HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

The following original lines by the poet and divine, Rev. Geo. F. Hunting,

D. D., president of Alma college, was the home on the Christmas vacation:

Merry the mirthful day will be—
Glad as the wild bird's song of glee;
But joys that come, are joys that flee—
The laughing brook let seeks the sea
It may not bide.

"Home for the holidays!" Girls and boys, God speed you all to the waiting joys; A father's hand and a mother's kiss, A brimming measure of earthly bliss This Christmas tide.

"Home for the holidays!" O, my soul,
The words point on to a nearer goal,
When the school day's done, the earth life

MY BOY STILL.

A HOLIDAY REFLECTION.

Do you think I've forgotten the day
I carried him at my breast?
Many fair children I've loved since then,
But I think that I loved him best,
For he was our first-born child, John,
And I have not the heart, or will,
To love him les: ; whatever may come
He's my boy still!

I remember when he was a little lad,
How he used to climb on my knee;
How proud we were of his beauty,
Of his wit and mimicry.
And I know quite well he's a man now,
With a wild and stubborn will;
But whatever he is to you, John,
He's my boy still.

He was just like sunshine about the house, In the days of his happy youth;
You know we said that with all his faults He had courage and love and truth, And though he has wandered far away, I'd rather you'd say no ill;
He is sure to come back to his mother, He's my boy still.

I know there was never a kinder heart,
And I can remember to-day,
How often he went with me apart
And knelt at my knee to pray.
And the man will do as the boy did,
Sooner or later he will;
The Bible is warrant for that; so
He's my boy still.

A mother can feel where she can't see,

A mother can feel where she can't see, she is wiser than any sage;
My boy was trained in the good old way, I shall certainly get my wage,
And though he has wandered far away,
And followed his wayward will,
I know whatever, wherever he is,
He's my boy still!

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering o hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive infinence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedles within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sandford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetning the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys. stened the breaking up of the constitution than

From the Detroit Tribune: A "Corker" on Cleveland.

Mr. Blaine's reply to the president's message was the firing of a bomb into a paper fortress and the demoralization of the Republican Electors of the United greeting, the wish and the prayer ten-dered by him to the students on going the free trade forces behind it. But the argument of Ex-Governor Long of Massachusetts in answer to Mr. Cleve-land's document is quite as strong and convincing as any we have seen in print. Convention of delegated representatives convincing as any we have seen in print.

Mr. Long starts out with the proposition that all are agreed that the surplus revenue should be reduced and that the only question in dispute is how to proceed to reduce it. He takes the ground which early present and vice-President and Vice-President to be supported at the next National Convention of 1894, a National Convention which all protectionists take that the reduction must be made so as not to disturb the industrial interests of the country the industrial interests of the country that is a supported at the next National Electron, and for the transaction of such other business as may be there presented.

The president says by no means from the internal taxes of $100,000,000 on tobacco and spirits. Passing then to the $200,000,000 customs aevenue, more than $50,000,000 lish a policy which would strike down of that sum is the tariff on imported or that sum is the tarm on imported and sugar, so prominent an item that the retusal of the president to even allude to it as a source of reduction must be taken as a recommendation by him to leave that also as it is. Of the remaining $150,000, the tariff on the five the first the defenders of the continued fully cherish the defenders of the continued that the results of the sum of the first the first the defenders of the continued fully cherish the defenders of the continued that the repaid and oppressed workers of foreign lands; who favor a system of naval and coast defences which will enable the United States to conduct its international negotiations with self respect; who greatfully cherish the defenders of the continued that the repaid and oppressed workers of foreign lands; who favor a system of naval and coast defences which will enable the United States to conduct its international negotiations with self respect; who greatfully cherish the defenders of the continued that the respect to the first that th imported luxuries, such as wines, champagne, cigars, silks, laces, kid gloves, fruits, jewelry, etc. It goes without saying that these foreign luxuries are the able title to admission into the Ing that these foreign luxures are the last things in the world to be relieved. What remains? The inexorable logic of the presidents message is that the $100,- the presidents message is that the $100,- the presidents message is that the $100,- the protection of the customs revenue. What are the items of this amount? First are what are called, not altogether securately, the free raw materials. But accurately, the free raw materials. But unfortunately these amount to only some $12,000,000, and are a drop in the bucket.

