

WENT BACK ON JUDSON

General Alger Would't Allow Conference Held.

PINGREE LEADERS OUT

Detroit Reporter Tells Interesting Political Story of Pingreeites Quarrels.

That all is not perfect harmony in the Pingree camp has been long known. And now comes a story from the Detroit Evening News, which strongly intimates that the respectable William Judson has been running the governor and carrying on things with a high hand. The story is here given for what it is worth and as an interesting contribution to contemporary politics. The News says: "There is a serious split in the Pingree political family, and it has grown to such proportions that some of the members earnestly hope that the old man will hurry home and patch up the breach. The Judson-Fox-Osborn faction, on the one side, in favor of dabbling with senatorial politics, won't have anything to do with the Marsh-White-Sutton-Flowers contingent on the other side.

"The trouble has been brewing for some time, but did not come to a head until last Monday, when Bill Judson, attempted to hold a conference at Alger's house without the consent of Alger or anyone else. Ever since the announcement that Pingree and his friends would support Alger there has been a decided difference of opinion as to the wisdom of meddling in such a campaign. At the time of the announcement the street railway agitation was at its highest, and the governor's friends in the city push had no time to devote to state matters. Bill Judson, Joe Cox and others of the state crowd, who make their living in politics, managed to get the ear of the old man, and it was on their advice that Pingree came out in such an unequivocal manner for Alger.

"From the beginning it has been held by the Sutton-White-Marsh-Flowers-Joslyn contingent that a policy which contemplated the attempted defeat of McMillan for the senate and the retention of the control of the state organization was suicidal.

"Long before the governor went away this was argued over with him, but he listened to the advice of "Bill" Judson and laughed at the apprehensions of his other friends.

"Since his departure, the Washtenaw man has taken matters into his own hands, and as a result he has endeavored to manage the Alger campaign. Alger, on the contrary, has declined to have anything to do with him. Last week Judson, as the self-appointed manager of Alger, decided that he would hold a meeting of the Pingree politicians at Alger's house, discuss the campaign and lay plans for its future prosecution. He didn't think it necessary to confer with Alger on the subject, although the only intimation he had of Alger's candidacy was the meeting with him when the governor formed the alliance. He invited Bob Oakman, Secretary Stone, Chase Osborn, Joe Cox and a few of his cronies, but he particularly left out Gen. White and Gen. Marsh, Col. Sutton and Mr. Flowers. He had planned that the meeting was to be held at Alger's home on Monday night and in due time informed the general that his friends would call on him at that time to fix up his campaign.

"Gen. Alger was astonished and for a few minutes he played the role of the ice man, while Judson became the refrigerator.

"The Washtenaw statesman was told that there was no necessity for a meeting; that there was no campaign to talk over; that if a meeting was to be held Gen. Alger would reserve the right to call it himself and invite his friends to his house. It is even said that Gen. Alger said more, the substance of which was to the effect that he was seriously thinking of retiring from the race. He also told Mr. Judson that he left that night for the east and the meeting was called off.

"Later the men who had been given the cold shoulder by Judson asked for an explanation as to why they had been left out of the party and not invited to the conference. This explanation was asked by a mutual friend. Judson replied that he only wanted men who were 'true blue,' and who were really sincere in the possibility of his election. This stirred up the worst sort of a rumpus and the Pingree household is in dissension. The part of the political family who don't want to meddle with the senatorial campaign intimate that the men who are urging an active alliance hope to spend some of the campaign money, while the other faction intimate treason and faithlessness.

"The anti-senatorial push is determined to knock out the Judson and Cox contingent, and each party has written urgent letters to the governor."

Yesterday the ants were busy circulating the rumor that Alger was so sickened of political maneuverings that he had absolutely withdrawn from the race and that Judson and his friends will be "tossed in the air."

THEY STOLE THE BICYCLE

Frank Brown, who was tried in Justice Childs court yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny of a bicycle, was found guilty and fined $10 and costs amounting to $14, making a total of $24, or if he fails to produce the money, imprisonment in the Detroit house of correction for 65 days. The other party to the transaction, Lawrence Alexander, plead guilty to the charge of receiving stolen property and was given a fine of $2 and costs of $6.75 or 30 days in the county jail. Alexander squealed on Brown and, therefore, got off more lightly than Brown, who maintained that he was innocent. It appeared that the two boys were together when the wheel was rented on July 4 and that they went home together. They are boys 17 or 18 years of age. They were placed in the custody of the officer and given time to try to secure the money to pay their fines. A commitment in each case was placed in the hands of the officer with the injunction to deliver them as before stated, if they do not succeed in getting the money with which to pay their fines.

GENEROUS TO THE SCHOOLS

SALINE PEOPLE VOTE SCHOOL MONEY.

$3,000 VOTED FOR HEATING PLANT AND IMPROVEMENT OF THE BUILDING

Saline, Mich., Sept. 7.—D. A. Bennett, Lake Shore agent, has gone to take the station at Eaton Rapids. Mr. Ross of Somerset Center, succeeds Mr. Bennett.

A good many of our people are patronizing the new trolley line.

Michael Klaeger, west of the village, died yesterday morning. He was an old and respected resident.

Mrs. L. A. Glazier, recently of Saline, has commenced suit against the city of Ypsilanti for damages received by reason of a defective walk.

Miss Gardner, of Ypsilanti, has been engaged to take charge of the eighth grade.

The schools have opened with a good attendance. Prof. F. J. Tooze has assumed the duties of Superintendent and makes a good impression.

Mr. George Schairer was elected trustee to succeed himself at the recent school meeting. B. P. Davenport was elected to succeed A. C. Clarke who declined re-election. Geo. J. Nissly was elected to succeed D. A. Bennett, resigned. The meeting voted $2,000 towards the heating plant and $1,000 for repairs to the school house. The vote stood 36 to 7. The sum of $2,250 was voted for running expenses.

WAS HE MURDERED?

ARTHUR SELICK'S BROTHER IN LAW SUSPECTED,

OF SETTING FIRE TO THE HOUSE WHOSE BURNING CAUSED SELICK'S DEATH.

It is now charged that Arthur Sellick, the boy who has been working as water boy on the Ann Arbor storm sewers, and who was burned to death in Jackson, Monday, was murdered. A Jackson dispatch says:

George L. Maier, a brother-in-law of Arthur Sellick, who recently lost his life by the burning of Maier's dwelling, was arrested yesterday charged with murder and arson. Last night a trunk full of bed clothing, books, silverware and the like was found buried in a manure pile close to the house. William Birdsall, a brother-in-law of Capt. Beard, made the discovery. Maier had his house insured a short time ago for $500 and when the fire broke out, he did not show much concern, while Sellick, who was 16 years old, jumped from a window and turned in an alarm. Maier says nothing, but denies the charge. He looked terribly frightened when the arrest was made. Other sensational developments are expected.

SWAM ACROSS THE LAKE

Whitmore Lake, Sept. 5.—County Clerk Schuh and Fred Schleicher, of the Ann Arbor board of public works, have caught a large string of black bass.

THE MACCABEES NEW HALL

Was Formally Opened at Ypsilanti.

PLEASANTLY SITUATED

With a Large and Growing Membership—They Give Successful Party.

The lady Maccabees of the Queen City Hive celebrated the formal opening of their new hall Tuesday eve with appropriate exercises. They are now most pleasantly situated on the second floor of the Gilbert block on the east side. The main room or hall is 60 ft. by 22 ft., and is covered with canvas carpet and furnished with a new piano and chairs, many of which are new. The parlors are newly carpeted, and when completely furnished will be handsome rooms, with three wardrobes adjoining. A large dining room and a well furnished kitchen form a part of the equipment also. The rooms are lighted with gas and electricity. The walls are covered with a tasty paper and the whole constitutes an outfit they may justly be proud of.

The order is officially as follows: Mrs. Louise Drury, lady commander; Mrs. Ella Thorne, past commander; Dr. Been, lieutenant commander; Mrs. Helen T. Burt, record keeper; Mrs. Jennie Ostrander, finance keeper; Mrs. Elizabeth Howe, chaplain; Miss Alta Pack, sergeant; Mrs. Christie Wilbur, mistress at arms; Miss Nellie Jackson, sentinel; Mrs. Salinda Hawkins, picket. The condition of the hive is flourishing. It meets every two weeks, the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays of each month. There are more than two hundred active members, and only 36 are simply social members, all the rest carrying their insurance. They have been out of debt for the past two years, but have recently contracted a small debt in the furnishing of their new hall. The program last evening was planned for the purpose of raising money to meet these obligations. Ice cream and cake were served, ten cents being charged. There were probably 300 persons present, and notwithstanding the extreme heat, all seemed to enjoy themselves. The ice cream and cake were delicious and a good program of music and speaking was also provided. The music was by the band, on the piano and by vocalists, and was very good, the vocalists being encored. The speaking was by the Rev. Gardam, who paid a high tribute to the order, stating his experience in homes in which he had been as pastor when someone upon whom the family depended was taken away and the relief resulting from the prompt payment of insurance. The charity work of the order was also highly commended. Col. Fred Green followed and told of the great kindness of the ladies in sending medicines and delicacies to the soldier boys and of lives saved by having these remembrances of loving Maccabee friends at hand in emergencies.

The officers of the order, as well as the lay members, are thoroughly businesslike, and while they look after the requisite means to carry forward their work of charity and protection for the loved ones, they also do a good work socially. We, as a people, are given to too constant application to business, to the neglect of our social notions. But certainly the L. O. T. M. are doing their share for social recreation as well. Queen City Hive surely deserves much credit.

PROFESSOR OF VOCAL MUSIC

JOHN DODGE OF YPSILANTI GAINS THAT TITLE.

HE WILL HAVE CHARGE OF THE MUSIC CONSERVATORY OF HILLSDALE COLLEGE.

Mr. John Dodge, as was announced in Saturday's Argus, sang in the chapel of Hillsdale college on Sunday. He was so pleasing to the authorities of the college that he was engaged to take charge of the vocal music work in the institution with the title of professor of vocal music. Mr. Dodge has had fine training and exceptional opportunities, for preparing himself for this work and is thoroughly competent to meet the responsibilities of the position. He has a fine tenor voice which is well trained and handled with pleasing expression and effect. He is a good drill master also and possesses the ability to get all the music out of an individual or choir that is to be had. His manner of handling pupils or a choir is taking and he secures the desired work without friction. He undoubtedly has a bright future before him and the Argus congratulates him on securing so good a position. He will fill the position to the satisfaction of the college authorities and credit to himself.

