duced an amendment to the constitution of the state in the legislature Ann Arbor. 2:30—School report. 3:00 which is of more pressing local interest than any other amendment which has no less an amendment than one which would permit every male student of over 21 years of age to vote here and in Ypsilanti. This is accomplished by changing the little word 'while' in the constitution to "by reason of." This removes an adverb of time from the ase and allows a student to gain a residence while attending a school or semsent condition of things he cannot do. lanti. Collection. Music.

Mr. Sawyer's amendment would in crease the vote of Ann Arbor by 1,500. It would throw the control of all the municipal offices into the hands of the students and would render the taxpayer powerless to help himself should his S. It is one which calls for men to rise that in several places notably at Albion cellaneous business. the students had obtained local control and ran the villages as they pleased, having no more than temporary interests in the politics or local policies of their temporary residences. Any one who knows the interest student bodies take in class politics would know with what avidity they would seize upon the control of a city like Ann Arbor.

Mr. Sawyer should consider these things and pocket his little bill.

MRS. FILLMORE'S CLAIM

Against the K. O. T. M. on Trial in tha Wayne Circuit Court.

Mrs. Catherine Fillmore has brought | suit in the chancery division of the Wayne circuit court for a mandamus to compel the Great Camp of the Maccabees to show cause why her claim against the order for the $2,000 policy held by her late husband, A. Fillmore, should not be paid.

Mrs. Fillmore first sued the Arbor Tent, No. 296, K. O. T. M., and the case was tried before Judge Kinne, in the Washtenaw circuit court. The jury awarded her a verdict for the full amount, but the supreme court reversed the judgment of the lower court on a technicality. Next, Mrs. Fillmore applied to the executive committee of the Maccabees for the payment of her claim and was refused. She then applied to the supreme court, which decided that she should have taken an appeal to the Great Camp from the action of the executive committee. Mrs. Fillmore did recognize her claim. She has now commenced the present proceedings.

The arguments were made before Judge Lillibridge by Prof. Thompson, of the University of Michigan, for Mrs. Fillmore, and De Vere Hall, of Bay City, for the Maccabees. The court allowed both sides 10 days in which to file briefs

As to Whether They Shall Be Held for Trial

Against Lyons, Jones and Larkins-The Testimony Given at the Examination.

The examination of the three young men, Wm. Larkins, Ed. Lyons and Rupert Jones, of Plymouth, who have been under arrest since Feb, 13, on the charge of having murdered James Richards, in the town of Superior, on the night of Jan. 30, was held in Justice Gibson's court room, Tuesday. The two rooms which compose the justice's office were all too small to accomodate the large crowd of people who were desirous of hearing the proceedings. Many of them were from Plymouth and Superior, but the majority were residents of Ann Arbor.

It was 10:15 o'clock when the defendants, each of them wearing a large buttophole boquet of white carnations, were brought into court by the officers. The case for the people was conducted by Prosecuting Attorney John P. Kirk, while the defense was conducted by Frank E. Jones and S. C. Randall, of this city, and Mr. Cady, of Detroit, who is a cousin of Rupert Jones

The first witness called was Dr. Walker, of Salem. She not being present, M. C. Peterson, who has worked up the case was put on the stand. He Smith; Mr. Marshland, who has sown Organization, E K. The cutter had come in from the east and went out towards the east. There was no track at all going west. Examined the road for 20 rods. It was 25 rods from the first gate nearest the road to the second gate, and 50 rods between that gate and the house.

The felts and rubbers worn by Larkins and the rubbers worn by Lyons were offered in evidence by the defense and were marked for identification by Justice Gibson.

This was all the testimony given and as it would take some time for the stenographer to reduce it to writing, the men were remanded until Thursday, March 18, when Justice Gibson will render his decision.

WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Comedy Club's Fine Performance of "The Private Secretary."

The audience that attended the production of "The Lace Maker" 'The Private Secretary' by the University Comedy Club at the Grand opera house Saturday evening, was the largest and most fashionable that has been seen there this season. Fraternity and sorority theater parties were numerous and nearly the whole of the parquet was occupied by them. A large number of the faculty of the university and their ladies were also present.

"The Lace Maker" has but two characters in it, M. Pinaud, a wealthy but miserly manufacturer, and Pierre Egmot, his designer, portrayed respectively by A. M. Smith and Karl E. Harriman in a most admirable manner.

