Mr. Mc-Kinley has 260 electoral votes, or 36 more than necessary with a chance at 17 others, while Mr. Bryan receives 170 electoral votes. Kentucky will not give 1,000 majority either way. Colorado leads the Bryan states with 126,-000 majority.; Nebraska gives him 13,-000; Kansas, 10,000. He carries the south and far west, but loses the east and middle west and California and

Washington.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 5.—Sullivan, republican candidate for governor, concedes the election of Rogers, his fusion opponent. Bryan and the fusion state ticket have apparently carried the state by a majority of less than 5,000 and will control the legislature. Complete returns from 59 precincts in Washington, outside of Tacoma and Seattle, give McKinley 2,890; Bryan, 3,320; Sullivan, republican, for governor, 2,819; Rogers, fusion, 3,413.

The Post-Intelligencer returns indicate that Bryan has carried the state by a majority of perhaps 3,000.

Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 5.-The fusion ticket in Arkansas was elected by a majority of from 25,000 to 30,000. The democratic candidates for congress were all elected by good majorities. It will be several days before all the returns are in from the back counties, but from the figures at hand the democratic majority is conservatively estimated at 25,000. The three populists on the ticket ran about 2,000 behind the democratic, which about represents ful count of all election returns it is the gold-standard democratic strength in the state.

Illinois.

Chicago, Nov. 5.-The entre republican state ticket floated in yesterday on the crest of the McKinley wave The ticket, headed by John R. Tanner, was chosen by majorities that kept in the immediate vicinity of Mc-Kinley's vote. Tanner fell behind in Cook county, as the politicians had predicted, but he ran ahead of McKinley in nearly all the counties outside of Cook, while Gov. Altgeld's name appears to have been "scratched" by the rural voters to an extent that put him behind his ticket in nearly all the counties outside of Cook.

California

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5.-California has joined the east in the Mc-Kinley landslide and its majority for the republican standard-bearer will By a Big Popular Plurality and pass 5,000 at least. Los Angeles, which was the silver stronghold in the southern tier of counties, is estimated as giving from 1,200 to 2,000 majority for McKinley. Outside of this city only one democratic representative seems to have been chosen. The legislature has gone with the general result and may safely be classed as republican, thus insuring the return of a republican to the United States senate.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 5.-Missouri returns are very incomplete, but it is known without doubt that St. Louis has given McKinley from 12,000 to 25,000 plurality, the former being conceded William McKinley, of Ohio, has by the democrats and the latter peen elected president by a popular ma- claimed by the republicans. Up to an early hour this morning less than onehalf of the election precincts in Missouri had been heard from. They show a lead for Bryan which, Chairman Cook claims, will give him the state by 70,

New York.

New York, Nov. 5.-With less than one-fourth of the election districts above the Harlem river to hear from and with the vote of New York city and Kings county complete, the plurality of McKinley over Bryan promises to exceed 303,000 in the state. One county in the state, Schoharie, which is the home of Chairman Danforth of the state democratic committee, has given Bryan a plurality of 500.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—Chairman Post of the republican state committee at 10 o'clock conceded Nebraska to the fusion ticket on presidential electors and governor, but he says that neither Bryan nor Holcomb, the latter being the fusion candidate for governor, will have anything like the plurality claimed by Chairmen Dahlman and Edminten, the democratic and populist chairmen. He says the legislative and the congressional tickets are still in doubt.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 5.—At 9 a. m. it seemed practically certain that Bryan has carried Kansas by a small majority. Chairman Briedenthal of the democratic state committee claims the state by 13,000. Chairman Simpson of the republican state committee, however, refuses to surrender and declares that complete returns will show a victory for the republicans. Returns generally indicate republican losses.

Michigan.

Latest returns show that approximately 480,000 votes were cast in Michigan last Tuesday on governor. Of these Mayor Pingree received 274,-960 and Sligh 205,040. The formers plurality is 70,267, while McKinley's is estimated at 54,568, or 15,699 votes pehind. The fusionists carried 18 counties in the state, which is five less. than the democrats carried in 1892. From late returns it appears that Sligh carried only 11 counties. In nearly every one of the counties of Michigan Pingree ran ahead of his ticket.

A. M. Todd, fusionist, according to A. C. Wisner, chairman of the third · · district silver congressional committee, carried his district by a plurality of 616. Judge Brucker's plurality in the eighth has been fixed at 1,583. In 1892 W. S. Linton carried the district by a plurality of 6,447.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5.—Scattering returns received show that Bryan and Sewall have carried Colorado by over 100,000 plurality in a total vote of about 175,000. No effort has yet been made to tabulate the returns. The democratic-silver-republican fusion state ticket, headed by Alva Adams, democratic candidate for governor, apparently has a plurality of 12,000 over the populist-silver party fusionists.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.-Nearly threefourths of the total vote of Oregon has been received. McKinley, 32,133; Bryan, 27,409; McKinley's plurality, 4,-724. Palmer's vote in the state will be about 100. It is estimated that the precincts yet to be heard from will reduce McKinley's plurality 1,500, making his plurality in the state 3,200.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 5.-After a careundoubtedly a fact that the democrats will win the state. They have the national ticket and the congressional by handsome majorities in all save the 10th and 12th congressional districts, which are conceded to the republicans.