DIED FROM EFFECTS OF ACCIDENT

Martin Keck, the 17 year old son of Martin Keck, of the gravel road in Lodi, died this morning from his injuries received some two weeks ago. He was hurt by the falling of a piece of iron from the water tower, fracturing his skull. His physicians feared for the worst at the time of the accident, but fought for his life. Mr. Keck worked in the city at one time, and was much liked. Martin Keck and wife have the sympathy of all who know them in their sad bereavement.

The funeral services of Martin Keck, who died this morning, will be held Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the residence of his father John Keck, of Lodi, at 2 o'clock at the Salem church at Weinsberg.

CHANGE RATE OF SPEED.

THE D. Y. & A. A. DON'T WANT TO CRAWL ON PACKARD ST.

THE COUNCIL WILL BE GIVEN A RIDE FRIDAY TO TEST RATES OF SPEED.

An ordinance has been introduced allowing the D. Y. & A. A. road the right to run the Detroit cars down Packard st., Ann Arbor, faster than a snail's pace. The council has been invited to take a trolley ride this Friday afternoon to experience the testing of the various rates of speed. In this connection it may be well to remark that any alderman with a watch can tell just what rate of speed the car is going by counting the rails. The number of rails the car passes over in 20 seconds is the number of miles per hour the car is going. For instance, the car passes over 12 rails in 20 seconds, the car is going at the rate of 12 miles an hour. The Argus recently figured this out at various rates of speed, demonstrating that this rule is mathematically correct, and it affords a very easy opportunity for each alderman to tell for himself just how fast he is going.

THE HORSE WAS STOLEN

AND A NEIGHBORS BUGGY IS ALSO MISSING.

HORSE THIEF GETS AWAY WITH BOOTY AND IS NOT YET CAUGHT.

Henry Laffin, of Ypsilanti town, had a valuable horse stolen Monday night. The Farmers' Protective Association sent members in every direction yesterday to get track of the stolen horse, but no information had been obtained up to last evening. Mr. Laffin offers $25 reward for the capture of the property and thief and Sheriff Gillen a similar amount. The horse was valued at $150 and it is to be hoped it will be found.

It now transpires that Burt Moorman had a buggy and harness stolen by the same thief who stole Henry Laffin's horse. This was not discovered until Tuesday afternoon. It is a square box top buggy with end spring, foot rest screwed on front of box, shafts set in iron sockets, light brown lining, red running gear, rubber top and black body. The harness has a single strap rubber trimmed overcheck, blind bridle, one trace, two three holes. Laffin's horse is a bay weighing 1356 lbs with a small white spot on forehead and nose. Laffin and Moorman each offer $25 reward and the Farmers Protective Association offers $50 for property and $25 for each thief.

When Laffin was seen by the Argus at noon no trace of the stolen property had been discovered and it was not known in what direction it went. Laffin thinks it went to Detroit and others think it went south. Laffin thinks the thief or thieves operated from Ypsilanti. The night the horse was stolen some person left a bicycle by the Ypsilanti Savings bank and it remained there until one o'clock in the morning when an officer removed it. There has been no call for the wheel which was probably stolen also. Yesterday Laffin was in Detroit but could get no information relative to the stolen property. A dozen or fifteen members of the Protective Association are on the search as well as the sheriff's force. It seems surprising that with the present facilities for communication that no trace of the horse and rig can be obtained. The horse was probably stolen about ten or eleven o'clock at night and Laffin and others were on the hunt at six.

The navy department wants $18,000,000 for increase purposes next year. The country appears to be getting pretty good value for the money expended on the navy. This being the case its needs should be met ungrudgingly.

Transports are hurrying men, horses and munitions of war from San Francisco to Manila as rapidly as possible. When the wet season terminates the Filipinos may expect some experiences by which some valuable lessons may be learned.

Gen. Jimenez has left Cuba to enter upon his mission in Santo Domingo. The revolutionists appear to be in control and have formed a provisional government. There appears to be comparatively little disturbance in the districts held by the revolutionists. The revolution thus far has been far less sanguinary than usual.

The president of Santo Domingo has stepped down and out in favor of Gen. Jimenez. Jimenez of course has no other title than that he has driven President Figueroa to resign through force. That is the only title that is recognized there, however. Jimenez will probably hold the office until he is killed or a stronger claimant comes along.

Lost or strayed but not stolen, one Hazen S. Pingree, familiarly known as "hizzexcellency" and "the old man." He is a great noise, but is not otherwise distinguished. He may have wandered away in a hypnotic state as it is known that he is easily subjected to the influence, especially on street railway matters. No reward is offered for his return as the quiet of his absence is too thoroughly appreciated by all concerned to lead any to desire his coming back.

Commander Edward D. Taussig who has been at Manila under Watson has been relieved of his command by the latter and ordered home. He criticised Watson's handling of the fleet. Whether any further punishment is inflicted upon him when he gets home will probably depend on how he conducts himself. Should he ask for a court of inquiry he may get more and possibly he might be vindicated. He will probably have had enough experience, however, to lead him to forego the court of inquiry.

Affairs in the Transvaal still remain in an unsettled state. Preparations for war are still going on and many people are leaving Johannesburg. Indications point to the union of the entire Dutch population of South Africa against England in case of war. England is pretty certain in the end, however, to gain the principle points of her contention. The Boer must change his tactics, he must take on some of the liberal ideas and the progress which surround him or give place to those who will stand for progress and the advance of civilization.

There was a touching and dramatic scene in the Dreyfus trial yesterday when the prisoner related his purpose to commit suicide before his degradation and dismissal from the French army for treason. He declared while laboring under the greatest emotion that but for the pleadings of his wife that for her sake and the sake of his children, he should live and undergo the torture that was to be inflicted upon him. He promised to do it and went to the degradation exercises because of that appeal. As an innocent man he would have preferred to take his own life than to suffer the torture but for the pleadings of his wife.

And now it is reported that Gen. Alger will determine in 10 days whether or not he will stay in the senatorial race. From present indications it will make little difference what his decision may be. If he decides to stay in he will be out of the race just the same as though he shall decide to pull out. All omens at present indicate that persimmon belongs to McMillan. Is he not willing to pay the price? Does anyone suppose those who have the goods to deliver will not, when they have been once bought, stay bought? They are all honest men and would not disgrace Michigan by any such double dealings as that. The Argus sees no show for Alger.

M. Jules Guerin, the French anti-semitic, is still besieged in the headquarters of the league. The archbishop of Paris recently called upon the premier and urged a peaceful solution of the difficulty, but Waldeck-Rousseau told him the law must prevail and that the government must take counsel of itself alone in the matter. That a great government should permit such an affair to drag along is strange. Permitting such defiance of authority would seem to have more danger in it than could possibly result from bringing the matter to a quick end.

One E. H. Green, chairman of the republican state central committee of Texas, has escaped from home and wandered down to New York where he confided to the confidence of a reporter his idea that the republicans are soon to come into their own in the state of the immortal Flannigan. The strange thing about Green is that he appears to be perfectly sane and no one would suspect his malady if he talked with him on any other subject than politics. There are no violent symptoms about. Friends will return him to the wild and woolly region from whence he came and try to soothe him back to the normal.

Col. Gardener, of the 30th Michigan, which is about to start for the Philippines, was the guest of honor last night at the annual banquet of the Holland society at Chicago. Vice Consul Birkhoff, for the Netherlands, at the close of the toasts proposed that the audience drink to the health of Queen Wilhelmina. Quick as a flash Col. Gardener interjected, "Let us drink to the health of the president of the United States and Queen Wilhelmina." The Consul bowed acknowledgement and the toast was drunk after which all joined in singing "America." The incident was decidedly dramatic and showed the colonel on his metal.

According to Commissioner of Pensions Evans the pension department during the past year has been run on less money than was appropriated for the purpose which is a fine record. There was appropriated the total sum of $140,000,000 and of this $138,556,052 were expended. The report shows that there are 753,451 veteran survivors of the war and 237,415 widows and dependant relatives. Commissioner Evans has given an honest administration of the pension bureau under the status but he has fallen far short of the desires of many of the veterans. No other government has ever been so generous and even prodigal with its soldiers and yet many are not satisfied. But this is human. The generosity of the government gives the lie to the statement that republics are ungrateful.

The election of Dr. Boone to the superintendency of the Cincinnati public schools amounts to a practical vindication of him. The causes of his dismissal here were understood by the board there and yet they did not work against him at all, for he was elected at a greatly increased salary over what he received here. He is too able an educator to be kept down by the throw down he received at the hands of the small fry who bought him off, or secured his resignation by paying him $2,000 of the state's money. It was understood at Cincinnati, of course, that he left Ypsilanti on his own terms. His treatment by certain members of the state board of education was anything but just, still the measure of those who compassed his defeat here is understood and he steps into a better position without the loss of any time at all. Unquestionably he will give Cincinnati an able administration.

Once more there is a conflict of opinion between the commander of the American forces in the Philippines and a fighting general in the field. Otis but recently said no more cavalry was needed there as infantry was better for the purpose. This is the opinion of a general who commands from his office in Manila and never sees the front. Then over against this opinion may be placed that of Gen. Fred Funston, the cyclone from Kansas. He has shown that he is not a fighter by courtesy but the real thing. What does he say? He declares that if the Americans are going to bring the war to an end they must inflict a crushing defeat upon the Filipinos, that there must be means at hand to pursue them when they are dislodged from a position and to this end cavalry is needed. They must be run down he says with cavalry. He declares further that during the dry season the country is well adapted to the use of cavalry. He thinks the Americans will have to go man hunting with cavalry or the war will drag on a long time. They must not only be defeated in battle but pursued and crushed utterly before they will have learned the lesson it is necessary for them to learn before they will give up. This same Gen. Otis is the man, too, who insisted all along that he had men enough and did not need any more. But the war department is hurrying more troops there as rapidly as possible. His opinion is probably worth just about as much on the question of the practicability of cavalry there.

