A LEGEND OF INDIAN SUMMER. BY NELL CORINNE BERGEN.

Lisette, was such a strange girl; such

At night, too, she would steal out to the very self-same place, and watch for hours the lights dance on the lake, and the wandering moon followed by her host of valiant cavaliers in armor of silver

She often heard strange stories, so she said, that the drifting rose leaves told her, and when she repeated them at home, her sisters all would gayly laugh and cry, "Oh! you had better far come down with us upon the green, the merry villagers are all assembled; do come with us

But beautiful Lisette said always "No," then quietly stole out to her accustomed

Once, as she sat there on a summer's evening bright, with the music, sweeping softly to her ears from the distant green, while amorous winds carressed lovely Indian Summer, fleet of foot and in going took his joyousness and mirth, brow, listened to this mystic legend of the long ago, when this world of ours first began, that Father Time, then young the care of the many months and seasons, find men and maidens fair enough to nate man is Father Time), a bower whose only guards were the birds among the trees, found there in a company of just sixteen: sixteen beauteous youths and maidens; called them out from the seclusion, and chose twelve to rule the months and four to rule the seasons! charms in every leaf and flower-of making all the broad land smile at her capricious wish, and fairest of the seasons

Summer walked! Father Time as he wrapped her mantle of woven rose leaves close about her said, for should the world behold thy matchless follow thee; spread thy bounteous gifts Sentinel, is so true to life, that it will be lavishly o'er all the earth, but keep thyself concealed!"

But Summer, wandering up and down, day urged on by the youth's sad look of "I won't, go long you've had it as much I have. When I get done you may loneliness, and by her own desire, she glided up before him, threw aside her mantle and stood revealed in all her glowing beauty.

But he answering cried: "Indeed, I'll ever love you, Summer, always worship just the same, even if you're old and gray." But coy Summer shook her head and clouds, or else to gaze far off across the valleys she had traversed with the lightwinged winds as her sole companions; thus the fond days fled.

Summer fair and fairer grew; more sportive too, as now the time came for departing; she raised the winds to riot in the sultry air, and they with joy, danced with the slender rose leaves fair; the tiny wavelets joined their hands and danced in long lines o'er the lake; all the world was happy, save the youth who paler grew, as the time came for her goingand he felt her drifting from him further every day. Now, he faintly heard her voice as she glided over hills and valesaway, far away-and now he only heard the echo of her sweet voice borne back to him on the wings of the Autumn

To him the earth seemed cold and chill, and the dry leaves falling, made his heart feel dull and heavy; and soon the dying rose leaves, drifting from the bush, never saw him; and the lake, with bright stars lighted, never saw him, for Summer fair our country, is evident from the fact that her wavy hair and round full cheek, she saw him; and the lake, with bright stars lighted, never saw him, for Summer fair and every fond hope vanishing he faded from the earth.

clung about her lighted here and there, by stripes of lurid red and tawny yellow, Thus she eager stood, looking for the youth who loved her, crying ever: "Oh, that I had only stayed! A Great Movement.

According to the statistical report of the Sunday schools in the United States rendered at the late International Convention held in Chicago, there has been a great missionary work has been done to bring an army of 365,000 into active membership with our Sunday Schools. No more important work can be conceived of, for it has to do with the destiny of our entire country.

The three last Annual Reports of the American Sunday-School Union, the old undenominational society, "that cared for the children," who are provided for by no one else, show that since 1884, it has brought 185,034 children into 4,947 new Sunday Schools, a number equal to 5,000 more than one-half of all the in crease reported as having been secured by this and all other agencies during these three years years. But this Ameri-can Sunday-School Union did more than this—it aided 4,825 other schools, which have 46,774 teachers and 515,714 scholars —so that in these three years it reached 9,872 communities and Sunday Schools, and 700,747 children, and youth, and then reaided and revisited these schools 9,245 times, besides making 92,584 visits to families, supplying 45,019 destitute persons with the scriptures and holding 27,according to the International Secretary's report there are but 8,034,478 scholars in all the Sunday Schools in the United State, that report to this convention, which the chairman of the executive committee said was five per cent. too small. A Few Facts.

In the year book published by the M. C. R. R. Co., entitled "Facts and Figures About Michigan," we find some statistics that may be interesting. For instance, the assessed valuation of Ann Arbor is at least 25 per cent. higher than in any other city of like population in the State, and is only excelled by Bay City, Detroit Eeast Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo and Lansing. A few comparisons may not be uninteresting:

The question naturally arises, is Ann Arbor so much richer in real property, o have our supervisors kept raising the val uation here until it is out of proportion with other cities?

Is it possible that East Saginaw with nearly four times our population is only worth about as much again? Or tha Port Huron, with 3,000 more population is not as rich into $300,000? Or that Alpena with 2,000 more population is worth $2,000,000 less? Or that Battle Creck with over 2,000 more people has $1,600,000 less property? Or that Adrian with upwards of 2,000 more people cannot muster as much real property into $1,000,000? Or that Ann Arbor's valuation is more than double that of Ypsilanti? There is something radially wrong somewhere. Either Ann Arbor is assessed too high or these other places not high enough. Which is it?

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest—is the only true middle-link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffe in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Genesee, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscathne, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset. Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Cantre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kaasas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of Latermediate cities, towns and villages.

THE CREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodations is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

ALL EXPRESS TRAINS between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of comfortable DAY COACHES, magnificent PULLMAN PALACE PARLOR and SLEEPING CARS, elegant DINING CARS providing excellent meals, and —between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE Is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of interior Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Iafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points.
