THE RICHARDS' CASE

Has Been On in the Circuit Court All the Week.

ABOUT 80 WITNESSES

Have Been Subpenaed for the Prosecution and Defense.

The Arguments and Objections of the Counsel Take Up so Much Time That Evening Sessions Are to Be Held in Future.

The all-absorbing center of interest for people who have had any spare time on their hands this week has been the circuit court room where the three suspects, William Larkins, Edward Lyons and Rupert Jones are on trial charged with the murder of James Richards, in the town of Superior, on the night of Saturday, Jan. 30, 1897. As has already been published in the Argus, all three are young men and their close confinement in jail since Feb. 13 has bleached their complexion considerably. Prosecuting Attorney Kirk and A. J. Sawyer are conducting the prosecution of the prisoners and Randall & Jones, of Ann Arbor, Col. John Atkinson and W. B. Cady, of Detroit, are defending them.

The whole of Monday was employed by the counsel in trying to get a jury, the regular panel was soon exhausted and the special panel drawn last week was objected to by Attorney Jones on the ground of informality in the drawing. The objection being sustained by the court a new panel was ordered drawn forthwith. Tuesday morning was occupied in the same way first one side and then the other objecting to this or that man on what in some instances looked to the casual observer to be very trivial grounds. One after another was excused, but finally at 1 p. m. a jury satisfactory to both sides was chosen and the jurymen were sworn as follows:

Ambrose V. Robison, Robert Campbell, Frank Vandawarker, of Ann Arbor; Fred S. Chapin, of Northfield; Ed. E. Baker, of Sharon; Wm. Henzie, George Ingraham, of Manchester; Charles Ellis, Henry Brooks, of Ypsilanti city; Matthew Hankard, of Lyndon; James Ivory, of Dexter; Charles Haran, of Northfield.

The jurors were placed in charge of Deputy Sheriffs Wm. Dausingburg and Cash Warner and the court then adjourned till 2:30. At that hour a surprise was rung in by the defense in the person of Col. John Atkinson, of Detroit, who put in an appearance to assist Randall & Jones in the defense of the accused.

At 3 p. m. A. J. Sawyer, at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Kirk, addressed the jury and outlined what the prosecution expected to prove. He described the murdered man, James Richards, his condition and habits, the situation of his home in which the foul murder was committed and its surroundings, all of which has already been published in these columns on Feb. 5. He told of how the old man went about his usual work that evening and after it was completed how he had laid down on his bed without removing his clothes. He told of the murderers' approach to the house, of their efforts to secure admission and then of their prowling around the house flashing the light of their lantern in at the windows to find their victim. After telling of their search for the log which was afterwards used to break down the door, and which was seen by Richards, he described the final struggle which ended in the shooting of the old man and the taking of his money which he had so bravely but ineffectually defended, following it up with the flight of the murderers, the events of the day following, and the clues which led up to the arrest of the prisoners. He then attacked the alibi of the prisoners and criticised it severely and stated that the prosecution would introduce evidence to contradict it.

Frank E. Jones, for the defense asked that all the witnesses for the prosecution be excluded from the court room during the taking of testimony particularly M. C. Peterson. The prosecution then demanded that Sheriff Judson be also excluded, but as his presence was needed the judge finally said "Well, we will let them all remain."

Henry Tolbert, colored, was the first witness, and he was followed by Dr. Jane Walker, of Salem. Both gave about the same testimony as they did at the examination in the justice court in February. Photographs taken of the house and surroundings on Sept. 23, by Fred Rentschler, were not admitted as evidence, the objection of the defense being sustained by Judge Kinn, who subsequently intimated when Mr. Rentschler was again put on the stand and allowed to identify the photographs, that he might issue an order to have the jury go out to the place and look at it for themselves.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the weary grid was again resumed. Frank

DEATH OF A NONOGENARIAN.

Mrs. Lanah DeMille Died Last Week in Saline Aged 97 Years.

Mrs. Lanah DeMille, who was probably the oldest woman in the county, died Wednesday of last week, after a brief illness, at the family home in Saline, in the 97th year of her age.

Her maiden name was Lanah Root, and she was born in Aurelius, Cayuga county, N. Y., May 23, 1801. She was married to Isaac Miller, July 2, 1819, and had been wedded 60 years when her husband died about 18 years ago.

Mr. DeMille was twice drafted for the war of 1812, but got off each time. They lived in Richmond, N. Y., until 1834, when they moved to Saline. Mrs. DeMille had always been a healthy and bright woman, and in her declining years had a clear and well developed memory. She had been a member of the Methodist church for 81 years.

Mrs. DeMille leaves one son, who lives at Brent Creek, and a daughter Mrs. P. E. Townsend, of Saline. Her grandchildren are: G. C. Townsend, dry goods merchant, Saline; Prof. C. O. Townsend, of Columbia College; Dr. Hugh Townsend, of Buffalo, N. Y., and D. A. Townsend, of Saline.

The funeral services were held at the home Thursday afternoon of last week and her remains were interred beside those of her husband in Oakwood cemetery.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE.

John Burg, Sr., of York, Died Monday at a Ripe Old Age.

John Burg, sr., died at the old homestead in the town of York on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, aged 92 years, 8 months and 13 days. He had been a resident of this county for 63 years and over, having settled in York in 1834 when he was 29 years old. He was married in 1834 to Miss Blum, who died 15 years ago. Seven children were the result of this union: John and Frank, of Ann Arbor, Charles, of Whitewater, Colo., George and three daughters who reside at the old homestead. Mr. Burg amassed a considerable fortune during his long life on the farm and was considered the wealthiest man in York township. Before coming to this country Mr. Burg was for several years a soldier in the German army. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon.

Took the Woodshed for Her Bedroom.

A young woman who is a domestic at one of the frat houses was out walking with a young man Sunday night. During the time they were together they drank some whiskey from a bottle which the man had in his possession with the result that both of them became intoxicated. They wandered down S. Main st., and finally arrived in front of a house where the young woman said some friends of hers lived and she was going to stay the night with them. She had evidently got off in her bearings for when she applied for admission it was refused her and a second attempt later on also met with a refusal. In her befuddled condition the young woman imagined she was at home and having wandered into the woodshed she took off her hat, cape, belt and shoes and laid down to sleep. About 3 a. m. she was awakened by the cold and having become somewhat sobered by that time, after some difficulty, found her way out of the woodshed and went home in her stocking feet, leaving her clothing where she had taken it off. The finding of it in the morning, when it was handed over to the police, gave rise to many sensational imaginings on the part of the Detroit newspaper correspondents. On Tuesday morning the young woman called at police headquarters and got her clothing, at the same time admitting that she was intoxicated when it happened and the sensation was "busted."

A Fraternal Visit and Banquet.

About 50 Masons from Plymouth drove over to Ypsilanti Monday afternoon and in the evening worked the M. M. degree on James M. Courts, for Ypsilanti Lodge, No. 128. Several members from Ann Arbor and other points were also present. After the work was over at about 11 o'clock nearly 200 Masons sat down to a banquet served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. Charles L. Stevens, the W. M. of Ypsilanti Lodge, introduced the speakers, who were J. M. Collier and P. M. Whitbeck, of Plymouth, on "An Echo from Plymouth Rock Lodge" and "The Eastern Star," respectively; Dr. David E. Smith on "The Future of Masonry," Rev. Wm. Gardam on "Fraternity," and Judge H. Wirt Newkirk on "Symbols." The latter was the speech of the evening and the judge's pointed allusions and rich descriptions of the "symbols of Masonry" were loudly applauded. It was 12:30 a. m. when the banqueters sang "Auld Lang Syne" and dispersed.

20 YEARS SUPERVISOR

M. F. Case, of Pittsfield, Remembered by His Friends.

THE COUNTY HOUSE

Its Inmates and the Cost of Its Maintenance.

Two Aged Washtenaw Residents Have Passed Away.—How the County's Share of the State Tax is Apportioned this Year.

A very pleasant incident at the meeting of the board of supervisors on Monday afternoon was the presentation of a gold headed cane to Supervisor Morton F. Case, of Pittsfield, and a handsome easy chair for his wife. Mr. Case is the oldest member on the board and has held his seat since 1876 with only one year off, thus having been on the board for 20 years. As is well known and uncontradicted Mr. Case is one of the most valuable members of the board, and his watchful solicitude over the correctness of accounts rendered against the county has earned for him the reputation of being a faithful guard over the county treasury. He is a staunch republican, but that makes no difference to him as he looks just as sharply after the bills of his political friends as after those of his opponents. His services on the board are so highly appreciated by his constituents that for the past few years he has had no opposition at the spring elections, both parties uniting and returning him unanimously.

