

CAN NOT AFFORD IT.

The papers of last Tuesday brought a statement from Washington to the effect that President Garfield intended to ask Attorney General MacVeagh to resign his seat in the cabinet.

President Garfield can not afford to take such a step at this time. It would be fatal to the republican party. We know what a powerful influence is brought to bear upon him, and how desperately the rogues will fight to have the matter hushed up, and such men as Attorney General MacVeagh and Postmaster General James crushed.

It is an herculean task to crush out thieves and rascals after they have secured a footing, as experience has shown even in our own state, but the thing must be done.

GROWTH OF MORMONISM.

If Prof. Coyner of the Salt Lake college institute, speaks the truth, and we certainly have no reason to doubt him, the sooner the government takes hold of the throats of Mormonism, and shuts off its head, the better for this nation.

It is difficult for people in the east to realize how rapid is the spread of Mormonism. It keeps in the field from six to eight hundred missionaries and spends nearly a million dollars yearly to win proselytes in distant countries.

Let the good work go on, and the people of the nation will stand by the president and his lieutenants in the fight.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Last Monday morning another death was caused near this city by the Grand Rapids express. This train which is due at this station at 11:20 from the west, ran over and instantly killed Oliver Bird, just at the curve, some rods west of the Toledo & Ann Arbor junction.

The estate left by Mr. Bird consists of a farm unencumbered, valued at $5,000, and in his body was found a certificate of deposit in the Ann Arbor savings bank for $340, and $19.50 in cash.

The jury summoned by Coroner Clark, held their sitting at the depot on the body of the deceased at 10 o'clock and the following verdict was rendered: "That Oliver Bird came to his death by being accidentally killed on the Michigan Central railroad, between the first mile post west of Ann Arbor and the depot, by being struck by engine No. 9.

The body when struck was thrown into the air some ten or fifteen feet, falling in the ditch at the side of the track. Many of our citizens seem to think that the deceased took this method of committing suicide.

High School Alumni.

The alumni of the high school held their fifth annual reunion last Friday evening, June 24, in the hall of the high school building.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

The past week has been a very busy one for this city. The exercises of commencement week mark one of the most important events in the year's circle for our people.

The baccalaureate address, delivered by Rev. B. F. Coker, last Sabbath afternoon, it is needless to say, was a fine effort, and that university hall was crowded with people to hear it.

Field-day, which was changed from Wednesday to Monday, was given up entirely, because of the unpleasant weather.

The exercises of class-day, Tuesday, were of unusual merit. At 10 a. m. an oration was delivered by C. A. Towne, upon the subject of "civil service reform."

The effort was one of rare excellence and reflected much credit upon the speaker. It was followed by the class poem, delivered by I. R. Crosscut.

The class history, by Allan H. Frazer, recited many deeds and spread over a good deal of territory for a class which has always been noted for its extreme quietness, good morals and piety.

Miss Nellie Stanley then read the class prophecy, which ingeniously wove in the members of the class as viewed through the horoscope.

The farewell address by the class president, Wetmore Hunt, closed the morning exercises. The last paper and the class poem will be found upon the first side of this issue.

In the evening the class reception in university hall, and the dancing in the tent closed a well-spent day in an enjoyable manner.

Wednesday was alumni day, and the time was all taken up with business meetings, orations, poems, and receptions. It was one of the busiest and happiest days of the entire week.

The classes of '61, '71, '75, and '78 each held a reunion, and hundreds belonging to other classes were present. Never before has there been so large an attendance of alumni.

Thursday witnessed the thirty-seventh annual commencement of the university.

The Rev. J. P. Newman, D. D., of New York City, after which the graduates of the literary, medical and pharmacy departments were presented with diplomas.

STATISTICS OF THE CLASS OF EIGHTY-ONE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

This closed one of the most successful commencements ever held in Ann Arbor. A table of statistics in regard to the graduating class of the literary department will be found at the top of this page.

We wonder if the Jay professors of law and two or three of his bosom friends in the medical staff would not like to relieve the entire medical graduating class of their diplomas for their unimpaired expression to and sympathy for Dr. Rose.

NOTES EDITORIAL.

The excess of exports of merchandise over imports, for the year ending May 31st, last, was $266,733,866, against $162,270,801 for the year previous.

The city of St. Louis has had a law enacted for its benefit, which declares the keeping of gambling establishments felony, and the same have all been closed up.

