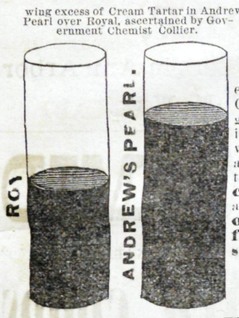
Baking Powder Figures

THAT DON'T LIE!

The Royal Baking Powder Co. try to give the inference that their powder contains more Cream Tartar and that its Leavening Power is greater than any other made, as stated in their advertisement on the "Comparative Worth of Baking Powders," exhibited by black lines. Our name was mentioned in connection with one of our cheaper brands, made of different materials as the trade might demand. Our Cream Tartar brand of Andrew's Pearl was omitted, evidently for a very good reason, judging from the relative merits of ANDREW'S PEARL" and the Royal, as clearly demonstrated by the Government Chemist, Dr. PETER COLLIER of the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, from samples received by him from dealers who furnished the samples from their stocks on hand in open market.

wing excess of Cream Tartar in Andrews' Pearl over Royal, ascertained by Government Chemist Collier.



DR. COLLIERS' ANALYSIS

U. S. DEPT OF AGRICULTURE.
WASHINGTON D. C., March 10, 1883.

C. E. ANDREWS & Co.—Gentlemen: I received by expres from Thos. Lydon and J. P. Harkins & Co., Grand Ave., Milwaukee, and Harper Bros., Chicago, Ill, samples of Andrews' Pearl and Royal Baking Powders. The cans were in good condition when received and the seals unbroken. I find upon analysis that Andrews Pearl Baking Powder contains about four and a half (4½) per cent. more cream tartar than the Royal Baking Powder, and a proportionately larger percentage of carbonic acid gas, and I find it to be free from alum, and any injurious substances.

Sincerely yours,
PETER COLLIER,
U. S. Chemist, Dept. of Agriculture.

Government Chemist Collier's Analysis as to the Leavening Qualities.

ANDREWS' PEARL [redacted]

ROYAL [redacted]

No wonder the Royal Co. omitted Andrews' Pearl from their "Comparative List," as Government Chemist Collier's analysis shows conclusively two things 1st, That Andrews' Pearl contains more Cream Tartar than the Royal, as shown by the cuts above; 2d. That the Leavening Power of Andrews' Pearl is greater than the Royal, as shown by the two black lines above.

CHALLENCE.

We will gsve the Royal Co. or any one else $1,000 or $5,000 if they can prove by any fair mutual test that Andrews' Pearl Baking Powder does, or ever did, contain alum or any injurious substances, and this challenge is open forever. Andrews' Pearl Baking Powder is sustained by a testimonial as to its purity and strength by the only genuine commissioned Government chemist, such as the Royal Co. never have published. TRY IT.

Itching Diseases.
ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff and every species of itching, scaly and pimply humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

ECZEMA TWENTY YEARS.
My gratitude to God is unbounded for the relief I have obtained from the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled with Eczema on my legs for twenty years. I had not a comfortable night for years, the burning and itching were so intense. Now, I am happy to say, I have no trouble. Only the live-colored patches on my limbs remain as a token of my former misery.
HENRY L. SMITH.
188 West Avenue, Rochester, N.Y.

ECZEMA ON A CHILD.
Your most valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES have done my child so much good that I feel like saying this for the benefit of those who are troubled with skin disease. My little girl was troubled with Eczema, and I tried several doctors and medicines, but did not do her any good until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES which speedily cured her for which I owe you many thanks and many nights of rest ANTON BOSSMEK, Union Bakery.
Edinburgh, Ind.

TETTER OF THE SCALP.
I was almost perfectly bald, caused by Tetter of the top of the scalp. I used your CUTICURA REMEDIES about six weeks, and they cured my scalp perfectly, and now my hair is coming back as thick as ever it was. J. P. CHOICE.

As a rule Thanksgiving sermons are unmercifully long This fact has kept a great many people away from church A year's thoughts and ideas are piled into one effort. Boil down, cut off the prefaces and expletives and long drawn conclusions Give the solid meat.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

The machinery and fixtures of the old Worden whip-socket factory at Ypsilanti, was taken to Detroit, Saturday, by U. S. Marshal Matthews. This was done on an execution from the U. S. court in favor of Anson Searles of New Jersey, on a patent right infringemet.

The Chelsea Herald says the marshal of that town made twelve complaints, last week of persons who were drunk and disorderly. This probably comes of having so many prohibitionists in that community, there having been 66 votes polled Now we have only 19 in this vicinity, and have not seen a drunken man since election, nor heard of a complaint being made. Chelsea is a bad town anyway.—Dexter Leader.

Mrs. Dr. F. K. Owen of this city, who while a resident at the Rose Bud Agency, Dakota, became acquainted with the wrongs of the Indians, is an influential leader in endeavoring to secure a reformation. Nov. 17th she addressed a large meeting at Pittsburg, a branch of the National Indian Association, giving additional history of the society, and its endeavors during the last five years.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

FIVE LITTLE CHICKENS.

Said the first little chicken,
With a queer little squirm;
"Oh, I wish I could find
A fat little worm!"

Said the next little chicken,
With an odd little shrug;
"Oh, I wish I could find
A fat little bug!"

Said the third little chicken,
With a sharp little squeal;
"Oh I wish I could find
Some nice yellow meal!"

Said the fourth little chicken,
With a small sigh of grief;
"Oh, I wish I could find
A green little leaf;"

Said the fifth little chicken,
With a faint little moan,
"Oh, I wish I could find
A wee gravel stone!"

"Now see here," said the mother,
From the green garden patch,
"If you want any breakfast
You just come here and scratch!"

A Battle Creek lunatic set apart last Thursday as the end of all sublunary things. But he was a false prophet, as all such lunatics are. That event will not occur in your life time or mine. True prophecy. Just wait and see if it is not.

The Methodist parson at Clare advertised recently: "Dance—At the M. E. church, Sunday evening. Good music. All are invited." When the crowd had got settled the preacher began to handle the sinful practice without gloves, much to the disgust of those who had been looking for a good time.

A soldiers' monument was unveiled at Reading, last Thursday. A great crowd was present, including many G. A. R. posts. It was a great day for Reading. But after the south comes into power again, these union-soldier monuments will have to be built low, lest their height attract the eyes of the haughty southerns who may construe it into an insult to their confederate dead.

Hillsdale Leader: "Capt. Allen, though defeated, made a gallant fight, and did himself great credit besides adding to his large list of friends. What consistency there was in prohibitionists opposing him is for them to show. As a life long consistent prohibitionists he was certainly entitled to their support, and had he received it he would have been elected as he deserved to be. If Capt. Allen has lost in the present contest he has at least made an impression upon the public mind which will not pass away, and the people will take the first opportunity of making his present loss good four fold."

OUR ESTEEMED COTEMPORARIES.

Hon. Geo. M. Dewey, of the Owosso Times, has made 82 speeches during the campaign, and has traveled 15,000 miles, mostly in the New England states.

The Isabella Enterprise has a column of "Notes from Exchanges" every item of which in its issue of the 19th has a wonderfully familiar sound and look.

Detroit Chaff has blown away, what wheat there may have been left in it being caught by the Detroit Every Saturday. It is but another case of the survival of the fittest.

The Jackson Star shows its enterprise by giving to its readers a portrait of each of the victims in the Crouch case, together with a picture of the Crouch homestead where the murders were committed.

The Academy News, published by the Orchard Lake Military Academy students is as bright a journal of the kind as finds its way to our table, and evidences some rare newspaper ability among the boys.

This item, in a very terse manner, gives the history of the republican party in more than one county of this state, it is from the Berrien Springs Era:

The g. o. p. is not obliterated in this county—it only got a second black eye, the first being given it at the convention.

The Owosso Times remarks:

St. John claimed before election that his vote would reach a million. It aggregates about a fifth of that number, yet, insignificant as that vote was it was big enough to elect Grover Cleveland as president, over one of the best temperance men in the country.

Primmer lesson from the Grand Traverse Herald:

Are the greenbackers happy? No, the greenbackers are not happy. Why are not the greenbackers happy? Because the greenbackers have nothing to show for all they have done for the democrats. No. the greenbackers are not happy.

