TUESDAY, APRIL 23, 1895.

Every year marks an advance in the directon of more scientific farming. The constantly sharpening competition, together with the accompanying fall of prices and the necessity of renewing exhausted lands, make this imperative. As a result farmers are giving more and more attention to the study of means whereby the productiveness of the farm in all lines may be increased and made to render the greatest returns for the time and money expended. In response to this need, experimental and practice schools, dealing with all phases of farm economy are being established and are constantly broadening their sphere of usefulness. Among the best of the schools of this class may be mentioned the Michigan Agricultrial college and the Wisconsin Dairy school. This latter school in the novelty of its purpose and unusual methods and equipment is most interesting. Like all tech- people, nical schools it is expensive, but the advantages resulting to the dairy interests of the state are considered adequate return for all it costs. The main building of the school cost $40,000 and is equipped with an office, a room with lockers where the students keep their work clothes, bath rooms, a laboratory and lectute room, class room where instruction is given in farm dairying, a cheese making room and a large creamery room. The equipment of each room is complete in the line of what is needed for that department. The cream room for instance has a half dozen large separators, of the most improved pattern, for study and practice. In addition there are churns, butter workers, etc. In the cheese room there are eight vats, steam heated, with a capacity of three hundred pounds and complete cheese making apparatus. The school day begins at 8 in the morning and the first exercise is a lecture, after which follows the practical work. While one section is instructed in milk testing another is delving in the mysteries of the creamery. The school uses in its work about two and a half tons of milk per day. The school will accommodate one hundred students and the course of study extends over twelve weeks. The institution is provided with a corps of eight lecturers and nine teachers. When a student has passed all his examinations he may become a candidate for a dairy certificate. Before he can secure it, however, he must work two full sessions of seven months each in a cheese factory or dairy, during one of which he must have full charge and be responsible for the cleanliness and general success of the insttuton. He must also make monthly reports and submit to inspectton by an authorized inspector. Having fulfilled satisfactorily all requirements, he receives a certificate. Finally there is a department of farm dairying in which students receive in struction in practical farm darying. Here they receve instruction also on feeding and breeding of dairy stock and general farm management. This is undoubtedly one of the most successful schools of its kind in America.

Advocates of free coinage of silver on the ratio of 16 to 1, while claiming to want the white metal restored to the position, and consequently the value, it had before the act of 1873, make the strongest point of their argument the allegation that such a policy would enable the debtor to pay his debts with half the effort he can now-in otherwords their financial scheme is based upon class distinctions, without reference to the underlying interests of the whole people.

Again they evidently overlook the fact that silver with the value restored to it that it had before demonetization, and cheap 50 cent dollars are incompatible. The silver of those days was not cheap money, neither would there be any advantage to the debtor, as such, in the restoration of such conditions now. It would not furnish any relief to him who is striving for cheap money. Then, silver restored to its market value would be of no advantage to silverites, as money, nor do they desire silver on a parity with gold. There would be no advantage to silver men or debtors in this over existing conditions. What they do want, according to their own words, is cheap or 50 cent dollars with the government fiat on them compelling their reception in the payment of a DOWNONTHE G. A. R. dollar of indebtedness. But even this would not be an unmixed advantage to the farmer debtor and others who are had in mind as debtors in common parlance. According to the sacred 'Coin's Financial School," this class of debtors does not owe to exceed one sixteenth of the total indebtedness. By far the greater part of the remainder is owed by the great railroads. It has been estimated that the payment of their obligations in depreciated silver would be a saving to them and a corresponding loss to others of something like $3,000,000,000.