The unusually fine weather so far this winter has naturally hurt the Clothing Trade. When buying our winter stock we based our calculations on cold weather, and as we have not had cold weather, it follows that there has not been as much clothing sold as there otherwise would have been. The result is we are overstocked on heavy goods. About the first of December we advertised to give a discount of 10 per cent. on all purchases. The number of people who have taken advantage of this offer convinces us that all people do not like to be humbugged. It is easy enough to write an advertisement offering $30.00 suits for $15.00, or offering \frac{14}{2} or \frac{15}{2} off. But stop, what does this mean. If a suit or overcoat is actually worth \$30.00, nobody is foolish enough to believe that it will be sold for \$15.00. Or if goods are marked at a fair margin, \frac{1}{2} off means that the goods will be sold for what they cost or less. NO MERCHANT CAN DO BUSINESS FOR NOTHING. We have a large stock of Men's and Boy's Suits and overcoats. These goods were bought for CASH and bought right. We will divide our profit with you until Jan. 1st. In other words we will give ten per cent discount on all purchases of Clothing. Our goods are all marked in plain figures and marked to sell. A discount of 10 per cent. means that you can buy one-tenth cheaper of us than others offer. We are offering you good, clean, new stock, very cheap. Come and see for yourself. - IT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

IN MEMORIAM!

A delightful Christmas festival was Prof. Alonzo B. Palmer, M. D., LL. D., professor of pathology and the theory and practice of medicine in the department of medicine and surgery of the University of Michigan, died at his residence, in this city, on Friday, the 23d of December, 1887, in the seventy-third year of his age.

To the majority of people, even his acquaintances and intimate friends, this event was wholly unanticipated until within a few hours of his decease, but to the practiced medical observer it had been for more than a year apparent that Dr. Palmer was slowly failing in physical Estrength and vigor, and, for some months past, disease had stamped itself upon his features in such a manner impossible to describe in words, and incapable of recognition or interpretation except by the observant physician—as to indicate that it was organic in its nature and would soon terminate his

For a long time he had a constant and overwhelming dread of becoming incapac-itated for active work by the infirmities incident to advanced age, and therefore relegated to a life of inactivity in which e would be a mere incumbrance and burden upon others, and where he would be compelled with regretful eyes to look upon some younger and more active laborer taking up the line of work which had been his life's duty and pleasure. His wishes and his prayer were that he might be spared this infliction. And so, cal Lutheran Sunday School were entertained Saturday, at the church, and it took two Christmas trees to hold all the presents. It is needless to add that happing resents are subject for rejoicing rather than for mourning, that his desires in this respect were not disappointed; for, while he was still in the active discharge of full data.

Thursday evening to which the Sunday School children are invited, and will be The Geddes Mission Sunday School, fered to the mixed chair of materia medica and therapeutics and the diseases of women and children. And again in the time of his death.

During this long service—which almost covers the life-history of the department of medicine and surgery—and engaged as he was in teaching therein several branches of medicine—he had a large influence in shaping the general policy of the medical department, and contributed very materially to its unbroken success; and it was his rare good fortune to see the college which had started as a feeble organization, limited in patronage and weak in influence and ical colleges of the country, and to realize that he could with strict justice assume to

Death enters a happy home, takes from its circle a beloved wife and blessed mother, leaving those who loyed her in the shadows of deep sorrow, weighing down their hearts with grief so bitter, so was unoccupied in 186 accepted an appointment to the same chair which he filled here, in the flourishing Berkshire Medical College at Pittsfield, Mass, and in 1869 a similar position in the medical department of Bowdoin College at Brunswick, Maine.

These engagements were terminated -at Pittsfield by the gradual decline and ultimate dissolution of the Berkshire But this is only one of the changes school, and at Bowdoin College by thich sooner or later comes to us all In 1877, of the graded system of medical education, and the extension of the lecture term to the full collegiate year of nine months, which necessitated his continued residence here. Dr. Palmer's devotion to teaching was something phenomenal. And so whenever from illness or other exigency fill the hour, as it enlarged his opportun ity for engaging in his favorite work.

In the different colleges in which he was engaged, it is probable that from eight thousand to ten thousand students have sat under his teachings. The large majority of them entered into practice, and it is simply impossible to estimate the influence which our late colleague must have exercised upon the working members of the medical profession in this country and it is comply come from one not governed by high and manly motives, and pure and elevating principles, in association with such a large number of young men. But there can be no doubt on this score in Dr. Palmer's career, for he was preeminently a man of Beside these, he published "Lectures on Homeopathy permanent book form, and a text book for schools entitled "Temperance Teachings of Science," which has had a wide circulation. As the crowning work of his life he published in two large octavo volumes a complete treatise on "The Theory and Practice of Medicine." In preparation > for this work he was many years collecting materials, and just previous to the immediate work of composition he spent over a year in Europe in the colleges and hospitals, to avail himself of the most recent advances in medical science and art. It will remain a monument to his industry, his ability, and his devotion to duty, and his intense desire to aid in the advance of the study and work of his life

-practical medicine. The esteem in which his ability and attainments were held by his brethren in the profession, is indicated by the fact that in the International Medical Con gress, which recently met at Washington, he occupied the important position of Chairman of the section of Pathology, and in that capacity gave an address in the general session of the Congress, and in the American Medical Association he held at the time of his death the office of Chairman of the section on the Practice of Medicine. The members of the University Senate with a profound sense of the loss which they have suffered in the decease of their venerable and eminent colleague desire to express their deep and tender sympathy with his bereaved wife.

