is only an imaginary one."

Hildreth says, "In such cases the hair actually stands erect, a result of a sudden contraction of the follicles."

Wilson's "Normal Condition of the Hair and Skin" says, "The phenomena of hair standing erect in cases of extreme terror cannot satisfactorily be explained."-St. Louis Republic.

Beardless Physicians.

It is an almost fatal obstacle in the building up of practice for a physician to wear a youthful face. Any doctor will corroborate that. I remember an amusing incident in my own experience after I had graduated from hospital service and put up my shingle and started practice. It was terribly slow work getting patients. I had a friend who was a medical student in my office. He was very dark complexioned, and though only 20 years old had a big black beard. A woman called at the office one day and asked to see the doctor. My student answered the summons and said that he would call me. I walked into the reception room. The patient, who was a stranger to both of us, looked at me impatiently. I had a very adolescent mustache at that time.

"I want to see the doctor," she exclaimed rather sharply. "I don't want to see a medical student. I wish to see the gentleman with the beard." To save myself the loss of that patient I had to apologize and call my student back. I the theater and went home. was present, heard all that was said, and I was the author of the prescription given. The woman didn't know that, however, and went away perfectly satisfied. It was simply an amusing illustration of the prejudice, unjust enough, to boyish looking doctors, and incidents of that kind occur every day.-New York Sun.

Southern Planters.

The gentleman, indeed, has taken to agriculture in the south. Before the war the whole southern social system rested on the planter. There has been an insidious and noiseless industrial revolution since, but the planter remains the main support of the taxes. We have no class among northern farmers that quite answers to his. He resembles more the English country gentleman of a past generation when country gentlemen did not go to town.

All the same, it would not do to count the planter out of the scheme. He is the most American farmer of them all, barely excepting the New Englander, who is disappearing every year. He furnishes a conservative, native born influence of immense account. A class that still believes in God and women and honor, that may be led astray by hotheaded prejudices, but can neither be bought nor cowed, is a class to be valued, since it is as true today as in Goldsmith's time that-

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey, Where wealth accumulates and men decay. —Octave Thanet in Scribner's.

Wasting Our Wealth.

Providence stocked the earth, the waters and the air with a store of all that was necessary for the use or for the benefit of man. Had we been content to live upon what may be called the interest of this store there was amply sufficient to last for all time. But we are the spendthrifts of our race; we are exhausting our capital, exterminating every wild animal, ladling out with our machinery every mineral and raking the very ocean for its wealth. What is to become of us when we have exhausted our sensationalism, exhausted our capital and exhausted even our vitality? They call this fin de siecle. I call it fin du monde. —Truth.

GETTING OUT OF IT.

For the Drinks. Among the guests at a well known hotel in London are several gentlemen from animal spirits and their disposition to get as much fun as possible out of their holiday. During the long evenings the billiard room and adjacent bar are well patronized, and there has sprung up an intense rivalry a thought of peace, and yet too slow for among the festive individuals to see who thall succeed in "sticking" his neighbor for the greatest number of drinks and cigars.

All sorts of tricks and devices are resorted to by the adroit schemers, but it was reserved for a Cincinnati man to invent a little scheme by which event the most experienced of the tricksters were beautifully taken in. A few evenings ago the assembly was unusually large. Billiards and other light amusements had become a bore, and things began to be a trifle dull when the Cincinnati man, gifted with sudden inspiration, sang out:

'Now, gentlemen, I've got a new game.' At once there was a rush, and in less gins. than 30 seconds 15 or 20 thirsty gentlemen were ranged alongside the bar.

'Each one put his finger on the counter." said the joker, at the same time setting the example. Instantly every man gravely the wicked, wily Cincinnatian.

Every victim turned pale with horror and stood as if rooted to the spot. It was no laughing matter. There were men in that party who wouldn't crook their elbows for anything less than a shilling drink and who never smoked anything but the finest imported Havanas. The loser was destined to have a nice little bill to settle. For one hour and 20 minutes the hapless victims stood there, their forefingers glued to the bar.

The situation was becoming very interesting when another Cincinnati man rushed in to get a cigar. He had some important correspondence to prepare for the outgoing mail and was in a tremendous hurry. 'What's up?" he inquired as he witnessed the strange spectacle before him.

"Put your finger down," said the joker. Almost mechanically he obeyed. Then the condition of the little game was explained, and the newcomer was wild. He raged and stormed and pleaded business, but to no avail. The others wouldn't let him off, and after holding out for half an hour he succumbed with a bad grace and "set 'em up." There wasn't change enough from the sovereign which he handed to the bartender to pay for a box of matches. And the preties who had been pressing their fore egers to the marble slab for nearly an hour laughed feebly and remarked that it was "a tiptop good joke, you know."-London Figaro.