SOLD ALL HIS INTEREST

IN THE JOHN M. WAGNER ESTATE.

TAKING HIS PART OF THE ESTATE DURING HIS FATHERS LIFE TIME.

In the chancery case of Charles W. Merriam, Isaac S. Collins and George W. Dexter, complainants of Charles E. Wagner, Mary L. Wagner, Reuben Wagner and George Wagner, defendants, the joint and several answers of these defendants was filed this morning in the county clerk's office by their solicitor, J. Q. A. Sessions. They make the formal denial of all allegations of fraud. They admit that their father, John M. Wagner, died in the township of Scio, July 25, 1897, and left an estate of real and personal property to the amount of $23,362.03, as appeared by the inventory. They deny that at the time of the death of John Wagner, Charles Wagner was the owner of an undivided one-seventh part of the lands or had any interest whatever in the personal property belonging to the estate of John W. Wagner, deceased. They further say that Charles E. Wagner and Mary L. Wagner, his wife, May 10, 1899, made and executed a deed to the defendants, George and Reuben Wagner, which was recorded June 8, 1899, conveying his interests in the lands for a consideration of $500, and that it was not done for the purpose of defrauding his creditors or to delay the collection of any claim.

"That said Franklin D. Wagner has conveyed all his right, title and interest in said estate to said George Wagner, and that said Charles E. Wagner and wife have conveyed all their interest in said estate to Reuben and George Wagner; that those who are interested in said estate are as follows: Mary E., George, Clara, Reuben and Henry Wagner, and that there were residing at the homestead of said John M. Wagner and upon the real estate described in said bill of complaint, at the time of his decease, the following named heirs: 'George, Reuben, Mary E. and Clara Wagner; that the remainder of said heirs at law had left said farm.'

The defendants claim that Charles E. Wagner left his home on said homestead on or about 1874, and went into business for himself in Lansing, Ann Arbor, Danville and Chicago, and believe he was unsuccessful. Their father, John M. Wagner, from time to time advanced his son money. That on January 27, 1890, Charles E. Wagner executed and delivered to his father a receipt, of which the following is said to be a copy:

"Ann Arbor, Jan. 27, 1890. Received from J. M. Wagner ten thousand dollars, being my full share in the estate of J. M. Wagner now and forever. Charles E. Wagner."

They say the deed was only given by Charles E. Wagner to clear up the title to the land, as he was owing the estate, and that the consideration of $500 was only inserted at the suggestion of their attorney.

In conclusion, the defendants state that whatever interest Charles E. Wagner may nominally have, legally and equitably belongs to the other children.

The plaintiff bill was filed in aid of execution against Charles E. Wagner.

BURGARS AT CHESEA

SECURE $68 OF MR. THOMAS McNAMARA.

Chelsea, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to Daily Argus).—The saloon of Thomas McNamara was burglarized last night, burglars obtaining an entrance and taking $68 from the cash register. Their booty consisted of one $10 bill, four $5 bills and the rest in twos and ones and silver. Mr. McNamara offers $25 reward for the arrest and conviction of the thieves and Sheriff Gillen has offered $25 for each thief.

WHAT BURNS WAS IT

Who Cut His Throat At Mancelona.

BODY AT ANN ARBOR

And Not Identified by Those Who Knew Tom Burns,

Superintendent of the Poor C. E. Mills, of Mancelona, is in the city and brings newspaper clippings regarding a stranger calling himself Tom Burns and claiming to be from Ann Arbor, who committed suicide in that village on Wednesday of last week, and whose body is now in the vats of the anatomical building of the university. Just who he is no one here seems to know.

Tom Burns had been employed at Sands lumber camp east of Kalkaska and had gone on an extended debauch. He wound up at Mancelona, seeming to be impressed with the idea that he had committed some crime and that he had an enemy who was following him to kill him. He kept crying out that he was awfully crazy and entreated Deputy Sheriff Kittle to lock him up. This was done. He insisted that the door of his cell should be locked. This was done, but shortly after being left alone he broke a window and with a piece of the glass cut his throat, completely severing the wind pipe and nearly severing the gullet. He was found in this condition and every effort was made to save him. He was unable to talk. Beef tea was introduced in his stomach by means of a rubber tube inserted through the gas in the throat. He improved and by means of a pencil and paper offered to bet $5 that he would get well. He was taken to the county farm and seemed to stand the journey well, but the loss of blood had been too great and on Saturday last he died.

After cutting his throat and after the doctors had worked over him he penciled on paper that his name was Tom Burns and that he came from Ann Arbor where he had a sister and son living. He wrote that he had worked for J. Polhemus. He told about John, Tom and Dick Burns.

Mr. Mills, the superintendent of the poor is in the city, was not home at the time of Burns' death and his body was shipped to this city in accordance with law. Afterwards it was stated by some who knew him at the camp that he had been an old soldier. If this were so his body should not have been shipped here but taken care of by the Soldiers' Relief Commission. He gave his age as 57, but those who have seen the body say the man was not over 40.

The mysterious thing about the matter is that there was a man who worked for Polhemus formerly by the name of Tom Burns. There used to be a John and a Dick Burns in Lodi, but the Tom Burns who worked for Polhemus was a shorter man than is the body of the man who claimed that name. Those who knew Tom Burns well are positive that the body is not that of Burns. Mr. Marsh, the custodian of the body, says he knew Tom Burns, and that this is not him. Patrolman Collins also failed to identify him and thinks he never saw this man before.

Since the above was in type, further investigation shows that there was a carriage maker known as "Brickie" Burns, with red hair, tall and rather slender who used to be about Polhemus' four years ago. He had a wife and one child. The last that was known about them they were in Jackson. Patrolman Collins, however says it is not him, and that "Brickie" Burns is in Jackson. "Tommy" Burns, says Patrolman Collins, was an adopted son of James Burns now janitor of the First ward schools, who used to work for Polhemus, and he had an adopted brother named John who has since died. But Mr. Collins, who knew "Tommy" Burns, could not identify the body.

DEATH OF MRS. STEPHEN MILLS

HER DEATH FOLLOWED THE BREAKING OF HER HIP.

A FAMILY OF SEVEN SONS SURVIVE HER AND MOURN HER LOSS.

DEER HUNTING AT DEXTER

Letter from an Army Officer
in 1833.

BURNING WILD GRASS

And the Apparition of An Indian Chief Near Dexter.

The following is a continuation of the letter from an army officer written in Dexter in 1833, the first of which was published yesterday.

"Tired alike with walking and vexation, and parched with thirst, (I had neither eaten nor drunk since breakfast, and it was now nightfall,) I advanced to the only shanty near, and knocked at the door. There was no answer, and I shook it violently. A rush bottomed chair rattled, and a cat, the solitary occupant, sprang out through a broken window. I soon found my way, however, to the dilapidated trunk of a large sycamore tree near, which formed the top of a well, and drawing up a moss covered bucket, I placed my lips to the rusty iron bound brim, and took a draught, with which the most delicious chateau, margaux were but vile vin du pays in comparison. I can remember but one drink in my life before to compare with it, and that was from a similar goblet, after other lips than mine had hallowed the brim. A few moments after a lad rode into the yard with the object of my pursuit, whose bridle had been broken to pieces in the effort of several men to catch him a mile or two off. I past mounted in a moment, and regained my lodging in an hour; when I found that the adventure of the day had not impaired my relish for a supper of fresh pike and white fish, just smoking on the table.

The range of hills which traversed the peninsula longitudinally near here, though never, I believe, more than a 150 feet high, are said by some to constitute the most elevated part of Michigan, as they abound in game, and consist altogether of oak openings, you can conceive of nothing more animating than to gallop over them on horseback. I was out again among them yesterday; and having a pocket compass and a map of the country with me, I ventured to leave the trails that wind among the hollows, and scamper over the hills as my fancy led me. A large flock of grouse rose almost from beneath horse's feet as I topped the first slight eminence; and then, just as the animal was recovering the flurry into which the rushing sound of their wings threw him, a tall broad antlered buck, the largest I ever saw, sprang from a small covert, and bounded through the wide forest glades. Away too, I went—the feeling was irresistible—I could see the fellow leaping as if he had wings over the rolling land, and the clear bracing atmosphere had given spirits to my horse, that sent us ahead like one and the same animal. In spite of the deer's prodigious jumps which were as high as they were long, I had decidedly gained on him, when on coming to the brow of a steep hill, he dashed down the side, and was far away over another before my less agile horse could descend the first. I saw two more deer, besides several flocks of grouse, during my morning's ride. Singularly enough, this was the only time that I had moved a mile without a gun since I left New York, and it was the only opportunity I have had to use one to advantage. If Dr. Freyschutz were in this region, I should certainly let the wild huntsman make his own terms with me for better luck.

