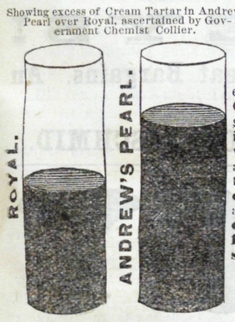
Baking Powder Figures
THAT DON'T LIE.

The Royal Baking Powder Co. try to give the inference that their powder contains more Cream Tartar and that its Leavening Power is greater than any other made, as stated in their advertisement on the "Comparative Worth of Baking Powders," exhibited by black lines. Our name was mentioned in connection with one of our cheaper brands, made of different materials as the trade might demand. Our Cream Tartar brand of Andrew's Pearl was omitted, evidently for a very good reason, judging from the relative merits of ANDREW'S "PEARL" and the Royal, as clearly demonstrated by the Government Chemist, Dr. PETER COLLIER of the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, from samples received by him from dealers who furnished the samples from their stocks on hand in open market.

Showing excess of Cream Tartar in Andrews' Pearl over Royal, ascertained by Government Chemist Collier.



DR. COLLIERS' ANALYSIS

U. S. DEPT OF AGRICULTURE.
WASHINGTON D. C., March 10, 1883.

C. E. ANDREWS & Co.—Gentlemen: I received by express from Thos. Lydon and J. P. Harkins & Co., Grand Ave., Milwaukee, and Harper Bros., Chicago, Ill, samples of Andrews' Pearl and Royal Baking Powders. The cans were in good condition when received and the seals unbroken. I find upon analysis that Andrews' Pearl Baking Powder contains about four and a half (4½) per cent. more cream tartar than the Royal Baking Powder, and a proportionately larger percentage of carbonic acid gas, and I find it to be free from alum, and any injurious substances.

Sincerely yours,
PETER COLLIER,
U. S. Chemist, Dept. of Agriculture.

Government Chemist Collier's Analysis as to the Leavening Qualities.

ANDREWS' PEARL [redacted]

ROYAL [redacted]

No wonder the Royal Co. omitted Andrews' Pearl from their "Comparative List," as Government Chemist Collier's analysis shows conclusively two things: 1st, That Andrews' Pearl contains more Cream Tartar than the Royal, as shown by the cuts above; 2d, That the Leavening Power of Andrews' Pearl is greater than the Royal, as shown by the two black lines above.

CHALLENCE.

We will gsve the Royal Co. or any one else $1,000 or $5,000 if they can prove by any fair mutual test that Andrews' Pearl Baking Powder does, or ever did, contain alum or any injurious substances, and this challenge is open forever. Andrews' Pearl Baking Powder is sustained by a testimonial as to its purity and strength by the only genuine commissioned Government chemist, such as the Royal Co. never have published. TRY IT.

CUTICURA REMEDIES
Cuticura
THE GREAT SKIN CURES
A Positive Cure for Every Form of Skin and Blood Disease, from Pimples to Scrofula.
THOUSANDS of Letters in our possession repeat this story: I have been a terrible sufferer for years with Blood and Skin Humors; have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors; have had the best physicians; have spent hundreds of dollars and got no real relief until I used the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the Great Skin Cures and Skin Beautifiers, externally, which have cured me and left my skin and blood as pure as a child's.

Almost Incredible.
James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath, says.—In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hand to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure for ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them and was perfectly cured.
Sworn to before U. S. Com., J. D. CRAWFORD.

Still More So.
Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn Street, Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless, permanently cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

More Wonderful Yet.
H. E. Carpenter, N.Y., cured of Psoriasis or Leprosy, of twenty years' standing, by Cuticura Remedies. The most wonderful cure on record. A dispensful of scales fell from him daily. Physicians and his friends thought he must die. Cure sworn to before a justice of the peace and Henderson's most prominent citizens.

COUNTY ITEMS.

CHELSEA.

From the Herald

As far as heard, Messrs. H. M. Woods, H. S. Holmes, and Jas. L. Gilbert, will attend the National Republican Convention which takes place at Chicago, June 3.

The Lutheran congregation has recently purchased the brick residence of George Bachman on Summit street, and will at once complete, and refit it for a parsonage.

Thursday last, Judge Harriman was in town to examine a Mr. Knickerbocker who acts and has for years in a very peculiar manner. Since January first he has not been out of his room, and for days at a time he will not partake of food. As it is not a case of insanity, the Judge is in a quandary what to do, but thinks the county house the proper place for him.

Through the kindness of Hon. S. G. Ives, we have been permitted to examine several old land patents, granted to Mary Winans mother of John Winans of this place, Samuel W Holmes, father of H. S. Holmes, also of this place, and Curtis Noble, whose relatives now reside at Dexter, and who also was a relative of Thos. Sears, of this place. The parcel of land first mentioned was probably entered in 1833, and is described as the west ½ of the northwest ¼ of section 20, in township 1 north, of range 3 east, (Unadilla). The Holmes place was traded for by Mr. Ives during the time the cholera raged in Michigan, and without his ever seeing it, and formed the nucleus for his farm which at one time contained over 400 acres. The Winans place was also bought of the original owner, consequently only one deed has ever been issued on these lands. Mr. Ives came to Michigan and settled on his land in 1835, being at the time two miles from any traveled road, and the farthest in the woods in a northwesterly direction. The patents are made of very heavy paper and bear the signatures of two presidents; the Winans and Noble patents bearing the bold signature of Andrew Jackson, and the Holmes patent that of Martin Van Buren.