No republican can regret Cleveland's election more than do we. St. John the courageous and uncompromising leader of the temperance host, is the man who should have got there.—Port Austin News.

Some way it looks to us as if there was a heap of gall in the above remark. For the News to regret Cleveland's election after it did all in its power to elect him, doesn't look quite right. Huron county, we note, polled 178 prohibition votes, and gave a heavy democratic majority, where it formerly gave a heavy majority the other way. Facts, and the above assertion are not consistent.

If ever a nail was hit on the head, the Stanton Herald man hits it in the following. Read it:

In politics it turns out to be a good deal as it is in churches. Those who sing, shout and pray the loudest, generally pay the least pew rent. In political affairs we notice that those who blow the hardest about high taxes, labor reform, and monopolies, are generally those who do not work, pay little or no taxes, pay no debts, and rarely, if ever, take and pay for a newspaper. The humbugs in politics are numerous this year.

Rebuking Curiosity.

The other day a mysterious looking stranger appeared in Petaluma and remained five whole days without the inhabitants finding out his name, where he came from, or his business. Even the bar-room loafers were baffled in their attempts to extract some definite information, and the entire town laid awake o'nights worrying over the matter. At last the general agitation grew to such a pitch that the sheriff volunteered to interview the stranger in behalf of the public weal. Approaching the taciturn visitor as he sat in the office of the hotel, the functionary remarked:

"Fine day, sir."

"Is, eh?" said the stranger, dubiously.

"Going to stay long in these parts?"

"Just four days, two hours and thirty-one minutes longer," replied the other, consulting his watch and a time-table.

"Then!—may I er-ahem! may I ask what your business is!" persisted the sheriff, as the crowd gathered up closer.

"Well, I don't wish it generally known," replied the stranger, confidentially, "but I'm a Russian Nihilist."

"You don't mean it?" gasped the official.

"Fact," replied the man, mournfully.

"But-er-what brings you here?" asked the sheriff.

"Well, you see, I was captured in St. Petersburg last month, and—you know how severe that government is on Nihilists don't you?"

"Oh!—yes—of course; go on!"

"Well they sentenced me to twenty years in Siberia, or a week in Petaluma," and I was fool enough to choose Petaluma."

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescribable. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and tortures of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. Arizona As It is.

FT. BOWIE, ARIZONA TER.,
Nov. 16th, 1884.

ED. COURIER:—Presuming that your many readers in Ann Arbor and vicinity would like to read a letter from this part of the country, as many of them have never had the pleasure of seeing it, I will try and write one. To my idea this is not much like Michigan. I arrived here last June from New Mexico, and will now give my views about this, as yet sparingly inhabited Territory of Arizona, to the best of my ability. Arizona has not as yet got an overruning population, but as immigration is beginning to turn in this direction, it is only a matter of time to see all the fertile valleys studded with the pioneers' "mud houses," and the land now unimproved receive the plowman's touch to the soil, so that now where nothing is to be seen but waste and desert lands, will be found productive farms, or ranches devoted exclusively to cattle raising, or mining claims. The climate of Arizona is salubrious and throughout the year mild weather prevails, it being an unknown occurrence to the inhabitants to have a severe winter. Water and wood are rather scarce in places, but I think nothing is to hinder Arizona from becoming a very productive state, because of its fertile soil and great mining resources.

The one serious obstacle that Arizona has had to contend with was the marauding bands of Indians who would leave the reservations on expeditions of plunder and carnage. But the policy of Gen. Crook in dealing with them has brought them under subjection, and now the General prides himself on the fact that there is not a more peaceable town in the country than can be found on the San Carlos Indian reservation. The Indians have turned from their old ways and now pay more attention to farming. So at present the inhabitants of this territory are free from their once plundering and relentless foe, and they can pursue their respective vocations without fear of a visit from the wily aborigines.

The Gila valley is very fertile and many large ranches and farms can be seen in said valley. It is surprising to see the many improvements going on. Splendid farms throughout this part of country, when only two years ago the Indians killed nearly all they found there. The settlers, mostly Mormons, have started a town for a headquarters, and named it Smithfield, in honor of the founder of the Mormon church, I suppose. The town seems to be in a fair way to become an enterprising and thriving city. Perhaps it would be well should Arizona become a state in the union and be represented in congress and the senate, as the Mormons are coming in fast and may some day be the cause of serious trouble.

Fearing that I may be taking up too much of your valuable columns, I will close my letter. Should this letter be interesting to one or more, I should be glad of it. With respects to all Michigan friends, I am, Respectfully,

R. W. TUFFS,
Troop G, 4th Cav.

Literary Notes.

The Current has secured for its Christmas issue—which in many respects will be a remarkable one—from Edwin Arnold, chief among English poets of the time, a splendid poem, upon which he has long been engaged, and the completion of which he has just announced by cable to The Current. It will be appropriate to the season, and will be marked by the grace of expression and that superb poetic power which once manifested in "The Light of Asia," have won for Mr. Arnold so conspicious a place in contemporary literature, as a laborious student, as a scholar of the highest authority, and a poet of the rarest genius.

With its next number the Magazine of Art opens right royally its new volume Not satisfied with giving a handsome etching by R. W. Macbeth as a frontis piece to the number, the publishers present to each subscriber to the new volume a beautiful etching by J. A. S. Monks after his popular painting, "Crossing the Pasture." This etching is suitable for framing or the portfolio It represents a flock of sheep, with the usual black member of the band, crossing a hillside on their way to the fold. The scene is a peaceful one and Mr. Monks has put a great deal of sentiment into his burin. Mr. Macbeth's etching. "Here it Is," shows us a young woman sitting at the breakfast table looking over the morning papers. The expression of her face tells us she has found what she was looking for and is pleased. The opening paper of this number, describing "The New Forest"—that wild, picturesque region in the South of England—is by Millicent Garnett Fawcett, wife of the late Postmaster-General of England. Every page of the number bears an illustration. A feature of this issue is an article on the Cincinnati Art Museum, in which the history of the Museum is given, with several illustrations showing its different stages in building, and a sketch from the architect's drawings, showing how it will look when completed. This is the first of a series on American Art Industries, in which the useful as well as the ornamental arts will be treated.—Cassell & Company, Limited, New York.

With the current number Cassell's Family Magazine closes its volume for the year. The serial stories, "Within the Clasp," and "John Ford," which have held the interest of their readers for so many months, are finished, and the affairs of their several heroes and heroines settled for life. The frontispiece of the number illustrates a poem, the Lovers Quarrel. The Cooper's Hill Engineering College is described by J. Monroe, C. E. The "Family Doctor" continues his "talk" and this month describes his "obstinate patient." Old bread and new is considered by one who has apparently had experience in the art of baking. Miss C F. Gordon-Cumming has turned her attention from the man-eaters of Fiji and gives us a glimpse of Norway, a very pleasant glimpse, showing the people of that country of mountains and fjords in their home life. The Parish fashion letter discusses hats, bonnets, gloves, colors etc. The poetry of the number is not great, but it is good. Evidently Cassell's Family Magazine for 1884 means to leave a good impression behind it.—Cassell & Company, Limited, New York, $1.50 a year.

John G. Whittier opens the Christmas St. Nicholas with a beautiful poem, entitled, "The Light that is Felt;" while Lord Tennyson is represented by a charming portrait of his two grandchildren, from the painting by Anna Lea Merritt, which accompanies her interesting paper, "A Talk About Painting." Another artist-author, Mary Hallock Foote, writes and illustrates a delightful sea-side article, called "Menhaden Sketches—Summer at Christmas-time. A prominent feature of this number of St. Nicholas is a beautiful wood-engraving of a painting by the Spanish painter Velasquez, which is considered one of the finest child-pictures of the world. It is a portrait of the Infant Marguerita Maria, daughter of King Philip of Spain, who was Velasquez's patron and friend. The engraving, which by permission of the editor of The Century appears in St. Nicholas in adv

EXCUSE ST. JOHN.