Today, for the first time, I saw the meadows on fire. They are of vast extent, running far into the woods—the friths of a lake; and as the wild grass, which they supply in the greatest profusion, furnishes the new settler with all the hay he uses for his stock, they are burnt over thus annually to make it tender. These fires, traveling far over the country, seize upon the large prairies, and consume every tree in the woods, except the hardiest, cause the often mentioned oak openings, so characteristic of Michigan scenery. It is a beautiful sight to see the fire shooting in every direction over these broad expanses of land, which are kindled at a variety of points. The flame at one moment curls along the ground, and seems to lick up its fuel below, while at the next it tumbles over like the breakers of the sea upon the dried grass, and sweeps in a wave of fire from the ground. I found myself repeatedly surrounded by the fire while riding hither and hither, watching its progress; but was only on two occasions exposed to any inconvenience—once when my horse sank in the mire to the saddle girths, so that I had to dismount in a morass covered with high weeds, to which the flames were approaching and another time when I found myself in a small patch of woodland, which cracked and roared like Tophet itself. As I rode to and fro, trying to find a point where, if necessary, I might encounter the flame to the least disadvantage, if unable to avoid it altogether, the ridiculous position in which I had placed myself reminded me not a little of that which Andrew Fairweather occupied on the rock, when he trotted hither and thither on his narrow platform, to avoid the bullets of Rob Roy's caterans. A finer subject for reflection, however, presented itself near the spot. A small brook crossed the meadow, and I bethought myself of placing it between me and the fire; but my horse, when I rode him rapidly to the brink, and endeavored to jump him, recoiled. I wheeled round, and tried it again, but his recent experience in the treacherous marsh made him fear the soggy margin, and nothing could prevail upon the cautious animal to approach it. At the last attempt, he recoiled so suddenly with a terrified snort, that I was nearly thrown over his head; and looking for the new cause of anxiety, where the stream wound around so as almost to double itself in front of me, I saw, on the little peninsula of the burning meadow thus formed, an Indian standing with folded arms amid the wreathing smoke, and surveying my motions with an aspect of perfect calmness. He was a middle aged man, rather tall, and in the full costume of his tribe. The hair on his forehead, which was seamed with several ghastly scars, was nearly white; but three long plaited locks of raven black fell down behind, from the crimson handkerchief which bound his brows. He wore a woollen frock, edged with black, with scarlet leggings and moccasins; white arm of silver, and a belt containing his scalping knife, completed his equipment. All these, however, were observed afterward, when I had given up the attempt to cross the brook, and, spurring through the flame where it was lowest, had placed myself by the side of the old warrior. But for the present I remained fixed in my seat, gazing on the noble apparition with as much delight as if my own call had cooked it from the ground. I had seen a dozen Indians, of all sizes and sexes in the course of the day, not one of whom had awakened the slightest interest; but there was that about the port and bearing of this grim looking savage which, with the somewhat theatrical attitude he assumed and the circumstances under which I first beheld him, carried me away completely. He smiled when I approached him, and saluted me with great kindness of manner; though, as neither of us understood the language of the other, there could be but little interchange of ideas between us. The few Indian expressions of which I am master were soon expended, and he seemed not to have a word of English to give me in exchange. He made me understand, however, that the frightful wounds which disfigured his noble front were received while fighting on the side of the British against the Americans at Sandusky.

A HOT SALINE SHEEP CASE

OVER THE PASTURING OF 70
SHEEP.

THE JURY FOUND THAT NOTH-THING WAS DUE FOR PASTURING.

The case of Joseph Ganss, of Bridgewater, vs. John Haessler, of Freedom, tried before Justice Fish, of Saline, Wednesday, was one of the most hotly contested ever tried in the town. The facts in the case were published in the Daily Argus recently. The matter in controversy was the pasturing of 70 sheep. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant had agreed to give his sheep tame pasturage and water and care for them, while the defendant claimed they were only to have ordinary woods pasture without care. The alleged damages in the case arose from the death of four sheep and the depreciation in value of others. The plaintiffs were represented by Blum & Awrey, and the defendant by A. F. & E. W. Freeman, who fought every inch of the case. The jury consisted of Wm. Pierce, Bert Hammond, Grove Rouse, William Brainard, Henry Jewett and John Reinfrank. The case was commenced at 1 p. m., and given to the jury at 9:30 p. m. They were out until midnight, when they brought in a verdict of no cause of action. Although the justice office is large, every available foot of space was filled with interested listeners. The air in the room was so hot and close that the case had once to be adjourned five minutes to revive one of the attorneys who was about fainting. The case will probably be appealed.

OLD LANDMARK REMOVED

A DEXTER BARN BUILT IN THE YEAR 1828.

OTHER DEXTER ITEMS OF INTEREST TO DAILY ARGUS
READERS.

Dexter, Sept. 1.—The big farm barn on the Vinkle homestead, owned by Zera Burr, which was erected in 1828 has been torn down. The roof and sills were badly rotted, but most of the timbers were perfectly sound. When it is remembered that this barn was not a new one when Michigan was made a state, it will be realized what an old landmark it was.

Guy Hicks is now night engineer at the Grosse Pointe farm electric works.

A box social will be held at John Hill's, on the Conrad place, Friday evening, Sept. 8.

PAUL PERRY RETURNS

From His Long Sojourn in the Klondike.

OFFICIAL COMPETITION

Is Rampant Among the Canadian Office Holders Who Bleed the Miners.

Paul Perry, son of the late superintendent of schools is home after more than two years' stay in the Klondike. He is a great, broad shouldered, tall young man who now looks to be in perfect health. He relates very interestingly of his trip. He tells of the corruption of Canadian officials, giving names and facts, until the blood of an Ann Arbor citizen, who has heard the fairy tales of the honesty of the Canadian officials from visiting friends, run cold. Mr. Perry says the Tweed gang in New York were angels compared with the officials at Dawson City. When men were standing in line at the commissioners office to locate a claim, a $10 bill would help a man into a side door and $50 would fix a clerk to give a man a prior location. If a prospector came in from a new district and said he wanted to make a location, the commissioner would ask how do the diggings look. If the prospector would say 25 cents to the pan which was pretty good the commissioner would take his location memoranda, and appear to look over the books and say: "There seems to be some cloud on this location. If you come in again in five or ten days I can tell you how it is." Then the commissioner would quickly send a note to an inspector to make a location there and date back the stakes a month. The same corruption exists among the Canadian custom officials. He bought an outfit from a man by the name of Bennett. This outfit had cost about $50. The custom house officer charged Bennett $25 duty, and when Bennett kicked raised it to $39, which he paid under protest. The next man that came in brought an outfit that cost a $1,000 at least. He had some fresh meat with him and gave a piece to the custom officers. He charged him $12 duty. If a man kicked they doubled the duty. If he kicked more they trebled it and if he refused to pay the outrageous charges they simply confiscated the whole business.

The receipts given on their face show the fraud. There is no inventory. Only a receipt that—has paid duty on his outfit, states no amount. The first year only $25,000 duties were reported to the government as having been collected on 400 outfits. The lowest estimate on the duties collected for that year was $75,000, so that the officials pocketed over $50,000. The next year over 30,000 people went into the Klondike and the duties reported were even less! If this same state of affairs existed anywhere in the United States there would be a riot, but for some reason the Americans when they get over the line in the presence of the English soldiers are most supreme. They don't know what their rights are. There is no use appealing to Ottawa or Washington, it would take too much time. The officials sent out by the government to investigate the corruption in the Klondike seem rather to have tried to hush up matters than expose the true state of affairs. If Dawson City was on American soil and run under American laws it would be a splendid camp. There are only five creeks that are paying at present. He says he means by paying, claims that pay $10 a day. There is no chance for new men to go into the Klondike now. There are 30,000 claims located of which not more than 200 are good. Last year there were over 20,000 people in Dawson City. This winter there won't be over 12,000. "Why just think of it, a man must pay for a miners license, then for stumpage if he wants to cut down any trees to make a raft or build a boat and then again for the privilege of building a boat. There is just festering corruption everywhere. The officials sent out think the country won't last long and want to make their pile."

Mr. Perry and a few friends came down the Yukon from Seventy Mile Creek in a boat they had built. In St. Michaels they took a sailing boat for Seattle and were 25 days on the sea which gave him a good rest. He says the reports about Cape Nome are very misleading. There is some gold there but no good chances for new comers. Mr. Perry expects to leave for Chicago in a few days.

AM OST WONDERFUL CURES

Eminent Physicians Pronounced It Consumption.

Dr. C. D. Warner, Coldwater, Mich. Dear Sir:—I have received great benefit from your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I had a cough and the doctors gave up all hopes of my recovery and pronounced it consumption; I thought that it was death for me. I tried everything that we could hear of. Finally one of my friends prevailed upon me to use your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I took 1½ bottles and am cured entirely. Such medicine I can recommend to those who are afflicted as I was.

Very Resp'y Yours,

GIVE CREDIT WHERE DUE

FOR THE COMPLETION OF THE SALINE-YPSILANTI ROAD.

IT BELONGS TO TWO YPSILANTI
PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZENS,
GLOVER AND HEMPHILL.

The Ypsilanti & Saline electric line will be opened its full length next Monday and the business men of Ypsilanti are looking forward to an increased trade through the opening of the road. At the same time Saline shows symptoms of being greatly livened by being brought into closer contact with the world. In fact it means an increased population in the village. The credit for the road undoubtedly belongs in much greater measure than to any one else to Henry P. Glover and Robert Hemphill, two public spirited citizens of Ypsilanti who have more than once helped the city in its growth. When the road was first talked about many of the people laughed at the idea, but Mr. Glover and Mr. Hemphill were not to be daunted. While the people of Ann Arbor were talking they acted. They scoured the franchises, bonded the road and built it. Mr. Glover has been heard to say that the completion of the road was the one thing he was the most proud of having done for Ypsilanti. And everyone who is conversant with Ypsilanti affairs knows that Mr. Glover has done much for the upbuilding of that city.

The city officials of Ypsilanti and the village officials of Saline are to be given a junket over the road and a fine time will undoubtedly be enjoyed on this occasion.

MOTHER OF JUDGE NEWKIRK

AND NIECE OF EX-PRESIDENT
FILLMORE.

DIED AT HER HOME IN DEXTER
VILLAGE ABOUT NOON
TODAY.

Dexter, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to Daily Argus).—Mrs. Viola J. Newkirk died about noon today. She was the mother of Judge of Probate H. Wirt Newkirk and was a niece of Willard Fillmore, president of the United States. She came to Dexter in 1842 with her family. She was married in 1845 to Sylvester Newkirk, with whom she lived happily until her death. She possessed many valuable souvenirs of her distinguished uncle.

Burton Rice the boy who was badly injured in Webster Tuesday by being thrown from a load of furniture is no better.

Children are sometimes told, when they are bad, that ghosts and other dreadful things will get them. Grown-up people know better, but it would be a good thing if women could be made to understand that terrible results will follow neglect of any ailment that comes under the general head of "female troubles." A pain in the side, or back, a disagreeable drain, a bearing-down sensation, headache, nervousness, weakness in the distinctly feminine organs, bad complexion and loss of flesh are forerunners of final collapse. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for weak women. It cures a great majority of cases the patient can treat herself at home, and obnoxious local examinations can be avoided. In a few bad cases it is wise for the sufferers to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce himself, at Buffalo, N. Y., and he will give full advice by mail free. He is consulted daily by great numbers of women throughout the world, and his advice is founded upon wide-spread experience. All correspondence is treated by him as strictly confidential. His "Favorite Prescription" is non-alcoholic, and does not create a craving for strong drink. It contains no opium or other narcotic. It is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No medicine is equal to it in any respect for diseases of women. Therefore, accept no substitute for this world-famed remedy, though it be urged upon you as being "just as good."