DEXTER.

From the Dexter Leader.

Henry Stebbins, proprietor of the Stebbins House, is quite ill with bronchial consumption.

Mr. Cunningham, of Lyndon has gone to Ireland after a fortune of some $20,000 or $30,000.

J. F. Clark, who has been absent in Lyons, Neb., for the last two and one-half years, has returned to Dexter.

The dogs killed five of J. Lucas's sheep Friday night. One of the worthless curs engaging in the slaughter has been found.

Theodore Hindelang, of Chelsea, has gone to Los Angeles, Cal., for the benefit of his health, it having been greatly impaired for several years.

Mrs. Wade, aged 63 years and 10 months, died in this village last Monday morning. The funeral was held in the M. E. church, Rev. H. Benton officiating. Buried in Webster.

At a meeting of the comrades of R. P Carpenter Post No. 41, G. A. R., who reside in Dexter and vicinity, held at the office of A. D. Crane, E-q., on the evening of May 21, 1884, Comrade A. D. Crane was called to the chair, and Comrade W. H. Weston chosen secretary; whereupon a committee of arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the above named Post, which will visit Dexter in force on Decoration Day—May 30th—and decorate the graves of deceased soldiers—consisting of Comrades D Litchfield, C. F. Bates, H. Ide, W. H. Weston, W. Blodgett and L. S. Miles, was appointed. It was

Resolved, That a general invitation be, and the same is hereby tendered all ladies and gentlemen who feel interested in the ceremonies of the occasion, to attend and bring with them such articles of food for a picnic supper as they may feel disposed to contribute.

Decoration services immediately after the arrival of the afternoon mail train from the west. The table will be spread in Red Ribbon Hall, in the evening.

MANCHESTER.

From the Enterprise.

Our village treasury gathers in $2,400 from saloon licenses this year.

John Fahner, of Sharon, had a cataract removed from his right eye, on Wednesday morning, and the operation was successful.

John McMahon, the circusman, having had many requests to perform the coming season, finally concluded to make an engagement, and on Friday last he went to Jackson and joined Barrett & Co.'s show, receiving $50 a week salary.

Our village taxidermist, Ed. G. Kief, has made an engagement and will go to Tallahassee, Florida next September, to take a professorship or taxidermy in the university of Florida. We learn that he was chosen from 24 applicants, each of who n sent specimens of their work to the institution.

* * Our farmers have learned that it is an injury to sheep to wash them, and believe that it does the wool no good, as it generally gets as full of dust and dirt as it was before. With our heavy wools it is cheaper, they think, to submit to a reduced price than to wash the sheep and take the chances of loss, etc.

Wm Burtless accompanied Mr. Brighton to the old tannery lot, on Tuesday afternoon, to see Brighton blast some large stones. When everything was ready for the explosion he went away some 15 rods, supposing that a safe distance, but found his mistake as the stone flew past him like huge hail stones. One small stone passed through his hat and struck him on the temple cutting the skin and raising quite a lump.

YPSILANTI.

From the Ypsilantian.

Work has commenced on the passenger house of the Central railroad, and that building will be thoroughly repaired immediately. The interior will be repainted, papered and fitted up, the ticket office enlarged and the whole interior rejuvenated. These improvements are a direct result of the success Mr. Damon has had in increasing the road's patronage, and the name Ypsilanti has with the company he so ably represents.

A number of our young ladies are organizing a local society upon somewhat the same basis as the Amphion club of Ann Arbor, whose singing at the recent concert was so warmly commended. The number will probably be limited to twelve and will include some of the best trained and richest voices of our city. A specified time will be devoted each week to the best music and it is probable that if the venture is successful chamber concerts will be given by the club. Mr. Geo. Hodge, now taking a course in the University, who has had considerable experience in these matters, will conduct. A name has not yet been decided upon but it will probably be some term suggestive of the girls in particular.

From the Commercial.

Mr. D. L. Quirk is acting president of the First National bank.

Mr. J. T. Wanzer's barn on the plains have gone into thin air. A child playing with matches set the dry straw on fire last Saturday at 5 p. m. His loss including windmill, contents, etc., must be not far from $1200 to $1500. He has been paid $600 insurance.

Come down to the truth of history it would seem that the first bank in this city at the depot was established by Messrs. B. Follett, Quirk and Dow. Mr. Conklin became a member of the concern a year or so later. Mr. Dow soon after went back to Chicago. Mr. Quirk has largely contributed his means to the city's advancement.

