A WILD WEST REVIVAL

The Lyra and Harugari Societies Start for Bay City.

THURSDAY IS GERMAN DAY AT CHELSEA.

A Sad Bereavement.—Two City Officers Resign.—Blodgett-Moore Wedding.—Mr. Jacobs Complimented.—Chicago Herald and Minister Sill.

"Busted Harrison."

In Grover we trusted in 1893, and that is what busted us in 1894.—Ann Arbor Courier.

No. It was the Harrison administration that "busted" us. The remedy agreed upon in 1892 was all right, but the patient too far gone.—Ypsilanti sentinel.

Off for the Saengerfest.

The Lyra and Harugari societies left this morning in a special car, at 7:15, for the three days' Peninsular Saengerfest at Bay City. The Lyra's costumes are white duck cap-apie, outside of negligee shirts, and belts. The Harugari's, of more terrible name, required something to soften it, and they will be recognized by their black suits and wide-brimmed gray hats. Both wings of this musical junta include talent, good looks and good manners, and will shed luster and lend prestige to the Saengerfest.

The Virtue of Forbearance.

Editor Hoover, of the Chelsea Standard, notwithstanding his recent assault and battery on Ann Arbor papers, on account of the street railroad, brushed up his gall, Friday, and came to the city. Although the provocation to do summary justice upon him was very great, he was treated with the same gentle forbearance and courtesy that always marks the attitude of a Christian people toward members of those unfortunate tribes whose hearts have never yet been dominated by the enlightening influences of court house square. Hoover was allowed to escape without bodily injury.

Married—Blodgett-Moore.

Walter S. Moore, D. D. S., of this city, and Miss Mary Blodgett, of Webster, were married Wednesday evening of last week, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Blodgett, in the presence of about 200 guests and relations, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Frank Blomfield, assisted by Rev. B. C. Baumgardner. The wedding march was performed during the ceremony by Miss Olive Pacey. The affair was one of the most interesting social events witnessed in Webster for a long time. Presents were numerous. After a wedding repast the couple departed for Niagara Falls and the Thousand Islands.

It Puzzles the Argus.

Dr. Batwell, in the Sentinel, discussing the subject of the late smallpox excitement and Harrison's presence in justice court while he had the disease, says:

"The Hon. E. P. Allen, City Attorney J. P. Kirk, Justice Bogardus, Zina Buck, and the other 'attaches' at the justice office, were far more exposed than the residents of 'Varoloid Terrace.' Why were they not included in the quarantine?"

That what "sticks" the Argus, especially as to Allen. It is known that every one of the forty republicans in this district, whose unhappy infirmity is the belief that they would make statesmen, wanted Allen quarantined till after the convention.

Robbed of their Little Ones.

A sad affliction has befallen Rev. and Mrs. Robert Graetz, formerly of this city, and who recently came to Ann Arbor from Arlington, O., on a visit. Mr. Graetz and his family, consisting of his wife and twin babies, arrived in the city, Wednesday, last week, on a visit to Mrs. Fred Kannenburg, of North First street. They were scarcely here, before a dispatch was received requesting Mr. Graetz's immediate return as his brother was critically ill. He at once left for the bedside of the brother. Thursday morning one of the twins was seized with cholera infantum and professional skill was unable to save it, the little one dying at 11 o'clock. A dispatch of immediate recall had in the meantime been sent to Mr. Graetz, whose return Friday was a peculiarly sad one. It found him childless, the second infant having been attacked soon after the first and by the same disease. It lingered till 11 o'clock p. m., and then passed away. The bereaved parents will ever have sad cause to remember their visit to Ann Arbor this season.

Mr. Jacobs Complimented.

Jos. T. Jacobs, the hustling Ann Arbor merchant, who has had an eye on the congressional course for some time, and trained a bit with a view of going into the race, last Thursday announced his intention to attend to business and keep out of the race. He gave no reason for withdrawal, but pulled out and declares that he will be neutral as between the other aspirants, Allen and Sawyer. This leaves him the field two years hence. He proves as far sighted in politics as in business, and wisely decided to invest in no rash venture. Mr. Jacobs is a genial, wide-awake, tireless worker, exceedingly popular, and many a democrat will support his own nominee now, who would have felt in duty bound to put an X before Joe's name had he been on the ticket.—Adrian Press.

Thursday at Chelsea.