Mrs. Mary E. Jones, of 529 Madison Avenue, Ypsilanti, Mich., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, and after taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I am free from pains. I had suffered for two years when I began taking your medicine. I could not walk across my room without suffering dreadful pains. Now I do all my housework and walk where I please."

Constipation and biliousness are radically cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They don't gripe; they never fail.

The Pingree faithful during the absence of the "old man" are having a regular monkey and parrot time. Unless Pingree hies himself back to this neck of woods right soon, he is liable to have another faction against him. Bill Judson will constitute the whole Pingree push.

As the Dreyfus case drags on, the conviction that there will be no acquittal grows more certain. In fact his condemnation is now considered certain unless Emperor William intervenes and permits Col. Schwartzkoppen to testify. It is an even chance however, that the German kaiser will not permit this, and if he does not Dreyfus will undoubtedly go to another unearned condemnation. What will happen in France after that is a problem.

At last it is said the British government is ready to call a halt on Canada's monkey work about the Alaskan boundary and take upon herself the responsibility of making some sort of a working agreement with the United States. Great Britain is apparently sincere in desiring no clash with the United States over the matter and the States are just as desirous of an amicable and just adjustment without any bloodshed. Therefore the solution ought not to be difficult to find. It can be better adjusted if Canada is left out.

If the president is having the reports sent out from Washington, that he is contemplating sending Gen. Miles to the Philippines for the purpose of ascertaining public sentiment on the question, he should delay no longer. Nothing that he could do relative to Philippine matters would inspire more confidence. With Gen. Miles in chief command there the people would know that a real campaign against the Filipinos is to be fought, nor would it require long for the brown men to learn that they were up against the real thing. By all means let Miles be sent.

The little Boer republic still presents a bold front to the British lion. The English papers complain of the dilatory character of President Kruger's diplomacy when contrasted with his alertness and energy in preparing for war. Evidently the Boers do not intend to be caught napping. When England makes the first suspicious move of troops the Boers will be in readiness to strike the first blow. The fact that the volksraad is in session to discuss the situation and a meeting of the British council has been called at this unusual season by Lord Salisbury, indicate that there is the gravest danger in the situation.

It seems after all that the Grand Army in its annual session at Philadelphia is to make a fight on Commissioner of Pensions Evans. The contest was begun yesterday, but the specifications have not as yet been given to the public. It seems to fair-minded outsiders that the veterans are making a great mistake. Evans has fairly, justly and even generously interpreted the pension laws and he should not be condemned for standing true to his oath of office. It would seem also that there can be little just cause for complaint with a government which has not only been just and liberal in caring for the veterans but even extravagant.

The money circulation of the country is larger today than ever before and yet more appears to be needed. The wonderful industrial activity which has congested every avenue of commerce has created this demand for more money.

During the summer the gold reserve in the treasury has mounted up to $250,000,000 vastly more than sufficient to meet all redemption purposes. This was needed in circulation and to make it available for the needs of industry. The issuance of gold certificates was again resorted to. The issuance of these certificates was suspended during Secretary Carlisle's administration when the gold reserve fell so low. From then until this season none were issued for the reason that there was money enough in circulation to meet all industrial needs without resort to gold certificates.

As another evidence of the rapid progress of the country in financial strength it will be remembered that Mexico when she refunded her national debt recently came to the United States for the money and the loan of $110,000,000 was easily floated in New York. In fact New York is today the financial center of the world. All this is most gratifying to Americans.

WELCOMING THE VOLUNTEERS

BY LIEUTENANT H. R. GAHAN.

How the Home Coming Heroes Are Greeted On Their Return From Fighting In the Far East - A Some Impressive Scenes

Home coming volunteers from the Philippines have been arriving in large numbers at San Francisco during the past six weeks. A few are still in the far east, waiting for transports or fighting fever in the hospitals, but the greater part of the survivors of the big army of citizen soldiers which crossed the ocean last winter have come home. The people of San Francisco have greeted each returning regiment with a hearty welcome, but of course the warmest and most enthusiastic reception was reserved for the California soldiers, who were the last to leave for home. The plan adopted by the war department in regard to mustering out these returning soldiers has been for each regiment to go into camp on the Presidio grounds until the discharges and other papers could be made out. This has not only facilitated matters, but has given the volunteers a chance to recover from the effects of their long sea voyage.

While the ocean trip has been on the whole a beneficial one to the war worn soldiers, tired out after months of hard campaigning, the confinement on a crowded transport is bound to be more or less irksome. Yet it is estimated that the Nebraska regiment weighed 10,000 pounds more when it marched down the gangplank at San Francisco than when the boys went aboard at Manila.

The Presidio camp is an ideal one for the purpose. It has been established so long that all the little conveniences which go to make tent living comfortable have become fixtures. The tents, instead of being pitched on the naked ground, are all furnished with neat board floors. The company streets are well laid out and each furnished with a good supply of water. Some of the regiments have gone back to the same spots which they occupied last year, when they were composed of raw militia. Now they are veteran regiments, each one of them having earned its share of glory in the far east.

After two or three weeks' rest at the Presidio the volunteers are ready to go back to their homes, where they receive final ovations and then gradually drop back into the prosaic ways of the civilization.

The arrangements made for the return of the Pennsylvanians show to CHEERING THE RETURNING VOLUNTEERS. What an extent the interest of the citizens of the Keystone State have been aroused. When the regiment landed from the transport, it was met by a large delegation of home people who had come clear across the continent to welcome the heroes back to their native land. At the camp many things were done for their comfort, and special trains made up of sleepers were recently put at the disposal of Lieutenant Colonel Barrett so that his men might make the long overland journey in comfort.

Being the only eastern volunteer regiment that has seen service in the Philippines, the Tenth Pennsylvania seems to have earned for itself the sympathy and interest of the whole country east of the Mississippi. Its progress across the country has been a series of ovations.

The Nebraska boys were also greeted at San Francisco by a big Nebraska delegation, which included Governor Poynter and other prominent officials. Their reception was a type of the manner in which the other volunteers have been received and is worth describing.

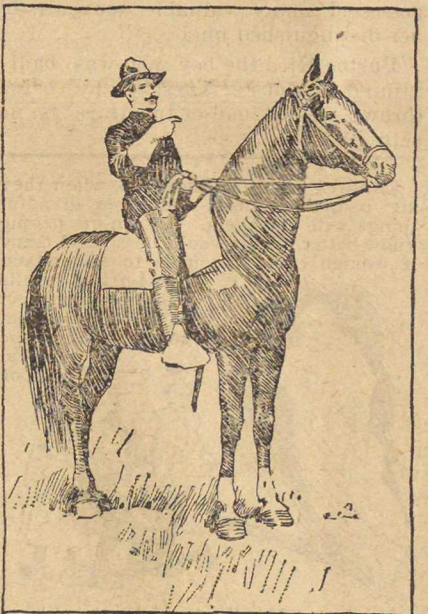

As the parading column swung into Market street, San Francisco's principal thoroughfare, it was in three distinct parts, quite noticeable because of the difference in the uniforms of the men. First came a rollicking band and a body of smartly dressed and hearty looking men all in army blue. They were the Third artillery regulars from the Presidio, detailed by Major General Shafter as the government escort to the battle scarred volunteers. People who did not know scanned their ruddy faces and remarked:

"Well, they do not look so badly used up."

But in a moment they realized their mistake when there came swinging along company after company of slim, lithe young fellows, with thin, tanned cheeks, weather worn campaign hats, faded khaki trousers and leggings, old blue flannel shirts and carrying dingy Springfield rifles and rolls of much used blankets over their coatless shoulders, while battered haversacks and canteens hung about their loins.

The contrast between the home barracks regular and the firing line volunteer from foreign fields was too great not to be appreciated even by a stranger to military appearances. These gaunt, smiling fellows were the famous Nebraskans.

Behind them trooped the Utah gunners, who themselves have a proud record of 24 engagements, with remarkable freedom from injuries. Gunless and without blankets, they looked the part of the light artillery that handled field rifles and manned rapid fire small batteries on the river gunboats. Their khaki of peculiar tan and the two little ragged remnants of red guidons fluttering above them told plainly that they were just from Luzon and not from comfortable quarters and good meals at the Presidio.

Just behind them clattered the rest of the artillery escort, 12 six horse teams of glistening blacks with fiery red blankets, rough riding drivers and field rifles and gun caissons, each with its erect and neatly uniformed men in blue perched back to back on the springless seats. Finally rode a blue suited troop of the Sixth regular cavalry from the Presidio, mounted on bays.

The real fighters could not be mistaken. Young Colonel Mulford, who went away a major, rode at their head, and close behind came the regimental band, playing with a spirit of genuine gladness that awakened a sympathetic something in every hearer.

At the head of the Utah artillery rode Major Grant, who has already been asked to take the Republican nomination for mayor of Salt Lake City. His commanding figure and bearded face attracted instant attention.

Similar scenes to this are reproduced on a smaller scale when the regiments are broken up into companies. Each city and town prepares a special reception to the company which it sent to make up the regiment. So that in at least four states there are folks who just now think more of thin faced fellows in worn khaki uniforms than of the common affairs of life—those affairs which are of importance to bread earners, but which do not stir the heart at all.

Chinese Law. According to the Chinese method of criminal prosecution a man is responsible for the crime he may have committed personally, but if he chooses to escape justice by running away from the place where the deed was committed then the remaining members of his immediate family are held and punished in lieu of the real culprit. This may seem a strange way of attracting the real criminal back to the scene of his crime, but it has proved quite successful, because it appeals to the religious side of the man's superstitious nature. According to their religion the man who forsakes his parents when in peril will find his soul sailing around through hades without chart or compass for all eternity. In view of this, compliance with the law is very prompt, for John Chinaman does not care to take the desperate chance.

Capitol War Guards Are Still on Duty.