The W. C. T. U. branch in this place has requested us to print the following article from the Union Light, the official organ:

The Union Signal has a letter, written to one of the chief officers of the Illinois W. C. T. U., from a lady in Olney, Illinois, to which town the republican managers went for the affidavits with which they stabbed Gov. St. John in the back on the eve of election, too late for the false charges against his character to be met by counter affidavits. This letter (which can be seen at our office, and is of undoubted authority,) states that at the age of nineteen John P. St. John was married to a woman in Olney. Soon after he left, to get work, being poor and obliged to seek employment where he could find it. In about three months he returned, unexpectedly, and going to his home was confronted by indisputable proof of his wife's infidelity. Not willing to put a reproach upon the prospective mother of his child, he quietly left home, remained absent two years, that she, who had so cruelly "deserted" at his own fireside him to whom she had pledged honor and faith, might, in the technical language of the law, procure a divorce on the ground of "desertion." The woman subsequently married again. Her son was acknowledged by Gov. St. John was provided for by him, lived at his brother's in Olney for years, and has now, by his father's efforts, a good position in Washington. Gov. St. John returned to Olney, and from one of its best families married the noble woman who has so long been his chief comfort and counsellor. His course throughout has been most honorable, and the partisan party which aimed a poisoned arrow at an untarnished record will be met by the execration it merits from all good men and women.

The W. C. T. U. having now called down upon their heads the displeasure and distrust of many earnest temperance people for having allowed their noble union to be made the catspaw by which designing democrats pulled their chestnuts out of the fire, and thereby electing to the presidential chair that model of temperance, Grover Cleveland, it is now no surprise that they should still wish to give their action another coloring by endeavoring to excuse the indiscretions of their would-be hero, St. John. It is too bad to see intelligent Christian ladies blindly following an ignis fatuus of temperance simply because it has the name dear to them. It should be remembered that an ignis fatuus looks bright and attractive, but it comes from dead and decaying matter, and it leads its victims into the swamp where is no certain footing. That same false light of political power led to destruction every Red Ribbon club in this state, and that, too, within a year after that beneficent organization had become a most potent factor for reformation. Yet its sudden and recent fate is no warning to the W.C.T.U., which is fast running into the pitfalls and quagmires of politics and women's rights.

In Evanston, a stronghold of the W. C. T. U., the clergy of the city have so far lost confidence in them that last week they decided no longer to publish their notices from the pulpits. This stand should be made everywhere. For inasmuch as our Sunday afternoon temperance meetings had become in an open way political caucuses and the pastors of this city had refused to read their notices, just so now there is just cause against the W. C. T. U. If these notices are read, we as republicans shall demand that our rallies shall be thus advertised. For there are more republican church goers than there are of all other political faiths combined.

As to the excuses for St. John, they will be regarded as rather transparent by the public who read, observe and think. That he should marry, then leave his young wife and go off "to get work!" In those days work was plenty anywhere in Illinois, and for him immediately after marriage to desert his wife for three months, looking for work, is not sufficiently credible easily to be swallowed. From the similarity in their treatment of the women who trusted in them it is no wonder that St. John felt a fellow-feeling for Cleveland, and staid in the field to help him. That it was St. John's purpose to help elect Cleveland is shown by the fact, that in every doubtful republican state, such as New York, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, he strained every nerve to get votes, knowing that they were nearly all drawn from Blaine. On the other hand, in doubtful southern democratic states no prohibition electoral ticket was put up. Yet, the prohibitionists claim more followers in the south than in the north.

A resident of this place recently returned from an extensive trip through Kansas and Iowa, and he ascertained that where St. John was best known he was most dispised. The republican party had taken him up and had made him what he was (of more reputation than he merited or could otherwise have obtained). Then after sucking that orange dry he cast it contemptuously aside, and not content with simply taking another he cursed that which had just nourished him. Such demagoguery is despicable. The puppet having strutted his brief hour upon the stage will now retire to the oblivion of a contemptible forgetfulness. And unless something is quickly done the W. C. T. U. will find itself buried with the Red Ribbon clubs, with a coroner's verdict of "It did not know that the blunderbuss was loaded which the democrats had left for it to pick up and fool with."

POOR CLEVELAND.

As president of the United States Mr. Cleveland will have 100,000 officers to appoint and one can judge somewhat of the difficulty he will labor under in making his selections by the clamor (already commenced) of the different factions and cliques and individuals that united to elect him. The majority by which he was chosen was so small that all claim the credit of electing him. For instance:

The northern democrats say we did it.
" solid south " " " "
" independents " " " "
" Oneida co. stalwarts " " " "
" prohibitionists " " " "
" Tammany-ites " " " "
" Greenbackers " " " "
" Irving hall crowd " " " "
" saloon-keepers " " " "
" syndicate of liars " " " "
Mr. Fisher says I " "
" Henry Ward Beecher " " " "
" Dan Manning " " " "
" "Mule" Barnum " " " "
" Gorman " " " "
" G. William Curtis " " " "
" Thos. Nast " " " "
" John Kelly " " " "
" Hubert Thompson " " " "
" Henri Watterson " " " "
" J. Gordon Bennett " " " "
" Carl Schurz " " " "

And so on through column after column. It is the big I with everyone. So the pathway of greatness is not very pleasant, after all. Truly,

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

CONGRESS convenes Monday next. Well, let it convene. Who cares?

PRESIDENT Cleveland has evidently taken a few lessons from the campaign. He tells his private secretary to "burn those letters."

WHY IS Begole like a used postage stamp? Give it up, do you? Because he has been licked and stamped out—no good any longer.

PLEASE tell us Bro. Democrats why 'tis so, that the cities cast large majorities for democrats and the country for republicans? Is it not a little strange?

IS IT not just a trifle peculiar that the Great Defrauded, Samuel Jones Tilden, has not as much as peeped since Cleveland's election? Why does he not congratulate Grover?

THE democratic tiger, the greenback lamb (inside the tiger) and the prohibition mule. These three animals are the ones that killed the republican elephant. But chiefly the mule. He was the hard kicker.

THE democratic board of education of New York City has resolved to exclude the poems of Wm. Cullen Bryant from the schools, because "they are second rate." The real because is that they are decent and moral, a thing a Tammanyite or a Thompsonite can not endure.

THE New York Herald, Times and Evening Post, together with Harper's Weekly, are pretty papers to talk about "a party that once stole the presidency." If it was stolen as asserted, they not only approved of it, but helped to do the stealing. It is a dirty bird that fouls its own nest.

THE Wayne county board of canvassers corrected their returns so as to elect Heuston, democrat, to the state senate, but refused to correct similar errors for Stoll, the republican who was honestly elected coroner by the people. This is a specimen of the democratic "reform" that we are to be treated to.

WOULD it not be wisdom in congress to submit to the states of the Union a proposition to so change the constitution of the United States that the term of the president shall be for six years instead of four, and a president not eligible to a second term? Also to change the law so that the presidential electors shall be elected by congressional districts, leaving two to be elected at large in each state?

O. M. Barnes, once chairman of the state central committee for the dem's, must be in his dotage. He is said to expect Cleveland to cut down taxes $100,000,000 per year. What slush, rot, gibberish. We will bet Mr. Barnes the price of a new tile that Cleveland will not reduce taxes $10,000. Furthermore, it is impossible for Cleveland to reduce taxes at all, unless he should turn a part of his salary back into the treasury, on the ground of his being a bachelor.

OFFICIAL returns from every county in the state except Gladwin, give the total vote in the state at over 404,000. The Blaine electors received 192,354 and the Cleveland electors 189,408, plurality for Blaine 2,946. Alger's plurality is 73,812, Buttars 2,251, Conant 4,230, Stevens 4,397, Butler 4,297, Newell 4,180, Taggart 3,354, Gass 3,608, Ballou 3,698. The Butler vote in the state was 41,390. The constitutional amendmenl relative to salaries of judges in the upper peninsula has been carried by 6,703 majority; and the amendment relative to salaries of legislators lost by 21,014 majority.

When a man bearing the good name and character of Hon. Wm. P. Wells, can go before a board of canvassers as he did in Detroit a few days since, and sanction a dishonest proposition to throw out honest votes on trivial technicalities, we have fallen upon evil times. Such men as he are looked upon to place their patriotism above their partisanship when the two come in conflict. But instead of so doing Mr. Wells allowed his partisanship to get the better of his honor, and from an unexpected source, from a professional politician, arose the honesty and manhood that prevented the consummation of a deed that would have forever left a stain and stigma upon the escutcheon of our fair state. There may be enough such men as the Hon. Don M. Dickinson in the ranks of the democratic party to save the nation from disgrace during the coming four years, but it is a dangerous experiment.