Thursday, August 9th, being German-American day, and Chelsea the place of celebration for Washtenaw, the oil stove town will be as lively on that day as an exposed cheese. Six bands will be in attendance to smash the air and produce a rain storm, and a full program of oratory has been provided for. Among well known Germans to be present are Gov. Rich and Congressman Gorman. There will be a grand parade as follows: Form on East street, march south to Park, west to Congdon, south to Summit, east to East, north to Orchard, west to Main, north to Middle, and west to Recreation Park. The Standard says: "At the park there will be two ball games, one between Ann Arbor and Chelsea, the other between Stockbridge and Chelsea; a bicycle race has been arranged, purse $5; also a foot race, purse $5. There will be speeches by Gov. Rich, Congressman Gorman, and others."

It Don't Mind Such a Little Thing.

The Saline Observer says of Fred Paul, who tumbled head first into jaws of a thrashing machine: "The teeth of the cylinder caught and tore off the entire upper part of the back of the head, splitting the skull otherwise quite badly; fortunately his fall was observed, and as he struck was caught and saved from being completely mangled and cut to pieces. Dr. Nichols was sent for and did what he could to save the patient and relieve him of his pain and suffering; the task was, however, a difficult one, as much of flesh and bone could not be found, which make the closing of the opening impossible by quite a space. The accident was considered at the time very serious and his recovery entirely hopeless. He was, however, conscious, and sat up and conversed while the doctor was patching up the opening. As we go to press we are informed that he is doing nicely and his recovery seems more hopeful."

Comment on Minister Sill.

The Chicago Herald of Thursday last, contained the following editorial comment on our townsman, Hon. J. M. B. Sill, United States Minister to Corea:

The minister of the United States at the capital of the Korean kingdom is John M. B. Sill, of Michigan, appointed by President Cleveland.

Mr. Sill was identified for almost his entire life with educational interests in Michigan. For a number of years he was principal of the Normal school of the state, and after serving successfully for a long term as superintendent of schools at Detroit he returned to Ypsilanti and resumed his old position at the Normal school. He conducted for a time also a seminary for young women in Detroit.

Prior to his appointment to his present post Mr. Sill had no experience in public life. He is a man of broad education, large natural sagacity, polished and engaging manners, and an amiability made brilliant by wit. His lack of experience will be largely compensated for by a native judgment ripe in years and tempered by habitual prudence of speech an action.

While his appointment was primarily due to a desire to compliment the educational interests of his state and to give himself an opportunity to indulge learned tastes, he was known well to the leaders of the democratic party in his state, by whom he was unanimously commended for appointment in the foreign civil service.

Mr. Sill may find a difficult and complicated situation on his hands. It is safe to assume that he will discharge his duty with courage, delicacy and tact.

Two Resignations.

Last night Mr. T. A. Bogle resigned the office of city attorney. This was rendered necessary by his recent appointment by the board of regents as judge of the practice court at the University. Mr. J. W. Bennett also resigned the office of justice of the peace, for the purpose of accepting the appointment of city attorney tendered him by the council. Both have been faithful, popular and efficient officers in their old positions and will be equally so in their new ones.

Below will be found the letter of City Attorney Bogle, resigning his office, and also a resolution passed by the council relating thereto:

ANN ARBOR, MICH., August 6, '94.
To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor:

Gentlemen:—I hereby respectfully tender to you my resignation as City Attorney. The attention demanded by other duties that I have assumed renders it necessary that I resign the office that I hold under the city government. Thanking you one and all, for the uniform kindness and courtesy that has been extended me, and requesting the immediate acceptance of my resignation, I remain,
Very truly yours,
T. A. BOGLE.

Resolved, That the resignation of City Attorney Thomas A. Bogle be accepted, and be it further

Resolved, That in the acceptance of said resignation the city loses the services of an able and efficient officer; and be it further

Resolved, That the thanks of this Council be extended to Mr. Bogle, with the assurance that our best wishes will follow him to his new field of labor.

Slinging Slingers.

