BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily growing worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTTCURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTTCURA and CUTTCURA SOAP externally, and by the last of Augusthe was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one-half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

SCORFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the CUTICHAR RESOLVENT. I did so, and in a day I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the mabile. EDW. HOFMAN, North Attleboro, Mass.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold, Once established it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a longdrawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple Cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and enve ops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, slonghing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviates are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. Sandprord's Radical Curre, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; given when the disease has made frightful inroad in delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and tastes have been recovered, nad the disease thoroughly given out."

LIFE'S JOURNEY.

As we speed out of youth's sunny station,
The track seems to shine in the light,
But it suddenly shoots over chasms
Or sinks into tunnels of night.
And the hearts that were brave in the morn ing
Are filled with repining and fears
As they pause at the city of Sorrow
Or pass thro' the Valley of Tears.
But the road of this perilous journey
The hand of the Master has made; The hand of the Master has hade; With all its discomforts and dangers, We need not be sad or afraid. Paths leading from light into darkness, Ways plunging from gloom to despair Wind out thro' the tunnels of midnight Ways plunging from gloom to despair,
Wind out thro' the tunnels of midnight
To fields that are blooming and fair.
Tho' the rocks and the shadows surround us,
Tho' we catch not one gleam of the day
Above us, fair cities are laughing
And dipping white feet in some bay,
And always, eternal, forever,
Down over the hills in the west,
The last final end of our journey,
There lies the Great Station of Rest.
'Iis the Grand central point of all railways,
All roads centre here when they end;
'Tis the final resort of all tourists,
All rival lines meet here and blend.
All tickets, all mile-books, all passes.
If stolen or begged for or bought,
On whatever road or division,
Will bring you at last to this spot.
If you pause at the City of Trouble
Or wait in the Valley of Tears,
Be patient, the train will move onward
And rush down the track of the years.
Whatever the place is you seek for,
Whatever your aim or your quest,
You shall come at the last with rejoicing
To the beautiful City of Rest.
You shall sail with old triends on fair waters,
With joy and delight at the helm.
You shall sail with old friends on fair waters,
With those who have loved you the best,
And the hopes that were lost in life's journey
You shall find in the City of Rest.

THE BABY'S BABY.

Clinging close to a toil-worn hand, There passed a shadow from baby-land— July a shadow—so white and thin (t lacked the round of a baby's chin.

But out of its innocent baby eyes. There looked a baby's sweet surprise, And close to its innocent baby breast A baby's baby was tightly prest.

Wavering slow, with uncertain tread, It followed still where its mother led, Ever lovingly glancing down On that headless doll in a ragged gown. And at every glance its love and pride Came and went like a rosy tide

Over its poor little pallid face— Frail lily buds in a noisome place. It passed, but an angel walks with me In the shape of its lovely memory, And out of the long day's toil and care, I brought this blossom and fruit so fair,

No life so narrow, no heart so lone, No hands so empty they hold not one of the loves that bless. And God above Shares with that baby the joy of love. -Sarah Trainer Smith

IS ALL IN VAIN? I wonder of in life's long round One single, undimmed thread is wound;

I wonder or indimmed thread is a lift any happy hour Has come without a touch of pain; If we one perfect good attain, Or any promised dower? We watch a bud with silent grace Pushing the green hood from its face,
As forth new beautles start;
Time this lair bud is perfecting,
We say; then find some evil thing
Has eaten out the heart.

RARE IRISH BOOKS.

The Big Demand Existing for Them in the United States. In a second-story back-room on one of the side streets down town there is a collection of books the like of which is not to be found anywhere in the United States. Here are over 500 volumes in the Irish language, and over 5,000 works on subjects pertaining to Ireland and its people. In a talk had with the proprietor some interesting facts were learned about the collection, which comprises some of the rarest Irish books in existence. Among these are a set of the publications of the Irish Archælogical Society, of twenty-two volumes, the only set in America. In each volume one page is printed in the Irish language and the other in English. The set is worth $200 and was published in 1842. Not more than 1,000 sets were issued, and the only way one is obtained is through the death of one of the original subscribers. Two very rare books here are upon the famous Round Towers of Ireland. One book claims the towers to be of Pagan origin and the other to be the work of Christians. The two books are worth $20 and were published in 1830. One of the oldest books in the collection is Cox's History of Ireland, published in ling process which country editors frequently undergo. standpoint. It is worth $15. A very curious volume is one on Irish coins, by Simon. It gives a fac-simile of every coin issued in Ireland and goes back into Pagan times. It was pub-show distinctly the coins of the times before the Conquest. When asked regarding the oldest Irish work in America, the proprietor said that it was one printed in Rome at the Propaganda Fida in 1676. It is in the Irish language, and was published for the use of missionaries going to Ireland. It is a catechism, of 12mo size, and was obtained direct from Rome. It is held as a great curiosity. Among the rare works in the collection is a set of four volumes of the Dublin Penny Journal published in 1832 and edited by the celebrated Dr. O'Donovan. In this are the first published verses of the famous Irish poet, Clarence Mangin. The set is worth $25. Another very rare work is a copy of the Antholigia Hibernica, a the poet Moore's first verses were published. It is in four volumes and is worth $12. Among the books of the collection are the histories of every county of Ireland. One of the veritable curiosities is a copy of a book which was burned by the hangman in the public square at Dublin by order of the British Government. It is entitled The Case of Ireland Stated. It author was Robert Molinaux, who was imprisoned for writing it. It was published in 1708. Another very rare work is A View of the State of Ireland as It Was in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. It is by the poet Edmund Spencer, and was published in 1763. In speaking of big prices paid for Irish books the proprietor said that he sold to the British Museum some time ago a small 18mo volume for $86. It was entitled The Bleeding Iphigenia, and was by Dr. French. It was a sort of a parable on the history of Ireland, and not another copy was to be had. Another rare Irish work which recently brought a good figure was Ware's Antiquities of Ireland, which he sold to the Xavier Union of this city for $100. Fifty dollars was recently paid for a volume entitled "Hibernica Dominica," by De

