The Manual Training School.

The city of Philadelphia has taken a most important educational step in the addition of a manual training school to its public school system.

In Chicago, St. Louis, and some other cities, manual-training schools have been started and are in successful operation.

They are not parts of the public system, and are supported by private enterprise.

In Boston, we believe, the board of education experiments with the idea.

Its time that some attention should be given to the hand as well as to the head, and that children should be taught that it is just as honorable to live by work as by their wits.

The radical fault of our public system of education, and indeed of our whole social system, is that the first is based upon mere rote knowledge and excludes the idea of manual labor, and that the second sympathizes with it.

It prevents every boy who is going to make his living out of his hands from industry by mental plotting and scheming or by mere mechanical routine behind the desk or counter.

The manual-training system which has been tried in result will be to make labor respectable; and as soon as that is accomplished every department of work in the arts and sciences, from the mining and the construction of bridges to the most intricate of the fine arts, will be filled with busy workers, and the burdens of life will be shared by all.

It is not a question of whether or not one has yet seriously considered how much of the misery, poverty and crime of this country grows out of this almost universal tendency to live upon one's wits, which is the immediate outgrowth of our present system of public school, seminary, academy, and university education.

COUNTY AND VICINITY.

The Jay wedding at the York church ended $28.27.

The Salt Lake observer has changed hands four times in 18 months.

An oyster supper at El Smith's, West Salem, to-morrow evening.

Mr. Ramsdell, of Northfield, is teaching the school in Dist. No. 3, Salem.

The Southern Wash. Farmer's club met at the residence of F. English, Dec. 4.

Horace Laffin of Ypsilanti, and Miss Amelia Smith of Bridgewater married Nov. 16th, 1886.

Wm. W. Welch, of Scottville, Mich., married Miss Rose Thomas, of Milan, Wednesday last.

H. D. Warner steps out of the firm of Guy & Warner, Milan, and Frank Guy will carry on the business hereafter.

The residence of Dr. Palmer, Chelsea, was destroyed by fire last Thursday, caused by a defective chimney. Contents saved.

Rev. D. J. Odell, of the M. E. church, is to preach the Thanksgiving sermon at Milan to-morrow, in the Presbyterian church.

Chelsea Thanksgiving services at the Congregational church. Rev. J. A. McCall, of the M. E. church, preaching the sermon.

And now Milan is all broke up over a murder reported as having occurred in that place, and reported in the Friday evening Dispatch of Monroe, and also of Walled Lake, have both called Rev. W. P. Tompkins, formerly of Milan, as their leader. He has not decided which to accept.

Chelsea and Ann Arbor are noted for rushing; Chelsea for its rushing trade, Ann Arbor for rushing students, some of whom get arrested for their folly.—Chelsea, Nov. 25, 1886.

Prof. Blosser, of Manchester, has a captive turtle that has commenced laying eggs for him. Who knows but that his shell may yet meet a foe worthy of its shell.

The Boston Est. Quartet, of Ann Arbor, will probably give one or two concerts here during the winter. The quartet compose the same members as last year.

Grant Sutton who lives in the south part of this township claims to have raised 435 bushels of corn on three acres of ground. 143 bushels of the acre is a big yield.

The Brighton citizens have been sold by J. D. Ellinwood to Henry & Fred Coe, two young men of that place. Fred Coe is a well known and popular farmer in the place. Here's to their very long life and prosperity.

Miss Schaeble, of Freedom, and Miss Rosa Brindle, of Sharon, were married Nov. 12th, at the residence of the bride's parents. There were about 125 guests present, and the list of presents was long and the presents elegant.

Fr. Considine, of St. Patrick's church, at the residence of the bride's parents, of Chelsea. The people of Northfield consider these movements of the Bishop, far from right, as they were much pleased with the services of the Rev. Fr. Considine.

The great question agitating the minds of Ypsilantians just now is, "shall we have water works?" Why, certainly, of course. Ann Arbor has them and it is a fact and commendable example to follow.

The Detroit Tribune refers to "Judge Joslyn of Ypsilanti," and this place as "Ann Harbor," in its last Sunday issue. It's all right, of course, but Judge Joslyn is a resident of this city, and Ann Arbor is no Harbor, at all.

The Ypsilanti-Commercial has the following item: "GONE.—Mr. Mark Stevens came this week and packed up the books, records, etc., of the Indian Agency, taking them to Flint. Capt. Allen has a big armful of business just the same."

The house of E. E. Kellogg on Cemetery st., just outside the city limits, was burned Sunday morning at about 6 1/2 o'clock. The house was a new one, having been built only a few years, and was completely consumed together with the contents. Insurance $2,500, loss $4,500.

The people of Ann Arbor do not yet fully appreciate the fact that in a very short time now they will be able to step on the cars and go direct to Hamburg, Howell, Owosso, St. Louis, etc., over the T. & A. R. R.'s northern extension. It will be a grand thing for Ann Arbor.

There is a branch lodge of Knights of—well, of something, in this city. There were three charter members originally, but now there are four, a new one being initiated the other night with sun-bonnet and month-organ accompaniment. If you should desire to join this new mystic society, apply to Will Hatch or Will Simson.

