Arrangements are now being made at St. Louis for the holding of "a convention of the discontented for He should not be of the "herring" the purpose of forming a new party." It is alleged that Governors Waite, Lewelling and Pennoyer and probably Governor Tillman will be present. Poor St. Louis, her woes would seem to be greater than she can bear.

Everything that labor buys it buys under protection. Everything it has to sell is labor and this it sells alty to principle as opposed to a in a free trade market because thousands of foreigners are annually transported to this country and fix by their competition the state of wages paid American labor. Those who insist, therefore, that a tariff is necessary to cover the difference between wages in this country and Europe are either densely ignorant are knaves.

Last Friday the republicans in the senate dropped their dilatory tactics and permitted the consideration of the tariff bill to proceed in a business like way. The result was that the senate disposed of forty-four paragraphs of the bill. At this rate the bill could be disposed of in two or three weeks. They should not be allowed in future to retard the progress of the measure under the lying assertion that they are not filabustering.

Gov. Hogg, of Texas, upon learning that some proselyting "industrials" were coming to that state to make recruits, issued a proclamation warning all laboring men of the folly of the undertaking. He adds that "if deadbeats, loungers and snoozing idlers wish to leave the state, let them go. They will get along about as well in one calaboose as in needs of commerce and production another." While this language can be supplied from those sources, smacks of the wild and woolly west, the words are words of wisdom.

The Missouri democrats in their platform recently adopted by the state convention declare their devotion to the democratic doctrine of a tariff for revenue only, and also take high ground in favor of the income tax. They declara that they favor it "not for the purpose of discriminating against the wealth of any section, but because every citizen should be taxed in proportion to the benefits he receives from the protection to his property by the government, and no tax can be so just as that which is collected, not on consumption or unproductive property, but from the profits or incomes which really represent the benefits received by the citizens from just and equal laws." Here is exand justice of an income tax.

He should not be the favorite of any clique or faction, as opposed to any other faction, but he should be the enthusiastic choice of a united and aggressive democracy. Then this candidate should be placed on a platform demanding courageous loyplatorm of mere fancicd expediency. With such a candidate on such a platform Michigan democracy will come nearer to victory than with any other candidate or platform.

The conditions resulting from the great strike of the coal miners which has been in progress for several weeks are becoming serious. If the operators and miners continue at variance a few weeks longer, it will cause the shutting down of most of the great industries of the country. Manufacturing establishments, railroads, water transportation, electric light and gas plants, all depend on coal as a basis of power. The whole commerce and production of the country is at the mercy of the coal operators. The supply has already became so low that great trunk lines are refusing freight that they may husband their coal supply for the transportation of passengers and the mails. In Pennsylvania the railroads are seizing coal in transit and appropriating it to their own use. Efforts are also making to import coal from Canada and some large shipments are on the way here from Wales. Wood is being used in places where there is a supply of it. But it is idle to suppose that the and unless there is an early resumption of coal production, incalcuable damage will be done the business interests of the country. There is no doubt but that the coal miners have much of justice in their claims for an increase of wages, as they are poorly paid anyway and wages have been reduced during the past year beyond the limit of possible justification on account of the times. Justice requires of the mine owners, therefore, that the claims of the men be met up to the equitable limit, but both sides should, in view of the grave danger to the business of the country, approach the settlement of their differences in the spirit of conciliation and com-

In Germany the various governments own and manage, in a conservative pirit, about one-third of the forest villages, cities and public institutions, in so far as these communities are obliged to employ expert foresters and government for approval, thus preventing improvident and wasteful methods. The other half of the forest property, in the hands of private owners, is man though upon methods similar to those employed by the government, and by trained foresters, who receive their edu cation in one of the eight higher and several lower schools of forestry which the arious governments have established.

The several states differ in their laws regarding forest property. Of the private forests 70 per cent are without any control whatever, while 30 per cent are subject to supervision, so far as clearing and devastation are concerned.

The tendency on the part of the government has been rather toward persua-

not be detected, and it was finally decided that the burglar gained an entrance by means of a false key.

