KICKING THE WIND-BAG IN ANN ARBOR.

Barkworth's Big Meeting.—Tea for 25 Grandchildren.—Mr. Nanry Answers Julius Caesar.—Limburger and Tomatoes.—"Lost Paradise." Found Thursday Night.—"Police Inspector" Coming.

"Tea" for Her Grand Children.

On her 68th birthday, recently, Mrs. J. G. Schairer celebrated the event by giving a tea to her grand children, 25 of whom responded. They were as follows: Orlando O., Bertram, Lizzie, Fred, Mary, Louise, Crissie and Alice Reimold, of Saginaw, Mich.; Lilly, Otto and Luella Stuefer, of West Point, Neb.; Stuart and Louise Schairer, of West Point, Neb.; Bertha, Otta and Eva Schairer, of Saline, Mich.; (Mattie Otto), Arthur, Alvin, Bennie and Edna Krause, Edward O., Karl G., Gaunt F. and Waldo W. Schairer, of Ann Arbor. Lizzie Steuffer, of West Point, Neb., was the only absentee.

Barkworth's Big Meeting.

The grandest rally of the campaign in Ann Arbor was that of the democracy at the Grand opera house last night, to hear the democratic candidate for congress, Hon. Thos. E. Barkworth, discuss the issues between the parties, which he did in a masterful manner, which showed his thorough acquaintance with the questions before the people. Mr. Barkworth was followed by J. Nelson Lewis, in a brief but keen, forceful address. He is an orator of ready ability, and thoroughly posted in political lore. The meeting was presided over by M. J. Lehman, Esq. A large delegation from Jackson came over to attend the meeting, thus proving the great popularity of Mr. Barkworth in his own home. The opera house was filled.

Kicking the Wind-Bag.

Not as many "wind-bags" are kicked as should be, but perhaps full as many as the law allows without the crime of assault and battery on the campaign orators. But we were going to speak merely of football. The interclass games began last Monday. Manager Hardy, of the '98 lites, is arranging a series of games with different high school teams in other cities. It is hoped to secure a bout with the Grand Rapids high school team, Thanksgiving.

The following games have been arranged by the Ann Arbor high school team: Nov. 10, with Detroit high school, at Detroit; Nov. 17, Toledo at Toledo; Nov. 24, M. M. A., at Detroit; Nov. 28, Toledo at Ann Arbor; Nov. 29, M. M. A. at Ann Arbor.

Too Ignorant To Be Heard.

Mr. John M. Nanry, of Ypsilanti, was in the city, Saturday. Mr. Nanry is a very level-headed Irish citizen, well advanced in years. He attended the recent meeting which was addressed by J. C. Burroughs at Ypsilanti. The honorable Julius Caesar, after attacking the democracy in his usual blackguard style, remarked, "Now I will explain the Wilson bill; and I will say right here that I have never read the bill." At this point Mr. Nanry rose, and remarking that he didn't care to hear a man try to explain a bill which he had never read and consequently knew nothing about, strode out of the hall to the music of approving hand-claps. It is doubtful if in all his long and swaggering career in congress, Bombaster Burroughs ever received a more sudden and severe set-back.

The Police Inspector.

The play deals with life among the "blue coats" of the metropolis, and is an every-day picture of scenes and incidents constantly presenting themselves to conservators of the peace. The central figure is Inspector Byrnes, around whom the plot revolves; and there is also the heroine, whose kind and gentle aids materially contribute to developing the plot and working out the solution of the problem looking to the punishment of villainy and the reward of virtue.

The cast will comprise several well-known people. There will be due attention to staging and mechanical effects, as well as special fac-simile scenery depicting the various localities in which the action takes place; scenes which will be recognized by those who have visited New York. In one sense, it is intended to present a study of the greatest police system of the country.

At the Grand opera house, Nov. 10. Prices, 35c, 50c, 75c.

Tomato and Limburger.

The establishment of a branch of the Salvation army at Ypsilanti has aroused an interest in that quarter, in those erratic but faithful religionists. The Commercial prints the following:

The spirit of the army is illustrated by the following extract from reports of the work, which we copy from their national organ, the War Cry:

Hicksville, L. I.—The writer and Capt. Matthison spent the week-end at Hicksville. Big crowds, as usual. In the Saturday night's meeting we were helped to spit-balls of putty and chewing gum, and also a donation of limburger cheese, which spoke for itself. Then, on Sunday night, the boys arrived in force, and conducted themselves so boisterously that we were compelled to close up, and the writer, whilst standing on the platform, received a present of a tomato at long range. It struck square on the forehead, and distributed itself impartially. Notwithstanding all these things, we can still say, "Victory through the Blood!" I understand that since then some of the boys have been arrested, but I do not intend to press the charge, because I think we can win them by kindness. Hallelujah!—Yours, tomatoes or no tomatoes. Capt. Jack Peake.

He Sues the Register.

Mr. Voorheis, democratic candidate for justice of the peace, for Ann Arbor, to fill vacancy, Saturday lodged a suit for $5,000 damages, against Selby A. Moran, of the Register, on account of various publications in that paper reflecting on the character of the complainant. The summons was served on the defendant last Saturday, Charles Kline and M. J. Lehman being Mr. Voorheis' attorneys. One of the articles puts Mr. Voorheis in the light of a croup of bums and drunkards, and another quotes him as saying "I'll down the Dutch." These and other articles are the basis for the suit. It is to be regretted that some who are opposed to the democratic candidates have thought proper to attempt their defeat by unjust personal attacks. The effect of the attacks, which have brought about two actions for libel, by democratic candidates in Ann Arbor, has been very different from what was designed. In either case the candidates assailed have found new friends and lost none of the old. There is an element in the human mind that loves fair play and comes to the side of those who are the victims of unwarranted assault. Many have declared that they will now cut their ticket for no republican but vote solidly for the democratic ticket and work particularly hard for Saekey and Voorheis.

Rhea at Ann Arbor.

Rhea and her excellent company in "Much Ado About Nothing," Friday night attracted a large and first-class audience, notwithstanding the opposition of a rain storm which played to "all out doors" and beat a fierce "ratatattoo" on the roof of the opera house. The celebrated actress is still at the zenith of her power and popularity and has parted with none of the personal charms which, added to her dramatic talent, have rendered her a leading actress and favorite of the stage in America. Her support was excellent, especially as to the character of "Dogberry," that luminously ignorant but self-complaisant individual being interpreted to the entire satisfaction of the audience.

On Saturday evening the talented lady delighted her audience with a bit of lighter but no less engaging work. The curtain first went up on a one-act presentation of "Bonaparte as a Cadet." That a lady could really act the character of the great Napoleon, even in his boyhood, was scarcely to be credited in advance of the performance; yet not only to act and dress the part, but to simulate even the features of the world's military master of a century ago, was the happy gift of the charming woman who owns France as her country, yet devotes her talent to the republic to which in the hour of its need France showed friendship. "Pygmalion and Galatea" closed the evening's performance. In this as in the other plays, Rhea as Galatea gave such new and delightful interpretations of the part that the audience seemed led into new discoveries of the character. In Galatea, as a cold, marble statue, the actress scored the most happy effects, and the murmur of applause that greeted the unveiling attested the pleasure of the audience. The support was excellent and it is not too much to add that Ferd. Hight, as Chrysos, was "great."

"Lost Paradise."