During a wait in the proceedings of the board, which was probably intentional, the drain committee, Supervisor Millard, stated there was a gentleman present who had a personal grievance against one of the members of the board, and moved that he be heard.

Charles A. Ward then got up and in a brief speech which is said to have been a far better one than his celebrated effort on "The Klondike Gold Cure, and what I don't know about free silver," he told his grievance against Mr. Case and read the following paper:

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors of the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan:

Gentlemen,—It has come to the knowledge of a considerable number of the citizens of Washtenaw county that there is one member of this board of supervisors who is charged with serving his constituents so faithfully and so well that they have re-elected him to this office for 20 consecutive years. We recognize the fact that if the people of the township which he represents persist in sending him up here, the people of the rest of the county will have to stand it. We confess we know of no way in which they can be prevented from doing so.

But it also transpires that this gentleman has been a consistent and conscientious servant of the county at large during all this time. He is charged with taking a deep interest in the economical administration of county affairs, and of bringing to the discharge of his duties a large stock of intelligence and good sound judgment.

And it is further charged that by the exercise of these faculties he has been one of the most valued and useful members of this board during all these years, and that many hundreds of dollars have been saved by his vigilance to the taxpayers of the county of Washtenaw.

Signed:
H. Lichtball, J. Rice Miner, J. J. Fischer, J. Boyle, Chas. Braun, Geo. Walter, F. Dettling, Ira Wood, Wm. Lurtless, S. Damon, B. C. Whitaker, W. Voorhes, A. Davenport, J. P. Schell, D. W. Barry, Con. Tuomey, Geo. Cook, E. Eberbach, S. W. Millard, H. Kraft, A. J. Kitson, S. S. Bibbins, J. D. Clark, D. Beach, Jas. Howlett, Wm. Donegan, E. A. Haisler, Wm. Hall, Bert Kenny, John L. Hunter, D. Ostrander, H. Wirt Newkirk, P. J. Lehman, J. F. Webb, Tracy Towner, W. N. Lister, Ed. Ball.

Mr. Case was so completely taken by surprise that for a time he could not find words in which to express himself and then it was to thank his brother supervisors for their kind opinion of him and his actions which he said at all times had been done in the sense of what he believed to be right and just. The whole proceeding was one of those bright spots which make everyone who has had anything to do with them feel better.

Honor to An Ann Arbor Boy.

Prof. J. M. Schaeberle, who was born and raised in Ann Arbor, but who has for some years been at the Lick Observatory, California, where his observations on the sun have been of such great value, has been placed temporarily in charge of the Lick Observatory by the state university regents. Prof. Holden, his predecessor, was in charge of the observatory for 23 years. The Argus, in common with Mr. Schaeberle's many friends and admirers here, hopes that his temporary appointment as head of the great observatory will soon be made a permanent one.

AN ELABORATE WEDDING.

But the Contracting Partier Were the Victims of Friends Just the Same.

Miss Caroline Saunders, of Ypsilanti, and Mr. Edwin C. Wilkinson, of Marquette, were married in great style at St. Luke's church, Ypsilanti, on Thursday evening of last week, it being the swellest affair that has ever occurred in Ypsilanti. An elaborate reception was held at the home of the bride's mother after the ceremony.

The newly wedded pair left on the late train the same evening for a wedding trip south and were the victims of a huge practical joke on the part of their friends whom they left behind. The bride and groom had got nicely seated when three or four of the boys who had been at the wedding went through the cars distributing cards upon which was printed the following: "This will give you an introduce to Eddie and Caddie, late of Ypsilanti, now of Marquette. They are JUST MARRIED and on this train. Please give them a good jolly. They may get lonesome. The Remains."

Considerable surprise was created at the Baptist church, Ypsilanti, Sunday morning, by Rev. R. W. Van Kirk handing in his resignation, the same to take effect at the expiration of the present month. Mr. Van Kirk has accepted a unanimous call to the Baptist church in Rockland, Me., which stands second in importance in the state.

The Whittaker correspondent of the Ypsilanti Commercial says: "A platoon of the Salvation Army from Ypsilanti arrived in Willis last Friday evening, after an uneventful march across the country. They were well equipped for business, the members being supplied with a bass drum, tamborine, bugle, jews' harp and a bagpipe. There has not been so much noise in this place since the election of village officers last spring. Most all of the people were converted, at least the church was well filled. The preaching consisted mostly in singing, etc. They took away quite a few pennies and nickels. Perhaps they will come again some time in the future."

Keep the Mouth Shut.
As a guard to health old age needs, and, by the way, people of all ages as well need, to know that it is necessary to keep the mouth shut, for it was not intended for breathing purposes, the nose being essential to this purpose and having the advantage that it warms the air and strains from it irritating matters injurious to the lungs. Remember the mouth is exclusively needed as a port of entry for food and a port of exit for crystallized thought, the chief medium of communication between man and man. It is well for all to remember, though unfortunately the sick and suffering and the aged have especially to remember, that save in rare exceptions unkind kisses are the best. The kiss is only good for family use, and since we know that more than 100 varieties of microbes have their home in the average disinfected mouth the aseptic kiss is the only permissible one anywhere.—Medical Mirror.

Old People.
Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. MY MAMMA'S HANDS.
I wish you'd see my mamma's hands
And the things that they can do.
She says they're "very ugly ones."
But I don't believe that's true.
They're pretty, all the same, to me,
And mighty clever too.
She says she can't do anything,
But I see her work all day.
She writes long things on paper,
Which she says are "not much pay."
She sews, knits and cooks sometimes
(And she spanked me yesterday).
She makes nice cake and candy,
And stockings she can darn.
When the other day I found her
Washing my barn,
And often I do have to sit
And hold great hanks of yarn.
I wonder if my mamma's hands
Ever stop to go to sleep.
Why, they're busy when they hear me say,
"Pray God, my soul to keep."
Some night when she's not looking
I'll just run in and peep.

ABE LINCOLN'S CHIVALRY.
Helped a Lawyer, Now Famous, to Win His First Case.
His first case at the bar will never be forgotten by ex-Senator John C. S. Blackburn of Kentucky, for Abraham Lincoln played a conspicuous part in helping the young Kentuckian to win his suit. Lincoln was merely an attorney, waiting for one of his cases to be called, when the incident occurred.

Ex-Senator Blackburn was only 20 years old when he began the practice of law, having graduated at Centre college, Danville, Ky. His first case was in the United States court in Chicago, presided over by Justice John McLean, then on the circuit. The opposing counsel was Isaac N. Arnold, then at the head of the Chicago bar, and subsequently a member of congress and author of the first biography of Lincoln. Young Blackburn had filed a demurrer to Mr. Arnold's pleadings in the cause, and when the case was reached on the calendar the young Kentuckian was quite nervous at having such a formidable and experienced antagonist, while the dignity of the tribunal and the presence of a large number of eminent lawyers in court served to increase his timidity and embarrassment. In truth the strapping barrister was willing to have any disposition made of the cause in order to get rid of the burden of embarrassment and "stage fright." He was ready to adopt any suggestion the opposing counsel should make.

Arnold made an argument in which he criticised the demurrer in a manner that increased the young lawyer's confusion. However, Blackburn knew he had to make some kind of an effort. He proceeded with a few remarks, weak and bewildering, and was about to sit down when a tall, homely, loose-jointed man sitting in the bar arose and addressed the court in behalf of the position the young Kentuckian had assumed in a feeble and tangled argument, making the points so clear that the court sustained the demurrer.

Blackburn did not know who his volunteer friend was, and Mr. Arnold got up and sought to rebuke the latter for attempting to interfere in the case, which he had nothing to do with. This volunteer was none other than Abraham Lincoln, and this was the first and last time the Kentuckian ever saw the rail splitting president. In replying to Mr. Arnold's strictures Mr. Lincoln said he claimed the privilege of giving a young lawyer a helping hand when struggling with his first case, especially when he was pitted against an experienced practitioner.—Chicago Times-Herald.

TO MOTHERS OF LARGE FAMILIES

In this workaday world few women are so placed that physical exertion is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

Mrs. Pinkham makes a special appeal to mothers of large families whose work is never done, and many of whom suffer and suffer for lack of intelligent aid.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., extends her invitation of free advice. Oh, women! do not let your lives be sacrificed when a word from Mrs. Pinkham, at the first approach of weakness, may fill your future years with healthy joy.

