Baking Powder Figures THAT DON'T LIE!

The Royal Baking Powder Co. try to give the inference that their powder con tains more Cream Tartar and that its Leavening Power is greater than any other made, as stated in their advertisement on the "Comparative Worth of Baking Powders," exhibited by black lines. Our name was mentioned in connection with one of our cheaper brands, made of different materials as the trade might demand. Our Cream Tartar brand of Andrew's Pearl was omitted, evidently for a very good reason, judging from the relative merits of Andrew's Pearl" and the Royal, as clearly demonstrated by the Government Chemist, Dr. Peter Collier of the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, from samples eceived by him from dealers who furnished the samples from their stocks on hand

DR. COLLIERS' ANALYSIS

C. E. Andrews & Co.-Gentlemen: I received by expres from Thos. Lydon and J. P. Harkins & Co. Grand Ave., Milwaukee, and Harper Bros., Chica o, Ill, samples of Andrews' Pearl and Royal Bak ng Powders. The cans were in good condition when received and the seals unbroken. I find upon analysis that Andrews Pearl Baking Powder contains about four and a hal: (4½) per cent. more cream tartar than the Royal Baking Powder, and a proportionately larger percentage of carbonic acid gas, and I find it to be free from alum, and any injurious sub-

ANDREWS' PEARL

ROYAL No wonder the Royal Co. omitted Andrews' Pearl from their "Comparative List," as Government Chemist Collier's analysis shows conclusively two things: 1st, That Andrews' Pearl contains more Cream Tartar than the Royal, as shown by the cuts above; 2d, That the Leavening Power of Andrews' Pearl is greater than the Royal, as shown by the two black lines above.

Mistaken Identity.

Under the above caption the Detroit Free Press of last Sunday refers to a couple of Washtenaw citizens. The fol-owing is the article: When Judge Chauncey Joslyn was twenty years younger than he is now he bore a remarkable resemblance to Stephen A. Douglas. During the campaign of 1860 Judge Joslyn was in Chicago, and while there was greatly surprised to have a distinguished looking man approach him and addressing him as "Judge," request a private interview. When they had seated themselves in Judge Joslyn's room at the hotel, the visitor began to un fold some political plans, which, he said, would be of great importance in the cam-mistake and wondering what the man meant by consulting an entire stranger on me mistake. I don't see what I have to do with your political schemes." "Aren't you Judge Douglas?" asked the stranger in amazement.

again in the smoking room of the hotel when he became aware that he was being gazed at by all the persons in the room. He understood the reason, now, but as one after another came up to shake his hand he felt very much annoyed at the distinction that was thrust upon him. He finally took a large card and wrote on it: "I am not Judge Douglas. I am Chauncy Joslyn, of Michigan." He says that he was compelled to show that card to no less than 500 people during his stay in

The County Jail.

The following report of Dr. W. F. Breakey, who was physician to the county jail for the year 1883, gives about as good a description of that institution as any one could possibly write up at this date, He' as is respectfully referred to the tax-pay-> of malarial fevers, rheumatism, bronchitis, pneumonia, tonsilitis, diseases of the genito-urinary organs, and diarrhœa, together with some minor cases of illness and injury. Fortunately no case of contagious disease has occurred though there have been numerous cases of diseases more or less communicable. Between fifty and sixty visits to these were made, frequently prescribing for and dispensing medicine for several patients at each visit.

> change for the better if I did not urgently call attention to this subject, which, to speak of it in no other light (I do not propose to consider the moral and humanitarian aspect of the question), is inseparable from the question of sickness and medical attendance. That there is not more sickness is probably due to the short time that most of the prisoners are confined at one commitment and to the efforts of the authorities in charge to disinfect as thoroughly as > possible to keep the air at all pure at the best, and it is sometimes so foul as to be sickening, particularly when it is crowded windows open. There is no hospital facilities, not even room to which a prisoner taken sick in poses. I do not wish to be understo rity for appearance when wanted, or pun-ishment for offenses committed. The sentence does not add exposure to a sickening atmosphere or to communicable disease. Innocent, and cleanly persons may sometimes be so unfortunate as to be confined in jail; as frequently are insane persons, for security until they can be sent to asylums. And whether it contracted there, would have a claim for damages. One other matter of opinion which to me seems important I give for what it is worth, that is if some plan could be devised whereby the great number of lazy vagrants and "tramps" now resorting to the jails of the state as a winter quarters could be made to work ten hours a day, in my opinion it would do more to break up the vagabondish, demoralizing lives of the average young, hale, hearty, able-bodied "tramps" who contribute the largest quota to our jails in winter; and if it did not make them wholly self-supporting or even materially lessen the cost to honest, industrious tax-payers who now support them, they would at least be forced to some healthy industry, and on getting out might prefer to work elsewhere for hemselves rather than to work in jail for the county. An honest, industrious tramp looking for work would prefer to work that way for board until he could find employment rather than be idle in the sickening atmosphere of a crowded jail.

