THE CONVENTION.

Although the Chicago Convention missed great leaders like Conkling, Logan, Grant and Arthur, it had many good workers and the finest political game ever played that has ever been seen. The candidacy of Blaine was the enigma. In order to understand the situation thoroughly, as to why so many tried to nominate the man from Maine, we will give some of the inside history.

A private and hitherto unpublished letter from England was written by Blaine substantially as follows: "The nomination of forty-four is abated at fifty-eight. I no longer desire the presidency of the U. S. For the first time in my life I am taking a rest and I enjoy it. Only one thing could induce me to cast aside my personal wishes and be a candidate. That is, if the contingency should arise when the delegates, after long deliberation, should be unable to unite on some of the good men now before them and they should request me (not necessarily un-animously, but with practical unanimity) to take it in the interests of harmony, I should obey their request even though it cost me my life to make the campaign. But I shrink from the renewal of the old contest and the subsequent political annoyance in Washington. Therefore I hope you will be able to choose one from the number of good men before you.

Catching at this, the Blaine men tried to kill off the various other candidates so that they might spring his name on the convention. This was defeated, however, by the powerful combination of Harrison and Morton of New York, Indiana and the Pacific coast. The result is one of those happy surprises, such as gives general satisfaction. For after the plain letters from Florence and Paris, Blaine's nomination would have been extremely unwise. It would have forced another campaign of dirt throwing, for it is now, there are clean records for both candidates, and they will win on their merits, and on the strong platform of protection to American industries. It is the dinner pal against the red bandanna.

Blaine's TEA PARTY.

The republican national convention, to all other necessary business, readied its ballot last Thursday, but could not determine upon the best man until the following Holiday. The result of the convention, although not so many of the republicans of Michigan would like it, is perhaps as satisfactory to the party at large as any man who could have been chosen. Hailing from the doubtful state of Indiana with a record that no man can assail, either as a soldier or a civilian, Gen. Benjamin Harrison will prove a stronger opponent than our friends, the enemy are willing to admit, while his running mate, the Hon. Levi P. Morton, of New York, a representative of the business interests of the eastern states, will prove invincible in the doubtful state from which he hail. The two together will certainly Lywin.

The members of the Michigan contingent, who were in Chicago, proved themselves excellent fighters, and died game, with colors flying. The result of the various ballots is shown in the following table, the 7th and 8th ballots being taken Monday:

Table with 4 columns: Candidate, 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th. Candidates include Alger, Allison, Uresham, Harrison, Sherman, Phelps, Dewey, Blaine, Lincoln, Ingalls, Rock, Hawley, McKinley, Foraker, Inbanias, Hammond.

Gen. Harrison has always been an advocate of practical civil service reform, and he has several times taken pains to show up the hollow and sham pretensions of Mr. Cleveland's administration, in removing competent and skilled officials in Indiana and replacing them with political wire pullers.

Mr. J. L. Hudson, of Detroit, appears to be a howling prohibitionist until it comes to carrying the banner of that lardy and frothy thing he is where he always was, a democrat. That's the way all the democratic prohibitionists turn out when they are brought down to hard pan. They are prohibitionists for effect only.

Last week at a meeting of the Trades Assembly of Western Pennsylvania, representatives of the W. M. A. adopted a series of resolutions emphatically condemning the Mills Tariff bill and all its advocates, Congressman W. L. Scott, of Erie, Pa., was condemned as an enemy of labor and a dangerous person to the welfare of society and the Industrial Progress of America, and a bitter enemy of organized labor.

A number of English brokers and wool men are in the field ready to take whatever advantage is offered by the passage of the Mills bill. They are taking Father Time by the forelock, and are not going to get left owing to any procrastination of their own. They come with trunks and bags filled with samples, and are busy showing them to the dealers and manufacturers. We have not yet heard of any orders being placed within them.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers number forty thousand active workmen. The association has joined the American Protective Tariff League. This is the first time that a large organization has taken such a stand in politics, for the reason that tariff has heretofore been acknowledged by the democratic party to be an issue in politics. There will be no other movements of the same nature.—Newark Press Register.

