There is a strong probability of work on the line between Ann Arbor and Jackson being started this fall.

Thomas D. Kearney was in Detroit vesterday on this business and is greatly encouraged by men who want Mr. Kearney today:

"I think you can state that if the material can be procured the road will be built from Ann Arbor to Dexter this fall. We desire to get the road started. We will go ahead and make a complete organization this winter and arrange for the entire construction 5,000 MARRIAGE of the line early in the spring. All the contracts for the equipment of the road will be let. It is necessary to do this so that the material can be had by next spring. We do not intend to be delayed on account of not placing our orders early enough.'

When they finally moved beyond the Vaal river, they thought they were safe from the English. The country was a savage infested wilderness. But somebody discovered gold and diamonds in the Boer territory. Then the English moved in and began to work the mines. The Boers are not miners. The golden rocks of the Rand would remain uncrushed forever if they had their way. They wish only to till their farms, raise their stock and read their Bibles.

But the glitter of gold and the glint of diamonds attracted more and more sons of Britain. Men of other countries came too. There were some Germans and a few Americans. The Boers call them all uitlanders, or outlanders. It is an expressive name.

Finally the uitlanders became more numerous than the Boers. There are 100,000 are English. But this little handful of, say, 90,-000 Boers has retained absolute sway in the territory which was wrested from the savages. For all practical purposes only native Boers have full rights of franchise. They make the laws, levy the taxes and grip with jealous hands the reins of government.

Toward the uitlanders the Boer attitude has been aggressive, autocratic and possibly oppressive. It depends on the point of view. The British miners have had to pay handsomely for the privilege of taking out the treasures which the Boers themselves neglected. They have been heavily taxed. They have been bled by government monopolies.

True, they have prospered and grown enormously rich in spite of it all. But of the country now known as the so have the Boers, and it is the Eng-Transvaal republic if we leave out of lish who have done the work. Year

> Should the request for a five year franchise be granted the Boers would find themselves speedily legislated out of existence. Such a concession would hand over the control of the government to the uitlanders. Do you wonder they object?

Still, there remain the grievances of the uitlanders. Some of them deserve to be classed as outlaws, it is true, for blacklegs from the four quarters of the earth can be found in the streets of Johannesburg. Yet the majority are not of this description.

The first hordes of immigrants were naturally enough composed in part of gamblers and adventurers, but these were soon succeeded by earnest, practical workers, by men of brawn and brains. They worked the mineral wealth of the country; they spent their savings in opening out mines, in putting up the finest machinery, in costly experiments of every kind; they collected the cleverest engineers and managers, assayers and chemists from all the mining centers of the world; they redeemed the land from desolation; they built the towns; they constructed the railroads; they established the compended a goodly fraction of the recoming unrest.

According to the malcontents, it has become a habit with the Boer to hold one hand on the throat of the uitlander and the other on his family Bible.

Then the uitlanders have no voice in educational matters. Their children are taught only the crude Boer patois in the public schools. They are denied the freedom of the press and, in certain ways, even freedom of speech, for it is criminal to hold public meetings. They have no power in the municipal government of Johannesburg, and when they appear for trial they do so before juries of Dutch burghers.

The original Webster gives the pronunciation as rowt, with an admission of terfere in the internal affairs of the root. We have adopted root because government, the London conventions of a French leaning. The word rut, meaning a deep track in a roadway, cut by the rim of a wheel, is simply a contraction of route and rout. The Century dictionary says root or rowt, preference for root. We also say, rootine for routine; why not, therefore, root for route? Rowtine would sound

Those people who are groaning unassertion that the tariff is the mother Hongkong. of this pestilent brood.

The new commander of the G. A. R.. Albert A. Shaw announces that he is on the war path for higher pensions. What if the pension roll is large, he becomes too heavy then bonds should be issued so made that only the interest would be paid from year to year. He thinks it would be altogether proper for posterity to be saddled with the debt. More and higher pensions! Why not? With present legislation in full operation, can there be more than one side to this question?

