

IN MEMORIAM.

At a meeting of the employees of the various printing offices of the city of Ann Arbor, held on Friday evening last, a committee of three, consisting of R. Shannon, J. B. Saunders and E. J. Morton, was appointed to draw up and present a series of resolutions at an adjourned meeting to be held Saturday evening. The following was the result, and were adopted by a unanimous vote:

WHEREAS, By the sudden and to us mysterious action of an all-wise and far-seeing Providence, we are called upon to mourn the loss of our former friend and employer, RICE A. BEAL, and

WHEREAS, We feel that in his removal his employees have lost a true and valued friend; the working class generally, an earnest watcher over their interests; the worthy needy a source of relief; the unfortunate a source of aid and comfort; a willing and generous contributor to the city, one of its most prominent and enterprising citizens; and the State, one whom we doubt not could have filled any position in the gift of its people, with honor to himself, State and the country in which we live; and

WHEREAS, The employees of the late deceased, together with our co-laborers, the printers, pressmen and book-binders of the city of Ann Arbor, in conference assembled, deem it a duty we owe to the memory of RICE A. BEAL, as one of the principal advocates of "The Art Preservative" in the county of Washtenaw, if not in the State of Michigan, that we as a body, give expression to our feelings of regret at his untimely and much lamented departure; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as employees of the various printing and binding establishments of the city of Ann Arbor, attend the funeral of the late RICE A. BEAL, in a body, on Sunday afternoon next; and be it

Resolved, That we extend to the family and relatives of the deceased, our sincere and heartfelt sympathies in this sad hour of bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions be published in the city papers; and also presented to the family of the deceased.

R. SHANNON, J. B. SAUNDERS, E. J. MORTON, Com.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ann Arbor Savings Bank convened by the request of its President, in consequence of the decease of our fellow-associate, Hon. Rice A. Beal, whose sudden demise we feel to be a personal loss, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the death of Rice A. Beal this Board of Directors loses a member upon whose sound judgment and wise counsel it has long been accustomed to rely. Rising as he did from poverty to affluence by his energy and unusual business ability, honorable and honest in all his financial dealings, he was eminently fitted for the position to which the stockholders of this Bank have unanimously elected him annually for the past ten years.

Resolved, That we extend our sympathies to the wife and family of our deceased associate, and as a last tribute to his memory this Board of Directors will attend his funeral in a body.

Resolved, That a copy of the above be presented to the family of the deceased, and that they also be published in the city papers.

ANN ARBOR'S HONORED LIST.

We print here below a list of those citizens of Ann Arbor who are on the pension roll of the government. The Nation never pays in money for the services of life and limb made by the boys who saved it, but it can make the burdens easier for them to bear. The names of some unworthy ones may have crept into this roll of honor, and in those cases it is for the interest of all to see that they are removed and that the government be not defrauded in this noble work.

TO ALL THE WORLD.

The Founts of Wisdom Opened Up Through America's Highest Intellectual Work—Appleton's Cyclopaedia.

Of all the desires which animate the heart of mankind none are more laudable than the insatiable thirst for knowledge. The fact that this western world "wants to know" all the time, everywhere and about everything, has led to the wonderful advance in the arts and sciences which so mark each year of the present century. This constant, ceaseless desire to probe the hidden mysteries of nature, this restless ambition to solve the deepest secret which ages have so zealously guarded, the never-ceasing ambition to penetrate that which has always been deemed impenetrable, to solve that which none heretofore dreamed of solving, tends to make us of to-day turn to each avenue of knowledge and to test all the sources from which information may be derived. To the earnest seeker after knowledge the necessity of some condensed and succinct record of that which is already imperative, and to none more than the student does the invaluable aid of such a complete and accurate encyclopedia appeal more strongly. Those who have the satisfaction of constant reference to "Appleton's" need no reminder that in this they have the highest attainable standard, that each and every article is sufficiently complete, and that its accuracy has never, and indeed can not be questioned. This work represents the work of years of study by the leading minds of the world, and covers every conceivable topic.

It is indeed difficult to conceive of any one who does not feel this daily need of the world's history, but its value is readily apparent to those who have in the household those "animated interrogation points."

By its aid any difficult question can be promptly and correctly answered, and it is doubtless a safe assertion that children growing up with daily opportunity of access to this tree of knowledge, will come to mature years with a degree of information not obtainable in any other way.

The terms upon which you can get this great work are so easy that it is within the reach of almost every person. The entire work, twenty-four volumes, comes to you within five days after giving the order. On receipt of it you are only asked to pay for two volumes. Once in a month some one will ask you to pay for one, this giving you time to pay for it, and in your possession all the time. No interest, no note, nothing that can in any way disturb your finances. It would seem that after subscribing for your home newspaper, your next duty would be to subscribe for Appleton's. If the matter should strike you in that form you will please send postal or call and see J. H. Slipper, general manager for Appleton & Co. You can find him at the St. James, Ann Arbor. Always bear in mind that the book can never be had at the book stores. Sold only by agents. The time to get is now.

Winter Excursions to California.