New Orleans, Nov. 4.—Election returns are coming in slowly, but the indications are that the democrats have made a clean sweep, electing congressional delegation, and that Bryan has carried the state by not less than 30,000

AN ESSAY ON CORNS.

Miss Winnie Miller, who has been IT CONTAINS THE EXPERIENCE OF AN INQUIRING SUFFERER.

Seventy-eight members of the elocu- The Reply of a Chiropodist Started an Investigation -- Those Who Walk Suffer Most From Corns-How Sidewalks Exercise an Important Influence.

"What makes corns?"

"If people would not walk, they would not have corns," replied the chiropodist emphatically.

The reply was satisfactory as far as it went, but it didn't go far enough, and therefore the sufferer, not being the to ways, walked and pondered.

He began to notice, when he walked in one direction on one side of a street, that one foot was affected and when he walked in the opposite direction that team, and S. A. Stein was elected as the other foot was affected. The distress was in the foot that was toward the curb. He could not walk ahead awhile and then walk backward to relieve the pain, because he thought that he might be looked upon as a crank and that such behavior in a public street would be absurd anyway. Then he examined his shoes and observed that the most of the wear was on the outer edges of the soles and heels and that the upper leather had begun to bulge slightly over the worn parts of the soles. When he put his shoes on again, he observed that the leather where it bulged pressed on the painful area of each little toe. With the results of the observations in mind, the sufferer proceeded, step by nobody who met him could observe any unusual deflection from the ordinary lines of legs. He trod carefully, and, without making himself conspicuous tried to walk on a level, so that the pressure would be equal on the whole surface of each sole. His toeing was moderate-neither too much outward nor too much inward-and at times he succeeded in walking as his mind directed, but usually the distress that he winced from indicated that something was wrong somewhere. The foot on the curb side of the walk was generally distressed more than the other. The fit of his shoes was fair, and for awhile the drank could have an effect on his system that would tend to make him edge not to be thought of.

Going somewhat deeper into the subject, beneath the shoes and the painful areas, the investigator gave some attention to the surfaces on which he walked, and stowed away in his memory the characteristics of localities in which he believed he had experiences that were painful, more painful, and most painful, or almost painless. He noticed, for instance, when he walked across an asphalt pavement from one sidewalk to on asphalt pavement, but he rememberwho insisted on having the privilege of all sidewalks were not alike. He tried to confine his walks to the localities in which he felt the least distress, but he had to go such a roundabout way to arrive at any particular place, especially his place of business, that the plan had to be abandoned. Besides, he never trod a perfect route—a route that throughout its length had a surface that could be paced without pain. At one point or another the patient investigator felt twinges that were almost unbearable.

Lining up the subject on the best route he could find, he devoted his athad the most severe twinges. That sent him to the sidewalk, describing the action figuratively. He did not drop on to do that and to howl also, but he He inferred that his sufferings were some peculiarity or influence presented thought grasped nothing definitely, but as the pain departed from the affected foot, the powers of vision took hold and the result was a revelation.

As in many great discoveries and revit was natural that any one walking there should tend slightly toward the curb. The friction of the soles of the shoes on the sidewalk being greater than the friction of the feet on the inner soles of the shoes, the weight of the George Washington, when surveying body caused the feet to slide sidewise were different, and the painful effect in one foot and then the other depended on the direction in which the sufferer walked. When the right foot was toward the curb, its small toe was pressed against the leather and tortured, while the left foot by maintaining a level, the worn edge of the left shoe being about equal to the degree of the incline, had very light pressure on either the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache, side. Guided by the revelation, the sufferer trod carefully thereafter and kept clear of slanting sidewalks as frequently as possible, but in time he was compelled to acknowledge that the periods of relief from pain were far apart, because the rule is that sidewalks should slant toward the gutter, and the rule is followed generally, and he realized that the chiropodist's reply was accurate. -

As to Children and Dogs.

Washington Irving has often been accoased of saying that little dogs and caildren were influential members of French society. It is quite true that in the United States I never noticed that close and sentimental intimacy between human beings and quadrupeds so frequently seen in France. American life is so active, so desperately crowded, either usefully or socially, that perhaps it does not permit the loss of time inevitably brought about by friendly intercourse with a dog. As for children, I believe that their importance is equally great in all countries, but it asserts itself in a more noisy manner in America than anywhere else. Everything is sacrificed to them, for they represent the future, which is all that counts in a country whose past is very short and whose present is a period of high pressure development. Yet no one must suppose that, before presenting an apology for French children, I intend to malign American children, as certain travelers have taken the liberty of doing very thoughtlessly, although they had met them only on steamships, cars or at hotels, enjoying a holiday with that buoyancy which is the characteristic mark of the whole race. I have known some who were very well brought up, even from our point of view, and among those who were not I have admired precocious sense, vivacity of mind, quiet determination and capacity for self government-qualities which I should wish for all ours. -Th. Bentzon in Century.