They hang for murder in Arkansas, yet one day's paper the past week brought intelligence of three deliberate murders in that state, while scarcely a week passes but one or two events of the kind are given to the public from that locality.

The same day's paper, spoken of above, also told of two murders, both premeditated and in cold blood, in Pennsylvania, and yet capital punishment is the penalty for murder in that state also.

Let's have the record all around, and see what is the best law to prevent the taking of human life.

The ending of the prisoners' reunion was a sad affair for one who took part in its festivities. One Clarence J. Davis, or as he afterwards gave his name, "De Biel," was heard drinking on that day and went to the place where he lived, in Detroit, with a brother-in-law, named Alonzo Barrett, and with a club struck him on the head so that death soon resulted.

Barrett lived alone with three children, having parted with his wife some time previous. The cause of the trouble is shrouded in mystery, but probably grew out of some attentions paid by Davis to Barrett's oldest girl who is about fifteen. Davis gave himself up.

It is difficult for people in the east to realize how rapid is the spread of Mormonism. It keeps in the field from six to eight hundred missionaries and spends nearly a million dollars yearly to win proselytes in distant countries.

Let the good work go on, and the people of the nation will stand by the president and his lieutenants in the fight.

ANN ARBOR HIGH SCHOOL.

Exercises of the Graduating Class at the M. E. Church.

Another school year has been completed, and the class of '81 has stepped out of the high school halls, 55 strong, some to enter the university, some to take upon themselves the business and duties of life, but never again, probably, to be all united in the same joyful sojourn.

It is of no account, as a professional school, what the school will have been known by, which has been knitted by sacred communion with each other in the blessed school days, have been sundered by separation; and contact with the world and its realities will have changed this one, taken the peculiar tints out of that one, and rounded off the sharp corners of another, so that the same happy state of society could never again be cemented and dovetailed together as it has in the past. But we moralize, which will never do, our duty being simply to report proceedings.

To start off with we will say that a pleasant day for an occasion of the kind never smiled upon the people of this city, than was last Friday.

The day was cool, the sky was cool, the heavens clear, and all nature hushed in blissful stillness. The M. E. Church, where the exercises were held, was filled full, and chairs were carried in the side aisles to some extent. The youth and beauty, as we have previously remarked somewhere, were there, together with several of the fond mamma's and occasionally the "old man," the "Guv.," you know, who furnishes the money to buy the graduating outfit, together with a handsome bouquet, and as is very often the case has to come down aroundly to help foot the school expenses. Though there wasn't a lot of that class present as ought to have been.

The church was tastily trimmed, the motto of the class "Per Augustam ad Augustam" was suspended upon invisible wires in front of the organ and over the orchestra, with the figures '81 directly under it. There being no table for reporters, and having a seat to one side under the gallery, with his hat for a stand, your reporter labored under disadvantages, not being able to hear distinctly all that was said by the speakers.

The first prayer by Rev. R. H. Steele, the first speaker announced was Nathan D. Corbin, of Ann Arbor, with "The Incoherence" for his subject. He said this was an address, and he considered the revelations of history and doubt it. He said that nations sometimes rise in great waves and cast about for a new center of gravity, and found it among the men who take hold of the people of Holland, ground down by oppressions, had risen up against the evil; and how some, more than others, had been called upon to do this. He said that the day completely destroyed the works of the master, and that the people of Holland, ground down by oppressions, had risen up against the evil; and how some, more than others, had been called upon to do this.

Political opinions predict the entire overthrow of our country because of a few corrupt men may be found in our midst. He said that the day completely destroyed the works of the master, and that the people of Holland, ground down by oppressions, had risen up against the evil; and how some, more than others, had been called upon to do this.

The Ann Arbor Courier

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1881. FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Dr. Breakey and daughter, May, started for their home in Ann Arbor on Tuesday.

People say they went to practice what they preached. But suppose a man preaches love or incendiarism?

There were 60,000 pounds of wool purchased by four buyers in this city on Thursday and Friday.

Governor Jerome let the Callaghan bill, which would have made the railroad bill unconstitutional.

It is to be hoped that the successor to Bentley in the pension department at Washington will stand as firmly between the legal shyster and those entitled to pensions as he did.

Taking of a stable floor last week, preparatory to the removal of his barn, Eljah Gibbs, residing near Caro, with the assistance of his hired man and dog, killed 99 grown rats.

E. C. Russell, of this city, sheared this spring, 1,761 pounds of wool from 209 sheep, and sold it last week to George Lane for 35 cents per pound.