The same process of scaling downwould overtake the pensioner who would have his pension cut in two; likewise the person who holds an accident, life or fire insurance policy, would find it shrinking to one-half its present value. Savings deposits would be paid

It should be remembered also that the purchasing power of the dollar would only be half as great as now. From all these illustrations it will appear that this money question must not be settled from a single point of view alone, or from the effect that it may have on a certain class of people only, but rather from the broader view of what will be of the greatest good of the whole people. A policy which will advance the interests of the United Satees will be for the welfare of the

The Argentine Republic is becoming great exporter of meat. Last year she shipped to England 1,675,600 frozen sheep, 90,000 live sheep, 29,000 quarters of frozen beef and 28,000 live bullocks. Her climate is such as to enable her to produce and fatten cattle and sheep more cheaply than any other country. On account of the rich native grasses that cover her plains and the mildness of her winters, but little artificial food is required. The best pedigee cattle from England have been introduced during the past few years and these Shorthorns and Herefords have been crossed with the native criollo cattle, producing a magnificent stock weighing on the average more than 1100 pounds. The best of the locks are sent to England. Many are also sent to Brazlian ports. The value of these shipments from Argentne ports last year was upwards of $5,000,000. This Argentne beef is not held in as high favor as United States beef, and loes not sell for as much—there being a difference of from 1d, to 11/2d per pound. It has not as bright a color and is not as rich as the corn fed meat, being purely grass fed. Nevertheless it s of good quality. The Argentine sheep are better and command the same price as Canadian sheep.

Let the silver statesmen who insist that silver is a barometer by whch the prices of all other commodities are accurately gauged, rise up and explain the recent rise in the prices of cotton, beef, petroleum and wheat. Since the first of March cotton has gone up twenty-five per cent. The advance has also been accompanied by an advance in the manufactured product . The rise of petroleum has been even more sensational. Cash wheat has gained ten cents and beef is out of sight. Pig iron is likewise up fifty cents a ton. Is this due to while the balance will found a new the depreciation of gold or to the appreciation of silver? Let the silverites show the application of their theory to these conditions or admit that the rising market is a heavy blow to free

Col. Waring, Gotham's Street Cleaning Commissioner.

Expresses Himself Freely Regarding the Law Requiring the Employment of Old Soldiers and Says the Grand Army is a Lot of "Pension Bummers" - General Sickles' Criticism of the Golonel-The Scheme to Settle Veterans in Georgia.

NEW YORK, April 22.-Colonel George E. Waring, the commissioner of street cleaning, has become involved in a bitter quarrel with a Grand Army veteran, and incidentally has brought the wrath of the entire organization on his head. In a conversation with Dr. John Wilson Gibbs, formerly of the health department and commander of the E. D. Morgan Grand Army post, the matter of employing veterans in his department came up. Colonel Waring became excited, and in a report of the conversation is said to have back to the one who earned them in drunken bums." Dr. Gibbs was exceeddollars worth one half as much as those ingly angry and threatened to call the colonel publicly to account. Colonel Waring says he did not call the veterans drunken bums, but admits in a card that he did say he regarded "the G. A. R. as a lot of pension bummers," which will be pretty nearly as bad for him so far as the vets are concerned.

The Interview with Dr. Gibbs. In his card the colonel says that Gibbs called on him, told him, that he (Gibbs) had had a bill passed by the legislature compelling the employment of Union veterans, and then and there made "application for a $1,200 place, and he de manded his appointment. * * * Dr. Gibbs said that he was a captain of cavalry and that he took John Morgan. The official certificate of veteranship on which he bases his application for a position shows that he was discharged from the service in January, 1866, as a sergeant of infantry and that he had entered as an enlisted man in April, 1865." The colonel then said to Gibbs that such legislation was an injury to veterans; he (the colonel) never appointed a veteran without telling him he did so with regret because of the difficulty of getting rid of him should he prove unsatisfactory.

He told Gibbs he (the colonel) was not a Grand Army man and would not be. The colonel then closes as follows: "To avoid the necessity for recurring to this subject, I may as well say that my statement concerning the Grand Army of the Republic was deliberately made; that organization has, in my judgment, sold itself for cash to the claim agents of Washington. Because of its nefarious action the workingmen of this country are now paying annually $100,000,000 more in pensions than they ought to be paying.

Comments of Gen. Sickles.

General Daniel E. Sickles was seen at his home at 23 Fifth avenue. He expressed himself as follows: "Colonel Waring ought to be ashamed of himself for using such language. It is a shame that such a creature should hold office in New York. Although he is called a colonel, his language would indicate that he has never been a soldier. At any rate, he does not seem to have any of the instincts of a brave soldier. There is not anything in the street cleaning department or anywhere else too good for the men he slanders. The policy he spits upon is part of the laws of the United States and of the state of New York. He has taken an oath to support those laws and to administer his department in accordance with them. Let him do so and shut his mouth."

