Result of the Field Day Sports.—Narrow Escape of a Reporterial "Smeller." Fashions for the Ladies.—Sol. Smith Russell will be Here.

Field-day Sports.

In the field-day games, Saturday, the 100-yard dash was a tie between LeRoy and Bain and was not run off. Finlay won first on the shot-put, 33 feet, 4½ inches. Hubbard made the mile run alone, in 5:11. Austin and Clair tied at 5 feet on high jump. Finlay was first in the hammer throw—83 feet, 5 inches. Running broad jump, Martin first—19 feet, 1 inch. In the 220 yard hurdle—Bain, first. In the Reserves and freshmen football, the Reserves were 30 to 0.

New Singing Society.

The Phoenix Gesangverein, a new singing society, organized by and composed largely of former members of the Harugari Maennerchor, which was disbanded on the 11th inst., will give an evening entertainment on Monday, Nov. 5 in the A. O. U. W. hall. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc. It is expected that their musical brothers of the Lyra Maennechor will kindly assist them. Don't miss it. Don't get sidetracked. Remember, A. O. U. W. hall, Nov. 5, 1894.

Register Today.

Today is registration day in this city. In off years many voters lose their right to vote by not thinking of registration day. The easiest way to make votes is to get democrats registered today. All who have moved into the city or from one ward to another and all new voters should register today. Every good democrat should notify those of his friends who should register that today is registration day. The republicans have organized the city to get every republican vote registered, while democratic registration will have to be left to individual effort.

Sol Smith Russell.

"Peaceful Valley" is the title of Mr. Russell's new play which, it is said, has made a very strong impression. The author, Mr. Edw. E. Kidder, who also wrote "A Poor Relation" for Mr. Russell, has met with extraordinary success in formulating another character which should successfully follow that of "Noah Vale" in "A Poor Relation." Mr. Russell, it is gratifying to know, has in "Hosea Howe" found another artistic triumph. No name connected with the drama is more thoroughly identified with pure, clean, legitimate comedy than that of Sol Smith Russell. His engagement in this city will begin next Wednesday evening.

He Stayed.

At the recent meeting of the board of public works, E. K. Frueauff, as reporter for the Times, assembled also. "Are you going to report our talk?" inquired Mr. Bullis. The man with the three vowels and a repeat in his name and a lead pencil in his hand, "lowed that that was about the bigness of it, as he sharpened his knife on his boot and prepared to whittle his pencil. "I object," said Mr. Bullis. Mr. Frueauff said he objected to the objection. Mr. Bullis thought he should be put out, or that the board should go into executive session with closed doors. Mr. Schuh and Mr. Clark, however, said that as the meetings of the board were of public concern there appeared no way to legally fire the contumelious fiend, and he was finally allowed to remain, on condition that he would take off his hat, act civil, report fairly, and at the earliest opportunity take a mallet and punch and knock a few of the redundant letters out of his caboose name.

Fines for Mutilizing Seats.

The faculty of the school of pharmacy has enacted a resolution fining any person who marks or scratches, or otherwise mutilates or defaces the seats or arms in the recitation or lecture room, the costs of repair. This is as it should be. Some people are cursed with the habit of gratuitous destructiveness to such an extent that they cannot refrain from haggling or injuring desks, furniture, walls or anything else within reach. There are people who come into the Argus office for apparently no other purpose than to pick up the editorial jack-knife and peck away abstractedly at the table while otherwise annoying the editor in his busy moments with an empty discourse or a "chestnutty" joke. We are arranging a trap door with a spring for that sort of destructionists, and at no distant day some of them will take a "drop."

Autumn Wraps for Ladies.

What promises to be the favorite Autumn wrap is a double cape of cloth very broad and reaching to the waist. The trimming is an inch band of the cloth stitched on the edges with fanciful ornaments in the corners and a turned over collar of velvet. This, together with the golf cape, are the most general and stylish outside garments for wearing with Autumn dresses. Very full capes reaching to the hips are of Astrakhan or moire, with deep revers over the shoulders. Fancy capes for evening wear are made with Van Dykes of the new perforated cloth, cerise or bluet. Black velvet capes have satin revers lined with velvet or baby lamb. The McDowell Fashion Magazines contain many points of interest on this important subject. They are the safest guides on all questions of fashion. The price of "La Mode de Paris" and "Paris Album of Fashion" is $3.50 each for a year's subscription, or 35 cents per copy. "The French Dressmaker" costs $3.00 per annum, or 30 cents per copy. "La Mode" with its low price, $1.50 per year, or 15 cents a copy, is an admirable home magazine. For the accommodation of customers they contain coupon patterns, which as regards styles and price are unequalled. If you are unable to procure any of these journals from your newsdealer, do not take any substitute from him, but apply by mail to Messrs. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York.

Jex Bardwell, Once of Ann Arbor.

In a recent Sunday News Tribune "The reminiscences of Jex Bardwell" are given, containing some reference to the early history of Ann Arbor and vicinity, which will be of interest to the Argus readers, particularly so to the older ones. After stating that he was born in the outskirts of London, Eng., and describing his early school experience he says:

"My father, having been somewhat prominent, became disgusted, settled up his business and came to America, to find a home more suited to his democratic ideas. He decided to settle at Ann Arbor, and sent for my mother and family. To this circumstance I owe the glorious fact of my becoming an American citizen.

