ANN ARBOR ARGUS-DEMOCRAT.

VOL. LXIV.—NO. 9.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1899.

WHOLE NO. 3433.

The Convention Thursday Largely Attended.

DORSEY HOPPE IS NAMED

As Candidate for County School Commissioner.

Resolutions Condemn the Action of

The democratic county convention yesterday was an enthusiastic affair. The court house was filled with earnest and enthusiastic men. With no contest on, with no quarrel in the the party to call out the faithful, they were out in great force and the convention consisted of earnest thoughtful men well representative of the democracy of Washtenaw. M. J. Cavanaugh, county chairman, called the convention to order and called Hon. James S. Gorman, of Chelsea to the chair. Frank Dettling, of Freedom, was made secretary. On motion the following committees were appointed:

Credentials—Alfred Davenport, M. McGuire, Tracy L. Towner.

Permanent Organization and Order of business-T. D. Kearney, C. L. Yost, E. A. Nordman.

Resolutions—D. A. Hammond, J. Manly Young, H. Lighthall.

The convention then took a recess until 1:30 p. m. local time.

On the convention being called to order at 2 o'clock, there were not seats enough to accommodate the delegates and their friends. The various committees reported and the reports were adopted without division. The temporary officers were made permanent and the following resolutions adopted. Resolved, That the democracy of Wahtenaw county, in convention assembled re-affirms the time honored principles of the party and pledges united support to the ticket in the coming elections.

Resolved, That we express our condemnation of the action of the recent republican state convention in repudiating their pledges to pass the Atkinson bill in the interest of equal taxation.

Resolved, That the party should be rebuked for renoimnating a man for the supreme bench who has been openly charged by the leaders of the party with improper leanings toward corporate wealth, in his decisions, and a corresponding disregard for the rights of the people.

Resolved, That Washtenaw should have a candidate for regent of the university on the state ticket and that our delegation to the state convention be instructed to use its influence to secure recognition for a Washtnaw man.

Mr. Gorman, after the report on permanent oragnization, thanked the convention for the honor it had conferred on him. In looking over the convention it was quite evident that there was still hanging about the old campfires of the democracy of Washtenaw, when the order to march comes, enough power to enable them to turn out in force. The principles of the democracy were first taken up when this country revolted from George III. We believe in the doctrines of Jefferson and Patrick Henry and of the men who offered their lives that the people of this country might be free. Democracy is universal, a government by the people, and for the people, for the people all alike. No thought of ism, chism. class or section is ever entertained by the man imbued with the sentiments of democracy. Many times you have gone to battle and got whipped, occasionally a deserter has left you, but you are holding the flag high. Hold the flag now, rally around it, and you will elect your candidate. A ticket nominated here today will be elected. The delegates sent to Kalamazoo will nominate the winners. They will call the attention of the people of the state to the fact that it is but a short time ago, the republicans adopted a platform making the Atkinson bill paramount to everything. It is only yesterday that the first republican convention held after the election repudiated the bill. People of the state only need to have their memories jogged a little to see the inconsistency and the misrepresentation in the republican platform. Notice was served on the state senate yesterday that the republican party did not want the Atkinson bill. The same conditions exist today as when the late lamented Cooley was defeated. Sid W. Millard and George E. Moore were made tellers and the officers were sworn in. On motion of Major John P. Kirk, Senator Charles A. Ward was made delegate at large to the state convention. On motion of E. B. Norris, John P. CITY ASSESSOR P. O'HEARN DIED THIS MORNING.

He Was a Man of Upright Character and Without an Enemy Who Left an Honorable Record.

Patrick O'Hearn died at 1 o'clock this morning at his home 206 N. Thayer st. He was Ann Arbor's first and only city assessor, and had been elected time and again without opposition, a trioute which comes to but few men, especially to a position which requires such admirable quali ties of heart and head to keep from making a host of enemies. O'Hearn's death comes as a shock to his friends although it had been long expected. He had been ailing for some time. The funeral services will be held at St. Thomas church, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'colck local time.

Patrick O'Hearn was the son of William and Catherine (Brown) O'Hearn, and born in New York city, Dec. 12, 1830. When seven years of age he with his parents removed to a farm in Green Oak, Livingston county. Here he attended the district schools and helped his parents on the farm. After reaching manhood he in company with John Welch started a grocery in the old Buchoz block on Detroit st.

Later he went to New Orleans, where he spent several years in business. On his return he accepted the position of his return he accepted the position of bookkeeper with the Ann Arbor Agricultural Co. For a year he was in Howell; the bookkeeper of Weinmeister & O'Hearn. He then became book keeper for Tolbert's lumber yard which position he filled until the time that his official duties as assessor demanded his entire attention. About the year 1860 he married Catherine, the daughter of Martin Howard, of Nothfield. She died 19 years ago. Seven children of whom six survive blessed their union. > The Road May Be Built by Way of Dexter.-It Will Go from Chelsea to Cavanaugh Lake, Grass Lake, Leoni and Jackson.-Details of the Ann Arbor is to be connected with Chelsea and Jackson by an electric line, which it is expected will be finished by Oct. 1, 1899. This is the glad tidings which the Argus brings to its readers tonight, and which should give new zest to the growing feeling for pushing the city which now seems to have come to our business men.

