It Cut Quite a Dash In Council Wednesday

Awakened Many Members From Anything Like Slumber.-He Was For Having the Washtenaw Ave. Sewer Re-Laid at the Expense of the City Officials.

It was quite late when the adjourned meeting of the common council opened and the session was a long one. President Hiscock was absent and upon motion of Ald, Laubengayer, Ald. Brown was elected president pro tem. The first communication which was read was that of the board of public works relative to the Ann Arbor Water Co.'s position in regard to the flushing of the sewers. It was a long committee. The board advised that steps be taken immediately to set the flush tanks in operation, it also set forth that the $100 provided for in the company's franchise is ample compensation and that an additional expenditure was not necessary, but that the company is liable to furnish the water for that amount which is sufficient

A communication from a dozen or more property owners in the Third ward was referred to the sewer committee. It asked that the building of a sewer north of Catherine st. on Main men have said is for the most part st. be suspended until petitioned for.

The committee on streets recommended that Adam Meuth be paid $35 for a deed of the property belonging to him which is now occupied by the city; that a fence be built around the north side town pump on Broadway at an expense of $20; also that the Packard, S. University ave. from Washtenaw ave to Oxford, Walnut lower. from S. University ave. to Geddes ave., and that the gutters be fixed on the corner of Madison and Seventh sts. Adopted.

The following report was also offered: "Your committee on streets would recommend that $50 be appropriated from the street fund to complete the work of putting Tappan st. to grade, and that the earth taken therefrom be used in filling the street at the corner of Tappan st. and E. f Prospect st. and E. University ave., and that all of the remainder of the earth not used at the above designated places be used in filling in E. University ave between Prospect and Packard sts., and that no part of such earth be drawn to any other than the above named places." Adopted.

The next thing to come up was the important matter of the Washtenaw ave, sewer in front of the property belonging to Prof. Frank Wagner and others. On this question the council wrestled for over an hour. There were three committee reports. The first one read was the majority report signed by Ald. Cady, Brown and Taylor. This report was to the effect that the sewer remain where it now is, as they thought the property owners had proper accommodations and that they relied upon the city engineer's opinion.

The first minority report was signed by Ald. Moore, Koch and Laubengayer and was in favor of lowering the sewer at the above stated point.

The third minority report was only signed by Ald. Prettyman and the appearance of Hamlet's ghost would more than did the contents of the "one Times. man's" report. It advocated that the sewer be lowered at the expense of the council, board of public works and city engineer.

Ald. Prettyman vigorously defended his report until called to time by Chairman Brown, and by this time the report which was at first thought to be a joke had assumed quite a serious council has to do with it?"

It is simply whether THE TWO it is proper to believe several citizens rather than our city engineers. Until we are informed by other and more competent engineers that our engineer is wrong then we ought to abide by his opinion."

Prof. Frank Wagner was given the floor and said he had made some figures and the expense of lowering would be about $300. The Argus cannot give the company's side of the case by anthority, but it understands that they do not admit that the cost of pumping should be limited to the cost of fuel, and further claim that they could not pump the amount of water needed for the flush tanks now in for $100, but it is believed that they would nevertheless consent to do the work for that amount if they could rest assured that the 97 automatic tanks would be emptied only twice a week. It is stated that the tanks could be fixed so as to empty as often as once a minute and that when the full complement of 300 finsh tanks are in, the full amount of water in the company reservoir could be quickly exhausted. What they contend for, it is stated, is that the contract does not bind them, and it is the future that they must look out for and see that their interests are three feet over on his land. Trilby's Feet Were Magnets. The city fathers were to have met in regular weekly session Monday evening, butt hey didn't. One DuMaurier, an Englishman who is blind in one eye and wears a monocle in the other, was indirectly to blame for it while Manager Sawyer, of the local opera house, was more directly responsible. When the members of the cut-down-expense administration heard that Trilby would appear barefooted Monday evening there was one member who said he was going anyway. Then when it was hinted that Trilby would pose altogether different from that two aldermen said that they had engagements to nurse their children through attacks of measles and whooping cough, respectively; and when Manager Sawyer came over to the court house early in the evening and said that the front row of the parquet was at the aldermen's disposal there was such a jump from seats that the A. A. Gas company's chandelier present to the city clinked its tin ornaments together and one alderman put his foot through his hat in his celerity and dispatch. Two aldermen thought Trilby was wicked and wouldn't go. The others went. They are glad they did, for they saw a mighty good play and the city's interests could wait twenty-four hours with no harm being done. They therefore metWednesday night when the aldermen who attended were accused of using the art of Svengali in hornswoggling the two members of the council who didn't go into supporting a resolution of condolence and respect duly drawn and framed, expressing their great delight that Manager Sawyer thought of them and permitted them to gaze on Trilby's little toe free of admission.

Of Fort Wayne, Ind., writes on Nov. 29, 1894: 'I was afflicted for forty years with heart trouble and suffered untold agony. I had weak, hungry spells, and my heart would palpitate so hard, the pain would be so acute and torturing, that I became so weak and nervous I could not sleep. I was treated by several physicians without relief and gave up ever being well again. About two years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Remedies. One bottle of the Heart Cure stopped all beart troubles and the Restorative Nervine did the rest, and now I sleep soundly and attend to my household and social duties without any trouble.

OTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed? Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle? Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher.

That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined? Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless? Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35

OUR FIGURES ARE OFFICIAL.

The Argus last week published the figures compiled by the committees of the board of supervisors for two years, in parallel columns, showing the actual money paid out of the county treasury. As these figures showed a large increase in the expenses of the past year the republican county officials and press have been greatly disturbed by their publication. To indicate to what lengths they go to explain them away, we quote what the Ann Arbor Register has to say on the subject:

For shrewd manipulation of figures the truth, the Argus, as usual, takes the persimmons. Last week it came out under glaring headlines with an aritcle declaring that the republican administration in this county had already cost the last year under democratic administration. The statements are so ridicmlons that they do not deserve an answer, and we shall not attempt to reply. For the amusement of our readers, however we shall show, by giving a faw items, how the Argus succeeded in reaching the conclusions that it did. The sheriff each month draws three-fourths of the jail board bill. During the past $2.000. The sheriff has received threefourths of this. When the supervisors met, he handed in his bill for the remaining fourth. The board, however, The Argus at once jumped to the conclusion that the sheriffs' entire bill was $3,500! The present administration also comes in as being to blame for $1,500 expenses, for contagious dis-These two items alone make up fully one-third of the $9,000 extra expense attributed to the republican administration by the Argus. Almost 1895, are in the neighborhood of $4,every other item is just about as near the truth. A correct showing will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that the present republican administration has been the most economical the January 1, instead of October 1, the county has had for years. Our only wonder, in reading the Argus article. was that it did not attribute the damage done by the recent earthquake to the republican county officials. This would have been right in keeping with the statements it made.

