

THE BIG FAIR IN FULL BLAST

All Departments Crowded with Exhibits.

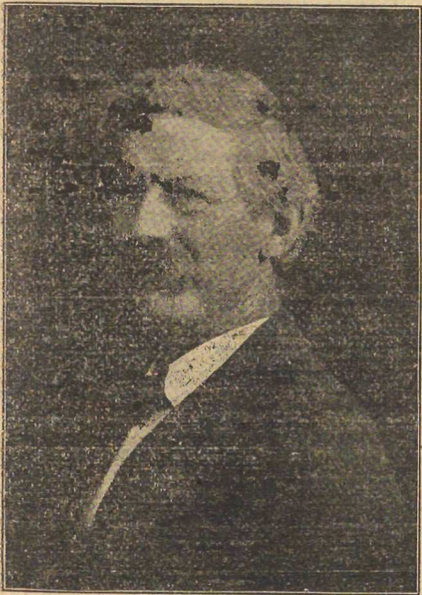

IT'S SCHOOL DAY TODAY

Big Crowds Expected Tomorrow—They will Get Their Money's Worth.

The Washtenaw Fair opened Tuesday with greater prospects for success than in many a previous year.

The stalls were all full. There were not enough to go around. Henry Waldron the well known Percheron breeder has entered 54 horses.

Washtenaw county is noted for its fine sheep. The exhibit this year is good. The exhibit of Thomas Birketts Angora goats is in a special pen.

The improvement in the breed and variety of chickens is well shown in the large exhibit. Here are specimens of all varieties found.

Floral hall will this year be finer than ever. Here the richness of the fruit and vegetable productions of Washtenaw county can be judged.

Three granges have taken specials in Floral hall. Stoney Creek, No. 50, Fraternity of Augusta and Ypsilanti have all fine exhibits.

In this same building will be found the exhibits of the school children, which of course interest all parents.

The main hall is fully occupied this year. It is particularly gratifying the interest taken in this by the Ann Arbor merchants.

BOOM STARTED FOR A INSANE ASYLUM HERE

The Washtenaw County Medical Society Held A Very Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night.

CITIZENS WILL ADOPT APPROPRIATE RESOLUTIONS

The State Board of Corrections and Charities Have Given Assurance that Ann Arbor's Claims Will Received Their Hearty Support.

The Washtenaw County Medical Society meeting at the pathological laboratory last night was attended by about 40 physicians.

The interest of the occasion was centered upon the matter of the establishment of a state asylum for the insane, the same to be located at Ann Arbor.

The boom for the institution was formally launched and those who are agitating the subject feel confident that success is in sight, even if it is in the dim future.

Dr. James Breakey opened up the discussion with an exhaustive paper upon "Future Provision for the Care of the Insane of Michigan."

He is an authority on the subject, and showed by statistics the crowded conditions of the asylums, and the recommendations he advanced carried great weight.

He did not favor either of the plans of Judge Newkirk for a county asylum or that of Dr. Herdman for a detention hospital. He took exceptions to Judge Newkirk's plan, as it was shown that in Wisconsin, where they have county asylums, the management is very lax.

The only relief is for a new state asylum to be under the same control as the present asylums.

He then set forth what claims Ann Arbor would present if the legislature should decide to establish another asylum. They were:

- 1. The land and farming facilities about Ann Arbor.
2. Ann Arbor is accessible.
3. The benefit to the medical training of the students of the university...

Great applause followed his paper. Judge Newkirk was called upon and said that he desired to correct an impression gathered by Dr. Breakey.

He did not want a county asylum, but a place for detention of the county's insane until places could be found in the asylums. He pictured the terrible conditions in Washtenaw where the insane are thrown in with the worst criminals.

modern and tasty in wall papers. Their exhibit has that warmth of color that is very pleasant to the eye.

The doll exhibit for the prizes given by E. V. Hangsterfer will please the little folks. It is also of interest to older people. Walker & Co. have a fine bicycle exhibit.

Dr. Dell Tuesday arrived with his coach and four shetland ponies. The rest of his herd are also on the ground.

als in the worst jail in the state. "Any way that you can provide for the insane will satisfy me and every other humane man," said he.

Dr. Darling said that he was sure if everyone would go to the jail and see the picture there they would all be in favor of doing something for the situation.

Dr. Breakey, Sr., indorsed the recommendations of the paper in some well chosen words.

Dr. George arose. Said he eloquently: "I hope no voice will be raised in this discussion favoring any plan where county politics can play a hand in the management of those afflicted."

Judge Newkirk said that Dr. Worden, of the state board of corrections and charities, had remarked that the board would back up the movement.

Dr. Lombard: "By all means work for it."

Dr. Carrow did not think that the Medical Association would ever succeed in establishing an asylum at Ann Arbor. As soon as the thing was proposed, the heads of the present four institutions in the state would strenuously oppose it.

Dr. Wessinger said it was wrong and wicked to treat the insane in the way they are now being treated in jails. "If it depends on Judge Newkirk to carry it out," said he, "let us stand by him. I will stand firmly by any movement that will establish an asylum here."