The heading with which this article is introduced has no reference to the blind Milton's immortal description of souls lost and devils condemned, but to a dramatic production with elaborate plot, thrilling incidents, exciting situations and stirring climaxes. It is the old capital and labor story in new and fascinating form, and especially adapted to the interpretation of its leading part through the magnificent talent of one of the great popular actors of the day, Mr. Wm. Morris, so long known in the famous Frohman presentations. The connection of Mr. Morris with the leading role insures its success from the start, and affords that reliance, which in these days when cheap actors in "shoddy" plays discredit the profession, a rightly discerning public taste demands as a guarantee against disappointment. Mr. Morris, in the characters of Mr. Prescott in "Men and Women", Lieut. Hawkesworth in "The Girl I Left Behind Me", and Reuben Warner in "The Lost Paradise", will be long memorable to the theater goers of New York, Boston and Chicago, where these plays have enjoyed long and successful runs. "The Lost Paradise" is rated as De Mille's best work. The play involves the story of a wealthy iron manufacturer; a stolen patent by which the manufacturer has grown rich; a tale of love with a tangled web of conflicting interests: a strike of workmen; delicious dashes of comedy affording delightful reliefs, etc. The plot is admirably balanced and the transitions so opportune and restful that the audience feels no weariness anywhere during the performance. The parts are admirably cast; and besides Mr. Morris as Reuben Warner, there will be seen Miss Etta Hawkins in her original role of Cinders. This charming little actress makes this part one of the comedy hits of the performance. Miss Frances Gaunt, a very pretty woman, will be seen as Margaret Knowlton, Miss Frances Whitehouse as Polly the picturesque little country girl, and Messrs. Ben Johnson, Hardie Kirkland, Maurice Freeman, W. J. Holton, Louis LeBey, Herschel Mayal, Robert Kink, Frank Maguire, Frank Opperman, Charles Gibson, Fred Turner, and Misses Carrie Strong, Umida Winston, Ruth Russell and Amy Williams.

"Lost Paradise" will be presented at the Grand opera house next Thursday evening.

Prof. and Mrs. M. L. D'Ooge gave a tea party, Saturday evening, to members of the faculty, who were "across the sea" last summer.

When President Angell saw in the columns of the Detroit Tribune last week that he was likely to go to Chicago to preach, he laid the paper down, turned his back, stuffed his bandana in his mouth, bent forward and those near him heard a stifled snicker. Asked about the report the President answered that since the death of Prof. Swing the church officers had been trying to fill the pulpit from Sunday to Sunday and he had been invited to respond for one Sabbath, but was unable to do so, and that was all there was of it. President Angell added that "preaching was not his vocation." Said the boy on giving his testimony in court: "My father works at designing. He is a theologian, too, but he dont work at it."

At dinner, one day last week, one of the tables at the Cook house was occupied exclusively by Smiths, who filled every seat, part of the company being strangers to the other part and their meeting at the table a coincidence, and not by special design. Six of the company were the Smith sisters, singers of Cincinnati. The other Smiths resided in Ann Arbor. An interesting "Smith incident" happened in Adrian last winter. It was a wedding affair, wherein Mr. Smith was married to Miss Smith, by Justice Smith, and a Mr. Smith was one of the witnesses on the certificate. None of the parties were related.

THE CAMPAIGN.

At last the campaign has closed. The issues are made up. The lines of battle are formed and the contest of the ballots is on. Whatever the result may be, democracy will have the satisfaction of having made a clean and honest campaign of principles and education. It has contended for the historic principles of democracy—local self government, free from federal interference, just taxation, civil and religious liberty, honest money and equal rights for all and special privileges for none. And as an earnest of what it will do along these lines if continued in control, it has appealed to the people on its record of accomplishment during the past nineteen months.

Since its accession to control and responsibility for legislation, it has repealed the purchase clause of the Sherman silver law, a law which reduced silver to a mere commodity in the interest of the gold bugs. The Sherman law was not in the interest of silver. It was enacted in the interest of the silver mine owners and for the purpose of holding the wavering republican mine owners of the west in line.

It has repealed the odious federal election law and driven federal bayonets away from the polls, thus restoring to the people the control of local affairs. It has repealed the McKinley monstrosity and placed on the statute books a tax law framed in the interest of revenue instead of the trusts and monopolies. Under the McKinley law, which largely increased the burdens of the people, the revenues were lopped off in the interest of protection, and during the last fiscal year of its existence, they were $69,000,000 less than the expenditures.

It has repealed the sugar bounty act by which the people were taxed $13,000,000 annually for the benefit of the 600 cane growers of Louisiana.

It has reduced the expenditures of the government $28,000,000.

It has removed the tariff on lumber, by which every man who built a house was compelled to pay a tribute to the pine barons. This will result in a saving of $40,000,000 a year to the people.

It has placed salt on the free list saving to the people the 82 per cent tax on salt, in bulk, amounting to millions annually.

It has reduced the tariff on woolenwear from an average of 98 per cent to 48 per cent., saving to the people an amount estimated at $163,000,000 a year. It has raised the tax on distilled liquors from 90 cents to $1.10 per gallon, thereby increasing the revenues to the amount of $20,000,000.

It has introduced a new principle into national taxation that lifts from the shoulders of the poor by means of the income tax a burden of many millions of dollars. These are a few of the salient features of what the democratic party has done in the past nineteen months in the interest of the people and much more will be accomplished if it is sustained and upheld by the people.

On the other hand, what kind of a campaign has the republican party put up? What has it promised to do if returned to power as an offset to democratic accomplishment in the interest of the people? Nothing. It has simply been "agin" the democrats. Relying on the great credulity of the masses and their inability to trace effects to their proper cause, it has conducted a campaign of falsehood, charging upon the democratic party the responsibility for the great panic of 1893. It has brazenly asserted that the panic of 1893 was the result of the fear of reduction of taxes commanded by the people themselves. That party with equal mendacity has declared that during the long years of republican ascendancy there were no such things as panics, smokeless furnaces, idle labor, tramps and free soup houses.

All this too, in the face of the fact that the panic of 1873, the worst from which this country has ever suffered, when there were millions of idle workmen, occurred when every branch of the government was and had been for thirteen years under the complete control of the republican party. The species, tramp, had its origin in this panic and is a legitimate offspring of protection. So had the free soup house. During the years of this panic the number of failures was unprecedented and the liabilities amounted to more than one and a half billions of dollars. From 1883 to 1890 the number of failures exceeded 82,000 and the liabilities $1,250,000,000. Not since the tariff of 1883 went into effect has the number of failures fallen below 9,000 a year.

During this period the conflicts between employers and employees increased until riots and bloodshed became so numerous as to excite but little interest except in the most extreme cases. During the years 1883, 1884, 1885, and 1886, we had 2,977 strikes in 17,271 establishments, embracing 1,039,011 employees. The number of strikes increased from 471, affecting 129,591 employees in 1881, to 1,411, affecting 499,489 employees in 1886. During the years 1882 to 1886, inclusive, lockouts occurred in 2,214 establishments, affecting 175,270 employees. The estimated wage loss to employees by reason of strikes and lockouts during these six years aggregated $59,972,440.

Nor were industrial conditions improved under the McKinley act. In 1890 the number of failures reached 10,907, with liabilities aggregating $189,856,964. In 1891, the failures numbered 12,273, with liabilities of $189,868,693, and the conflicts between employers and employees which before had reached only the dignity of combats and riots, now became pitched battles between great forces armed with rifle and cannon. In 1893, there were 15,560 failures, with liabilities amounting to $462,000,000.

In the face of all these facts, republicans have continued to proclaim the monumental falsehood that the loftiest heights of prosperity and contentment were reached under protection, and especially under the McKinley act. But we challenge them to point to any period of like duration, in the history of this or any other country, when there were so many panics, depressions, strikes, closed factories, idle men, and commercial failures. But the republican party, relying upon the propensity of the people to forget the past in the difficulties of the present, and to charge all the ills which beset them to the party in power, has boldly proclaimed that these things never occurred.