Burgo. It was a quarto in size, and was a history of the Dominican order in Ireland. It was printed in Latin. Among some of the books in the collection in the Irish language was one containing a translation of Moore's melodies by Archbishop McHale. With reference to the cultivation of the Irish language in this country the proprietor said that in nearly every city of the Union there have been classes formed to study it, and that the knowledge regarding it is greatly necesof both Hebrew and Greek, and it is very difficult to pronounce because of sary. The characters are like those the large number of silent letters. He said that it is still the one language spoken among the fishermen on the north and southwest coasts of Ireland, where it is necessary to have an interpreter in the courts. In regard to libraries of Irish books in this country, it was stated that the Xavier Union of this city is acquiring a large one of rare Irish works especially, and that a priest who lives up the Hudson has $20,000 worth of books relating to Ireland. The demand for these works is increasing so rapidly in this country, the reporter was informed, that old books on Ireland are getting more and more scarce and obtaining largely-increased prices. -

"The Volvnteer Soldier" is not a "war book" in the common meaning of the term; neither is it a life of Logan—although the biographical memoir of the author, which precedes the body of the book, is, without doubt, the best short biography of the illustrious volunteer leader that has ever been written, containing many facts and incidents in his is no reason why any boy cannot become so, if proper attention is paid to his training. In this work he demands justice for the defenders of the American republic, and shows that the safety and permanence of our free institutions depend upon the strong arms and loyal hearts of her citizen soldiers. The handsomely printed pages of the book abound with thrilling scriptions of the heroism of individu

SPEAKS HIS MIND ABOUT ANN ARBOR'S SANITARY NEEDS.

A Salaried Pugilist for Health Officer and a System of Sewers.

But few people will dispute the opinions of our eminent fellow townsman, Dr. Geo. E. Frothingham, respecting any questions relating to medical jurisprudence, medical ethics, or the necessities of a community from a medical standpoint. This gentleman accosted a Cour-IER representative upon the street the other day, and gave him an extended opinion upon some of Ann Arbor's ne-

"If you people who are engaged in booming the city want a point or two," said the Doctor, "I can give you a few suggestions. The best way I can think of to boom the town is to appoint an able-bodied health officer to start with, and pay him a good salary. It is not necessary that he be a physician, in fact closed and the ballots received were of no man. Then stand back of him, every man of you, common council and privy vaults. Why, we seldom had a J. People leave their vaults and cess-pools until they fill up, then they cover them over and dig new ones, until the soil is fairly reeking with filth. Upon my honor there are one or two blocks in this city that I have had to hold my nose in going by, the stench is so great on them. It is only a question of time when something radical will have to be done, or an epidemic will sweep off the people by the hundreds. I can't imagine anything more desirable to help Ann Arbor than to expend a few hundred dollars in compelling people to keep clean. You know it is something allowed to dry up as heretofore, these germs are constantly breeding during the hot weather." To a question "what will sewers cost?" the Doctor thought perhaps $50,000 or $75,000 would put in a good system. 'But supposing they cost $150,000, would they not be cheaper than ill health? The little folks of a number of families in the south-central part of the city, have joined together in a society, the object being to secure for themselves a circulating library for their own use. If their energy is indicative of their success they will surely be eminently successful. A short time since they held a "fair" at the residence of Mrs. Halleck, on Thompson st., realizing $10 from the sale of articles Last evening they gave a private entertainment at the residence of Mrs. Southmayd, on Thompson st., giving the familiar nursery tales of Cinderella and Blue Beard in pantomime. The little ones did remarkably well taking into considera-tion their age and the fact that it was their first attempt. To Miss Lulu Southnayd is due the credit of drilling the performers, which must have required a large amount of patience and genius for they "acted well their parts." Miss Lillie Volland sang two very pretty songs be-tween acts, and Miss Katie Jacobs was the pianist. Those participating were:

Cinderella—Alta Beal, aged 6 years.
Prince—Florence Southmayd, aged 6 years.
Fairy Godmother—Clara Jacobs, 7 years.
Blue Beard—Mabel Halleck, 13 years.
Fatima—Mina Jacobs, 12 years.
Fatima—Mina Jacobs, 12 years.
Tods, Ladles, and court attendants—Mabel
Toop, 9 years; Bessie Telchard, 9 years; Frank Auringer, 13 years.

Last night the parents and family friends only of the children attended. Tonight the play will be repeated at the residence of J. T. Jacobs, and a limited number of tickets will be sold to the relatives and friends of the performers. The society has some $12 in the treasury which has been placed in the hands of Prof. Pettee to invest in books for the use f members. The officers are: President—Mabet Halleck. Secretary—Sibyl Pettee. Treasurer—Helen Smith.

About $1.50 was realized last evening from admission tickets of five cents. Each member of the society furnishes a book to start with, which forms the nucleus of the library.

An ugly complexion made Nellie a fright,
Her face was all pimply and red,
Though her features were good, and her blue
eyes were bright,
"What a plain girl is Nellie!" they said.

But now, as by magic plain Nellie has grown As fair as an artists bright dream; Her face is as sweet as a flower full-blown, Her cheeks are like peaches and cream. As Nellie walks out in the fair morning light, Her beauty attracts every eye. And as for the people who called her a fright, "Why, Nellie is handsome;" they cry.

And the reason of the change is that Nellie took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which regulated her liver, cleared he complexion, made her blood pure, her breath sweet, her face fair and rosy, and removed the defects that had obscured her beauty. Sold by druggists.

A FEW STOCK LIARS. The Peculiar Specimens of Prevaricators

Developed Since David's Time. "I said in my haste," remarked the psalmist, "all men are liars." That there are more liars in the world today than there were in David's time goes without saying, because there are more men. And with this increase of of Fish and Fisheries, to succeed the late population, there has sprung into being a new line of stock liars with whom David was unacquainted; fair, average liars, who do a plain, everyday business, and only go on in star parts when the star liar of the combination is sick or tired or something. Among these steady professionals may be mentioned:

The man who "never reads the newspapers;

The man who never sees the editorial cutting him up, until his "attention has been called to it;"

The candidate who is "out of politics and wouldn't take the nomination if it were offered him;" The ma: who "put Cleveland where

THE SEMMERING ROAD. One of the Most Remarkable Railways in Europe or in the World.

The most remarkable feature of the remainder of the route to Vienna is the railroad passage across the portion of the Alps called the Semmering. This is the first road that crossed the Alps. It was finished in 1854. At one of the stations is a statue of the engineer who superintended the work. They do such things in Europe. I am not aware that there are any statutes of engineers along the line of the Central or Southern Pacific railroads. But whether regarded from the standpoint of scenery or that of great natural obstacles overcome by engineering genius, the portion of the route between Murzuschlag and Gloggnitz is one of the most remarkable in Europe or in the world. Something like it might be seen if a railroad were made to skirt Yosemite valley half way up its sides, sometimes passing through the projecting capes of rock, sometimes around them, and from time to time crossing the indented valleys on arched causways resembling old Roman aqueducts. Little more than this can be said of it in the way of description. The passage is more interesting going north, for you see the finest portions of the line in descending. The speed is greater. The train flies over the viaducts, whizzes around sharp curves, rushes into a little narrow valley at the end and flies out again, plunges into a short tunnel through a spur of rock not so long that one end is not out of it before the other has entered, while far below are unsounded depths. with silver streams and little mountain villages, and far above tower heights that the eagle only can scale. There are in the distance of a few miles some sixteen tunnels and fifteen causeways, some of the latter supported by several tiers of arches. The tunnels vary from a few yards to nearly a mile in length. - Cor. San Francisco Chronicle. What He Wanted. "Have you got a high-spirited horse?"

"Yes, sir," returned the liveryman. "One of these regular tearers?"

"Yes." "A horse that would jump right out of his harness if you tapped him with the whip?" "Yes.

hitch up a slow nag that has to be licked to go ten feet I'll take him out." O. M. MARTIN DEALER IN CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest—is the only true middle-link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

THE CREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodations is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

ALL EXPRESS TRAINS between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of comfortable DAY COACHES, magnificent PULLMAN PALACE PARLOR and SLEEPING CARS, elegant DINING CARS providing excellent meals, and—between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE Is the direct, revorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich whoat fields and grazing lands of interior Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points.