"We landed in Detroit in the early part of the year 1834. We left the "Steamboat hotel" one forenoon, on a stage coach and reached "Sand Hills" that evening. I remember my father carried a fence rail on his shoulders part of the way to help the coach out of the mud. We reached and stayed the night at Plymouth. The next day we landed in Ann Arbor and stayed with "Uncle Kirby," who kept a tavern in the southwest corner of the public square. As soon as our home was ready, we left Uncle Kirby. We took a farm two miles north of the village where we lived till misfortune overtook my father. We moved to the village, and in 1834 my father gave up his contest in this world. A kinder father, a better husband, or citizen, never lived. My father had not a dishonest hair in his head.

During the ensuing period I attended school at the old "Academy." There were two teachers, one whose name was O'Neil, was tall and thin; the other, quite the reverse. Some of us boys had been reading Dickens, and we undertook to realize one of incidents described, viz., the blowing up of our teacher. So one day we placed a lot of powder under his chair, which was placed on a platform, by the side of the desk, at which O'Neil sat, we laid a train of powder to the end of the platform. When all was ready we bribed a small boy to light the train. As soon as lighted it fizzled towards the chair. O'Neil caught a glint of the flame, and as he turned his head to see the occasion thereof, up he went! School was dismissed and the little boy badly punished. As the boys and girls in the plot kept "mum," nothing further was discovered.

"I delivered papers for the old

Ann Arbor Argus until my father found it out and put a stop to that by placing me in the office of Dr. Brigham, a good physician and as fine a gentleman as ever lived."

New Industry in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—A novel industry has been started in the San Joaquin valley by Chicago tanners, who have selected California for climatic and other reasons for their extensive operations. The tanners are to cultivate the canigre weed, the roots of which are full of tannic acid. Land in the San Joaquin valley to the amount of 5,000 acres has been purchased and sixty Chicago families have been notified to leave for the valley at once. It is expected that at least 300 families will be placed on the 5,000 acres as soon as operations are fully under way.

Asked to Investigate a Combine.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 29.—The federal court today was asked by Tate Brothers, of Memphis, to enter upon an investigation of charges that have been made against the cotton seed oil owners of the south to the effect that they have nearly all entered into a gigantic conspiracy to control the market for cotton seed and that this combine extends all over the southern cotton states. Two years ago cotton seed was worth $25 per ton, last year $18, while now the market price is only $9 per ton.

TO DISFRANCHISE VOTERS.

What Will the Workingmen Do About This Republican Trickery?

Among the resolutions adopted by the republican state convention at Grand Rapids was one pledging the party to an amendment limiting the right of suffrage to those who have fully acquired American citizenship. This would disfranchise every foreigner who has declared his intentions between May 8, 1893, and May 6, 1894, and with the amendment adopted by the last legislature, would deprive seventy-five thousand persons of the right of suffrage in this state.

This is a part of the scheme of the American plutocrats to reduce labor to a condition of serfdom. The protected monopolies and syndicates have scoured every land under the heavens in search of cheap labor, and have brought to the United States shipload after shipload of Italians, Hungarians, Slavonians and Bulgarians to work in the mines, the coke furnaces, the rolling mills and in every industry where unskilled labor could be employed. And now it is proposed to deprive these men of the right of suffrage, and we know that labor deprived of a share in the government has always sunk into serfdom and dependence. The movement for the disfranchisement of labor has begun in Michigan. Laboring men, how do you like it? The bars are not to be put up against immigrants, but when they arrive they are to be kept in an abject condition by the withholding of the right of suffrage. If the republican party gets into power again it will reenact the federal election law, and with the Michigan plan of disfranchisement will have labor in its power.—Bay City Times.

THE RICH RECORD.

Reason Enough Why He Should Not Be Re-elected.

The democratic legislature of 1891 appropriated a total of $2,836,051.22, which sum the people paid for the fiscal years 1891 and 1892 in the Winans administration.

In 1892 a plurality of the voters, not satisfied with economic methods, elected a republican legislature, which appropriated a total of $3,569,839.47 for the people to pay during the fiscal years 1893 and 1894 of the Rich administration.

In other words, the republican legislature of 1893 saddled $733,788.25 more on the taxpayers of the state than was called for by the democratic legislature of 1891.

Upon this record the Rich machine asks for the approval of the people by a reelection in November of this year.

The present is the most expensive and extravagant administration of affairs this state has ever known; there has been no pretense of economy; mileage bills have piled up; illegal pay has been drawn by state officers amounting to many thousand dollars; padded postage bills have been allowed and a general waste of the people's money has been the rule, the like of which was never before seen, even compelling the state treasurer the past summer to borrow money to meet obligations until tax time.

If, in view of the undeniable facts, the people elect Gov. Rich and choose a republican legislature this year, it will be pretty good evidence that they care more for party than for their own welfare and are not free enough from prejudice to fit for self-government.—Jackson Patriot.

VICTORY AHEAD.

"Fisher, Free Silver and Dollar Wheat" the Battle Cry of "Freedom."

In his boyhood days Spencer O. Fisher was a farmer lad and learned to swing the scythe. As he marched through his father's meadow felling the dank grass, so he is sweeping through the state of Michigan laying low the hopes of John T. Rich for a second term in the governorship. "Fisher, free silver and dollar wheat" is the cry that is rolling over the state and giving the corporation candidate and his managers the cold shivers as they hear the farmers taking it up. The people are paying no more attention to the two Tims and their petulant pique. It is a personal affair too narrow to concern the public, which is after an acceleration of the industrial revival now growing so rapidly, and they see in Fisher and free silver the means of effecting it. The lies about Fisher will increase in number and virulence until election day, when they will all be swept away by the hands of the people as they deposit a majority for the gallant leader from Bay county.—Bay City Times.

The Highest Praise.