The party has not dared to declare its policy, if it be reinvested with control, on the tariff issue, the income tax, or any other important issue. However, it is so wedded to the principle of protection and special privileges and benefits, it can be depended upon to reinact McKinleyism, with the bounty on sugar, repeal the income tax and re-establish the rule of trusts and monopolies.

The interests of the people are bound up in the success of the democracy and if they are not blinded by the falsehoods of the g. o. p. which they repudiated in 1892, they will stand by the party that is making the fight against discriminating legislation and unjust taxation, the party which demands equal rights for all and special privileges for none, the party which has always been the faithful guardian of the rights of all the people.

Last week's edition of the Adrian Press, beside its usual fright of excellent literature and allopathic doses of tariff reform, is issued as a double edition, containing sixteen pages, printed on calandered paper, the special edition showing a galaxy of photos of the leading men of Adrian. The work is handsomely done and is a compliment and credit to the enterprise of the Press proprietor. The paper contains seventy-six cuts, among which appear a splendid page width view of Adrian college, a view of the State Industrial Home for Girls, Lenawee court house, Page Wire Fence works, churches of the city, etc. The venerable, but still vigorous face of Gen. D. D. Sinclair, now nearly 90, appears among the "photos," and we observe also the face of that still good looking and just as "still" wily and astute politician, "Uncle Charlie Redfield," who in his long career has made many men and unmade many others, and performed the trick so slick that "they never knew what hit 'em."

Finally, brethren, farewell. You have had "line upon line, line upon line; precept upon precept, precept upon precept; here a little and there a little." If now you go to the polls and vote with the curse-howler against democracy, never expect forgiveness in this world or redemption in the next.

AMUSING THE QUEEN.

How Maids of Honor Are Selected and Some of Their Duties.

Maids of honor are chosen by the queen herself from among the daughters of peers, who, if not themselves connected with the royal household, are personal friends of her majesty. A letter is always sent to the parents of the young lady requesting that as a personal favor to the queen she may be permitted to attend at court. As the position is undeniable and the salary is £300 a year, the request is invariably accepted, and the newly chosen maid receives from the lord chamberlain the command for her first "wait."

The first thing brought to the maid of honor is her badge, which is a miniature picture of the queen set in brilliants and hung from a ribbon. Just before the dinner hour the maid of honor or in waiting has to stand in the corridor outside the queen's private apartments. She carries a bouquet, which on entering the dining room she lays at the right hand of the queen's plate.

The maid of honor sits at dinner next to the gentleman on the queen's right. This rule is, however, relaxed when royal guests are present. After dinner, unless otherwise commanded, the maid of honor retires to her own room, whence however, she is frequently called to read, sing, play the piano or take a hand at cards.

As regards this last, the household have always to be provided with freshly coined money, for the queen is not supposed to handle money which has ever been in circulation.—New York Advertiser.

FELL WITH A ROOF.

Hundreds of People Watching a Circus Parade.

OVER FIVE SCORE PERSONS HURT.

Out of a List of Sixty-Four Injured the Women and Children Number Fifty-five.—A Structure Built for an Awning Collapses with Hundreds on Top and Beneath—Wall Tumbles on Firemen at a Louisville Blaze with Fatal Results.

TERRELL, Tex., Nov. 5.—As the result of the collapse of an awning under which was a crowd of people assembled to witness a circus parade several persons were fatally crushed and 100 others more or less seriously injured. The remarkable thing about the list of injured is the large proportion of women and children, but mostly women. Out of a list of sixty-four of those injured from fatally to severely fifty-five are either women or children and at least forty are women. It was a mercy that there was not a long list of "instantly killed" to report from the nature of the accident and this was only averted by the other accident that one set of supports of the awning did not come loose from their positions.

The Circus Was Coming to Town.

With the dawn of the morning one of the most enjoyable days for the citizens of this community had been promised. People from miles around had gathered to attend Sells Brothers' circus and witness the parade. About half past 10 o'clock the parade entered Moore avenue, the principal business street of the town. That thoroughfare was crowded with people and the awnings and windows of the second stories of the business houses were filled with spectators. On the awnings of the Mississippi store and in front of the dry goods house of Morris Brin an unusually large number of people had congregated to get a good view of the parade, 500 or more being on the awning and the sidewalk beneath was jammed.

How the Disaster Occurred.

The front of the circus parade had gone up Moore avenue until it reached a point directly in front of the Mississippi store, when the awnings mentioned collapsed and tumbled to the sidewalk and on to the people beneath. The awnings gave way near the building with an awful crash, the iron columns falling inward and smashing the large plate glass fronts of both buildings. As will be seen from the foregoing the "awnings" were really long porticoes or verandas, with flat roofs, making a very desirable place from which to view the procession. With the roofs of these awnings crowded with humanity and under them hundreds more, the scene when they fell, piling those on top into a struggling mass and crushing those on the pavement under the weight of the roof and those thereon, may be imagined, and cannot be imagined too dreadfully.

Rescue of the Sufferers.

A rush to the rescue was made immediately. The hundreds on both sides of the street who were not victims of the disaster sprang to work to liberate those caught in the wreck, while a heartrending element was added to the scene by the relatives and friends of those in the struggling, screaming and groaning pile of human beings who rushed frantically forward to learn their fate. Allen Sells was riding in his buggy at the head of the procession. He ordered it to stop and got out of his buggy and called those near him to assist in removing the people from beneath the debris. Different members of the circus rendered valuable assistance.

Thankful It Was no Worse.

The work of rescue was quickly done, and when all the victims had been removed the citizens had time to thank fortune that had as it was, what was almost a miracle had prevented it from being infinitely worse. As the inner side of the roof fell to the ground the outer columns supporting it had swung inward and held the outer edge of the roof up. Had these columns lost their hold on the roof it would have fallen flat on the sidewalk and probably scores under it would have been instantly killed. The injured were immediately carried to the various stores in the city and medical aid summoned.

List of the Seriously Hurt.

The names of over ninety have been obtained who suffered greater or less injuries. The following are put down on the fatal or serious list: Mrs. Florence Hutton, Mrs. John Barry, Josiah Barton, Mrs. Roberts, three girls and a boy of L. D. Veach, Mrs. Jeff Scott and baby. Some of these will die while the others may die.

FIVE FIREMEN BADLY HURT.

Serious Casualty at the Burning of a Building in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—Fire broke out in the building occupied by the Louisville branch of the Singer Sewing Machine Manufacturing company, at 552 Fourth avenue, and before the flames could be extinguished did about $50,000 worth of damage. Just as the firemen had the fire under control the rear wall of the Singer building fell and five firemen were caught under it and badly hurt. Two of them, Valentine Riehl and James Mannix, may die.

The injured are: Valentine Riehl, captain No. 2 hook and ladder company, may die; James Mannix, pipeman No. 3 engine company, may die; John Morton, captain No. 3 engine company, badly hurt; Monk Cline, pipeman No. 3 engine company, left leg crushed and injured internally; Edward Riehl, ladder man No. 2 truck company, cut in top of head and left arm.

At the time of the fire there was a large audience present at the Avenue theater, which adjoins the Singer building. The fire was discovered by the people on the stage and the curtain was dropped in the middle of the last act and in less than twenty minutes the house was emptied of its occupants and a panic averted. Cline is an old ball player and well known in the south and west. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin.

Loss of Life Apprehended.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 5.—The Neal, Goff and Inglis buildings, 428 to 432 Main street were burned last night, with a total loss of about $150,000, partly covered by insurance. There were several narrow escapes and it is feared that two or three lives were lost.

Relief for Minnesota Germans.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Fifty German societies representing a total membership of 5,000 met in this city and took steps to raise funds for relief of Germans in Minnesota who suffered by the recent forest fires.

ROBBED BY THEIR GUESTS.

Hotel Keepers Complain of the Continual Theft of Small Articles.