Mrs. A. C. BUEHLER, 1123 North Albany avenue, near Humboldt Park, Chicago, Ill., says: "I am fifty-one years old and have had twelve children, and my youngest is eight years old. I have been suffering for some time with a terrible weakness; that bearing-down feeling was dreadful, and I could not walk any distance. I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash and they have cured me. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

A Tower Two Thousand Feet High.
William J. Frye, an architect of New York city, has drawn plans for a tower to commemorate the consolidation of Greater New York. The proposed tower is to be 2,140 feet in height, in all respects the most wonderful structure in the world. The Eiffel tower in Paris is 984 feet high, nearly half that of the proposed observatory tower for New York. The tower is to be twelve sided and built of steel. The lowest portion will be 300 feet in diameter and will be flanked by four pavilion buildings, giving the structure a base of 400 feet. The outer walls will be of cement and wirecloth. Internally the tower will be a labyrinth of steel columns, girders, beams, plates and other shapes in steel, no particle of wood being used in construction or finish. Electric cars, with reserved motor power of compressed air, will run spirally around the 100 foot central area, making a trip to the fifth floor from the top about a 2½ mile ride.—Golden Days.

Old Time Servants.
Servants were servants away back in 1566, just as varied, in fact, as the woman who bossed them, and both were much as they are in this end of the century year. Servants were fined in those days for each trivial offense. A penny was thought enough to fine a servant who left open a door that should have been closed, and the same fine did service for missing family prayers or leaving the beds of the house unmade later than 8 o'clock in the morning. The cook might have a bean, but she had to pay a fine every time he came of a penny. If such rules were enforced now, madam would find herself without "lady help" in short order.—Philadelphia Ledger.

AN ACCIDENT.

Mr. Quintus Hummel, of 118 Michigan Ave., Detroit, tells a War Story of his own Experience, and the Result.

(From Detroit News.)

Our representative called at 118 Michigan Avenue, the residence of Mr. Quintus Hummel. Mr. Hummel is a veteran of the late war, and received, in the campaign, an injury which has given him much pain and suffering since. He belonged to a Michigan cavalry regiment and his horse becoming frightened one day reared up, throwing him backward. In falling he struck his spine on a sharp stone, inflicting a deep cut over five inches long. The injury affected the kidneys. About two years ago the left kidney started to bleed, and has been doing so ever since. Mr. Hummel, in a few pointed sentences, gave our representative the following account: "The accident of my 'war days' left me in bad shape; pain in my back and spine rendered me almost useless, and I was compelled to give up work entirely. I could not turn over in bed without assistance. I have spent hundreds of dollars in various ways trying to find relief. Physicians have told me my spine was honeycombed for 13 inches. I had given up in despair, never hoping for relief, when a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have done me a world of good. The pains have disappeared from my back, and the bleeding of my kidney has almost entirely stopped. I know I can never be entirely cured, as I would have to be a new man, but Doan's Kidney Pills have done more to make me feel like a new man than all the other things I have tried during past years. I have not had any recurrence of the pain or bleeding since taking them."

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at Eberbach Drug and Chemical Co., Ann Arbor, and Geo. J. Stoves and Ranges Used at Sea.

Stoves and ranges used at sea have two peculiarities. One is that the doors are made to turn down and not to swing and have fastenings to hold them securely when they are shut, so that they can't possibly fly open. The other peculiarity is in the rack on top. It is elevated four or five inches and runs around the edge of the stove to keep the pots and kettles from sliding off.

Some stoves and ranges used afloat are also provided with crossrods which run from the fixed rod at the back of the stove to the rod in front across the top of the pots and kettles and hold them down and keep them from shifting. They are used in very heavy weather or when the ship is rolling. For some reason these crossrods are more used on British than they are on American ships.

When a vessel is in port the front rail of the rack is usually taken out, and then the cook has an easy access to the top of the stove as he would have with a stove ashore.—New York Sun.

A Self Sacrificing Friend.

"Yes," said the politician, "I said I was the workingman's friend."
"But you don't do any work," suggested the man with calloused hands.
"No, not at present."
"And you never did any work."
"That's true. You see, what the workingman most needs is work, and I am too much the workingman's friend to run any risk of taking work away from him."—Washington Star.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Adrian Press Items.

A lot of Germans over in Ann Arbor have organized a "skat" club according to the Democrat. No man can be initiated who is not able to hustle a pair of cats off the ridgeboard of the woodshed, without breaking the windows in a neighbor's residence.

A Chicago paper is sending postal cards to postmasters, urging them to either act as agent of the paper or find some good active boy to take the agency. On top of the card in bold letters, is the sentence "Keep this card till you get a boy." A newly married man lately made postmaster over in St. Joe county, on seeing the sentence promptly fainted away.

Ann Arbor was settled in 1824 by John Allen and Edward Rumsey. So said a school girl in a prize essay at the fair. We thought the most of it had been settled by the board of public works and the common council during the past two years. If they keep on overdrawing the various funds it will soon settle out of sight under its burden of debt. Then the people will kick because they have to settle.

Chelsea is not a large burg—does not even wear city clothes as a corporation, but its school report for September shows that 229 of the pupils were neither absent nor tardy. That school is making a record that gets in a little ahead of the one Neal makes at Northville. Chelsea's school pupils are not sleepy, loitering drones, and they deserve credit for their share of work that gives the town a good name. The teachers have a right to be proud of the showing, for their energy is reflected in the result. We tip our hat to Chelsea's corps of teachers, and their energetic pupils.

Indigestion is often taken for consumption. The word consumption means wasting away, and dyspeptics often waste away as badly as consumptives.

The reason people waste away is because either they don't get enough to eat, or they don't digest what they do eat.

If the latter is your trouble, take Shaker Digestive Cordial. This will help you to digest your food and stop your loss of flesh.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is made from herbs, barks and the juices of fruit, by the well-known Shakers at Mount Lebanon. It possesses great tonic and digestive powers.

Shaker Digestive Cordial has cured many supposed consumptives (who were really dyspeptics), by simply helping their stomachs to digest their food, thus giving them nourishment and new strength.

NO VERDICT AS YET.

Jury in the Luetgert Murder Case Still Out.

EIGHT TO FOUR FOR CONVICTION.

That is the rumor which is circulated about the Criminal Court Building—Judge Tutthill holds a conference with the Lawyers on Both Sides—What Luetgert's Partner and Son Arnold Say of the Delay in Reaching a Verdict.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The jury in the Luetgert case is still out. Judge Tutthill is at the court room in obedience to a request of the jury and is awaiting its pleasure.

At 1 o'clock Judge Tutthill sent word to the jury room asking if there was prospect of an agreement Tuesday. The jurors answered that they did not believe any decision would be reached before night. It was rumored that three ballots had been taken by the jury—the first 7 to 4, one not voting, and the other two 8 to 4 for conviction. Judge Tutthill expected that after an all-night deliberation a verdict would be ready in the morning, and announced that he would be in court at 9:30. He was informed that no result had been reached at that hour, however, and did not appear. At 12 o'clock he arrived at the criminal court building, and after a brief call at the state's attorney's office went to his court room on the third floor.

Wanted to Communicate with the Judge.

He inquired about the jury and found that it desired to communicate with him, but whether a verdict had been reached or the twelve men merely wanted to be enlightened could only be conjectured. As soon as Judge Tutthill entered the court room a hush fell in the assembly. Attorneys Vincent and Phalen resumed their seats and waited for the end that might be so close at hand. Bailiff Reed, Luetgert's guard, stood waiting at the door, ready to conduct his prisoner into court as soon as the word was given. Nobody representing the state's attorney's office was present when the court arrived, but Mr. Deneen hurried in five minutes later and was ushered into Judge Tutthill's chamber. Word was sent to Mr. Vincent and he arose in great haste and followed the state's attorney. The door banged after the lawyers and a consultation between the three began.

To Avoid a Scene.

Despite the fact that Sheriff Pease gave orders that women be excluded from the court room, a number secured admission. The principal reason for the exclusion of the fair sex was a desire to prevent a repetition of Saturday's hysterical scene when the verdict should be read. The court room, which had been nearly empty during the early hours, began to fill up toward midday. Many notable men crowded their way into the court room and remained some time, in the hope of hearing the verdict. At 11:15 William Charles, Luetgert's business partner, who had made untiring efforts for several hours to learn what action the jury had taken, said: "It is all guess work as to the verdict of the jury. I have been told that the jury stands ten for acquittal to two for conviction."