For some time past Thoams D. Kearney and Arthur Brown have been quietly at work obtaining franchises for an electric road to connect Ann Arbor and Jackson and pass through the villages of Chelsea, Grass Lake, Leoni and possibly Dexter. Yesterday they were granted a franchise by the town board of Leoni township and they now have secured practically the entire right of way from Ann Arbor to Jackson.

There is some doubt about which route will be taken out of Ann Arbor. The question is whether the territorial road will be followed to Chelsea, or whether the road to Dexter will be chosen and from there to Chelsea. The farmers living on the territorial road are very anxious to have the line built on that road. The roadbed is wider and the grades somewhat easier and the line could be constructed more cheaply on that road. But these electric lines have to be placed where they will pay the best. Dexter is a thriving village and is anxious for the road. The citizens of Chelsea, also, desire to have the road go through Dexter village, while the farmers living on the road between Dexter and Chelsea insist upon the line being built upon that road. If the road goes through Dexter some arrangement will have to be made with the Lansing, Dexter and Ann Arbor road as their franchise for a right of way preceeds that of Mr. Kearney and Mr. Brown, on the Ann Arbor and Dexter road.

Frem Chelsea west, in order to escape some bad hills on the territorial road, it is probable that the new electric line will follow the highway, which nearly parallels the Michigan Central tracks. It will probably run from Chelsea to Cavanaugh Lake, thence north to strike the territorial road west of the hills, and from that point on through Grass Lake and Leoni on the territorial road to the eastern end of Main st., Jackson city, where they will connect with the Jackson city railway and some traffic arrangements will have to be made with them.

In due time the Ann Arbor city council will be asked for a franchise out West Huron st., but whether the franchise will be asked for on that part of the territorial road in the city or on Dexter ave. remains to be determined in the next few days.

The Argus is unable to state just who the parties are who are back of the road but it is known that some of the parties connected with the Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor road are interested in this.

The projectors hope to have the road completed and running by Oct. 1, 1899, and then Ann Arbor may expect a large increase in the number of its visitors and this of course means more trade.

The people along the line of the road are very enthusiastic over it and there has been no opposition from any point. Farmers have offered their services in work on the construction of the road bed and the road has been everywhere regarded with favor.

News of the new line may come as a surprise to many of our readers, the work on it having been quietly done with evident intention of having the work as complete as possible before news of it was given to the general public.

Just as soon as some further arrangements can be made the new company will be organized and the Argus will then be at liberty to give the names of those interested to the public.

The benefit to Ann Arbor of the new road may be seen at a glance. The road to Detroit has benefited Detroit more than Ann Arbor but the road from Jackson to Ann Ar bor will open up a large territory for trade to Ann Arbor merchants and by cheap and rapid transit make it a profitable one. Every citizen of Ann Arbor should rejoice with the Argus

Where Rubber Is Grown.

The principal rubber producing region is the valley of the Amazon, the greater portion of the rubber of commerce coming from Brazil, Venezuela, and the United States of Colombia. Much, however, is contributed by Central America and Mexico. The product of Africa is steadily increasing, and the planting of many thousands of rubber trees in India under government supervision will soon place that country prominently in the list of rubber growing lands.

and Scorpions.

Funeral Director Enoch Dieterle has received a very interesting letter from his former employee, Gus Meyers of Co. A, 31 Mich., dated at Amaro, Province of Santa Clara, Cuba. In describing the trip from Roderigo, the railroad station to their present camp he says. "Our Co. A. was the first one to go. We got an early start. There was no road only a trail. There are no roads only trails in this country, everything is growing wild. The brush grows higher than a mans head everywhere. Our company had eight wagons were not loaded very heavily on account of roughness of the roads. I rode on one of the wagons with the cook shanty stuff. Talk about your riding, we went over rocks and through brush. Every them."

In speaking of the country he says: "I got about a peck of oranges. Bananas are not quite ripe yet. Some cocoanuts are always ripe, they grow in big bunches. There is any amount of sugar cane growing. When the boys have nothing else to do, they suck sugar cane. This country is not as bad as a person hears about before they get here. I had the first chance to see a scorpion in Cienfue. gos. When I was going to bed I pulled out my blanket which had been folded up. I happened to see strength. him curled up. I did not disturb him, but called the boys to look at the animal. Lieutenant Belser said "After my boy had the measles his it was a scorpion. We can buy three good Havana cigars for five cents.'

lady, Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1801 Lexington Ave., it will give a "thousand pounds of comfort."

"I feel it a duty to inform you," writes Mrs. Fisher in an earnest letter to Dr. Pierce, "that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications. I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for this or that complaint as my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1897 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better.