It is a fact well known to every hotel and restaurant keeper in the city that people will steal. Why they resort to peculation is a mystery, but a far greater mystery seems to be wrapped up in the class of articles that are stolen.

Guests who stop at first class hotels and pay their bills in departing have been known scores of times to take with them toilet soap and towels from their rooms. Blankets, sheets, clocks and ornaments likewise disappear with the departing transients.

Nor does the peculation stop at this. Cheap plated trays, cutlery, forks and spoons plainly marked with the names of the hotels are stolen again and again. This seems strange, for if the articles are used by the thief they bear, of course, the indelible evidence of the guilt of the peculators.

Sometimes the stolen articles are recovered, and sometimes they are not. Only recently the proprietor of a local hotel advertised repeatedly and offered a large reward for the return of a valuable clock of large size, which had been taken from the hotel and in a manner never discovered. All the advertising was in vain.

The late John Hoey once succeeded by a shrewdly worded letter in recovering a valuable rug which a well known New York woman had taken with her. As soon as his absence was noted from the Hollywood Mr. Hoey caused to be written to the woman a letter which read substantially as follows:

"DEAR MADAM—In packing your clothing your maid by mistake included the Turkish rug which was in your room. Kindly have it returned."

The woman had no maid, which fact was well known to herself and to Mr. Hoey. The assumption that the theft was not hers accorded her an opportunity to return the stolen article, which she did at the earliest possible moment, sending with it at the same time a note apologizing for the stupidity of the "maid."—New York Herald.

WASHTENAWISMS.

The Manchester German school opened yesterday.

A choir of over 30 voices has been organized at the Ypsilanti Presbyterian Thursday.

The Enterprise says: "Brown is all the go, this fall." Yes—quite a masher among the frauleins.

S. Demuth, of Wampler's has rigged up a brush covered boat as an ambush from which to slay ducks.

Chas. Robison, of Manchester, drew a gun, last week, luckily without the slightest harm coming of it. He held No. 34.

Since James L. Cook purchased the Wright house in Chelsea, the property is looking up, as the house has been raised to two stories.

Alfred Gauss, of Bridgewater, suffers from a collision between himself and the hind foot of a horse. The horse was not injured.

The Ypsilanti bicycle club has $21 still in the treasury. That is enough for a wet banquet, where all might become "pneumatically tired."

Charles Schultz, of Dexter, scooted 110 miles on his bicycle, one recent Sunday. If the deed was as good as the day it was a good day's work.

Three barrels of clothing for the fire sufferers of Pine City, Minn., have been forwarded from Ypsilanti by the Presbyterian Home Missionary society.

The Ypsilantian says: Warren Lewis of this city and several other gentlemen have made arrangements to conduct a race meeting in the city of Mexico this winter.

We are all thinking that the way Charles Ashton is stepping around we will hear those wedding bells soon.—Free Church Cor. Commercial.—"Petah, go ring dem bells."

Earl Conklin and Will Emery, of Bridgewater, have gone to the north woods on a hunting expedition and will be absent a month, unless driven in by the ferocious and dangerous fox squirrel.

Mr. Henry Hoffman and Miss Bessie Faulkner, both of Sylvan, were married Wednesday, October 31, 1894, by Rev. Thomas Holmes, D. D., at his residence in Chelsea.—Chelsea Standard.

Michael Howe and Miss Mary Wade, of Chelsea, became one, last week. Who showed Michael Howe to Wade into matrimony? Note—This is an awful funny joke. Don't try to swallow it all at once: gurgle.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weir, of Bridgewater, recently celebrated their golden wedding with the assistance of about fifty relatives and friends. Numerous gifts were pleasing accompaniments of the occasion.

Amos Gregg, of Chelsea, who received an injury some time ago, has received a pair of crutches as a present from the K. O. T. M. The order has a reputation for helping a member on his legs when he gets down.

So many boys have walked into the Dexter town clerk's office for woodchuck and sparrow bounty orders that the floor was worn out and the clerk has laid a new one with the aid of a portion of his enormous revenue.

Geo. H. Hammond, of Ypsilanti, owns a four-ounce dog, which Hammond offers to bet can whip any dog of his size in the city or county. It is said to be great fun to witness the dog snatch the backing out of a tramp's trousers.

With his expiring breath, the calamitist of the Ypsilantian feebly yells: "While the people slept the enemy sowed tares. Oh, what a harvest has been gathered during the past two years!" O Tempora! O, Moses! O, Rats!

At the Orchard Lake military academy, on the 26th ult., Harry Kies, of Manchester, was made first lieutenant and quarter-master, making him the highest ranking first lieutenant in the school. Manchester mounts the pinnacle.

John and Anna Corliss, of Dexter, "trusted in Providence till the breeching broke" while on their way to school, recently, and both were thrown out. Neither were much injured, but it knocked out all the answers to their sums.

Barney Johnson, of Ypsilanti, turning his back on the prettiest young ladies of that city, went to Chicago on Sunday evening last week and was married to Miss Mary O'Neil. In the opinion of Mr. Johnson, the world's fair was yet to be seen in Chicago.

Pete O'Leary, the coon catcher of Wampler's lake, catches a coon nearly every night. He is willing to submit his record as a coon catcher, to competition with that of Rev. Dan Shier as a black bass angler. If the elder is ahead, Pete will dine him on roast coon. If the powers of Satan have triumphed and Pete is ahead, the preacher must trot out a bass fry.

The Chelsea lecture course started up, at a sprightly trot, with the Arion Entertainers.

Mrs. Emma W. Crane, wife of Chas. Crane, of Ypsilanti, died on Wednesday of last week.

The new Congregational church at Chelsea will probably be ready for dedication about the first of February.

The Sentinel calls him "Blue beard Spalding." Tonight he is expected to be in a position to personate one of "Bluebeard's" wives.

James Cavanaugh will rule the region of Sharon hill this winter, as schoolmaster. Sharon hill is thoroughly defended against the small-pox.

Will Hough, son of W. M. Hough, of Manchester, now located at Fort Wayne, Ind., has captured a bride at New Era, which opens a new era of prosperity for him.

A bouquet social will be held at the Dexter Congregational church, Nov. 7th. Defeated candidates will take notice, their campaign bouquets having withered.

Sulphur has been burned in the Manchester school buildings and if any small-pox germs were there they have certainly had a very "hereafter" time of it.

To Mrs. Harry A. Gilmore, of Ypsilanti—a son. Another addition to Gilmore's band.—Ann Arbor Argus. No, sir; this is the first.—Sentinel. Then the "addition" don't count.

The Herald writes up the business prospects of the village of Chelsea, in a cheering vein, and predicts a bright future. This is enough to make the dead body of the calamity-howler turn blue with anguish.

Mr. Gridley, of Ypsilanti town, on account of rain, postponed an auction sale to Nov. 6, which leads the Ypsilantian to remark: "Mr. Gridley understands what influence a republican victory will have on prices." Poor Gridley! Got to postpone his auction sale again, and indefinitely!

A vicious Hallowe'en was observed at Manchester, where not only plate glass was marked with dubious inscriptions, but out-houses were tipped over, and other property injured. In one instance, a carriage nearly new was taken from the shop and partly destroyed, the top and seat being broken off.

Fred Wyman has our thanks for a fine specimen of crude asbestos. It was found by him at Foster's, while excavating near the river, into which it had been thrown. It came originally from Canada, from whence a carload was brought by the Cornwall Paper Company for experiment some years ago.—Dexter Leader.

No new cases of small-pox or varioloid having appeared in Manchester, the health board last week proclaimed the quarantine raised. The sun again started on his journey, and public meetings and schools have been resumed. We repeat that it was very mean in the republicans to start the small-pox in Manchester for campaign purposes.