This very wise editorial can be utterly demolished in a few words. The agures given in our table were not computed by the Argus at all. They may be found in the back pages of the official proceedings of the board of supervisors for the years 1894 and 1895. They do not include any bills brought before the board of supervisors this October, as of necessity such bills could not be paid out of the county treasury until after October 1. The Argus never arrived at the figures by any such ridiculous legerdemain as the Register suggests, and the figures were not made for any political purpose whatever. They are absolutely colorless. The people, however, are entitled to draw their conclusions from them. They made a change last year supposedly with the intention of securing a better and more economical administration of county affairs. That the figures of actual expenses do not show that they secured a more economical administration, makes it fair to question if the people did not make a mistake.

But to return to the Register's remarks. If between October 1, 1894, and September 30, 1895, there was not paid out of the county treasury for the board of prisoners the sum of $3,499 .-93, as against the sum of $2,192.15, paid out between October 1, 1893, and September 30, 1894, then an expert should be put at work on the county treasurer's books at once. For he has been credited by the county with that $3,499.93. If any one further questions the Argus figures, all we can say to him is to get the papbmlet proceedings of the supervisors and look on page 36 of the proceedings of 1894, and on page 49 of the proceedings of 1895, and see if our figures are not absolutely correct. And we dare the Register to look at the pages indicated and publicly state next week that the Argus misquoted any of the figures given.

CANNOT EXPLAIN AWAY THE INCREASE

"A hit bird flutters." Never was the truth of this old adage better illustrated than in this week's Courier, which flutters vigorously over the table of county expenditures for two years which appeared in the Argus of last week, and which showed that the county expenditures for the year ending October 1, 1895, were $8,951 more than they were for the year ending October 1. 1894. The burden of the Courier's contention was that the very wicked democrats were responsible for this increase of over 25 per cent in county expenses, and to prove it they instance certain expenses which they charge up to the democrats, not giving the total or any comparison, not saying anything about corresponding republican expenses or instancing any of them.

The Argus had no intention when last week it published in parallel columns the totals of county expenses found by the supervisors' committees of so stirring up the animals in the republican camp, but the truth evidently hurts now, and there is evidently a s.rong desire to break the force of it.

To indicate that the Argus is not actnated by partisan motives, we desire to again state, as we did last week, that our figures are figures, not of expenses incurred, but of cash paid. We published the official figures and made no attempt to deduct from them. For in stance, in the year 1893-4 was found $1,371.60 for insurance. This paid the insurance for three years. But the and twisting of facts to misrepresent Argus made no attempt to pettifog and claim a reduction, so as to further increase the difference bewteen that year and the past year. For, on the other hand, the commisioner of schools' orthe county at least $9,000 more than ders in 1893-4 are put down for $1,350. That was the cash actually paid that year, but as his salary was $1,500, it is plain that he did not draw some of his pay until the next year. If the Argus wished to adopt the Courier's method it might go through the expenses of the democratic year and claim deductions, as the Courier has done with the nine months this amounted to about republican year, but we do not do this because it would be unfair. When all these things are carefully considered, it will be found that they about offset required him to hand in the entire bill each other, and the difference between of $2,000, his receipts, of course, as the two years will be left about where showing that three-quatrers had been it is now. There is no getting around the facts as they stand.

Further, the Argus may be permitted to state that the orders allowed by the board of supervisors in October of this year andnot included in the figures given by the Argus up to October 1, 000 more than the orders allowed in the October session of 1894, so that if the time of statement were altered to diffrence between the two years, the democratic and the republican years, would have been about $13,000 instead of $9,000. We shall take occasion next week to show the Courier how this figures out.

and on his return this happened to

On the road once more, with Lebanon fading in the distance, the fat passenger drumming idly on the window-pane, the cross passenger sound asleep, and the tall, thin passenger reading "General Grant's Tour Around the World." and wondering why "Green's August Flower," should be printed above the door of "A Buddist temple at Benares." To me comes the brakeman, and seating himself on the arm of the seat, says:

"I went to church yesterday." 'Yes," I said, with that interested inflection that asks for more. "And which church did you attend?"

"Which do you guess?" he asked. "Some union mission church?" I

"Now," he said, "I don't like to run on those branch roads very much. I don't often go to church, and when I do. I want to run on the main line, where your run is regular and you go on schedule time, and don't have to wait on a branch. Good enough, but I don't like it."

Episcopal?" I guessed.

"Limited express," he said, "all palace cars, and $2 extra for a seat; fast time and only stop at big stations. Nice line, but too exhaustive for a brakeman. All train men in quiform, conductor's punch and lantern silver-plated, and no train boys allowed. Then the passengers are allowed to talk back to the conducter; and it makes them too free and easy. No, I couldn't stand the palace cars. Rich roads enough. Don't citer hear of a receiver being appointed tor that line. Some mighty nice people travel in it, too."

Universalist," I suggested.

"Broad gauge," said the brakeman; 'does too much complimentary busiess. Everybody travels on a pass. Conductor doesn't get a fare once in fifty miles. Stops at all flag stations, and won't run into a union depot. No smoking cars on the train. Train orders are vague though, and the trainmen don't get along well with the passengers. No. I don't go to the Universalists, though I know some awful good men who run on that road."

"Presbyterian?" I asked.

mountain rather than go around it; where the fountain head of the river on train, mighty strict road, but the conections and good time and no to sit on a seat and no room in the aisle to dance. Then there are no stop-over tickets allowed; got to go hold just so many and nobody else allowed on, but you don't often hear of an accident on that road. It's run right up to the rules."

"Scrub road." said the brakeman; dirt road-bed, and no ballast; no time card and no train dispatcher. All trains run wild and every engineer makes his own time, just as he pleases. Smoke if you want to; kind of go-as-you-please road. Too many side tracks and every switch wide open all the time, with the switchman sound asleep, and the target lamp out. Get on as you please and get off when you want to. Don't have to show your tickets, and the conductor is not expected to do anything but amuse the passengers. No sir, I was offered a pass, but I don't like the line. I don't travel on a road that has no terminus. Do you know, sir, I asked a division superintendent where the road run to, and he said he hoped to die if he knew. I asked him if the general superintendent could tell me, and he said he didn't believe they had a general superintendent, and if they had he didn't know any more about the road than the passengers did. I asked him who he reported to and he said "nobody." I asked a conductor who he got orders from and he didn't take orders from any living man or dead ghost. And when I asked the engineer where he got his orders from, he said he'd like to see anybody give him orders, he'd run that train to suit himself or he'd run it in the ditch. Now, you see, I'm a railroad man, and don't care to run on a road that has no time, makes no connections, runs nowhere, and has no superintendent. It may be all right, but I have railroaded too long to understand it."