Iron Foundations.

A new way of constructing a solid foundation for a tall building has been tried with success in Berlin. It was necessary to find a solid base sufficiently strong to carry a building weighing more than 10,000 tons. The plot of ground upon which the building was to stand was adjoined on both sides by high buildings, which rendered unsafe the digging to any depth for a foundation. The only way out of the difficulty was the sinking of a caisson in the center of the plot, upon the cemented top of which a hollow form of cement was built. Into this form molten iron was poured, filling up the space, and upon this cast iron foundation plate the understructure of the building now rests, while the side walls are supported by a cantalever structure. The full weight of the load upon the cast iron foundation is estimated at more than 20,000 tons. - New Ideas.

Michigan will have the most picturesque governor in the United States.

It was a landslide in the east and not much of a landslide in the west.

The election returns from this county show, if the republican press of before election is to be believed, that there are over 5,000 anarchists in the county.

New York changes politics in presidential elections every four years. It was her turn to go republican this year and she did it. Four years from now it is the democrats turn in that state.

In spite of the fact that Bryan loses this county, while Cleveland carried it by a phenomenal majority four years ago, Bryan has only 161 votes less in the county than Cleveland had in 1892.

The Washtenaw democratic county committee is deserving of much praise for their able conduct of the last campaign. Though complete victory did not crown their efforts, their work

Who Is She?

A Grand Rapids dispatch to the Detroit Tribune, under date of Oct. 30 is as follows:

'A young lady recently paid $800 cash for a mahogany bedroom set and other furniture of costly design. The clerk's curiosity was aroused. He found that she was a German who came here when she was 15 years of age. She worked as a housemaid, but expressed a determination to get an education. She went to the U. of M. and studied medicine and graduated. Her employer paid expenses. She has met with great success and her income is said to be represented by five figures. She was left a fortune in Germany recently and is there settling up the estate. She will return and build a handsome house in Washtenaw county." Who is she?

She wrapped a shawl around him and then went out and told her son Charles and his family that sne believed he was dead. And so it was, the old pioneer had died without a struggle, sleeping peacefully away.

Mr. Mills was born in Dover, Morris county, N. J., Aug. 11, 1809. His parents were Daniel H. and Joanna Mills, who came to this county in 1835 and located on section 7, Pittsfield, following the deceased, who had come here in 1833 and bought a tract of land in Manchester township, after which he returned to New York. In 1836 indoubtedly will have an anti-silver Mr. Mills returned to this county and made a permanent settlement on section 6, Pittsfield, which was his home ever since. He followed his trade of a brick mason until 1865, since which time he had devoted his attention to farming and raising small fruits. He married Miss Clemme McKnight in 1839, and seven sons were born to They are George B., Myron H. and Fred A., of Ann Arbor; James and Clark E., of Antrim county; F Elmer and Charles, of Pittsfield. Richard Mansfield's Clalm for Damages Against Himself.

Richard Mansfield, the greatest character actor on the American stage, and who will be at the Grand opera house, Nov. 18, is likely to have a novel lawsuit on his hands. The following particulars of it are taken from yesterday' Detroit Free Press:

Election Day Was an Idea One Everywhere.

VOTERS EARLY AT THE POLLS.

In All the Principal Cities of the United States the Vote Was Heavy and Intense Interest Was Manifested in the Election -All the Saloons Closed at Chicago-No Reports of Disturbances of a Serious Nature Anywhere.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Clear sky and bright sunshine were the favorable auspices with which election day opened Tuesday morning. More than half, and in some localities nearly two-thirds of the entire vote had been cast before 11 o'clock. Very little scratching was being done, the large majority of voters fearing to lose their vote by attempting to split the ticket. Before the polls were opened the voters had begun to gather. They came before 5:30 o'clock and before 6 there were lines waiting in nearly every precinct in the city. The early vote was particularly heavy in the wards where the labor vote is strong. At some points, such as Pullman and the west-ern half of the Twenty-third and Fifteenth wards, the crowds were large to be accommodated on the sidewalks and overflowed into the street.

