Her youthful recreatio consisted largely in gathering fossils, queer stones, bright winged butterflies and flowers. Near her home was a lime spring which was a source of unceasing delight. Constructing little reservoirs she filled them with ferns, beech leaves and twigs which becoming enerusted, were specimens outlined in white of nature's most delicate and beautiful tracery. Beginning thus with an unclassified cabinet, Mrs. Smith has added to it year by year, both at home and abroad, until she now possesses one of the largest and finest private collections of mineralogical specinens in the United States.

than ordinary intelligence, whose natural reticence was thawed by some services which I was enabled to do him, and whose confidence I won far enough to succeed in making him unfold in a disjointed manner the real history of the occurrences from which Squaw's reproduce for the benefit of my readers. weaving the story into a more con-Santiago.

John Willard, the captain of a trader, who brought the commodities of civil-ized life into Monterey, and there bar-tered them for hides, got tired of his seafaring life, as many more have done before and after him in California, married himself to a senorita with broad acres and fat kine, and settled down into a steady-going rancher in the valley of the Russian River. A son was born to the pair, a stalwart youth, whose robust, out-of-door vaquero life made him both strong and handsome. It was universally conceded that Frank Willard, at the age of twenty, was as fine a specimen of a youth as could be found north of the bay, or, for that matter, south of it either. His free and generous disposition made him as great a favorite with the male portion of the community as his good looks did with the female. Of course, at that susceptible age it was only natural that he should pay particular attention to the latter, and as compatriots of his own station were not numerous in those thinly settled regions, perhaps it was but natural that he should cast his eyes upon such females as there Willards lay in the neighborhood of the Healdsburg of the present day; and to the north in the vicinity of Sanel and Ukiah there dwelt at that time a strong tribe of Indians, remarkable for strong the of linears, in the physique and in all respects considerably above the average of Californian aborigines. At that impressionable age to see was to love. Young Willard saw his fate, and the flame was reciprocated. But there were the usual difficulties in the way. Not only were the parents scandalized beyond expression at the idea of their son allying himself to an Indian, but the Indians themselves,

SQUAW'S ROCK.

The Tragic Events from Which It Took Its Name.

Those who are acquainted with the upper portion of the Russian River Valley can not have failed to remark a peculiarly precipitous bluff, some five hundred feet in height, which overhangs the western bank of the stream at a point about ten miles north of Cloverdale and six of seven from Hopland or Sanel. Those who have ridden in the stage from Cloverdale to Ukiah at the present day over the new tollroad running along the eastern bank vacation she had lessons in Greek and Latin from old "Elder Arthur," the father of President Arthur." the father of President Arthur." the precipitous bluff while passing over marked that Benita had disappeared that portion of the road known as the Blue Slide—a geological freak which lies just opposite to Squaw's Rock, and has acquired its reputation from the glacier-like movement of the blue clay or some fellow passenger, if you hap-pen to be traveling on the stage, will litional particulars of how the Squaw's Rock acquired its name. These particulars, however, are usually extremely meagre, and all that seems to be certainly known about the matter is that, some forty years ago—before the discovery of gold, in fact, and when white settlers were few and far between—an Indian maiden was beloved by a white youth, the affection being mutual, but distasteful to the maiden's tribe, who put every obstacle in the way of a union; that the maiden was eventually compelled to marry a suitor chosen for her by the tribe, and that, in a fit of despair, she threw herself, like another Sappho, from the top of the precipice which bears her name, and was dashed to pieces on the bowlders of the river's bed. This poetic egend might still have remained shrouded in historic vagueness had not chance thrown me in the way of obtaining further particulars from an authentic source, which invested the story

Arrived at the edge of the bluff, the two stoutest Indians took the body of the youth by the head and feet, and swinging him backward and forward three times launched him out into the stream, whose hoarse murmur could be heard 500 feet below. The next instant a female figure sprang forward from the throng of Indians that had pressed close up to the brink Rock took its name, and which I now