The cast of characters in "The Private Secretary" was filled as follows: Mr. Cattermole, the rich uncle, J. S. Handy; Douglas Cattermole, who is sowing his wild oats, T. J. Weadock; Harry Marshton; Rev. Robert Spaulding, the Private Secretary, Karl E. Harriman; Gibson, the tailor with a bill, D. H. Wagar; Knox, the bailiff with a writ, M. B. Snow; Perkins, servant, W. M. McKee; Miss Edith Marshland, as lively as a kitten, Miss Divine; Miss tain road.

Larkins told him they went to Northville to "have a time." Lyons said they went to Northville to get a the "old landlady," Miss Phillips.

The entire performance was a most meritorious one on the part of all the performers, although Mr. Harriman had a little the best of it, in that he played the principal part in the play.

E. R. de Pont, who officiated as stage manager, and H. I. He Abolished the Page.

For many years the Cincinnati Enquirer used to print a solid editorial page and employed an exclusive editorial staff of cix writers, who wrote all their matter at night in order to keep abreast | ing to give up their place names without of the telegraphic news. One Fourth of a struggle. July evening as they assembled to begin work somebody suggested a patriotic filed down to a restaurant near by, and, as they lined up at the bar, the door opened and Washington McLean, the presiding genius of the paper, came in. Mr. McLean did not drink often, but church that bit the dust. when he did he drank very hard. Or this occasion he was celebrating the Fourth.

The result was that round after round of whisky was ordered, and nobody writer (who tells the story in the Chicago Times-Herald), who went back to the editorial rooms and sat down to write an editorial. He never got beyond the first sentence, "Yesterday was the Fourth of July." The next day, when the paper came out, on the editorial page there was just one line of editorial matter. At the top were the words, 'Yesterday was the Fourth of July, and the rest of the page was filled with news. The reading public believed that the change was intentional, and Mr. McLean received so many congratulatory letters commending his enterprise in giving news preference over editorial that he abolished the editorial page per-

The Vendish Tongue In Germany. Consul General de Kay writes for The Century a paper on the Serbian swamp Vendland under the title of "An Inland Venice." Mr. de Kay says: These people speak German to the lordings as we pass Vendish to our boatman, but the Vendish is disappearing because, for the sake of the army, its teaching is discouraged. Throughout all this distriet, far over into Saxony, only a few churches still offer sermons in the old tongue. Yet if the Vendish tongue disappears the names of places will tell the tale, even as such names in Brandenburg and Saxony still do Dresden, Leipsic, these are Vendish words-or call them Slavic, with the broader term that now means the race. And here about are Cottbus, Vetschau, Muschen, Brahmow, Babow, Dlugy, Raddush Leipe, Lehde, Byhleguhre, Straupitz and Lubben. And the fliesses that wind or shoot straight in and out of forest and cleared fields retain Vendish names: Mutniza, Blushnitza, Rogazo, Zschapigk, Polenzo, Groblitzo and Nabasatz. Efforts have been made to give German names to many of them, but country people everywhere are great holders to precedent, and the people who stick so tightly to their old costume are not go-

A Noteworthy Suffrage League.

Millington is a small village in Franklin county, Mass. Although the village contains only about a dozen families, some of its women are very much interested in the cause of woman suffrage, and last October they decided to form a woman suffrage league, hoping they might be able thereby to help the movement a little. At present the league consists of but seven members, but they are hoping that a few others may join them later on. It is officered by a president and secretary. They do not hold regular meetings; but, as the secretary writes me, "Any member can call a meeting at any time when she sees an opportunity to do any good for the cause." She also says, "We are pledged to go every year to our annual town meeting, thinking, by so doing, to convince the voters that we are interested feel the necessity as well as the justice of women voting, and they wish to help the cause all they can.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A BIRD THAT WORKS.

Orley Smith tills the soil for Mart A Mexican Siskin That Has to Earn Each Meal Before He Gets It. In the bird store at 240 Sixth avenue, can siskin, that has to work for its living. It is a very intelligent bird, and it seems to be fond of hard labor.

One thing is very pleasant about the work the bird does, and that is that it can never get hungry while performing it. The work, indeed, consists of eating and drinking. When the siskin wants to drink, he cannot reach the water holder like any other caged bird. He has to draw water bucket, and then, planting his feet upon the slack of the bucket cord, he holds the bucket in place so that he can drink.