All the Saloons Closed. The Pullman works were closed so as to give all employes ample opportunity to vote. On account of the size of the ballot the process of marking and depositing them was rather slow, but no serious delays were reported, and a disposition was manifested to expedite matters as far as practicable. A disposition to comply with the provisions of the election law was manifested in all quarters of the city. The saloons were closed, and the instances in which "side-door" schemes were worked were very few. The provision of the Australian election act forbidding any soliciting or electioneering within 100 feet of the pools was strictly adhered to. The police were given strict instructions on this matter before they started out, and members of both party organizations insisted on its enforce-

Bloomington, Ills., Nov. 3.—The weather was delightful following the showers of the night. Indications were that the heaviest ballot ever known would be polled. Both parties made great effort to poll every vote.

Peoria, Ills.. Nov. 3.—Weather opened clear and cool Tuesday. Many factories closed for the day and a heavy vote was cast early. Greatest interest manifested in years shown about the

of Party Leaders. New York, Nov. 3.-Throughout the interior of this state and in New Jersey and the New England states the weather Tuesday was clear and pleas-The 1,392 polling places in New York city opened at 6 o' clock and even at that early hour there were people waiting at most of the pollng places. In fact early voting appeared to be the general rule. In one of the up-town precincts, where there were 175 names registered, ninety-seven ballots had been cast at 8:30 o'clock. In another precinct, out of 242 registered, eighty-four had voted by 9 o'clock. Party leaders and watchers at the polls were making all sorts of claims as to what the early vote meant. The Bryanites claimed that the early vote was the labor, and that it was going for their candidate. The Republicans on the other hand saw in the rush the desire of the people to lose no time in asserting that they were for the Republican ticket and platform.

The early voting in Brooklyn was unusually large. Something like 35 per cent of the registered voters of the city had cast their ballots by 9 o'clock, and the indications pointed to the total vote of the day being considerably larger than that which was cast four years

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 3.-The sky Tuesday was cloudless. The polling booths were crowded from the opening hour to noon. While great interest was manifested, there was but little excitement.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The weather here was perfect and the vote was polled in a phenomenally rapid man-ner. By 9 o'clock in some districts onehalf the registered vote had been cast.

IN M'KINLEY'S STATE.

The Major Casts a Straight Republican Ticket from Top to Bottom.

Canton, O., Nov. 3.-Major McKinley cast his vote at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. It was straight Republican from top to bottom. All Canton was astir at the struggle in which it has figured so prominently. Bands and marching clubs were on the streets by 6 o'clock summoning voters to cast their ballots early. It was an ideal fall day, cool and balmy with the haze of Indian summer in the air.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 3.-There was a perfect crush of voters around the polls in this city during the early hours of the morning. Not since the war was there so much interest manifested in a presidential election. At many of the voting booths long lines of voters were drawn up awaiting an opportunity to cast their ballots when the polls opened.

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—The temperature Tuesday was that of a fine autumn day, crisp enough to be invigorating. Never were voters more eager to get to the polls. In some of the precincts one-half the vote was in the boxes before 8 o'clock, while everywhere there were indications that every vote would be polled.

IN BRYAN'S STATE.

The Democratic Presidential Candidate Votes at Lincoln.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—Mr. Bryan cast his vote at 11:02. He had arrived from Omaha almost an hour earlier, but was compelled to drive some distance to the polling place, and to stop on his way at the city hall to secure a certificate of citizenship on account of his failure to register before. He then proceeded to the engine house in precinct A of the Fifth ward, and cast his ballot in his order.

bailot was punched into the box and of this was seen in more rapid voting as the name of "W. J. Bryan" was an-nounced. "I'll take the chances on at the polls. The voting began very that," responded the presidential can- early under clear skies with springdidate.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3.-Election day dawned bright and clear. The voters did not appear to rise early, the terrible struggle of Monday night, in which the majority of both parties participated, appearing to have exhausted ven the most active. The close of the first hour saw the voters coming in a little faster. Many wore their decoraretired during the night. Both sides were liberally supplied with workers at the polls, all watching keenly for any chance to challenge the known sympathizers of one or the other side.

KEYSTONE STATE.

Finest Kind of Election Weather Prevailed in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Reports from all over Pennsylvania were to the ef- 6 o'clock in this city, and during the fect that the finest kind of election weather prevailed and that a very heavy vote came out in the morning hours. In this city the principal interest centered in the fight for the sheriff's office between the rival Republican factions. The administration candidate is Samuel R. Ashbridge, and the anti-administration faction is represented by Alexander Crow. The latter was supported by the Democrats. Crow developed unexpected strength in wards claimed by the Ashbridge leaders, and early indications pointed to his election if the ratio of votes in his favor continued.

Pittsburg, Nov. 3.—Mild, spring-like weather with clear skies, brought out the heaviest early vote ever known in this city. In many districts it was 50 per cent. greater than usually polled in the same time. Intense partisan feeling prevailed but no serious disturbances have been reported.

THE HOOSIER STATE.

Fine Weather in Indiana Called Out a Full Vote.