Monday evening the common council held a special meeting, going into executive session immediately upon coming to order. The city attorney, Hon. E. D. Kinne, reported his action in the case of the students arrested for causing a disturbance at the post-office, and said action was approved. He was also directed to defend the city in the case of Wm. Burke vs. the city of Ann Arbor. The liquor bonds of Henry Binder and Christian Gauss were received and approved.

Thanksgiving union services will be held at the Presbyterian church, to-morrow at 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. W. H. Ryder, of the Congregational church, preaching the sermon. The collection to be taken up will be devoted to one of the best causes that money was ever given to: our home-people. The Ladies' Charitable Union composed of ladies from all the protestant churches, will have the expending of the money raised, and any person who knows of the grand old work being done by them, can heartily wish them a large collection to-morrow.

Through some error, the mystery of which we have not as yet been able to solve, a notice of the death of Mr. Wm. Sweeney, of the 4th ward, was left out of our columns last week. Mr. Sweeney died on Saturday evening, Nov. 14th, aged 51 years. He had been ill for about one year, with cancerous tumor of the stomach, and had been a great sufferer. The deceased was born in County Donegal, Ireland, in 1834, and came to the United States when a young man, settling in Marshall. Here he remained for a number of years, engaged in business, running a grocery, bakery, etc., and was generally esteemed by his fellow citizens. Some six years since he removed to this city where he resided until his death. He leaves a wife and six children, four daughters and two sons to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father. His remains were taken to Marshall, and there interred in Oak Ridge Cemetery.

A meeting was held at the M. E. church last evening to form a young people's society, the aims of which will be social, literary and devotional, and a committee appointed to draft constitution and by-laws, of which Dr. Ramsay was chairman. The committee is to report at a meeting to be held next Monday night.

The Franklin Square library, of which Boughton & Payne are the agents, has 143 members at present, and the library contains 163 books. All of the subscribers feel well satisfied, and this enterprise bids fair to prove not only very successful, but also instructive to the members, furnishing good reading cheap. At Ypsilanti the library has 159 members.

Floyd Williams, a brother of J. D. Williams, Esq., of Ann Arbor town, died on Monday, Nov. 23d, at his home in Independence, Kansas. His wife left there with the remains Tuesday, and will probably reach this city to-morrow, when the body will be interred in Forrest Hill Cemetery. Mr. Williams was a former resident of this city, having built the house on State street, now owned and occupied by E. J. Knowlton. He moved to Kansas some thirteen years ago. He leaves a wife and three sons, the latter all arrived at man's estate.

Another little incident came to light the other day as showing the value of a certain receipt in Dr. Chase's Recipe Book. A lady in this city recently received a letter from a friend in Scotland who enclosed a very valuable recipe for a washing fluid which was being sold in that country. At the same time she admonished to keep it secret. But the washing fluid which the Recipe book, recognized it at once and was rather amused that it should be sent back to Ann Arbor with so much respect.

Col. John L. Burchling in Cherubini, the Bohemian, was greeted with a good audience last night. The opera house was seldom so well-filled with our best people, even to the galleries. It was quite noticeable that for the first time almost, in the history of the opera house, there was respectful silence in the galleries, and not a disrespectful word, whistle, or uncouth noise was uttered during the entire evening, a compliment seldom paid to an actor in this city. The acting was a surprise to most of the listeners, being far better than was anticipated. The play was a tame one, and only good artists, for the support was excellent, could relieve it of tediousness. But it was attention, and the general verdict that Col. Burchling had struck his forte and has a grand future before him. Should the Colonel return and give the people some of his grand plays, he would doubtless be given a handsome reception.

The man who told us about it agreed by all the almanacs ever published that he would not mention the incident for the world, but he did just the same. The joke was on a prominent member of the prohibition party residing in the 5th ward, of this city. Accustomed to early rising, of course, last Friday morning he awoke, spoke to his wife, and she agreed that it was time to arise and commence the day's work. It was almost light enough then to get along without a lamp, but not quite. So they got up built the fires, dressed the children, and commenced getting breakfast. Pater familias thought it singular that it was so long getting daylight, and for the first time looked at his clock. An expression of horror stole over his face as he did so. The hour hand pointed to 2, and the other hand at about 3: Could he believe his eyes? There must be some mistake! He looked out doors and saw the moon shining brightly but no signs of daylight breaking. A council was held; the breakfast was taken off the stove; the fires allowed to die out; the children undressed and put back to bed; and the parents, after kicking themselves vigorously for several minutes, retired, after first solemnly pledging each to the other never to help a word to a human being about it. Just as it was possible to keep such a thing!

The "Gentleman Burglar" Visits Ann Arbor. A bold, slick robbery was committed last Sunday at the house of Rev. R. H. Steele, on S. Fifth st. While the family and all other occupants were absent at church in the morning, a dandy looking chap was seen to go to the front door and ring the bell, to which no one replied. This was what was desired. He went around to the side door unlocked it with a key in his possession, and went through the house, securing $40 in money, and some watches and jewelry, in all amounting to about $200.