The legislature in making provisions to erect another insane asylum did a wise thing. There are two now in the state and both are so full that it is almost impossible to get any insane person taken care of.

Strawberries are beginning to ripen, and do not care how many samples our readers leave at this office; they are more preferable to corn stalks, having a richer flavor and lay easier on the stomach.

The hired lawyer of Wm. H. Vanderbilt for senator of New York, that sounds bad. This backer is the richest man in the world.

Geo. M. Dewey, of Hastings, has been to Washington, and comes back serene in the belief that he is to be appointed secretary of the territory of New Mexico.

Wool is coming in rapidly, prices ranging from 34 to 39 cents. Farmers have drawn their wool for 25 miles or more to reach the market.

Ex-Secretary Schurz, in Saturday Evening Post, warmly indorses the honesty, capability and exceeding brilliant command of the office of Commissioner Bentley.

The Vicksburg Monitor says that town scarcely averages one drunken arrest in a year. Some of the Lansing chronicles, who are not so temperate, say that it is not there.

A thirteen pound pike came down Dowsagie river Thursday last, and weighed as it ran into the flume, at Warner & Co's machine works, and flopped out on land where it was picked up by one of the employes and sold to the Continental hotel.

Sharper has already begun to swindle Saginaw editors by selling them copies of the old style testament as samples of the new revision.

The wool market has fully opened in this village this week, and although the amount already marketed does not exceed the expectation of the buyers, yet about 10,000 pounds have been purchased at prices ranging from 30 to 35 cents per pound.

We endorse most heartily the Folly liquor bill recently passed in the Michigan legislature; only it is not stringent enough.

Robert Richardson, of Tuscola, informs us that he has just made a sale of two yearling calves, dropped April 1, 1881, and one yearling heifer, dropped April 1881, to parties living near Detroit.

Beautiful and fragrant, indeed, was the love home made sale of the late editor's wife last Monday afternoon by Mrs. James White and her return to our friend many thanks for her floral gift.

Probably what is written for the press in various individuals on different subjects, which find their way into the public eye, would be as interesting and mirth provoking as that which is given to the public.

The Gratiot Journal has reached its sixteenth year and is all published at home. It has long been a reliable paper and one of the best county papers in the state.

Our foreman is turning farmer. He turned out of his little bed Tuesday morning, walked nearly half a mile to his big bed, and there, not having had his breakfast, proceeded to eat, and did so, three hundred hills of potatoes, and then returned in time for breakfast.

The odor of some of the cigars that rest between the teeth of some of our regular smokers very strongly suggests that a new use has been made for the old shoes and scraps of leather heretofore thrown out by the makers of our shoes and hats.

The postmaster of Kalamazoo spends the most of his time in Colorado, and the citizens are beginning to think his salary of $3,000 should go to some man who will stay at home and oversee his business.

Wool and wheat. The wool market has been quite active during the past few days, the prices ranging from 33 to 36 cents Thursday and Friday, according to quantity, most of the wool being taken at 36 cents.

Adis' notes at 6 and 12 months, $1,500; Cash, $2,000; Grand total, $10,000.

In some things some editors are like some public speakers who have some where had the pleasure of hearing. For instance, when a lawyer says something which strikes them unusually good or irresistibly funny, they continue to repeat the paragraph from time until the whole community has heard it.

Andrew Covell left at the Herald office a copy of a Dakota note that his brother sent him from Scotland, Dakota. Among many of the obligations of the signer is one which sanctions the levying upon his property of clothes and food for the family for payment.

B. P. Anderson, of Ridgeway, was some time ago tipped over and hurt while crossing the Butter railroad. The thing has sort of rankled in his "beezum" ever since.

The matter in which the state legislature has arranged the new representative districts is being freely criticized in this paper.

Among the quotations of the price of wool in twenty odd towns of the state, we find none equal to the highest rate paid here.

No palatial hospital needed for Hop Bitters patients, nor large-salaried attendants to tell what Hop Bitters will do for you.

Mr. Joshua Webb, of Pennfield, has written a white oak sapling that has, for two or three feet above the surface of the ground, two separate and distinct trunks.

People are constantly changing their homes from East to West and from North to South or vice versa, in search of a healthy climate.

Hal Session, of Ionia, informs us that he devoted considerable of his time as an attorney for procuring a pardon for convicted in the Ionia prison, deeming it a proper case for executive clemency.