She Paid George Back.

They sat cozily side by side at the theater, enjoying to the top of their bent the miser able fate of Desdemona, and dear George told her that he would never be jealous of her-no, not if she should give away 1,000 pocket handkerchiefs-and then they had squeezed each other's hands under her lace bonbons and then ate them all up, for no man was ever so much in love as to be shy in the matter of eating. By and by it came to the end of the third act, and after looking very restless and wretched George said fondly, "You won't mind, dear, will you, if I just step out into you? If George had had half an eye, he would have seen that she did mind very much. No woman likes to be left alone in a theater, but she only said coolly, "Oh, not in the least if you care to go."

So George crawled over the laps of half a dozen ladies, treading on their toes, scratching their chins with his watch chain and brushing the bloom off their laces and evening attire.

She waited about five minutes, and then, swiftly bundling her wrap around her and with her pretty face scarlet with indignation and embarrassment, she bravely left

After them came a whole series of Carib tribes, who were also forced southward from the West Indies. Just before the advent of the Europeans the last of the Carib tribes made its appearance, and its people were known as the "True Caribs."

In life and surroundings there is no great difference between any of the existing tribes. They live in small family groups, the mutual relations of the members being admirably regulated by a very decided though unwritten code. They pass perfectly simple lives, the happiness of which seems to be enhanced by the inevitable collisions with other tribes. A sufficiency of food is procured by hunting and fishing and a primitive kind of agriculture. Their houses, adds Mr. Smith Delacour, are of the simplest, but exactly what is required, and the furniture is usually a hammock. Clothing is "a question for the future."- or digestible or are unhealthy in themselves, but on account of the danger arising from microbes which have penetrated into the covering of the fruit. Everybody has noticed that at times a slight scratch will create a considerable sore on the human body. It is generally ascribed to an unhealthy condition of the blood, but a close microscopical examination will show that it is due to the presence of microbes thus introduced into the system. So with an apple, a peach, a pear or a grape. The fruit may be perfectly sound and healthy, but on the skin or covering may be microbes, which, introduced into the human system, will breed disease. These germs are not uncommon; neither are they always present. It is possible to eat this covering without injury, but the danger is such that it is best not to incur the risk.

He Reconsidered His Intention.

A friend of the writer tells this story. He EDWARD CAMP. says he was traveling in New Brunswick one cold, stormy night this winter. It was snowing, and the wind was blowing furi-

He had driven a long distance without seeing a house, and he knew it must be a long way to a village where accommodations for man and beast could be secured. So he hailed with delight a rough farmhouse by the roadside and drove up in front and began to shout to the inmates. It seemed a long time before there was any sign of life, but at last a chamber window opened, and a rough man's voice, with a good deal of profanity intermingled, asked what was wanted.

"I want to stay here all night," said our

A "Democrat For Revenue."

If Senator Hill, in his speech against the income tax and in favor of protection and indirect taxation, intended to strike the keynote of Democracy in a gratified with the result. If he intended Last Sunday the home of Mr. and to create a stir in the Democratic camp name of David B. Hill, he must have succeeded beyond all expectations.

The Democratic leaders of Minnesota issued an address the day before Hill made his speech, anticipating his position, and naming him as one of the 12 traitors in the senate. A mass meeting of California Democrats in San Francisco, on April 16, passed resolutions strongly denouncing the "traitorous utterances" of Senator Hill and condemning the un-Democratic course of Thomas J. Geary, their congressman, in voting for the Wilson bill.

On the same day the Samoset club of Omaha, the strongest Democratic crganization in Nebraska, unanimously passed resolutions branding Senator Hill as a deserter and a "traitor who, having hitherto talked behind the watchword, 'I am a Democrat,' dealt a treacherous blow at the vitals of his party at the time of its greatest peril."

On April 15 the New York World secured interviews with 27 national and state Democratic committee men. Twenty-four of these 27 declared Hill's speech un-Democratic and deplored his attack upon the administration. But perhaps Hill is only keeping his contract with the Sugar trust—to delay all tariff legislation as long as possible, and if all cannot be defeated then to defeat the income tax, hoping that this will necessitate the placing of high duties on refined sugar. Mr. Hill is probably a good "Democrat for revenue" and thinks the present the most opportune time to sell his services to the highest bidder.