The republican platform calls for protection to American labor and American industries; a free ballot and a fair count in every state in the union; the reduction of letter postage to one cent, on the ground that it costs the government no more to handle a letter than it does a postal card; the admission to the union of all the territories having sufficient population; and the settlement of the fisheries question on a basis honorable to the United States and fair to her fishermen. There is a fair-minded man in this country who does not approve of such a platform? If there is he ought to be trotted out. Barnum wants him.

High license and the bonds up to the highest notch are closing up many saloons in the state.—Manchester Enterprise.—Is it not true that it is a better temperance law than prohibition?

EDITORIAL NOTES. S> STEPS OUT.

The road lies straight to victory. In this campaign it is the dinner pal against the red bandanna.

Young Tippencano, with Morton too makes the democrats look most horribly blue!

The democrats can rest assured that the grandson of his grandfather has not forgotten how to tip-his-ear-ear over.

Gen. Alzer can feel greatly pleased over the plucky manner in which his supporters stood by him to the last.

All "literary fellows" are expressly prohibited from quoting Longfellow's words about Ben Lev in this campaign.

The exact president of the United States will be a man who fought for his country in the dark days when his country needed him.

Indiana is fairly wild with joy over Gen. Harrison's nomination. All members of all parties appearing to vie with each other to do him honor.

The mugwumps' fear that Gen. Harrison has not favored civil service reform in the past can be dispensed with. The General has always advocated it.

"I think that every man who fought for the preservation of the government should vote for these men," says Gen. Sherman in referring to Harrison and Morton.

Benjamin Harrison is bound to win! No power can stop his coming in! The Indiana nag's a corker! (on the democrats). And so is Morton, the grand New Yorker.

The fact that Gen. Harrison fought in the union armies in the late rebellion, it is said, will lose him all the southern states. There is no sectionalism about that you know.

Gen. Sherman charges that "there has not been a union man sent to represent this country in foreign lands under the present administration," and that "it is time for a change."

The red bandanna with its English trade mark, can never cope with the American laborer's dinner pal. The bandanna policy would soon empty that pan and starve its owner.

The last Stockbridge Sun hoists the name of "Clinton B. Fish" for president on the prohibition ticket. This is an unkind hint probably that Fisk is a dry one or something of that sort.

The Detroit Evening News predicts the defeat of the republican ticket, (the desire being father to the prediction) consequently, Ben. and Levi might as well pull out of the race and give up at once.

The speech of Robert E. Frazer presenting the name of Gen. Alger to the Chicago republican convention was one of the finest ever delivered. So says the Chicago Tribune. It ought to have won the battle.

There is something very singular about it, but the red bandanna handkerchief, which is the democratic battle flag, is made in England, almost exclusively, and the republicans ordered immense supplies of them from English manufacturers.

A Kansas glee club captured the crowd at Chicago, by singing a song with this refrain: "If you want to see the democrats run, Hall Jerusalem!"

The republican platform asserts: "The first concern of all governments is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of their homes. The republican party cordially sympathizes with all wise and well directed effort for the promotion of temperance and morality."

Gentlemen, the republican party proposes to elect a president who will not allow any other nation on earth to monopolize the fisheries of this continent. We have had enough of that Tom fool trucking of Tom Bayard's. The fishermen have.

As John Quincy Adams tilted the presidential shoes of his father, John Adams, so Benjamin Harrison fill the presidential shoes of his grandfather, William Henry Harrison. And he will fill them, too, notwithstanding said shoes have stretched all out of shape the past four years.

The state supreme court has decided that the feature of the new liquor law that requires the removal of all screens, is a violation of the constitution, and the interior after closing hours, is constitutional. The enforcement of this provision would make the labor of police officers very light.

Some of the warm free trade democrats, who believe that they would profit by cheap goods procured through cheap labor, should look far enough ahead to understand that all salaries will have to come down to a free trade basis, and it is awful hard to get them up again when they are once down.

Gen. Harrison has always been an advocate of practical civil service reform, and he has several times taken pains to show up the hollow and sham pretensions of Mr. Cleveland's administration, in removing competent and skilled officials in Indiana and replacing them with political wire pullers.

Mr. J. L. Hudson, of Detroit, appears to be a howling prohibitionist until it comes to carrying the banner of that lardy and frothy thing he is where he always was, a democrat. what he was. George Washington was railed by the American K. V. L. L. S. and the important event that clustered about that period. The same was true of Lincoln and Grant, they required greatness through the important periods of the Lincoln and Grant. It was a law that had become generally recognized and admitted that great occasions make great men.