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—The weather Tuesday was of that sort that called out a full vote. The polls opened at 6 o'clock and many ballots were cast with empty stomachs. This (Marion) county is already Republican and will likely remain so by an increased majority. Palmer and Buckner will get a vote of not less than 500 in this county, it is thought, while Woolen, gold standard Democratic candidate for congress, will probably run ahead of this num-At 8 o'clock more than half the vote had been cast in a number of the 168 precincts of this city.

Missouri.

St. Louis, Nov. 3.—Election day in St. Louis and Missouri opened cold and clear. The polls opened at 6 o'clock in militia. St. Louis and the larger cities, while in the smaller towns and the remainder of the state at 7 o'clock. The greatest vote in the history of St. Louis was cast, the registration under the new law being 110,000. The voting progressed quietly and rapidly, and a greater part of the ballots were cast during the early hours. Six national tickets were in the field, with seven state tickets. Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—Perfect Indian summer weather prevailed in Kansas City. The polls opened at 6 o'clock and found hundreds of voters and the most intense interest was shown. The election progressed quietly than expected. and swiftly.

Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 3.—The polls pened in this state at 8 o'clock. Most crowded. The greatest interest was of the industrial establishments were manifested in the election and a full closed. ### At Hobart's Home.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 3.—Garrett A. Hobart, the Republican vice presidential candidate, left his home, at the corner of Carroll and Ellison streets, shout 9:20 Tuesday morning to vote. When Mr. Hobart entered the polling booth he greeted all the inspectors. They all bade him good morning, and he returned the compliment. About one-third of the vote in the district had been polled when Mr. Hobart cast his

Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Nov. 3.—Election day opened bright and clear in spite of official predictions to the contrary. Voting began promptly at sunrise, and the polling booths attracted steady streams of men.

West Superior, Wis., Nov. 4.-Fully one-third of the vote of the city was cast before 10 o'clock and the biggest poll in the history of the city was in by 4 o'clock.

Minnesota.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.-Crisp, cool, clear weather and unusual interest brought out voters early, and fully half the total registration had been voted by 10

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 3.—At noon half of the vote in the state had been polled. Reports from all points indicated unprecedented early voting. Rapid voting indicates straight tickets.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 3.—The greatest interest was shown in the election here tions of the night before, not having and the largest vote the city ever polled was exceeded by from 1,000 to 1,-500. Weather was clear and cool.

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 3.-More early votes were polled than ever before in this city and indications were that fully 40 per cent. more ballots would be cast than in 1892. The weather was perfect and the election progressed quietly.

Massachusetts.

Boston, Nov. 3.—The polls opened at first hour in many precincts the number of the votes cast was larger than ever before in the same period. This was especially noticed in some of the wards in the more fashionable districts, where the citizens are not in the habit of hurrying to the polling places. Such conditions are reported also from all the cities of New England and on all sides the prediction of a heavy total vote is made.

Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Election day dawned with a slightly clouded sky that gave promise of fine weather until the polls closed. The interest manifested was never so pronounced in this city. Voters obeyed the oft-repeated injunction of the party managers to Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 3.—Crowds were waiting in line when the polls opened at 7 o'clock. Voting proceeded quietly. A large vote was polled.

How Watson Voted.

Thomson, Ga., Nov. 3.—Hon. Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for vice president, walked from his home to the polls early Tuesday morning and deposited his ballot. He voted for John T. West, Populist candidate for congress, but tore off that portion of the ticket bearing the names of the Mc-Kinley electors. Mr. Watson's example in this respect is being largely followed by the Populists of the district.

North Carolina.

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 3.—Election change. Put your hand in your pocket day opened bright and clear. Voters were out earlier than usual and a heavy vote was assured.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3.—An enormous vote was polled throughout the state. The threatened race riot at Goldsboro was averted by the calling out of the newsboys in sight. Every one of them

Jay Gould's Nemesis. I am seated before a blazing fire in the library of a man I see at a glance is a book loving as well as book owning man. Near me, by the center table, Jay Gould is seated in a low chair. The shaded lamp throws a flood of light on a book he holds, and also shows in relief against the background of shadow his clear cut features. It is the face of a student, and as he turns to answer some questions I have asked about the book I find the happiest expression resting on that face. The dark eyes are brimming over with that thoughtful look which shows a free mind and a happy moment. Then suddenly a spasm of pain distorts the face, the eyes close, the book falls from a nerveless hand. For a moment he seems to suffer the torture of the damned. Then he pulls himself together, begs to be excused, and then goes slowly up the broad stairway, to pass a night of anguish.

His Nemesis has struck home-neuralgia, which has traveled with him 40 years—an enemy which all his wealth could not bribe had claimed its pound of flesh. When I heard of how he diedturned his face to the white wall, whispered "I am so tired, tired," and then slipped into the unknown—this scene came back to me with new meaning. Gould grabbed for gold—got it. And that was all he did get out of life. -Cornhill Magazine.

Modern Fire Worship In Scotland.