"I am not now cross and irritable. The nomination of A. F. Freeman, of Manchester, for member of the board of states prison control, by Gov. Pingree has precipitated a pretty fight, but one long brewing, in the republican ranks in the state, which will take on large sized dimensions in the state senate, where the anti Pingree end of the party will attempt to defeat confirmation. The reason for the fight is not found in Mr. Freeman's personality. No one doubt his mental fitness or his personal standing. But it is clearly understood by both sides that the confirmation of his appointment means that Deputy Railroad Commissioner and ex-Sheriff Judson will be warden of the Jackson prison. Now the ex-sheriff is decidedly out of favor with the anti-Pingreeites and every effort will be made to save Warden Chamberlain, who is de cidedly in favor with the federal push. But Gov. Pingree is also a fighter and has evidently made up his mind that Judson shall be warden. So has Judson himself. They are both determined men and a keen local oserver feels confident that he will win. To prove it he instances a conversation he had with A. F. Freeman, who was in the city last evening, returning from a conference at Detroit. Mr. Freeman claimed that the accusation made against him that he had tried to defeat Sharp and help Ward in this senatorial district is absolutely false and they otes cast will show it, as Whiting for governor ran ahead of Ward for senator in Manchester and Sharp had held his own. Quoth he, "It is all a put up job on me but it is not true and I can show it."

When asked if Judson had not made a deal with Justice Grant to throw him Wahstenaw if he (Grant) would call off the "anties," Mr. Freeman refused to answer, but quietly said "we are not sleeping."

"Do you think for one minute," interupted he, "that they can fool with this appointment? YOUNG ANNARBOR GIRL'S TROUBLE.

Chicago dispatches state that little Loie Florence Mc-Clay, of Ann Arbor, Mich., aged 15, detained at the Harrison st. police station annex on account of a row with her morning. She said: "My mamma is Mrs. W. J. McClay, of Ann Arbor, Mich. Papa died and we were left with a large mortgage on our home, and no means of support. So mamma taught me how to make pretty sachet bags. She sent them to Chicago to the big stores, but they couldn't pay anything like the value of the bags and we could not make ends meet. So mamma let me come here to sell them directly to the ladies who used them. I have made sometimes $50 a week. Mrs. Winters with whom I boarded at 294 Superior st., did not treat me very gently, Capt. Reeves received a telegram from Mrs. McClay, saying she would send a letter which would explain the child's presence alone in Chicago.

She is said to have arrived in Chicago Thanksgiving day and the quarrel with her landlady developed into a hair pulling match.

There is no such name in the new Ann Arbor directory as Mrs. W. J. McClay.

He Brought His Intended With Him and Tried to Argue the County Clerk into Granting the License in Spite of His Previous Incumberance.

Not every man who wants a marriage license gets one. There are sometimes several obstacles in the way. One great obstacle is a previous incumbrance in the shape of a wife. Henry Schumacher, of this city, so found out a week ago today when he applied at the county clerk's office for a license to marry. He called in the morning to find out if his wife, who on Oct. 15, 1894, had commenced proceedingss for a divorce, had obtained it. He was informed that she had not. He called again in the afternoon in company with the woman he wanted to marry and made application for a license. This was refused him. He stated that he did not live with his wife who long ago left him and had been keeping company with other men and he saw no reason why he might not marry. He hung around for a while but finally went away without the license. No steps had been taken by the wife beyond filing a bill for diverce, and it is evident that if he wants to marry he must get a divorce for himself.

From Extreme Nervousness.

HAT no one remedy can contain the elements necessary to cure all diseases, is a fact well known to everyone. Dr. Miles' System of Restorative Remedies consists of seven distinctively different preparations, each for its own purpose.

Mrs. L. C. Bramley, 37 Henry St., St. Catherines, Ontario, writes: "For years I suffered from extreme nervousness and annoying constipation, developing into palpitation and weakness of the heart. I was unable to sleep, suffered much from headache, pain in my left side, palpitation and a constant feeling of weakness and prostration. I began using Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills and the Anti-Pain Pills to relieve sudden paroxysms of pain and headache. I soon felt much improved and the pains and aches and weariness left me. I then took Dr. Miles' Restorative Tonic and am now restored to my former good health."

Jackson, Mich., March 2.-John J. Carton, of Flint, was the temporary chairman of the state Republican convention which met here yesterday. He is a Pingree leader. After preliminary organization a recess was taken, and during this recess the committee on resolutions had a long and heated contest over a proposition to reaffirm a clause George T. REFORMS IN THE CUSTOM HOUSE.

Our Authorities Put a Stop to Spain's Corrupt Administration - Chinese Merchants and Their Quaint Shops. Profitable Fields Open For American Capital and Enterprise.

Since the American authorities assumed control of affairs in Manila there have been a decided improvement in business conditions and a feeling of greater confidence among European least developed, yet it must eventually traders. Under our administration about Manila are extensive and luxuthings are changed, and an honest en- riant. It is unnecessary to dwell on the effect of clarifying the business atmosone, and here also beet root culture in likely to become extensive. Sugar care grows luxuriantly and contains a large percentage of the saccharine element. The sugar business is now chiefly in the hands of Chinese planters, and as yet only the most crude manufacturing processes are in vogue. Yet the output is already large, and there are abundant opportunities for vast development in the future.