The Chelsea boys, charged with heaving formations of rock through Central train car windows, will be examined after election. It is understood that they will produce witnesses to prove that the car supposed to have been "dornicked" was in reality struck by a meteor and are willing to swear that they saw the meteor come down through the car.

The greatest eel trap, excepting one, ever known in the world, is the electric light water wheel at Manchester. The exception is in the case of the drowned man whose stomach proved to be full of eels. When the neighbors had recovered the body and emptied the eels they asked the widow what to do with it and received the tearful reply, "Set 'im again."

The six Smith sisters gave a charming concert at Ypsilanti, last week. According to the Ypsilantian, some of the young men, after seeing and hearing them, "wondered how it was possible that the name of all of them was still Smith." What a stupid lack of perspicuity! Don't they understand that a rose by another name would smell no sweeter?

A new road out of Manchester village, crossing the branch of the Lake Shore railway, has been laid out, passing east from the village a mile and joining the north and south road in Bridgewater. The Lake Shore people asked $600 for the right of way across their tracks, but it was finally secured by Attorney Waters for $15. This extensive reduction for cash is in keeping with a sale of a span of horses years ago by Uncle Charlie Redfield, of Adrian, who asked an eastern buyer $800 for a fine looking team. "I cannot offer you over $300, and I will give that," remarked the Bostonian. "Well," responded Uncle Charley, slowly and with apparent reluctance, "that is a — of a drop, but they're your horses!"

The revival meetings at Willis have closed.

Patrick O'Brien, of Ypsilanti, died Friday morning aged 61 years.

Oliver Twist, of Free Church, lost a horse the other day. This will cause Oliver Twist to "call for more."

A plum tree in Ypsilanti blossomed finely last week, and yet the Wilson bill had only begun to be operative.

G. W. Johnson, of Ypsilanti, recently married to a Chicago lady, is a "cold storage" man. Did the lady know that?

A lantern frightened the horse of Jay Dickerson, at Willis. The animal let drive with a heel and nearly broke the arm of Mrs. Dickerson.

The team of Ed McCrady, of Ypsilanti town, exercised him a little last week by running away and keeling him out, but without changing his politics.

The plate glass front of the Hawkins house barber shop, Ypsilanti, is stained with prismatic tints, and the fellow who wants a "flamingo" head can have it, or a "head" of any other kind.

Dr. Smith's chapel subject at the Normal recently was "Why Should a Person go to Europe?" No reason in the world. A little warm water and lobelia will make him just as sea sick, and they cost almost nothing.

A wagon solemnly occupied the porch of the Milan Baptist church, the morning after 'Hallowe'en. Who the "hounds" were who placed it there is not known as the wagon's tongue was silent and never a waeel spoke on the subject.

Dr. Boone, of the Normal, in his chapel talk, one morning last week, discoursed of the many illustrious deeds performed by young men between the ages of 15 and 30, but he never mentioned the exploits of one of Adrian's mayors.

A revival meeting and a republican rally at Milan ran opposition to each other, last Tuesday evening. The contrasts met with in the world are sometimes appalling. A minister at Milan led the saints and Cap. Allen the hosts of Satan.

An examination of our independent county exchanges, with republican editors, shows that it is easier to punch out a camel's eye with Cleopatra's needle than for one of said editors not to show his partisanship through his newspaper.

A tramp was stealing a ride on the freight train which smashed up near Ypsilanti, last week. After the crash was over, all that was visible of the tramp was a dirty streak across a field, so rapidly did he put distance between himself and recent danger.

On the 15th, Benj. S. Boyce, of the Peninsular paper company, of Ypsilanti, will be married to Miss Bertha Day, of Hudson. May he always have cause to bless the Day that honored him with such an alliance! Miss Day is an organist of talent.

Gypsies, in Free Church, proposed to purchase hay of F. Collins, and having loaded up with a fair sized jag of it offered Collins 25 cents. Collins as soon as he recovered from his fainting spell made the dirty faced Moors unload it and begone.

John Lee, a young physician of Chelsea, has looked Waterloo over and believes the people there need a certain kind of pills which he has in stock and a doctor that looks exactly like him, to feed them to them. He will respond to the Waterloo wish and show his ability.

There are said to be still a few vacant places in Dexter where hitching posts can be planted. It is a great question among horticulturists whether fall or spring is the best time to set hitching posts, and whether they should be allowed to stand out in the cold, unblanketed.

Alba Day, of Willis, obtained some notion of the velocity of a flying body the other day when a horse kicked him. He fell against a post and Dr. Post got hold of him post haste and sewed up the rip in his upper lip; but he is still hunting around for the tooth he lost in the excitement.

In clearing away the wreckage of the Ypsilanti opera house, destroyed by a cyclone, it is revealed that had the building been occupied when the 'clone struck it, death must have been the result to nearly all present. If only the bad actors could have been killed, the destruction of the opera house would not have been an unmitigated calamity.

A Chicago firm ordered of Davis & Co., of Ypsilanti, a barrel of what is known to the trade as milk pickpicks. They didn't sell, till by accident a lady who saw them exclaimed, "Why, that's just what I want, to pour batter for cakes from." The firm took the hint, changed the name to "batter pitchers," advertised them, and now the "batter pitchers" go off "like hot cakes."

Waterproof collars and cuffs that will not wilt, are not effected by moisture and look just like linen are all the fashion now. They are made by covering a linen collar or cuff with "celluloid" and are the only waterproof goods made with an interlining, consequently the only ones that will stand wear and give perfect satisfaction. Try them and you will never regret it. Always neat, and easily cleaned. When soiled simply wipe off with a wet cloth or sponge. Every piece of the genuine is stamped as follows:

Ask for those so marked and refuse any imitations, as they cannot possibly please you. If your dealer does not keep them, we will send a sample direct on receipt of price. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair. State size and whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

THE CELLULOID COMPANY, 427-429 Broadway, New York.

Typewriters of all makes—Caligraphs, Remingtons, Hammonds, Etc.—40 to 60 per cent. below manufacturers' prices. Machines rented at correspondingly low rates and, if purchased, will allow a month's rental to apply on price. TYPEWRITER EMPORIUM, 161 La Salle Street, Chicago. Mention this paper.

The Willis poet was not dead, but sleeping. He aroused from his long nap, glared at the overhead wall a few minutes and then bounded from his bed and wrote:

Willis is booming; C. H. is booming; The town. A close observation Down at the station Will show it That he does it up Brown.

The following are contestants in the poem and story event in the Normal News: From Athenium, poem, Mary T. Stout; story, Louise Harding. From Olympic, poem, Ella Gardner; story, Carrie Barber. From Crescent, poem, Dwight Kennedy; story, Miss Smith. From Adelpic, poem, Miss Culver; story, Henry Newcomb. O, the brain-rack and the headaches!

The Farm Home Reading Circle.

The Michigan Agricultural College has taken another step forward by inaugurating a college extension course of reading. This plan aims to furnish a systematic course of reading on subjects relating directly to agriculture and kindred subjects. While the course as planned recommends a progressive line of work, discussing first the underlying principles of agriculture, and later taking up special departments, yet it is largely elective and so flexible that a person interested in any branch of farming may select books pertaining only to his chosen line. For example, the class devoted to live stock aims to give a general knowledge of feeding, breeding and handling of horses, cattle, sheep and swine, and includes also a book on dairying. If, for any reason, the reader does not desire to take all the work in the class devoted to live stock and is especially interested in dairying, he may select only that portion relative to dairy work, and receive proper credit.

The course comprises five classes, Soils and Crops, Live Stock, Garden and Orchard, Home Making and Political Science. Certificates are given on the completion of the work outlined in each book and class, and on the completion of three classes the reader is presented with an appropriate diploma. The examinations are all optional, and any person may read in the course without sending in reports or taking examinations of any kind.