Is this a wild west town, or a town with a university in it? Saturday night and early Sunday morning it had an exceedingly wild westy aspect and people on Liberty, Washington, Main and several other streets, who succeeded in getting any sleep between the hours of eleven and one o'clock, must have been under the influence of anesthetics. Officers and citizens, men and boys, "horse, foot and dragoons"—a motley, moving, shouting, gesticulating crowd,—were hurrying back and forth on various streets, and quiet people arose and poked their heads out of doors and windows to determine the cause of the uproar. It all came about in manner and substance, essentially as follows:

During the afternoon Sam and Jake Sindlinger, from Scio, near Dexter, drove into the city and proceeded to fill up to the fighting gauge. Sam is big, brawny, bad and a bruiser of no mean talent, after he has "spliced the main brace" a few times. Jake is just as willing but smaller and lacking in the far-west education of his burly brother, for Sam has been out on the border, where, for exercise and target practice the cow-boys ride into town and amuse themselves with shooting the buttons off people's coats and clipping the cap-bands of the cops with bullets. In the course of the afternoon the Sindlingers had taken the oath of allegiance (with a little sugar) a sufficient number of times to feel patriotic and one of them had knocked a man down before dark, but nothing further of moment occurred till late in the evening, when one Kirby crossed the path of the Sindlingers, between whom and himself there existed a grudge. It appears that Kirby, a few weeks ago, had an altercation with the 'Lingers and afterwards meeting one of them when the latter was pretty drunk, polished him off. At sight of him Saturday night the pent-up Sindlinger devil broke loose with howls and the use of a vocabulary which it is not lawful for men to utter, and the air became thick with ribaldry, oaths and billingsgate.

Officer Isbell endeavored to shut off the deluge of vulgarity, and was rewarded with a crack on the head, and the toughs climbed into their buggy and disappeared. They were not long gone when they reappeared, driving furiously and scattering oaths and curses right and left. Isbell tried to stop the rig, when a whip-lash curled like a black-snake around his face, and away went the Sindlingers; but again they reappeared.

This time they were provided with a buggy load of ammunition in the shape of stones, which they let go into the crowd, with great free-heartedness.

Doc. Collins made a grab for the carriage top, intending to ditch the rig, but got his fingers pinched between the braces and had to let go. Then Eldert said he would try a little trick, and he clinched the spokes of a wheel. Eldert is plucky, but small, and the next time he tries that same trick he will previously attach a cannon ball to the omega portion of his pantaloons. Up went his heels in the air, and he described an "open curve," not usual in gymnastics, but known to astronomy, and came down with a whack; and when somebody inquired what that was, Eldert arose, brushed off the dust, and replied with a fine humor: "'Twas I, sir, rolling rapidly." The Sindlingers were "rolling rapidly" also, and O'Neil and his hack were chartered, several officers joined in the chase, a crowd of men, boys and dogs following on foot.

Meanwhile the Sindlingers in their lighter rig dodged here and there, firing stones at every head within rock-shot, and finally eluded successful pursuit and disappeared. Later, Sheriff Brenner, armed with a warrant, procured of Justice Bennett, who arose out of a Sunday morning dream for the purpose—accompanied by officers Collins, McCabe and Schall, drove to the Sindlinger residence, and gaining admission demanded of Jake and Sam their peaceable surrender.

But the festive lads had undressed for bed and like prisoner Barnardino, in Shakespere, when addressed by the hangman,—"Master Barnardino! you must arise and be hanged, Master Barnardino," they answered that they were "not in the mood" that morning, and told the sheriff to call some other morning. But Mike was "not in the mood" to call, some other morning, and the men appeared, clad only in pantaloons and shirts, and very defiant. It was evident that there would be blood before surrender. The lights had been turned off and there was considerable guess work in getting hold of the men; but the sheriff soon had Jake by throat and then Sam made a rush with a brandished chair. McCabe met him, ducked the blow, clinched him and the two went over with a crash. Here a petty fight ensued. Collins and Schall were promptly on hand, and Jake was turned over to them, while the sheriff succored McCabe—and not too soon, for the mother and sister of the boys appeared on the scene and poked the officers in the ribs and laid over their heads with a chair. The battle was short, but bloody, the prisoners losing the game, for both had to be roughly handled. They were hustled into the hack, minus coats shoes and hats—Sam lacking most of his shirt—and conveyed to jail.

Monday morning the "Singslingers" were fined $50 each which they paid. Policemen Eldert and Collins are all feeling pretty sore from various punches and blows and tumbles they received; especially Doc, who lost a leg at the knee, i. e., pants leg. Citizen Wadhams suffers from having been cracked in the shin with a two-pound rock—the fortune of an innocent spectator.

Out of Sorts.

That is, something is wrong with baby, but we can't tell just what it is. All mothers recognize the term by the lassitude, weakness, loss of appetite, inclination to sleep, heavy breathing, and lack of interest shown by baby. These are the symptoms of sickness. It may be fever, congestion, worms, croup, diphtheria, or scarlatina. Do not lose a minute. Give the child Castoria. It will start the digestive organs into operation, open the pores of the skin, carry off the foetid matter, and drive away the threatened sickness.