It is a mistake that ex-President Hayes and good wife are to attend the Normal commencement as indicated in a Detroit paper. Sorry that it is so. Principal Willits went to Fremont with every assurance of being able to secure Mr. Hayes to make the address, but his engagements, very much to his own regret, stood in the way.

Washington Letter.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24, 1884.

The smooth streets of the capital have been enlivened during the week by the whirling wheels of bicycling visitors who have greatly enjoyed the leagues of asphalt pavement which render Washington the wheelman's paradise. The peculiar advantages offered by this city for the sport, have made bicycling very popular here, but the meeting this week, of clubs from various parts of the United States, gave a new idea of the hold the latest mode of locomotion has obtained on the community at large. On Tuesday, in the course of their ten-mile parade they whirled through the White House grounds and lifted their caps to the President who, standing on the portico, saluted each club as it passed. After their races, banquet and speeches, they parted for another year.

Congress has had before it this week, a mass of miscellaneous business. The Senate has passed a number of bills for the erection of public buildings in certain towns, and cities. The agricultural appropriation was discussed and passed, and an item of $15,000, was added for the purpose of distributing over the country, gratis, silk worm eggs. Senator Ingalls was strongly opposed to this. He held that in a country which last year manufactured eighty million dollars worth of silk products, only one-fourth of which was from raw material, there was no necessity for authorizing the agricultural department to spend money in distributing silk worm eggs, or information about the leaves on which the worm pastures. The able Kansas Senator complained that the Government was becoming altogether too paternal, too maternal even. He quoted the old nursery rhyme,

"Who ran to catch me when I fell,
And kissed the place to make it well?
My mother,"

to show that the government, by interfering in all matters that ought to be left to private energy, and to private enterprise and industry, was turning the people into a race of dependents, mendicants and paupers.

The bill for a bureau of labor statistics, passed by the House of Representatives, is being roughly handled by the Senate. A democratic senator acknowledged it to be one of the worst bills he ever saw, requiring one man to do with $25,000 a year what cannot be done with less than millions. "Strikes, their causes, effects and remedies" comes under one of the heads of the bill. That, the senator held no man ever knew. "If we were to live here as a body for the next hundred years" continued he, "and every man in this body were to grow brighter every day, at the end of the century, I do not suppose one of us would be able to comprehend and explain what is required in the bureau of labor statistics: "Strikes, their causes, effects, and remedies." Senator Van Wyck, said, "within the shadow of the Capitol, native laborers have been driven from public works and their places supplied by Italians, and others who came here under a system of contract. He preferred to see the bill to prevent the importation of foreign laborers take precedence of the one that was pending.

The House has passed some appropriation bills this week; talked about a bankruptcy law; wrangled over the contested election case of Peele against English, and given another blow to free trade, by declining to reduce rates on works of art, whether the production of foreign or American artists.

In this city of monuments, most of which have been erected to warriors, another statue was unveiled on Wednesday. This was dedicated to religion, and stands as the memorial of the Lutherans to the reformer, Martin Luther. An immense concourse of spectators witnessed the ceremonies, which were marred by some awkward accidents. The giving away of the platform produced a little panic, but no harm. The orator, Senator Conger, was interrupted by a musical part of the procession, which was belated; and the drapery around the figure refused to drop off in the graceful magical manner that was intended. It hung obstinately, and had to be torn off by force.

The boarders at a certain hotel, where there is a worthless colored waiter named Minnie, have made matters worse by calling her "a negro-minnie-ous failure."—Merchant Traveler.

General Stone and the Bombardment of Alexandria.

Perhaps the most notable article in the June Century is Miss Fanny Stone's "Diary of an American Girl in Cairo during the war of 1882." The following letter, which introduces the diary, expresses General Stone's views on the English bombardment of Alexandria:

FLUSHING, Long Island, April 4, 1884.

Editor of the CENTURY:

"DEAR SIR: My daughter has corrected the proof of her diary which you sent her.

At your request I add a few words of explanation, giving some general account of the circumstances under which the diary was written.

As you are perhaps aware, I was at that time, and had been for a dozen years, the Chief of the General Staff of the Khedive of Egypt. My duties at that critical period required me to be a part of the time in Alexandria and a part of the time in Cairo. On the 6th of July I took the evening train for Alexandria, expecting to return on the 8th. On the 8th I found it impossible to leave, as matters looked very threatening, and I could not telegraph for my family to leave Cairo without creating more panic. I felt that it was probable that the British Admiral would eventually bombard Alexandria, but I could not conceive that he could bombard an open seaport after having proclaimed that he entered its harbor "as a friend,"—certainly not without giving such clear and timely notice that the thousands of Europeans residing in the interior cities (to whom no notice was given) would have opportunity to leave; for he and all the British authorities must have known perfectly well that the bombardment of Alexandria by any European fleet would cause the enraged inhabitants to wreak vengeance on all Europeans who might be in the country, of whatever nationality.

To my astonishment the notice of only twenty-four hours was given, and that notice was given late in the afternoon of the 9th of July, after the departure from Cairo of the last train on that day for Alexandria. At the same time the foreign warships and ships of refuge were advised to quit the harbor at noon on the 10th!

