From the Lansing Republican. The Camp of the Michigan State Troops at Island Lake.

A notable military sextette, composed of Quartermaster General Hart, Adjutant General Robertson, Brigadier General Smith, Col. Caulkins and Herker of Grand Rapids, and State Treasurer Butler, descended upon Island Lake.

WEDNESDAY and wandered meditatively over the ground which within sixty days will be dotted by the white tents of the Michigan State Troops.

INSPECTOR GENERAL KIDD arrived during the consultation, and State Armorer Baker was also present.

DETROIT ABELS, who will have charge of the police service during camp, was obliged to decline an invitation to join the party on account of the Reynolds trial in Iowa.

A general outline of the camp was made during the forenoon and several changes proposed.

THE MOST IMPORTANT CHANGE decided upon was to face the camp east this year instead of south as heretofore.

IN THIS way a much larger and finer ground was secured for the headquarters of the tents and headquarters can be made much more convenient.

A pair of ravines running north and south through the ground which have been selected for the site of the camp have been arranged by this method to be much less in the way than ever before.

THESE two ravines, which were located so near the railroad track that they proved an irresistible attraction for tramps and idlers to lurk about, will go to a position well removed from the rattle and confusion.

THE ADVANTAGES of changing the camp are so obvious that when General Hart suggested it the entire party concurred that it was advisable from every standpoint.

CAMP WILL BE LAID OUT week after next and the cook shanties removed from their present location to the site of the new camp.

THE NEW CAMP will be located on the south side of the camp near the cook shanties now standing and will extend from the street to the ground which has been selected for the site of the camp by way of the railroad.

and would complete the days work by going to see the professor.

BETWEEN Albany and Troy there were carriages running at short intervals, a good road, distance only six miles and being anxious to know what arrangements could be made in regard to my studies, I resolved to go at once.

MY INTERVIEW with Prof. Hooker was very pleasant. He was kind and obliging and possessed all the requirements that properly belonged to a gentleman.

HE WAS kind and obliging and possessed all the requirements that properly belonged to a gentleman. He would give me special instruction, and furnish me books to use and I was to go three times each week to recite to him.

I RETURNED to Albany, spent the evening at my new home very pleasantly.

MORNING came with its anxieties and anticipations, and after breakfast I started for the carpenter shop where I was to commence work.

AFTER MY time had expired at the academy it was thought advisable for me to study medicine. I was the youngest of a family of nine children and the seventh son.

IN THE old time the charm for a medicine man was in the seventh son. I had two brothers who were practicing physicians at that time.

I CONTINUED the study of medicine about two years, a part of the time with my brother, the remainder with Dr. Vanderburgh who lived in Beekman, Dutchess County, New York.

I DID NOT feel satisfied and determined to give up the study of medicine, that I might engage in something that would be more agreeable to me.

I MET with opposition from my father and brother but resolved to overcome it all, and paddled my own canoe.

I WAS anxious to study astronomy, navigation, practical surveying, civil engineering, etc., etc.

I HAD heard of Prof. Hooker whose home was in Troy, N. Y. In Yale College he was professor of these branches of studies, but had been obliged to leave the college on account of failing health.

HE HAD returned to his home in Troy. I was anxious to see him thinking he might possibly consent to give me private instruction.

WITHOUT money and with no friend in my own family to advise with, what could I do. There was one person that I thought I could approach with some confidence, and I made up my mind to submit my plans and wishes to him.

HIS name was Perry Smith, congressman at that time and afterward U. S. Senator. I remember he had said to me, "My boy, if you get in a tight place, let me know and perhaps I can help you out."

HE LIVED in the same township and had always known me.

I WENT to see him, my plans were approved, I was to keep him posted in regard to my progress and he would render me assistance in a pecuniary way when necessary, and would use his influence to help me to obtain some desirable situation after my course of study was completed.

HAVING this assurance from my friend Smith, one of the most influential men both in and out of congress that Connecticut had at that day or perhaps at any time since, I felt sure that I was all right and could go ahead.

ONE thing necessary for me to do, was to find employment, to earn something toward meeting my expenses while pursuing my studies.

WITH this object in view I went to the City of Albany. I left home on the first day of May. My journey was accomplished in five miles.

MY ride the first day was forty-five miles. I found a one-horse wagon on wooden springs, steel springs were not known at that time.

THE vehicle was quite spacious accommodating two passengers with baggage and a driver. The steambath was due at ten p. m., which would land me at Albany in the morning.

ARRIVED at my destination, had breakfast on the steambath, landed and had baggage taken to a hotel, examined my financial condition and found I had six dollars and a little small change.

MY friend Smith, had given me a letter of introduction "to whom it may concern," and with this in my pocket I started out in a strange city to find a boarding place.

WALKING along the street, looking at signs at the various business places, I saw a familiar name. It was the sign of Dr. Orton, a gentleman I had known several years before, in a town adjoining the one where my father lived.

I STEPPED into his office and made myself known. I had grown so much since he had seen me, he did not know me at first, but we soon renewed our acquaintance.

HE ASSISTED me in finding a boarding place, as he knew a widow lady who had no son, her family consisting of herself and two daughters, and she would take some one to board on account of being so lonely.

DR. ORTON and his wife were well acquainted with Mrs. Kelly, the lady in question, and he proffered his services to go with me and give me an introduction to her.

MRS. KELLY received us and after some explanations, Dr. Orton himself returned to his office. I inquired what she kept no boarding for board, but desired some one to make it a home as one of the family, and if I had a mind to do I could pay her two dollars a week.

I COULD have had two rooms, a pleasant study and a lodging room.

THE bargain was concluded and I returned to the hotel to take dinner and to order my baggage taken to my new home.

MY next move was to find a good carpenter shop and to try to get a job of work that I might replenish my purse which now contained only five dollars.

I FOUND one and was to commence work the next day. Fortune seemed to smile on me thus far—I had secured a good home and a place to work and earn some money,
