BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Bilious-ness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. It acts upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts come to visit some relatives on this side of the Atlantic. He was fiery, ampitious and daring to such an extent that to encourage him in some of his plans would have led to the most Quixotic enterprises. Luckily, his first visit was of short duration, and as he always looked to me for co-operation in his wild schemes, a feeling of relief came over me when he was ready to bid fare-

"Next year I return,' he said, as he vigorously shook my hand, 'and we will have some glorious sport.' I thought that once in his native land he would soon forget the promise, but it proved that once in his native land he would soon forget the promise, but it proved otherwise. He returned a year later as full of life as ever. Day after day passed and startling proposals followed in quick succession. To kill rattlesnakes and moccasins seemed to him one of the charming seemed to him Sweety, but his name was Sweet why, judge, I swear it by the Great Eternal, and you could allus bet your bottom dollar in battle Sweet's never hunt a tree—

In the charming seemed to him Sweety, but his name was Sweet why, judge, I swear it by the Great Eternal, and you could allus bet your bottom dollar in battle Sweet's never hunt a tree—

In the charming seemed to him one of the charm charming occupations of life, and the greater the danger that accompanied any of his plans the less he could resist it. One day he came and proposed to go alligator-hunting, and, displaying a gleaming dagger, he said: I propose to finish one with this to-day.' He had two white duck suits, and he donned one, while he made me put the other on in honor of his anticipated victory. I felt nervous as to the result of his foolhardy resolution to battle an alligator with such a weapon, but nevertheless determined to humor him so far as it was safe to do so. High up on a mud flat a monster soon appeared, basking himself in the sun. The water being at a low stage we had hard work getting our boat up to where he was lying. He was fast asleep, however, and we managed to get within three or four feet of him. I touched him with the oar. He seemed dazed, and with his jaws wide open he made for the bow of the boat. the Englishman's dagger glitter in the sun, but, appehending danger, I shoved the end of the oar into the threatening gap. Resistance seemed of no avail, however. The brute appeared determined to get into the boat. I saw the Englishman keel over, and in a second he was completely buried in the mud. I made an attempt to pass the alligator and go to my friend's assistance, but a violent stroke from the monster's tail laid me in the mud on the opposite side of the boat. After a desperate effort I managed to get hold of the boat, but was completely blinded with the mud. Thinking of my friend, I sang out a faint halloo, and in response came a despairing groan. We presented a pitiful spectacle—a strange contrast to the gay, duck-clothed gentlemen of an hour ago. The Englishman never proposed a hunt after this experience.

'Many years after this, in glancing through an English newspaper giving an account of the social life of the officers of a certain English squadron, I found that an alligator story of a Captain had made him quite a name, and in perusing this story I recognized every little detail of our adventure."—Darien (Ga.) ROARING PEMAQUID.

The Old Fort at the Roughest Point on the Atlantic Coast. Pemaquid Point, near Damariscotta, Me., has been said to be, in a gale from any point of the compass between southeast and southwest, the roughest point on the Atlantic coast. It is literally out to sea, and the waves of the Atlantic, rolling in from three thousand miles of ocean without let cr hindrance, break with explosive roar upon its bastions of stone, which are worn into endless forms by the attrition and into endless forms by the attrition and abrasion of ages. It is very rarely that the line that far is on an almost dibreaking place for the waves of the ocean. Outlying rocks or islands or the conformation of the adjacent coast usually break up or check the course of the waves long before reaching the mainland. Nothing lies between Pemaquid Point and the broad Atlantic, and even in the calmest moods of sea the roar of the surf upon its walls is remarkable. When the southerly gale is on, the spray is flung hundreds of feet nto the air. The noise is deafening. Huge pieces of rock are broken from the projecting wall and thrown up on set about filling this gap, but instead of the bank. Pemaguid light-house stands starting from South Lyon, they started at the bank. Pemaquid light-house stands the bank. Pemaquid light-house stands on the promontory, several hundred feet back from the edge, with the house of the keeper adjoining it. The light is at least three hundred feet above the sea level. Yet in a southerly gale a few years ago a large stone was hurled by the waves through the thick glass of the lantern, and the spray came down the chimneys of the house in such quantities as to extinguish the History and legend also lend their attractions to Pemaquid. No part of the country was earlier known to voyagers. The ships of Pring, Weymouth and Gilbert had plowed these waters long before the settlement of Jamestown, and Pemaquid was the rival of Plymouth and Boston as a metropolis in the infancy of New England. The old of about ten miles, and that is being fort at the harbor was for near a century on the disputed territory between Massachusetts and Acadia. Governor Chamberlain claims for Pemaquid an older date than Plymouth. 'Few know,' he says, "that years before the Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth sands, here were established English settlements at various points on the shores Maine—that Pemaquid was a seat of trade, and at one time the metropolis of all the region east of New York "-Rockland (Me.) That Link.