This course was but recently established, yet it has readers all over the United States and Canada, and the great interest manifested by all those who are now enjoying its opportunities is a good indication of its value. Its popularity arises from the fact that it is prepared for busy men; it is short, practical and instructive; it offers a scheme of advisory correspondence with the college authorities which makes it possible to become intimately acquainted with the work of the experiment stations.

Send a postal card to the Secretary for full information regarding this course.

The Toledo football team took dinner and supper at the Cook house on their way to and from Ypsilanti, Saturday.

Bicyclists of Ypsilanti humbly pray the council to so mitigate the city ordinance as to inflict the death penalty only in case of certain streets named.

The Cornells, last Saturday, defeated the Michigans, at Ithaca, in the football game of that day, 22 to 0. The game was hard fought but Michigan was "not in it" this time.

At the high school Friday evening, Miss Mary E. Dickey gave an interesting discourse on her travels in Europe, and Sidney Morse, the Chicago sculptor gave illustrations in the art of drawing.

Miss Alice Cramer, who is assistant principal in the schools of Ishpeming, has also a music class in Marquette, and has just been engaged at a salary of $200 a year, to sing in the Presbyterian church in that city.

November 29th has been set apart by the highest temporal authority of the nation and state as the day of thanksgiving, and turkey eating, to be followed next day by an increased run of business by the doctors. Their Thanksgiving begins where that of other people ends.

In the game of football, last Friday, at Adrian, between the college team of that city and the U. of M. Reserves, the Reserves "flabbergasted" their opponents to the tune of 16 to 4. The Adrian Telegram speaks of it as a very spirited contest.

For the oratorical contest the executive board of the association have decided that all who desire to enter the lists must hand in their names by February 1st, and all orations by February 10. The association is trying to secure Congressman Davis, of Minnesota, as one of its speakers.

At the University freshman spread at Granger's academy, Friday evening, given by the sophomore girls, a vast throng of the "world's fair"—even about 500—asssembled. The juniors and seniors escorted the freshmen to the refreshments, each having in her especial charge one freshman—or freshwoman—as you please.

Michael J. Kearns having had some trouble with his son, a lad who is going to school, he locked up his clothes. Patrick Brennan went to see why this was thus, and was assaulted. He has had Michael arrested, and he will be tried on the 7th. He had a loaded "dissolver" and a pocket full of knives when arrested.

Mr. William Morris, who appears in Ann Arbor on Thursday evening, Nov. 8, has created a furore by the vigor and the natural tint of his impersonation of the character of Reuben Warner in that powerful drama, "The Lost Paradise." The prices are, parquet, $1; parquet circle, 75 cents; gallery, 50 and 35 cents.

It is thought that the sewer contractors took their jobs at figures so low that to get out whole, only men who are able to dance the juber at a lively gait, must be employed as laborers. There have been some discharges of help, that is rated as worth less than $1.50 per day. The city gains what the contractors fail to make.

At a spirited senior law class election, last week, E. M. Walsh, of Hawaii, was chosen president by the close vote of 109 to 101. It had been generally predicted that Hawaii would come under a United States president, but here it is the other way. Mr. Walsh is a heavy capitalist in Hawaiian sugar interests, and was the Hawaiian commissioner to the World's Fair, at the close of which he took up his residence in Ann Arbor and entered on a course of law studies.

TOMORROW'S FIGHT

Speculation on the Result of the Ballot Battle.

NEW YORK THE CENTER OF INTEREST

Latest Claims of What the Majorities Will Be—A Wide Difference in the Figures, as Usual—Washington Wisecracks Make Predictions on the Next Congress—Chicago Leaders admit That the Fight There Is a Close One—In Other States.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—From all parts of the political field the facts that show that a great campaign has about been closed are in evidence; orators who have been out for weeks doing service for their party on the stump are hastening home to vote; officials who wish to have that privilege are doing likewise, and the candidates have followed suit, or arrived at important party headquarters to be ready to put in tomorrow night finding out their fate. As Manley, of Maine, said at New York last night the "Empire State is still the pivotal state," and the interest in the contest there is increased by the fight that was forced on David Bennett Hill.

How They Figure at Washington.

The campaign being closed, or practically so, at this writing, the leaders are now figuring on the result. Washington is the headquarters of the two congressional committees and there the figuring is all on the fifty-fourth congress. Faulkner, of the Democratic committee, says the Democrats will have an ample majority in the house and cannot see how the Republicans can have any hope of obtaining a majority. On the other hand Chairman Babcock, of the Republican congressional committee, believes the Republicans will have 190 members in the next house at least, and he thinks they may do better than that. Faulkner bases his belief on the improvement in business and Babcock says there is not enough improvement to give the Democrats any comfort.

Claim of the Populists.

Meanwhile Taubeneck, of the Populist campaign committee, clings to the prediction that his party will hold the balance of power in both houses. As to the senate Taubeneck's belief is endorsed by Chairman Manley, of the Republican national committee, in an interview at New York. He says that the Populists will have the balance of power in the senate for two years. He says Tillman's election to the senate from South Carolina is assured, which will give the Populists six votes in that house, while he claims that after March 4 next the Republicans will have forty-two and the Democrats forty in that body.

Prospects in the Empire State.

The game of politics at New York city is the great bone of contention among the wisest across there. The A. P. A. business has been exploited very fully by the Democratic orators also, and this fact has brought out a letter from Father Young, of the Paulists church at New York, in which he advises Roman Catholics to vote the Democratic ticket. In reply to this Archbishop Ireland has published a letter taking the opposite ground and giving opposite advice. The figures on the vote at New York are as follows: The Democrats claim 60,000 for Hill there, while those opposed to Hill will give him no more than 40,000, and Republicans claim the election of Morton by 50,000, and say he will come to the Harlem with 100,000 majority.

City Ticket at New York.

The latest estimates are printed by The World which says that the Democrats claim Hill's election by 21,825, and the Republicans claim Morton's by 55,025. The Democratic opponents of Tammany are figuring on a majority against its candidates of 30,000, while the supporters of Tammany insist that an old-time majority for its ticket will be surely cast. As to congressmen nobody is making estimates, but both parties are claiming the victory.

IN SOME WESTERN STATES.

Both Parties Concede a Close Vote at Chicago—Kansas and Colorado.

The situation in this city as gathered by information given out by those who claim to know how the cat will jump leads to the belief that the vote here will be close. Both parties claim the city, but the labor vote this year is more of a puzzle than heretofore. The Populists held a rousing meeting Saturday night, preceded by a parade in which it is estimated 20,000 took part, and at the meeting the great building occupied by Tattersall's horse market was packed. As to the state, the Republicans are confident of reclaiming it and the Democrats insist that they will clinch their hold.

Telegrams from Denver give the usual conflicting views as to how Colorado will go. Both the Republicans and Populists claim that they will carry the state. Irving Howbert, chairman of the Republican state committee, says a canvass of the entire state has convinced him that the Republican state ticket will have a plurality of 15,000 to 20,000, and the legislature and congressional delegation will go the same way. On the other hand Chairman Clark, of the Populist committee, says the Populist state ticket will have 20,000 plurality and that the Populists will control the legislature which will elect a successor to Senator Wolcott, and get the two congressmen.

The Kansas campaign has closed with both the Republicans and Populists claiming the election of their entire state ticket. Chairman Leland, of the Republican committee, claims that Merrill will have 30,000 plurality. He asserts that the Republicans will elect eighty representatives, so that a Republican United States senator will be chosen to succeed John Martin. Chairman Breidenthal, of the Populist committee, says Lewelling will be elected by 16,000 plurality; that the Populists will elect eighty representatives, thus giving the Populists who control the senate, a majority on joint ballot. The Democrats content themselves with claiming the balance of power in the legislature.