There could be no higher praise of Hon. Spencer O. Fisher's campaign speeches than that they are plain, straightforward talks of a business man who is asking the suffrages of those whom he addresses. There is no rant, no demagoguery, no attempt to hoodwink the people, but a clear presentation of his views, and a candid statement of the policy which he will adopt if called upon to administer the sadly mismanaged affairs of the state. There is no chance to mistake his sentiments and every reason to believe in his complete honesty of purpose. This is a time when Michigan needs such a man at the head of her state government, and self-interest, if nothing else, will impel the people to his election.—Detroit Free Press.

NO STEP BACKWARD.

The most important of the objects of this campaign from the point of view of the democratic party is the retention of its supremacy in the house of representatives. In 1892, after a trial of a third of a century of protectionism, the people declared that they had had enough and that protection must go.

The taking of the economic policy of the government from one foundation and placing it on another in opposition to all the forces that had controlled for a third of a century, was of itself a difficult task, but when coupled with the task, in which the outgoing republican administration left the country, an empty treasury, paralyzed trade, idle labor and one of the worst panics from which this country has ever suffered at our very doors, the task was almost insurmountable.

If the democrats are continued in control, they will perfect this measure and still further reduce the burdens of taxation on the necessities of life. They will continue the income tax whereby the accumulated wealth of the country is compelled to bear a portion of the expenses of government.

On the other hand, if the republicans are again given control, they will unquestionably reiterate this whole question. They will in all probability re-enact the McKinley law, and all that has been accomplished in the way of reform during the past two years will be nullified.

No democrat, therefore, who is a democrat from principle, and consequently opposed to the doctrines of republicanism, can afford to vote against his party because of disappointment that the Wilson tariff does not contain the full measure of reform which he desired and the country anticipated. He might in that way revenge himself on his party, but what would he accomplish for the furtherance of the principles which he professes.

Concerning the tariff Col. Atkinson said: "What would be thought of Farmer Smith if he was short of pasture and wanted more for his cattle, if instead of opening the gate into his neighbor's field he should open his own gate and invite the cattle on the byways into his fields?"

my cattle will eat, and which your cattle want, and you have more of certain varieties than your cattle need and that my cattle want; therefore let's turn our cattle together, —if Smith should say that, we should say he was a level headed fellow, and if Brown should refuse, we would call him a husk-eared, moss-backed old fool, and every sensible farmer would applaud the verdict.

William B. Voorheis was nominated by the democrats for justice of the peace at the convention held at the court house, Friday evening. Mr. Voorheis' endorsement is a compliment to the young men of the city, by whom he is highly esteemed for his honesty and ability.

Many specimens of geological interest have recently been added to the University museum collection. They include Paleozoic invertebrate fossils, from Wisconsin; Tertiary fossils, from Alabama; and fossils of various kinds from other sections and Dr. Hall has contributed the head of the mastodon, recently resurrected near Ypsilanti.

Col. Atkinson, will you please step aside with us a moment? Now that we are alone, let us just whisper in your ear that the reason wheat is no higher, is that owing to the republican protective tariff which was built to restrict the American farmer to the glorious "home market" the trade of foreign countries was directed from American products to the products of other countries and has not yet been recovered.

Our highways and byways, thoroughfares and alleys teem with a canine population. They frighten the timid by day, and often render the night hideous with their howling at each other and their baying at the moon.—Wayne Review.

These are undoubtedly republican calamity-howlers about "democratic hard times." Have patience, Mr. Review. They will soon hate themselves to death.

The Argus bunts into Mike O'Hara, of Saline, for being honest in his political convictions and coming out for the republicans. Perhaps that gentleman should consult the Argus hereafter when he has any move to make or step to take.—Courier.

Yes, the Argus will cheerfully shear the wool away from his eyes and restore his better sight.

The Colonel said that two years ago he heard a democratic orator tell the farmers that if Cleveland were elected they would get more for their wheat. Just a short time before that, republican orators told the farmers that if the McKinley bill passed they would get more for their wool. Did they? Colonel, drop!

SETTLING THE ISSUES.

Questions Which Should Be Discussed of Outside of Politics.

Record of Rascality and Extravagance of Present State Officials Should Be Condemned at the Polls by Voters Irrespective of Party.

In a communication to the Detroit Free Press W. S. H. Welton, a citizen of Owosso, presents so clearly and forcibly the duty of every respectable voter in Michigan that we reproduce it complete.

"For the first time in the history of our state you are called upon to meet an issue which ought to be disposed of outside of politics. The question, are public servants to be held to their legal and moral responsibility to the people, is to be decided at the polls.

"Within the last two years a spectacle of official depravity and neglect of official duty in state officers has developed well calculated to arouse the indignation of a law-abiding community. A conspiracy to override the will of the people by falsifying the election records and looting the public treasury has been brought to light that calls upon the moral sentiment of the country for condemnation and rebuke.

"Farmers, mechanics and laboring men of all classes, professional men and Christian gentlemen, you whose sacred honor is your business capital, ministers of the Gospel whose duty it is to rebuke sin wherever found, what is your duty and how do you propose to meet this moral issue?"

"With brazen effrontery these public servants, with the unquestioned evidence of their guilt confronting them, refuse to restore their ill-gotten gains to the public treasury. With unparalleled impudence they ask the voters of Michigan what they are going to do about it. Fellow-voters, it is this important question that we are called upon to answer at the polls in November.

"It was the political outlook from a moral standpoint that sent James M. Turner into political retirement four years ago. The same moral sentiment at this time should send John T. Rich to keep him company. Fellow-freemen, when you enter the polling booth to prepare your ballots, remember the duty you owe to yourselves and your state, and, acting according to your convictions, you will make no mistake.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

What a Lieutenant Governor Says Regarding the Democratic Prosperity.