Hope for an Acquittal.

"I have also been told that the vote is seven for conviction, four for acquittal and one not voting. No one outside of the jury room knows what they are doing. But the fact that they are still arguing gives us hope for an acquittal."

Ex-Judge Vincent sat quietly in the court room during the long morning, and smilingly clung to his oft-repeated assertion that a verdict of acquittal would be returned. Arnold Luetgert was not so confident as the chief counsel in his father's case. He felt sure of a disagreement, however, and remarked with considerable earnestness: "As long as Juror Boyd, the printer, hangs out my father will never be convicted. I believe Boyd is one of the men who is holding the jury and that he is one of father's strongest champions. As long as he is with us we have nothing to fear."

THINKS HE IS C. H. CADWALLADER.

St. Louis Police Believe They Have Alleged Union City, Ind., Embezzler.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—The St. Louis police think they have located Charles H. Cadwallader, who is wanted in Union City, Ind., on the charge of embezzling $50,000 in 1896.

From a source that is said to be absolutely reliable Detective Sam Allander learned the man who is in jail at Janesville, Wis., is in reality Charles H. Cadwallader. He is charged with shooting William Butters, a citizen of Janesville. Chief Harrigan telegraphed to the chief of police at Janesville stating that he had information to the effect that the man under arrest is Cadwallader. A photograph of Cadwallader was mailed to the Janesville chief of police and it is expected that a telegram will soon be received completing the identification.

Will Make a Law.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 19.—"If there is not a law to cover this case, I will make a law," is the sentence with which Judge C. R. Scott closes a peremptory writ of mandamus ordering the police board to reinstate sixteen policemen recently dismissed. The grounds for the dismissal was that the city fund would not support so large a force. Scott holds that the board has no right to dismiss these men for that reason. That once employed they must be retained and paid until removed for cause.

Pope Leo Loses a Suit.

Rome, Oct. 19.—A great scandal has been excited in local circles by a lawsuit which Abbe Brougdon has brought against the pope for possession of the Church of St. Joachim. The court pronounced a decision favorable to the abbe, whose costs the pope is ordered to pay. By way of retaliation the church is certain to be placed under an interdict, while Brougdon will be excommunicated.

Promised an Increase in Wages.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—The 300 employees of John and James Dobson's Bradford cloth mills, who have been on strike for several weeks, returned to work Tuesday on receiving a promise from the superintendent that the 10 per cent. increase in wages asked for would be granted in the near future, probably in December. All the old hands were taken back by the firm.

Electricity and Balking Horses.

One of the recent extensions of the use of electricity is in conquering a balky or lazy horse. A western Pennsylvania gentleman owned a horse which he said was worth $1,000, provided he could cure him of balking. It was suggested that he try electricity. He purchased a three volt storage battery and connected it by wires with the bit and the crupper. The battery was placed in the road cart to which the horse was attached. At first the horse refused to move, but stood with all four feet braced. Then the owner touched the button connected with the battery. When the horse felt the shock, he snorted, jumped and began to move off at a lively pace. Every day for a week he was given the same lesson. His owner, who does not care to sell him, declares that now he never balks, bites or kicks. The West Pennsylvania Humane society, which investigated the method, came to the conclusion that a small amount of electricity used upon a horse was more humane than a whip.—Exchange.

The Cockney Gallery God.

Charles Mathews had reached the allotted age of man before he played his "farewell engagement" in London. One night there was an unconscionably long "wait" in the performance of "My Awful Dad." After the statutory ten minutes had expired and the curtain showed no signs of rising one of the "gods" vociferated, "Do hurry along, or else Charley will be too old to act." The wit of the gallery is proverbial, and it was never more keenly exercised than on the first night of a London production some years since. The leading actor—a well known man—took an unconscionable time dying and laddled out the "lengths" with tedious elaboration. Whereupon a voice from the upper regions exclaimed, "We hope we're not keeping you up, sir."

Gave Him Another Chance.

A young man who had been two days at the Ponce de Leon on what may well be called a combination of business and pleasure, since he was courting a millionaire's daughter temporarily residing there, went to the clerk and asked for his bill.

The clerk looked at the young man carefully for a long moment, then made out and handed over a bill for $238.

The young man did not stagger or grow pallid. He tossed the slip of paper back to the clerk and said: "Guess again, you chump. I've got more money than that."—New York Times.

His Word and His Bond.

"There, I've done it at last," said a merchant, as he made an entry on his books and closed the cover of his ledger with an expression of genuine satisfaction. "I have tried for a dozen years to get that man for a customer, and this is the first time he has ever paid me a dollar or given me an order."

"He doesn't look very prosperous; but you can't always tell," said his friend. "Is he a landholder?"

"Doesn't own an acre," was the response.

"Manufacturer?"

"Works on a salary."

"Money laid by?"

"Don't think so; probably not above a few hundred dollars at the outside."

"Rich relatives—prospects—investments?"

"Nothing of the sort. All his folks are in moderate circumstances, and there isn't even a suspicion of a rich uncle or a teapot or stocking hidden by any old auntie in some out of the way chimney corner. No, the secret of my interest in that man's trade is that his word is as good as his bond and whatever he agrees to pay or whatever he buys you may know that he is to be depended upon. And his family are of the same sort. He has two sisters, one widowed and the other a maiden lady, and everybody is very anxious to sell to them because they are such good pay."

Merchants have a very good chance to learn the peculiarities of human nature, especially as regards money matters. They find, and that very often, that those with the largest bank account and the broadest fields often have the smallest souls and the narrowest sense of honor.—New York Ledger.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1897.

Democrats will not base many hopes on carrying Ohio—or they will probably be badly disappointed when the returns are in. Ohio is a republican state.

Mayor Maybury should be re-elected in Detroit. He has made an admirable mayor and the voters of Detroit should show their appreciation of his good work.

Charles L. Rarden, of Greenville, who retires from the state pardon board, is anxious to succeed Atty-Gen. Maynard, and ex-Rep. Northwood, of New Lothrop, would like to fill Land Commissioner French's shoes.

The Detroit city council has passed an ordinance compelling the street car company to run its cars at a speed not to exceed 10 miles an hour inside of the boulevard, thus virtually returning to the old time slow means of transit.

The New York city campaign continues as hot as ever, but it seems to be pretty generally conceded that Van Wyck, the regular democratic and Tammany candidate will be elected, the betting is 2 to 1 and in his favor with few takers and the correspondents of many outside republican papers who have visited the city, have predicted Van Wyck's success.

THREE NOTABLE DEATHS.

Death loves a shining mark and three Americans who have left their impress upon the country have passed from life, their life work done, during the past week, Dana, Pullman and Worden. Their work in life was different. Charles A. Dana was a great editor, for years he had impressed the marks of his personality upon the New York Sun, thousands of whose readers had come to believe implicitly, almost religiously, in the saying, "If you see it in the Sun, it's so."

George M. Pullman was not a literary man. He was the inventor of the Pullman palace car and made his millions as a railroad man. He essayed to be a philanthropist, but his experiment in founding the model town of Pullman was not a success.

Admiral J. L. Worden was the lieutenant which defeated the Merrimac. Though he afterwards proved a brave officer the memorable battle of the Monitor and Merrimac is the one on which his fame will always rest.

Duress, of Superior, who lives next to the Richards' farm was examined. He testified to the path which led up to the Richards' house from the road and to the presence of footprints around the Richards house on the morning after the murder and gave a description of them—that one set was made by pointed shoes with rubbers on them and the other by felt rubber boots.

Andrew Shankland was next called to the stand. He verified most of the statements made by the preceding witness, adding the description of a third footprint near the fence where the cutter had stopped. This track was made by a pointed shoe without rubbers. Witness had fitted his own felt rubber boot into one of the footprints, the size and shape being exactly the same.

The next witness was John B. Shankland, another neighbor of Richards and at present administrator of the old man's estate. His examination and cross-examination occupied the greater part of the day. He was quite a friend of the murdered man and repeated very minutely all the incidents connected with the murder. He had taken entire charge of Richards after he had been shot and to him the old man, within a couple of hours of his death, had related all that he could remember of the struggle with the two murderers. The most of this is already public property.