And when he wants to get at the seeds which are housed temptingly in a little wagon outside of his cage, the siskin has learned to pull the wagon up an inclined plane to the bars of his cage. He keeps his feet on the cord until he has had his fill, and then he allows the wagon to and so many millions already published, roll back to its place out of his reach. -New York World.

Bubble Football.

Some of you who are expert bubble blowers will find much fun in bubble football. Sounds queer, doesn't it? Of course you don't kick the bubbles, but you blow them about just as the rush line of a football team forces the ball down the field.

Cover a table with an old shawl or other woolen cloth, and at one end set up two sticks about a foot apart with flags on top of each. At the other end somebody please lend us a pair? Still of the table your bubble blowing operations are to be conducted. Of course you have put a little glycerin in the suds to make the bubbles tough, and now each of the players has a pipe ready. Bubbles are blown and allowed to float down and light on the shawl. Then each player begins to blow his bubble gently toward the other end of the table and between the two goal sticks. It is very exciting fun. If two or more bubbles come into collision, up they go, and the players who are blowing them must withdraw from the game. The boy or girl who is lucky enough to blow a bubliable, and guaranteed to do good or ble between the two goal sticks wins the game. Four or five play the game best, but even if there are only two they will find it lots of fun. The footballs, of course, are very delicate, and they must be blown about very gently.-Chicago

And—yes—you may put out the light, For I'll promise you truly I won't be afraid, As I was last night. You'll see, 'Cause I'm going to be papa's brave little maid, As he told me I ought to be.

But the shadows won't seem so dark, mamma If you'll kiss me a little bit more, And you know I can listen and hear where

If you only won't-shut the door For if I can hear you talking, I think It will make me so sleepy, maybe, That I'll go to sleep just as quick as a wink And forget-to cry like a baby.

You needn't be laughing, my mamma dear, While you're hugging me up so tight. You think I am trying to keep you here, You and—I guess—the light.
Please kiss me good night once more, mamma

I could surely my promise keep

"Don't care," said Tommie. "Uncle my birthday!"-Harper's Round Table Spring Catarrh

Again spirng is here. The long, cold winter with its bluster and chill, has passed, and has left in its train innumerable victims of chronic catarrh. They have taken a great many remedies during the winter with perhaps temporary relief, but a fresh cold has brought and weary of trying, they have concluded that there can be no relief for This is a great mistake; and now is the time to rectify it. The spring is the most favorable time of the year to treat catarrh. There is so much less liability to take fresh cold that the treatment is unimpeded. All old cases of chronic catarrh should begin immediately a course of Pe-ru-na as directed in Dr. Hartman's books on this disease. There are so many different phases and stages of catarrh that one hardly knows when he has it. A great many people think they are suffering from something else and have tried many medicines in vain, when if they could realize that it is cataerh and take Pe-ru-na for it they would improve promptly and soon recover entirely.

All who desire to learn more of catarrh should send for a free copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book, which will be sent free by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, O.

A Few Words on Books.

A good remark somebody made once is that if you own books you do not have to read them. That is, if you hear of a certain book, you say, "I must get that out of the library and read it." you do so, it is necessary to read it at once and return it. If you can buy it, you read what portion satisfies your particular want at the moment, and then there it stands among your other good friends, always ready, like any real friend, to serve you at a moment's notice in any way it can. Indeed, it is a real friend, because it never deserts you, never goes back on you, never change: unless somebody borrows it, and that is not the book's fault. The mere fact that your room is filled with books is a good kind of influence, for there is something in the mere proximity of books that makes a chap serious occasionally and induces him to sit and ponder once in awhile in the midst of his grind, his sport, his daily work and his other and less valuable friends at school or college. Then, too, in these days, when there are so many hundreds of books a year it is utterly impossible to try to read, as the old fellows in the later middle ages used to, everything that is published. It is far better to re-read some good, familiar things again and again. They are good books, they are your especial favorites, and you will seldom fail to find something new in them each time you read them. It gives you a little idea of how much the writing of them must have meant to their author if you can read them, say, 20 times and still go on finding something you had not succeeded in discovering in them before. - Harper's Round Table.

People Do Read the Papers.

Some persons wonder why engaged people generally prefer to keep their engagements as quiet as possible until the day of the wedding. Perhaps the reason lies in the results of a newspaper annonneement.