A Grand Rapids gentleman, just returned from a business trip in Indiana, reports Lieut. Gov. Nye of that state as saying: "If the election had taken place six weeks ago, the republicans would have had a very substantial victory. So great has been the change, however, under the workings of the new tariff law, that the democrats are sure of success; and, if we had six weeks more of campaign, the republicans would hardly know that they were running."

Somewhat Embarrassing.

One of the republican organs which find it hard to make news pages agree with editorial pages as to the business situation is the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. "At no time during the past year," says that paper's summary introducing business matters, "have the conditions been more favorable and the indications for a general improvement in the immediate future better than at the present time."

The Best Vindication.

Hon. Spencer O. Fisher has made such a declaration of principles as leaves no doubt as to his position on the questions raised by his accusers. This unfortunate episode in the midst of his campaign should rally the loyal members of his party more strongly to his support. He has been maligned and the best vindication that can now be given him will be the united indorsement of the democratic party.—Detroit Free Press.

Republicans Without an Argument.

"Every idle factory is an invincible argument in favor of republican principles," says the Eagle. There is not an idle factory in Grand Rapids to-day and several of the factories are running overtime. The republicans are without an argument.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

Pull out your tax receipt and compare your democratic with your republican year. Tax receipts talk politics.

Senatorial candidate Watts will pocket a will o' the wisp in a graveyard sooner than be elected. He is built wrong for a senator.

Last year at about this season there was an overdraft on the county for $8,000. Now there is a balance of about $3,000 on hand. Blame it off on the democrat hard times!

The watery-eyed crocodile of calamity, which crawled up on the Wilson railroad track to swallow the democratic locomotive, learned something at the instant of his death.

The popular candidate for United States senator, Hon. Edwin F. Uhl, will speak at Ypsilanti, Nov. 6. He is a native of this county and Wash-tenaw will give her brilliant son an enthusiastic welcome.

The fact that $1.00 under the Wilson tariff will buy as much of the necessities of life as $1.25 under the McKinley law, is a pretty strong campaign argument in itself and is becoming stronger every day.

Col. John Atkinson, Friday night, told the people of Ann Arbor that the democrats meant well but were always blundering. Y-y-e-e-s, failed to run the Colonel for congress, we believe. Hence—

In his speech in Ann Arbor, Gen. Spalding said that previous to '93 this country had seen 30 years of its greatest prosperity. Yes, for the several, thousand millionaires and centi-millionaires grown rich by protection. No, for the farmer and the laborer. They will rise up and tell the general to his teeth, "Sir, you're —a long ways from the truth."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

This is registration day. Another week then cometh the democratic victory in Washtenaw.

Overcoat thieves are in the city. If yours is not in the hands of "your uncle" of the three-ball sign, take care of it.

Mrs. Kate E. Eilenberger, through Lawrence Butterfield, sues the Home Life Insurance Co. on a policy held by her husband.

Prof. Ross Granger's waltz Oxford has captured the hearts and feet of the hamlet of Jackson, Jackson county.

B. Fosdick, of Ypsilanti, had the "crust" to win the horse owned by W. Rowe. He was the holder of No. 198. It is "a horse on" Fosdick.

Mrs. Jacob Richert, of Manchester, who became blind a few weeks ago, is in the city and recovering her sight through the treatment of Dr. Carrow.

Bert Smith, of Willis, and Miss Sophia Warner, of Sumpter, Saturday, by the grace of Justice Pond, became one till death or divorce shall them part.

The Summer Dudes will give a dance Friday evening, Nov. 7, at Granger's. Times. Don't call the rejoicing democrats "Summer Dudes", please.

The fact that there is more work on the sewers and street railway extensions than local labor can perform, has caused the sewer contractors to send away for labor.

W. A. Clark has cut the wire connecting him with the street car conductorship, and established himself on the circuits of the electric light works, as superintendent of the plant.

Deputy Sheriff Peterson recently received a deer (not living) from a friend in the north. It costs some people no more to live on that which is "deer" than that which is "sheep."

John Wehness, Patrick O'Brien and Frank Daniels, were last week fined each $1.50 for making mosquito smudges of the autumn leaves during hours not sanctioned by the city statutes.

The campus will not this fall sufficiently recover from the effect of recent excavations to allow of football practice there, and the athletic field will constitute the training ground.

August Winter is accused of assault and battery on his wife, "and now is the winter of his discontent," which he trusts "will be made glorious summer" by his acquittal, Nov. 9.

Profs. Pattengill, Knowlton and Adams will try to recover damages against the street car company for the construction of the Hill street line. The tilt between the three Profs. and the company will be interesting.

A Sabbath breaking chimney at the second ward school house, Sunday, warmed up to an exhibition that called out the fire department. No damage was done. By the way, it would be the proper caper for the council to provide the department with a bath tub.

The following will hereafter constitute the orchestral body of St. Andrew's church: Miss Condon, organist; F. Lorsteffer, 1st violin; Fred McOmber, flute; H. G. Shock, cornet; Carl Worden, 'cello; and G. S. Vandawarker, trombone.

Justice Childs, of Ypsilanti, has been "at it" but a short time, but "has his hand in"—both hands—so well that he has this month turned in $75 collected for fines. The shibboleth of his office is, "Me, ye cannot escape!"

The regular semi-monthly meetings of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew began last evening at Harris Hall.

The regents decline to "bounce" Dr. Oetz for alleged heretical ideas on amalgamation. To the parties who wanted to get the doctor out he is like a burr in a sheep's tail—there yet.