Gentlemen.

"I notice that you have made Messrs. Elliott Bros., of Sydney, Australian agents for your Castoria. When traveling in America last year, my little boy became greatly deranged, and at times quite sick. The Chicago physician upon whom I called, recommended me to use Castoria. From the day I commenced its use my child grew better and soon regained his usual health. I procured a dozen bottles of Castoria; have used some and given some away. It is a prompt and good remedy."

Very respectfully,
JAMES EVANSON.

Popular sentiment seldom asserts itself with the force that it has employed since President Cleveland rebuked and checked the base betrayal of trust attempted by conspirators in the United States senate.—Free Press.

The period of greatest danger to the tariff bill is probably past. The self-seeking trust senators have heard from the people whose confidence they had betrayed, and the people insist, with the president, that pledges shall be fulfilled.

If Senator Gorman and his assistant republican associates had been as loyal to party pledges and the interest of the people as they have been to the sugar trust and the coal and iron combines, the country would now have almost an ideal tariff reform act.

The advantages of having a congressman in close touch with the national administration have been repeatedly illustrated in this district during the past two years. Congressman Gorman has been a consistent supporter of the president throughout and true to democratic profession and pledges. He has been faithful to the trust imposed in him and his faithfulness has redounded to the advantage of his constituents. His record will compare favorably with that of any of his predecessors. He merits a renomination.

Latest reports from the state election in Alabama, yesterday, indicate that the democrats have not only elected their state ticket and a majority of the legislature, thereby insuring the return of Senator Morgan to the senate, but that they have done this by an increased majority over 1892. This is the more remarkable because of the fact that all the opposition of all shades of political belief was united and had been assisted by Senator Hoar and the republican campaign committee, with all the republican money they found it necessary to use.

The democratic candidate for governor is a strong advocate of the income tax. He declares that he believes in it because the wealth of the nation should pay its share of taxation. His position upon this question is in marked contrast to that of the great majority of the men of wealth. But recognizing the fact that men are protected by government in their belongings as well as in person, and that they should pay for its support in proportion to the amount of protection received, he allows no consideration of personal interest to influence his position on the great question of equitable and just taxation. Such adherence to principle indicates that he is broad-minded, patriotic and honest in his relations to public questions and public duties and that as a public official he will not be controlled by considerations of private interests. The whole record of his public life supports this view, and should he be elected governor this fall, he will administer the office solely in the interest of the people. He will, as he says, "wear the collar of no man or corporation."

It certainly must have required a great amount of "gall" on the part of the late g. o. p. state convention to assert as is done in the platform, that an appeal is taken to the people with "unbounded confidence." What has the party done to warrant this claim to the "unbounded confidence of the people? It has foisted upon the people a precious set of machine politicians, rascals, salary grabbers and incompetents. Three prominent members of the present administration were removed from office for gross neglect of official duty and indicted upon charges as grave as those which sent Boss McKane, of Gravesend to a felon's cell. Then the last legislature was extravagant beyond compare. It raised the salary of the supreme justices from $5,000 to $7,000, as well as a large number of other officials throughout the state without any demand from the people therefor. As a result of its extravagance in various directions taxation was largely increased, as any citizen may ascertain by comparing his tax receipts of the present year with those of the preceding year. Through the weakness or cowardice of the governor not one of the bad acts of the legislature received the executive disapproval. With such a record behind it the g. o. p. appeals to the people with "unbounded confidence." What effrontery!

During the recent republican state convention, while a delegate was expatiating on the heinousness of a bolt against the Rich machine, some wicked individuals with long memories shouted in stentorian tones, Weeks! Weeks! This had reference to the bolt in the seventh district congressional convention about ten years ago, led by one John T. Rich, the man who now heads the machine ticket, to bolt whom it is pronounced a sin of such magnitude as to permit of forgiveness neither in this world nor the world to come. In the before mentioned convention, Edgar Weeks received the nomination for congress through the practice of the same machine methods which Rich used to secure his nomination last week. Week's nomination was bolted, however, by Rich, Geer, Moore and other of like ilk, and the dictionary was searched in vain for meaner epithets than those hurled at the Week's crowd and their methods. In the election which followed the rock ribbed republican seventh was carried by the democrats and has continued in that column to the present time. Although a decade has since past and various efforts have been made to bury the hatchet and smoke the pipe of peace, the smouldering embers of the old fight always burst into flame before each election and the district retains its democratic representation. Rich's loyalty to the late lamented James M. Turner is also said to have been of precisely the same brand, and yet those who now make faces over "taking their medicine" are denounced for being weak in the faith and lacking in the tents of the faith. Verily there is a difference between tweedle dee and tweedle dum.