Dr. Benn, of Ypsilanti, wanted the matter agitated by the newspapers.

The society refrained from any authoritative action on its part, but appointed a committee, consisting of Judge Newkirk, Drs. Darling, Breakey, Wessinger and Spitzley, to call a meeting of citizens to draft appropriate resolutions to be forwarded to the state board of corrections and charities, which body is said to be most favorable to the establishment of an asylum in this city.

Walker Bros. show some beautiful lap robes and blankets. They also have a building filled with 19 carriages buggies and phaetons.

The cake walk under the direction Prof. Philip Robinson, of Detroit, was a success.

Among the exhibits of crops there are nine entries for the special prizes offered by the Ann Arbor Chicory Co. The roots are very fine and show that the soil in Washtenaw county is well adapted for their growth.

The 2:40 trot was declared off on account of there not being enough entries. In the 3 minute trot there were five entries, but only three started, Joseph Sprague and Roger B were drawn. J. O. K. won.

J. O. K. b. g. J. O'Kane 1 1 1, James B b. s. J. H. Anderson 2 2 2, Superior Wilkes b. s. Dr. E. B. Smith 3 3 3. Time 2:47, 2:26, 2:58.

There was a great big crowd at the fair grounds today, and everybody was having a good time. While the officers would not state that the crowd was as large as last year, the gatekeepers were unnaïms that it was the biggest crowd that had been on the grounds in years.

The street cars were crowded to their fullest capacity, running all their cars. One car carried 100, and there were a number of others which seemed as crowded. At 4 o'clock a tally-ho was expected with all the bankers and bank clerks in the city. Cashier Belser pays their entrance.

The following officers were nominated for next year: For President Wm. Campbell, of Ypsilanti; vice president, B. D. Kelly, of Ypsilanti; secretary, F. E. Mills, of Ann Arbor; treasurer, F. H. Belser, of Ann Arbor; Board of managers: H. S. Dean, E. J. Helber, Geo. Phelps, Fred Schmid, Harris Ball, F. B. Braun, A. R. Graves, Jobb Keppler, Fred Chapin, Wm. Clements, G. A. English, H. J. McMichael, F. J. Fletcher, R. Mills, Wm. Apiril, H. P. Glover, T. Walker, Ben D. Geer, E. E. Leland, O. C. Burkhart, A. C. Schumacher, C. A. Morris, W. E. Boyden.

THREE YEARS IN JACKSON

ARTHUR STARR, ALIAS GUNONG WAS SENTENCED.

His Mother Made A Plea For A Light Sentence to the Court.

The trial of Arthur Stark, alias Gunong, who has been in jail for six months awaiting the scene of today, is at last over.

He was charged with attempt at rape upon Miss Edna Reade, a young school teacher of Lima, who bears an irreproachable reputation.

Miss Reade was put upon the stand and told her story in a straightforward, decisive and altogether modest manner. While boarding at the home of A. J. Easton, Stark came there and hired out for the summer as a farm hand. Shortly after midnight on Saturday morning, April 21, Stark entered her room in a nude condition. She awoke and started to scream. Stark grabbed her by the throat and threatened to choke her to death if she made an outcry.

Stark left the room, and she went down stairs as soon as she could dress herself and told Mrs. Easton what had occurred. She told Mrs. Easton that she wanted to see her parents. They came Sunday, and she went home with them. Monday she was so sick that she could not leave the house, and Tuesday she made the complaint against Stark.

Attorney Stivers tried, on cross-examination, to make it appear that she did not strenuously resist the advances, but he failed to shake her testimony at all. On cross-examination it was brought out very forcibly that Mr. and Mrs. Easton slept down stairs and in an entirely different part of the house, so that the noise in Miss Reade's room would not be likely to be heard.

Mrs. Easton swore that Miss Reade and Arthur Stark had nothing but a speaking acquaintance, that there was no signs of any familiarity between them, and that this had never occurred before.

Mr. Easton learned of it after breakfast and discharged Stark, who left Saturday afternoon.

Attorney Stivers asked for a recess. He surprised everybody by announcing that the defense would offer no testimony.

The jury went out at 1:45 p. m., and after an hour and a half's deliberation returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy to the court. The defendant's mother made a plea for the boy on account of insanity in the family, his father being now confined in an asylum. But Judge Kinne said he must protect society, and sentenced him to three years in the state's prison at Jackson.

BAD ACCIDENT TO CHARLES MILLS

IT HAPPENED ON LODI ROAD YESTERDAY.

His Head was Badly Cut and His Shoulder Was Dislocated.

Charles Mills, who lives about three miles south on the Lodi road, met with a bad accident yesterday afternoon. He and his hired man took a team out to haul in some corn. Just after driving out of the yard a small spaniel dog ran in under the horses. One of the horses kicked at the dog, and in doing so a tug strap broke. Then the horses started to run. The tongue of the wagon dropped and both occupants of the wagon were thrown out. Mr. Mills was pitched over and struck on his head and shoulders. His head was badly cut and his shoulder dislocated. He was unconscious for some time.