Saline gave Messrs. Whitman and Schermerhorn a fine audience and an attentive one, Friday evening. The increased attendance on the meetings and the confident spirit of the democracy show on which side will be the victory.

Chelsea has an Andrew Hewes; Ann Arbor has an Andrew Hughes; now if Ypsilanti will only bring forth an Andrew Hughes this county will have an Andrew in all the hues.—Courier. "But she can't do it, you know!"

J. B. Richardson, Athens, Mass., incloses his subscription for another year, and says: "For the dollar paid for the Argus we get more than value received." Mr. Richardson is "a gentleman and a scholar," and rightly estimates the value of the Argus.

Col. John Atkinson, who has, we believe, been a republican most of the time during the past few years, addressed an Ann Arbor audience Friday evening. The colonel's principal argument is his oratory, which passes for logic by some who do not stop to investigate.

Tom Cowan was "haltered" by an officer and brought before Justice Pond, last Thursday, charged with allowing a stallion to run at large. Tom pleaded justification on the ground that campaign speakers were allowed to go about, unrestrained. He will have a trial tomorrow.

A dog on which some person had committed "great bodily harm less than murder" was discovered Saturday morning by a member of the Humane society who notified J. J. Goodyear. An officer was sent with a gun and the animal is dead.

The marriage of Miss Martha Stierle and Chris Stoll took place at the home of the bride's parents in Saline, Thursday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Lederer. A large number of nuptial gifts were presented to the couple, including some desirable furniture from the S. S. S. club.

The democrats at the city convention, Friday evening, to choose a candidate for justice of the peace to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Bennett, made choice of W. B. Voorheis, Eugene Oesterlin being a good second and coming within two of Mr. Voorheis' vote.

Dr. Boone, of the Normal, gave a talk on newspapers and magazines, at chapel, the other morning, and the great reliance placed on them. He cautioned his hearers not to depend on them too much, however. The doctor is right. Some of those republican newspapers "lie like Sam Hill."

There have been over 300 applications for membership in the Choral union. This appears to indicate that minstrelsy is on the wane and musical talent is seeking for outlets. Perhaps, however, owing to "democratic hard times" the glass factories are unable to supply orders for million-dollar diamonds.

From certain passages—at arms at the council meeting Friday night, between City Engineer Key and Mr. Dean, regarding the sewers, the Argus sees such possible dangers in the future as to suggest that the ink bottles in the council room be secured with chains.

Hon. A. J. Sawyer renders such excellent service in a bad cause, whenever he takes the stump, that the republican state committee urges him to help out their bankrupt cause this week. No use, Bro. Sawyer. The republican cause is like the Virginia darkey's dog. "Its ears am down, its tongue am cold and its eyes am sot."

"Ivory Oirishman should vote for the dimecratic candidate for governor, sorr," remarked a son of the green isle on the street yesterday; "yis sorr, the Oirish should stand together." "But," replied the other, "the dimecratic candidate for governor is not an Irishman." "Yis, begorra, he is. See how he spells his name—Spincer O'Fisher!" The other fellow "gave in."

Prof. Ansbach at Harris hall, Friday evening last week, proved himself a veritable master of the art of hoodooing the senses. The professor is the "slickest" of his tricky profession. We say "tricky" because he claims nothing for his performances except that they are a series of tricks. Under his clever manipulations the most absurd things are made to seem real and the most real things absurd. He pleased a large audience.

J. F. Lawrence has removed his office from the opera house block to his new brick building.

If you are a democrat, register next Tuesday, if not already on the list. If you are a republican, some other day will do as well.

A new bakery firm will fire up a furnace in the Haller building. Fred and Samuel Hensel will constitute the engineering force.

Burn your autumn leaves only between the hours of 6 a. m. and 12 noon; otherwise you will burn your fingers by violating an ordinance.

October 24, Rev. J. M. Gelston, at the Presbyterian parsonage, united the lives of Jay E. Moore and Miss Anna E. Rogers, of Ypsilanti.

The Humane society notified W. F. Stimson that a horse that would pretend lameness to the extent that his horse did ought to be killed, and Stimson obligingly killed it.

An elegant plate glass mirror adorns the boot and shoe store of Jacobs & Almand, so that a customer can see himself in his elegant fit "as others see him."

In the case of Christiana Dieterle vs. John Dieterle, Attorney John L. Duffy has been appointed by Judge Kinne, to appear for the prosecuting attorney in behalf of the minor children.

An attempt to burglarize the residence of Rev. Fr. Kennedy, of Ypsilanti, last week was frustrated by the hired man who frightened the burglar and he fled ignominiously, a battle "scared" veteran.

The bill of Dr. Owen, of Ypsilanti, presented to the board of supervisors, calls for $500 for expert testimony in the Hand trial. The board glared at it and laid it over until January, the doctor being in the west.

At Pebble's corners, in Salem and at the Shankland school house on the Northfield and Salem line, now float new school flags. Commissioner Cavanaugh was present at the hoisting and delivered an address in each place.

Next Sabbath being Reformation Sunday there will be special services befitting the occasion, at the Bethlehem German Evangelical church. There will be a Sunday school festival in the afternoon and a special program in the evening.

Under a by-law of the board of regents, a dental student cannot turn himself loose on the public outside of the dental college. Violation of this rule subjects him to the operation of the "fire bodily." The prohibition however does not extend to ward caucus dentistry.

After his eloquent address at Saline Friday night Mr. Schermerhorn, of Hudson, felt his spirits go down as he realized that somewhere between Saline and Ann Arbor he had lost his "grip," containing things a gentleman does not wear in the day time, a Wabash mileage pass, and some campaign literature. But the editor "got his grip" again next morning.