A CHARACTERISTIC SPEECH.

The speech of the democratic candidate for governor, Hon. Spencer O. Fisher, at the Webberville barbecue, last Friday, was characteristic of the man. Mr. Fisher is a manufacturer and a man of large wealth and he unhesitatingly admits that his fortune has been built up under the advantages resulting from republican class legislation which favors certain industries at the expense of the consumers. Nevertheless he is opposed to all so-called protective legislation and is in favor of a tariff for revenue only. He does not question but that the removal of protective duties will diminish his profits, but since the removal will result in advantage to the great body of his fellow citizens as consumers, he frankly declares himself for the policy which will result in advantage to the greatest number. Nor can his advocacy of this policy be brushed aside as mere electioneering cant, for all his acts as a public servant prove him to be a consistent believer in the principle that when individual interests, in matters of legislation, conflict with the highest interests of the people, the former should yield to the latter. For this reason he is an advocate of free lumber and free wool, although largely interested in each of these staples, and free coal and iron and free raw materials generally. In fact he is a consistent, all round, genuine tariff reformer and has the courage of his convictions.

He is a man of the people, and although he has accumulated wealth, this has never been allowed, in any degree, to separate him from the masses. He is thoroughly committed to their interests and believes that when the people have spoken upon any subject, no selfish considerations on the part of their representatives should be permitted to thwart these commands. These things account for his great popularity with the people. He is the strongest man the democracy could have named for chief executive and he ought to be the next governor of Michigan, and if the people consult their real interests instead of their partisan bias, he will be.

AUSTIN BLAIR.

Another of Michigan's ex-chief executives has passed from earth. Austin Blair, the venerable war governor, closed his long and eventful life yesterday morning. For fifty years he has been a historic character in Michigan. The opportunity of his life, however, came with the breaking out of the great conflict of 1861, and he utilized it to the full in rendering great public service to his state and nation.

At the age of 43, in the strength of his young manhood he found himself governor of Michigan at a time calculated to tax to the utmost the abilities of the greatest of men. But he was equal to the emergency and it is no disparagement to any to say that he was one of the most versatile, tireless and able of the war governors of the Union.

During his two terms he devoted himself and his splendid abilities exclusively to the task of causing the great state of which he was the executive head to do her full duty in the supreme crisis of the nation's life. He was the right man for the place he occupied, so fitting in fact that his being there must be considered providential. Early in the war it was demonstrated that the destinies of the nation were bound up in large measure in the occupants of the gubernatorial chairs of the various states, for without their powerful assistance the president would have been all but powerless. This fact was fully appreciated by Governor Blair and he threw his whole soul with tireless energy and zeal into the purpose of causing his state to acquit herself of her whole duty to the nation. It was due in large degree to his herculean efforts that Michigan succeeded in making the splendid showing she did in organizing, officering, equipping and sending to the front so large a number of volunteers. No state did better in proportion to her population and no state filled her quotas of men more promptly. More than 88,000 men, an army larger than those with which many of the decisive battles of the world have been won, were drawn from the citizenship of Michigan, organized, drilled and sent to the front. In all the immense labor attending such a vast undertaking Gov. Blair was a leading spirit. Besides, this enormous business was conducted upon economical principles and without scandal of any kind. When the struggle ended the honor and renown acquired through his great work as governor gained for him a seat in congress, which he occupied for six years. His record in congress was perhaps not as brilliant as his career as governor, but it was sufficiently pronounced to gain for him the jealousy and enmity of prominent men of his party, who compassed his political overthrow and drove him out of the party. He afterward returned to the party, but the treatment he had received undoubtedly embittered the later years of his life. He had too much of the patriot and statesman about him to make a successful politician in the ordinary sense, and he could not therefore be in favor with the element of his party which dominated its policy after the death of Lincoln. However, he has left a record behind for honesty and uprightness and faithful adherence to duty in a crisis that tried men's souls which will endure as long as the state in whose arduous service he spent four of the best years of his life.

SITUATION UNCHANGED.

Conferrees Make No Progress on the Tariff.