The other day an engagement was mentioned in one of the afternoon papers. It was in the last edition of the paper, but early the next morning several awning makers were at the home of the future bride's parents, soliciting the contract for supplying an awning when the event came off. On the same morning and in the first mail no less than half a dozen printers and engravers sent samples of their work and quoted prices for which they would be willing to prepare the wedding cards according to the latest dictates of fashion. During the remainder of the week milliners, cater- Why not Subscribe for . . . ers, dressmakers, liverymen, furniture dealers, hardware men and dry goods merchants made known their desire to supply the future bride and groom with all the outfit that they might need or imagine they needed. The young folks are now waiting for bids from ministers who are willing to tie the knot at bargain prices.—Buffalo Courier.

The writer again has been importuned personally and by letter to say a word of protest against the excessive use in public places of the sachet. Many people do not mind this stifling fragrance. Others, however, are most sensitive to the effect of these sachet powders hidden away in the muffs, hats, wraps, collarettes, etc., worn at public entertainments, the theater especially. One little dainty sachet is almost as delicately scented as one little bunch of violets but pounds of this potent powder, seat tered among hundreds of people in an overheated, often ill ventilated interior, soon render the atmosphere almost unbearable. It was well known in Paris that the late M Worth could not endure the faintest breath of perfume and that he announced the fact very positively to his fair patrons. Delicate odors like violet, the old fashioned lavender, lemon verbena, the genuine extract of rose leaves, etc., have their charm to most people, but the dense, dull distillations from scores of different overpowerful perfumes are both unpleasant and unhealthy. - New York Post.

Story of "A Divorce Cure."

The story of "A Divorce Cure," the scintillant new comedy in which dainty Emily Bancker and the great cast will be seen at the Grand opera house, is highly entertaining throughout and continuously mirth-provoking. Alexander Cissom, cosmopolite, six and forty, polished, of quiet tastes and pronounced literary predeliction, and more passionately fond of his pretty young bride than even he himself believes, having settled down to the humdrum of married life, has permitted himself to become engrossed in the prosey occupation of writing a While thus absorbed he unconsciously becomes indifferent and neglectful towards his youthful wife.

Mrs. Alexander Cissom, a spirited young woman of twenty, sensitive and gay in temperament, and in love with her handsome husband, resents his inattention. Seeking solace for her wounded pride, she allows the Vicomte de Millemorts-fledgling, impulsive and impressionable, -an intimate friend of the couple, to fall in love with her up to his ears. Theirs is a chaste union of souls, as they convince themselves. Honor, superinduced by conscience, prompts the Vicomte finally to declare his intention of avowing his affection for Mrs. Cissom openly to her husband and demanding a divorce in order that they may wed. Mr. Cissom, having awakened to the situation, anticipates the Vicomte's call by walking in upon the scene as the young wife is giving the adorer a first kiss. A man of infinite tact, the husband treats the incident lightly and with apparent indifference. He coolly proposes to fall in with their plan as to the divorce, provided that he shall be convinced that his wife no longer cares for him. The proposition that he submits is that the young couple shall enjoy each other's company with the fullest freedom for the period of six months, at the expiration of which, in the event that their affection for each other has not dissipated, a separation by divorce law is to be arranged. This being agreed upon, Mr. Cissom starts in to retrieve the place in his wife's heart which the Vicomte has usurped. Through plot and counterplot the wilv veteran finds his way back to his pretty bride's heart, the blase young gallant proving no match for him in the game n which a woman's love is the stake. It is a merry centest and numerous funny characters figure in it. The supporting company is very strong. At the Grand opera house tomorrow even-

To Recover $3,000.

John H. Bearss, of Detroit, has brought suit against Allen L. Nowlin, of Ypsilanti, to recover the value of 1,440 acres of land in Missouri, which he alleges he transferred to defendant Feb. 6, 1893, on condition that Nowlin convey to him an undivided one-half interest in his sawmill and lumber business in Louisiana, the half interest being valued at $3,000. He avers that Nowlin refused to transfer to him a half interest in the sawmill, but that subsequently he had promised to pay which, however, he had not yet received, though Nowlin was still enjoying the possession of the lands. - Detroit Free Press.

FIGHTING IN CRETE.

Turkish Troops and Christlans Engage in Battle.

RESULT OF CONFLICT UNKNOWN.

Greek Flag Not Visible Above the Position Occupied by the Insurgents-Greek Poljey Defined by the Prime Minister-Hellenes Do Not Desire War but Will Uphold Their Rights by Force of Arms if It Should Become Necessary.