The Germans own several tobacco and cigar factories in Manila, and this industry is perhaps further developed than most others on the islands. Philippine tobacco has no superior. In Manila this industry gives employment to more persons than any other single occupation. Here everybody smokes, cigars and cigarettes being extremely cheap. The best cigar costs but 2 cents, and the same amount buys a package of two dozen cigarettes. The lumber industry is one of the tion the Manila custom house was run profit. At present there is but one steam on the most corrupt principles. If an sawmill on the islands. The fine hard

The Spanish money used here is a currency coined especially for these islands, and, although it is quite a our currency, it is superior in this respect to the Mexican coin. Our gold all the stores and shops at twice the The Spanish coin is easily counterfeited, and the skillful natives can readily make a good counterfeit of a peso or media peso.

Trade in Manila is largely in the hands of the Chinese. They are every-shops of Manila. Many American nov-will be held tomorrow from the residthe cultivation and cleaning of rice, in Cincinnati, March 2.—The delegates to tanning and in varied other industries. the Union Reform convention gathered | They are blacksmiths, carpenters, tinkers, chairmakers, and indeed are engaged in a myriad of other callings. resolutions was appointed which later Binondo is full of Chinese, and the Rosario is lined with their diminutive, space saving shops. They are up to all the tricks of trade and can live on an economic plan which no other people can approach. As yet the Chinese have not invaded the Escolta, where the fine shops and stores are located.

The native shop districts of Manila are the queerest places in the world. In Honolulu there is to be seen on a very small scale what we see here in Manila in hundreds of streets. The quaint native shops are really but little niches in the walls that line the streets, which are so narrow that they would not make an alley in an American town or city They, however, contain quite an assortment of native goods, such as pina cloth, rude shoes or sandals, and coarse cloths. There are many native eating houses, where the customers are served like horses in a stall, and often many eat from the same dirty platter. All these native places have peculiar odors, which are entirely too strong for the nostrils of an American.

But then there are other shops about Manila in which one forgets all about those foul holes. Out on the Calla de Iris, in the San Sebastian district, are to be seen some most interesting sights, and here are many palatial residences built in that picturesque style peculiar to Manila. There are fine courts, and the upper stories, projecting over them, give the structures a decidedly oriental appearance. This district is not without its flowers, for, while the Philippines are not noted for their floral products, there are some very brilliant and beautiful specimens to be seen here. If the visitor to Manila wishes to see a typical tropical place, he must not fail to visit the San Miguel district, which lies along the Pasig, adjoining San Sebastian.

Probably the principal industry of Manila and the Philippines is the production of hemp. It is doubtful whether many know that the famous Manila hemp is nothing else than the fiber of a species of banana. Over 100,000 tons of this hemp are exported every year. It is needless to say that the methods of cultivation and preparation are still ex-

Pittsburg and Cleveland are lighting Manila, the Westinghouse company and the Brush Electric works supplying the complete equipment of the electric lighting plant | March 15. of this city. Prior to the coming of our | HEMPHILL, Ypsilanti, Mich. army Manila was as quiet at noonday as the average American town is at midnight. All business was suspended during the heat of the day. Now it is different. American vigor is being quickly instilled into Manila and the Philippine islands. The capital city is proving as easy a conquest for American industrial and commercial ideas as it was for American arms, and undoubtedly the city and islands will be just as ready to fall before the invasion of American capital of American capital.

With Spanish rule at an end, Spanish oppression, tyranny and corruption forever overthrown and all supplanted by modern methods, just laws, honest administration, the industrial awakening and development of Luzon and the other islands of this rich archipelago will form one of the most brilliant chapters in the great volume of Anglo-American triumphs. The field is now ripe for the leaders in the arts of peace to consummate the work of civilization made possible by the heroic acts of our great naval and military captains, Admiral Dewey and General Merritt.

Our commanders here have wisely ought to prevent any overt acts of hostility, and have treated the insurgents with reasonable courtesy and consideration, aiming to impress upon them the idea that our mission is one of peace, prosperity and good will toward them. If they lay down their arms peaceably at our request, all will be well; if not, we will compel them to do so by force. Many reforms in local government are needed, and we must grant these. Churches and schools, local improvements, railroad communication, simpler laws and justice--which is here unknown-must be established early in our dominion. Spanish methods, manners and customs must be effaced, for nothing Spanish can be agreeable in native eyes.

It Traverses the Largest Area of Valley Land In the Archipelago-Well Constructed and Equipped-Picturesque Scenes Along the Line-Span-Ish Neglect of Land Transportation.

[Copyright, 1899, by the Author.] VII.

A trip over the Manila and Dagupin railroad, which occupies eight or ten 130 miles northward from Manila to the seaport of Dagupin, located on the western coast of Luzon, enables one to see about all that has ever been done toward facilitating land transportation here in our new oriental colony, for this is the only railroad line on these islands. Under Spanish dominion the authorities took but very little interest in such matters, and were seemingly blind to the commercial and agricultural advantages of the islands.