SUB-COMMITTEE VISITS CARLISLE.

He Makes Suggestions Concerning the Administrative Features of Some of the Proposed Compromises—Senate Not Likely to Consider the Arizona and New Mexico Bills at This Session—Other Capital City Notes of Interest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Democratic tariff conferrees were in session again and resumed the work of trying to reach an agreement on the points of difference. When some of the members of the committee came out of the conference committee they stated that no possible progress had been made and that to all appearances the situation was the same as it had been for the past week. Secretary Carlisle had recently been called into frequent consultation by individual members of the conference. He was called on Saturday night by a sub-committee of the conference. He made certain suggestions concerning the administrative features of some of the proposed compromise features and it is understood that since the suggestions were received the conference has been considering their bearing upon the questions at issue.

Coal and Iron Ore.

The coal and iron ore questions have been taken up with a view to reaching an understanding upon them, but progress has been slow. It is understood that the senate conferrees have indicated a willingness to make a concession in the way of time that the duty shall continue, but not to lessen the amount of duty provided in either case. The house members have not indicated a disposition to accept this concession and are understood to be holding out for the terms of the house bill on these items. The Louisiana senators are demanding the continuation of at least a part of the sugar bounty for the present year, but the prospect of the success of the demand does not appear to be bright, and there is an increase of the talk of passing a free sugar bill in case of the failure of the tariff bill which is probably intended largely to bring the Louisiana senators into line.

Two Distinct Views.

When the tariff conference took recess for lunch two distinct views were presented. The house conferrees and the men with whom they conversed seemed to think that an agreement was in sight. The senate conferrees and those senators with whom they advise and consult seem to think that the prospects were not so bright and that an ultimate disagreement would be reported. It was also stated that an end must be reached within the next two days and either an agreement or a report of a disagreement made. Coal and iron ore were the articles in dispute, the contest having been transferred from sugar which has so long engaged the attention of the conferrees. The contest on these articles is very stubbornly made on both sides.

NEW STATE BILLS.

The Senate Will Probably Take No Action Upon Them This Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—With the present session of congress drawing to a close and all attention likely at any time to be concentrated upon the tariff bill, it is not considered probable that the senate will act upon either the Arizona or New Mexico state bills before the final adjournment of the session. This was the understanding when the bills were reported from the committee on territories and nothing has transpired since the reports were made to alter the situation in this respect. The date of admission in the case of Arizona and of the constitution convention in the case of New Mexico has been so deferred in the senate bill as reported as to render this deferment possible without rendering a change in the text of the bill necessary in case of the postponement. The provision in the Arizona bill is for admission on the 1st of August, 1895, while the convention provided for in the New Mexico bill is not to meet until July of 1895.

There is a possibility of the change of the form of the Arizona bill. As it stands it provides directly for admission instead of being an enabling act, as in the case of New Mexico. Governor Hughes of Arizona, who was here in the interest of admission, gives it as his opinion that the bill will have to be changed so as to provide for a new constitution before it can pass the senate. This opinion he bases upon the opposition he finds to exist in the senate to the constitution adopted in 1891 on account of the irrigation and silver payment features of that document. Delegate Joseph of New Mexico does not expect the senate to act upon the bill for the admission of that territory this session unless the deadlock should operate to prolong the session unexpectedly. He has no doubt that it will pass early next session, however, and says that its practical effect will be the same.

French and Ronsaville of the District of Columbia division of the L. A. KANSAS CITY, Aug. 7.—The Armour Packing company of Kansas City may prove an important factor in the war between China and Japan, if pending negotiations are carried to a successful end. Recently it received a cablegram from Yokohama from the mikado's government asking for its price on 500,000 pounds of canned corned beef for the Japanese army. The company cabled its answer, and pending a reply, which is expected soon, prepared to go into the business of supplying meat to the battling Asiatics on a large scale. The company has also opened negotiations with the Chinese legation at Washington.

Labor in Politics.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—With a new president in the chair the Trade and Labor assembly, at one of the longest sessions in its history, decided to abide by the Springfield platform of the People's party and to send delegates to the county convention Aug. 18. Two of a committee of the People's party delivered campaign speeches. The assembly hissed the name of President Cleveland and when the Republican and Democratic parties were mentioned they met with the same sort of reception.