The Vernon Inter Lake of last week nad this information, valuable to those iving along the line of this road: The Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan railroad is an enigma to many They read of men being at work on the 'link" in Washtenaw, Shiawassee and Gratiot counties and they wonder what the link is, where it starts from, and where it goes to. We shall try to make this as clear as possible. The road starts at Toledo, Ohio, and runs a little west of north to Ann Arbor. any point of the mainland possesses all the conditions of an uninterrupted however, the road bends to the north east and runs twelve miles to South Lyon. It was the intention of the company to continue it in that direction to Pontiac, or beyond, but before they could get be-yond South Lyon, the Grand Trunk com-pany built a road from Pontiac to Jackson through South Lyon, and the Pontiac extension of the T. & A. A. was abandoned. The next move of the Toledo and Ann Arbor company was to build a road from Owosso to Saint Louis, in Gratiot county, which left a break of forty miles between South Lyon and Owosso. This is misssing Link No. 1. Last year the company both of these gaps, but from Hamburg the road is being directly run to Ann Arbor, and it is the evident intention to either throw up the road between Ann Arbor or South Lyon, or use it as a branch road.

But there is still another missing link the road. A short time since the Toedo & Ann Arbor company obtained possession of the "Lamp road" which runs between Alma and Salt river or Shepherd City, and which is being rap-idly pushed to Mt. Pleasant, the county ounty seat of Isabella county. Between graded as fast as possible. So now, hereafter, if your hear people speak of work being done on the link ask them which of the three they mean. The probability is that all the links will be supplied and the cars will be running over a continuous route by July 4th.

An End to Bone Scraping. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Michigan Semi-Centennial. 1836-1886.

To be held at Lansing, on Tuesday, June 15, 1886, pursuant to Act of the last Legislature and under the management of a Board of Commissioners, appointed by the Governor. A National Salute will be fired at sunrise. A Semi-Centennial Salute will be fired at noon. Papers will be read and speeches made during the day by many prominent citi-zens. Also voluntary addresses, if time vill permit.

Instrumental music for the day will be furnished by the following bands: 23d U.S. Infantry Band of Fort Wayne; De troit, Knights of Pythias Band, Lansing; and Cassopolis Military Band, Cassopolis. Vocal music by the "Arion Quartette" of Detroit, Mesdames Clemelli of New York, and Tilden of Mt. Clemens, and the following from Lansing: A chorus of 50 mixed voices, the Lansing "Liederkranz" of 20 male voices, and a chorus of 100 children from the public schools. The whole under the management of Prof. H

B. Roney, East Saginaw.

The exercises of the day will commence at 10 a. m. with an "Address of Welcome" from the steps of the Capitol by by Governor R. A. Alger.

Immediately after the Governor's address, and continuing through the forenoon, papers will be read and speeches delivered in Representative Hall, in the Senate Chamber, and from the steps of the Capitol, interspersed with music.

At 12.30 p. m., a barbecue and grand basket picnic will be held on the fair grounds. Meat, potatoes, bread, butter, coffee, sugar and milk will be furnished to all applicants free of charge. These articles the guests will call for at the carrying table. ving table. Abundant table room will also be supplied, but no dishes, plates,

At 2 o'clock, p. m., speeches will be made on the fair grounds, from the Judge's stand and baleony of Agricultural Hall, by some of the citizens with nstrumental and vocal music at intervals At 7:30 o'clock p. m., speaking will be resumed in the Capitol building, with music as before.

Books containing the music and words complete, also the programs for the day in detail, can be obtained at the Capito and on the fair grounds at a trifling cost It is hoped that visitors will provide themselves with these books and that all will join in singing the words which will be adapted to patriotic and popular

Our Country Roads. The Lansing Republican in an article apon the wagon roads of the Grand River valley, has these sensible ideas:

"The very best roads in the world are made of crushed stone. With a stonecrusher and a portable eight or ten horse power engine, either rock from the bed of the river and its tributary streams, or loose boulders picked up anywhere, can be crushed so as to pass through the twoinch meshes of a sieve as rapidly as several men can feed the stones into the hop per. Such finely crushed stone thrown down two or three inches thick on a road bed of clay, or dressed with an inch or two of clay on top where it is sandy makes the magnificent and water-tight smooth-as-a-floor stone roads of Canada and some parts of the United Statesroads that are firm as rock in the very worst seasons of the year, that are always clean, and that are as valuable to farmers as railroads. In the Grand River valley such roads could be constructed cheaply Once made, road taxes would thereafter substantially cease, as the repairs which consist in annually throwing down a little crushed stone in worn spots, costs almost "Next to stone roads are gravel roads These can be constructed all through the Grand River valley cheaply. In some places they can be made very much cheaper than stone roads; but their annual expense for repairs is larger; and unless skillfully made there are times of the year when they are not firm. At any time the best gravel road is only second best. But the Grand River valley has only a few short stretches of these. Its people have been paying and working road taxes these last 30 to 50 years, and have to show for their money and work coads that the poorest new settlements of me parts of Canada would be ashamed of. Many dollars' loss has been suffered by each farmer living on these poor roads in the course of all these years through not being able to go to market at the season of the year when the prices were the nighest and when he couldn't do anything else. And yet how many are still willing to go on in the same old wasteful and losing way, through never having been waked up on this subject. A good stone road would on the average about double the saleable value of every acre of land past which it should run.