"Did you try the Methodist?" I

"Now you're shouting," he said, with some enthusiasm. 'Nice road eli? Fast time and plenty of passengers. Engines carry a power of steam, and don't you lorget it; stram gauge shows a hundred and enough all the time. Lively road; when the conductor shouts 'all aboard' you can hear him to the next station. Every train lamp shines like a headlight. Stop-over checks given on all through tickets; passenger can drop off the train as often as he likes, do the station two or three days, and hop on the next revival train that comes thundering along. Good, who'e souled, companionab'e conductors; ain't a road in the country where the passengers feel more at home. No passes; every passenger pays full traffic rates for his ticket-Wesleyanhouse air-brake on all trains, too; pretty safe road, but I didn't ride over it yesterday."

"Maybe you went to the Congregetional church ?" I said.

'Popular road," said the brakeman, "an old road too, one of the nest in the country. Good roadbed and comfortable cars. Well managed too; directors don't interfere with division superintendents and train orders. Road's mighty popular, but it's pretty independent, too. See, didn't one of the superintendents down cast discontinue one of the oldest stations on this line, two or three years ago? But it is a mighty pleasant road to travel on. Always has a pleasant class of passengers."

"Perhaps you tried the Baptist?" I guessed once more.

Ha, ha," said the brakeman, "she is a daisy, isn't she? river road; broad, beautiful curves, sweeps around anything to keep close to the river, but It's all steel rail and rock ballast, track all the way and not a side-track from the round house to the terminus. Takes a heap of water to run it, though; double tanks at every station, and there isn't an engine in the shops that can pull a pound or run a mile in less than two gauges. But it runs through a beautiful coupary; these river roads al-

But just here the long whistle from the engine announced the station, and the brakeman rushed to the door shouting:

Ate Bis Own Bake.

"I remember," said a former surgeon in the Confederate army, "General Mahone as he appeared before Petersburg in 1864 and 1865. He was already famous throughout the army for his fighting qualities, for his peppery temper and for his many eccentricities.

"My duty as surgeon took me frequently past his headquarters, and one morning I saw Mahone pacing solemnly up and down in front of his tent, while a negro man sat in the doorway gorging himself with fresh baked biscuit. turned to an officer who was looking on at some little distance and asked the meaning of the strange performance at Mahone's tent. Then came the explanation that the negro had baked a pan of sour and heavy biscuits for breakfast, and Mahone, by way of an object lesson, had set the cook down to eat all of his own product. The negro ate away as fast as possible, and Mahone kept up his patrol until the last biscuit disappeared. The performance was characteristic of the eccentric but determined little man who hit upon this strange method of punishment."

The domestic servant at home is some times irritatingly exacting, but she is not a patch on her sister in South Africa. It is learned from the Johannesburg Times that the white domestic in that now populous center requires, like the navvy on the mines, several Kaffirs to wait on her. She insists on having every even ag to herself, and promptly gives notice if she is not granted the major portion of every Sunday in the year. She holds levees in her kitchen openly, and treats her many friends to the very best in the house, for no mistress in Johannesburg dares to lock the pantry or the cupboards.

About two weeks ago we were persuaded by the celebrated firm HAM-

No intelligent person should have any doubt about absinth being a dangerous, insidious and subtle liquor. Whatever temporary service it may yield, subject to medical advice, the moment that necessity ceases its further use is a cruel violation of the laws of health and is not inapt to lead to the abandonment of common decency in appearance and deportment. The practical and scientific conclusions in regard to the use of absinth are summed up briefly in the statement that "the evil effects of drinking absinth are very apparent. Frequent intoxication or moderate but steady tippling utterly deranges the digestive system, weakens the frame, induces horrible dreams and hallucinations and may end in paralysis or in idiocy."

Chambers says: "Absinth is a spirit flavored with the pounded leaves and flowering tops of certain species of artemisia, chiefly wormwood, together with angelica root, sweet flag root, star anise and other aromatics. The aromatics are macerated for about eight days in alcohol and then distilled, the result being a green colored liquor. Adulteration is largely practiced, usually with the essential oils of others herbs, but even blue vitriol is sometimes found in so called absinth. Its effect upon either man or woman not actively engaged in manual work of some kind must be dangerous. It makes the brain dull and unreliable. Under its effects the merest glimpses of mental sunshine are immediately followed by prolonged periods of dejection. Sensible persons are safest if Eagle.

People Who Look Over Houses.

"My duty is to show intending tenants over the 'houses to let' which appear on our books," said a man employed by one of the great firms of land and house agents in London. "It might surprise you to know that some people have a perfect craze for looking over houses, though they are comfortably housed enough already and have no immediate intention of removing. I have shown the same couple-middle aged folks with nothing to do apparentlyover scores of houses, from cottages to mansions.

"And as for 'faddy' people-well, I am afraid that the ladies are, in general, the hardest to please, but then, you see, the whole responsibility is mostly left to them. Some of them find that every house they look at has some seriwant a bigger and finer house than they can afford. Often enough the gentleman who accompanies them never says a word, but lolls about and smokes listlessly. ''-Pearson's Weekly.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST SAYS SO.

Sees in the Movements of the Powers the Gathering Together of the Nations to Fight the Battle of Armageddon as Foretold in Prophecy-The Ottoman Power the One Meant in the Ninth Chapter of Revelations-The Unclean Spirits.

ELWOOD, Ind., Nov. 21. - In an interview oncerning the Adventist belief regarding the present Turkish troubles and their relation to prophecy, Elder W. H. Ebert of Frankton, Ind., one of the leading exponents of that belief, said:

"We Seventh Day Adventists believe the present Turkish crisis foreshadows the and of the world, the destruction of its kingdoms, and the second coming of Jesus Christ. We base our belief upon the fulfillment of prophecy, and see in the present movements of the nations the gathering together of the nations to fight the last great battle of the centuries-the Battle of Armageddon.

The Ottoman Power.