There were no marks of violence on it, as he had been swung clear into the river, which was then in flood, and as the rushes with which he had been bound had been washed off there was no evidence that he had been murdered in the way he was. It was thought he had been wounded while attempting to ford the swollen stream. It was early in the forties when the incident happened. Most of those who took part in it are, doubtless, by this time either dead or dispersed. My informant, old Santiago, did not admit having taken any overt part in the matter, so I could only thank him for his narrative, and for having given new interest to the precipice known as the Squaw's Rock.-Robert Duncan Milne, in San Francisco Argonaut. -Mrs. Belva Lockwood is a graduate of the National University Law School, and practices at the bar of the Supreme The paternal hacienda of the Court of the United States. counsel for more than two thousand persons who are interested in the pension law. St. Nicholas for September has a long and varied table of contents, one of the most attractive features of which is a fanciful tale by Frank R. Stockton, entitled 'The Battle of the Third Cousins." Great Financial Scheme," by Sophie Swett, is a very funny story with a very good moral. The moral is pointed at the tendency to speculate with other people's money and the loose ways of doing business that so largely contribute to the con-stant emigration to Canada. Annual School Meeting.

The annual school meeting was held The annual school meeting was held Monday at the city hall. At 9 o'clock a. m. the polls were opened, and three tickets were found in the field. The first one contained the names of the old members of the board, for re-election, a second ticket was known as the temperance ticket, for which the ladies voted freely, and a third was made up of one from each of the two tickets with Eli W. Moore for the third place.

The number of pupils pursuing each study in the High School, given below, is often a matter of interest, as showing the kind and amount of work done, and the choices of patrons in respect to courses of study.

II. PERTAINING TO THE SCHOOLS.

The following classifications of the enrollment is an item of a report called for by the Bureau of Education. Number between 6 and 16 years of age 1431 Number over 16 years of age 416

Whatever differences there are be-tween the numbers of this table, showing enrollment and attendance, and those of last year, are in the direction of more regular attendance. With an aggregate enrollment of about thirty less, the average daily attendance was twenty-five more than the preceding twenty-five more than the preceding to the severity of the winter, was a lit-tle smaller than usual. Our school population is gratifyingly steady in aim and ambition.

It is a pleasure to make personal mention of such pupils as have kept their attendance record unbroken throughout the year, or a succession of

FIFTH WARD SCHOOL. Katie Carson, Mary Carson. This large number of names, quite an increase over those of the preceding year, indicates the marked regularity of attendance in all the schools. The cases of tardiness were 246 less than those of the preceding year, 479 less than those of 1882-3, and 695 less than those of 1881-2. These results have not been secured without much persistent effort of teachers against one of the most mischievous evils in the schools.

The public school, all along its path rom the Primary grade to the High School, is constantly dropping numbers of its pupils. Probably not over one per cent. of the public school pupils of the country at large ever graduate from a High School or any school of like grade. This diminution of numbers in the upper grades has been the subject of much study and investigation by educators, and many schemes have been devised to counteract it. It will shed some light upon the question to know the various causes of leaving school. In the eight grades, constituting the Primary and Grammar de-

It may be suspected that the instruction in the effects of alcohol and narcotics manent value, or even to be comprehended, must have a certain quantum year, although the attendance in the Primary department, owing probably The teachers have been supplied with The teachers have been supplied with manuals, considerable instruction, The receipts largely preparatory to the main issue has been given, and the work will be carried forward in due order in each ucceeding grade.

In Arithmetic, the points of more special attention have been the best methods of making pupils do their own thinking—building the habit of patient reflection. The tendency is excessive drill upon fixed formulas and methods to the exclusion of thought-development. Pupils are deficient, if any where, in the applica-tion of principles to practical problems. To remedy this, we are using more objective illustrations in the Primary grades to secure clearer perception of relations; and in the Grammar grades, more concrete examples, and conceivable problems. Examination questions too, are sought which shall thwart out all proneness to cramming. We often have occasion to mourn the loss of the old-time "Mental Arithmetic." After all, the main factor here is the the opening of the school year.

The teacher that can teach a child to think is the only genuine teacher.