Canea, March 9.-There was renewed fighting Monday night between the Turkish troops and the Cretan insurgents around the camp of the latter on the heights of Akroturi, near here, the position which was bombarded by the warships of the powers on Feb. 21. The result of the engagement is not known. but the Greek flag is no longer visible above the insurgents' position. The fighting between the insurgents and the Turks commenced again at 2 o'clock along the line. Communication by road with Suda bay is cut off.

In addition to ordering the Greek vice consul to leave the island, Admiral Canevtro, the Italian officer who, by reason of seniority, is in command of the combined forces' fleet, has ordered the Greek newspaper correspondents and all the other Greeks to leave Crete immediately

A Turkish transport with civil officials and troops has arrived here with smallpox on board.

Greeks May Attack Canca. An attack by the Greek torpedo boat upon the town was expected. The foreign warships extinguished their lights and prepared for action. The hours, however, passed off quietly in Canea, though there was an affair of outposts at Platania. Any hostile action from the land side will be met with energetic resistance of Greek warships, which still lie at anchor off this port. The road to Suda is being strongly guarded in consequence of the menacing attitude of the insurgents.

The foreign garrisons occupying Canea have been reinforced. Owing to the unfavorable weather the landing at Selino of 550 foreign marines with four guns has only just been carried out. The foreign admirals have notified the Greek vice consul that he must leave

PREMIER DELYANNIS TALKS.

Does Not Want War, but Will Never Permit Turkey to Control Crete.

New York, March 9.-A special to The Herald from Athens says: Your correspondent has interviewed Prime Minister Delyannis on the subject of the Cretan question and the policy of Greece concerning her reply to the ultimatum of the powers.

"What reasons," was asked, "had Greece for interfering with the Cretan question and sending troops to Crete?" "Greece," replied M. Delyannis, "could

PRIME MINISTER DELYANNIS. no longer be indifferent to the deplora-ble state of the island. For the last seventy years the Cretans have been strikfor freedom, which European policy has ever since refused to grant them. This circumstance has naturally provoked frequent insurrections, and, consequence, many thousands of refugees seek shelter and protection from their kinsmen in Greece against Mohammedan intolerance and fanaticism. We have spent many millions for Crete and our present financial state must be greatly attributed to this circumstance. Could we, then, any longer disregard our supreme duty toward brethren, affiliated through the same vernacular, the creed and feelings, or see them massacred by the Turks?"

"The reforms promised by Europe were, owing to passive opposition of the sultan, never realized. Therefore, we sent our ships and army to secure peac and hapiness in that unfortunate isi-

The idea of settling by autonomy the Cretan question we cannot accept, as it does ct guarantee the pacification of the island, which is the sole solution of the connection between Crete and Greece. what the powers intend to do. whether blockading the Piraeus, as in 1886, or using other force, they are responsible-that is to say, if their purpose is to preserve the peace in the east and to prevent the Cretan question from producing a general European war.

"You mean to declare war against

Turkey? "We don't wish war. We are only getting ready to defend ourselves, following the suit of the Turks. Should the Turks attack us, we believe we are strong enough, as in 1886, and we can easily raise 110,000 men. Besides, we rely upon sympathy and support of all the Hellenes abroad."

"Do you think the incursion of Bulgarians into Turkish territory is to be apprehended in case of a Greek invasion of Macedonia?"

"I do not believe such would be the case. Our relations with Bulgaria are so greatly improved that nothing is to be feared from that quarter."

If you have a pain in your back, stop it! A lame back, stop it! An aching back, stop it! Do you want to know how? Let us tell you! In the first place, never try us tell you! In the first place, never try to rid yourself of pain without knowing the cause. If pain or ache exist there is reason for it. Find out this reason and get after it. Strike cause a stiff blow with the right weapon, and its allies, pain and ache, will flee like chaff before the wind. To get right down to it, back-ache is indicative of kidney disorders, a spy placed there by nature; listen to his warnings and take up the weapon, strike before disease is reinforced with allies that can not be routed by hand of man, such as Bright's disease. Let us introduce to you this weapon! Let us prove its superiority to all others! Here is a blow it

MEETING OF CABINET

First Official Cathering of the President's Advisers.

SECRETARY BLISS NOT PRESENT.

The Meeting Lasted One Hour, but Some of the Members Remained Longer and Enjoyed a Smoke and Informal Talk with the President-Secretary Long Considering Changes in the Navy-Caucus of Democratic Senators.