"The Ottoman power, or the Mohammelan power, is the one meant in the ninth chapter of Revelations, to which was was given the power to torment men five months, or 150 years in prophetic time, they never touch absinth."-Brooklyn when it was to gain supremacy and be given power to kill men 361 years and fifteen days. The Ottoman power fulfills all these conditions, for it was founded by Othman July 26, 1299, and for 150 years tormented men, when it became supreme until Aug. 11, 1840. When the 391 years and fifteen days ended it killed the third part of men, as prophecied, when its pow-er was dried up to prepar the way of the kings of the lost, which was fulfilled when France, Russia, Prussia, and England forced their ultimatum on the Mohammedan power, Aug. 11, 1840. Thus was fulfilled the first part of the vision of the sixth vial.

Three Unclean Spirits,

"The three unclean spirits were then loosed and went forth to deceive the nation, and they are spiritualism, nihilism and infidelity, and they are doing their work well. They are gathering the nations together to the great Battle of Armageddon. The king of the south—possibly English power—after overruning Egypt, Soudan and Turkey, will encamp in the glorious Holy mountain in the ous drawback, and they will keep me Holy Land, and the nations will be comfor hours at a time while they peer pelled to bring their mighty armies and about. As a general principle the ladies munitions of war against this power and will encamp in the Plains of Armageddon.

"The nations are now moving towards he was kidnaped from the train at Mitch-that battleffeld, and all their terrible imements of modern warfare will be there vaen the seventh vial is poured, when the battle of Armageddon, which is described in symbols in Rev., 16 chap., 17, 21, will result. The great city of the n ns will be that tented field, and it will be divided into three parts-the Roman power, the Mahommedan power, and the other powers represented the earthquake, the explosion of the batteries, and the lake of fire and brimstone will be the battlefield itself. It will be a battle of annihilation, and the kingdoms of the world will go down to rise no more. The United States will probably not be represented in this battle, but will be among the remnant left to be destroyed afterward. When this battle occurs, as it shortly must, its climax will be the sec-

the door, and the nations cannot long strangle the Turkish complications, as the unrest of nations is urging them on to bring about these things, for fear of which nations are trembling. The time is Catching Ducks in Fish Nets.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 31.—Sportsmen are agitated over the discovery that the efforts of the fishermen have been diverted from the netting of fish to the netting of ducks, and that their operations threaten the extermination or driving away of ducks from this vicinity. One fisherman is said to have caught 500 ducks in a day. The ducks dive for food, get entangled in a net and drown. They are then barreled and shipped to Green Bay and Chicago. Old nets are used, so that if the nets are captured by the game wardens the loss will be small.

One More Thug to Retire.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Nov. 21. - Bandit Jack Brady has been found guilty of murder and sentenced to imprisonment for life. Brady and a companion named Browning rode on their wheels from San Francisco and held up the Oregon express near Wheatland. Browning was robbing the passengers when Sheriff Bogard, of Tehama county, shot him dead. Brady then shot the sheriff in the back, killing him.

Supreme Court Affirms the Decision of the Lower Court-The Doomed Man Turns Pale When Told the News, but Says He Expected the Decision-Murderer Harris of Freeport, Ills., Denied a Supersede... and Will Be Banged on Nov. 39.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 21 - The supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the Hayward case. The date of the execution will be set by the governor later.

The court is unanimous in its opinion save in one finding as to the admissability of Mrs. Hazeltine's evidence, to which Chief Justice Stuart dissents. The court finds no error in the conduct of the trial and declares that the trial judge was justified in excluding testimony as to the sanity of Adry Hayward while on the stand, while no foundation had been laid as to his previous mental condition.

Hayward Hears the News.

It was also proper to exclude the evidence as to insanity in the family under the circumstances. The distinction between insarity as a direct issue and as a collateral one affecting the competency of a witness is noted Harry Hayward turned pale when the decision was announced to him, but would say nothing more than, "It was just what I expected." He is apparently without hope. County Attorney Nye, to whom Governor Clough referred the fixing of the date of execution, will name Dec 6 as the date.

Murderer Harris Must Die. FREEPORT, Ills., Nov. 21.—The supreme court has denied a supersedeas in the case case of Frank W. Harris, the condemned murderer. He will hang Nov. 29 unless Governor Altgeld interferes.

Alger's Tribute to Gordon.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21.—General John B. Gordon, United States senator from Georgia, addressed the opening session of the state Sunday school convention in the Auditorium. General Gordon was introduced by General Alger, whose guest he is, and who paid him a glowing tribute to his military prowess, and especially to his patriotic work in behalf of the unification of the north and south in sentiments and purposes. The two generals stood with clapsed hands while the audience cheered.

Alleged Train Robbers Arrested.

St. Paul, Nov. 21.—Six men suspected of having been connected with the attempted hold-up of the Great Northern train near St. Cloud Monday night, are in jail at St. Cloud. Chief of Detectives O'Connor of St. Paul has gone to St. Cloud to assist in the arrest and conviction of the culprits. The robbers got no booty whatever, but they stopped the train and attempted to shoot part of the crew and passengers, and if convicted will be sent to prison for from ten to twenty Lubin Proposition Hangs Fire.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 21.-The national grange had a spice of excitement injected into it when a discussion of the Lubin proposition was opened. This proposition provides for legislation by the national government that will give a bounty on all agricultural products exported as well as a bounty for shipping. The proposition was defeated by the grange two years ago. This time the delegates seem-ed to be about evenly divided on the ques-tion. Final action was postponed.

Moonshiners Raided.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 21.-United States Marshal Kilbourn and three deputies made an extensive raid on moonshiners in Wise county, Va., just over the Kentucky line, destroying a dozen illicit stills, with a capacity of 2,000 gallons. In a fight between the officers and moonshiners three of the latter were seriously wounded and one officer received a painful shot in the mouth.

Took His Own Life.

WAUSAU, Wis., Nov. 21.-Nathaniel B. Eldre, captain of the Wausau Light guard and manager of a branch house of the Armour Packing company, committed suicide by shooting. The deceased was 28 years of age and was a rheumatic sufferer. His books are said to be all straight.

Students of Many Colors.

I have had in my own study at Oxford not only Turks, Arabs, Hindoos, Siamese, Japanese and Chinese, but I received only the other day a visit from one of the Blackfoot Indians, the first of that tribe who had ever set foot on English soil, a most interesting and intelligent man, who was bewailing to me the fate of his race, doomed, as he thought, to disappear from the face of the earth, as if Babylonians and Assyrians, Acadians and Hittites had not disappeared before. His name was Strong Buffalo (net Buffalo Bill), and a most powerful, determined and sensible man he seemed. He reminded me of a young Mohawk who also used to deplore to me the fate of his race. He came to Oxford many years ago to study medicine. He came in his paint and feathers, but left in his cap and gown and is now a practicing physician at Toronto.