VETERANS SHOULD BE CAREFUL.

ment of Old Soldiers in Georgia.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22.-A telegram from Baltimore says: "Ex-Governor Northen, who is at the head of the Georgia bureau of immigration, telegraphs The Manufacturers' Record, of this city, that he has secured a site for a settlement of 14,000 veterans of the late war and their familles in sonthern Georgia. This colony has been organized by P. H. Fitzgerald and others, of Indianapolis, and will comprise old soldiers from various sections. It is called the Soldiers' Colony club and embraces tarmers, mechanics, and men in the various professions. large proportion of the people will locate on small farms in the territory selected,

At the recent encampment of the Georgia Grand Army a statement was adopted in reference to the immigration of old soldiers to that state, which says that having heard that large numbers of old soldiers are contemplating going to Georgia to find homes the Georgia G. A. R. deems it a duty to call attention to certain facts, which are, in brief, that there are large tracts of land in Georgia which are held under fraudulent grants; that the traffic in these fraudulent titles and the efforts to unload them upon innocent parties has been so great and widespread that Secretary of State Cook, of Georgia, has felt it his duty to issue a circular calling special attention to these frauds. It is urged that those contemplating going to Georgia for homes read this circular carefully, and a copy of it is made part of the statement. Old soldiers are informed, however, that there is a hearty welcome to all who go to Georgia. The statement emphasizes the possible dangers comrades may incur in becoming freeholders of the state of Georgia, and assures the veterans that there is desirable land in Georgia sufficient in quantity to furnish a great army of old soldiers with good farms, the titles of which are perfect. Mr. Fitzgerald said that this circular was the work of an agent through whom the sale was not made. He said the purchase was subject to a good and sufficient title which is yet subject to the approval of attorneys specially selected to Wisconsin Legislature Adjourns.

MADISON, April 22 .- In accordance with the resolution concurred in by the two houses the Wisconsin legislature went out of existence Saturday noon. The aggregate of the appropriations by the legislature is a little in excess of $1,400,000, but out of this sum nearly $800,000 is for the support of the various charitable and penal institutions for the ensuing two years. Among the most important laws passed was that establishing a board of arbitration for the purpose of settling disputes between employers and employes and to prevent labor disturbances.

Bosen't Believe the Price of the Precious

Metals Can He Fixed.

WASHINGTON, April 23 -Secretary Morton in an interview on the silver question said: "I do not believe that an international congress can establish permanently writing of the ultra free silver men, HIS INTERVIEW WITH DR. GIBBS. a commercial ratio between gold and silver any more than it can establish a permanent commercial ratio between ry and wheat. But if an international con ference can fix the price in gold or silvet it can also fix the price of wheat or of any other commodity.

"My own judgment is that we must sooner or later declare that the United States of America recognizes gold as the best and least fluctuating measure of value and medium of exchange which th commerce of civilization has thus far utilized. It is barely possible the financial fallacies of the Populists may temporarily secure a majority of the voters of the United States. Should such a catastrophe overtake the country the people must learn by experience what they should have learned by diligent study and reason.

The time for straidlers has passed. These who are for a sound currency on a gold basis ought to have the courage to say so and abide by the results of their declaration. * * * I have no hesitation in declaring myself utterly opposed to all the free coinage fallacies. The president's critics, however, ask what 'sound money is? An ordinary man of business may answer that question.