The Pacific coast is fast gaining favor as a winter resort. The southern half of California possesses a winter climate that is not equalled in any part of the globe for salubrity and equality of temperature. At Monterey, Santa Monica and elsewhere on the coast, sun-bathing is indulged in during all the winter months. Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb will take out two parties to California for the coming season. One will leave Boston, October 18th, and the other December 27th. Two months will be passed at the elegant and fashionable Hotel del Monte, Monterey, the most luxurious watering-place hotel in America, and then Santa Barbara, San Francisco, or any other places of attraction and resort, may be visited, according to individual choice. A circular, giving full details of these novel trips, may be had by addressing W. Raymond, 240 Washington street, Boston.

Literary Notices.

The English Illustrated Magazine, a new venture, comes to us from MacMillan & Co., New York, bound in a very attractive cover, and throughout a neat piece of work typographically, with not a few fine cut wood engravings. A pleasing feature of this magazine are the ornamental prefaces and initial letters introducing articles, not preface with cuts illustrative of the matter following. The designs of these, and dates of drawing, are given a place of mention just below the table of contents. Algernon C. Swinburne, Grant Allen, William Black, T. H. Huxley, and Charlotte M. Yonge are among the contributors to the initial, (October) number. Subscription price, $2.00 per year. Single numbers, 20 cents.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Synod of Michigan, met in their tenth annual session at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday. This branch of mission workers is one of the best organized in the State. Some $7,000 have been raised for foreign missions during the past year, and $51,000 during the past ten years. Nine missionaries and eight Bible readers are supported by this society, besides schools in China, India, Persia and Syria. The officers of the present year were re-elected.
Although it was only a few years ago that we were graduated from the High School, our experience in the methods of suspension was very limited and led us into a slight but natural and common error in our last issue. We said Prof. Perry suspended the boys, whereas, strictly speaking, it should have been the principal of the school. While the Board and the people consider that it is done by authority of the superintendent, it is the principal who signs the writs. Prof. Perry says he never has suspended any one, but he takes them back when they are shut out.

Death has a way at times of striking awfully sudden. Mathew Howard, a gardener in the Third Ward, was hearty and well Monday noon; at dark he was lifeless. He had been subject to attacks of bilious colic, and previously they had been allayed. However this time nothing could save him and he died about 7 o'clock. He was a warm-hearted man who was distinguished for his perfect integrity and honesty of purpose. His surviving relatives are his wife and brothers, Hon. Mark Howard, of Hartford, Conn., Judge John Howard of this city, Mary Batum, a half-sister, and his daughters, Mrs. Lena Lemmon of Hamburg, and Mary. Mr. Howard had lived in Ann Arbor many years and was well-known. His funeral was held yesterday at the Baptist church where the services were conducted by Rev. Haskell assisted by Rev. R. Steele.

She graduated at our High School in 1871, after which she pursued her studies under private teachers and a year after attended the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass. On her return from Boston she visited friends at Lowell, N. Y. and was soon offered the position of Preceptress of Lowell Academy which she held for one year but declined further work as she was not sufficiently strong for the labor. She was married to Dr. Webb and removed to Lowell, Nov. 30, 1881. Mrs. Webb was a woman in whom abounded the womanly and Christian virtues, ardently attached to her friends, beloved by all, an earnest worker in the M. E. Church with which she became connected at the early age of eight years. Her life was one of activity and usefulness, and a large circle of warm friends mourn her death.

AN ELEGANT PLACE.
The Cloak Room of the Dry Goods Establishment of Bach & Abel.
An Interesting Place for the Ladies

If the ladies of Ann Arbor would be surprised and charmed with the beauty of all that goes to make up adornment of person and would see the fabrics upon which fashion has set its seal and spend an hour pleasantly they need but visit the dry goods establishment of Bach & Abel at the corner of Main and Washington streets. These well known dealers have recently added to their store a Cloak Room, which is used exclusively for the exhibition of ladies' cloaks and which is filled with an immense stock. The room is one-half as large as the store and directly above it. A fine Brussels carpet, handsome wall-paper and an immense mirror give the place an inviting appearance. While sofas and easy chairs make it a pleasant place for ladies to spend an hour or two. The crowded condition of our columns this week forbids an enumeration of the many lines of goods kept, but a few of the most desirable are mentioned. In the neat and close fitting Jerseys a large assortment can be found, ranging from a light one for $2.50 to the heavy winter Jersey for $20.00. Light colored walking coats, half ulsters and ulsters to satisfy any one for $3.00 and upward. The stock of black walking coats and ulsters is also large and correspondingly cheap. Dolmans, handsomely trimmed with fur and astrakhan range in price from $8.00 to $50.00. In the next department we come to are a fine lot of what will be the most popular garments this season—the Russian Circulars. These are trimmed with fur and astrakhan and made either of diagonal goods or Ottoman and Sicilian silks. The cloaks made of Ottoman and Sicilian silks and satins are usually trimmed with fur and are very tastefully gotten up. The plain circulars are also to be found at prices ranging from $12.00 to $40.00. But by far the finest garments are the elegant plush cloaks, some of which are worth $100. In addition the line of ladies' cloaks, there is a full stock of children's goods—something not often found in a place of Ann Arbor's size. The Cloak Room is now open to visitors, and daily visited by many ladies who are attracted by the fine display. It is well worth a visit, and those who are acquainted with Messrs. Bach & Abel and their obliging clerks, know that they are always welcomed whether or not they desire to purchase.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.
"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years." W. H. MOORE.
Ducham, Mo., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."
RIVER ST., BUCKLAND, MASS., May 19, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world." JAMES MAXWELL.
320 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.