Yesterday's proceedings of the Trust Conference indicate that there is to be a fight to a finish between the champions of the great evil and its opponents. The meet is apparently to be handled somewhat after the style of a political convention. There are students of the question in attendance ing the nose of the trust "hog." who are able to throw much light on this important question, if the discussion can be conducted in a way to give enlightenment to the public; but if the conference is to be a purely partisan

This hold-up of the Tartar may prove a valuable lesson to the Washington authorities. It is said there has been gross overcrowding of transports throughout the war, and it is remarkable that no calamity has resulted. But if a calamity should result from such carelessness, somebody would have a fearful accountability. BRYAN'S GREAT SPEECH.

William Jennings Bryan's great speech before the Chicago Trust Conference was not only the clearsays. He declares that if the burden est exposition of the character of these "men-made men," but the most vigorous in the action proposed against the monopolistic combinations. It was remarkable for its vivid word pictures and the power of conviction which it carried with it. It was not wholly free from campaign material, but it should be remembered that the conference was by no means simply a body of inquirers. Nevertheless, it was a masterful effort, and clearly and forcibly set forth the great evils of the trusts and the necessity of ring-

Because of the dual form of our government there should be federal legislation for suppressing corporation which may be deemed conducive to the welfare of the peo ple, and likewise the power to prohibit or destroy any corporation which is destructive of their best interests. These powers to restrict and control trusts, coupled with a provision for publicity, so that the public will know just what the corporations are doing and what they are making, the speaker believed, would bring them under proper responsibility to the power which creclared, have the absolute right to do these things, because the corporations are created by the public for the public good, and should never be permitted to do what is injurious and hurtful to the public.

While his remedy might prove in adequate, Mr. Bryan had the advantage of the other speakers in that he not only pointed out the evils of transportation than American law. All trust organizations, but proposed a Former Ann Arbor Man In Astronomy.

NORTH STAR IS 3 STARS

Prof. W. W. Campbell Has Established this Without a Doubt.

One of the most curious discoveries of astronomical science has just been made by Prof. W. W. Campbell, son of William Campbell, of Pittsfield. Prof. Campbell graduated from the U. of M. in 1886 and was for a time instructor in astronomy at the university here. He afterwards was made director of the Lick Observatory of California and it was with that telescope that he has made a discovery that makes his fame everlasting.

His discovery is that the North Star is not one star, but three.

This star, which is 5,000,000,000 miles away from the earth, has been one of the most familiar objects in the firmament since the beginning of creation, and yet its true nature was not even suspected until the other day. The North Star is one of the most brilliantly beautiful in color and is the star which the children are first taught to distinguish. It points constantly to the North Pole of the earth and has been of more aid to navigators and travelers in unknown regions than any other celestial body which illuminates the night

It was by means of the spectroscope attached to the great thirty-six-inch refracting telescope at the Lick Observatory that the existence of two companions of the North Star was discovered the other day Only, one star is visible to the eye, even with the greatest telescopes, but the spectroscope reveals the existence of two others with mathematical accuracy. The spectroscope is an instrument which seperates light into its component colors. When the light from the North Star was examined in the spectroscope attached to the Lick telescope the other day changes in the lines of color were observed which could only be accounted for by the fact that there were other bodies present. From this point it was only a matter of mathematics to calculate their number, position and movements.

The North Star, which is called by astronomers Polaris, is really a great sun. It is accompanied by two invisible stars just discovered by the spectroscope One of these revolves about the other and the two revolve about Polaris, just as the earth and moon do around the sun It is calculated that it requires four years for the two invisible bodies to revolve around Polaris. Thus year there is four times longer than ours. The bright Polaris revolves on its axis once in four years.

Polaris is approaching the solar system at a varying rate which has reach ed as high as 16 miles a second. The variation is due to the attraction of the two bodies upon the third This was another fact which proved to the astronomers the right nature of the moted by Thos, Muir & Son, of Detroit, me of the trouble.

"The water franchises at Pikes Peak have been secured and the compressed air plant of the road will be located there. The farmers along the proposed line have granted rights of way sufficiently wide for a 100-foot boulevard from Detroit to Ann Arbor. Thos. Muir said today:

"Most of the stock has been subscribed for and the road is sure to be a success. It will run through a territory not touched by either the present Ann Arbor line or the line that runs to Northfield. We will cut right in between these two roads. Compressed air is proving so succesful in the east that there is no reason why Z Two prominent Dexter men lave it should not be put into operation entered into a bitter legal fight. here. It is cheaper and more effective than electricity.