Dr. Palmer's funeral services were held at St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Bishop Harris of Detroit, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Dr. Earp and Rev. Wm. Galpin, after which his remains were taken to Forest Hill cemetery.

FROM THE PEOPLE.

Why Don't You Ask Them?

ED. COURIER:-In the issue of the COURIER of Dec. 21st, my attention was called to an article signed by "A Tired Boomer," reflecting, in a measure, upon the public spirit and enterprise of the men who killed off the booming fund. Being acquainted with some of these gentlemen, leads me to believe that they have been misjudged. It was the principle that they were fighting, not the tax. They are men who are too well off financially to care for the few cents of extra tax that would have been their share, and are in the main liberal, public spirited and broad-guage citizens. We presume, if our friend will ask them, they will, unless it be in one or two instances, respond with a liberal subscription to any fund to be used for the purpose of advancing and building up the city.

Being property owners they are neces esarily interested in every thing that will advance the value of property in the city. To infer that they would allow others to advance their values by giving, while they reaped the benefits is an injustice to their sense of liberality. The only qualities possessed by that salt water product so well known to this age and generation, and so useful in its place, the sponge, are those of absorbing whatever of a liquid nature that it may come in contact with, and retaining the same until it is forced out by squeezing. Every community has its complement of a like class of citizens, who are willing to wax oleagenous at the the expense of others, and only be made to contribute to their own benefit by a system of judicious squeezing, a process the booming tax was calculated to perform.

But such a process is quite unnessary here, where all that is wanted is a chance to come to the rescue. The best way to do is to ask them to help. Don't be bashful. Yours for JUSTICE.

Salt Rheum

salt rheum are indescribable. The cleansing, healing, purifying influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla are unequalled by any other medicine "I take pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it has done wonders for me. I had salt rheum very severely, affecting me over nearly my entire body. Only those who have suffered from this disease in its worst form can imagine the extent of my affliction. I tried many medicines, but failed to receive benefit until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Then the disease began to subside, the Agonizing Itch and Pain disappeared, and now I am entirely free from the disease. My blood seems to be thoroughly purified, and my general health is greatly benefited." LYMAN ALLEN, Sexton

N. E. Church, North Chicago, Ill. "My son had salt rheum on his hands and the calves of his legs, so bad that they would crack open and bleed. He took Hood's Sar saparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. STAN-TON, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

From 108 to 135

"I was seriously troubled with salt sieum for three years, and receiving no benefit from medical treatment I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am now entirely cured of salt rheum; my weight has increased from 108 lbs. to 135." MRS. ALICE SMITH, Stamford, Conn. If you suffer from salt rheum, or any blood disease, try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has cured many others, and will cure you.

From all over the country, wherever the "Little Nugget" company has given a performance, come the highest recom-mendation from the press. In fact, this Frank Loomis is home with his family s one of the few companies that is meeting with financial success this year. The Chicago News gave them this send off:

The "Little Nugget" company was greeted with another good audience on ast evening, and gave a very satisfactory entertainment. There is just sufficient plot to make it interesting. After the first act it merges into specialties that keep the audience in a happy hamor until the close. The third act finishes the story of Little Nugget's trials. In the specialties some clever people are introduced in pleasing songs, dances, etc. The entertainment is of the comedy order, and know the ardience leveling. and keeps the audience laughing all the time. The company's engagement runs through the balance of the week, and on Saturday afternoon they give a matinee performance.

"Little Nugget" is without doubt one of the neatest shows that has been here this season. The piece is a conglomera-tion of refined fun, and the actors and ac-tresses are ladies and gentlemen who do their work in such a way as to call forth the greatest enthusiasm, not only for their artistic accomplishments, but for e easy grace which education and gen tle feelings alone can give. They play to the higher and purer emotions of hu-man hearts, and things that we would hiss if done in a bungling way, they han-dle so naturally, that the house is kept in a continued roar. The play from be-ginning to end is filled with irresistable surprises, and just as you make up your mind that it is a shame to laugh at such foolishness, there you go again worse than ever.-Cincinnati Gazette, of Dec.

JONATHAN.

Well, wife I am discouraged now And sad as I can be.
I've been to town to day you know To see what I could see.
It's getting near to Christmas, wife, And we had ought to buy
Some presents for the little oncs
To fill their hearts with joy.
I went to nearly every store
That I could find in town,
But not a single place I saw
Where the prices were marked down,
And as the times are hard, my dear,
And presents are so high,
We'll have to wait another year
Our presents then to buy.

MATILDA.