Lastly, should this board consider the project of building a new jail, I would suggest from a sauitary point of view, that provision be made for good ventilation, plenty of good water, privies and closets so disconnected from jail wards as to render infection from that source im-

We have no big promises to make with the new year; no great stories to tell of the past or present. The Courier does its best to keep even with the demands of the times in the newspaper line. All the home and county news is told in its columns, and told in a way that gives life and spice to the narration. And if the Adventists don't have their way and knock this earthly footstool all into "Davy Jones's locker," we shall keep right on So here's our hand for another year.

Boom Ann Arbor.

The Chicago Inter Ocean had an agent in the city this week to write up the advantages of the place for manufactures and as a town of residence. In other encouragement in the way of subscriptions as to warrant a full-page description with illustrations of the principal buildings. That would call the attention of outsiders to the city and its peculiar advantages. It is evident that this fair "Maple City" of ours can never be much larger than lit is if it does not receive many accessions of families from other points. But how in the world can outsiders know of the place unless we who live here boom it? Other towns certainly will not boom us for they are busy booming themselves. We all want to have a large city and as the Inter-Ocean has an immense circulation in the Northwest it would have afforded a fine opportunity to have shown the world who and what we are. Ann Arbor is one of the very fairest cities of the whole union. We feel proud of it, and if many others in the country knew of us accurately the town would rapidly grow by families moving here. But somehow our merchants and university people did not see the importance of this opportunity. Accordingly they did not properly encourage it. However, in next Wednesday's issue the Inter-Ocean will devote some of its space to a description

PETITION. To the County Commissioners of the County of Washtenaw: GENTLEMEN: The undersigned, citizens of Ann Arbor, hereby represent to your honorable body that a resolution has been introduced in the legislature of this state, having for its object the removal of the legislature from Detroit to some other town in the interior of the state, that in the opinion of the undersigned such removal will greatly promote the interest of the state, and highly subserve the comfort, convenience and pecuniary interest of the members of the legislature, and is demanded by a due consideration of the public welfare. The undersigned, therefore, in furtherance of the object of said resolution, do hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to proffer to the state the use of the court house of this county for the sessions of the legislature, if that body should deem it expedient to remove the seat of government to this place—and we pledge ourselves that the said court house shall be fitted up suitably for that purpose, without expense to the county or state; and to furnish a suitable and convenient room to hold court in, at any time whenever it may be necessary to hold courts during the seting of the legislature.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy. My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON, N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.

Yours truly,

F. C. CHURCHILL,

(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

SOMETHING ABOUT CANDIES. Poison in candy does more mischief at this time of year than at any other, because it is the season when people are wont to fill children's stockings and mouths with some kind of candy. The medical officers of the New York board of health have found that chrome green and yellow, red lead, burnt umber, Prussian blue, rose analine, containing arsenic, and vermillion containing mercury, are largely used by candy-makers of that city for coloring their goods. These things are all poisonous, and may cause ulceration of the mouth, indigestion and blood-poisoning. There are a few manufacturers who make pure candies, and it is worth while to find them out and buy no candies unless the maker is known to be of good repute.—Detroit Post, December 22, 1884.

I am a first-class confectioner and fancy cake baker, having learned the trade

cy cake baker, having learned the trade of my father fourteen years ago, and will venture to say that the Post is correct in its statement, but will endeavor to prove that we have no impure candies of any sort, and never have had since we began business in this city over thirty years ago, and can assure you that you can come to our store or send your children with safety, and obtain nothing but absolutely Pure Candies. Our red coloring is made of cochineal. Our green of Pistachio nuts. Our yellow of the pure vegetable color, while the brown is made of burnt sugar. I manufacture candies daily, keeping two to three men at it the year around. Any chemist will tell you that cochineal, pistachio nuts and burnt sugar are perfecty harmless colors when applied to sugars, Hiram D. Maxfield, formerly of Silver Springs, R. I., has no doubt about the wonderful curative powers of Kidney-wort He was so afflicted with Kidney complaint that he could not stand on his feet from pain and weakness. As soon as he commenced using Kidney-wort he experienc ed immediate relief and at once began to grow strong and was relieved of all pain and unpleasantness. He says: "I know I have been cured by Kidney-wort."

He Knows it.