This barbarous disregard on the part of the British of the lives of citizens of all other nationalities caused me, as well as thousands of others, fearful anxiety, and caused the horrible death of scores of Europeans—French, Germans, Austrians and Italians.

I was forced to decide in a moment the best course to pursue to secure the safety of my wife and daughters a hundred and twenty miles in the interior. There was no train to leave Cairo until 8 o'clock a. m. on the 10th, and that train would be due at Alexandria at 3 o'clock p. m., three hours after the departure of the ships of refuge. I felt that four ladies struggling in a railway station for a place, in the midst of a crowd of panic-stricken Europeans, would have but small chance; and even should they succeed in securing places in the railway carriages, it was more than probable that they would be turned out at some point on the road to make place for soldiers on their way to the threatened city.

Even could they reach Alexandria, the ships would not be there to receive them, and I could find no place of safety for them in a town about to be bombarded. I hastened to the telegraph office and sent a dispatch to the senior officer of the Staff at Cairo, informing him that the British were about to act, that I remained at my post, and confided my family to the honor of the Staff. It was a desperate situation, but my decision proved to have been the correct one; for the families that left Cairo by the 8 a. m. train of the 10th arrived too late to get on board the ships, and were subjected to the horrors of the bombardment.

The following morning I placed my son on board the Lancaster frigate, and with a heavy fall of the deepest [illegible] about my duty near the Khedive, with as calm and cheerful a countenance as was possible.

During the day of the 9th of July, the palace of Ras-el-Tin was thronged with European officials of high grade. Even after the announcement of bombardment the English Consul-General, the English Postmaster-General (of Egypt), the English Collector of Customs, and the high functionaries of the various administrations were quietly eating their dinners and suppers in the city they were about to bombard, and jokingly discussing the probable effect of the heavy gun practice, apparently not thinking of or caring for the women and children of nationalities other than British in the interior. All British subjects had been carefully sent away.

On the 10th only five western official remained around the Khedive in his palace—one American and four Italians. One of these was myself; another, an Italian rear-admiral; another, the physician to His Highness; another, his secretary; the other, his master of the ceremonies. These five, with a few Turkish, Armenian, and Egyptian officers and officials, formed the little court of the Khedive through the scenes of the bombardment and the three days following, during which the palace of Ramleh was surrounded by troops sent to burn it and shoot down all who should attempt to escape.

Then came the British occupation of Alexandria, and the campaign against Arabi. During this campaign I did all of which I was capable to aid the allies of the Khedive, well knowing that while such was my duty, yet the performance of that duty, day by day, and act by act must necessarily add to the dangers clustering around my family in their isolation. In my position every act was, of course, well known and conspicuous to the enemies of the Khedive.

This situation continued for my family and myself until the 8th day of August, when I had the happiness of receiving them on board the Dakulieh at Port Said.

This happy result was due principally to the prompt decision of Commander Whitehead, United States Navy, who, not fearing to take upon himself responsibility when an American family was in danger, promptly acceded to my request to enter the Suez canal, and at Ismailia to demand of the authorities at Cairo that the family should be brought there and delivered to him on the deck of the U. S. ship Quinnebaug.

Means were taken to cause information of his resolve to reach the ears of Arabi, and he acted before being subjected to a demand in the name of the U. S. Government.

Had Admiral Seymour given even forty-eight hours' notice of his intention to bombard, he and his Government would have been spared the frightful responsibility which now weighs upon them of causing the horrible death of European men, women, and children, who perished miserably in the interior, and of hundreds of Egyptian women and children who perished in the bombardment and in the panic flight from the hastily bombarded town.

During the so-called "massacre" of June 11, 1882, in Alexandria, European men were struck down by the infuriated populace but not a woman or child was injured. During the Christian bombardment of Alexandria scores of Egyptian women and children perished, and their husbands, brothers, and fathers wreaked vengeance, a little later, on the innocent and helpless Europeans at Tantah and Mehallet-el-Kebir.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES P. STONE,
Lieut.-General."

Remarkable Tricycling.

For 15 years the city weigher of Salem has suffered with paralysis in both legs, making it impossible for him to walk unaid of a crutch it was exceedingly hard to drag himself along. As an experiment he was advised to try tricycling. Incredible as it may seem, he became a tricyclist, and can propel his machine as well as many who have the perfect use of their legs. He has sufficient strength to push upon the pedals, and as one pedal goes down, the other pedal lifts the other leg. He rides his Columbia tricycle to and from his office daily, and has ridden all over the city, attracting great attention, for he is one of the old pioneer ship captains of Salem, and is personally acquainted with almost everybody in the neighborhood. Recently he made a trip to Swampscott on his tricycle, a distance, out and back, of eight miles, but he was assisted by a bicyclist, who, connecting the bicycle and tricycle by a rope, towed him part of the distance. The city authorities contemplate erecting a little house for the machine near his office.—Boston Herald.