"Old Prince," faithful canine servant in the family of Mrs. N. H. Drake is no more. For twelve or more years Prince acted as night guardian and day sentinel of the household. But his eyes grew dim, his hearing left him and Friday he died a scientific death, chloroform being the agent. In his puppyhood Prince was presented to the late N. H. Drake by Jack Loney, the hackman.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz celebrated their tin wedding at their home, corner of Jefferson and Sixth streets. The amount of tin ware presented would have bankrupted all of the McKinley campaign tin factories. Guests from various points were present. The occasion was further made memorable by the christening of the young child of Mr. and Mrs. Schultz.

The Argus quotes an item from the Courier speaking well of a democratic candidate. The Courier is very sorry that it can find nothing of a similar nature in the Argus with which to return the compliment.—Courier. Why, bless the Courier's protection heart! the Argus has claimed all along that the republican candidates were as fine a lot of fellows as were ever born to miss an election. To restate it here would be causeless reiteration.

Rev. Dr. Sunderland's pamphlet, in which he includes among others as Unitarians Daniel Webster and the late poet, J. G. Whittier, having been questioned as to its correctness in regard to those distinguished men, by the pastor of one of the city churches, Dr. Sunderland in Saturday's Times submits the proofs of his averment, and apparently makes a case. Of this, however, we know not, but have little doubt that if they were alive next Tuesday they would both vote the democratic ticket.

I am now prepared to receive such licenses and issue the proper tags and numbers. All dogs not wearing a tag are liable to be killed. W. J. MILLER, City Clerk.

If Pinckney is any criterion, business is on the boom and good times are coming. Let them come, we are ready for them.—Pinckney Dispatch. Ah, the ruin the Wilson bill is working to the business of the country! Nelson Younglove has had the cancer removed from his upper lip. Mrs. Younglove made a plaster of certain simple ingredients, bound it on, and in three days the cancers were easily removed, and the flesh healing nicely.—Milan Leader.

Austin Ellsworth, of Vincent, Ia., and Mrs. Sally Sterling, of Ypsilanti, were married at the latter place, Oct. 24.

The attempt of the Ypsilanti grocery and meat market clerks to induce six o'clock closing by the proprietors has failed.

Ben Baumgardner, of Dexter, does not appear like a man of extreme age, and yet he writes B. C. before his surname.

The new Congregational church of Chelsea is now roofed and the society will soon be able to worship in a commodious edifice.

Wm. Howling lives in Belleville. On account of his name the calamity people wanted to engage him for the campaign, but he wouldn't go.

The 80th birthday of John Tate, of Saline, recently, was made an occasion for his neighbors and friends to rush in on him and congratulate him.

Within three weeks Mr. Laidlaw, of Ypsilanti, will have over 300 varieties of chrysanthemums in bloom. It keeps him busy "blowing them out."

Mr. Walker, the new Congregational minister at Chelsea, passed safely through the ordeal of ordination, and now is entitled to the prefix "Rev."

Dan Quirk, of Ypsilanti, grabs hold of a position with a packing and provision house in St. Louis. Dan's home popularity will make him missed.

Charles Allyn, of Chelsea, while picking apples, the other day, tested the law of gravitation. But it nearly broke his spine. He will not appeal the case.

C. S. Densmore isn't living in Boone City, Neb., any more, and doesn't want to. He is now in Sylvan, having driven a team the whole distance. Sylvan will do for him.

The clock of the Ypsilanti high school building was found to be six feet in diameter, instead of five, as was intended. Undoubtedly the prospect of a democratic victory broadened its face.

During the last thunder storm, many electric lamps were burned out at Chelsea. At the stove works it jumped at the motor, which tossed it off with a noise like a pistol and went on with its business.

The Salvation Army meetings at Ypsilanti are largely attended. It is gratifying to know that there is still hope of Ypsilanti, and that "While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return."

Unless there are liars in Freedom, one farmer there has to blast his turnips out of the ground with dynamite, they are so large; and another man has stopped raising corn because it is as much work to cut it as to clear a tamarack swamp.

D. W. Elmer, of Bridgewater, aged 87 years, is one of the frisky men of the town. He is able to run a foot race with any man of his years in his section, and indeed, he doesn't care how old his contestant is—even if he is a hundred.

A. D. McIntyre, of Mooreville, this fall propped up one end of the "hard times" and dug 740 bushels of potatoes out from under them. The "tatoes" grew on seven acres. L. Goldsmith has a good record with 700 bushels from nine acres.

John Tichenor, of Chelsea, was 92 years old, Oct. 26th, but no one who has seen him dancing around, this season, making garden and doing the "errand boy," would suspect that he had so many years concealed about him. Efforts are being made to get him into the University football team, but he declines, on the ground that he is not yet old enough. Mr. Tichenor is one of the grandfathers of Editor Hoover, of the Chelsea Standard. A sister of Mr. Tichenor died at the age of 94.

To Mrs. Harry A. Gilmore, of Ypsilanti—a son. Another addition to Gilmore's band.

The new arc light dynamo at Chelsea is in position and doing business. A light has been placed at the railroad crossing.

Early closing will go into effect at Dexter, Nov. 1st. Good idea. Saves fire and light to the merchant and gives the clerk a show for calling on his girl.

Such a time as the stockholders are having to get back the money lost in the Keeley institute lately at Ypsilanti is enough to drive a prohibitionist to the bottle.

Dr. Conklin who was abducted, as he states, and is now at Manchester, complains of the effects of a blow on the head from a sand-bag, delivered by his kidnappers to make him willing to accompany them.