"The proposed line will secure entrance to the city for its cars over the Detroit-Citizens' lines.

The prospectus which the promoter ssued was given in Wednesday's Argus, excepting the estimates of the The cost of construction is given as the route between Detroit and Ann Arbor, which according to report of the Asst. Postmaster General, should yield a revenue of $20 80 for carrying but one mail per day. The milk traffic alone will average at least 500 cans and should give the company $75, besides revenue from other light freight probably aggregating $100 daily. The passenger rates will range from five cents to 40 cents and taking an average of 1,250 passengers daily at 20 cents, this traffic should yield $250 figures are trabulated as These

The prospectus in figuring out the eciepts says:

The expenses per day are tabulated as follows:

ral maintenance of rolling stock and power house.

Interest ou bonds $570.000 @ 5 per cent. $165.00

"This leaves a margain of $200 from daily revenues (after providing for operating expenses, interest on bonds taxes, etc.) which would provide a surplus of $73,000 yearly for dividends en stock, sinking fund, enlargement of plant or extension of system.

STATE TAXES FOR 1899

Is a Record Breaker As Well As a Pocket Book Breaker.

Lansing. Mich., Sept. 15.-Auditor General Dix to day completed the apportionment of the state taxes of Mich igan for the year 1899, the total of FIRE INSURANCE. which is $3,725,835.01 and constitutes the largest levy for state purposes in the history of Michigan. The taxes for 1899 are more than the taxes for two years of Gov. Winans' administration, and are nearly 40 per cent higher than for the past several years.

The amount of state taxes apportioned to the several counties of the state show that there are only four counties which will be obliged to pay more than Washtenaw. They are as Michigan F. & M., Detroit 287,608.00 follows: Wayne, $691,155.71; Kent, $177,003.29; Houghton, $143.288.38; Saginaw, $121,373.69. Washtenaw's share is established at $104,516.23 Neither Jackson, Oakland or Lenawee have to contribute as much as this county.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill. makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of con-sumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and weil; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Eberbach & Son, Ann Arbor and Geo. J. Haeussler, Manchester, Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

Remarkable Surgical Case.

Kansas can add to the surgical records another instance of a person who has recovered after being shot through the brain. Three months ago Miss Mattie Stone of Crawford county fired a bullet into her head with suicidal intent. Last week the surgeons lifted her skull and removed the bullet, which had passed through one lobe of the brain. She will recover.

board in the county will meet and take action on the committee's report at the earliest possible date, and I cannot urge too strongly that the list as recommended by your committee be accepted. I would not advise a complete and immediate change in all books, but an immediate adoption of stipation; invigorates the whole systhe list. Then, as rapidly as new tem. classes are formed in the different subjects, take up the work with the new books. Pupils are frequently moving from district to district and as the same books are not now used in any two schools, these frequent changes necessitate the buying of new books at every move. If the same books are used in every district a pupil may pass from district in the county without chang- permanently. At any drug store, 50c rank of the schools of Michigan. You may be visited by agents of one book concern or another who will endeavor to deteat this move toward uniformity and modern books by securing the adoption of some of their books not included in the above list. These concerns all had an opportunity to be heard before the committee, and whether they took advantage of the opportunity or not, their books were examined on their merits, and you are respectfully urged to follow the recommendation of the committee rather than the suggestion of an interested agent. These men are working for their own interests, not for yours. Have nothing to do with any agent of any company.

Urging your early and favorable action on the committee's recommendation, I remain, Yours for good schools, W N. LISTER. Commissioner. If you are not now a member of the school board please hand to your successor, as the matter is urgent.

Mack's Milinery Opening. Next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28, 29, 30. The third fall opening of this department gives promise of out-doing very greatly, all our former similar events. Since the splendid success this department has proven, encouraged us to much larger purchase and greater expenditure than we felt warranted making heretofore. Securing the best talent as a trimmer in the person of Miss Idella Mitchell of New York, our patrons are assured of the most artistic and latest fashionable headwear from her hands. Miss Hintz, who is in this department is also just back from New York, after five weeks spent with the largest millinery houses, bringing with her all the latest fads in milinery.