The extra guards who were hired during the late unpleasantness to prevent stray Spaniards from carrying off the capitol site have never been laid off. So the more stringent rules about looking through the grating at the money in the treasury building have not been relaxed. There might be another war with Spain some time, and there is nothing like taking precautions beforehand.

The receipts of the state of Michigan during the past year from university lands were $2,534.31. The state now holds only 40 acres of university lands.

The last of the Sunday evening union service, Sept. 17, will be held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Speaker, Dr. Blodgett, pastor of the M. E. church, Detroit.

The annual picnic of St. Andrew's Sunday school will be held on Thursday of this week at Campbell's grove on the motor road. The children will start from Harris hall at 10 o'clock.

The census of the school children in the city now shows 3,073 children with still 50 houses to hear from. Secretary Mills of the board thinks the total number may go from 75 to 100 more than last year.

William April, of Seio, was in the city Saturday. He has a large vineyard which looks very promising. He says the grapes have ripened so early this year and were as far advanced as other years on Sept. 10.

The meetings of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will reopen Thursday, Sept. 14, at 3 p. m. in rooms over the post office. The program will be conducted by the superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Williams.

A citizen of the Second ward wishes it stated that if the dogs on Second st. are not shut up at night, there will be some dead ones in the morning. He is tired of getting up at night and appearing on the streets in dishabille to quiet their noise.

Interest in the Young Men's Christian Association does not seem to lag. The report comes to us that three applications for membership were handed in at the close of their meeting Sunday, while the attendance showed an increase of 40 per cent over the average for the summer.

The office of the Ann Arbor Brewing Co., was entered Sunday morning between the hours of 1 and 2 a. m. When Ernest Rehberg, the president, entered the office he found the money drawer broken open the three pay envelopes containing $21.20 in money and $19.80 in loose money in the drawer, a total of $41 was stolen. It is believed some one acquainted with the premises was the thief.

From Thursday's Daily Argus.

A sidewalk has been ordered on the south side of Prospect street.

The front and interior of Jacob Laubengayer's butcher shop on S. Main st. is receiving a handsome coat of paint.

The Ann Arbor druggists are making quite a reputation. The people along the Ann Arbor line are sending for medicines almost daily.

There were rumors last evening among the small boys that the tiger at Staebler's grocery had escaped from its cage and was at large. It is so fierce looking that if alive a small boy would be a most desirable dessert for the creature.

C. S. Turner, a well known character, of Milan, and George Lambert a chimney sweep, were brought to the jail last evening by Deputy Sheriff Luxton. Justice Boyle, of Milan, sentenced them to 10 days imprisonment for being drunk and disorderly.

The Daily Argus acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to attend the Dundee Fair to be held Sept. 19, 20, 21 and 22. One feature of this fair is well known among horsemen. It has one of the finest racetracks in the state, which naturally is a great attraction. If this track could be transferred to Ann Arbor the natives would be astonished.

Few people in Ann Arbor fully appreciate the enterprise and good work done by the Ann Arbor Fluff Rug Factory. George Schlemmer, of Schlemmer Bros., returned yesterday from an extended trip through Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. He appointed agents and got orders. He left on the evening train for Toledo, where the firm has a booth at the Elks fair.

Parents should note that hereafter boys under 16 years of age will not be allowed in the Y. M. C. A. rooms after 6 p. m. The association directors find that their facilities are too limited to accommodate the boys at the time when the larger number of their members frequent the rooms. They also believe that parents generally do not care to have their boys encouraged to spend the evenings down town.

Edward Maul, of Rockport, Ill., who has been appointed professor of mathematics at the newly built normal school at Marquette, has many friends in Ann Arbor. He is a hard worker as was shown when he took both high school and university work at the same time. He is a '93 lit. During his stay in Ann Arbor he was an active worker in the Episcopal Sunday school. He deserves all the success he is receiving.

A Daily Argus subscriber says: "The people of Ann Arbor do not know what they have in Cedar Bend Avenue. I took a number of friends around the road a few days recently and they were very enthusiastic. The glimpses of scenery, the river and city are beautiful. It could be made as far ahead of Belle Isle as Belle Isle is ahead of the flat on which the new gas house is being built. My guests were astounded. With a little more money great improvements would be a good investment for the city."

Jacob Reichert, of Seio, president of the German Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and wife are home from their month's visit in California. Mr. Reichert reports having had a delightful trip. His brother-in-law, Mr. Belmont, at Campbell, with whom he visited, has a farm of 40 acres all planted to fruit. This year he will receive 100 tons of prunes, which shrunk about one-half in drying. He has olive, English walnut, orange and lemon trees on his land. Mr. Reichert picked oranges from trees that were ripe last January and still living on the trees. He visited the big trees and stood in the hollow of the tree on which Gen. Fremont camped in 1843. They spent two days in San Francisco, where they saw the sea lions at the seashore, and the other sights. Mr. Reichert likes California in many respects, but there are some things that he does not fancy. The people are very pleasant there, but they are not as well acquainted with each other as in this country. The country is more like a big city, so far as the people are concerned.

There was quite a sensation at the grove last evening. It seems that a married man from Ann Arbor came here and danced with strange women, when his wife appeared on the scene and pulled a gun. There were only a few who saw the parties and they did not know the names, but knew they were from Ann Arbor. One person said that he knew the man was a retired business man, well dressed and of athletic build.

Tuesday night brought cutting affray upon Hungry Hill. It is alleged that a certain man of color became soaked with snakes foot oil and became abusive to his wife, calling her bad names, etc., and that in self defense she finally used a knife on her unruly lord. The matter has not yet reached the courts and may not.

The case against Wayne Shier charged with larceny was tried in Justice Childs' court Tuesday. The complainant was Miss Jennie Wright who had Shier arrested for the larceny of some rings. It appears that Shier who is about 19 or 20 years old, was paying some attention to the young lady and that on one occasion last November after he had been at her home she noticed that three rings of hers were missing. She charged him with taking them. He returned two and said he had lost the other one. The case resulted in his conviction as charged. Justice Childs gave him a fine of $5 and costs, the whole amounting to $17.85 or 65 days in the Detroit house of correction. He paid up or his mother did for him.

It is reported that Capt. Allen and A. J. Sawyer, of Ann Arbor, are to ride a fat man's bicycle race at the Ann Arbor fair grounds during the Washington fair. This will certainly prove a great attraction if properly advertised. Surely nobody would want to miss it. The Argus will wager on the Ypsilanti man.

The slander case of Comstock vs. Hotchkiss was called in Justice Jocelyn's court this morning and knocked out by Attorney Fred Green, attorney for the defendant, on the plea that the court had no jurisdiction. Mr. Green presented the law so clearly to his honor that there was nothing to do but dismiss the case. Whether it will be commenced in the circuit court or not has not been determined.

A couple of days ago a baby cab came to the D., Y. & A. A. waiting room properly checked. It was placed in the store room and while standing there awaiting a claimant, a package of drugs for C. W. Rogers happened to be placed in it. In due time the owner presented the check for the cab and took it away, not noticing the package of drugs. The surprising thing about it is that the drugs have not been returned. It is not clear, however, what the ordinary person would do with such articles.

IT MAY BE

FRED GREEN

IT IS SAID HE CAN BE YPSILANTI'S POSTMASTER.

AND DAVE MURFORD WOULD BE ASSISTANT POSTMASTER OF YPSILANTI.

Perhaps City Attorney Fred Green didn't know what he was doing unless he referred a lieutenant under Col. Gardner's Philippine regiment, and perhaps he knew more about his own business than others. However that may be the following well founded rumor may explain his action in these matter and emphasize the fact that there is a list of gray matter under Fredies curly head.

The latest mushroom story is that Lieutenant Fred Green was offered the postmastership of Ypsilanti and that in case he accepted it he would appoint Dave Morford assistant postmaster. That would be a great combination. Fred could manage mails during the day and if Dave's reputation holds good he could properly see that at all other times the mails are properly taken care of.

Four Tires Set for $1.00

The above is a picture of the new Tire Setting Machine in the Ferguson carriage factory. It sets the tire while you wait without either heating or dampening it. It is claimed also, that it does the work more satisfactorily than the old process.

To reset a Tire by the old process the operations are: Remove tire bolts, remove tire, traverse wheel, traverse tire, upset tire, traverse tire, heat tire, apply tire to wheel, re-bore bolt hole, apply bolts, cut-off bolts, paint.

Better results can be produced by this machine in an operation requiring less than ten minutes time than can be obtained from the above twelve operations.

Capacity: The machine will upset a 1 1/2 inch by 1/2 inch steel tire or a 2 inch by 1/2 iron tire or anything smaller and will take in a wheel of any diameter from 30 inches to 60 inches.

The change in adjustment for wheels of different diameters is easily made in two minutes.

A set of wheels can be taken from the vehicle, the tires reset and the wheels put back in place in less than thirty minutes.

Tires can be set on 600 to 800 new wheels per day by the power machine, requiring not to exceed 3-horse power to operate.

It was rumored on the street yesterday that Robert Hemphill, Jr. had resigned his position with the Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor electric rail way but it was also denied. It appears to have been true, however. His resignation has been handed in but no reasons for the step are given. Mr. Hemphill has been with the road since it was first opened.

OPENING OF YPSI-SALINE ROAD

Trip of Officials on Three Cars.

CELEBRATING THE EVENTS

With a Fine Dinner at the Hawkins House—Description of the Trip.

The trip over the Ypsilanti-Saline electric railway this morning, which was the first number of the formal opening of the road, was a happy conception, and was carried out to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. The trip was under the direct management of General Manager Merrill of the Detroit, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor electric road, of which the Saline road is a branch. He placed three cars at the disposal of officials and citizens who desired to make the run over the new track. The cars left Ypsilanti at 9:15 o'clock, and were comfortably filled with Ypsilanti officials and prominent citizens. Among the members of the city government on the trip were Mayor E. P. Allen, Aldermen Dawson, VanFassen, Worden, Lamb, Davis, Shaffer and Ferguson. Representing the board of public works were Ex-Mayor Wells, Sumner Daman, N. B. Perkins, Henry P. Glover, who has been a leader in the enterprise and untiring in his efforts to bring the project to a successful issue, was probably the happiest man and the proudest in the company. Such a man as he is, is a valuable citizen to any community, and he appears to be thoroughly and justly appreciated by all Ypsilantians. He is to be congratulated on the completion of his undertaking. Robert Hemphill, of the Ypsilanti Savings bank, is another whose efforts in behalf of the road are deserving of the greatest credit.