"'Sound money' is that sort of cur-rency which has the most universal and least fluctuating purchasing power in the markets of all countries. That money is the 'soundest' for which throughout the commerce of the civilized world there is the most universal demand. And that universal demand is always based upon the universal and unfluctuating purchasing power of that money

Kansas City Live Stock, Exchange Sends a

Telegram to the Secretary. KANSAS CITY, April 23 .- At a meeting of the members of the Kansas City Live Stock exchange the action of Secretary Morton in regard to the recent advance in the price of meats was up for disaussion. At its conclusion Secretary R. P. Woodbury was directed through the board of directors to send Secretary Morton the following telegram: the members of the Kansas City Live Stock exchange, have noticed with profound regret the newspaper agitation about the cost of live stock and the unwarranted and untrue statements made

"Alleged conversations with you of a proposed investigation have been the basis of a series of newspaper articles which have had the effect of causing the market for live stock to be unwarrantably agitated. We can only attribute this and its consequent serious loss to the direct results of reports alleged to originate from your department concerning investigations you propose to make Prices of live stock have decreased correspondingly with the consumption of beef, and we therefore respectively protest against the widespread agitation for which your department seems responsible and respectfully suggest that investigation be made quickly and without further harmful agitation. We court a full and thorough investigation of all interests connected with the live stock market."

JOHN L. DOES A BRAVE DEED. Burns His Hands Badiy in Saving a Woman from Death by Fire.

Boston, April 22.-Ex-Champion John L. Sullivan has distinguished himself as a life saver. As John was leaving his boarding house on Dover street he heard a woman scream in the rear of the house. He ran down the stairway and saw at once there was a fire in the kitchen and that Mrs. Margaret Donnelly, the cook, was in danger of being burned to death, her clothing having been ignited by blaz- is treacherous and disloyal to the Demoing fat on the stove.

Representative Hitt Desperately III. WASHINGTON, April 22.—The condition of Representative Hitt, of Illinois, is practically unchanged. His physician is in constant atiendance, and last night a con-sultation was held over him by two Washington physicians and a prominent specialist from Baltimore. He is desper-ately ill, but there is still hope of his recovery, and a fatal termination is not thought imminent. The primary trouble was an aggravated case of grip, but this has now developed other serious complications. The illness has now lasted six weeks with frequent fluctuations.

Combine of Iowa Coal Mines.

OTTUMWA, April 22 .- The "Mystic coal field" at Mystic, this state, has been organized. This is the largest organization for the mining and marketing of coal in Iowa, and perhaps in the west. In it are consolidated fifteen companies, operating twenty-three mines at eight different towns, with an output of over 1,000,000 tons of coal per year. It was organized for the purpose of keeping up the price of coal and for economy in operation.

RAIN INDICATIONS.

Why Cirrus Clouds Tell With Almost Absaute Certainty of Coming Storms. In order to better understand the role placed by cirrus clouds as rain indicators, we must first discuss the causes of these occurrences. A study of the weather indications and barometrical readings, as they appear in our daily papers from the report of our "Weather Burean," shows that areas of high or low air pressure are constantly passing over the earth's surface in irregular succes sion. The areas of high atmospheric pressure-or barometric maxima, meteorologically expressed-stay longer in one locality than the areas of low pressure - the depression or barometrical minima. These last are more or less defined currents of air, which circle in the form of wind around the region of the lowest atmospheric pressure, moving always from north to west or from south to east-the reverse of the hands of a clock. It must not be imagined however, that the air simply moves around this area of depression, but rather that it is constantly being drawn into its center and is carried upward in great whirls or spirals. As the air rises, it ex. Gents' Fine Tan Shoes its center and is carried upward in great pands and becomes colder. The vapors it contains condense into clouds and finally are transformed into rain. The center of the barometrical depression is therefore marked by cloudy, rainy weather. The wind which encircles the depression becomes more active as the difference of the atmospheric pressure becomes more marked, or, in other words, as the barometer falls. In brief, therefore, barometrical de pressions are caused by huge ascending spirals, or whirls of air, which are carried upward to extreme heights, and from there are walted in any direction. In these heights the humidity of the atmosphere is frozen and is wafted away in closed forms which are composed of P. S.—See our Show Window. ice crystals. These are none other than cirrus clouds, and they may float several hundred miles from the seat of the depression. It will now be seen why cirrus clouds may be justly regarded as forerunners of rain, even when they make their appearance in clear weather They tell with absolute certainty of an approaching atmospheric depression, and this is substantiated by a gradual falling of the barometer soon after they make their appearance.-Home and Country.

FATHER OF JOSIE MANSFIELD A PIO-NEER IN CALIFORNIA.