These visits of strangers from distant lands are often highly instructive. I netted some knowledge of the Mohawk language from Dr. Oronyha Teka. One is thus brought in contact with some of the leading spirits all over the world. I have now, or have had, pupils, friends and correspondents in India, Burma, Siam, Japan, China, Korea—aye, even in the Polynesian and Melanesian islands, in South America and in several African settlements. - Max Muller in Nineteenth

The Vanished Descriptive Poem.

It may be fanciful to attempt to trace a connection between the rarity of the meditative mood among readers and the prevalence of short poems among writers, but certainly there is a falling off in leng poems on the aspects of nature. It would be a brave Wordsworth who today would write an excursion and expect to have it read in the moments of leisure accorded to the normal man or woman. Somebody would read it in order to write a review of it, a short review that one could read while waiting to start on an expedition for enjoying nature, but very few other people would. We are so used to the transient and the various, we can go so quickly from one aspect to another, that we demand that our poets shall give us sentence for their unlawful act of driving have so completely ushered into the the negroes of Spring Valley from their quietest scenes the presence of contest, homes Judge Stipps rendered his de- effort and attainment that we insist on Jean Brault, Paul Yerly, John Quinby ic contrast within the limits of so called poetry of nature. One of the Wonders of Physics.

An experienced mechanic who was asked what he regarded as the most wonderful thing for general utility replied: "The tracking of a car wheel is the most wonderful thing to me in the whole range of science and invention. Here are two rails, up hill and down hill, round the sharp curves and along false tangents, and upon them fly at more than a mile a minute, without jar or jostle, a dozen heavy cars drawn by an engine weighing 60 tons. Passengers realize no danger, yet there is only the little flange of a wheel between them and eternity. An inch and a half of steel turned up on the inner side of the wheel holds up the whole train as securely to the rails as if it were bolted there in grooves. "-Albany Express.

Here is a case from Battle Creek: Mr. Josiah M. Shoup lives at 51 Broad Street, he was a member of the Battle Creek police force for many years. As a member of the force he served the city well, but the rough weather he was often subjected to laid the foundation of kidney disorder, which has troubled him very much. Here is what he says about it:

"About three years ago, while on the police force, I contracted from exposure a kidney trouble, which has since given me no end of trouble. The pain was right through my kidneys and across the small of my back; if sitting down and I wanted to stand up, I had to arise very slowly and gently to avoid increasing the pain; I had such tired-out feelings all the time, and I was steadily getting worse. About two months ago, hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. Their action and effect was most complete, they removed the old aching pains for good. I can now get around as quickly as anybody. was somehow responsible for her, but a writer in the Dundee Advertiser points ont that this is an utter mistake. The real creator of Mrs. Grundy was Thomas Morton, the dramatist (born 1764, died 1838), the father of the author of "Box and Cox," and she is referred to in his comedy, "Speed the Plow," which was first performed in 1798. Mrs. Grundy is not a character in that play. She is merely a mysterious personage whom Dame Ashfield, the farmer's wife, constantly quotes, much in the same way as Sairey Gamp alludes to Mrs. Harris.

LET POLITICS ALONE.

Two Ex-Congressmen and Their Business Contract.

LAFE PENCE VISITS WASHINGTON.

He and Ex-Congressman Haines Made a Contract to Attend Strictly to Business for Five Years and Let Politics Go by the Board-Return of Senor Calvo After a Trip to Costa Rica-other Washington Items of General Interest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.-Lafe Pence of Colorado, who came into congress on the western silver wave of 1892, and who went out on the Republican tidal wave of 1894, in Washington.

He made something of a hit as a Populist orator in the Fifty-third congress, but on the expiration of his term settled in New York state, where he engaged in business with ex-Congressman Haines. Mr. Pence will remain in Washington some time as a looker-on. To a reporter

"Haines and I made an agreement to devote ourselves entirely to business for five years. It is not always the easiest How many who daily use the name of thing in the world to carry out an agree-Mrs. Grundy have any idea of her origin? ment such as Haines and I made, and now It is generally believed that Dickens and then an occasion arises in which we have to draw the contract on each other.

Brought Out the Contract. "Some time ago Haines wanted to attend a county convention, but I brought out the contract and he had to keep away. He stands ready to draw it on me at any suggestion on my part of mixing up in political matters. This contract is a very clear and binding one and it was wit nessed by our wives, who are determined to see that we do not forget it.

"If I had not gone out of politics I think I would soon have trouble in keeping up my life insurance, for politics meant too little money and too much expense. I am now working for the Pence family. When a meeting was held to welcome Amos Cummings in New York city I at first thought I could not attend and it was the funniest political meeting I ever saw. In fact, it was not political at all and that was the reason I could attend it without breaking my contract. There were old soldiers, Republicans, and almost everybody except Democrats there. It was simply an outbreak of evidence of Mr. Cummings' great popularity.'

> Mr. Calvo's attention has been called to the alleged claim of $90,000 made Marcial Nieto against Costa Rica, The claimant has attributed to him a fantastic story of ill treatment by the president of Costa Rica, resulting from the alleged fact that Nieto and the president were attentive to the same lady. Mr. Calvo says the statements are malicious and absurd and he regrets that the press of this country should have spoken so lightly of the president of a republic which has been on the most cordial terms with the United

More Marines Needed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Colonel Charles Heywood, commanding the marine corps, in his annual report to the secretary of the navy, makes a strong appeal for an increase in the enlisted strength of the corps to meet the additional duties imposed by the increase of the navy. Colonel Heywood estimates that 1,500 marines on shore are needed for the protecernment property in their charge, a number 300 in excess of the marines now engaged in that duty. In addition to this, it is estimated that about 450 more men will be required for the new vessels now under construction.

Battleship Indiana.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.-The magnificent new battleship Indiana became the property of the United States government through her formal acceptance from the contractors, the Cramp Shipbuilding company of Philadelphia. The Indiana arrived at the League island navy yard from the Cramp company's yards and was placed in commission and Captain Robert D. Evans assumed command.