We have not yet secured all the benefits that ought to inure from Drawing in the Schools. It ought to be, and can be, one of the most practical studies in the course. By giving its designing and industrial features more prominence, by calling into greater activity the inventive faculties of the pupils, and by putting the subject on a higher plane of treatment, we hopefully look forward to more excellent

Music in the schools is accomplishing all that we are wont to claim for it. Readiness in reading, accuracy in time, and pleasantness of tone are marked features of the exercises, as I have observed them. The effect of music upon the pupils is not only hu-manizing, but intellectually disciplinary. As an educational force it ought to have a high place in our regard.

The special teacher in writing has been making some experiments, in a limited way, in teaching shorthand characters to primary grades, and the attempt has been attended by considerable apparent success. Possibly this may be the road to a very desirable, but rarely acquired accomplishment.
The success of elementary Chemistry and Physics in the 8th grade has encouraged us to believe that Geology might be added to them, or take the place of Chemistry. Geology offers more employment to the observational faculties and so would seem to be better suited than Chemistry to induct pupils of this age into correct methods of science study. Moreover we have no Geology in the High School, and if such an elementary attempt in the Grammar School should make the more common geological terms intelligible and allure to further reading and research, it would do our pupils an im-Before I close this part of my report permit me to bring to your attention the matter of admitting pupils unable to read to the primary grades. It has been the custom to admit such pupils at two separate terms during the year, viz: the Fall term, and the Spring term. Now the influx of a new class in the Spring greatly disturbs the order of work, prevents due attention to existing classes preparing for promotion, while the three months' course is of the least appreciable advantage to the incoming class. It would be greatly to the advantage of the school, as a whole, to limit admission of this class of pupils to the Fall term. The opening of an additional room great accommodation to many families in the 6th ward.

The President's report showed the expenditures for the year to have been 35,-964 46 with a balance on hand of $1,has proceeded too slowly. It was early seen that this teaching, to be of per-amounted to $23,401.20; janitors, $1.370; amounted to $23,401.20; janitors, $1,370; $2,700 bonds and interest paid; janitor's dwelling for high school, $1,617; fuel,

88; primary school fund $3,186.80, and asked for by the board of health sufficient from taxes and other sources to resident pupils. The estimates for the fund to the 5th ward fund, which was year were placed at $30,500. The recommendation of the board to raise by tax $18,000 for current expenses; $1,500 for introducing heating and ventilation into another of the school buildings; 2,650 to build an extension on the first ward school; $250 for library were all carried. The total value of the school buildings, furniture and apparatus is placed at $160,-000-a very low estimate, it is nearer worth a plump $200,000. Two additional teachers will be necessary the coming year, one in the Tappan school, and one in the high school. Hereafter children who cannot read will be admitted only at Regular meeting of the common council Monday evening, with barely a quorum present.

Knowlton and five others, asking for the construction of a sidewalk on the west side of North Thayer street, from Ann to North streets. To impress upon the council the extreme necessity of this walk we quote the following, which was added as a postscript to the petition: "If you can't complete the whole walk, from Ann to North, for God's sake see that 12 rods are built on the north end." Petition received and referred to the sidewalk

THE BEST

Hair restorative in the world is Hall's Hair Renewer. It cures all diseases of the scalp, and stimulates the hair glands to healthful action. It stops the falling of the hair; prevents its turning gray; cures baldness, and restores youthful color and freshness of appearance to heads already white with age. The following are a few illustrations of what is done by

HAIR RENEWER:

Brooklyn, N. Y., after a severe attack of Erysipelas in the head, found her hair-already gray-failing off so rapidly that she soon became quite baid. One bottle of HALL'S HAIR RE-NEWER brought it back as soft, brown and thick as when she was a girl.

thick as when she was a girl.

AP MR. KESLING, an old farmer, near Warsato, Ind., had scarcely any hair left, and what little there was of it had become nearly white. One bottle of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER stopped its falling out, and gave him a thick, luxuriant head of hair, as brown and fresh as he ever had.

AP MRS. A. T. WALL, Greenfield, Cheshire, Eng., writes: "I have found the greatest benefit from the use of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER, it having restored my hair, which was rapliy falling off, and returned its original color."

AP DR. EMIL SEIF, Detroit, Mich., certifies that "HALL'S HAIR RENEWER is excellent for hair growing, and gives back the natural color to faded and gray hair."