In their talks with prominent men the New York Tribune of a recent date gives the following:

In lower Broadway, ex-Governor James M. Ashley, of Ohio, is seen for a moment. "I haven't had any time to bother with politics But such blunders as I have seen made are simply wonderful. If we had a man managing a canvass for constable out west who should make such blunders as were made by both national committees, we should run him out of the township. The Burchard business could and should have been averted. Why, when I was managing Salmon P. Chase's political affairs we always calculated that on any committee which was to wait on him at least one-half were cranks. I saw the manuscript of every speech or address they proposed to make to him, and I saw also his reply. Mr. Blaine made a splendid, a magnificent canvass. The continent has never seen its equal, and never will again."

CAPT. E. P. ALLEN.

The Adrian Times has a few kind words to say of Mr. Allen that we believe our readers ought to hear:

The republicans of this congressional district have but one opinion touching their candidate for congress in the late campaign, the Hon. E. P. Allen; that is that he did honor to himself, to his party, and justified the judgment that selected him as standard bearer in the contest.

Capt. Allen's stoutest political opponents were forced to concede his eminent fairness in his speeches, and his political friends were given a most pleasant surprise.

It is no disparagement to the strength or ability of any other republican in the district, to say that there is not one who could have made a better, stronger canvass than did Capt. Allen. His wonderful run in his own county, where he was best known, showed his great strength. He ran ahead of his ticket at every polling place in Washtenaw. He was stronger than his ticket in every county in the district save Lenawee, the home of his opponent, his excess of votes in the district, over the presidential electors, being in the neighborhood of 800.

Eldredge's plurality of 682 of two years ago in this county, was all wiped out, and a republican plurality substituted.

Capt. Allen has reason to be proud of the run he made, and the army of friends he has won. Were the contest to be tried over again to-morrow, his election would be a certainty, for the paltry majority against him would be more than overcome by the votes of men who now regret most heartily that they did not vote for him on the 4th day of November.

The republicans of the district, having come to know Capt. Allen, and to appreciate the man, are not likely to forget his gallant fight and the manly way he bore himself all through the contest. Perhaps the time may come when they will be able to express their appreciation of him in a way that shall be to his personal advantage, and to the best interests of the district.

Dr. Alger remains only one more Sunday in the city. No one can afford not to hear so able a thinker and finished a speaker. Dr. Alger will be followed by Rev. M. J. Savage, the popular preacher of Unity church, Boston, Mass., for one Sunday.

Some men are very brave when they think they have an enemy down, and kick at their fallen foe lustily. After reading the editorial in the last Argus repecting Capt. Allen, we are fully convinced that the editor of that paper is one of that kind. It isn't very magnanimous in him to talk so mean of Mr. Allen after he he has been defeated.

Ye local has been quietly informed that the Star Mountain silver mining company, of this city, of which notice has been given in these columns, has not been brought into actual existence and probably never will be. And yet, if those very stockholders should suddenly become very wealthy, we shall always surmise that a "still hunt" for silver did it.

A local Sunday school institute will be held in the Methodist church, commencing on Thursday evening and closing with a union meeting on Sunday evening, Nov. 30th. Addresses will be delivered on Friday evening by Mr. J. H. Pilcher, of Jackson, and on Saturday evening by Mr. Horace Hitchcock, of Detroit. All interested in Sunday school work are invited to attend any of these meetings.

The following from the Sauk Rapids, (Minn.) Sentinel, may have some local interest from the fact that Mr. Carpenter was a former resident of this county, a son of Justus Carpenter, who removed to Minnesota several years ago:

One of the bets made on the election was settled last Friday afternoon by Mr. S. P. Carpenter wheeling Mr. A. J. Demeules, in a wheelbarrow, from Demeules' store to Mr. Wood's store and back. The wheelbarrow was decorated with portraits of Cleveland and Hendricks, and Mr. Demeules was perched on top, with a rooster in one hand and a placard bearing the legend "Times have changed" in the other.

Intelligence has been received in this city of the death of Dr. Geo. A. Harding at his home in Sault St. Marie, on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 20th, of typhoid fever. Dr. Harding was a graduate of the medical department, class of '79, was well known to many of the people of this city, and universally beloved by his acquaintances. He married the daughter of Collins B. Cook, Miss Carrie, a few years ago, to whom in this sad bereavement is tendered the sympathies of many friends.

A writer in Every Saturday, Detroit's society paper, thus describes the station house of the M. C. R. R. in this city: "A low, narrow, dingy building, much in need of paint; an interior with unplastered walls, an old cracked stove, and floor liberally painted with tobacco juice; such is the station in Ann Arbor." In the dim haziness of vernal spring a majestic structure looms up—as yet in imagination—but it looms, just the same—which will forever do away with the M. C.'s standing skeleton in this city.

"Say, Mr. Editor, what do you mean by plurality and majority? I don't understand the use of the words. I had supposed that the man who received the most votes had the majority, but it seems he has only a plurality." This was said by a gentleman who is considered a man of good understanding, and goes to prove how few there are who really understand this matter. We will explain the best we know how. When but two candidates are running for an office one or the other must have a majority. There can be no plurality in that instance. But when there are more than two candidates for the same office, and no one candidate has a majority of all the votes cast at the election the number of votes he has over his highest opponent is called a plurality. In brief, "majority" means over all, "plurality" the greatest number.

Poetical Quotations Politically Applied.

They may be considered rather late, but it must be remembered that it has taken republicans about two weeks to catch their breath since the late political cyclone:

BLAINE:
With fame, in just proportion envy grows,
The man that makes a character, makes foes.

BEGOLE:
There was an Old Guv. named Josiar,
Re-election was his great desiar,
But a begged railroad pass,
Sent his hopes all to grass,
And knocked the Old Guv. sky-hiar.

ELDREDGE:
I've touched the highest point of all my greatness,
And from the full meridian of my glory
I haste now to my setting.

MOSHER:
He cast off his friends as a huntsman his pack,
(He can whistle and whistle, they never'll come back).

HONEY:
We must take the bitter with the sweet.

HARRIMAN:
I am with you once again.

KEMPF:
'Tis better to have run and won
Than never to have run.
(You bet).

CRAMER:
'Twas ever thus,
From childhood's hour I've seen my fondest hopes decay.

YECKLEY:
Lost! lost! lost!
A gem of countless price.
(12½ cts. per meal and lodging).

WALSH:
"I may be president yet."
(Cleveland was once sheriff).

BATES:
It bates all—it bate me.

ROBISON:
'Tis strange there should such difference be,
Twixt tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.
(209 in '82; 1052 in '84).

DURHEIM:
And storm and darkness, ye are wondrous strong.
(The weather did it).

KEARNS:
My heart's as light as the wind's that blow,
The leaves from off the trees-es.

CASE:
It was the Germans in this Case knifed me.

BELSER:
Oh! my fader vas deutcher,
My mudder vas deutcher,
And I vas deutcher too.
Lah, lah, lah, up de-dah!

BRENNAN:
'Tis far off,
And rather like a dream than an assurance.

NORRIS:
Oh! how glorious 'tis
To right th' oppressed, and bring the felon vile
To just disgrace.

WALKER:
If at first you don't succeed,
Try, try again.

SUTTON:
The grand debate,
The popular harrangue, the tart reply,
The logic and the wisdom, and the wit,
And the loud laugh—I long to know them all.

WING:
The long, long tail that glorified
That glorious donkey's hinder side.
(It was a kicker).

Supervisors in the Salt Business.