During the cross-examination Mr. Shankland said that he knew who robbed Richards 20 years ago, and that they live in Ann Arbor township. Col. Atkinson for the defense asked: "Are any of the robbers still alive?" "I object," said Mr. Sawyer. "I caution the colonel that if this question is opened up we shall prove that the mother of one of these defendants is said to have assisted in the crime."

Judge Kinne admonished Mr. Sawyer that he should not have made such a remark as that, and on the request of that gentleman he addressed the jury and told them that Mr. Sawyer had made that statement in a moment of excitement, that he did wrong, and they must not consider it as evidence. In the wrangle which followed Mr. Sawyer's statement Col. Atkinson said, "I understand that some of these robbers are alive and that a rig was driven furiously against their neighborhood to the Richards place on the night of the murder. If we can prove this, it will establish the innocence of these defendants, for only one sleigh entered the gate that night."

Edward Rawden was the next witness. The important part of his testimony was as to the cutter tracks which came from the Plymouth road and turned into Richards' place. Turned back same way. No other track until his own cutter passed. Saw pointed shoe tracks where the horse stood at second gate. Saw where two persons got out of cutter and jumped over fence. On left side of the cutter was what seemed to be a shoe track with rubber over it, on the right side the tracks were those of a felt boot. The testimony of this witness corroborated testimony of other witnesses as to tracks about the house.

At this point the prosecution brought in two boxes filled with sand in which impressions had been made by the rubbers which are alleged to belong to one of the defendants and the witness was asked to state if the impression was similar to those he saw in the snow. Objection was made to this question, but the witness was allowed to answer. The tracks were similar.

Cross examination did not shake the witness' testimony. He had seen the boots and rubbers for the first time that morning. When David Marr was recalled Col. Atkinson was allowed to have the statement that he had wanted in the morning. He was excused until later.

George Bunn was put on the stand and his testimony was along the same line as the others as to the tracks, etc. He did not see any pointed shoe tracks near the fence where the cutter stood. Had never heard of John Briston. John Shankland was recalled and the defense tried to show that he had benefited by Richard's death and that as special administrator of Richards' death and that as special administrator of Richards' estate he had left out of the inventory a portion of the property. It was a mean attack on a man's honor and veracity and the falsity of the charges was established by the prosecution immediately. It is well known to all who are conversant with the facts of the probating of the Richards' estate that it was not Mr. Shankland's wish to be appointed as administrator and that had he not been the honest man he is he would not have been appointed.

A letter was discovered in the files of the probate court yesterday from W. Froward, register of Amxminster county court, Amxminster, Eng., to Judge Newkirk in the interest of Mrs. Pearce, Richards' illegitimate daughter. It read: "Mrs. Pearce yesterday received a letter from John Briston of Brighton, Eng. He says he left Dixboro, Mich., about Christmas; that he worked for Richards and knew about the murder. Is he one of the murderers?"

John Briston was known by several witnesses, and had said he was going to England. He disappeared, but no one thought of him in connection with the case until Col. Atkinson found the letter.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Its Labors will Hardly be Finished This Week.

After its visit to the county house Thursday of last week, the board of supervisors rested until next day and then resumed work. The first business at the session on Friday was the report of the committee of the whole by its chairman Supervisor Beach. It reported that the county house and buildings were in good condition, the inmates well cared for, and recommended a vote of thanks to the superintendents of the poor and Mr. and Mrs. Shankland for their services during the past year.

The hearing of the soldiers' relief committee was set for Thursday, Oct. 21, after which the board adjourned until 2 p. m.

At that session several civil claims bills reported by the committee were allowed.

On motion of Supervisor Hauser it was ordered that further action in the case of the county of Washtenaw vs. William Dansingburg be deferred and the matter laid on the table, which probably means that the county will stand at the expense of the ballot recount at the last general election and thus establish a precedent for other recounts without the payment of the forfeit money in the event of the complainant being defeated.

The hearing of the report of the building committee was made the order of business for Wednesday at 11 a. m.

The board then adjourned until Monday at 11 a. m. when it reassembled and further adjourned until 2 p. m.

Dr. William Blair was awarded the contract to supply the medical and surgical attendance and medicine at the county jail for the next year at $19.50.

Several civil claims were allowed and the report of the superintendents of the poor was read and referred to the committee to settle with county officers.

The election of a superintendent of the poor to succeed C. H. Kempf was the next order of business. The two nominations made were C. H. Kempf and James M. Taylor, both of Chelsea. It took five ballots to settle it and Mr. Taylor won out the ballot standing 15 to 14 in his favor on the fifth ballot. The board then adjourned.

On Tuesday criminal and civil claims were allowed, the report of the treasurer was read and referred and bids received for the printing of the proceedings. That of the Neue Washtenaw Post at $60 in German was accepted. The joint bid of the Ann Arbor Courier and Democrat was rejected and new bids were asked for to be opened Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The board then adjourned.

Wednesday morning was taken up with the allowance of bills and hearing the reports of the probate register and building committee. The latter was ordered to have the court house steps repaired.

At the afternoon session more bills were allowed, the committee on equalization was given further time for its report and the committee on buildings and grounds was instructed to ascertain the price of the land adjoining the jail on the south side. The State Savings Bank was awarded the custody of the county money for the coming year, bond $100,000.

St. Thomas' Church Fair.

For the St. Thomas' church fair which begins in the armory, Monday, Nov. 8, several handsome donations have already been made. Arnold, the jeweler, has given a gold watch, Kenney & Quinlan, the plumbers, a valuable bath tub and heater, a Toledo firm will give a $100 ladies' bicycle, for which any young lady in Ann Arbor may work; O. M. Martin, the undertaker, has given a nice couch; the Ann Arbor Music Co. give a mandolin; a White Sewing Machine left over from the picnic at Whitmore Lake, July 5, is to be raffled; a dealer in musical merchandise in Detroit has promised something handsome in the shape of a present, and numerous other donations have been made by local merchants. Concerts will take place nightly and everything will be done to make the fair a success financially for the benefit of the building fund of the handsome new church.

Will Have Shooting Galleries.

Captain Cornelius Gardner, U. S. A., Nineteenth Infantry, Detroit, appointed inspector of the Michigan National Guard by the war department, was in Adrian Friday looking over Company B's armory with a view to establishing a shooting gallery therein. He found the range to be long enough, and a gallery will be introduced in a short time. Captain Gardner will make a tour of the state and establish a gallery in every armory whose size will permit. Each member of the company will be required to shoot 100 rounds during the winter. The best shots in the company will be entered in a regimental competitive contest, and the winners in this will compete in a brigade contest at the encampment next year.

Capt.-Gen. Weyler's "Savings."

Prof. Dean C. Worcester delivered the opening lecture in the Unity Club course at the Unitarian church Monday evening, on "The Philippine Islands," where he lived for nearly four years. He attributed the present revolt against Spain to oppressive government, exorbitant taxation and a corrupt priesthood. He described the brutal ill usage that is meted out to the unfortunate inhabitants, the terrible taxes, and said that when he was on the islands Weyler, the butcher, was the governor-general. His salary was $50,000 a year but in three years he deposited nearly $4,000,000 of "savings."

Marshal Sweet has shot 15 or more horses and numerous other animals that have been found neglected, disabled, or in a diseased condition. Besides this he has looked after 25 or 30 children who have been neglected by their parents. He says he often finds five and six children living in a hovel uncared for by the father and mother. During the year more than 60 cases of cruelty to animals have been reported to J. J. Goodyear, president of the society.

County Clerk Schuh had a very unavory experience Wednesday. While looking after some plumbing his men were doing in the basement of an Ann st. store he stepped into a cesspool up to his armpits. As he was not in a fit condition to be taken home in a hack he was loaded on a dray and conveyed there.

The next time the Ann st. people become responsible for the building of a sewer they will see to it that their steet isn't put off until the last one when they were entitled to be the first served.—Courier. It is devoutly to be hoped that there will not be any occasion to build another such a sewer in that locality.

At a recent meeting of the Needle Work Guild it was voted to turn over the garments and articles collected by the guild this year to the Ladies' Charitable Union for distribution. The action has caused some criticism on the part of some of the members of the guild, who do not think the best interests of the guild are conserved by this action.