Burghead, in Morayshire, is unique in one respect. It has "the burning of the clavie." This ceremony is gone through every New Year's eve, old style. It is supposed to be a relic of fire worship. There is now only one other community, it is said, in Britain clavie consists of half an Archangel tar barrel fixed on the top of a fir prop about four feet long. The second half of the tar barrel is broken up, put inside and mixed with tar. A stone must be used to knock in the nail which connects the pole and the barrel. The broken bits in the barrel are then lighted

by means of burning peat, no such thing as a lucifer match being allowed.

For over 50 years the clavie has been made by the same man, and one particular townsman has provided the "live" peat for 40 years. In the dark winter night the blazing thing is borne up one street and down another at high speed then carried to the Doorie hill in the middle of the village. Here the pole is fixed on a short, strong column, and the clavie burns out. The women rush in, and, picking bits of the now dying clavie to "keep the witches away," disappear into the darkness. - Glasgow Herald.

Who Has Been Robbed.

A prominent capitalist of Detroit was recently presented with a deed of a farm, the consideration being the amount of a mortgage held by him with two years' interest which was in default. The farm was bought twenty years ago for $10,000, and the mortgage given at the time for $3,000. In spite of the default in payment of interest recently, foreclosure was not made because the land was not considered by the mortgagee to be readily convertible into cash. The land has been improved in productive capacity, is well located, and the buildings and fences are in better order than when the mortgage was given. The question follows: Who has been robbed?

WONDERFUL ESCAPE. STRANGE INFATUATION

Chicago Wcman Kills Her Nephew in Elgin.

LOVED HIM BETTER THAN LIFE.

He tells the following story of a In Order to Prevent Him from Ever Loving Another Woman Mrs. Anna Schreiber Murders Bruno Milke, Who Was Only 14 Years Old, and Then Attempts to Kill Herself-Left a Note to Her Husband Telling of Her Intentions.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Filled with infatuation for her 14-year-old nephew, Bruno Milke, Mrs. Annie Schreiber, aged 28, shot him and herself to prevent his ever loving another woman. Captain Schuettler of the Sheffield avenue station received a telephone message from Elgin Tuesday morning announcing that the tragedy had been culminated. The boy was found dead street, Elgin, shot through the head and heart. With bullet wounds in her eye and breast, the woman lies dying in the Elgin hospital. Mrs. Schreiber's threat to her husband has been carried out. The two had died at her hands by means of a revolver purchased by him.

For months this woman, guilty of a double crime, has been thus strangely infatuated with her nephew, who lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Milke, 867 Sheffield avenue.

Noticed the Strange Attachment. Mrs. Schreiber lived next door at 865 Sheffield avenue with her husband, Paul Schreiber, an electrician. The two families noticed the strange attachment between the two, but thought little of it until a few days ago, when Herman found a startling letter in his son's pocket. It was from Mrs. Schreiber and read:

'I love you more than I do my life. You say that you love me. I will always love you, and because I will you must never love anyone but me. I will shoot you if you do, and then I will shoot myself."

Bruno confessed that his aunt loved with all the wild intensity shown in her letter. It was also learned that he was easily moved by the influences she exerted over him. Astounded by this condition of affairs, Milke told his son never to visit the Schreiber home again. Took the Letter to Schreiber.

He took the letter to Mr. Schreiber and there was a stormy scene between nusband and wife.

'Yes, I love that boy," declared Mrs. Schreiber. "I love him better than my life. I love you no longer. I wrote that note. It is not half strong enough. ove you no longer. I love him, and him alone—better than you or than all the world or heaven!"
"All right," said Schreiber, angrily,

I will leave you to your baby lover. He left the house, and spent Sunday night elsewhere. When he returned Monday morning he found this note:

"It is all over now. Paul and I have gone away together. I shall shoot him and then kill myself. "ANNA SCHREIBER."

STORY AS TOLD IN ELGIN. Is Claimed That Milke Shot the Woman and Himself. Elgin, Ills., Nov. 3.-Bruno Milke and Mrs. Schreiber arrived here from Chicago on Monday evening and went to the home of John Schultz, on Wing street. Both had formerly lived in this neighborhood, Milke's father having some years ago built the house. They remained there during the night. It is evident that they labored under strong mental excitement. During the night they were heard talking and at where the practice is carried on. The 4 o'clock awakened the Schultzes by what seemed to be a violent quarrel the woman apparently then decided to leave. They went before 6 o'clock, it was supposed, to take an early train to Chicago. When they were two blocks from the house pistol shots were heard. A German woman, who lived near, says that when she heard the shots Mrs. Schreiber was lying on the ground and Milke had a revolver pointed at his own head. Officers found him dead, a bullet in his brain and a wound in his The woman was unconscious, heart. with bullets in her head and body. The revolver of 32-caliber lay by Milke's side, four chambers empty and the fifth and last cartridge struck but not discharged. Mrs. Schreiber is at Sherman hospital fatally hurt. At the hospital the woman revived and made a statement. She said Milke shot her and himself. She said they could not live without each other. She blamed her sister, Milke's mother, for the trouble causing the tragedy.