An exchange says: "A paper to be first-class, must receive first-class support. First-class support consists in every subscriber paying his subscription in advance, patronizing the job department instead of sending the work to foreign offices, and in every way giving the paper your moral help. Taking and reading it, and not paying for it will never do. Moral support of itself was never known to run newspapers; moral support cannot be utilized when ink and paper bills are to be paid. The men who work on newspapers are human, and enjoy corned beef and cabbage as well as other people. The atmosphere in this locality contains a large amount of ozone and is very bracing, the scenery very grand and picturesque, but nevertheless it seems to be one of nature's laws that one can't pay for printing material with ozone, or feed workmen on beautiful scenery."

A Postal Telegraph.

The Western Union company evidently is somewhat demoralized by the prospects of the Postal Telegraph bill being passed through Congress. Last week the Senate committee of Post-offices and Post Roads agreed to a report favoring such a system and sooner or later the people will become so tired of the exactions of the monopoly as to demand that the Government control the telegraph.

For many years it has been one of the principal duties of a good government to transmit postal messages for the benefit of its citizens and for their commercial interests. To secure the greatest benefit such a service demands: first, that the messages entrusted to it be safe; second, that they be transmitted as quickly as possible. The former is ensured, and it is in regard to the latter that we are now concerned. By our fast express trains with their railway postal services the limit of celerity in that direction is nearly reached. Still, large business continually (and small business, frequently) demand yet greater dispatch, so the telegraph is necessary.

Now, the government having gone as far as it can in the rapid forwarding of its mails, one step forward remains to be taken. That step the people are beginning to clamor for over all the country.

For, as it now is, whatever business they are compelled to have done with speed must be done by the Western Union company at whatever rates they deem it proper to exact in order to raise their dividends on their immensely watered stock. To show what this must be we recall that between 1867 and 1886 the stock dividends amounted to $25,807,190 while the cash dividends were $34,000,000. On this point the committee's report says: "It cannot be a matter of doubt that the swollen capitalization of the Western Union has created at one and the same time a cover and an inducement, and in some cases a necessity, for excessive charges for telegrams."

The report declares the constitutional right of the Government to establish a postal telegraph to be too clear to require argument. The first telegraph line in the country was constructed and operated and owned by the United States. As to the objection that the competition of the Government would injure the private telegraphic lines, the reply is that the postal money order system interferes with the business of bankers. If that is legitimate the other would be. The committee thinks, however, that the only damage would be not more than the curtailment of abnormal profits. The proposed bill is analyzed and its advantages are recited by the committee, the special points being that tolls will be reduced from 39 to 25 cents immediately and to 20 cents in five years, and that the charges will be uniform throughout the country. The committee insist that a power like that of the Western Union, which can by merely sending advance market quotations to certain persons fabulously enrich them, should not be allowed to exist in this country, even though its power may not have been abused in the past. The bill would take away this power.

The great mass of the people do not appreciate fully the extortions of this company as they cover the whole United States—too great a territory for people of average experience to know about. For instance, the Western Union owns and controls many companies operating wires under different names so as to give them an excuse to charge double rates. We have in mind a recent experience in Florida where the line is called the Florida Despatch. Yet the W. U. owns it and charged us a dollar for a half rate message home to Ann Arbor.

These things are beginning to be discovered, and to stay the coming storm the W. U. company is having its agents all over the country get up petitions to Congress against the Postal Telegraph bill. Strangely enough they secure many who carelessly subscribe their names to what after a little consideration they might see was against their own interests. Such a petition was circulated in Ann Arbor last week, and on it was a formidable ly men will sign petitions.

Such a course we fear will greatly endanger the bill, for there is no one so strongly interested in the interests of the people as this huge monopoly can afford to interest powerful agents for the safety of its own watery millions.

Those in Chicago next week attending the National Convention will have an opportunity of witnessing some good trotting at the Driving Park. $15,000 is offered for the races and a hundred horses are engaged. It is the regular spring trotting meeting.

6. The Ladies' Decoration society have kindly consented to collect, receive and arrange flowers. Committees of that society will be at the Court House and the Fifth ward engine house for that purpose. Headquarters for the reception of flowers, Horticultural Rooms at Court House and Fifth ward engine house. With fine weather, our city's observance of next Friday bids fair to be very successful and well carried out. Let all appropriately observe the day.

The Tea Party.