Dr. Alfred Hennequin, formerly of the U. of M., lost all his household goods, manuscripts, paintings and family portraits, besides his fine library on dramatic art and literature, by the recent fire in Detroit. Dr. Hennequin's library was one of the most important of its kind in the country, and besides French dramatic works it contained rare editions of plays in Italian, Spanish and German; among others, annotated editions of Caleron's "El Magico Prodigioso," and Goldoni's "Le Donne Curiose," the annotations being marginal, and supposed to have been made by the authors. It is a loss which cannot be estimated.

Through an unavoidable delay at Milan, Friday, the Adrian high school football team did not reach Ann Arbor until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The boys were taken to the grounds at once and the game with the Ann Arbor high school eleven was begun. Two 15-minute halves were played, the Ann Arbor boys finding their opponents an easy mark. The score stood 18-0 at the close of the game. The Adrian team went home by way of Jackson the same night.

William, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McPherson, of Howell, was taken sick last week. Dr. Nancrede, of Ann Arbor, was called, and it was decided that an operation for appendicitis was the only thing that could save his life. The operation was successfully performed Saturday evening by Dr. Nancrede, assisted by Drs. Darling and Spitzley, of Ann Arbor, and Dr. Brown, of Howell. The patient is reported as doing well.—Livingston Republican.

The residents of the second ward scored their point at the council meeting Monday night and secured the order for the construction of a crosswalk on W. Liberty st., laid diagonally across First st., so as to accommodate pedestrians passing along Liberty st. There are now two crosswalks at that point, one which runs straight across the street ordered by the council Oct. 4 on the representations of G. Frank Allmendinger and others and the one ordered Monday night which was originally asked for in the petition of the residents.

A serious accident happened to three young ladies who were out driving on Sunday evening. Miss Myrtle Tift, stenographer for W. H. Butler, Miss Ehrhorn and Miss Meyer, students at the university, were driving near the Fuller st. crossing of the Michigan Central, when the horse became frightened at the whistle of an approaching train and springing to one side ran the buggy wheels into a ditch, overturning the vehicle. All three of the girls were injured. Miss Tift had three ribs broken and her arm injured, and the other young ladies were cut and bruised.

George McCormick, an elderly man living in the Unity block was knocked down and severely bruised Friday morning at the corner of Main and Huron sts., by a horse which was being driven so fast that it could not be stopped. He was conveyed to his home by Marshal Sweet. The habit of fast driving around corners and over street crossings is one that is a fruitful source of danger and should be put down by the force of the law. Crosswalks are for pedestrians, who have a prior right to them over that of horses and vehicles, but which drivers do not seem to recognize.

The suggestion of the Ypsilanti Sentinel that the monument to the late Ex-Gov. Felch ought to be erected before more monuments are projected is a wise one. New York had to import a Chicagoan to raise the money to complete the Grant monument. Perhaps Ann Arbor will have to look to Ypsilanti for a financier and hustler to raise the funds for the Felch monument. Ypsilanti has such a person and she is not a man either. But she can accomplish this object if she sets about it.—Courier. And that is no dream, either, for she is ever ready to help along any good public object.

GEO. M. PULLMAN DEAD

Celebrated Sleeping Car Magnate Is No More.

CARRIED OFF BY HEART DISEASE.

Discovered Early in the Morning in a Dying Condition, Although He Retired in Apparently Good Health—His Death a Shock to His Many Friends and Acquaintances—Sketch of His Life—How He Got His Start in Business.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—George M. Pullman, president of the Pullman Palace Car company, died at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at his home, 1729 Prairie avenue. Death was sudden, and is attributed to heart difficulty. Monday night Mr. Pullman retired at 11 o'clock, after entertaining a party of friends at his home. At that time he made no particular complaint regarding his health.

GEORGE M. PULLMAN.

During the past month Mr. Pullman has been ailing, but the trouble was not sufficient to interfere with his business, and Monday he was at his office as usual.

Early Tuesday morning a friend, who was stopping with Mr. Pullman Monday night, heard a slight noise from his host's bedchamber and entered to see Mr. Pullman make his way to a safe, where he fell gasping for breath. Physicians were summoned, but the sick man expired before a doctor could reach his side. His very sudden death comes as a shock to his relatives and friends, and as it became known throughout the city, formed the chief topic of conversation in business circles.

Remarkable Business Achievements.

George Mortimer Pullman was born March 3, 1831, in Chataqua county, N. Y. At 14 he went into a country store, at 17 he left the place to learn the trade of a cabinet maker, and at 22 he took a contract for moving houses, as was made necessary by the widening of the Erie canal. So far there is nothing exciting in his record. But what really interests the public is his town and the wonderful business and social system he and his coadjutors have built up there.

Pullman is, indeed, a wonderful town—the greatest town in the world owned by one man or corporation. All the world knows that, but all the world does not yet know that in Pullman have been solved several questions over which George and Bellamy, Donnelly and the socialists, are still puzzling themselves—and us. In 1880 the town of Pullman was founded purely as a business enterprise, to serve the imperative needs of the Pullman Car company for increased shop facilities. Today it is a great city by itself, or would be if it had not been absorbed within the ever-encroaching limits of Chicago. Yet when it was founded Chicago people spoke of it as "away out on Lake Calumet," and its center is fully fourteen miles from the central part of the city.

Description of Pullman.

Pullman is spacious and cleanly. There are eight miles of paved streets, bordered for the most part by stately elms and maples. From the cozy brick station when he leaves the railway the visitor looks down a broad, clean, well shaded and well lighted boulevard to the sparkling waters of the lake. There are a hotel, a theater with seats for 1,600 people and a renowned arcade containing postoffice, savings bank and public library, the last, with its 8,000 volumes, being the gift of Mr. Pullman. But more than all, the basis of it all in truth, are the great car works. On the first floor is the great Corliss engine which ran the machinery at the centennial exhibit of 1876, and on the other floors are all the minute devices for putting through their successive stages the many thousand cars turned out yearly by the company.

It was in 1859 that Mr. Pullman located in Chicago in the business of raising buildings, and on his first night ride he conceived the idea of making comfortable sleeping cars. All the world has read of the difficulty he had in inducing railroad men to believe the scheme would pay. That year he induced the Chicago and Alton road to let him remodel two of their day coaches and make them sleepers. In 1863 he turned out the first regular Pullman car and named it the "Pioneer." His "Pullmans" are now running on 125,000 miles of railway. His work is wonderful, and the town of Pullman is his monument.

Age Touched Him Lightly.

George M. Pullman was one of the style of men popularly described as a "perfect gentleman." His 66 years of life touched his kindly face lightly. He was an extensive traveler in foreign lands and a very pleasant talker. No man ever had a more loyal and unselfish friend. The boy who loved his mother in Brocton was the husband and father who worshipped his family in Chicago. Mr. Pullman was a member of half a dozen Chicago clubs, a patron of art and music and a "chum" of his neighbors, Philip D. Armour and Marshall Field.

The home of the Pullmans is on the lake shore, Prairie avenue and Eighteenth street, the corner of the lawn touching the spot where occurred the Fort Dearborn massacre in the Indian days of Chicago, which Mr. Pullman recently commemorated by a splendid bronze group. The house is of fine brown stone and one of the most costly in the city, and the family is made up of father and mother, Florence, now Mrs. Lowden, a beautiful brunette of 28; Harriet, now Mrs. Frank Carolan of San Francisco, a duplicate of her mother, aged 24; and George M., Jr., and Sanger, twins, aged 21. Mrs. Pullman was Harriet Sanger, daughter of J. Y. Sanger of Ottawa, Ills., where she was married to Mr. Pullman in 1867. She is a very lovely woman and, with her children, is largely interested in works of charity.

Rev. Fayette Royce Dead.

Beloit, Wis., Oct. 19.—Rev. Fayette Royce, D. D., for twenty-nine years rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, died Tuesday morning at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago of Bright's disease. He was widely known as a clergyman and was a prominent Free Mason.

Old-Time Fire Fighter Dead.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Captain Edward O'Neill, one of Chicago's old firemen, and for many years the head of engine company No. 4, lies dead at his home, 185 Burling street. He expired Monday night at a late hour.

NEW YORK MAYORALTY FIGHT.

New York, Oct. 19.—"Claim everything" has seemingly been adopted as the motto of many of the political master mechanics of New York for the campaign. The most sweeping claim is that made by Messrs. Sheehan and Croker, representing the Tammany organization and which has the practical endorsement of the betting men about town, who have all along been offering odds on Van Wyck. The claim, however, that the Tammany ticket will receive 250,000 out of the 475,000 votes registered in greater New York is scouted by other party leaders. Next to Tammany the greatest display of confidence is at Republican headquarters, where there seems to be a genuine belief that General Tracy will win. Seth Low's managers profess to be confident and those of George to be satisfied.