As a basis of taxation the board of supervisors have fixed the value of the taxable property of Washtenaw county at $30,000,000. Of this sum the city of Ann Arbor pays state and county taxes on $4,660,000. Now every principle of right and justice and even common decency would seem to require that the city should be represented on the committee of equalization and have one vote at least in defense of her rights. This year the just claims of the citizens in this respect are entirely set aside. This is cowardly in the extreme, and is the quintesence of meanness, for the city at best is at the mercy of the country districts, for they have twenty votes against three in the city. I inquired of several members of the board why the city, which paid such a large portion of the state and county taxes, was allowed no voice in fixing the value of city property and telling the committee what it consisted of and how they had assessed it. They generally looked as wise as owls but said little or nothing in reply, but I persevered until I found one member who told me confidentially that he had heard it intimated that the city was to be salted. Now the word "salt," used in the sense it is here, is not an elegant word, but it is a word full of meaning, and in this case it means to take the burdens of taxation from the country and place them on the city of Ann Arbor. I see the COURIER says the report of the committee on equalization was adopted without the usual bitter contest. It would be strange indeed if there were bitter contests when every member of the committee was selected from the country and all they had to do to settle their little differences was to salt the city of Ann Arbor, and they did it most effectually. Last year they salted this city $100,000. This year it has been salted $83,000, making a total in two years of $183,000. Members of the equalization committee have told me that they invited the city members to come in and make such statements in regard to city property as they might deem proper. But they virtually said to them it is true that we are not equalizing the property of the county this year but simply salting the city of Ann Arbor, but come in, we will be glad to see you. Now, while it is true that the city supervisors were ignominiously set aside, and were utterly powerless to help themselves, they were not fools, and they saved the city from the disgrace of appearing before that committee when they knew that it had already been settled that the city must be salted. But the city say that the property of the city has increased in value while that in the country has decreased. In the fifth ward of this city where my home is, I know that much of the real estate has decreased in value one-third at least during the last ten years. In regard to the real estate in the other wards of this city, I freely admit that I am not very well posted, and probably in this respect I am ignorant about it as the committee who fixed a value on it and taxed it without representation on the part of the city. Now, from what little I know about the value of real estate in the city and from what I know about its value in the country, I am of the opinion that real estate in the city on an average is valued at least twenty per cent. higher than it is in the country. Now let us see if real estate has decreased in value in Northfield within the last three years, and as I am an old man and Supervisor Purtell is a young man, I have no doubt he will assist me in settling this question. In 1882, Supervisor Walsh valued the real estate of Northfield at $804,830. In 1883, Supervisor Purtell said real estate had increased in value, and fixed the sum at $811,330. The present year he has corrected his own figures and has fixed the value of his real estate at $815,020 This shows a steady increase in the value of real estate in Northfield. But the reader may say that if Supervisor Purtell is steadily increasing the assessment valuation of the real estate in his township why do you find fault with him? Simply for the reason that Northfield has never paid one cent of tax on his increased valuation. He places it on his roll to make it look a little more respectable, and then he goes before the committee with tears in his eyes and begs of them to strike it off again and salt the city with it. This year the committee owed him a debt of gratitude for placing them where they could take care of their own districts, and they very gladly complied with his request. As briefly as I can I now propose to show that real estate in Northfield is equalized at a very low figure. I do not select that township because I think it is valued lower than any other township, for I do not, but I select it mainly for the reason that I am well acquainted in that town and claim to know something about the value of real estate there. And here again I must call on Supervisor Purtell to assist me. In 1881 Supervisor Purtell says that Northfield contains 23,234 acres of land. This year the real estate of that township is equalized at $801,990. This gives an average value of real estate in Northfield of about $34.50 per acre. I have recently requested several old settlers of Northfield to tell me how many farms in their township could be bought for $34.50 per acre. The answer has been in every case that they did not know of any. Supervisor Purtell knows and I know there are a vast number of farms in Northfield that are worth from $40 to $80 per acre. I should not have called attention to his outrage by low assessment of his real estate had it not been for the fact that he has relieved his township within the last two years of $45,000, and has brought it here and dumped it on the city of Ann Arbor, which was already overburdened with taxes. Now, let us see who beside the chairman has profited by this infamous salting business. Supervisor Braun, whose district is almost a part of the city itself, said he hardly knew whether the real estate in the city or in the country was equalized the highest. So he generously gave himself the benefit of the doubt and took $10,000 from Ann Arbor town and shoved it on the city. The supervisor of Sylvan got a reduction of $10,000 and flung it upon the city. But what shall I say about Scio? The supervisor of that town seems to be an expert in this salting business, and was no doubt a great help to the salting committee, for he took $40,000 with their consent, and placed it on the city, and after that he had the cheek to go before the board and make a motion that $20,000 more be taken from his township and added to the city. I have been told by several members of the board that they were so disgusted with this last proposition from Scio that if any member had made a motion to take the $40,000 which the committee had taken from Scio and placed upon the city, and return it to that township where it honestly belonged, it would have carried. Supervisor Graves of Ypsilanti town was a member of that salting committee, and I am not surprised that he reduced his township $10,000, but he refused to place the burden of this on the city of Ypsilanti. He knows that it is for his interest to build up his own city. There is where he sells his beef and pork. There is where he sells his apples and potatoes, and no doubt there is where he gets his moral and religious instruction. Perhaps the supervisor in the vicinity of Ann Arbor might do well to follow his example. I have now showen where $80,000, the result of this salting business, has been placed, but it seems the committee had on hand a little surplus of $3,000, having salted the city a little more than was necessary, and what to do with it they did not know. The committee could not and would not submit to any further reduction of their taxes, but Supervisor Graves, who seems to be a very kind hearted man, helped them out of their difficulty by donating the benefit of it to Ypsilanti city, and so Ann Arbor city will pay the taxes on it. Now $3,000 would seem like a small reduction to satisfy the greed of a city like Ypsilanti, but the reader must bear in mind that Ypsilanti city has been reduced in value $105,000 within the last three years, while the city of Ann Arbor has been raised $190,000 in the same time, and I have no doubt that Supervisor Yost put on one of his blandest smiles when the committee reported on the valuation of his city. Now, while it is true that some of the country districts, like Northfield for instance, have not within a few years increased very much in value, it is equally true that some of them have. Railroads have been built, depots established, beautiful hamlets have sprung into existence, as if by magic, and fine thriving villages are now being built in some of the districts, adding tens of thousands of dollars yearly to their value, but the committee have failed to find a single district in Washtenaw county, outside of Ann Arbor city, which has increased in value one dollar within the last year. They seem to have been so intent on salting the city of Ann Arbor that they lost sight of every other district.

I would like to call the attention of the reader to a communication in last week's COURIER, signed by an "outsider," but I will wait until Supervisor Wheeler of Salem, and Supervisor Yost of Ypsilanti, get over their laugh about his statement that Salem and the first district of Ypsilanti are paying the taxes of York and Sylvan. In conclusion let me say to the county supervisors: You are a noble band. You have made a gallant fight. You have marched up to the city of Ann Arbor, armed with your twenty votes, and you have conquered the three city supervisors. Your triumph over the city is complete. But it is a triumph of might over right, and while you may rejoice in the smiles of your constituents over this victory, it can be only for a season, and when a few more years have been added to the past, and the shadows of evening are gathering around you, it can only be to you, in the language of the great poet, Burns, a source of "regret, remorse, and shame." WINES—Nov. 21st, 1884, of tabes mesenterica, at the residence of her parents in the Sixth ward, Pearl Ethel Wines, only daughter of Abraham B. and Juliaett J. Wines, aged 2 years, 2 months and 14 days.

From our arms and our home circle,
Little one, how much we miss thee,
Though we know from pain and sorrow
Thou art now forever free.

Yes, loved one, 'twas hard to place thee
In the cold and silent grave;
All we have we would have given
Thy young life, our child, to save.

Yet, by faith, we know we'll meet thee
In that land of peaceful rest;
Then again, and oh, how fondly,
Thou shalt be by us caressed! J. H. S.

Besides the fancy and useful articles, there will be refreshments. An admittance fee of ten cents will be charged.

A narrow escape from the destruction by fire of his home was experienced by J. J. Goodyear, Monday night. A fireplace recently put in had been carelessly constructed and the wood work near it ignited. But for timely discovery the house would have burned. There should be some way to reach workmen who build chimneys lined with tar paper and wood. Such carelessness should be criminal.

The board of jail inspectors, consisting of the county superintendents of the poor and the county treasurer, made their semi-annual report to the circuit judge Nov. 25th. They found that there had been confined since last report 172 persons, 67 being for drunkenness, 15 disorderly, 12 larceny, 16 assault and battery, disorderly—second offense—23, assault with intent to kill, 5, and the balance for various crimes. Two of the prisoners were women.