The Around the World Tea Party was given at the M. E. church Friday evening and it proved such a success that it was repeated the next night. Many tickets had been sold during the week and a large number was assured to be in attendance, while the active preparations assured also a success in point of arrangements. The rooms were decorated with the flags of various nations and the foreign countries were further represented by booths presided over by ladies in costume. Upon entering the room the attention was first caught by a Japanese pagoda under the charge of the Misses Breakey and Bailey, assisted by Messrs. Ferdon and Smith. They were greatly aided by Messrs. Fijikawa and Shirafji, the two Japanese gentlemen in the University. Near by was the Spanish booth, presided over by Mrs. H. W. Rogers, who was aided by Prof. Rogers and Miss Winner. Across the room was the French booth in command of Miss Paul, who had as assistants the Misses Jacobs and Randolph and Messrs. Beal, Gay and Booth. Scotland was not far off where was Mrs. Douglass with Miss Knowlton and Mr. C. Hendrickson. Mrs. Pope made a great success of the German booth, helped by Dr. Darling, Misses Johnson, Cowell and Payne. The Italian booth Miss Whedon cared for together with Mr. Phillips, Clarence Bailey and Birdie Whedon. Ireland had her stand with Mrs. Wallace Bliss, Mrs. Will Bliss and Mrs. Rockwell as representatives. Our own America was in charge of Miss Ferdon and Miss F. Breakey, assisted by several young Misses of the church. There were not many present who missed the Gypsy camp and the telling of their fortunes. Mrs. Ames was the mysterious personage there enshrouded in gloom. Her little gypsies were the Misses Nellie and Ruth Ames and Spence. Outside of these booths was a picturesque couple with a little hand-organ, who perambulated the room playing and taking in coppers. They were Deyoe Douglas and Paul Pope. Another feature attracting a crowd was the crayon sketching by the artist Mr. B. B. Morgan, who deftly made sketches of those who presented themselves. The rooms were filled and about $150 was cleared. To Mrs. Bailey, in great part, credit is due for its successful management.

Colored Regiment Reunion.

The 50th anniversary of emancipation of slaves in the West Indies will be observed in this city, August 1, '84. The reunion of the surviving members of the 102d colored regiment, U. S. A., will also be held on the same date. A largely attended meeting of colored citizens was held last week in preparation for the reunion; W. A. Sweeney was chairman and W. T. Johnson, secretary. The exercises will be held in Relief Park. It is expected that Col. Henry L. Chipman, the regiment's old commander, and Major M. R. Delaney, of South Carolina, will make addresses. Hon. J. G. O'Hara, member of Congress from North Carolina, may possibly be in attendance also. The committee is in correspondence with him. Officers and committees as follows were chosen at last week's meeting. Another meeting will be held this evening for making further arrangements:

President of the day—Wm. Graves.
Vice-Presidents—R. A. Hazen, of Ypsilanti; John Davis, of Lansing; R. Massenburg, of Toledo; G. F. Johnson and Oliver Hall, of Jackson; and Stephen Jacobs.

The Reception of a Captured Sacred White Elephant at Bangkok, Siam—Music, Pomp, and Banners—A Royal Palace and Costly Vestments.

The bringing to the capital of a captured white elephant is thus described by a late British official at the court of the Siamese Empire: "The last white elephant which reached Bangkok was caught in the woods. The king and court went a long way into the country to meet him, and he was conducted with a grand procession, much pomp and music, and flying banners, to the capital. There a grand mansion awaited him, and several of the leading nobility were appointed his custodians. The walls were painted to represent forests, no doubt to remind him of his native haunts, and to console him in his absence from them. All his wants were seduously provided for, and in his 'walks abroad,' when 'many men he saw,' he was escorted by music and costly vestments." Such is the manner in which the captured white elephant is received in Siam, and the advent of the royal brute here at Ann Arbor on May 31st, with Forepaugh's Show will call forth the entire community to see the singular and sacred creature.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

All a dude needs, to make him a paragon of fashionable taste, is to have his temper ruffled.—Boston Times.

Regulars.

One of the strongest proofs of the value of Kidney-Wort as a remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, is the fact that it is used and prescribed by "regular" physicians. Phillip C. Ballou, M. D., of Monkton, Vt., says: "Take it all in all, it is the most successful remedy I have ever used."

RICHARDS.—At Florence, Italy, April 30th, after a short illness, A. E. Richards, brother of Dan Richards, of Pinckney, Mich., and E. Richards, of Dover.

"The deceased had long been a resident of Plaquemin, La., but at the breaking out of the war left for Europe, where he has since resided, making occasional visits home. Highly educated, possessing rare talents as a linguist, he was able to avail himself of all the advantages offered by the old world to the student and antiquarian. Spending the summer usually at the sea-side in England and the remainder of the year, as long as his health permitted, in making excursions to Germany, France, Holland and Switzerland. Many are the beautiful pictures sketched by his ready pen. Italy, however, possessed peculiar charms for him, and the different cities visited from time to time, enabling him among other pleasures to graft his love for Numismatics The large and valuable collections made by him being presented to his relatives and different institutions of learning. The University at Ann Arbor is enriched by nearly two thousand coins and medals of great value, some dating back over two thousand years before the Christian era. As professor of Numismatics and Archæology he was enabled to make selections of great merit. A member of the Presbyterian church from boyhood, an earnest devoted Christian, his life was a glorious success, and when in Florence, beautiful city of flowers, "Death, the crown of life," came to him it found him ready. A friend present writing of the event says, "The day was one of those perfect Italian spring days when everything breathed of peace as we deposited the flower ladened coffin in a lovely part of the Protestant cemetery. The brothers and sisters at the old homestead to whom through all the years of absence he has turned for love and sympathy will miss him sadly. This is the second that has been removed from the family circle in a short time; Frank McDonald, a sister's husband, lies buried in Colorado, but

"The dear departed gone before
To that unknown and silent shore
Sure we shall meet as heretofore
Some summer morning."