Utah is a state that gets a good deal of attention because it is claimed that the party that carries it will hold it for years, the belief being based on the claim that the election will show the political leanings of the Mormons. The result is of more interest because it is also claimed that it involves the control of Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and Arizona, while the Mormon vote is strong. The battle was fought on the tariff question, both parties being alike on silver, and all that can be said is that the fight has been hot, and both parties are claiming the victory.

As to Indiana, nothing has been left undecided either party that could tend toward success. General Harrison's visit to Anderson and other places on his journey home from New York showed that the Republicans are enthusiastic and very much alive, while the night meeting of Democrats at Anderson, addressed by Byrum and others, after Harrison had spoken there in the afternoon, was a very large and enthusiastic affair. Today the managers of the two parties are engaged in perfecting arrangements to bring out the vote. The Populists are serene, and figure not on electing anybody so much as a big increase in their vote. Indications are for a big vote for an off year.

Governor McKinley will make the last speech of his remarkable campaign at his home, Canton, O., tonight. As soon as he has voted he will go to Columbus to wait for the returns and get a rest. Pennsylvania Republicans claim 200,000 majority, while the Democrats say the majority will be considerably less than that for Grow in 1893. Georgia Populists claim that they will elect several representatives in congress. The Minnesota result lies between the Populists and Republicans on governor, with the Populists very hopeful of success on governor. The Republicans, however, will concede nothing, and claim seven representatives. Democrats claim two—Hall and Baldwin.

Is an Up-to-Date Politician.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A local newspaper which has been investigating the matter finds that fifty-seven Chinese have registered in the city of San Francisco and will vote at the coming election. They are all Chinese who claim to have been born on American soil. The Mongolian electors, it is said, have formed an organization and elected a "boss" and from his headquarters in Chinatown the "boss" has announced that he is ready to "make arrangements" with the men who are doing politics in the interest of various candidates.

Secretary Gresham Not Likely to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Secretary Gresham continues to improve, although he still suffers from a disagreeable cold. His physician has advised him against going to Chicago to vote Tuesday, saying the trip would be dangerous. It is not likely, therefore, that the secretary will make the trip. The only two cabinet officers who are sure to vote, nothing happening to prevent, are Lamont and Bissell.

Down in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The congressional campaign in this state has been the most active for years. The Democrats claim that they will send a solid delegation to congress from Louisiana. On the other hand the sugar planter Republicans claim they will carry the Second and Third districts sure, and hope to defeat General Meyer in the First by the election of Kernochan.

EARTHQUAKE PANIC IN MEXICO.

The Capital City Seriously Shaken Up and Many Casualties Reported.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 5.—The strongest earthquake shocks ever felt in Mexico, lasting over five minutes, have followed those reported in these dispatches last week. Many houses and walls fell. The streets were full of fleeing people. Many were wounded, and a number have died. The electric and other lights went out, leaving the city in darkness. All traffic was suspended. The streets were filled with screaming, crying and praying people. The scene was indescribable. People in the theatres, which were all running at the time, were terribly frightened, and panics were averted only by the police.

At Orin theatre "Juan Tenorio" was being given, and in the grave yard scene, the people, naturally superstitious, saw the statues move and screamed that the end of the world had come and fled. People in trains were the most frightened of all. All telephonic connections were interrupted. The shocks were felt in the surrounding towns, but details are not received yet.

FIRE A FATAL BULLET.

One Student at Lincoln, Ill., Killed by Another by Accident.

LINCOLN, Ill., Nov. 5.—Vivian Church was killed by a revolver shot fired by a fellow student. Church was 18 years old, a student at the college, and came from Fairmount, Ills. He, with other students, had been throwing water into the room of two of their fellows. One of those, R. G. Schafer, whose home is in Petersburg, Ind., fired through the window in order to frighten them, expecting the shot to pass harmlessly into the air; but just then his young schoolmate rushed past. The shot passed through Church's body just above the heart, and the boy died in a few minutes. Schafer, who is 23 years old, and was preparing himself for the ministry, surrendered to the sheriff immediately after the shooting. At night, however, he was released from custody by the verdict of the coroner's jury, which exonerated him from any criminal intent.

SETS ASIDE THE PRECEDENT.

Secretary Carlisle Gives a New Reading to the Alien Labor Law.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Secretary Carlisle has written to Commissioner Stump, instructing him to release John J. Howard, Levi P. Morton's coachman, as one not coming under the prohibition of the alien contract labor law. Howard has been released, and the incident has ended. In his letter the secretary says: "The decisions of Secretary Windom, March 22, 1890 (S. 9019), and Assistant Secretary Spaulding, April 30, 1891 (S. 11,015), that immigrants who come here under employment strictly as domestic or personal servants' cannot be lawfully permitted in the country, or permitted to remain here unless they actually come with their employers, are not approved, and will not hereafter be regarded as precedents by the immigration officials attached to this department."

Bursting Boiler Costs Three Lives.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—A Commercial Gazette special from Van Wert, O., says: "The boiler in Foust's grain elevator at Grover Hill, near here, gave way under a heavy pressure of steam. Foust, the proprietor, and McDown, the engineer, and his son, aged 18, were working near the boiler at the time. The boy was killed instantly, while the two former will probably die. The building was completely wrecked."

Saloonkeeper Shoots an Officer.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 5.—Officer Joseph Seyler, of the Peoria police force, was shot and instantly killed by Husel Hoppmeyer, a saloonkeeper of Bartonville. The officer was sent to Bartonville to arrest Husel Hoppmeyer, Jr. for the theft of a bicycle. An altercation took place, and four shots were fired by the saloonkeeper and all took effect. The murderer was secured without resistance and is now lodged in the jail.

CARELESS ABOUT THE TEETH.

The Great Majority Are Negligent in This Important Matter.

Much has been and will be written on the care of the teeth because so many persons do not appreciate these valuable organs of mastication. If teeth are well cared for and regularly inspected by the dentist, decay will hardly have an opportunity to do great harm before it is stopped. Decay often has its beginning in bits of food sticking between the teeth and forming the starting point of a diseased tooth.

The toothpick should be used regularly after each meal and after eating. It need not necessarily be employed during a meal or be carried like a cigar in the mouth after eating, but in the privacy of one's room the quill toothpick should search out each corner and angle between the teeth, and all foreign matter should be removed; then the toothbrush should be used, and, as the spaces between the teeth are vertical in a standing person, so the toothbrush should be used up and down rather than across, so that fresh water may be scrubbed between each tooth.

The toothbrush that shed bristles are not desirable articles of the toilet, for not only are the loose bristles a great annoyance, but they may even work in between the teeth and in the gums and cause painful points. Such loose bristles usually come from cheap brushes or those used for too long a time.

These injunctions about the care of the teeth have to be repeated again and again, because it is such a matter of everyday observance that persons careful in other matters are careless about their teeth. As the teeth are not only very visible, and when in a bad state very prominent, but are aids to digestion, and if imperfect may lead to dyspepsia and kindred troubles, they should be scrupulously cared for.—Popular Health Magazine.

WASHINGTON IRVING TO POE.

A Letter Full of Genial Criticism and Friendly Counsel.

Poe had through life the habit of sending his better tales and poems to distinguished literary men and soliciting thereby their attention, writes Professor George E. Woodberry in The Century in presenting some of Poe's unpublished correspondence relating to his residence in Philadelphia.

He kept the replies and was thus enabled to append to Hirst's biography of him in the Philadelphia Saturday Museum a long list of encomiums in addition to such as had been publicly made. The following letter from Washington Irving was written in acknowledgment of "William Wilson," which had followed the "House of Usher," as a means of introduction, and the substance of it, much altered and somewhat garbled, appeared in the list referred to and affords a striking instance of how Poe dealt with such correspondence:

NEWBERG, Nov. 6, 1839.