Attorney Shoemaker Denies the Story Told by the Detective, PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The sensational developments in the Holmes case, which culminated in the great criminal's thief counsel, Lawyer William A. Shoemaker, becoming a prisoner on the charge of subornation of perjury, was the chief topic of conversation in legal circles here. As yet the judges have taken no further steps in the case of the accused lawyer beyond holding him in bail Mr. Shoemaker had so far recovered his composure as to deny most emphatically the testimony of Detective Schweckler. He declare he was the victim of a trap set by Schweck ler, who, he claims, approached him and said he had discovered evidence in shape of a statement made by Mrs. Blanche Hannigan, in which he heard

Pitzel speak about committing suicide. Shoemaker says Schweckler said he had found the woman in Woodbury, N. J., and that she was willing to make affidavit to what she knew. Shoemaker then, on the strength of the woman's alleged ratement, prepared the affidavit and told he detective to bring her to his office. When she appeared he had no reason to believe she was other than Mrs. Hanni-gan. He said he intended to question her, but she said she was in a hurry. Eventually she signed the affidavit and was paid

This decision is carrying out the ruling of the supreme court in the Knight-Osborne case. Under this ruling certain lands through this region, which were supposed to belong to the government and which have been opened for settlement and entry by the government and taken up by scores of settlers, are held by the supreme court to rightfully belong to the Wisconsin Central company. The gov-ernment is obliged to cancel all the entries on these lands in order to give the railroad company titles.

SIX HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

Boiler and Magazine Explosion on a Chinese Troop Ship.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 21.—The Empress of China, just arrived from the Orient, reports cholera practically extinguished in Japan and few interesting developments in the eastern situation.

All the Asiatic coast, when she sailed, was looking to Kin Chow, where, on Oct. 18, a combined boiler and magazine explosion on the troop ship Kung Pai sent 600 men to death. The affair was fraught with peculiar horror, as a rough sea was raging and there was no chance of life overboard. The boilers were old and unserviceable, and ordinary caution would have prevented the catastrophe.

Marlborough's Lawyer Talks.

LONDON, Nov. 21 .- Mr. Robert Harding Milward, the Duke of Marlborough's lawyer, who represented him in New York when the marriage settlements were signed previous to the duke's marriage to Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, in an interview here is quoted as saying that the rumors current as to the amount of the settle ments are grossly untrue. He also desired to officially contradict the statement that there is a heavy mortgage on the Blenheim estates, and added that the Duke of Marlborough declined to touch a schilling of the bride's money and that the whole of it is settled upon her in the ordinary way.

Turned State's Evidence.

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 21.—Detective James E. Kurtz of this city arrested Willfam Franks, a young farmer, as accessory to the "dynamiting" of the office of Dr J. J. Sweatland at Mottville, a few miles east of here, when the office was wrecked and Andrew Gray, a patient, was seriously injured. Franks has turned state's evidence and says that Allen W. Thomp son, who is held for the crime, tried to hire him to throw the bomb, but that he absolutely refused to have anything to do with the matter. The prominence of all the parties has cansed the affair to assume importance, aside from his criminal Hildreth, Indianapolis; A. M. McKay, Hamilton, Ont.; W. H. Ball, Montreal; H. W. Clark, state secretary, Michigan, and A. H. Whitford, Rochester, N. Y., secretary and treasurer. The day was spent in arranging the programme and in the evening the committee was entertained by a dinner at the Detroit club.

Decided Against the Commissioners.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Nov. 21.-A de cision of more than ordinary significance was rendered by Judge Hindman in the district court here. It sustains the injunction restraining the Iowa soldiers' home management from withholding a part of the pension of inmates for the support of the institution, and taxes cost of the suit to the commandant and commissioners. It is held, however, that pensions may be retained as a trust fund for a soldier on withdrawal from the institution. The ommissioners will appeal to the supreme

Is it known generally that works of art were well paid for in ancient times? A German review furnished recently some particulars about that question. Polygnote of Thasos, who lived about 450 B. C., refused, it is true, any payment for his works and declared that he was sufficiently rewarded with the title of citizen of Athens, which had been conferred on him. But such disinterestedness was seldom imitated. Thirty years later the painter Zenxis of Heracleum was called to the court of Archelaus I, king of Macedonia. He received for his frescoes in the palace of Pella 400 "mines," about $8,000. Mnason of Elathea paid $20,000 for a "Bat-tle With the Persians," which he had ordered from Aristides, the leader of the Theban school. Pamphilus of Sycione gave a course of lectures on painting; each pupil paid for attendance one "talent," or $1,200 a year. Apelles received 20 gold "talents," about $240,-000, for a portrait of Alexander I, ordered by the city of Ephesus.

"The Common People,"

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that cures them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsapa-rilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Sheriff's Sale.

By Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, to me directed and delivered, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of William Biggs. I did, on the twenty-ninth day of January, A. D. 1895, levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of said William Biggs in and to the following described real estate, situated in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, to wit: All those certain pieces and parcels of land situated in the City of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, known and described as lots numbered four (4), twelve (12), forty-three (43) and forty-four (44), in A. Tenbrook's Addition to the City of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, and iots numbered thirty-one (31), thirty-two (32) and thirty-three (33), in R. S. Smith's First Addition to the said City of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, all of which I shall expose for sale at public anetion or vendue to the highest bidder, as the law directs, at the south front door of the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said Washtenaw County, State of Michigan, is held), on Monday the ninth day of December, A. D. 1895, at 12 o'clock noon.

The fame of 'varsity college journalwas considerably added to this by the pulication of Wrinkle and Inlander. The latter was issued on Wednesday and the former will be out for tomorrow's game in Detroit. Inlander contained a well witten article by Manager Baird upon the Harvard game, while Miss Gertrude Sunderland had a very readable article upon "A visit to the home of the Carlyles". A series of articles on "Slang," as arrang ed by W. C. Gore from words furnished him by college students, is commenced in this number. Wrinkle is 24 pages in size and will be a great surprise to the college boys. The cover by Wagner depicts the football player in yellow and blue, while the middle page is the familiar scene at the the Detroit game. The cuts are the best Wrinkle has yet contained and the reading matter is up to the high standard the drawings made imperative.

Mack & Co.'s Fall Opening.

To say that Mack & Co.'s four stores of sixteen floors were crowded last Saturday would be using mild language. It was one continual rush from early morning until late at night to see who coud get waited on first, and, notwithstadng the fact that about sixty salespeople were employed, many went away unable to purchase on account of the crowds. "The Store" was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, palms and myrtle. The show windows were finely dressed, crowds admiring them all day. "The Store" is now doing a large, constantly increasing business. Those who failed to attend this great opening sale missed seeing the greatest display of goods and the largest crowd ever witnessed in any store in Washtenaw county.