This neglect is apparent on every hand. Roadmaking and street improvements were lost sight of by the corrupt Spanish rulers years ago, and local funds collected for such improvements were misappropriated. If a bridge chanced to break down anywhere in the country districts, it was left unrepaired, and unless a raft was provided, the travelers had to ford the stream. Such are the conditions of the roads here in these islands of a single railroad line.

ger train is composed of eight or ten coaches, half of which are third class, and these are usually filled with natives But One Railroad In Operation on short journeys. The passenger rate mile. There are at present no statistics as to the original cost or present finan-

The line of the road traverses diagonally a continuous level or slightly rolling area and passes through the six provinces of Luzon-namely, Manila, Bulacan, Pampanga, Tarlac, Nueva Ecija and Pangasinau. Imagine a wide level landscape with the view intercepted at many points and often entirely shut off by groves of bamboo, sometimes 50 feet high, and in and around the groves dense thickets of tangled shrubbery; open spaces filled with imhours, and during which one is carried mense green fields of heavy rice or sugar cane; villages and groups of palm thatched bamboo huts on stilts and many marshy overflowing rivers with great sheets of water extending out into the fields. This with a few variations will give a good idea of the view along the Manila and Dagupin railroad at this season of the year, when the rains are frequent and heavy.

> For the first 15 miles out of Manila the land rises in irregular, long sloping hills, never rising more than 50 feet above the general level. The villages are apparently small, and around the first half dozen stations, beyond Caloocon, four miles from Manila, there is very little sign of life until Dagupin is approached. After leaving the hills behind and passing through half a dozen miles of very swampy land, with great ricefields, we arrive at Malolos, the eighth station, and situated some 20 miles from Manila. This place is the naw county. At the time of his headquarters of Aguinaldo, and the back to 1875. In that year an elaborate scheme for the construction of railroad lines was formulated, it being thought that under government ownership or subsidized companies and by private general a number of lines would be the fall of 1886 by London capitalists, with the provision that the road should be completed within four years from July 22, 1887, and that at the end of 99 years the road and rolling stock were and the soil has the appearance of inexto revert to the government without compensation.

The road as projected and as now operated extends from Manila to Dagupin and gives an outlet to the largest area of valley land in the Philippines. The roadbed is fine and the line has few curves. There is not a single cut of any consequence on the line. There are many bridges on the line, and the floods are frequent and destructive. The average elevation of the roadbed is not more than three or four feet above the general level. The ties are made from the hard woods found abundantly all over the island of Luzon. The track is 3 feet 6 inch gauge and laid with steel rails weighing 45 pounds to the yard. There are in all 60 bridges on the line.

The rolling stock is very light as compared with the substantial character of the roadbed. The locomotives are built much wood is shipped to Manila. By on the "pickaninny" plan, and look something like our narrow gauge locomotives. The carriages are of three classes, all being divided alike into much of it is covered with tall, coarse three compartments, with an outside gangway. Each compartment will seat eight persons, and the first class carriages have comfortable cane chairs, while the second and third classes have wooden benches.

All the buildings along the line are of first rate quality, and they are large nut groves, canefields and ricefields, and roomy. The machine shops of the road are at Caloocon, four miles from Manila, where General Manager Higgins has his residence. With the exception of a few English overseers, the road is operated by natives, who work for a salary of less than $20 per month.

The rates on all kinds of traffic are considerably lower than ordinary rates for corresponding distances in the United States. Sugar and rice form the great bulk of the tonnage. At present there are three freight and three passenger trains each way daily, and the passenger trains cover the 130 miles in

This offer was accepted in largest rivers on Luzon island. Here the to hold the same and declines to stream is probably 200 yards wide. A few miles beyond Calumpit the road leaves the stream and marshy lands behind. Drainage becomes much better, haustible fertility. Here palms and canefields begin to succeed the ricefields and the bamboo jungles.

San Fernando, ten miles beyond Calumpit, is said to contain a population of 80,000. It is one of the finest places on the line, and contains car and engine houses. A pottery factory and sugar refinery are located here. There are also two convents. Beyond San Fernando the mountains to the west come into view, and here one sees some fair pasture

At Bomban the line has reached the mountains, and here one can enjoy fine hunting, for the woods abound with deer and wild boar. A few miles farther and in a direction opposite the mountains there extends a strip of thin forest, and the tree tops tower high above the underbrush. From this section this time we have entered the province of Tarlac, and here we see great stretches of uncultivated land, and grass. Occasional cocoanut groves are seen along this part of the line, and the bamboo here almost disappears. The town of Tarlac is an important insurgent seat. The remainder of the trip to Dagupin, some 40 miles, is through a level stretch of land containing cocoahave several rice mills at Bayambang and Gerona. At Calasiao, the next station to Dagupin, are made the finest of

This rapid sketch of what can be seen by a few hours' travel along the line of the Manila and Dagupin railroad cannot present any comprehensive idea of the resources of the territory traversed. In this natural garden spot a phenomenal agricultural development is certain to follow quickly upon the heels of a stable government. Native labor is cheap and quite efficient, in spite of all the ill effects of Spanish rule, and new ideas are destined to work here in this and other parts of these islands wonders undreamed of heretofore.