Well, he has been caught. The famous confidence man, calling himself A. R. Boyle, the "pharmic," who took $480 away from here on forged drafts. He wasn't very sharp, after all. He went to Bay City and the Saginaws and played the same game, and got caught. City Marshal Fall, of this place, went to Saginaw Saturday, identified the fellow, and he confessed, but only a small amount of money was found on his person. It is expected that he will be brought here after being tried in Saginaw.

Who are candidates for the postoffice, did you ask? Well, we have heard mentioned Capt. Manly and Capt. Schuh, to start with, and Ben. Watts, W. R. Henderson, J. S. Capt. Schuh denies the story about giving $1,000 to take Co. A to Cleveland's inauguration. He would rather give that much to the worthy poor of this city, who are having a hard time of it this cold winter weather.

Guess we won't "give away" the boys who saunter off toward the "White house" every Sunday with empty canteens under their coat, and return filled—canteens and all—with apple juice, though we have been asked to do so.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Baptist church to-morrow, commencing at 11 o'clock, A. M., Rev. R. B. Pope preaching the sermon. The usual contribution for the benefit of the Ladies' Charitable Union will be taken up.

Miss Katie Burnett, daughter of Mrs. Rev. Sidney K. Beckwith, of Port Huron, died Wednesday last, from an operation performed for the removal of a tumor. The deceased was born and reared in Ann Arbor, and many there are who will regret to hear this news.

It is quite a compliment to Maj. Wm. C. Stevens, of this city, that he received the largest majority of any candidate upon the state ticket. It is also a rebuke to the unprincipled methods taken to compass his defeat. We congratulate Mr. Stevens and the people of the state, also.

Saturday afternoon last, as one of the lady clerk's in D. F. Schairer's cloak room was standing by the window, a stray shot hit the glass and shattered it. No one heard a report, or has any idea from whence the missile came, except that its course was upward, and evidently from a northeast direction.

Miss Kittie Moloney, well known in Ann Arbor as the writer of "On the Boards," an amateur play given here two years ago, has since that time been fitting herself for the stage and last week she appeared in Chicago in support of Lawrence Barrett. She has no small amount of talent in that direction.

As compared with 1883 the acreage of wheat in this county on the ground now, is 97 per cent., and the condition 110 per cent. The acreage of clover seed harvested this year was 125 per cent., and the yield per acre 140 per cent. In potatoes the acreage this year was 100 per per cent., and the yield 102 per cent.

Thos. H. Kearney, of Northfield, well known in this city, died Friday night last, of heart disease, aged about 75 years. Mr. Kearney was born in Tipperrary, Ireland, came to this county some 55 years ago, settling on the farm on which he has ever since resided, and was highly respected by friends and neighbors. He leaves an estate valued at some $30,000, and but one child, a son, to inherit it.

The anniversary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the M. E. church of this city, was held Sunday evening. Mrs. E. A. Royer presiding. After prayer by Mrs. Bourns, the secretary, Mrs. Geo. Douglass, read a remarkably fine report, followed by the report of the treasurer. Addresses were then delivered by Mrs. Pope and Mrs. H. W. Rogers. After which a contribution was taken up.

Mrs. Emily E. Leiter and daughter May, left Ann Arbor Thursday evening last for Fort Wayne, Ind., where they were met by Chas. A. Leiter, Mrs. L.'s husband, and all returned to Monroeville, Ind., to reside permanently. Many are the good wishes that follow them.

UNIVERSITY ITEMS.

The scholar is the favorite of heaven and earth; go where he will, the wise man is at home.—Emerson.

Fall & Hendrick furnished the senior medic's black silk ties.

One of the foremost judges in Japan is a graduate of the law department U. of M.

Prof. Adams was a captain in a student battalion organized in the university in 1863.

Friday evening the Psi U's gave a very enjoyable reception at their State st. mansion.

Quite a number of the students will eat roast turkey with "mother and the governor" to-morrow.

Mr. Lowrey's book upon the "Philosophy of Ralph Cudworth," is exciting considerable interest.

It was Prof. Otis C. Johnson who endorsed the plundering pharmic's forged dratt at the 1st National.

"The Search for God," was Dr Dewey's subject before the Student's Christian Association last Sunday.

Jerry W. Jenks, lit. '79, is now in Germany, his address being 37 Wilhelmstrasse, Halle a. s. Germany.

Jas. E. Pilcher, lit. class '79, is 1st lieut. and asst. surgeon U. S. army stationed at Camp Poplar River, Montana.

Prof. Proctor builded the "Great Pyramids," in an entertaining manner, at the university hall last Friday evening.

G. M. Bigelow, lit. class, '81, now an M. E. clergyman, stationed at Tawas City, Mich., was in town last Friday and Saturday.

A freshman is reported to be in trouble for trying to pierce one of the professors with—a glance of his eye. Dead failure, though.

The university of Florida has been endeavoring to secure the services of Wm. Westerman, of Adrian, as one of its law professors.

D. E. Osborne and wife arrived safely at Shanghai, October 6, after a pleasant voyage. They will spend the winter at Tientsin, North China.

Enthusiasm must have cooled off before Saturday night, or else that democratic ratification meeting caught cold and sneezed itself out. No one heard it.

The social given by the Student's Christian Association Saturday evening at the Episcopal parsonage, was a very enjoyable afair, and well attended.

The literary societies of Hillsdale college and the faculty thereof, are making pugilistic motions at each other, and a rupture is liable at any moment.

President Angell is of the opinion that the military spirit among the students would be apt to die out, and a department of that nature become a failure in the end.

The medical faculty are getting their teeth set in respect to behavior in the lecture rooms previous to evening lectures, and propose to have things a little more quiet.

Some ladies in the literary department are starting a chapter of the Delta Gamma society. It is a Greek-letter society which started in the south where now is its principal strength.

President Angell's lecture before the political science association on Wednesday evening last upon the diplomatic relations existing between France and China, was a masterly effort.

And now the democratic students in the university, have sent Cleveland a beautifully paraphrased edition of the Hendrick's resolutions. Over which Grover should express his unbounded delight.

The students at Harvard college have petitioned the authorities thereof to make attendance upon chapel voluntary for students over 21 years old, and optional with the parents of students who are under 21.

Judge Utt, of Dubuque, Iowa, who has become famous—(or infamous)—by a recent decision favoring the liquor men and opposing the prohibitory law of the state, is a graduate of the university, law class of '77.

The senior class did well Saturday. It elected three officers and again adjourned. The elect are: T. C. Phillips, of Calumet, Mich., president; Miss Carrie Bell, of Ann Arbor, vice president: J. O. Reed, of Newcastle, Ind., orator.

Although Chinese immigration is forbidden in this country the Cooleys are still coming. For instance a young female recently arrived at the house of Prof. M. E. Cooley. As the law does not cover this case the stranger will be allowed to stay.

Speaking of the fact that the attendance of ladies at the university is gradually increasing, the Owosso Times says: "That is pleasant news to those of us who fought the battle which resulted in opening the doors of the university to the daughters of Michigan."

Detroit Every Saturday: "Prof. Chas. H. Stowell of the Michigan University has recently published a 'Student's manual of Histology.' The book has 370 pages of matter of great interest to students of microscopy, and is illustrated with 178 fine plates. Prof. Stowell has had the requisite experience to make this work a valuable addition to scientific libraries."

Some of the Harvard students—supposed—recently bedaubed the fine statue of John Harvard, lately placed upon the grounds of that institution, with paint. A miserable and wanton deed. Talk about eastern civilization! There is not a heathen in a western college who would harbor a thought of such a deed for a moment.

One of the prettiest games of foot-ball ever played here was the one Saturday between the University and Chicago elevens. The visitors were heavier men, but being Englishmen they had been accustomed to different Rugby rules. This made the two sides well balanced, and a hot contest ensued. It resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 18 to 10.

Black plugs now grace the heads of the senior medics, and as the junior lits. have the same sort of a chapeau, it is a great puzzle among the young ladies to tell which is which, and which is 'tother. Bevies of the gentler sex organize themselves into a guessing school when they observe a black plug approaching, and innumerable wagers of gum and taffy are lost and won on the identity of the wearer.