To Poultry Growers.

G. R. Johnson is again in the market for all kinds of first class poultry. Having erected buildings especially adapted for carrying on of the poultry business, he is prepared to handle any amount of stock that is in condition to dress off.

Being permanently located here, he will be in the market as long as there is any stock to market, enabling the farmers to dispose of any late batched stuff which they will not be able to get into condition during the early winter months. Poultry growers will find it to their advantage to give him a call before disposiong of their poultry.

TO HEAR HER SING.

To see her perfect head thrown back, While from her lips (the daintiest ever kissed) There ripples forth a melody so free, Bo joyous and so glad, the happy birds Are moved to wonder on the maple tree Just at the window, where she sits and sings, Herself the sweetest among all sweet things!

The little psyche knot of golden hair-I wonder oft if angels wears theirs so—
The soulful eyes uplifted—I am sure

Could look more fair or more divinely pure! The bunch of lilies on her girlish breast Show scarcely white against her bosom's

But with an odorous sigh they closer cling, Glad to be near her, glad to hear her sing! —Nannie L. Hutter in Southern Magazine.

A PRECEDENT

"But don't you think," said I to Miss Hewitt, "that the end justifies the means?" She shook her head. "Oh, no," she said, "that's Jesuitical!" Well, now, here's an example," I suggested. "You are anxious to sell the contents of this stall, aren't you?" "Oh, yes!" responded Miss Hewitt. "And you would be delighted if some one were to come and buy it all up? It would be of such use to the charity.' 'Certainly," said Miss Hewitt promptly. "And would vex Miss Chudleigh over the way?" I added. Miss Hewitt looked at me with suspicion, but I'm sure I was very demure. "Oh, it would be nice, of course, to be successful," she assented. "It would mean £50." "May I trouble you for another ice?" said I, feeling that I was bound to do something after that. "Thank you-strawberry! Well, as I was saying, if you could find a means of getting rid of all this, and thereby benefiting the charity by so much, you would feel disposed to take it, even if it wasn't quite-well -quite, you know." "I wouldn't do anything dishonest," put in Miss Hewitt quickly. "Oh, I wasn't talking of anything dishonest," I protested. "I was only thinking that there might be other means, not dishonest, you know, but just a little-well, not quite conventional, you know."

"What sort of means?" asked Miss Hewitt curiously. "Why, now," I said, "you have sold very little all the day, haven't you?" Miss Hewitt bit her lips, and a disconsolate look came into her "While I've been here," I said, you have only disposed of two pairs of stockings, one woolen comforter for the hot weather and a sort of-a kind of-I didn't quite see, but I thought it looked like a—" "I know I haven't sold much," broke in Miss Hewitt hastily, and with a slight accession of color.

"You have only bought a few ices." I looked meditative. "So I have," I said, feeling that another call was made upon me. "I wonder if I might—no perhaps better not. I suppose you haven't such a thing as a baby's perambulator, Miss Hewitt?" Miss Hewitt was not amused. She had only an eye to a bargain. "No," she said eagerly, "I'm afraid I haven't, but I've got a very nicely dressed cradle, and some rattlesand"- "Ah," said I, shaking my head, 'I'm afraid it's not old enough for those things." She sighed and glanced across the way, where Miss Chudleigh was engaged in a roaring trade. "I think I might have one more ice," I said very bravely. It was not so very hard, after all. The heat was very great, and they soon melted. Miss Hewitt was very nice about it. "Are you sure you ought to?" she asked doubtfully. "Miss Hewitt," said I, "you are much too scrupulous. That is the reason of your failure. And yet you would have sold me a cradle and rattles with perfect equanimity, knowing that I am a bachelor. The inconsistency of your sex is a puzzle," I remarked, shaking my head. "Oh, but I didn't think about that!" she said, with a blush. "I only thought you wanted"- "Come, then," I said, "what would you do to get rid of all your articles of commerce?" Miss Hewitt's eyes opened. 'Oh, if I could only do that!" she exclaimed. "Well, how far would you be prepared to go for it?" said I insinuatingly. She paused. "I'd-I'd give up the ball tonight," she exclaimed impulsively. I shook my head. "I have no means of gauging the value of that renunciation," I said thoughtfully, "but possibly it is greater than the one I know which would enable you to sell your stall." "Oh, do you know a way?" cried she breathlessly. "Why, certainly," said I, still reflectively. "Mr. Randall, tell me," she pleaded, clasping her hands and putting her elbows on the stall. She looked eagerly into my face. I really had no notion until that moment, but somehow her action put it into my head. "Have you ever heard of the beautiful Duchess of Devonshire,

Miss Hewitt?" I asked. Miss Hewitt leaned, staring at me for a moment, and then a look of intelligence came into her eyes, her color started, and she moved away. "I don't think you should make that kind of jest," she remarked disdainfully. "It's not a jest," I answered reassuringly. "Then you're all the horrider," she returned, feigning to be busy with her commerce. "But," I said in perplexity, "I don't see—I only asked you if you remembered the Duchess of Devonshire-the one What's-his-name painted, you know." Miss Hewitt was much embarrassed. Her face took on many expressions. 'But you''— she began and stopped. 'Do you remember her?" I asked. "Of course," said Miss Hewitt snappishly. "Well, then," I said, "why am I horrid?" She paid me no attention, but began shifting the things upon the stall in a reckless way. "Oh," I exclaimed suddenly, "I see what you were thinking of! You thought I meant-I see now. You thought that I was advising you to sell"- Miss Hewitt got redder than "I didn't think anything of the sort," she exclaimed hurriedly and dusting away at nothing, "and I wish you'd go away if you're not going to buy anything." "I should like another ice, please," said I. Miss Hewitt was somewhat taken aback and looked as if she would like to my weeds. Yours truly, C. H. Spur-another ice upon the counter. "But now you have suggested it," I went on, considering, "it's not at all a bad idea." Miss Hewitt moved to the farther end of the stall and sold another pair of stockings. "It's quite worth thinking of," I said when she was within hearing again. "I am glad you mentioned it." "I never mentioned "I never mentioned anything," she retorted hotly. "No, of course you many people. didn't mention it," I agreed, "but I Universitydon't see why you should be angry, because we are discussing calmly"-