How He Killed a Rival Editor In Stockton, Got Into Jail For Life and Was Pardoned. A Steamboat Adventure With $1,000,000

as the Central Figure.

Josie Mansfield, whose gay career in Gotham a generation ago is well remembered, had a father whose career was also remarkable-a mixture of the heroje and tragie. Said a California fortyniner the other day in a reminiscent Ald. Prettyman moved that the bonds mood: "Mansfield Warren came from New Orleans to San Francisco in the early fifties. He came after gold, like sickly, consumptive looking fellow, he did not pan out well as a digger in the mines. So he went to editing a weekly newspaper at Stockton. No sooner had he started up than the other editor went "In those days personal journalism was the thing, and in California the editors spoke right out, calling each other all kinds of names not used in society. Warren replied, but in a gentlemanly way.' While this newspaper war was going on one of the merchants attacked Warren for some alleged slight, and Warren being small and physically fight. He was so badly used up that he stated, as soon as he got out of bed, that he would hill the next man who attacked him. Accordingly, he purchased a long bowie knife. It so happened that the editor of the rival sheet again Rule 2. In the fourth line from the abused him, and before Warren's paper by his opponent. He knocked Warren down, jumped on him and was beating him unmercifully. Warren succeeded in unsheathing his bowie knife, when "On the trial it was proved that Warren had threatened to kill the next man whom he might fight; also that he had bought the bowie knife immediately after making the threat. The defense argued that Warren did not have the rival editor in mind at these times, and furthermore that he acted in self defense, which was the truth. However, he was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. The governor commuted the sentence to life imprisonment, and in a Rule 19 In line 3 from top of page Fear or two Warren was pardoned.

"The family removed to San Francisco, and here Josie began to assist in the elevation of the stage.

"As soon as she became prosperous she left the family in their old age and poverty and flitted eastward to become notorious as the cause of the murder of

"I lost track of Warren until 1869. I met him in New Orleans. He showed me the first issue of The True Jeffersonian, a redbot Democratic paper that he had just started at Carrollton, a suburb of New Orleans. He spoke very little of California and Californians, and of California and Californians, and at a reduced price. Please call and examine at 28 S Main St., Corner of Williams. mentary, and I do not censure him for it. He died a few years afterward about the time of the tragedy of which his wayward daughter was the central figure. He visited his daughter in New York during the height of her career and was very coldly received, I am told. At any rate, he lived poor and died as poor as he had lived.

"I may mention an instance in his career which will show that he was not a coward. It was the custom of the miners to ship their gold dust by steamer from Sacramento to San Francisco. About $1,000,000 was made in ones ment, guarded by Warren and a half dozen assistants. About 50 roughs embarked on the steamer under the guise of cattlemen and rauchmen en route to Frisco on business. The treasure room was amidships on the lower deck. The steamers in those days carried a small cannon at the bow, which was dis-charged on landing, so as to notify the settlers. It also frightened the savage Indiaus, who soon came to regard the 'floating houses' with fear and superstition. Warren suspected a move on the part of the roughs and fixed the gun on a pivot, so that it would command the stern of the boat and the approach to the treasure room. He heavily loaded the gun and then threw in a handful of nails for scattering shot. The attack, he was informed, was to be made at sundown, just as the boat was rounding the Pirate's cove, about 30 miles above or small farm near city, balance on long tim and low laterest. P. C. Box 1845. San Francisco. Warren and his men assembled in the bow and soon noticed a number of men forming on the stern of the boat and others joining them from the cabin above by coming down the back stairway. The cannon was immediately reversed, and Warren and his men drew their revolvers. 'Go up stairs, or I'll turn her loose and mow you down like wheat!' shouted Warren as he stood ready to 'let 'er go.'