ISFODEL CASTLE.

Many years have vanished from the face of the earth since the castle of Isfoon the sidewalk in front of 667 Wing del was first erected. The ravages of war have filled many a land with sorrow, and the angel of peace has often visited the world, bringing balm to the weary. Empires have arisen, and, like the paling of a star, have disappeared from the firmament of time since that remote period.

It is written on the pages of tradition that this castle was built by Lord Hildebrand, a retiring gentleman, who cared little for martial display, but preferred the unobtrusive quietude of a solitary life. He rarely engaged in any of the numerous tournaments that were so prevalent in those days-not that he lacked the courage to mingle in the combats, nor for a lack of confidence to cope successfully with the different participants. Lord Hildebrand possessed a mind whose functions tended more to a literary or an artistic life than to the study of warfare or any of its relations. His soul was deeply æsthetical in its perceptive qualities. He beheld beauty in nature that seemed cold and rude to others. In the construction of the castle of Isfodel there had been displayed so much grandeur and beauty that it seemed as if it had been erected as a mansion of retirement instead of a means of defense. The former intentions were at first proposed by Lord Hildebrand, but it was not long after the completion of the castle that the Danes invaded that portion of the country, and then Isfodel was altered from a quiet retreat to a place of defense, its elevation and surroundings greatly adapting it as a stronghold, and so, after many weeks of exertion in attempting to take it, the Danes finally withdrew, leaving the Hildebrand and a few companions. At the time of our narrative Isfodel had undergone many changes since the days of its former possessors. It still, however, presented the same granitic appearance. The wild, wrathful ocean beat against the base of the cliff on which the castle stood, and dark and lonely appeared the great forest a few rods away. Lord Hildebrand and many of his followers had passed away to the land of the soul.

castle still in the possession of Lord

Finally Isfodel fell into the possesison of Lord Hurdron, an exceedingly unpopular man, of crabbed disposition and darkened reputation. He was domineering in his conduct toward those beneath him in social standing, and, added to this, he bore such a selfish spirit that he won the respect of only a few

Very different in her nature was Lady Ella, the only daughter of Lord Hurdron. She possessed all those qualities and accomplishments that tend toward the development of true womanhood. She was greatly liked by all who knew her, and well did she merit the love that her friends bore her.

If there was one thing to which Lord Hurdron was violently opposed, it was that Lady Ella should marry a man who possessed not wealth and bore not the title of nobleman. She well knew her father's antipathy to her forming an intimacy with any of the lower class. Still, this did not deter her from seeking the company of Roland Hilter, and with whom she had fallen deeply in love. He possessed nothing in his nature that even Lord Hurdron could find aught against had not the latter such an austere and jealous disposition.

The knowledge of love meetings is sometimes difficult to keep from suspicious parents, and so it was in the case of Lady Ella and her lover. It was not long before Lord Hurdron became cognizant of the interviews existing between his daughter and Roland Hilter, and he immediately proposed to break the intimacy.

Early one morning, as he was passing through the dark forest of Athol, Lord Hurdron's attention was arrested by the sound of voices falling on his ear. Presently Lady Ella, accompanied by Roland Hilter, appeared in view. Not wishing to be observed by them, Lord Hurdron stepped behind a large tree to wait until they passed by.

"Dear Roland; let us sit down for a few moments," said Lady Ella in a Lord Hurdron managed to restrain his temper and wait for further developments. He saw the young couple sit down under the umbrageous foliage of a large oak tree. He beheld the young man pass his arm tenderly around the waist of the fair girl, and he noticed that she did not attempt to resist this act of familiarity.

"Dear Ella," said Roland, "let us leave this country and fly to some foreign land, where our marriage can take place unhindered by your people, for you know that were your father to learn of our betrothal he would spurn me from these premises as he would a reptile."

"Dear Roland," replied Lady Ella, 'wheresoever you go there I will bear you company. What is the love I entertain for my people compared with the deep affection that has chained our hearts together?"

"Then this evening at the red room await my coming." And as Roland ut- Princeton Tiger.

tered these words he arose from his seat and together they walked away.

As Lord Hordron heard these words he inwardly cursed the soul of Roland Hilter. He waited until the young lovers had gone some distance, when he emerged from his place of concealment higher crustaceans, into prehensile orand quietly wended his way toward the castle. On his way he met one of his servants, to whom he spoke a few words. The man's face slightly changed other hard shelled marine animals. In color as his master's voice fell on his

As Roland spoke he stepped forward, Magazine. and presently only a small space intervened between him and the side of the precipice. Ere he had time to return he felt himself being pushed over the cliff. Impulsively he stretched forth his hand and grasped Rupert, his assailant, by the arm. The latter struggled to free himself, but in vain, and a moment afterward the pitiless ocean received them in its depths.