The road runs the whole of the way along the old United States mail route and is a pretty road and passes through as fine a section of country as can be found in Michigan. The track is in fine condition for so new a road, being much less uneven than was the Detroit line when cars were first run over it. As the car passed along, Mr. Glover pointed out and named the farms and farm buildings of the wealthier residents along the road and the various points where the progress of the line was stopped by injunctions, and showed without words the satisfaction he experienced that the project was finally completed and all obstacles overcome. The feeling when the road crosses the Ann Arbor road is a tremendous one, the road running probably thirty or forty feet above the Ann Arbor track.

A stop of perhaps a half hour was made at Saline, where were taken on the village officials and those of the townships of Saline and Pittsfield. Representing the village were President E. A. Hauser and Trustees W. J. Jackson, George Schier, C. Burkhardt, F. Henne and J. A. Fish. Also G. J. Nissly, president last year, when the road was projected; also George Schoem of last year's council, and Editor A. J. Warren of the Saline Observer, along with a number of prominent citizens. Supervisor Will Fowler of Saline township and Justice J. M. Grass also accompanied the party back to Ypsilanti. Supervisor Case of Pittsfield and Township Clerk Webb were likewise of the party. Representatives of the other two townships, Ypsilanti and York, were on hand, but the Argus failed to see them.

On the return trip Ex-Mayor Wells distributed 100 tickets to invited guests to dinner at the Hawkins House.

The intervening period from the time the party reached Ypsilanti was spent in running about the city and in inspecting the Ypsilanti power house. Here the ponderous machinery which makes the lightning for sending the cars over the rails was found in fine condition, indicating skill and painstaking in its handling. After careful inspection of everything of interest about the power house, the party returned to the Hawkins House, where dinner was served to the invited guests at 1:30 o'clock. The dinner was served in Landlord Jones' best style, and put all in the best good nature. Beautiful souvenir menu cards, containing besides the bill of fare, the words "Welcome, Citizens of Saline," were presented to each guest. When dinner was finally over, so many had left the dining room that no speeches were made, and the guests scattered, each to do his own sweet will.

However, the opening of the road has passed off very auspiciously, and Ypsilanti is wide awake to the advantages it brings to her. That it will lay considerable more territory directly contributory to Ypsilanti is unquestioned. Ypsilanti merchants are already taking advantage of their opportunities and advertising with a view to that trade. It is just that kind of push and energy which conceived and built the road, and it is bound to win.

CENTER OF TERRITORY

Is What a Traveling Officer Said It Was. His Country Tramp.Dexter, Washtenaw Co., M. T., Dec.
15, '93

I have been waiting here since I last wrote, in order to join an exploring party of three or four individuals, to go up into Shiawassee county to examine lands. A heavy snow storm has set in today, however, and as it will put an end to the expedition, I shall probably start by myself for the Kalamazoo country tomorrow. The journey to Grand River, which I proposed to myself, I shall, from the time it would consume, be compelled now to abandon entirely. I do not regret the time I have spent here, for I am not far from the center of the territory, and while I have my headquarters at a good country in a well settled place, I can in a ride of a few miles plunge at once into the wilderness. It is a pretty dangerous matter, however, for a ranger to go without a guide, recon-noitering through a country where every hill, lake and wood looks so much like its brother, that the ordinary land marks are of no assistance to the eye. The scenery of Michigan will be far more attractive when cultivation shall give variety to a landscape which, however, beautiful at present, is somewhat monotonous.

After visiting nearly a dozen of the transparent ponds of every size which stud the surface of the country, and finding but two or three whose firm banks, of some 15 or 20 feet elevation assumed a picturesque appearance, from the irregular manner in which they pushed their beautifully wooded promontories far into the lakes they bounded, I started the other day to visit a sheet of water, somewhat elevated, about 12 miles off. My way, after going a mile or two from the village, led through oak openings of rolling land, called "The Short Hills," which I can best assimilate to a collection of enormous graves the tombs of households, if you choose—thrown confusedly together upon a perfectly level surface, where a patch of wild meadow land, a cranberry marsh, or a bog that looked like the desolated bed of a lake, and frequently, indeed, the shallow lake itself, filled up the intervals. The huge oaks that crowned the summits of these formal mounds were the only objects that relieved the dreariness of the landscape; even they, I thought, while riding alone beneath their branches, that sighed to the December wind, were not the most enticing objects in the world.

"I rode thus for miles without seeing a living thing except a raven, which as that description of birds is only found in those parts of the union where wolves still infest the country, I at once took it for granted I was hovering near one of the savage beasts to which he so faithfully plays the jackall.
Wheeling my horse suddenly from the trail towards a thicket of dwarf oaks,
where I expected to find the carrion deer that attracts these wories, he sheered from the bush and I was thrown upon the spot. After extricating the foot by which I was dragged a yard or two, from the stirrup, I sprang up but little hurt, and moved as quickly as possible to catch my horse, who, having paused for an instant in a clump of trees near by, turned his head around like a pointer taken aback with the scent after he has passed a bush, and stood calmly gazing at me. At the first step towards the rascal however, he moved nearly a rod sideways, and then ducking his head towards the ground, and throwing his heels high in the air, my ungrateful courser, accompanying these motions with every additional mark of disrespect he could summon to his aid, left his master alone in the wilderness. He disappeared behind a hill in a moment. I could not help ejaculating with the Kentuckian, whose house and family had been burnt by the savages; while he was cleaning his rifle at a brook hard by, 'This very ridiculous.'

No time was to be lost, however. It was late in the day, and I was far from any house; while the occasional flakes of snow which began to fall from the black, lowering sky, threatened a storm which might cover in a moment the only path that could guide me homeward. I sat down at once among the long dry grass and stripping off my leggings, and disembar-rassing my heels of the now useless spurs, stowed all away in my coat pockets.
The coat itself I rolled up in a bundle around my left arm, and taking my gun, to which I applied a fresh cap, in my right, I strode off in as good a humor as one could summon under such provoking circumstances. I could not help thinking, indeed, how much worse matters might have been had I been thus deserted in one of the broad prairies, 30 miles, perhaps, from any house.

"As for the loss of my horse, I felt so indignant against the inconsiderate brute that I confess it did not trouble me. Thus did I trudge on, growing momentarily in better humor with myself. The scene around was dreary at present; but having had all the wild flowers that grow in Michigan described to me, I exercised my imagination by concerning the more attractive appearance it must wear in summer. I thought how the brown woods must look when the lofty oaks around were clothed in their deep green foliage. I thought of the various vines and flowers which then fill the broad openings between their stems—of the clumps of cluster roses that here grow wild and cover whole acres of the crimson daisy and fragrant balm pink, the deep hued lichnia and gorgeous golden rod which with jonquils and anaranth, the purple fox glove and saffron colored silk weed, paint the surface of the soil. I could fancy the glossy leaves of the nightshade, with its white blossoms and poisonous berries, the creeping ivy and columbine clustering at the foot of the hills; the snow white lily of the valley,

the lilac tinted adders tongue and straw colored arrow head, shooting through the long grass between; while the purple fleur-de-lis bloomed along the wet marshes, where the splendid cardinal flower tossed its scarlet blossoms in the breeze.

"I must have practiced horticulture in this way for some time, when, on rising a slight eminence in my path, I saw my amiable roan standing quietly looking in the direction whence I was coming, apparently waiting for me. I was completely mollified. I forgave him the little freak, and advanced with a light heart to lay my hand upon the bride. He moved a little, and so did I. He moved a little more, and I stood still. I spoke to him, but he continued moving. I coaxed him, in a tone that would have melted the heart of one of the marble horses of St.
Mark's; he was moved by it—only farther from me. I whistled to him—had taught him a day or two before to come to my whistle when he obeyed me like a dog—he stopped, and I advanced once more to lay my hand on the saddle and the scoundrel broke into a trot just as I was about touching him. I brought my piece to my shoulder, and could hardly forbear drawing the trigger upon him as I stood.

The ground now rolled like the waves of a frozen sea; and my nefarious brute, who soon began to stalk leisurely along about a hundred yards ahead of me, would, to carry out the figure, be just topping the combing while I was in the trough, and vice versa—like two children balancing on a plank. It was perfectly insufferable, mile after mile, to see that eternal saddle bobbing up and down a hundred yards ahead of me. Sometime, indeed, the venterous wearer would step aside among a cluster of oaks, to nip
the tender grass which still lingered around their roots; and then, as he would arch his neck, and seeming admire the Indian blanket and flame colored surcingle, which, after the gay taste of the west, I had buckled, combining use with ornament, to the back of the ungrateful brute, dash off with a snort into a patch of prairie land; I could not but admire the eye of fire and gracefully gathering limbs of the spirited creature. I wished, however, that he was anybody's horse but mine, disporting himself at that rate. At last, at a turning of the path he disappeared behind a hill, and ceasing longer to tantalize, let me comparatively comfortable. I reached the first 'clearing' about 20 minutes afterward, and looking along the highway, which here commenced, my horse was nowhere to be seen."

NEARLY KILLED
THE HORSEA BAD ACCIDENT HAPPENED
NEAR DEXTER.A WAGON SHAFT PENETRATES
HORSE'S BREAST TWELVE INCHES.

Dexter, Sept. 2.—(Special to Daily Argus.)—A bad accident occurred last evening half a mile east on the Ann Arbor road which might have been fatal. Fred Schaible of Ann Arbor and a friend were driving towards Dexter with a horse and buggy hired at Brenners livery. A hay wagon was ahead of them and by request the owner drove his team to the side of the road to give them an opportunity to pass. As they were doing this, a driver with one Phelps livery horse and buggy taking Larry Colvin to Ann Arbor, came from Dexter and collided with them, the shaft entering the breast of Schaible's horse over 12 inches almost coming out on the other side and breaking off. Michael Brenner was soon on the ground with Dr.
Dell. The horse was taken back to Ann Arbor where it is being treated by the Doctor who thinks he can save the animal unless blood poisoning sets
in.