Why! Jonathan, my husband dear,
Pray do not be so sad,
Did you go to Goodyear's Drug Store
And see the stock he had?
His stock, I've heard the people say,
Is the finest in the town,
And, I've heard the people say,
His prices are clear down,
And if you want a souvenir,
Or toliet set in style,
Or paper knife, or pocket book,
Why, he will make you smile,
So do not be disheartened, dear,
Nor feel blue any more,
Until you've made a little trip
Upito Goodyear's Drug Store.
JOHNATHAN.
Well, if you think it's worth our time,

Well, if you think it's worth our time,
I'll hitch up our old mare,
And we will go at once, dear wife,
To see the bargains there;
For I must tell the truth, my dear,
I felt so very blue,
That I neglected going there
His mammoth stock to view. MATILDA.

Well, husband dear, Pll hurry up
And wash the dinner dishes,
And we will go at once, and see
If we can't have our wishes.

We'll purchase what we want, of course,
For people say that he has got
A large stock of his kind.

Well here we are at home again; Well here we are at home again;
We are as happy as can be,
We had a jolly little ride
Goodyear's Drug Store to see
We found such lots of presents,
Of every shape and kind,
The finest bit of bric-a-brac,
And all things to please your mind.
We bought a lot of presents,
You'bet we found the bargains

What am I to do?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappily too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhœa or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

The only thing that grief has taught me is to know how shallow it is -Emereon.

Nervous Diseases. There are more nervous than blood diseases. Thus, a weakness of the nerves of the brain causes headache, fits, dizziness, sleeplessness, etc.; a weakness of the nerves of the stomach causes dyspepsia, pain, wind, etc.; of the lungs, makes "weak lungs"; of the liver produces biliousness, constipation, etc.; of the womb Induees irregularities, sterility, pains, etc.; of the sexual organs, impotency, etc. For all weaknesses Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine surpasses all other remedies. First Prayer in Congress.

In Thatcher's Military Journal, under date of December, 1777, is found a note containing the indentical "first prayer in Congress," made by Rev. Jacob Duche, a gentleman of great eloquence. Here it is, an historical curiosity:

Oh, Lord, our Heavenly Father, high and mighty King of Kings, Lord of Lords, who dost from thy throne behold LAURA BRIDGEMAN, world-famous for her accomplishments, although blind and with every other sense except that of touch imest with power supreme and uncontrolled over all the kingdoms, empires and governments, look down in mercy we beseech thee, on the American States, who have fled to Thee from the rod of the oppressor, and thrown themselves on Thy gracious protection, desiring to be henceforth dependent only on Thee. To Thee Thy have appealed for the righteousness of their cause; to Thee do they now look up for that countenance and support which Thou alone canst give. Take them, therefore, Heavenly Father, unto thy nurturing care. Give them wislom in council and valor in the field. Defeat the malicious designs of our ad versaries; convince them of the unright eousness of their cause, and if they still persist in sanguinary purposes, oh! let the voice of their hearts constrain then to drop the weapons of war from their unnerved hands in the day of battle Be Theu present, O God of Wisdom, and d rect the councils of this honorable a sembly. Enable them to settle things on the best and surest foundations, that scenes of blood may be speedily closed and order, harmony and peace may effectually be restored, the truth and justice, religion and piety, prevail and flourish among the people. Preserve the health of their bodies and the vigor of their minds; shower down upon and the millions they here represent such temporal blessings as Thou seest expedient for them in this world, and crown them with everlasting glory in the world to come. All this we ask in the name and through the merits of Jesus Christ, thy Son, our Savior. Amen.

The above was discovered in an old document belonging to Mr. B. W. Field, of Sinclairville, and transcribed by Mr. Pliny Smith, of Stockton, who thinks the people of this day and generation will be interested in its perusa

COAL AND COKE.

Another Splendid Christmas and New Years' Annual for 1888. The Latest and Best of the Rock Island Series.

Thousands who have perused with deighted interest the pages of "Watt Stephens, the Genius of Steam" (1885), Voltagal, the Genius of Electricity 1886), and "Petroleum and Natural Gas" 1887), will be pleased to know that the hicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway will issue another magnificent souvenir for the Christmas and New Year season of 1888, which surpasses in many respects anything of the kind heretofore pub-lished. "Coal and Coke" is the title of the work, and the subject has been ex haustively treated. It is written in a captivating colloquial style, embodying a vast amount of information in regard to coal strata; their relative position in the earth's crust; where deposits occur,—their nature and extent; the different processes of underground mining; how coal is converted into coke, and some of its varied and multiple uses.

The book is profusely illustrated from original sketches. Although the extense has been very great, the Rock Island has concluded to supply "Coal and Coke" at the nominal rate of ten cents (for postage) per copy. Enclose your address plainly written (also ten cents in stamps) to E. A. Holbrook, general ticket and passenger agent at Chicago, Ill., and a copy of "Coal and Coke," will be mailed to you, prepaid, to any part of the world