"The roughs, seeing that they were outflanked, recoiled in disorder, and of all origin-1 Pension- allowed in Michigan for the month of August, 1890; 503 allowed.— Detroit Free Press. some ran up stairs. Just at that moment the boat ran on a sand bar and was keeled over, nearly upsetting her. was keeled over, nearly upsetting ner. The roughs were panic stricken, doubtless thinking this was part of the programme, and some of them jumped overboard. The cannon also went overboard. The cannon also went overboard. In a few hours, fortunately, another boat came along and hauled us off the bar, and we arrived safely at San Francisco with our $1,000,000 in gold dust. No; those who jumped overboard did not get back. We would not let anybody board us at that stage of the proceedings, especially as we knew who they were. They may have swum ashore, they were. They may have swum ashore, though," concluded the forty-niner in a rather doubting tone as to the ultimate safety of the roughs.-Philadelphia Times.

WIFE OF A BRITON

Marriage of Miss Mary Leiter at Washington.

SOCIETY AFFAIR OF THE SEASON.

Mrs. Cleveland a Guest at the Ceremony, as Well as a Large Number of the Foreign Diplomats and National Officials. The Sacred Rite Takes Place in Historic St. Johns, with Bishop Talbot Officiating _Bride and Groom Described.

WASHINGTON, April 23 - At 11:30 o'clock this morning the ceremony that made Mary Leiter the wife of George Nathaniel Curzon was said in old St. John's Episcopal church. The church was crowded with friends, of whom there were so many that probably some were disappointed in not getting the cards that insured admitfull choral wedding one by the choristers of St. John's, comprising about forty voices. The musical programme was as follows: Prelude, "Epithalamium," from "Romeo and Juliet;" processional anthem, "O Perfection," by Barnby; "Elsa's Dream," Wagner; bridal chorus, "Faithful and True," Wagner; after the benediction, "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel, and recessional anthem, "To Thee, O Father, Throned on High," Hadyn. It was just 11:30 when the handsome couple had taken their places before the altar and Bishop Talbot began the service. Something About the Bride.

Miss Mary Leiter is a handsome young woman, whose style of beauty is such that her presence in any social gathering instinctively draws attention to her charms. She has a face full of character, expressive eyes, but to be seen at her best she must be smiling. Her usual expression is rather too serious for one on whom all the delightful things in life thinks there will be another paper started have been so freely lavished.

Miss Leiter is a good linguist, sings delightfully and plays well, and in going to England to live knows all the good points in her own country, for she has traveled over pretty much all of it-even way up to Alaska. She has inherited the love of country which is an especial trait in her mother's disposition and which led to the latter's compiling a few years ago a most Interesting work on the generals of the Revolutionary war, which is sold for the benefit of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association.

Probably Not a Fortune Hunter. Mr. Curzon is a man of very moderate means, which has given occasion to considerable ill-natured comment, and he has been styled a "fortune hunter." Such, however, appears not to be the case, as be will in time inherit a very considera-ble estate, which will be ample to sup-port an establishment besitting his rank. The Letter family is reticent as to the amount of Miss Curzon's "dot." Mr. and Mrs. Curzon will sail on the Majestic shortly after the ceremony, traveling in Europe and then going to the groom's London house, Carleton Terrace, while parliament continues in session, afterward settling at his country place Kedleston Halis, Derbyshire. It is not yet certain whether they will reach London in time for the queen's last drawing-room, which closes the London season.

NON-UNION MEN DRIVEN AWAY.

One of Them Given the Alternative of Drowning or Quitting Work. POMEROY, O., April 22.-The mining troubles at Minersville have broken out with increased intensity. Thirteen of the twenty-three non-union men driven away two weeks ago by the strikers returned to work last week. One hundred strikers armed with clubs rallied to drive them away. All but one escaped to hiding places. He is a stranger and is known as No. 11, and was nearly drowned in a watering trough. He was given five minntes to quit or be drowned in the river. He left on a run. The strikers patrolled the streets nearly all night in search of non-union workers, Another Change in the Journals that James W. Scott Founded.

CHICAGO, April 23.-H. H. Kohlsaat, who for a time held the controlling interest in the Inter-Ocean, but sold out because he had ideas that did not "gee" with those of others in the concern, has since been watching an opportunity to get back into the ranks of journalism and his success marks another "lightning change" in the life of the Herald, founded by the late James W. Scott. The change is greater than that by which the paper became the Times-Herald, for it involves a charge of polities from Department of the sessuit.