AP MRS. S. E. ELLIOTT, Glenville, W. Va.,

Its vegetable ingre-dients render it in the highest degree benedients render it in the highest degree bene-ficial to the scalp as a preventive of dis-ease. Its effects are natural and lasting, and it does not make the hair dry and brashy, like the so-called restoratives com-pounded with alcohol.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE

WHISKERS Is, in four respects, superior to all others.

Ist—It will produce a rich, natural color, brown or black, as desired.

2d—The color so produced is permanent, cannot be washed off, and will not soil anything with which it comes in contact.

3d—It is a single preparation, and more convenient of application than any other hair or whisker dye.

4th—It contains no deleterious ingredients, as do many preparations offered for like use.

Monday morning, at about 21/2 o'clock a. m., an alarm of fire was sounded, and the large frame house of W. A. Moseley located on E. The fire had gained such headway before the family were awakened that they barely escaped with their lives, saving nothing of their furni-ture or wearing apparel. In the death of Alonzo A. Gregory, which occurred on Wednesday evening of last week, from cancer, with which he had suffered for several years, Ann Arbor loses a man who has been a prominent citizen. He was born in 1811, in New York, received a good education, and was an active business man. Before coming to Ann Arbor to reside he held many offices of distinction and trust in his native state. He was at one time sheriff of Cattarangus county, and in 1850 and 51 was a member of the New York legislature, and had held the office of clerk and supervisor many years. After coming to this city he, in company with his brother E. M. Gregory, erected the St. James hotel, or what was originally known as the Gregory house, and he carried on the business several years. Mr. Gregory held the office of supervisor of the 3d and 4th wards, several terms, and something may be judged of his popular-ity when it is said that he never was de-feated though the district was largely democratic. He has always been a warm supporter of republican principles and a citizen esteemed by everybody. He leaves two sons, A. A. Gregory, Jr., and James Gregory, both of whom reside in the city.

An Explanation of the Regent's Action.

Ann Arbor, Michigan, September 5, 1885. To the Editor of THE COURIER. Dear Sir-In the last number of your paper, under the caption of "Is it right? you reflect on the action of the Board of Regents in allowing Prof. D'Ooge to accept the Directorship of the American School at Athens under full pay. You have evidently written under misapprehension of certain facts in the case; and I trust that, in the name of fairness, you will permit the following corrections to

1. The appointment is for one year, and not for two 2. The American School at Athens was founded and is sustained by the friends of a few prominent institutions of this country, of which the University of Michigan is one. The endowment is not sufficient to permit the payment of any New Orleans, not being able to stand the salary to the director. Harvard, Yale and Wesleyan have all sent out directors under pay. Two men have gone from Harvard since the school was founded each at a salary of $3,000. The Yale and the Wesleyan professors have each received full salary. Mr. D'Ooge will go, not on a pleasure trip, but as a representative of this community of American

3. The salary of $2,200 will fall far price 25 centsshort of paying the expenses of the trip. The men who have gone out as directors report that the necessary expenses of the year at Athens, including travelling expenses both ways, amount to full $3,000. Mr. D'Ooge, I understand, expects that the year will cost him from eight hundred to a thousand dollars over and above his salary. If he were required to pay man to take his place here, he would simply have to decline the honor of the appointment, and the University would then be obliged to advertise its poverty and drop out of the enterprise. Consid ering the meagre salaries paid here a compared with those paid by other insti tutions of similar rank in the country, seems only fair that the Board should as sist, as they have done in this instance, hard-working and meritorious officer to accept an honor which reflects quite as much credit upon the University as upon himself. Very sincerely yours,

A FRIEND OF THE UNIVERSITY.

If anything should remain, there are plenty of im provements within the city that it can be used for. The day is not far distant when this city can and must provide a large fund to build sewers, for which it can safely calculate on $100,000, to be needed for that purpose, or more. The people see the need of it every year more than they do of a city park out in the country Last spring the gutter tiles froze up and the most of the water run off over the crossings and sidewalks and covered the latter with ice after the first thaw, rendering the sidewalks very dangerous on account of ice. There are a great many eople who see the need of sewers all the time in their business, but a park is for a pleasure and if located in a convenien place, easy of access, might be a good thing.