George Higgins and Luther James have returned from an extended fishing trip to Alpena. They brought with them a number of fish for their friends.

Don't delay a minute. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

England's Coal Stock.

It is estimated that England's stock of coal will last 200 years longer, and North America's 600 years. It is not likely, however, that these supplies will ever be needed, as it is probable that before many decades have passed power will be gained in other ways.

PLENTY OF IT.

Lots More Proof Like This, and it is all from Ann Arbor People.

"The proof of the pudding is the eating of it." If any city or town in the Union has sufficient proof on the following subject, it is Ann Arbor. Genuine merit is finding its reward in the heartly endorsement of local citizens.
When people right here at home, friends and neighbors of our readers, give a statement like the following for publication, it is proof convincing for the most skeptical. Read this testimony:

Mrs. George Carpenter, of No. 1133
Forrest Avenue, says: "The pains across my loins were so severe at times that I could hardly straighten or bend.
The twinges often extended under my shoulder blades and down my thighs.
I also suffered a good deal from severe cramping of the muscles of my limbs.
Headaches and dizziness were of frequent occurrence. I used a number of different medicines but they did not do me any good. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I went to Eberbach & Son's drug store and procured a box. I soon began to feel better and improved steadily, until cured."

DR. BOONE
TO CINCINNATIElected Superintendent of the Schools in that City.

WITH A SALARY OF $4500

A Sketch of His Qualifications as a Modern Educator.

Last night Dr. R. G. Boone was elected superintendent of the Cincinnati public schools to succeed Superintendent Morgan who had resigned.
It is understood the salary is $4,500.
This position is a political one in large degree but it is understood that Dr.
Boone was the candidate of all factions, so that he will commence his duties there with a practically unanimous board back of him. This will enable him to give the schools an administration of merit which they have not always had because of divisions and factions. Because of politics in the schools there in the past real educational work has suffered. But in Dr.
Boone the city will have an administrator and educator who will unquestionably be able to advance the educational interests of the city, especially since he goes as a union candidate. There is need in Cincinnati of such an overhauling of things as Superintendent Andrews is giving Chicago and Dr. Boone is a man in all ways equal to the emergency. He is in the very prime of physical and intellectual manhood, he is progressive and aggressive in all educational matters and a broad and liberal student of affairs in general. While he knows the literature of his profession thoroughly, he is no book worm, being as able as an administrator as he is liberal and broad and deep as a student.
He knows what good teaching is and is as competent to do it himself as he is to direct it.

He is a self made man and a man of wide and varied experience. He has served in the district school, in village schools and was for 10 years superintendent of the Frankfort, Indiana, city schools, for seven years professor of pedagogy in the University of Indiana, at Bloomington and for the past six years
principal of the Michigan State Normal College of this city. In all these positions he was highly successful. During his administration of the normal college, its numbers have largely increased, its graduates nearly or quite doubled and it has gained a reputation outside of Michigan that it never possessed before. It is entirely safe to say that he is the ablest educator who has ever stood at its head. During his years at the head of the normal college he has been in constant demand, beyond the limits of his time, in institutes, summer schools and for lectures throughout a large portion of the country, east as well as west.

A little life may be sacrificed to a sudden attack of croup if you don't have Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand for the emergency.

tween the ages of 5 and 20 enrolled

Some People Wonder

Who buys all the Pianos?

One only need give the subject a moment's consideration for an answer. It would be useless to explain why the schools are supported. The study of music is now considered a factor in the education of every child, consequently every parent realizes the importance of musical studies. We consider a piano the "bread and butter" of music, the basis of musical education, and the study of the piano should be taken in connection with all other study. Others consider it in the same way. That's why so many pianos are sold.

VERY SMOOTH SCHEME

a House.

Detective Hugh Kane, of the Detroit police force, was in the city Wednesday to recover a ladies' gold watch stolen in Detroit Aug. 29 from Miss M. Gertrude Leland. The sum of $5 had been borrowed on it in Ann Arbor on Aug. 30. The thief immediately went back to Detroit, and was shortly afterwards. He is a bright-looking colored man, about 25 years old, who gave his name as Henry Williams in Detroit and as Henry Smith in Ann Arbor. The watch was located by a ticket he had on his person when arrested. He was working a smooth game, which may be best described by telling the circumstances of the theft. He had walked in the front door of Mr. Leland's house in the daytime, and right upstairs, meeting no one. The watch was lying on a dresser at the head of the stairs. He pocketed it and started down stairs with a letter in his hand. He was met by a lady and said to her: "I was sent here with a letter for you." She took the letter, tore it open and found a note asking her to pay the bearer the amount of the bill a Detroit business house had against her. She turned the letter over and said that the name to whom it was addressed was not hers. "Why, this letter is not for me," said Williams. "What did you open it for, then?" He started away, but the lady, suspecting something, called to her daughter to telephone for a policeman. Williams, who was going out, turned and said: "Why, that's all right. It's no crime to present anybody with a bill, is it?"

FREE RURAL DELIVERY

Henry De Pue, who is pushing the scheme for free rural mail delivery on the gravel road, has received a very encouraging letter from Congressman Henry C. Smith, whose committeeman in this county refused to sign the petition. The letter states that Mr. Carson wished the signs "We want free rural mail delivery," put up on the route, left up until he returns. The congressman spoke very encouragingly of the prospects of securing the free rural delivery. The Argus, which heartily approves of the effort to secure free rural mail delivery around Ann Arbor, as well as Ypsilanti and Saline, would suggest that if any of these posters on the route have been obliterated, they should be replaced, so that the proper impression may be made on anyone looking over the route.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH

HE HAD BEEN WORKING IN ANN ARBOR.

HIS ROOM CAUGHT FIRE FROM A LAMP MONDAY MORNING.

Arthur Sellick, a 13 year old boy who has been engaged in carrying water to the men engaged on the Ann Arbor storm sewers for Hutzel & Co. was burned to death in Jackson Monday. He was boarding with his sister Mrs. A. Meyers. He was sleeping in a room with the lamp burning but turned low and was awakened, to find that his room all in a blaze. He managed to escape but was terribly burned all over his body and was taken to the hospital. The other members of the family managed to escape in their night clothes and some of the furniture in the lower part of the house was saved. The fire occurred at about 8 o'clock in the morning. The boy died at the city hospital at noon.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther I. W. Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Eberbach & Son, Ann Arbor and Geo. J. Haeussler, Manchester.

ATTEMPTED HOLD UP

An attempt was made to hold up Joe Pierce, a very quiet colored boy, who takes care of Dr. C. G. Darling's horses about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on E. Ann st. in front of Collins' saloon. He was going in to look for a man when a well known Ann st. young man asked him for 10 cents. He refused to give the money saying he had none. One fellow drew a knife and another struck him in the face while a third tried to hold him. Joe tore himself away. Under Sheriff Gillen and Officer Isbell came up just after the blow was struck.

FOUGHT EACH OTHER

Two Old Soldiers Meet After Many Days.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

Discover That They Were
College Chums Before
the War.

Two old war veterans got together in Judge Newkirk's office this morning. They were on opposite sides in the civil war. They had been college chums previous to the war, but had failed to recognize each other on meeting.

The estate of Elizabeth Baldwin was under discussion. Col. Bradley M. Thompson was on one side of a table, and Eugene Baldwin, of Mississippi, sat on the other. Mr. Baldwin happened to mention the civil war. Col. Thompson asked if he had been in the war.

"Yes," said Baldwin, "on the confederate side."

Then they began talking about the war, and soon found they were both at the battle of Gettysburg. Baldwin spoke of being at Hagerstown and seeing some Yankee cavalry soldiers in the streets who lit out when they got after them.

"I was one of those Yanks," said Thompson, "I was in command of the skirmish line and I sized up your men, and decided you were too many for us, and told our men we had better get out."

After a little further discussion, Col. Thompson suddenly exclaimed: "What's your first name?"

"Eugene."

"Were you ever in the university?"

"Yes, in 1860."

"Why, are you Eugene Baldwin, that little round-faced fellow? Why, we were in the same class."

"Your first name is not Bradley, is it?"

And the two old soldiers fell to shaking hands and telling about the whereabouts of old college chums, and when last seen were deeply engaged in reminiscences.

JOSEPH KING

MARRIES

The Jackson Morning Patriot contains the following notice of the marriage on Monday of our townsman Joseph King, of the Chicago Shoe House:

"Yesterday afternoon at St. John's parsonage, Joseph King, of Ypsilanti, and Joanna Hicks, of this city, were quietly married, Rev. Fr. Schenkelberg officiating. An enjoyable dinner was served at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Keenan, on State st., after which the happy couple took the evening train for Boston. They will return to Ypsilanti about September 20. Mr. King is well known among shoe dealers throughout the state. He is highly respected in Ypsilanti, where he has resided for the past 12 years. Mrs. King has hosts of friends in this city who extend their best wishes and hopes for her future happiness."

Information relative to the marriage was on the streets last evening but too late for publication. The Argus extends congratulations.

FR. GOLDRICK'S BIG PICNIC

Rev. Fr. Goldrick's annual picnic held at Mead's grove in Ann Arbor township Monday well attended, and proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The grove is a good place to hold picnics and a good class of people gathered at this one and a happy let they were too. Attorney Griffin, of Toledo, presiding over the speaking exercises, and excellent speeches replete with witty or humorous stories were made by M. J. Cavanaugh, W. W. Weede-meyer, Rev. Fr. Kennedy and Rev. L. P. Goldrick. Rev. Mr. Goldrick dwelt especially upon good fellowship. The colored men's jubilee quartet sang a number of songs which pleased the people. There was dancing and gettar rooting and more than all there was the dinner, the big hearty wholesome dinner, where 50 cents worth of food was sold for 25 cents. The main part of picnic is the visiting, and they were a congenial set of people visiting yesterday. Everybody had a good time and that is what picnics are for.

Miss Francis Caspary sang so sweetly that she was vociferously recalled. The receipts of the picnic were $300. The only thing that was at all disappointing about the picnic was the rather small number of Ann Arbor people present, the Northfield church having given up its Whitmore Lake picnic for the benefit of the new St. Thomas church. However those Ann Arborites who were present had such royal good time that they will attend next year.