Dexter boys who are late out, nights, leads the Leader to believe they "are sowing for a crop of anxious hours and broken hearts in the not far distant future." "Broken heads" would come nearer cracking the fact on the skull.

Deputy sheriff Staffan, of Chelsea, arrested a brace of clothing thieves last week. An overcoat, from H. V. Heatly, a mackintosh, another coat and a pair of pants from a store, were found. The chaps were fixing up for full dress receptions. They will have one.

Populist Peters "got at himself" in fine shape at the recent democratic meeting at Scio, when called upon to preside. He said he was not a democrat, but like Fisher's old white horse he was borrowed for most everything.

The Sentinel claims Cadillac as the place where the Scandinavian remarked "Ee haf a job wid de Ann Arbor railroad" and trusts "that all persons who have given currency to the misstatement will correct it." What! on the Sentinel's unsupported statement?

Stone & Carpenter have an interesting exhibition in their store window, consisting of a very old piece of needlework made during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, in about 1600. The work represents a scene in the queen's court. Also they have some old pitchers made in 1771, of clay from Wales. They are the property of O. W. Seymour.—Ypsilanti.

Oil fight at Saline a few days ago. Fairbank glowered on his opponent and said "six!" Humphrey glowered back and said "five!" Fairbank glowered again and said "four!" Humphrey returned the glower and said free, one gallon of oil to every customer, today, and five for each additional gallon. The fight closed when both dealers were closed out and the well-stocked customers said "oil right."

An old fellow, who said his name was Charles Wilson, unbuttoned a coat on a clothier's dummy at Ypsilanti, last week, but was pursued and captured. In justice court an entire suit was made against him, although he only stole the coat. Wilson said he was feeling badly and the doctor told him to take something, so he took the coat. When Justice Childs had been "brought to," he looked the old rascal sternly in the eye, and said that he might have dealt leniently with him, but after a "crack" like that, the heart of justice was closed to mercy; the law must take its course; and he sent him to Detroit for 65 days.

George Hammond lost a $100 horse, which was taken up, advertised and finally sold, Ike Davis, of Ypsilanti, being the purchaser for $75. It was not known to whom the horse belonged till after the sale.

WHERE HE STANDS.

The Stable Convictions of Hon. S. O. Fisher on Important Issues.

Mr. Fisher's attitude on the tariff question was clearly defined by his course during his congressional career and it has not since been changed. He might be called an advanced tariff reformer—one of those rare tariff reformers, a consistent one, in that he does not seek protection for his own industries and free trade for everything else. He is an extensive wool grower, and his reasons for advocating free wool were clearly set forth in his famous letter to Congressman Burrows last spring in reply to Burrows' charge against him that if he were a sheep breeder he would not be a free wool disciple. Lumbering, however, being his chief business, it was for a duty on lumber that he would reasonably be expected to contend. The course of some of the republican lumbermen of Bay City during the democratic convention at Grand Rapids in selecting a committee, with Mr. Fisher as chairman, to go to Washington and urge the rejection of the Allen amendment putting all wood products on the free list, is spoken of yet as a scheme to place him in an embarrassing position. The talk is that their purpose was to make him compromise himself by appearing as an advocate of a duty on lumber while professing to be a tariff reformer. If this really was the object it didn't work, for Mr. Fisher positively refused to be one of the committee. He had been appointed without his knowledge, and the proposed mission was one in which he did not care to engage.

Mr. Fisher has never been anything but an uncompromising democrat who, while insisting that the best government always can be given by the democratic party, yet is not so invariably partisan that he will not deny some merit in a political opponent, nor will he permit himself to be blinded to the shortcomings of public officials of his own political creed. He proved this by opposing the last democratic administration of West Bay City for its arrogant methods. Politics has claimed considerable of his attention ever since he was old enough to vote. Before he came to the Bay district he had been an alderman at Hillsdale. In West Bay City, where he has made his home, he has been alderman, mayor, school trustee for fifteen years, and twice this district's representative in congress. In addition, as is well known, he has frequently represented his party in state and national conventions. As mayor and alderman he made a record by his efforts in the direction of retrenchment, and as one citizen remarked, to get the city departments on the same kind of a basis as that upon which he built his own business.

As president of the state bankers' association and principal owner of the Lumbermen's state bank of West Bay City, Mr. Fisher's opinion on the silver question is of more importance than the declaration of a mere candidate for office. He is an out and out silver man who regards the reenactment of the silver law repealed in 1873 and the remonetization of silver as the true solution of the issue. He wants to see silver on a parity with gold without any qualification and recognized as legal tender for every obligation.—Detroit Evening News.

ON THE RUN.

Republicans Full of Doubt and Concern for the Outcome.

The republican papers and speakers in this state seek to make it appear that they are perfectly confident, absolutely sure, of an overwhelming victory in the coming election. They ridicule any suggestion of the possibility of defeat. Now, for men who are so sure of anything as these republicans claim to be of triumph in Michigan, the most extraordinary steps are taken, the most remarkable efforts made. Rarely, if ever, in a presidential campaign have the republicans of Michigan put forth so great efforts as are manifested at this time, when they profess to believe that no special effort is necessary. In every congressional district and in every county there is an appearance of that sort of doubt concerning the prospects which manifests itself in desperate efforts to keep up an appearance of confidence. The most eminent speakers among the republicans of the country are imported into Michigan and the most desperate efforts are made to produce a showing of hope. The fact is the democrats have their opponents on the run, and there is a splendid prospect of running them into defeat. The presence of every outside republican speaker in the limits of the state is a confession of increasing republican weakness and lack of hope.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

EARTHQUAKE IN ARGENTINA.