Washington, March 9.—President McKinley and his cabinet held their first formal meeting at 11 o'clock Tuesday. As a rule cabinet day has been one reserved for the business before the president and his advisers, not only as against the general public, but also senators and members. Tuesday, however, there was the usual early rush of prominent men, many of whom were received by the president. The cabinet officers began to arrive shortly before 11 o'clock. Most of them drove from their respective departments, as a drizzling rain was falling. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was the first one on hand, followed soon afterward by Secretay Long. When Secretary Gage arrived he did not go direct to the cabinet room, but mingled with the crowd in the lobby. Then came Postmaster General Gary, Secretary Alger, Attorney General McKenna, and finally Secretary Sherman. The latter drove over from the state department. He carried in his hand a small bundle of papers.

Secretary Bliss Absent.

Secretary Bliss, the remaining member of the cabinet, did not attend, being absent in New York. At 11:05 President McKinley left his office and joined his advisers in the cabinet room. Then came a lull of comparative quiet in the mansion, for official callers could not see the president, and the general crowd was told that the president would receive them at 3 o'clock. In view the letter of Ex-Queen Liliuokalani there was considerable comment as to a possible visit from the ex-queen. It was stated that the customary rules and courtesies observed toward private callers would be observed in this case as in all others without any special ar rangements. No word had been remeeting as to Julio Sanguilly, the Cuban, who, it was said, would call on the president and present phases of the Cuban question.

Meeting Lasted an Hour.

The cabinet meeting lasted just an hour. Secretaries Sherman, Gage, and Gary came from the cabinet room afterwards. DETROIT'S MAYORALTY SQUABBLE Attorney Baker Will Seek to Compel Mr. Maynard to Act.

Lansing, Mich., March 9,-Attorneys for Governor Pingree and for D. W. H. Moreland, whose case to compel the Detroit common council to call a special election for mayor on the ground that by qualifying as governor Pingree vacated his municipal office is now in the supreme court for argument, were before Attorney General Maynard to argue the request of Moreland's attorneys that Maynard institute quo warranto proceedings to test Pingree's claim to the office of mayor.

In the case now pending the Wayne circuit court held last week that Moreland, in his individual capacity, had no right to make the application, that right belonging to the attorney general alone as the representative of all the people of the state. If the supreme court af-firms this ruling the case will end and new proceedings will have to be comto hold the office of mayor. In view of the latter fact Attorney General Maynard refused to institute quo warranto proceedings until after the supreme court passes on the pending case. Fred A. MILITARY SCIENCE.

Simplified Fortifications, Bicycles and Automatic Guns Are Modern Features.

It seems to be the general opinion among United States army officers that the development of military science in the immediate future will be in the direction of simplified fortifications, greater utilization of the bicycle and the extended use of some form of automatic gun. The modern army engineer sees little use in raising great mounds of earth such as used to be done when hasty and even permanent works were needed. The bigger the earthwork the greater the mark for the enemy's guns. A hole in the ground has been the theoretical formula for fort building, and now that we possess fieldpieces with disappearing carriages it can be practically carried out. A gun that is capable of rising out of an innocent looking hole, pouring forth great volleys of death dealing bullets and then sinking out of sight, leaving hardly a trace of its presence and certainly nothing to fire at, is formidable enough to invest the new theory with all needful logic. It would be to an enemy what the hollow road near Waterloo was to the cuiras-

The rifle of the future will be the automatic rifle. This is the conclusion of military men not only of this, but of other countries. General Wille, a German army expert on the subject of firearms, says decisively that it will ultimately be the rifle in general use by the armies of the world. Its particular point of merit is its capacity for doing away with the mechanical operation of loading. In effect it does its own loading, leaving the soldier free to attend to the business of firing, thus concentrating his Guilds have been formed to introduce attention on his opponent and rendering siers of Napoleon.

As pointed out by General Wille, the force of the recoil of the automatic gun changed so long as there is no public the breech, and the firer has only to let off the shot in order again to load the weapon, so that the number of shots discharged without an effort is precisely the same as the total contents of the magazine. The only comparatively weak part of the automatic gun lies in its springs, but, as they have been found after tests made in Austria to withstand

What It Costs to Maintain the Famous Sport.