On a Perilous Voyage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Captain A. Frisch, the adventurous young Finland-er who built himself a forty-foot "sharpie" in which to take a trip to Europe and demonstrate the superiority of United States models for small vessels and their ocean sailing capabilities, has started for Queenstown. Captain Frisch built the Nina alone and brought it from Milwaukee by way of the lakes. He will navigate the little schooner-rigged vessel across the ocean by himself.

Iowa Town Fire-Swept.

LYONS, Ia., Aug. 7.—Grand Mound, in Clinton county, was swept by fire, entailing a loss of $23,000 with light insurance. It would have been much greater but for the opportune purchase of a fire engine and hose recently. Losses are: William Stir, hotel, $7,000; Nelson & Anderson, merchant, $2,000; William Kahler, $2,500; Dan Alexander, $1,800; Mrs. Dora Kahler, $1,000; John R. Merrill, $1,000; Joseph Dalton, $100; George Dalton, $500.

China Wins a Naval Battle.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—The Chinese minister here has received an official dispatch stating that the Chinese ironclad warship Ting Yuen rammed and sunk a Japanese warship off Japan on July 23. The Ting Yuen is an armored steel battle ship, the exact duplicate of the Chen Yuen, which it was at first reported had been sunk by the Japanese, but which it afterward turned out, escaped from the naval battle badly damaged.

Philadelphia Ball Park Ruined.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The Philadelphia base ball park, one of the finest of its kind in the country, is a smoking wreck of crumbling walls, charred timbers and twisted iron, the large stables of the omnibus company adjoining to the west are also burned and the car stables of the Thirteenth and Fifteenth streets division of the Philadelphia Traction company. Adjoining property was badly damaged. Loss, $100,000.

Suicide of a St. Louis Man.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Thomas J. Hagerty, who has been chief examiner in the United States appraiser's office in this city for the past thirteen years, was found in tetanic convulsions in a room at the St. James hotel and died before medical aid could reach him. A bottle partly filled with poison was on a table at his bedside and the indications point to suicide.

Made an Important Discovery.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 7.—The discovery on Mineral hill of lead carbonate, the ore which gave Leadville its great boom, is regarded by mining men as most remarkable and important made in Cripple Creek district. The vein is four feet in width and it is all pay. An assay returned $40 in gold, 200 ounces of silver and 33 per cent. lead.

Statesman's Daughter Elopes.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7.—A special from Hagerstown, Md., states that Miss Lavina I. Harris, daughter of Congressman Harris of Kansas, was married there at a hotel to Wade Bonham, a lively man of Luray, Va. It was a runaway match. Miss Harris had been attending a seminary at Luray and there met Bonham.

Fire at Marion, O.

MARION, Aug. 7.—Sweetser's planing mill burned here, also the flour mill of Mark, Berge & Lake, Henry Beshares' grocery and several small business houses. The department store of A. M. Beck was destroyed. A number of Panhandle freight cars were also burned. The entire loss is $75,000.

Death of Patti Rosa.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The L. O. T. M. picnic, Thursday, was attended by about 100 persons, who enjoyed the occasion.

Patrolman Armbruster, after reflection, thought differently of it, and withdrew his resignation. That was the proper caper in Reuben.

The Michigan Central east bound North Shore Limited will be discontinued after next Sunday. Dullness of traffic is the reason for the suspension.

Arbor tent, No. 296, K. O. T. M., Friday evening elected Chas. Mills delegate to the Great Camp, next month. John O. Jenkins was chosen alternate.

The case of Fuenhm, accused of dieting Maroney's hens on corn that had been soaked in some kind of super-tonic with intent to shorten the period of the earthly pilgrimage was adjourned.

"Coney" Tice, last Thursday, withdrew from the waters at Foster's a silver eel that weighed 44 inches. Some large eels had been caught there before, but this eel was a great eel—O, hold on; don't strike.

The Germania Hotel, having been improved, renovated and admitted to full citizenship with other United States hotels, the proprietor announces a change of its name, which will hereafter be called the American. Evidences multiply every day that we are a nation.

The Adrian Press states that Washtenaw has 79 justices and adds: "They dispense with a great deal of justice in that county." If the editor of the Press will place himself within Washtenaw jurisdiction, amends will be made for past remissions.

A pile of sand on State street left one night last week without a red light, caused the upset of a buggy driven by Andrew Reule, who, with a friend, went into the ditch. Damage suit and big fees for lawyers grow out of just such unlighted sand heaps.

