

MR. GILL'S DAUGHTER.

Poor Katie! A great sufferer she was, and patiently did she endure in the hope that at last her sufferings would come to an end. She was just budding into womanhood; a fine-looking girl, nearly nineteen, who had just escaped her attack of illness, enjoyed robust health.

Let her mother tell the story, as she told it to two of our editorial friends who recently spent an evening at their house. "Katie's illness came on slowly, with great pain in her thigh and hip. For a while she kept on going to school, but the pains became so severe that she had to stay at home, and most of the time lie down on a little lounge here in the sitting-room. We tried the best physicians who could get. The disease baffled them all. One said it was ulceration of the thigh bone, and wanted to have the poor child undergo a terrible operation. It turned out to be sciatic rheumatism. Poor child! how she did suffer! For about a week or two in the afternoon she would begin screaming with pain. She couldn't help it. She would scream and moan till about four in the afternoon, when she would fall asleep from weariness, and sleep for some hours. This went on for about eight months. During the nights neither she nor I could get any sleep."

"Katie was a sweet reader. One day, in a paper, she saw an advertisement of Athlaphora. She asked me to get it and see if it wouldn't cure her. We had tried a good many other remedies, but I thought we would try this. And I went and got a bottle. I gave her a dose of it towards evening. It was simply wonderful how it quieted her pain and put her into a gentle sleep. She slept nicely until ten. Then she was in a great perspiration. She waked, and I gave her a dose, for she said she felt much better. Then she fell asleep again and slept till morning. Her pain was gone. She had hardly any returns of it. The Athlaphora did the work for her most completely."

"But the terrible sciatica had drawn Katie's leg up, and made it shorter than it had been, by several inches. She was lame for life, although she had been well as driven out for her. She had to walk on crutches. One day she fell down stairs and was so badly hurt that she had to be taken to the hospital. There she had a great deal, and after some weeks she died."

"Father Theobald, of the Paulist Fathers, saw much of Katie during her illness, and knows all about it. Go and ask him, and he will tell you all about it. Some time ago we gave a letter about Katie's case, and it was published. We have had numerous inquiries in reference to it, all of which we promptly answer. "I must tell you," continued Mrs. Gill, "of our neighbor, Mrs. Sumners, and her eleven-year-old boy. The boy had one of the most terrible attacks of sciatica I ever knew a boy to have. I had a little Athlaphora left in the bottle from which Katie had taken. I gave it to Mrs. Sumners, and she gave it to the child who was screaming with pain. When Mrs. Sumners came home, he was surprised to find the boy sitting up free from pain, and cheerfully singing. I wish you would go and see them. They live not far from here, on West 12th street, No. 905."

Mr. Gill added in his own behalf: "I have had a good deal of rheumatism myself, chiefly in my shoulders and arms. But I took Athlaphora, and I got rid of the trouble. I did not have to take much either. I found the medicine acted very quickly."

The Rev. Father Theobald, assistant pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, was found at his pastoral residence, No. 17 West 12th street, Chicago. Father Theobald told us that he had known Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Sumners, and that he had seen Katie frequently during her illness, and knew all about her recovery from sciatica, and her subsequent injury and her illness at the hospital. "If you cannot get Athlaphora of your druggist, we will send it to you in reference to regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from the manufacturer, as we have it in bulk, and do not pass it through any hands, but only direct from the manufacturer to the consumer. Athlaphora Co., 112 Wall Street, New York."