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

Regeneration for enfeebled systems, suffering from a general want of tone, and its usual concomitants, dyspepsia and nervousness, is seldom derivable from the use of a nourishing diet and stimuli of appetite, unaided. A medicine that will effect a removal of the specific obstacle to renewed health and vigor, that is a genuine corrective, is the real need. It is the possession of this grand requirement which makes Hostetter's Stomach Bitters so effective as an invigorant.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

BACH & ABEL'S COLUMN.

A backward spring has somewhat retarded trade with us, though nothing like as much as could reasonably be expected. Our spring stock is complete in every department, and is the largest stock exposed for retail in this city or any other city in this part of the State. Strangers are invited to visit the store, though their only errand be to see.

Having recently announced novelties in black dress goods to the exclusion of staples, let us remark that in all the leading staple fabrics in Cashmeres, Tamise, Camel's Hair, Grenadine and Nun's Veilings we have been and are to-day exceedingly strong in all of our lines and justly confident in our prices. Our silk Warp Henrietta at $1.50 "is a rare bargain."

Combination suits are "en regle." The patterns piled on the counter in the southeastern part of the store you can multiply by about four, to get at the variety. Here are modest plaids and stripes, gray mixtures, melange effects, etc., etc.. prices $1.25, $1.35 and $1.75.

You are quite satisfied that "home-made underwear" is an unwise investment of time and toil. Can't be otherwise, if you have turned over carefully the masses of delicate drapery and tried the tucks and trimmings, to see if we have really been successful imitators of your home-made work. If we have, it won't take long to figure the difference in cost, if your own time is not cheaper than factory wages. Ladies' skirts at $1.40, $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00 are worthy of inspection.

The parasol season has opened with a rush. It finds us prepared with everything desirable in coaching, Lace Trimed, Carriage, &c., &c. Look at our black brocades at $7.00 and $10.00, our colored brocades at $15.00.

Jerseys are still the popular thing, we have twenty styles for ladies. Some are plain as plain can be, and others are braided and beaded until they sparkle and dazzle. Prices begin at $2 00 and end at $20 00. Splendid presents they are for the girls, and not much bother to secure the proper fit.

A recent purchase enables us to make an exceptional offering in Women's Hosiery. To quote prices hardly seems useful, it tells so little, for instance, for us to say we have ladies' hose full regular made solid colors, the reader would naturally say, why, every store have such, but the fact remains, that no house but ours has Schopper's solid colors, unbleached heel and toe full regular made with French feet at 30cts, it is a quality universally sold at 40 and 50cts. The motto in this department is quality first, always quality. Prices adjusted on that basis. "We incline to the opinion that most people follow the crowd, but who starts the crow? BACH & ABEL

The above depicts a very pleasant feature of bicycling as a sport. The club have ridden from their headquarters in the city, to a suburban village some twenty miles away, where they await the arrival of the racing members who were to start just thirty minutes later.

Five minutes more and the two foremost of the racing men—Fri, on his "Harvard," and Yonson on his "Yale," appear in sight. The pace is tremendous: the men are neck and neck, and Dodges, the captain of the club, whom you observe is leaning on his "Shadow" light roadster, in the foreground, declares the race a tie.

"Where are the other men?" he asks.

"Oh, behind, somewhere," is the reply.

"Are there any 'Harvard's' or 'Yale's' or 'Shadow's' among them?"

"Not one."

"Ah! that accounts for it," says the captain.

American bicyclers as a body will realize the force of the captain's last remark, but the thousands of new riders which the coming year will produce, should each one of them realize that the only true economy in choosing a bicycle is to be content with nothing less than the very best that money will procure. Each should find out all he can about bicycles before making his choice, and in order to assist enquirers in their search for information, we will, on receipt of a three-cent stamp, send to any address, a copy of our large illustrated catalogue by return mail.

Miles Under the Sea.

Many curious forms of fishes have recently been found in the deep sea. One fish, dredged from a depth of nearly three miles from the surface, shows a complete modification of structure. At this distance from the surface the pressure can hardly be realized. It is estimated that this fish has to contend against a pressure equal to two and one-half tons to every square inch of surface. A sealed glass tube, inclosed in a perforated copper covering has at two miles been reduced to fine powder, while the metal was twisted out of shape. Yet, the fishes are so constructed that they withstand the pressure. Their bony and muscular systems are not fully developed; the bones are permeated with pores and fissures. The calcareous matter is at a minimum, and the bones of the vertebrate are joined together so loosely that in lifting the larger fishes out of the water they often fall apart. The muscles are all thin, and the connective tissue seems almost wanting. Yet, these fishes are able to dart about and capture prey.