Hill. In his will he bequeathed his real estate in Dakota to her absolutely and a life interest in the rest of the real estate, which after her death was to THE DEFENDANTS IN TWO DIbelong to her children. The will was probated in Dakota in August 1883 and ancillary letters taken out in Washtedeath he was the owner of 640 acres of land in Barnes county, Dakota, which Mrs. Hill valued at $6,000, upon which there was a mortgage of $1,680, which she paid off in June 1881. He also owned 160 acres in Barnes, county, which she valued at $4,000.

The bill states that Mrs. Mary E. Hill soon after her husband's deaths having great confidence in the honesty, integrity and intelligence of Comstock F. Hill, placed the property in his hands as agent and trustee to manage, sell and dispose of for her, and that on Oct. 13, 1885, he sold the 160 acres of land for $4,000, which he received and has never accounted to her for any portion of the same but claims that there is nothing due her there-

In the divorce case of Theo. J Walker complainant vs. Emma Walker, defendant, both of Ann Arbor, an amended answer and cross bill has been filed by her solicitors, Randall & Jones. She denies all the inferences of misconduct charged by the complainant and reiterates her charges that she was driven out of her home in her night clothes. She further alleges that at the time of the filing of her answers she did not know what property her husband owned. Since then she has learned that her husband had a onefourth interest lots 47, 50 and 51 in Jewetts' additio to the city of Ann Arbor, subject to the life estate of his mother Catherine Walker. She charges that the defendant, for the purpose of defrauding ler of alimony, deeded these lots to his mother. That she has deeded lot No. 47 to George J. informed her that he had bargained for Mann. An injunction was issued to restrain the further transfers of the real estate mentioned.

In the divorce case of Katie Pruett, complainant of Pittsfield, vs. William Pruett, defendant, of Detroit, the answer of the defendant has been filed. He admits the complainant gave birth to two children and that he is the father of the older child Evangeline but says who the father of Gladwin four years old is he does not know. He denies having steady employment. He claims to have married the complainant at the request of his mother, who said: "Do what is right and marry her and my home will be your and your wife's home." He further states that he is unable to bear the expenses of a law suit.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO,

Mrs. R. Hatto, of 1103 Forest ave. says: "Owing to the exertion and worry attendant to waiting on my late husband during a long illness I contracted kidney troulbe and during the past three or four years I suffered much from heavy aching, bearing down pains through my loins. I could not restcomfortably nights and felt exhausted and tired out when I got up in the mornings. If I caght the least cold it settled in my back and made me much worse. I felt generally run down and nnwell. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended that I procured a box at Eberbach & Son's drug store and began to use them. They relieved me right away though I only took the treatment a short time. They certainly did me a great deal of good and I do recommend them very highly."

Reduced to a Science - Manila's Great Abattoir - Water Buffaloes, Ponies and Dogs Used For Food.

[Copyright, 1899, by the Author.] VIII.

Manila life has many sides, and every ride is of intense and absorbing interest. No matter where one goes or which way he turns he is continually coming unexpectedly upon something new and interesting. I have traversed the same streets many times, and yet every time some new things of interest are re-

Manila has some fine clubs, and its places of enjoyment, while probably not up to our standard, are modern according to Spanish ideas. It is doubtful whether there is another city of the same size in the world so much given up to enjoyment and so utterly devoid of ambition in business lines, but American enterprise is now working a marvelous change.

No picture of Spanish life in the city of Manila would be complete without the beggars, who intrude themselves upon all strangers and give them a cordial and continuous welcome. The beggars are really one of the great plagues of the islands, and one cannot but wonder at the great number of these mendicants. It has been said that there is a suspicion that the church and saints have had a good deal to do with it, for they expect every one to give alms to religious duties. The beggars of Manila are found upon every street, at every bridge and gate and church door, in the markets and other business houses. The professional beggar is up at daybreak and stations himself on the street or elsewhere in a squatting position, with his hands extended and eyes closed, uttering a pitiful singsong wail. This promptness in the morning is to catch the ladies on their way to mass, as they seldom pass without dropping a few centavos into the palm of the beggar's outstretched hand. The church door is a special location for the beggars to lounge.

The female beggars are pitiable looking hags, and the men are mostly maimed and mutilated specimens of humanity. During the first month or two of our occupation many of the escaped lepers were found engaged in begging, but when the search for these began they hid away, and the other beggars were given a better chance. Among the beggars are many attractive children, and the passer can't help admiring the something, for it is hard to resist such station themselves along the streets, there are others who go among the crowds and solicit alms. It is a common sight to see a blind man or woman being led through the streets by a child

The beggars all have the look of despair down to a fine point, and since we have taken possession our free hearted great army of beggars has reaped a harvest.

There are many queer things to be seen in native streets. It is a very easy matter for one to lose himself on nearly any of these streets. Many of them have a queer way of coming to a sudden end against some quaint native building or gray old stone wall. There are narrow pavements on both sides of nearly all the native streets, and these are scarcely two feet wide, so that a pedestrian always walks under the overhanging second story of the buildings. But most foreigners usually take the middle of the street when they walk, which is very seldom, owing to the cheap and efficient cab service.