"I'm not discussing anything," she observed tartly. "No," said I, "but if the Duchess of Devonshire thought it a good deed to purchase what she considered the welfare of her country by allowing voters to kiss her I don't think you should be offended if, for the sake of an excellent charity"- "I am not the Duchess of Devonshire," said Miss Hewitt shortly. "I don't suppose," I said, "that it was much of a kiss." Miss Hewitt's nostrils curled in scorn. "Good people are always so particular," I said philosophically. Miss Hewitt's indignation broke forth. "Do you suppose, Mr. Randall," said she sareastically, "that one would allow any one that wished to"- "Oh, I never said any one," I interrupted hastily. "No; certainly not any one." She looked at me with undisguised hauteur. Iglanced about the stall. "I should like to have a lot of those things," I said. "I could send them to a children's hospital, you Miss Hewitt's face relaxed know." slightly. "They would be very useful," she said. "It would be £50, wouldn't it?" I asked, as if entering on a calculation. "Yes," said Miss Hewitt, with a little show of excitement; "£45 if any one took the lot." I fingered in my pocket and hesitated. "I'm afraid"said I. "You see, I forgot I had promised to buy a quantity of flowers for the infirmary," I remarked, glancing at Miss Chudleigh's stall. Miss Hewitt's face fell, but she said nothing. I took out my pocketbook and extracted some notes, dividing my looks between the two stalls in a hesitating way. "I think the children in the hospital would like the toys very much," said Miss Hewitt nervously. "Yes; they could play with the stockings nicely, couldn't they?' said I. She paid no heed to this remark.

"I wonder if Miss Chudleigh would presently. "Perhaps you had better ask her," said Miss Hewitt sarcastically. "Oh, no! I said hurriedly. "I was only wondering. For the sake of the poor, people do make sacrifices, I suppose."

"I don't believe she did let them—let them kiss her," remarked Miss Hewitt, after a pause and contemplating a wooden horse. "Don't you?" I asked, looking up. "What did they do, do you ing up. "What did they do, do you think?" Miss Hewitt examined the toy carefully. "Oh, she said indifferently, "I should think she merely pretended." "Pretended?" I echoed. "Yes; they only kissed-just-not quite-I mean they didn't really touch her, " she explained, with more interest in the horse. I considered this. "But some of them," I objected, "would not have been content to be put off that way. They must have really"- "Oh, if any one liked to be rude and take advantage like that," she said disdainfully, "she couldn't help it, poor thing!" "No," I assented, "I suppose she couldn't, and she must have hated it all the time." "Of course she did," said Miss Hewitt, now inspecting a doll. "But she did it out of a sense of duty-to benefit her country," I concluded. "A man would never have been so unselfish," said Miss Hewitt. "Nev-I said emphatically. But do von think that women are capable of such an act of self sacrifice in these days?" I asked. "Of course," said Miss Hewitt, watching some people go by with great interest, "if—if they only—only pre-tended to." "But if there was an accident?" I ventured. Miss Hewitt apparently did not hear this. "Do you really think," I persisted, "that a woman-a girl-would do a thing like that?' 'She wouldn't-she couldn't-of course the duchess did not let it pretend to be done-in-before any one else." "Not, for example, in a room like this?" I said, looking round the bazaar. "How, "Afterward," murmured Miss Hewitt, bending down to pick up a pin, I suppose. "Oh," I said, "she would only promise, then." Miss Hewitt said nothing. I rose. "Well, I'm afraid I must be really going," I said, holding out my hand. "I think if she were really honest she would have to keep her promise," said Miss Hewitt in a low I looked at her, but she was not looking at me. "I think you have given me it's quite enough," said Miss Hewitt Hewitt looked at me in surprise. "I thought you liked dancing," she said innocently. "Oh, sometimes!" I said. "But we might have a talk in the conservatory. It's sure to be very hot.' "Do you think it is?" said she. "Certain." "Oh, we'll see!" said she nonchalantly, I turned to go. "By the way," said I, leaning on the stall confidentially, "shall I leave you the £50 now? And then you can send the things to the hospital at once, you know. Miss Hewitt avoided my eye. "I didn't know," she began and broke off. "Perhaps it would be better," she murmured. I offered my hand. "Tonight, then," I said. She did look at me at last, but it was quite by accident-just the sort of accident that happened in the conservatory.-H. B. Marriott-Watson in Black and White.

Mr. Spurgeon as a Smoker.

The Rev. W. Williams, in his "Personal Reminiscences of C. H. Spurgeon," tells an anecdote concerning the great preacher as a smoker. Some gentleman wrote to Mr. Spurgeon, saying 'he had heard he smoked and could not believe it true. Would Mr. Spurgeon write and tell him if it really was so? The reply sent was as follows: "Dear ---, I cultivate my flowers and burn speak, but she only frowned and dumped | geon,"-Westminster Gazette.

Lovers of light opera will be pleased to learn that on Monday, Nov. 25, the Carleton company will appear at the Grand opera house. The opera to be given at Ann Arbor is the "Lily of Killarney." the music of which was composed by Sir Jules Benedict. To the theater going public of the larger cities W. T. Carleton, and his organization are well known. Mr. Carleton easily stands at the head of all light opera baritones in this country and is well known in England where he appeared in many of the leading roles in grand opera, before coming to this country. He created the principal baritone roles in the many successful operas produced at the standard Theatre, New York, under D'Oyle Cartes' management, also appeared in the leading role in many of the New York Casino successes. For the past 12 years he has headed an organization of his own, playing the leading cities of this country, and producing many of the most successful operas which have two waltzes tonight," I observed. "It appeared during that time. His comisn't very generous usage." "I'm sure pany this season is composed of well known and capable singers, who will firmly. Great Exposition, like its Predecessors, will be an Educator.

Paris at her Exposiiton in 1900 will probably give fresh strength to the growing movement for pure food which was so successfully started at the Chicago World's Fair. Indeed, the Columbian Exposition marked a new epoch in the important matter of wholesome eatables. As a result of the decisions of Prof. W. O. Atwater, Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the other scientists associated with better living. At the very beginning of the fair, Dr. Wiley, who had the matter in charge, ruled out alum baking powders on the ground that they were not fit articles to enter into human food. Leading physicians have emphasized this con demnaton by pronouncing them positively injurious to health. To cap the climax these powders have carried their own condemnation, revealing their true character in a perceptibly bitter taste they impart to food.

But the World's Fair could approve as well as condemn. Among baking powders, after the most elaborate tests, it bestowed the highest award for purity, leavening power, keeping qualites and general excellence on Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

Under the ruling of Dr. Wiley at the World's Exposiiton any one of the following list of alum powders would have been rejected as each of these brands has been subjected to chemical