The most powerful argument yet produced in favor of more light late in the evening in the halls of the main buildings is a little incident that happened there not long since. An upper classman while coming down stairs from a late recitation rushed up to a co-ed and with a swoop of his right arm encircled her neck, saying: "Hello, Bill, old boy. How'de do." When the time for red fire and slow music came he might have been seen hanging from the window sill of the 4th story hall blushing like a house afire.—Chronicle.

A few evenings since S. B. Parsons and his chum, W. A. Connell, both senior laws, rooming on S. Twelfth st., attended an entertainment at the opera house. Upon returning to their rooms they found that some one had been there in their absence and "gone through" their trunks. Parsons lost about $40 and Connell $50 in cash. The pocketbooks were left, but a fine edition of Shakespeare belonging to Parsons was stolen. These gentlemen had their room raided last year, and Connell's gold watch, valued at $150 was taken; but what is a little singular, the chain attached to it, worth some $25, was left. This year the same chain was in the trunk with his pocketbook, and was again left. The boys feel that they are having hard luck.

The following account of the foot-ball game between Albion and the Universities is taken from the Albion Republican:

The College Foot-Ball "11" and an extra with their judge, went to Ann Arbor last Saturday. Arrived there about 11 a. m., and spent most of the time till 1.30 in sight-seeing—some in the university buildings and others in the fraternity halls. Game was called about 3 p. m. The first goal was obtained in about five minutes by the Ann Arbor boys. The second goal by them also, but it took them about 35 minutes and the third goal they did not gain till time had been called. But the count was allowed, thus giving them 18, and we had a goose egg. Our heaviest man weighed 168 pounds, theirs 208 pounds. Our quarter back could throw perhaps 30 feet, theirs has thrown 119. Their goal-keeper kicked the ball over both bars from the center, thus making a kick of 165½ feet. Our goal-keeper, Hagie, downed every man he tackled. "We went to learn how to play Rugby, and are now a much stronger team than before the visit. Only played one inning, as Gordon and Hagie were injured. We all enjoyed the visit, and came home feeling that when we want a good time we shall start for the university.

Make $20.00 For Christmas.

The publisher of Rutledge's Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their monthly for December, among which is the following:

We will give $20.00 to the person tells us the middle verse of the New Testament Scriptures (not the Revised Edition) by December 10th, 1884. Catarrh

Is undoubtedly caused by impure blood. Hence a medicine which purifies the blood removes the cause of the disease and opens the way for a thorough cure. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, and it makes the cure complete by giving the system health and strength, and enabling it to throw off the depressing effects of the disease.

Catarrh

Is permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mr. A. Ball, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything I ever used."

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and think it has done me a great deal of good. I recommend it to all within my reach. Hood's Sarsaparilla has been worth everything to me." LUTHER D. ROBBINS, East Thompson, Conn.

Catarrh

May be breaking down your health. Be wise in time! That flow from the nose, ringing noise in the ears, pain in the head, inflammation of the throat, cough, and nervous prostration will be cured if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I had been troubled by general debility, caused by catarrh and humors. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit from it." H. F. MILLETT, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

BACH & ABEL'S COLUMN.

CLOAK GOSSIP
AT
BACH & ABEL'S

Even at the risk of being thought overboastful, we really wish to repeat a few of the complimentary things which are constantly being said of our garments by kindly disposed customers.

"You cannot possibly speak too strong about our cloak collection," says a saleslady at our elbow. "I know that it has no equal in the county, and not ten minutes in the day passes that some pleased customer does not corroborate this statement."

Said one of our lady patrons to an attendant only yesterday. "I am charmed with the beauty of your wraps, but would like to look a little further before purchasing."

"Excuse the intrusion," said a lady sitting near her, "and permit me to tell you my experience. I have hunted the city over, and have seen every stock in it worth seeing, but have found none equal to this. Look where you will, I feel sure it will end in your purchasing here." And so it did.

Said another lady customer, "it seems odd to tell, but I was sent here from ——'s (naming a fashionable cloak store) they had tried in vain to fit me, when in my dissapointment, I remarked to a strange lady visitor: How I wish I could find something truly becoming? There seems to be nothing here."

"I think," was the reply, "you will scarcely fail in getting suited at Bach & Abel's. I have just come from there, and am more than satisfied with my purchase." And, thanks to that lady, her recommendation made for us another sale.

To make a long story short, our continued success has so far spoiled us that, when going to look elsewhere does not end in a return customer, we feel as though our bread had fallen upon the buttered side.

Perhaps one of the best evidences that an oily tongue is not at the bottom of our sales is, the large number of our orders by mail, through which agency goods are constantly being sent on approval without other note or comment than the garment asked for, with price ticket affixed, and it is a cold day when we don't make a sale.

Notwithstanding the immense increase in our cloak business over that of every previous year, the assortment is still full and prices lower, owing to several recent reductions very much below their original prices.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS.

What we have said about ladies' cloaks, will apply equally well to children's garments. We have a fine assortment of Sacques, Havelock and Newmarkets in plain and mixed cloths and plaids, with astrakan and plush trimmings and are everywhere complimented upon the gracefulness of shape and our very reasonable prices.

Sizes run from 4 to 16 years, and some large reductions are shown in several desirable late purchases.

BACH & ABEL.

The Hunter Sifter Manufacturing Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, want a good agent in this county. Their goods sell fast, agents make two to six dollars per day. Write for circulars.

Do not forget our splendid stock of book cases and secretaries,
KOCH & HALLER.

A very fine assortment of Rattan goods can now be found at Koch & Haller's.

THE NEWS.

Compiled from Late Dispatches.

DOMESTIC.

ISAAC JOHNSON was hanged at Canton, Miss., on the 19th for the murder of Bella Booker.

A KEROSENE lamp exploded recently in the apartments of Mrs. Rosa Murtha, in Williamsburg, N. Y., and the burning oil was scattered over Mrs. Murtha and her daughter, aged twenty-four. Before the flames could be extinguished they were fatally burned.

A SUGAR-HOUSE on the Armant plantation in St. James Parish, La., owned by Oliver Birne, together with 150,000 pounds of sugar, was burned on the 19th. Loss, $150,000.

BY the wrecking of a freight train the other morning near Rayville, La., four tramps were killed.

IN Baltimore on the evening of the 19th Charles Leopold was accepted by Miss Bettie Winterbauer, a handsome brunette. A few minutes afterward he drew a revolver in a careless manner, accidentally shooting his betrothed in the side with fatal results.

AT New York on the 19th Louis Gueld shot his brother fatally and killed himself. They had come from Canton, O., were returning to France, and had been drinking heavily for two or three days.

DAKOTA'S new capitol, at Bismarck, having been completed, Governor Pierce on the 19th issued a proclamation, under the Removal act, requiring all Territorial officers to be at Bismarck within thirty days.

THE American Humane Association met in eighth annual convention on the 19th at Pittsburgh, Pa.

AN unknown disease was on the 19th decimating households in Buchanan, Wise and Dickinson Counties, Va., where in some instances four corpses had been found under one roof. Wells and springs had been absorbed by the drought, and the little water that remained was supposed to be tainted with mineral poisons, which were causing the mortality.

FORTY coal-miners, when arraigned the other day at Washington, Pa., for interfering with non-Union workmen, made no defense, and were each fined one cent and costs.

IN Marshall County, Ala., the other night, Robert Howard, a leading farmer, went to James Peake's house to settle an old grudge. Peake divined his purpose and shot Howard through the abdomen, but the latter, raising himself with an effort, shot Peake dead. Mrs. Peake then rushed upon Howard, but met the same fate meted out to her husband. When neighbors arrived all three were found to be dead.

THE sixteenth annual convention of the American Woman's Suffrage Association began in Hershey Music Hall, Chicago, on the 19th. Addresses were made by Mrs. Lucy Stone, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and others.

SIX lives were lost by the recent explosion of the boiler of the steamer Captain Sam, plying between Selma and Montgomery, Ala.

OVER eight inches of snow fell at Bellows Falls, Vt., on the 19th.

A GRAND jury at New York on the 19th indicted Sullivan and Greenfield for indulging in a prize-fight.

THE wages of five thousand employes in the twenty-eight ingrain carpet mills in Philadelphia were on the 20th reduced from sixteen to twenty per cent.