Detective Myler hid in the store several nights, and about 8:30 o'clock last evening his patience was rewarded. Young Lambrecht opened the front door of the store and walked straight back to the desk, which is in the rear, and opened it. Myler was hiding close by and he quietly stepped up behind him and told nim to surrender. With a look of horror Lambrecht threw up both his hands and the detective proceeded to search him. In his coat-pocket he found a revolver and the key to the front door. He then put on the handcuffs and escorted the young man to the Central station. The prisoner admitted that he had been stealing from the store for the past two months, but the exact amount of his thefts is not known. Mr. Sexauer refused to state the amount, but Detective Myler thought it would reach $150. Lambrecht knew the store very well, having worked there some time ago.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Asa Tefft, the Alleged Slayer of His Uncle, Leroy Rogers.

HASTINGS, May 22 .- The trial of Asa Tefft for murdering his uncle, Leroy Rogers, who lived alone in a little Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Lum and shanty seven miles west of this city, is aughter left vesterday for their in progress here. The murder was committed very early on the morning of Jan. 7, and was a most horrible one. After shooting him four times and smashing in the skull of the old man, the murderer, whoever he was, completed his bloody work by nearly cleaving the head of the victim from his body by burying the blade of an ax deep in his neck. Various clews were traced which resulted in nothing until several circumstances were followed Fargo, North Dakota, are visiting which ended in weaving about Asa Mr. Dodsley's parents, on Detroit Tefft of Watson, Allegan county, a street. evidence that led to his arrest.

Cut Off the Sugar Tax.

Senator Voorhees proclaims that the surplus revenue of about $30,000,000 which it is estimated the finance committee's bill will yield has "no terror" for him.

This is perhaps not strange. The average congressman shares Colonel Fred Grant's notion that "a surplus is much easier to handle than a deficit." The congressional way of handling a surplus is to spend it. So far from having any fat surplus is viewed with heart warming satisfaction.

But the people take a different view. They believe, as the Democratic platform sententiously declared, that necessary taxation is unjust taxation. They believe, with a Democratic leader, that the best place and the only just place for every dollar not needed for the expenses of the government economically administered is in the pockets of the men who earned it.

A small excess in the revenues is a prudent provision. A large surplus is a wrong to taxpayers and a standing temptation to extravagance in congress. Nothing helped more to gain power for the Democrats in 1884 than the enormous surplus collected under Republican taxation. Nothing gave greater force to President Cleveland's plea for tariff reform than his insistence upon the correction of this injustice.

Thirty millions would be far too large a surplus. The senate should avoid it by cutting off the sugar tax which its committee most unwisely added to the house bill .- New York World.

which they had passed. The Thompson's yawlboat, manned by Captain Henry Little, Barney Mills, Angus King, William Lewis and Dan Lynn, marine reporter, a volunteer crew of men, started for the ill-fated schooner. The wind was blowing 50 miles an hour and every sea swept the schooner's decks. A line was paid out from the Thompson to the yawl. The yawl had gone but a short distance when she capsized and the crew was tossed into the boiling sea. Little, Mills and King went down to their death, and Lynn was washed in near the shore in an insensible condition and was rescued by Mark Randall and Charles Conkey who, with the assistance of life lines got him ashore in the face of the terrible sea. Lvnn had nearly succumbed when rescued Captain Henry Little, who was with the others drowned, was a nephew of the captain of the Shupe and leaves a wife and two children. Mills, King and Lewis were also married men.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the tug Thompson started on her fourth trip out into Lake Huron to rescue the crew of the schooner Shupe, with the Sand Beach lifesaving crew in their boat in tow. She proceeded up the lake about a mile above the wreck before the lifesavers were cast off.

The boat was pulled around to the lee side of the Shupe and the crew taken off in safety. The boat was then pulled to the shore and the deed was done.

The crew were all alive, but in a much exhausted condition. They were taken to the nearest farmhouse, where they are being cared for. They had been exposed to the fury of the storm, drifting about at the mercy of the waves for 48 hours.