The house of Rev. W. W. Ramsay was also raided Sunday morning. Just after the family had gone to church, a very slick looking young man rang the bell and the servant going to the door he told her that he had agreed to wait there for his mother so to accompany her to church. Of course, the sick young man was in the parlor and the servant went to half an hour perhap. After a lapse of half an hour perhap, the servant thought she would look in upon the young man, and as she entered the hall met him, but he was prepared for the occasion, and said he was just going to wrap up his things and go to the church. He wouldn't wait any longer, and seemed very much disappointed because of his mother's non-appearance. So he passed out, but it was noticed that instead of going to church he turned up Ann street, to the east. This aroused suspicion and the girl looked about the house but could find nothing missing. The family returned for a guest from Detroit, Mrs. Howell, went up stairs and found that her purse had been stolen from her with a ticket to Detroit over the Mich. Central. This was about all the thief secured. These are about the boldest pieces of work ever done in Ann Arbor.

The elder mill across the river has been the Mecca of the students' pilgrimage this fall.

The freshman social at Hangsterfer's hall Saturday night was an enjoyable affair.

The Detroit U. of M. alumni, belonging to the D. K. E.'s held an annual banquet Tuesday evening.

Lewis C. Hunt, law '85, is on a cattle ranch in the Bad Lands of Central Northern Dakota, near Medora.

A reception will be given Canon Farrar this evening, at the residence of Prof. Morris, by the Hobart Guild.

The Detroit Tribune proposes to establish an agency in this department of the university.

A Medical Science Club has been organized in the senior medical class for social, literary and scientific advancement.

John Sheehan is now a full-fledged junior-law. John has a good gift of language and bids fair some day to shine on the forum.

The junior medals have adopted the silk plug as a class hat, because "a plug had much to do with a professional air, much to be desired."

Chas. L. Carter, lit. '88, has gone to Europe as private secretary to his father, who goes on government business connected with the state department.

There are upwards of 250 Catholic students attending the university, and they have organized a lecture board and propose to have lectures from some of their faith.

The Detroit Tribune is the champion of the students in their kirk for justice, and as an "ad" has distributed several hundred copies in the professional departments.

The junior hop committee promises us the "swellest" affair ever given at the U. of M., and are at present trying to get the Masonic hall in the St. James block for the dance.—Chronicle.

Prof. Jones spent portions of the fall at Karlsbad, Bohemia, Venice and in Switzerland, and is now in Rome for the winter. He will return next September to begin his work in the university again.

A social was given to the freshman class on Monday evening, at the residence of Miss Sara Wheldon, on N. State st., at the invitation of the Students' Christian Association, at which about eighty were present.

The cases brought against Messrs. Bennett, Swartwood and Manly for violation of the city ordinances, before Justice Frueauff, have been discontinued by the advice of City Attorney Kinne, a compromise having been effected and certain pledges given. Bennett, who was fined $50, had the fine remitted, but paid all costs incurred by the city, some $20.

In this action the city officials have shown a liberal spirit, and we believe it is appreciated by the boys, and sincerely hope that this is the end of all trouble and ill feeling.

A TRIBUTE TO A WORTHY MAN. Wednesday, the 18th inst., was the 75th birthday of Dr. Asa Gray, the celebrated botanist, whose long connection with Harvard University has almost caused to be forgotten that he, as long ago as 1838, was appointed Professor in the University of Michigan. Dr. Gray was in fact the first Professor appointed here. His principal active service in the University was that he took in purchasing books in Europe for the library. Before the organization of regular classes at Ann Arbor, he accepted an offer from Harvard and has ever since made his home at Cambridge.

Knowing that friends of Dr. Gray were uniting in a testimonial to him, the University Senate adopted a congratulatory address, prepared by Dr. Winchell, a copy of which was sent to him by the secretary of the Senate. Below we give the address in full and a copy of the reply recently received from Dr. Gray:

ADDRESS OF THE SENATE TO DR. GRAY. "To Professor Asa Gray, M. D., LL. D., The Senate of the University of Michigan, in the name of the University, take great pleasure in sending you their greetings on the occasion of your seventy-fifth birthday. Your health and usefulness have been prolonged for three-quarters of a century beyond your years. We entertain the hope that many years of activity yet remain."

"With our congratulations we beg to give expression to a lively sentiment of gratitude for the services rendered to your chosen country during a long and devoted life. You found the University in a tottering state, and by your untiring energy and untiring industry you have secured for it a position of honor which you have rendered to education and to the cause of science. We recall the noble spirit and breadth of view with which you have treated questions of the University, and the wisdom and moderation of your decisions. We are proud to have you as a member of our body, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."

which so many thought sent into the world to destroy religion. But for all that you have not been able to get from service. We expect you to serve us in the future. We expect to see you in the future. We expect to see you in the future.

"With us, the pleasure of these occasions is quite peculiar, since we can call you an honored ex-professor in our University. Your memory readily reverts to the cry, 'We expect to see you in the future.'"

"We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty. We are proud to have you as a member of our faculty, and we are proud to have you as a member of our faculty."