Whatever may be the actual belief of the leaders there is no disposition to allow the battle to go by default. There are in progress nightly from 800 to 500 political meetings. This includes, of course, the minor gatherings in assembly district and ward clubrooms. It is claimed that for the remaining fortnight of the campaign the Tracy leaders have arranged for an average of 200 meetings per night, at each of which there will be a full complement of speakers. A reminder of the widespread interest shown in the campaign of last fall is the work of women—either organized into clubs or acting independently. Thus far General Tracy and Mr. George seem to have the call in the favor of the feminine portion of the population, and many of the McKinley and Bryan women's clubs of 1896 are again to the fore.

MANY BISHOPS IN COUNCIL.

Milwaukee, Oct. 19.—Forty bishops and 100 prominent laymen of the Episcopal church had seats in the missionary council that opened Tuesday. The Rt. Rev. Isaac Lea Nicholson, bishop of Milwaukee, welcomed the members of council in the Cathedral Church of All Saints. A celebration of communion began the ceremonies in the cathedral and after Bishop Peterkin of West Virginia had responded to the address of welcome the council proceeded to do business. There are to be reports on the progress and needs of Episcopal missions in all parts of the world and the usual planning in matters financial to keep work going forward.

Tuesday evening there was a special service in memory of the late Dr. Langford, sometime general secretary of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary society of the church. Dr. William Bodine preached the memorial sermon. The event of the week, however, will be the interring of the remains of Dr. Breck, one of the greatest missionary workers of the church in their final resting place at Nashotah. All of the bishops and clergy and about 500 others will go out to the seminary on a special train to witness the reinterment of the body, which has been brought from Benicia, Cal., to be laid in a grave selected by Dr. Breck's son, near the tomb of Jackson Kemper, first missionary bishop of America.

Yellow Fever Report.

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—Half a dozen cases and two deaths was the 10 o'clock report to the board of health touching the local yellow fever situation Tuesday. The weather was cool and damp and dangerous for the sick. The storms that have been promised for New Orleans have not reached here and there does not seem any immediate likelihood that the present spell of weather will be broken soon. A number of instances have happened recently where patients have been taken to the hospitals in street cars and other vehicles. This is against the law and the board of health has issued an order prohibiting such violations of the city ordinances.

Application for a Receiver.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—Deputy Attorney General Reeder has applied to the court for a receiver for the Iron City Fire Insurance company of Pittsburg. The application was at once granted and Elmer W. Moore of Pittsburg was appointed receiver. Judgments to the amount of $30,000 have been entered against the company and a number of executions against it have been returned marked "No funds." Timothy O'Leary, Jr., is the president of the company.

Dr. Patton Fully Recovered.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton university, left for the east Monday night. Mrs. William Thaw, at whose residence the eminent theologian had been staying while here assisting in the services consequent on the moving of the Third Presbyterian church, said that Dr. Patton had recovered from his slight illness and was quite well enough to take the journey home.

ONLY A WASTE OF TIME

To Talk of Autonomy for the Island of Cuba.

INTERVIEW WITH A CUBAN LEADER

Sixty Thousand Men Are Under Arms and Nothing but Absolute Freedom Will Be Accepted from the Spaniards—Could Blow Up Havana Any Day—Starving Pacificos Attack the Stores in Matanzas and a Terrible Slaughter Is the Result.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—Colonel Johnson of the Cuban army, in an interview, says: "Autonomy? No; nothing but absolute freedom. We have 60,000 men under arms in Cuba. Virtually the whole island, except Havana, Matanzas, and Cienfuegos, is in our hands. We can take Havana by means of dynamite, but we would have to notify the foreign consuls, who, of course, would notify the enemy, else we should blow up our friends. At a meeting of representatives of the whole army, of the east and of the west, as late as Oct. 4, at Holquin, at which I was present, and which has not yet been mentioned in the papers, it was reiterated that Cuba would accept nothing but absolute freedom. It is a waste of time for the United States to deal with Spain relative to granting autonomy, or anything else short of absolute freedom.

Want Belligerent Rights Granted.

"What we want of the United States is the granting of belligerent rights. With that, in less than seventy-two hours we would have, out of the various ports of the United States, forty-two vessels flying the Cuban flag. Before the American congress meets again there will be events that we hope will compel congress to recognize us. We have been on the defensive heretofore. Now we are on the offensive. We begin to retaliate. The armies of the east and west are about to consolidate. They will shortly attack Matanzas. Possibly Havana will be assailed. We are about to show congress that we mean business, if we have not shown it hitherto. With belligerent rights the island will be free before Dec. 31 of this year. Without recognition we shall still be free before March of next year."

BREAD RIOT IN MATANZAS.

Starving Pacificos Attack Stores and 100 Women Are Killed by Troops.

New York, Oct. 19.—The Sun's Havana correspondent sends this account of a typical bread riot in Matanzas: The situation in Matanzas city is terrible. The pacificos there asked the governor on last Friday to order the military stores to give them some food. Fifty pacificos, in behalf of all the others, called on the governor for that purpose. The governor, Senor Porrua, answered them roughly and refused them any help. The delegation then said to the governor: "We shall be obliged to take our food from the market by force."

"Do it if you dare," replied Porrua. The fifty men returned to the huts of the starving concentrados, telling them that they must either resign themselves to die of hunger or attack the markets of Matanzas. All then started for the city, running and yelling like demons. Without other arms than their knives and sticks they attacked the markets and stores. The women led the way, fighting desperately. The first guards were overpowered and disarmed. The main market was plundered in half an hour, and several stores were sacked. The assailants numbered about 3,000 persons. The garrison and militia soon gathered and attacked the undisciplined mass of pacificos, who, without leaders or organization, were dispersed after many of them had been butchered by the Spanish soldiers. Over 100 women were killed in the affray.

Having Fun with the Spaniard.

Madrid, Oct. 19.—El Herald, referring to the departure of suspected filibusters from New York, says: "The Americans continue to play with Spain, as they had ample time to prevent their departure."

INDIANS RAID A TOWN.

Band of Thirty-Five Drunken Chickasaws Ho'd Wild Orgies.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 19.—Mill Creek, a small town in the Chickasaw Nation, east of Berwyn, I. T., was raided by a drunken band of thirty-five Chickasaw braves, who terrorized the inhabitants, drove the merchants from their business houses, and in the evening engaged in a wild orgy which ended in a killing.

The Indians entered the town uttering shrill war whoops and shooting off their guns. They went tearing down the main street, shooting sign boards full of holes and causing a general stampede of everybody on the street. Then they broke open a cider joint and drank everything they could find. After this they began a systematic raid on the stores, driving merchants and customers out and helping themselves to whatever they wanted. Luxy Lewis and James McKinney engaged in a shooting bout, in which the latter was killed. Lewis is still at large.

Are You Thinking

of what you will take for your cough or cold? It has been growing steadily worse, and you must take something or else see the doctor, and you don't want to go to him when a simple, effective remedy, such as Carter's Cough Cure, will cure you, and he would recommend it himself. A HARVEST OF HUMAN HAIR.

Millions of Pounds Every Year Get Tangled Up in Commerce.

Perhaps there is no staple article about which less is known by the average person than human hair as an article of commerce. It will doubtless surprise many when it is stated that the dealers in human hair goods do not depend on chance clippings here and there, but that there is a regular hair harvest that can always be relied upon. It is estimated that over 12,000,000 pounds of human hair are used annually in the civilized world for adorning the heads of women. In New York city alone over four tons of this class of goods are imported yearly.

"Not a little of the hair used in this country," said a New York dealer to the writer, "comes from the heads of American women, and it is fully as fine in shade and texture as the imported article. We had a big harvest during the craze that the fair sex had not long ago for having their hair cut short. Many thousands of women who then had their locks sheared have since bitterly regretted it, as in many instances their hair has grown so slowly that they have been compelled to wear a wig or a switch since the fashion changed. After the majority of women reach the age of 80 the hair seems to partially lose its vigor, and if cut it will not grow long again.

"Two-thirds of the ladies nowadays use false hair more or less. The decree of fashion, or the desire to conceal a defect or heighten a charm, is the reason of course. One woman, for instance, has a high forehead and wishes to reduce it in appearance. Another has worn off the front hair by continued frizzing and would like to conceal the fact. Both make use of a front or top piece, with a choice of many styles.