DEAR SIR—The magazine you so kind as to send me, being directed to New York, instead of Tarrytown, did not reach me for some time. This, together with an unfortunate habit of procrastination, must plead my apology for the tardiness of my reply. I have read your little tale of "William Wilson" with much pleasure. It is managed in a highly picturesque style, and the singular and mysterious interest is well sustained throughout. I repeat what I have said in regard to a previous production, which you did me the favor to send me, that I cannot but think a series of articles of like style and merit would be extremely well received by the public. I could add for your private ear that I think the last tale much the best in regard to style. It is simpler. In your first you have been too anxious to present your picture vividly to the eye, or too distrustful of your effect, and have laded on too much coloring. It is erring on the safe side—the side of "insurance." That tale might be improved by relieving the style from some of the epithets. There is no danger of destroying its graphic effect, which is powerful. With best wishes for your success, I am, my dear sir, yours respectfully,

WASHINGTON IRVING.

The Small Things.

"I don't think any nation pays more attention to military affairs than Germany," said a German citizen. "Things of seeming little importance connected with the army are investigated with the greatest pains. Many years ago the matter of boot heels was taken up. What height of heel was best for the infantry? A commission was appointed. One heel after another was tried, and a record of how far the soldiers could march a day in each was kept. Years piled on years, the commission carrying on the investigation with the care and exactitude of a chemical analysis. Constant improvements were made, and the distance an army could march in a day was thereby increased. At length the suggestion of a heel partly made of rubber was put forth. It was tried—instantaneous success! It was found that a regiment using such heels could march one-third farther a day and with less fatigue than when the investigation was begun. A small thing that to begin with, but what an important part the improved heel would play in a war!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The King of Plows.

The largest plow in the world perhaps is owned by Richard Gird of San Bernardino county, Cal. This immense sod turner stands 18 feet high and weighs 36,000 pounds. It runs by steam, is provided with 12 12-inch plowshares and is capable of plowing 60 acres of land per day. It consumes from 1 to 1½ tons of coal per day and usually travels at the rate of four miles an hour.—St. Louis Republic.

A Lost Fortune.

He—That fellow over there cheated me out of a cool $30,000.

She—How could he?

He—He wouldn't let me marry his daughter.—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

In Jewish marriages the woman is always placed to the right of her mate. With every other nation of the world her place in the ceremony is to the left.

Portland, Or., is said to have 120 millionaires.

DEATH OF EDITOR WALTER.

Chief Proprietor of the Greatest Newspaper in Europe.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—John Walter is dead. He was one of the few men who controlled the course of the greatest newspaper in Europe—the London Times—and was the principal owner of the property which is probably the most valuable newspaper property in the world. The Walters have always owned a majority of stock of the Times since John Walter in 1793 published the first number of the paper.

The only two other men who have any personal interest in the publication of the great journal are J. C. McDonald, the publisher, and M. de Blowitz, the Paris correspondent. Probably the only blunder the Times ever made, from a newspaper point of view, was believing Pigott when he told his story about Parnell, and that blunder cost it heavily, both in money and prestige.

John Walter was born in London in 1818. He received a preparatory education at Eton and was graduated with honors at Exeter college, Oxford. In 1843 he was made master of arts, and in 1847 was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn. Since that year he had been a member of almost every parliament elected. He lived in excellent style and entertained on a scale of magnificence that was not exceeded except by the duke of Westminster. His wealth was estimated in the millions.

DEATH OF PHILIP A. HOYNE.

A Chicagoan Who Was Well Known by a Host of People.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Philip A. Hoyne, "Uncle Phil," as he was known all over this city, is dead, after a residence of fifty years in this city and "hereabouts." That is to say he did not live here continuously, having tried life at Galena, this state, and St. Louis, Mo. He had lived here, however, for more than forty years and since 1855 had been a United States commissioner. He was nearly 70 years old, having been born at New York Nov. 20, 1824.

The illness which resulted fatally began but a few days ago. Thursday last he appeared to be getting stronger and expressed a hope that he would be able to return to his desk in the Federal building the next morning. But when Friday morning came he had suffered a relapse and was compelled reluctantly to give up the idea of re-urging to work. All day Friday he grew worse, and the physicians that evening abandoned hope of saving his life. He continued to sink rapidly until death came before the dawn Saturday morning.

MATCH FOR THREE BURGLARS.

A Denver Woman Makes a Brave Fight Against Thugs.

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Mrs. James D. Scott, wife of the proprietor of the Capital Turf Exchange, vanquished three burglars who broke into her house, after a desperate fight in which she was seriously injured. One of the men was armed with a revolver, another with a slungshot, and the third with a billy. With their weapons they rained blow after blow upon her head, arms and body, but she fought so energetically and raised such an outcry that they beat a retreat without taking any of the jewelry or other valuables lying about.

The battle lasted nearly ten minutes, but Mrs. Scott did not faint until her assailants were gone. An hour elapsed before she revived sufficiently to give an account of the affair. She is a handsome woman of 45 six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. She was alone in the house reading in bed when the burglars assaulted her.

Sims Sues the "Protectives."

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The dissensions in the ranks of the American Protective association over the nomination of the Independent American ticket has ended by bringing the matter into court. Professor Sims, chairman of the Independent American party committee, filed a bill for an injunction against President Johnson and the officers of the state association to restrain the officials from disbaring him from the council chambers of the order. Professor Sims says he will follow up the suit with another seeking damages of $100,000 from the state body for defamation of character and for injuring his standing as a lecturer.

Extends the Classified Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The president has signed several orders of importance in connection with the civil service reform movement, making important extensions of the classified service and revising existing classifications so as to bring within the classification many places heretofore excluded. The order covers the customs, Washington departments, postal service, and Indian service. Other changes, involving an extension of the classification, are still under consideration and only await arrangement of minor details through conference between the civil service commission and the heads of various departments.

A Mammoth Bargain Sale of Fall Merchandise and Staples

Here this week, calculated to outdo anything in the history of the county's retailing. It reduces thousands of items to prices never before known. THE STORE has boasted of many great sales, but the people of this community have never been invited to such a sweeping---all covering---record breaking---genuine money saving event as this.

Another Deep Cut of Dress Goods.

Enormous as has been our Sales in our Dress Goods Department, the inroad made in our vast purchases is scarcely preceptable, while we realize that the season is rapidly passing---only two months more---are left in which every yard of Dress Goods must be sold---60 busy days we must have in our Dress Goods Department. The knife sinks deeper into every price. It is a question how much we can sell---not of profits. Choice Fabrics bought at half their value, selling at half their value, must go still lower.

Another Great Fur Sale--Wait For It. FRIDAY & SATURDAY, NOV. 9 & 10

Ripson & Newland, of New York, will have on sale at The Store their entire line of Fur Garments, Alaska Seal, Mink, Marten, Astrachan, Wool Seal, and all the cheaper furs---will be sold at  $\frac{1}{4}$  off the regular retail price.

BLACK DRESS GOODS

Our only apology for making the sweeping reductions in Black Dress Goods is---we do not want to make this popular department of The Store an exception in our great pushing-out of goods, staple and desirable every month in the year. These goods are not exempt from the general demoralization of prices throughout The Store.

TO THE VICTOR BELONGS THE SPOILS.

This maxim can truly be applied to The Store. There's a cause for our continually having the lion's share of Washtenaw's trade. There's a reason for our constant, steady uninterrupted growth. There's a Magnet that draws the greatest crowds here. That Magnet is Price, and the fact we divide the spoils with our patrons. Our great purchases of merchandise at discounts of 25 and 50 per cent. from nearly bankrupt manufacturers and importers are winning golden results. Never, never could we save you as much money as we can now. No concern in this State is in a position to sell you at prices that we can and will.