Sunlight penetrates only about 1,200 feet below the surface of the sea. At 3,000 feet the temperature lowers to 40° Fahr., and from about a mile from the surface to the bottom, four or five miles, the temperature is about the same the world over—just above freezing. How do the fishes and other forms that live here see?

Their eyes are modified as well as their other parts. The fishes that live 500 feet from the surface have larger eyes than those in the zone above them, so that they can absorb the faint rays that reach them. In a zone below this many forms with small eyes begin to have curious tentacles, feelers, or organs of touch.

Many of these deep sea fishes have special organs upon their sides and heads that are known to possess a luminous quality. Other organs are considered accessory eyes, so that the fishes have rows of eyes upon their ventral surfaces looking downward, while near are luminous spots that provide them with light.

One of the largest of these deep sea torch bearers is a fish six feet long, with a tall dorsal fin extending nearly the entire length of the body. The tips of this fin are luminous, and also a broad patch upon its head. Along the sides of the body are a double row of luminous spots.

One of the most ferocious of these deep sea forms is the Chanliodus. Its mouth is fairly overflowing with teeth that protrude in a most forbidding manner. The fins are all tipped with flaming spots, while along the dorsal surface extends a row of spots that appear like so many windows in the fish, through which light is shining.

The little fishes called Bombay ducks are luminous over their entire surface, and when numbers are collected together they present an astonishing spectacle. One of the most interesting of these light givers is the Chiasmodus, a fish that attains a length of only thirteen inches. The top of its head is the principal light-giving organ, and its fine gleam with phosphorescent light. It is not alone remarkable as a light-giver. It has a jaw so arranged that it can seize fish twice its size and easily swallow them. Its stomach has the elastic quality of India rubber. It stretches to enormous proportions, and appears like a great transparent balloon hanging under the fish and containing its prey.

The last expedition sent out by France brought to light some remarkable forms. The dredge off Morocco brought up from a depth of over one and a half miles a fish that appeared to be all head or mouth. It was of small size, and the length of the mouth was about four-fifths of the entire body; so that, if the body had been severed behind the head, it and two or three like it could have been stowed away in the capacious pouch. It probably moves very slowly, scooping mud and ooze into its mouth, sifting out the animal parts and rejecting the rest. —N. Y. Sun.

LIVES OF PAIN

RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA have long enough run riot in the human system.

They have tormented the human family and defied the medical faculty from time out of memory. They have corrugated the brow, lacerated the joints, racked the nerves, contracted the muscles and racked the brain with excruciating pain.

"ATHLOPHOROS" is the enemy of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, repairs their damages, renews the blood, eases the joints, calms the nerves, soothes the muscles, gives rest and peace to the troubled brain, and ensures delightful sleep.

"ATHLOPHOROS" is a new remedy, but it has been abundantly tried. From far and near come testimonials from well-known persons who had long been sufferers. It has turned their diseases out. It has cured them. That is all,—and that is enough.

"ATHLOPHOROS" can do for you what it has done for those sufferers. It can drive out your Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and will do so if you give it a fair trial.

"ATHLOPHOROS" has by this time had such a good trial all over the country that its true work is known, and its true character proved.

"ATHLOPHOROS" means "Prize-Bearer;" "Victor;" "Conqueror." It carries off the prize as VICTOR over the attacks of these terrible maladies, and Conqueror of the frightful agonies their victims have endured. Not a mere temporary relief, but a permanent, enduring, and triumphant cure.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

COMFORT, ECONOMY AND SPEED.

The time when the seeker of a new home in the far West and his wearied family were required to suffer the fatigue and discomfort of a long journey in a regular day coach, with no beds but the seats, has long since passed by: a great majority of such passengers being unable to provide their families with the luxuries of Pullman Palace Sleeping cars, on account of the expense. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R. Co., began, several years ago, to equip its lines with sleeping cars which would afford comfortable sitting room for its passengers by day, and agreeable sleeping apartments at night, and to open these accommodations without extra charge to all persons traveling, even on the low fares uniformly furnished to seekers of homes in the new country now opening along the line of the road, as well as to the Pacific coast. These sleeping cars are not upholstered, but are finished on the interior in hard woods, and after each trip are thoroughly washed, and made as clean as when they first came from the builder's hands.

These cars are also well lighted and ventilated, provided with closets and lavatories, and are liberally supplied with water and fuel, so as to make them comfortable at all seasons of the year.

The agent of the Company at Kansas City will take especial pains to locate passengers of the same nationality together, and classify passengers with some consideration of accommodation and congeniality, so as to make their trip as companionable and enjoyable as possible. The train men are also instructed to look carefully after the comfort of these passengers. Assignments of berths are made at Kansas City, by which passengers may be assured of retaining their places through to the Pacific coast if desired.

These cars form a part of the express trains between Kansas City and The Needles, and Kansas City and Deming, and passengers thus have all the privileges of these comfortable cars at the extreme low rates of fare, and arrive at their destination as promptly as if traveling in Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars.

Parties desiring any further information will, by addressing the undersigned, receive prompt and courteous attention.