A GOOD MAN FOR AUDITOR GEN-ERAL.

Several of the papers of the state are engaged, very laudably, in bringing forward acceptable candidates for the consideration of the state convention, and many good ones have been suggested. Among the extra good names, we notice that of Col. Oscar A. Janes, of Hillsdale, for the office of Auditor General, the position now so acceptably filled by our highly esteemed citizen, Maj. Wm. C. Stevens. Col. Janes is well known throughout the state, has a record as clean and clear as the air on a bright May morning after a fine shower has purified it, and having left one arm on a southern battle-field, is obliged to make the remaining arm earn his subsistence and advancement, a thing in which he has been remarkably successful.

We can give our readers no better discription and idea of the man than by quoting what some of the papers of the state have had to say about him.

The Pentwater News has this to say of him:

This fall it becomes necessary for the republican party to act with extreme care in making selections for responsible positions on the state ticket. We must have men whose past records are such as will require no defense; who will add strength to the ticket by reason of their fitness for the position for which they are candidates rather than the money they represent. It is brains, honesty and efficiency that the times demand, not money or caucus influence. The Bay City Tribune thinks it has found just such a man in the person of Oscar A. Janes, of Hillsdale, and presents his name as a suitable candidate for the office of Auditor General. At the close of the war, while attending Hillsdale college, we remember Capt. Janes entering college and the respect which his empty sleeve excited. Since those college days our paths have diverged but we have frequently heard of him through the press, as he has been advanced from one position of honor to another. To the G. A. R. of the state no name is more familiar than that of Captain Janes, Department Commander for 1883. He was for 8 years Judge of Probate for Hillsdale county, and is now Master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan, I. O. U. F., and D. D. Grand Chancellor of the Knight of Pythlas. A gentleman of unblemished character and a record that needs no defense. Peculiarly qualters are command was again given to alight, and, followed by a large concourse of A gentleman of unblemished character and a record that needs no defense. Peculiarly qualified for the position Captain Janes would make a strong and a good candidate.

After quoting the above the Hillsdale

Standard adds this: Standard adds this:

As will be seen by the above article, the Bay City Tribune, Pentwater News, and we might add the Sturgs Journal, and other papers in the state have named, or endorsed, Col. O. A. Janes of this city, as a proper nominas been used without solicitation and the compilment well deserved and gratifying to republicans in Hillsdale county, who have been and are at the present time, and none more heartily than is Col. Janes, advocating the candidacy of Senator Smith, of this county, for the Governorship with true earnthe candidacy of Senator Smith, of this county, for the Governorship with true earnestness and hope of success, which would of course forestall any other nomination on the state ticket from this county. We endorse all these papers say in regard to Col. Janes, who has always been a consistent and unwavering republican, and from the time he cast his first vote he has been prominently identified as a worker in the ranks of the party in every campaign, which has won for him an enviable popularity, not only at home, but in other parts of the state where he is known.

The Jonesville Independent refers to his candidacy in this way:

The friends of Mr. Janes in this county would be pleased to see O. A. nominated for their position of Auditor General, and his nomination would in our opinion add to the strength of the entire ticket, he will poll more than his party vote wherever known, and his acquaintance throughout the state is extensive.

The way to enjoy the coming 4th of July (on the 3d) is to come to Ann Arbor, bring your best girl, and see all the sights of the grand celebration. The excavations for the new depot have unearthed several springs of water. A bed of sand has also been struck which has every symptom of quicksand. A. L. Noble has a chango of "ad" callremarkable when quality and price together are taken into consideration. Ladies, who are usually judges of such goods, are requested to carefully examine it.

Such as Channing, Theodore Parker, Longfellow, Charles Sumner, Peter Cooper and others. Send your name and address to P. O. Box 1340, Ann Arbor, and you can receive free, pamphlets, sermons and other Unitarian literature presenting the faith of Liberal Christians.

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs: had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Con-sumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all Coughs and Colds with the best of results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery.