The campus is as lively as a colony of ants. The construction of the under ground conduits, for steam pipes and electric wires; the demolition of the old boiler house and construction of the new; the work on and in the museum building and the unpacking and setting up of the mastodontic Columbian Organ, lend an excitement to the campus quarter that breaks the melancholy of the summer vacation, and offers employment to a large force.

Next Wednesday is the last day for the payment of city taxes, and there remains yet unpaid, City Treasurer Pond informs us, about $24,000. Our citizens are no doubt familiar with the fact that all taxes not paid on or before August 15 will be carried over to December, and five per cent penalty will be added thereto, and collected at that date. This penalty fund is turned over to the city, so that the general city fund will receive the benefit of the same.

At this season of the year, the inventive activities of mankind are at work to defeat the assaults of the pestiferous fly. An Adrian man has brought out a new fly-paper, and a Manchester man has invented a revolving fan. An Ann Arbor man, however, has probably struck it exactly. His scheme embraces a mixture of molasses and nitroglycerine spread on paper. Generally the fly sticks to the paper and there is your fly. But if he gets away he will rub his shins together in ecstasy. This irritates the nitroglycerine, there is an explosion, and—where is your fly?

Out of a special from Ann Arbor to the Tribune, asserting the presence of the Russian thistle hereabout, has arisen a controversy that may yet end in the calling out of troops and the shedding of coats. Some assert that the so-called thistle is merely a milk-weed; others that the so-called milk-weed is the Russian thistle. The thistle epistolary argues that the weed has no milk and cannot therefore be a milk weed. Still it may be farrow this year, or have gone dry, owing to the drouth. The milk-weed theorist claims that it is no Russian thistle because that production of despotism is a tumble-weed. Does anyone "tumble"? Let the Agricultural College faculty shake the harvest whetstones out of their hair and tackle the subject.

Save the Babies.

Infant mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen.

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. All the drops, tinctures and syrups sold for children's complaints are composed principally of opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation, and lead to congestions, sickness, death.

Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fevers. Then the child sleeps. He gets well. This is the way Castoria acts.

"Castoria is the best medicine for children. I recommend it."

Dr. W. H. HUBBARD.

Perth Amboy, N. J.

"I use Castoria in my practice. It should be given at the commencement of all children's ailments, and will cure them immediately, or render their course more mild."

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Bradstreet's Report Points to Improvement.

TRADE CONDITIONS ARE MENDING.

Influence at Work in the Interior Favoring an Increase in the Volume of Business—Little Likelihood of the Corn Crop Being Smaller Than in Either of the Two Preceding Years—Prices of Tea Not Affected by the War.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Bradstreet's says: While little significance is attached to the moderate improvement in trade at San Francisco, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Augusta and Atlanta, when it is added that clearing house totals for July report twenty-nine cities with larger aggregates than in July last year, contrasted with the June report, which contained only eighteen cities with aggregates larger than those in June a year ago, it is perceived that there are influences at work at the interior favoring an increase in the volume of business. Wool remains steady at last week's 1 cent advance, speculation having been stimulated by differences of opinion as to the tariff outlook for that staple. Wheat has advanced in sympathy with corn on increased orders and reports of crop damages from abroad, while corn's sharp advance is due partly to exaggerated notions of damage from drouth.

The Corn Crop.

There is little likelihood of the corn crop being smaller than in either of the two preceding years, notwithstanding our advice of 25 per cent. damage in Kansas and 40 per cent. in Nebraska. Southern crop prospects generally are excellent. Improvement announced in general trade at San Francisco is in part based on interest manifested in the war in Asia, provision dealers particularly anticipating largely increased trade. War between China and Japan has not affected the price of tea here yet, although an increased demand is noted in New York, Boston and at Chicago. Wheat exports, United States and Canada, both counts, six days ending with Aug. 3, amount 2,977,000 bushels, against 3,388,000 bushels last week, as compared with 5,922,000 bushels in the week one year ago, 3,978,000 bushels two years ago, 4,080,000 bushels three years ago, and with 2,168,000 bushels four years ago.

Shipments of Wheat.

San Francisco wires that two wheat cargoes have been shipped to the United Kingdom this week after the long cessation of such exports. Boston reports all lines of staple merchandise very quiet, cotton selling at concessions. Added interest in wool has characterized the Philadelphia as well as the Boston market. Slight increases in the demand in nearly all leading lines are reported from Pittsburg and at Baltimore jobbers in dry goods, notions, hats, and shoes report business more encouraging. Business continues quiet at Montreal, wholesale merchants doing almost nothing in the way of new business, but crop prospects are good.