A year or two ago, says the editor of London Truth, I took up the matter of the royal buckhounds, for I have always thought that anything with less of the redeeming feature of sport than to cart a tame deer to some spot, turn it out, hunt it with dogs, and, having hunted it down, put it back in its cart for another day's "sport" cannot well be conceived. When I was engaged in this crusade, I received many letters assuring me that the deer like being pursued by dogs, although how the animals conveyed their singular idea of pleasure to the writers of the letters was not explained to me. Now that the bishops have joined the crusade, we may hope that the cruel tomfoolery of this royal Botany.

Botany was scientifically discussed by Aristotle about 347 B. C. He is acknowledged to be the father of the science. Works on botany appeared in several European languages about the close of the fifteenth century, general attention being at that time directed toward the study of this science. The first encyclopedia of plants appeared in 1829.

ON A LOW PLANE

Japanese Commercial Morality Said to Be

It has long been known to those who had dealing with the Japanese that commercial morality in Japan stands almost on the lowest plane possible to a civilized people. With few exceptions even those Japanese who prove estimable and high minded in all other matters are not to be trusted in business transaction. In Japan the man who fails to become weaktake advantage of his neighbor in a bargain is looked upon as a fool. The explanation of this state of things given by Robert Young, who edits a Kobe paper, and run per, is that merchants in Japan have hitherto occupied the lowest rung on the down genersocial ladder, being deemed inferior to the tillers of the soil and but little above first parts that the pariah class. The Popular Esthetics of Color. While blue is pre-eminently and overwhelmingly the masculine favorite, it is by no means so general a feminine favorite. The favorite woman's color, standing at the head of the female list, is red. Roughly speaking, of every 30 masculine votes 10 would be for blue and 3 for red, while of every 30 feminine votes 4 would be for blue and 5 for red. Red and blue are thus much more nearly equally popular among women than among men. Other relatively marked masculine preferences are for the colors related to blue (blue violet and violet), and other feminine preferences are for lighter red (or pink) and, to a less extent, for green and yellow. Further, men confine their selections to relatively fewer colors than do women, and, finally, while all men and women alike are much more apt to choose a normal than a transitional color and a darker than a lighter shade, yet the tendency to do so (about the same in the former direction) is markedly different in the latter respect. Of 12 men 10 would choose among the darker colors and only 2 among the lighter for the most pleasing color, while of 12 women 7 would choose among the darker and 5 among the lighter shades.—Professor Jastrow in Popular Science Monthly.

Captured by Geronimo's Band and Dragged Much of the Savages' Bloody Work

Brutally Treated by the Squaws. "During the last Apache war, ended ten years ago, there were two cases where white children were taken prisoners by the Indians and afterward were recaptured and restored to their

"The first of the children captured Santiago McKin. The other was a little 10-year-old Mexican girl, Aniceta Chavez. On June 20, 1886, a detachment of Mexican troops surprised Chief Geronimo's band 40 miles southeast of Magdalena, in Sonora. So sudden was their attack that the Indians fled, scattering to cover and at last making their escape. As the soldiers searched the scene of the fight for the wounded and the plunder they came upon a little girl, ragged and barefcoted, hiding among the rocks. She was a child of Mexican blood, and when she was made aware that those about her were of her own race and friendly she told them her name and

"She was Aniceta Chavez, who had been adopted into the family of a ranchman named Peck, living near Calabasas, A. T. On the previous April 27, when Geronimo made his bloody raid into the Santa Cruz valley, he killed $178 74 Mrs. Peck and her young child, but carried Aniceta into captivity. That he should do so surprising a thing as to spare her life was due probably to the compelled to surrender to the United the treasury was virtually exhaust. States troops he might secure better terms by having a prisoner to deliver up to the whites. So the girl was hurried along with her captors and compelled to witness the other murders that they committed after their slaughter at the Peck ranch.

"It was hard work for her to keep up with her captors, but her life depended 18, and the law school will open July the attention of the Union, and that if on it. ward and warn them. 'The Indian bucks, while they took little notice of Aniceta, were not unkind to her, but to keep up with the party in its endless marching through a mountainous country was a fearful task for a child. Sometimes they followed trails and again traversed a trackless region, often climbing heights so steep that the Indians had to dismount and lead their horses. When traveling afoot, she was cautioned never to set her foot on soft soil, but only on rocks or grass. This was that her footprints might not betray the route the party was taking. When pursuit was not hot after them and there was no danger in sight, Geronimo would carry her on his horse. In their flight the Indians found time for considerable murdering and plundering of the whites. She found the squaws more bloodthirsty and cruel than the bucks, and they were ever eager to hack and mutilate the bodies of any white person whom the warriors had killed.