The old city and the San Miguel district, the fashionable district of New Manila, have some fine streets, but perhaps the most delightful street of the entire city is the great thoroughfare which, under various names, encircles the entire new city from near the Pasig around to the bay. This street cannot be said to be famous for its exclusiveness, for it is alike the resort of the lowliest and the wealthiest, as it intersects Binondo, Tondo, Santa Cruz, San Sebastian and San Miguel.

One of the most interesting institutions to be seen about Manila is the matadero, or native slaughter house, where water buffaloes, horses and dogs are prepared for market. This institution is located in Binondo, near the railroad depot. The building used as an abattoir is about 300 feet long and over 100 feet wide. On either side of the main room rows of rings are fastened to the stone floor, and to these the animals are tied when the slaughter be-Above the rings and extending over the whole space of the ceiling are horizontal bars, with forks attached, to the church and make it one of the first support the beef and other meat after they have been prepared for market. During the day everything is kept neat and clean, but it is not so at night. The inclosures used as pens for the buffaloes, cattle and horses are turned into sleep ing apartments at night, and here the weary native laborers dream away their sleeping hours.

Most of the work about this estab-9 p. m., amid the intense confusion one finds himself in a perfect babel of to sleep. and soliciting alms from the passersby and from the crowds in the shops and saloons. No other city in the world has so many mendicants who ply their lowly calling with such consummate craft. I have seen enough incidents of this peculiar feature of street life in Manila to fill a volume. The other day I saw something I shall long remember. It was down in the Juiapo district. There in the street a venerable beggar had sunk down on the sidewalk and leaned his weary back against the wall, he eating a bit of cold meat and a crust of bread given him by a soldier. He was not alone, nor was he accompanied by a child, as many beggars are. His only companion was a dog, which put his long nose up between his master's knees in sign of expectation. Nothing could shake his faith, as he knew that his master would not forget him, and he did not. The poor mendicant divided his scanty lunch with his dumb com-

Another scene which I shall never forget was one witnessed in the outskirts of the city only a few days ago. As I was passing along a street I saw a poor, miserable woman sitting on a stone with an infant in her arms. As I mals which enter the slaughter yard the passed she arose and intercepted me, holding out her hand for money. When I hesitated a moment, her pleadings were incessant, and, although I understood not a word of the Tagale language, the appeal was most eloquent, but not to be compared with her thanks when seen in the capital of the Philippines. the solicited coin was given.

buffaloes is all collected in one vessel and this mixture is made into a kind of jelly. It is amusing to see the natives skin the animals. They make a bungling job of it. With the hide the outer layer of meat is taken off, and afterward native boys strip this from the hide. Next comes the work of disemboweling, and after the entrails are removed they are taken to another room and there prepared for food by native women. Every part of the animal is used. Even the hoofs are taken to vats and the gelatin extracted. After the carcass is quartered and hung upon the hooks it is taken off the bones and then | sent to the native market houses. About 200 animals are slaughtered nightly.

To Americans horse meat is something new, but to the Spanish and natives, who endured the siege when rats sold for a peso, this meat is a luxury. Most of the ponies slaughtered are old and unfit for any service. They bring only about 10 pesos at the matadero. It is amusing to watch the processes of butchering a pony. With the Chinese horse meat is a favorite. Dogs are killed on a different plan. Of the smaller anipig is the only one which can make any pretensions to being fat. Such are the scenes about the place where is prepared the meat eaten by the 300,000 people of Manila, but this is only one of many queer and interesting institutions to be WILLIAM GILBERT IRWIN.

Everyone so associates Mr. Chamberlain with Birmingham that it is not generally known that he was born in Camberwell Grove, and lived in London during his boyhood. "Dear Sirs:-I have been troubled with Stomach troubles for over two years. I was induced to try your Dyspepsia cure & Nerve restorer. After using three boxes my stomach troubles left me. It has been over six months and no signs of its returning. I feel as if I wanted to speak in praise of your Medecine, you are at liberty to publish this to my friends and those suffering with any stomach trouble. Residence and Office, 48 Fourth Ave., North

'Very truly yours, Mrs. T. L. Reynolds."

The title Mrs Reynolds gives her letter is appropriate from the fact that she had tried so many preparations for this disease without receiving any lasting benefit, that she very reluctantly consented to try this new treatment. Drake's Dyspepsia Cure & Nerve Restorer is a combined method treatment in tablet form, which does not contain Opium or Calomel, and will not harm the most delicate stomach. For any form of stomach or nerve trouble this treatment has no equal. For sale by H. J. Brown and E. E. Calkins.

John F. Haas, Seneca Falls, N. Y., says: "Pe-ru-na cured me of chronic catarrh of the stomach with which I suffered for a long time. I took many medicines but none helped me until I began to take Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin. I am now able to do all my work. Pe-ru-na has wonderfully improved my general health, and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

Mrs. J. N. Avery. Brown Valley, Minn., writes: "This is to certify that I suffered for years with nasal catarrh, and by the use of six bottles of Pe-ru-na am entirely cured. I would not be without it in the house.