"Ladies' wigs cost from $20 to $200; half wigs, top pieces and switches from $10 to $50, according to quality.

"The largest supply of hair comes from Switzerland, Germany and the French provinces. There is a human hair market in Merlans, in the department of the lower Pyrenees, held every Friday. Hundreds of hair traders walk up and down the one street of the village, their shears dangling from their belts, and inspect the braids which the peasant girls, standing on the steps of the houses, let down for inspection. If a bargain is struck, the hair is cut and the money paid on the spot, the price varying from 60 cents to $5 in our money.

"A woman's hair may grow to the length of 6 feet, and I know a lady who has been offered and refused $500 for her crown of glory, which is over 6 feet long. A single female hair will bear up a weight of four ounces without breaking, but the hair thus heavily weighted must be dark brown, for blond hair breaks under a strain of 2½ ounces. There are some 2,000 importers, manufacturers and dealers in human hair in the United States.—Washington Star.

The Baron's Order.

A worthy Welsh baronet, a member of one of the parliaments of William IV, was asked by one of his constituents, who chanced to be in town at the time, for an order of admission into the house. With his characteristic disposition to oblige Sir — immediately complied with the request and wrote an order in the usual terms and addressed it thus, "To the Door Keeper of the House of Commons." The person for whom it was intended discovered the errors in the spelling after he had gone 10 or 12 yards from the worthy baronet, and turning back and running up to him said: "Oh, Sir —, there is a slight mistake in your order. Two letters have been transposed. You have spelled 'keeper' with a k instead of a k, and 'commons' with a k instead of a c." "That's all right," was the answer. "The doorkeeper will see to it. He is sure to know which is which."

A Rhyming Bible.

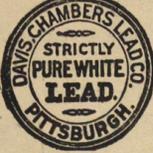

In the library of Glasgow university there is a rhyming Bible, the work of the eccentric old divine, Zachary Boyd. He conceived the idea of rendering the sacred book in rhyme, a task which had to some extent been undertaken by several writers, among whom may be mentioned the Saxon Caedmon and Tate and Boyd's rhyming version of the Psalms. Zachary Boyd gave full play to his imagination and produced a work of abiding interest and curiosity, though it has never yet been printed.—London Answers.

Valorous Cows. The editor of the Condon (Or.) Globe saw a deed of cow valor that was worth recording as well as seeing. A herd of cattle, and among them two cows, accompanied by their calves, were grazing in tall dead grass when the calves became separated a little from the rest of the herd.

Just then two huge, hungry coyotes crept up through the grass, cut off the calves from the rest of the cattle and started in pursuit of them. After running about 200 yards the calves came to a high, five wire, barbed wire fence, and, being small, managed to get through it. On the other side of the fence was an open pasture.

The wolves quickly followed the calves through the fence and were rapidly running them down on the other side, when the two cow mothers discovered what was going on. Each uttered a loud bellow, hoisted her tail and started for the rescue.

It appeared to be a hopeless chase, for the wire fence intervened, and the cows were certainly much too large to get through it. They knew well enough that it was there, and could, besides, see it plainly, but both cows plunged together straight into it.

The watching editor, horrified, looked to see them hurled back, frightfully wounded, but instead one of the posts gave way under the onslaught, the wires sank down, and in another moment the mothers were on the pasture side of the fence, badly cut and bleeding, but still able to charge the wolves successfully and put them to flight.

Soon the cows were licking the rescued calves affectionately, and the coyotes were howling a disappointed duet from the summit of a knoll near by.

Captain Allen, of Ypsilanti, went to the county house dinner Thursday of last week and it is a most flattering testimonial of the palatability of the blow-out to say that the captain weighed considerably more when he came away than when he went there. He waited by the roadside until the motor came along and helped him homeward.—Times.

An Extra Jury Panel That Was Illegally Drawn.

Owing to an informality in drawing the extra panel of jurymen ordered by the court for the Richards murder case, the whole panel had to be discharged Monday, and a new panel ordered drawn. The informality consisted in the exclusion of the different wards of Ann Arbor from the drawing of the panel and because the order of the court did not show that the original panel had been exhausted. The objection to the panel was made by Frank E. Jones, one of the attorneys for the accused, who based his objection on the decision of the supreme court in the case of the People vs. Hill, 48th Mich., in which a similar state of affairs as regards the drawing of a new panel of jurymen existed. The supreme court decided that it was not a jury of the county at large, nor one from near the county seat, nor one desired by the judge himself for the general panel of the term. The law provides that where an extra jury panel is wanted by reason of the regular panel being exhausted, it shall be drawn from the county seat and its immediate vicinage.

When the case came on for trial Monday, the regular term panel of jurymen was soon exhausted by the challenges from both sides and it was then the panel drawn last week was introduced that the objection was made. The decision of the supreme court was conclusive and the court ordered the drawing of another panel from Ann Arbor city and the towns in its immediate vicinity. The following are the names of those who were drawn and subpoenaed to be in attendance Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock:

Ann Arbor city, first ward, Ambrose V. Robison, James J. Quarry, Robert Campbell; second ward, Ludwig Walz, Harry Cole, Adam Dieterle; third ward, Michael Williams, James B. Saunders; fourth ward, Henry B. Dodsley, Frank Vandawarker; fifth ward, Charles G. Greiner, Harry Hammond; sixth ward, Benjamin Barker, Samuel Gregory; seventh ward, William Frey, Abner Sweet; Ann Arbor town, Nathan Nixon, John T. Fuller; Northfield, Frederick F. Chapin, Charles Haran; Pittsfield, Ransom E. Rouse, George Wesley; Scio, Godfrey Paul, D. E. Quish.

But if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble you will find Swamp-Root just the remedy you need. People are not apt to get anxious about their health soon enough. If you are "not quite well" or "half sick" have you ever thought that your kidneys may be the cause of your sickness?

It is easy to tell by setting aside your urine for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate, scanty supply, pain or dull ache in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder need doctoring.

There is satisfaction in knowing that the great remedy Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, fulfills every wish in relieving weak or diseased kidneys and all forms of bladder and urinary troubles. Not only does Swamp-root give new life and activity to the kidneys—the cause of trouble, but by treating the kidneys it acts as a tonic for the entire constitution. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar, or by mentioning the Argus and sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. you may have a sample bottle of this great discovery sent to you free by mail.

TOOK POST OFFICE MONEY.

Got Six Months in the D. H. C. and a Fine of $1,521.31 for It.

Jerome L. Westover, while postmaster of Jerome, Hillsdale county, robbed the village post office of $1,524.81 by issuing false money orders and appropriating the proceeds. When his crime was discovered he skipped to New York and from that state through friends, he subsequently reimbursed to the government all that he had taken. He finally returned to Michigan, believing that the return of the money would secure him immunity from arrest. But he was traced to a farm in Jackson county, where he was working, was arrested and taken to Detroit. When first arraigned he pleaded not guilty. Subsequently, his lawyers, Alfred Russell and Attorney Latten, persuaded him to change his plea and on Tuesday he was taken before Judge Swan in the United States district court for sentence.

Both of his attorneys pleaded hard for his discharge on suspended sentence, on the ground that he was not a criminal, that this was the first time there had ever been a breath of suspicion against him, and that he had returned all the money taken. Assistant United States District Attorney Whitman in his argument said he did not wish to say anything which would influence the court in the leniency of his sentence, but it was his duty to allude to the fact that Westover had previously taken $502 in the same way, which was returned to Inspector Larmour in September, 1896, before the later defalcations for which he is now held were inaugurated.

The court imposed the minimum sentence on Westover, which is six months in the Detroit house of correction and a fine equal in amount to the money taken. Westover expected to get away free and showed by his manner in court that he felt confident such would be the case.

Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course.

The opening entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. lyceum course at the Athens Theater, Thursday evening of last week, was attended by between 500 and 600 people, who were delighted with it. Mr. C. D. Kellogg's imitable bird warbling, Mrs. Kellogg's fine contralto singing, Miss Beaman's artistic violin playing and Miss Eldredge's reading and calisthenics all came in for their share of applause, although on the whole it was a somewhat frigid audience. The calcium lights under the management of Mr. J. H. Kellogg introduced some new and novel features in colored lights. If all the numbers on the course are as good as this one it will be a course that cannot be beaten and will be doubly worth the $1 the season tickets cost.