That evening Lady Ella waited long for the appearance of Roland, but he did not come. She knew not that, tossed here and there by the angry waves, his lifeless form was in the ocean.

The next day, as she was walking along the edge of the cliff, her mind full of strange forebodings, the upturhed face of her dead lover met her vision. Her head swam, and she toppled over the cliff. As she fell the ocean clasped death were thrown open to receive another soul.

That night Lord Hurdron retired to the red room. The nonappearance of Lady Ella did not seem to affect him. As he sat down his thoughts reverted lord. "So you've returned, you base scoundrel? Death be upon you!' As he spoke he drew a pistol and fired at the spectral form. When the smoke cleared away, no one save Lord Hurdron remained in the room.

For a moment he hardly stirred. For a moment he hardly stirred.

Then his head dropped on his breast, in the and his eyes put on a glazed appearance. When the servants entered, only the bate dead body of Lord Hurdron remained in Bure the room. The physicians pronounced his death as the result of heart disease, but they knew not what was its rightful cause. The bodies of Rupert, Roland Hilter and Lady Ella were never recovered.

The sea refused them to mortal man. For years the red room of Isfodel's castle was haunted. It is said that the pale form of Lady Ella often appeared at the window, as if in waiting for some one. The castle has long since been destroyed, but the strange story connected with it is still fresh in the minds of many persons in England.—Exchange.

The Age of Rush.

Americans take too little rest. They concentrate all their strength upon a few years' struggle for wealth, and when they have attained success they find that they have exhausted their vitality. They have been prodigal of their energy, their endurance and all the splendid powers of youth and prime. When it is too late, they discover that they have risked health for what is no recompense, and that they have really thrown away the opportunity of enjoying a long existence. But the fault is not all that of individuals. The exactions of these latter days make men. not all that of individuals. The exactions of these latter days make men slaves. They have so many things to do and they have to do them in such a do and they have to do them in such a latter than have no chance to rerush that they have no chance to recuperate. They are victims of conditions that are undermining the nation. -Omaha World-Herald.

Some interesting comparisons may be made with the vote of two years ago. McKinley's majority in Ann Arbor city is 169 more than Rich's was two years ago, and in Ypsilanti city 22 more. Bryan gets 127 more votes in Ann Arbor city than Fisher got, while McKinley gets 296 more than Rich. In only three townships did McKinley gain on Rich's majority of two years ago. These were Pittsfield, 3; Saline, 6, and Ypsilanti town, 6. The Bryan gain or McKinley loss in the other 17 townships as compared with the majorities of 1894 was as follows: Ann Arbor, 6; Augusta, 87; Bridgewater, 27 Dexter, 35; Freedom, 14; Lima, 16; Lodi, 9; Lyndon, 35; Mnachester, 29; Northfield, 47; Salem, 24; Scio, 58; Sharon, 20; Superior, 37; Sylvan, 112; Webster, 83; York, 104.

It will be seen that Sylvan shows the largest gain, 112, while York is a close second. In proportion to the total vote Webster shows the largest gain.

Summing up the comparison with 1894, we may add that Bryan gets 1196 more votes than Fisher got, while Mc-Kinley gets 544 more than Rich received. It may be added that the pro hibition vote decreased 295, and the been merged in the Bryan vote, while this year the new national party gets 40 votes and the Palmer ticket 198.

T. J. Keech's Kindness.

The proprietors of the Argus, in common with the other newspaper men of the city, are under great obligations to Thomas J. Keech, the obliging manager of the telephone exchange, for courtesies rendered on the night of election day. The Michigan Telephone Co. also comes in for its share of the thanks. Not only did the company throw open its office and lines for the accommodation of the reporters and others, but in cases where returns could not be received from a place by telephone, Mr. Keech had them sent in by telegraph or brought in by couriers. The lunch provided shortly after midnight by Mr. Keech was a very pleasant adjunct to a hard night's work and was heartily enjoyed. You have our sincere thanks, Bro. Keech.

The Franking Privilege.

Some idea of the enormous amount of campaign literature sent out from Washington recently may be gathered from the 40,000,000 speech envelopes which have been printed at the government printing office upon orders from congressmen, 5,000,000 were ordered by Senator Faulkner, chairman of the democratic committee; 4,000,000 by Representative Babcock, chairman of the republican committee, 5,700,000 by Representative Linton, of Michigan, and the remainder by other members.

Who Paid the Other Quarter? The Jackson Press says: "At the University Friday each student who intended going home to vote was requested to hand in a slip, on which his preference in the choice for president was written. Afterwards all who had named McKinley as their choice were invited to the republican headquarters. What was done there was not stated, but it was noticed that the republicans obtained their tickets home at one-quarter fare while the democrats