Bright's disease is catarrh of the kidneys. Like most catarrhal diseases it is called incurable. Pe-ru-na cures it by driving out the inflammation.

Gilbert Hofer, Grays, Kentucky, says: "I have used four bottles of Pe-ru-na; it cured my catarrh and my Bright's disease; I had been troubled for two years; I weigh twenty pounds more than I did before I was taken sick."

Thomas McKenzie, Warrior, Ala., says: "I have been troubled with severe catarrh of the lungs, and found nothing to complete a cure until I commenced to take Pe-ru-na. Four bottles have made a new man of me."

A book of letters from those who have been cured of catarrhal troubles by Pe-ru-na will be mailed on request. Pe-ru-na makes the membranes healthy and expels catarrh. It works in harmony with nature, and has a forty years' record of success. All druggists sell Pe-ru-na.

Made For Clinical Material

A Large Proportion of Patients Come From the Farms.-Many Counties Sent Patients Here Last Year .-Growth of College.

The real work and growth of the university hospital, homeopathic, is not fully understood or realized by To give a clearer view of what has been done, the following facts have been gleaned from a report by Dr. E. B. Maynard, the hospital superintendent. The material growth of the Homeopathic department has been much greater than that of any other. During the past three years the amount of cash turned into the treasurer of the university homeopathic department has grown as follows: 1896, $1,751. 15; 1897, $3,468.60; 1898, $7,934.39. The excess in attendance at the hospipatients daily. Although the regular accommodations of the hospital during the past year were 55 as many as 65 have at one time been crowded into its wards. The classification of patients during the last year by occupation is as follows: Percentage of entire Their groceries are just what they number admitted, farmers' wives, 25 per cent; farmers, 14; farmers' son and daughters, 16; farmers babies and small children, 6; farm domestics, 2; farm hands, 4; total 67 per cent; mechanics, 6; paupers, 2; domestics, 1; children not from farms, 1; students, 10; unclassified, 13; total, 33; percent, which goes to make up the 00 per cent or the whole.

AN EXPLOSION.

GROWING Gasoline Wagon Explodes on S. State St.

What might have been a very serious Large Increase of Patients in explosion and attendant fire was narrowly averted last evening. Walter Clark, the driver of George E. Moore's oil and gasoline tank wagon, was puting out his horse for the night in Mr. FACILITIES Moore's stable on Kingsley and State sts. The horse had been unhooked and on his walking to his stall, upset the Greatly Needed if Place is lantern on the rear of the wagon. A Large Shirt Factory Can be Had. In an instant the fire was communicated to the gasoline, and an explosion occurred. The front end of the tank blew out, scattering burning oil in every direction. Mr. Clark with great presence of mind, and with no little danger to himself ran the burning wagon out of the barn. An alarm had been sent in and the fire department was promptly on the spot and extinguished the flames before much damage was done. The tank part of the wagon is considerably injured, but the running gear is all right and can be used again. Mr. Moore proposes to put another tank on the wagon.

A LIFE OF USEFULNESS

Her Life Was One of Active Usefullness and Many Students Have Felt Its Lasting Influence.

The early morning hours of Sunday, 13, 1844, she spent almost fifty-five able influence on scores of young people whose lives have touched hers, her l life has gone out all over this country and beyond. Sept. 2nd, 1868 she married Judge Noah W. Cheever, who survives her. To them were born two children, the younger of whom, Ernest, lived but three years. The elder, William S., after completing his colloss no doubt hastened the termination of complications against which He said he saw no reason why Ann she had so bravely struggled for more than 20 years, and in spite of which motion carried and Mayor Hiscock apshe had lived a life of the greatest activity, though for many years she Dean, G. F. Allmendinger, F. M was able to leave her home but little. But if she was unable to go to others, her magnetic and sympathetic nature drew others to her, so that few in this community are so widely and so well known as she. Her power in this direction was nothing short of genius, and many are asking the question, 'Who, now that Mrs. Cheever is gone, will take up her work of finding and meeting the needs of the great number of lives that she, perhaps by intuition, was able to help in just the necessary way?" Though none of the children born to her survive her, yet scores of her foster children whom she has mothered just when and as thes needed, rise up to call her blessed.

Certain Amount Given Them with Which to Drink Queen's Health.

This is, strictly speaking, an allowance of after-dinner wine, or rather the money to buy it, whereby those officers who cannot otherwise afford it may be enabled to drink the queen's health, says Chambers' Journal. It appears that the "First Gentleman of Europe" was dining one evening with some regiment, and, after dinner, noticed that some of the offices did not drink the king's health. In reply to his inquiry he was informed that no disloyalty was meant thereby, but that these officers could not afford to drink wine every night. The regent thereupon instituted the wine allowance which bears his name to this day. fund. In the marines, however, each dining member can either drink one glass of wine every night or else can be credited therefor in his mess bill. A curious anachronism arose during this custom.