Nothing has yet developed to throw any a change of politics from Democratic to Republican in the national issue of pro-

Mr. Kohlsaat has purchased $710,000 of the $1,000,000 in stock of the paper and one of the first indications of Republican con-trol was the resignation of the principal political writer, who could not write protection articles against his own convictions. James W. Scott owned $200,-ciple of the manufacture of flour was tance to the ceremony. The service was a 000 in the Times-Herald and besides the changed. Instead of getting all the flour money for this Mrs. Scott will get an annuity of $10,000 for ten years if she lives that long. She will also hold a small interet in the paper. It should be said that the sale includes The Evening Post also. Mr. Hawley, the managing editor of the Times-Herald, retains his stock, but of course will not control the paper's policy.

Outside of the issue of protection the paper will vigorously oppose free silver coinage at any ratio by this nation alone. In local affairs it will be independent and hold personal fitness as the only qualification for municipal office

Gov. Altgeld on the Change.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 22.-Governor Altgeld in an interview last evening, replying to a question whether the change of ownership and policy of the Chicago Times-Herald will be likely to injure the silver cause, said he did not think such would be the case. The governor thought the silver movement was daily becoming great papers against it. The governor in Chicago, but was not going into journalism himself.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 24.-All of Texas has needed rain, so Dwight Moody into half the former space by a machine called upon his audience of 8,000 Christians to pray fervently that the floodgates might be opened. This was at 8 p. m. yesterday. Last night when the with greater capacity, taking less room, Tabernacle was crowded by people from using a shorter road from the wheat bin Fort Worth and surrounding cities to the flour sack, and with a reduction Moody announced that word had come from several points that rain had fallen. A few minutes later the storm burst on Fort Worth and torrents of rain fell.

gave way, and the heavy timbers and boards covered with tar and gravel came down on a portion of the congregation.

Ginks' Attractive Assortment. There was a panie. Scores upon scores of women fainted; some men lost their heads and piled pell-mell over those near them. BERLIN, April 22 - Une dispute between Great Britain and Nicaragua is beliag watched here, and the op.mon of thocompetent to pronounce an opinion upon the matter is decidelly against allowing Nicaragua to get off too casaply. More over, the idea of intervention upon the part of the United States is not received here with enthusiasm. The Vossische Zeitung, commenting on the situation,

"England represents not only British but European interests. The Central American republics have been guilty of repeated acts of lawlessness against foreigners, and they deserve to be taught a salutary lesson. If the United States claims to extend the application of the Monroe doctrine to these unruly neighbors, they must also undertake to bear the responsibility of the fulfillment of their international obligations."

Lynch Stood Off with Revolvers.

FREDERICK, Md., April 22.-Mrs. Thos. Butts, a highly respected farmer's wife at Broad Run, fifteen miles from Frederick, was brutally assaulted by Frank Winterchief, an 18-year-old negro. He falled in his purpose, but in the struggle Mrs. Butts was seriously hurt. The negro fled to the mountains, but was followed and caught by Peter Hemp and David Majaha. FLOUR MILLING.

The Rolling Process Has Changed the Entire Means of Operation.

In the roller process the whole prinpossible out of the wheat in one or two reductions on millstones, the idea was to make as little flour as possible on the first production and leave a large percentage of middlings afterward to be re duced to what is known as patent flour. Nowadays the number of reductions varies from four to eight or more. Millers are now able to grind with a length of rolls equal to 140 inches per unit of 100 barrels of flour in 24 hours and do good

Recently the "plansifter" has step-ped into notice and is used with a very great capacity both as a scalper and as a flour bolt. The purifier is greatly improved, varying in size from eight feet in length by three in width to three feet square, with the attendant dust catcher. Many mills creditable to the ingenuity of the builders have been devised to perform a number of operations in very small space, comprising rolls and separators, and also several pairs of rolls in one frame. In the wheat cleaning room the tendency has been to use more machines than formerly and to clean the wheat better. The flour as it comes from the reels is now packed with great rapidity and exactness, and the bran in some of the larger mills is compressed that will pack 40 tons a day.

In short, the whole improvement has been on the line of smaller machines in the amount of power required to make a barrel of flour. A mill builder states that in a well planned 100 barrel
