There was great excitement over the taking of cuancea. The two young ladies were supported by (heir respective friends, and almost every chance was placed in the name of one or the other of them. Old Uncle Tunis Wood, who lives near Centerville, was passing Brother Davy's house about nine o'clock on the night of the sociable. He heard the sounds of merriment within. He knew it was public gathering, and the purpose of it. He went in.

I nele Tunis was unrounded by the young ladies and their friends at once. Kach besouRht him to buy a chance for her.

Tom Corwin and his Son-in-Law At the marriage of his eldest daughter, Eva, to Mr (ie irge H. Sai<e, a young lawyer of Cincinnati, Corwin manifested so much feeling that the occasion took more of the aspect of a funeral than of a wedding. During the ceremony he shed tears, and at the supper, after a prolonged and s Jemo silcuce, he suddenly broke ovit: Now, I want it distinctly understood that this thing is never going to happen again in this house. There will never be another we Iding here. I will get a nigger  $si \in tal^1$ , and give him a pole ten fret ong, and post him at the front door, and instruct him to knock any young man on the head who comes to see my daughters." General Garfield relates that, shortly before Corwin's death, when he returned to Waobiogtea from a flying visit to Lebanon to attend the marriage of his youngest daughter, he referred to this marriage of Eva, and said that he shut himself up in his room for three or four days before it occurred and oould not be persuaded to take any part in the preparations, and only on the most earnest solicitation did he come down to witness the ceremony. THE NOMINKKS FOU REGISRT8.

The nomination of the two eminent gentlemen, by the state convention for regents of the university. Hon, James F. Joy, and Hon. Austin Hlair, is in every sense a fitting expression of the good sense, sound judgment, and intelligence of the representative men of the republican party of Michigan, a more sterling and nble body of whom were never MemUed logether.

The gen emen selected arcin all respecta worthy to be the choice of such a convention, eminently worthy of the high position and of the parly, which is fortunate to number such men among the brilliant array of gifted members. When the interests of the university are intrusted to such men whose names are the synonyms of honor, integrity and incorruptibility, its true friends feel assured of its welfare in the future. The nominations are gratifying to all such friends, who are more than Mtiafied. They could not be bettered.

Let those laugh who win.

Everything is well that ends well.

Washtenaw County, with possibly the exception of one delegate, voted mini i w rji tfme for Joy and Blair, for regent.".

Without effort or organization one hun dred and sixty three votes were cast in opposition to Supreme Judge M»rston, had there been attempted any concert of action that would have expressed the prevailing feeling and sentiment of the convention, he would not have been re nominated, this applies also to several of the delegations who seconded this nomination, there being no one else in the field for whom tliey could give their votes.

Whoever may claim to have uominaicd their candidates for regents, it certainly