EXTENSIVE forest fires were raging on the 20th in Mitchell County, N. C., beyond the Blue Ridge. Immense quantities of timber and fencing had been destroyed, and a number of houses were swept away.

AT New York on the 20th the suit of the Lamar estate against the Secretary of the Treasury to recover $110,000 for cotton taken during the war was dismissed in the United States District Court.

CARR & HOBSON, agricultural implement manufacturers at Bergen Point, N. J., have failed. In January last the concern owed $110,000, with assets of $357,000.

GEORGE T. ADEE, an aged capitalist of New York, dropped dead in the Bank of Commerce a few days ago from heart-disease.

A CONFLAGRATION, caused by torches and fire-works used by Democrats, destroyed a large portion of the business section of Hickman, Ky., the other night, the loss reaching $125,000.

AT the convention of the American Humane Association in Pittsburgh on the 20th John G. Shortall, of Chicago, was elected President for the ensuing year.

THE strange disease recently reported as prevailing in Virginia also exists in Kentucky and West Virginia, where whole families have been swept away, and thirty or more new graves are seen in a small cemetery. The people call it cholera for want of a better name, and the malady upholds its dreadful title, victims, upon being seized, seldom living longer than twenty-four hours.

CARRIAGE hardware manufacturers representing $4,000,000 capital formed a National Association on the 20th at Meriden, Conn., and decided upon a pooling combination for the restriction of goods placed upon the market.

THE annual report of the Commissioner of Agriculture shows that during the past year the value of farm products has in the aggregate more than doubled, increasing from $1,600,000,000 to $3,600,000,000 in round numbers.

AMOS A. SOUTHWICK, late cashier of the defunct Ashtabula (O.) Loan Association, was arrested on the 20th on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $30,000 of the funds of the bank.

CLERGYMEN of various sects held a meeting recently at New Haven, Conn., and agreed to hold a congress of American churches in that city next May.

ARTHUR CLARK, a sailor, was found dying on the 20th in a New York boarding-house of yellow fever. No other persons in the building were ill.

ADAMS & LEONARD, private bankers at Dallas, Tex., have failed, the liabilities being estimated at $500,000.

A FIRE at Haverhill, Mass., recently destroyed a hotel and several stores, involving a total loss of about $25,000. A girl was fatally injured in jumping from the hotel windows, and the inmates generally experienced very narrow escapes.

Two hunters on the 21st found the dead body of a young and pretty woman, neatly dressed, in Baltimore County, Md. A ring on her finger bore the inscription: "Mizpah, May 1, 1883," and on the back of her gold watch were the words: "Frank to Gertrude." In a purse in the pocket of her gown was $32.

DURING the declamation exercises on the 21st at the Montgomery Bell Academy of Nashville, Tenn., Robert Eddington, a boy of seventeen, was reciting "Hohenlinden" when he paused, confused and forgetful of the poem. His face withered, and he started to his seat, when he fell dead on the floor. Heart-disease was the cause.

BENJAMIN HEFNER, a wife murder, killed himself in jail at Lima, O., the other night.

A STREET-CAR dashed down the incline in Butler street at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 21st, and, jumping the track, ran on the sidewalk for a block, when the horses fell, and the car passed over them, inflicting injuries which necessitated their being killed. The twenty-three passengers on board were badly bruised, two of them seriously.

NOTICES have been posted in the cotton mills at Petersborough, N. H., Hopedale, and Fall River, Mass., and in the iron mills at Pittsburgh, Pa., of heavy cuts in wages.

THE Matthews House at Duluth, Minn., was burned the other evening, the guests losing all their effects. M. J. Kolsmech was suffocated, and two variety actresses were lowered from a window by a negro, who then had to jump for his life.

TWO CHILDREN of William Creed were drowned a few days ago near Mitchell, D. T.

A FUND of $1,200 was raised in a few moments at the National Cattlemen's Convention at St. Louis on the 21st for the relief of the Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky drought sufferers.

ACUTE typhoid dysentery was the medical name given on the 21st to the fatal scourge which has recently broken out in the western portions of Virginia. One hundred and fifty deaths had occurred in Wise County alone.

WHILE being warmed by workmen the other day at Worcester, Mass., several powder cartridges exploded, one of the men being killed, two injured, and all the windows in the vicinity wrecked.

E. E. JOHNSON, formerly Northern Pacific express agent, accused of embezzling $18,000, was acquitted on the 21st at Walla Walla, W. T.

A STATUE, representing the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers, will be erected in Central Park, New York, by the New England Society.

DURING a quarrel which commenced in a saloon at Sherman, Tex., on the 21st J. W. Atkins and his son Henry and an officer were shot dead and two other persons were seriously wounded.

OLIVER BATEMAN, who murdered and outraged the little McLaughlin girls, was hanged on the 21st at Savannah, Mo. John Bush (colored) was executed at Lexington, Ky., for murder committed six years ago. He had had ten trials.

DURING the twenty-four hours ended at nine p. m. on the 21st there were twenty-three deaths from cholera at Paris, fourteen at Oran, one at Nantes and eighteen at Compeigne.

THREE children of John Roader perished by fire in his farm-house, near Vassar, Mich., a few days ago, while the parents were at work in the fields.

THE Commercial Hotel, town market and thirteen other buildings at Wilson, N. C., were burned the other morning.

AT New York on the 21st Rev. W. H. Ramscar, Superintendent of the Home for Children and Seminary for Girls, was convicted of sending children out to beg, and was sentenced to thirty days in the city prison and to pay a fine of $100.

IN the United States and Canada there were 283 business failures during the seven days ended on the 21st, against 209 the previous seven days. The distribution was as follows: Middle States, 66; New England States, 30; Western, 76; Southern, 57; Pacific States and Territories, 22; Canada, 32.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

MR. BLAINE was serenaded at his home in Augusta on the evening of the 18th by personal and political friends, and made a short address, thanking the Republicans of the country for their indorsement, and expressing hope for the future.

OFFICIAL returns from the recent election in Texas give Cleveland 138,695; Blaine, 53,522; Butler, 2,304; St. John, 2,468; Belva Lockwood, 10.

THE official vote for President in Alabama at the recent election is: Cleveland, 92,973; Blaine, 59,444; Butler, 762; St. John, 610.

HON. JOSEPH E. BROWN was on the 18th re-elected United States Senator by the Georgia Legislature.

IN New York, on the 18th, in presence of only their most intimate friends, M. O. Wilson and Miss Carrie Astor, youngest daughter of William Astor, were married by Rev. Dr. Dix. Lifted Up

A happy surprise it was to Mr. A. H. Norton, of Bristol, Conn., when ATHLOPHOROS put him on his feet, and set him cheerfully about his business. Let him tell his own story:

"About three weeks ago I was taken with a severe crick in the back. For four days I was unable to turn in bed without help, and when lifted up could not stand on my feet. I was induced to try ATHLOPHOROS, after all the usual remedies failed. In 20 minutes after taking the first dose I could bear my weight upon my feet. In two days I was able to get about and attend to business. In two other cases which have come to my knowledge its use has been attended with the same results."

A poor man in Philadelphia had to borrow a dollar to buy a bottle of ATHLOPHOROS On account of his poverty his name should be a secret. He had suffered terribly from rheumatism. He gratefully writes:

"I took my first dose Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday, after but seven doses, I had not a sharp or severe ache left. Then I reduced the dose one-half and took the remainder of the bottle. I was able to be steady at work the next day, when I took a severe cold and was unable to use my left hand. I purchased another bottle and by bed-time I found relief. The medicine is all you claim for it."

Investigate ATHLOPHOROS all you please! Find all the fault you choose with it! and yet the fact remains, that it is doing what no other medicine ever could do for Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a fine blood depurent, arational cathartic, and a superb anti-bilious specific. It rallies the failing energies of the debilitated, and checks premature decay. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dyspepsia and bowel complaints are among the evils that it entirely removes. In tropical countries where the liver and bowels are organs most unfavorably affected by the combined influence of climate, diet and water, it is a very necessary safeguard. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

This Idea of Going West

to Colorado or New Mexico, for pure air to relieve Consumption, is all a mistake. Any reasonable man would use Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup for Consumption in all its first stages.