It Works Death and Havoc Over an Extensive Territory.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 29.—The earthquake which was felt throughout the Argentine Republic Saturday was most severe in the provinces of San Juan De Los Rios and Rioja. Many churches, theatres, and private houses were destroyed. Twenty persons are known to have perished. The inhabitants are in a state of panic, fearing a repetition of the shocks. The government is sending aid to those who have lost their homes, and everything possible will be done to alleviate the suffering. It is probable that scores of persons were killed and wounded, but details are not yet at hand.

Three Trainmen Badly Hurt.

LIMA, O., Oct. 29.—A fast freight west bound on the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne and Chicago was run into from the rear by a freight in a dense fog east of the Ottawa river bridge. Brakeman Frank Perri, Engineer John Kohler, Fireman W. D. Rhodes, all from Fort Wayne were injured seriously, but not fatally.

SHAKEN UP BY DYNAMITE.

Five Tons of the Explosive Goes Off in Wisconsin—One Death Probable.

CHIPPewa FALLS, Oct. 29.—This city and vicinity was terribly shaken about 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon by an explosion which occurred on the summit of a hill a mile from town, where was stored in a small building five tons of dynamite. The stuff had been sent here on consignment from a Chicago house to J. R. Sharp, a hardware merchant. It is presumed that a bullet fired by a hunter from a rifle into the building lodged in some powder also in storage, and that the person lost his life. The ground was torn up to a great depth for some distance, while trees and fences for many rods were torn and twisted. Quite a number of trees were pulled out by the roots. The glass in every farm house for miles around was shattered. In this city the effect was disastrous to plate glass fronts, and windows of numbers of dwellings were blown out. The shock came while people were on their way to church, and threw children and ladies down and caused ladies to faint. All sorts of experiences are related by citizens. The village of Bloomer, twelve miles distant from the scene, appears to have felt the force more severely than here.

THREE KILLED, A SCORE INJURED.

Fast Freight Runs Into a Work Train on the Pennsylvania Road.

BRISTOL, Pa., Oct. 29.—A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Croydon Station, last evening in which three men were killed and a score or more injured, some seriously. A construction train having on board about forty laborers pulled up near Croydon and stopped to take on more workmen. While the train was at a standstill a fast freight crashed into the work train.

NOTES OF THE POLITICAL FIGHT.

A Time of Very Active Work by Both the Great Parties.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Last week was the most active of the political campaign. Particularly was that true as to New York, which as it generally does, has become this year the center of the fight in spite of the fact that the Republicans are struggling for the recovery of several states wrested from them in 1892, particularly Illinois with the city of Chicago, the western metropolis, as the center of that fight. New York atmosphere literally trembled last week with the voice of the political orator, and there will be no let-up this week.

From New York comes an explanation why President Cleveland has not registered in the form of a statement that he has no right to so register, as his legal residence is not there. In closing up the week's fighting Hill and Stevenson have been busy speaking to large audiences in the cities, and Sexton and Lockwood, Republican and Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor, have been stirring up the rural regions. Hill spoke at Watertown Saturday night and Stevenson at Troy. Both had immense audiences. This week the fight will be hotter. General Harrison will make at least one speech, and Governor Flower begins a tour of the state today.

Governor McKinley's New York tour has closed and he is now in Illinois. En route from New York to Columbus, O., he stopped at Philadelphia and spoke at three separate halls, having previously spoken at Poughkeepsie, and Newburg, N. Y. At Philadelphia his audiences were very large and the speaking was no sooner over than he was driven to the train and proceeded to Columbus. He reached there at 2:35 p. m. yesterday and after a few hours, at home left for Olney, Ills., where he spoke this morning. He then started for this city and speaks here tonight.

The campaign in this state has been "mighty lively." For the Democrats General John C. Black closed the week at Springfield with Representative Springer and Frank W. Jones speaking to a very enthusiastic crowd, while for the Republicans Senator Cullom, John L. Rinaker and Edward O'Connell did a similar service at Jerseyville to a multitude, the speaking being continued at night. W. R. Morrison spoke at Charleston and Senator Palmer at Taylorville for the Democracy. In this city the half dozen parties were holding meetings large and small all over town and the political atmosphere was very warm.

Representative ("the czar") Reed is at St. Louis today and this evening speaks in Exposition hall. At noon he spoke at the Merchants' Exchange. It is reported from Washington that Secretary Gresham will go to Indiana this week to make speeches for the Democracy.

Nine thousand socialists met at New York to ratify the Socialist Labor ticket. Red ribbons were very conspicuous all over the throng. The Populists were the only ones who openly carried on the fight in this city yesterday. Governor Waite, of Colorado, arrived in the morning and was met by a delegation of several hundred with brass bands and escorted to his hotel, where he held an impromptu reception. At 2 p. m. a procession of 300, headed by a band, escorted the governor to the lake front park. There a crowd of perhaps 10,000 people were assembled. The governor was received with cheers when introduced and responded with a half hour's speech. Last evening the governor spoke to a large audience at Tattersalls.

Horse and Fat Stock Show.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—After careful consideration the state board of agriculture has decided to this year combine with the annual American fat stock and poultry show in Chicago a horse show. These united, useful and attractive exhibits will be inaugurated at Tattersalls' and the new building adjoining on the corner of State and Sixteenth streets Thursday, Nov. 23, and continued until Dec. 1 inclusive.

Tough Joke on the Mayor.

LIMA, O., Oct. 29.—Mayor Smiley, of this city, was kidnaped by a party of men who were in the rear car of the Cleveland chamber of commerce excursion. While the mayor was engaged in earnest conversation with the parties the train moved off, and the mayor remained in captivity until Toledo was reached.