The facts told about "Tongues," by John Phillips, were entertainingly told. The trite old maxim, "It is the thousands and hundreds of golden had been satisfactorily demonstrated over and over again, and it was appreciated when we met one of the class of people of whom it is said that their tongues were the tongues of the angels. The prattling tongue, with mischief in its eyes, the scolding tongue with its angry impressions; the witty tongue with its pleasant retorts; the discreet tongue with its quick, which every one dreads; the mean tongue going through life in its own position; the eloquent tongue which closed the list with its powerful logic as a lawyer or an orator.

David McMorran of Fort Huron had for his subject "Should Science be made optional?" He contended that it should be, and that failure to make it so in the past was a result of misstatements by lecturers and others, who, taking it for granted that the public would know the difference, made statements to suit their purposes regardless of truth or bling. It was the duty of the farmer did understand the revelations of science relative to the fertilization of his crops, etc. How many thousands of men were saved by those exploring for gas or oil, or minerals, could the farmer and the primary teachings of geology. He recited the upward or downward tendency of our relatives and friends and Germany and plead earnestly for a more general diffusion of scientific knowledge among the people.

"Commissioner Atkin's Order" was Kreller's subject. The subject was a mystery to probably 99 out of every 100 present, and it was not until the speaker had referred to the education of Indian youths by the government and others. This order had been subject to much criticism on the ground that it dictated the language to be taught and the methods used, but the speaker thought as the government owned the Indians and the nobility were there only on the sufferance of the government, that the order was all right, in which opinion he was not alone. The closing essay was by M. Klose Walker, of St. Johns, and "Gay or not Gay?" was the theme. The history of the methods pursued by governments to ascertain the guilt or innocence of people accused of committing crime was rehearsed and conclusions drawn. It took a long time to secure a trial by jury, but it was to be hoped that we might find a way to ascertain the guilt or innocence of crime were guilty or not guilty.

Miss Clara Mack intends going to Kansas City the latter part of the week to remain during the summer with her sister, Mrs. Abbot.
News reaches at that Win. Parker, of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Parker of this city, now of San Jacinto, Cal., is very ill with brain fever, and is being attended by Dr. Harrison, of Cass ave. Detroit.

Miss Lizzie Clark and Mr. Geo. Thompson, of Jackson, are guests of Gilbert Bliss and family.
Miss Alice M. Hunt leaves the city tomorrow, and will remain in Massachusetts during the vacation, pursuing art studies most of the time.
Mary and Ella Kinsey, daughters of David Rinsey, who have been attending St. Mary's Academy Monroe, for the past year have returned home.
Miss Ticknor, of 20 S. Ingalls St., gave a reception to the decorating and flower committee, on Saturday eve. A grand time is the verdict of all who were there.

ITS ALL LIGHT.
The Republican Ticket as It is Looked At Through An Arbor Optics.

As the people of Michigan, the republican portion of them at least, were largely in favor of a favorite son for the presidential nomination, and as they did not secure the man they wanted, the COURIER thought that its readers might want to know what it thought of the leaders that have been selected, so a tour of interviewing was inaugurated, and the question: "How do you like the nominations?" fired at the republicans met with this result:
Mac LeBeau—Glorious.
J. Volant—Good enough.
John Heinzman—It's all right.
Wm. Frank—I like the men all right.
D. C. Fall—It's all right and will win.
Gilbert—It is the winning ticket.
L. C. Goodrich—The winning ticket.
Rosey—Good. I hope they will be elected.
A. V. Robison—That ticket is going to grow.
Prof. E. Baur—I think the ticket is a pretty good one.
Wm. N. Stevens—Not my first choice, but well satisfied.

George Wahr—I don't know. They are both good men.
C. H. Worden—I like the nominations but not the platform.
Dr. C. G. Darling—it is a good enough ticket for any one.
Judge Kinne—Oh, I think it is as good as could have been named.
Dr. S. A. Jones—By going to the universe. It is a good one.
Ex-Mayor Smith—a good strong ticket. We can elect it all right.
A. DeForest—I think the nominations could not have been better.
Wm. J. Clark—they are good. Can't be beat nor won't be beat, either.

Ex-Auditor General Wm. C. Stevens—Thinks the ticket is a good one.
J. E. Harking—I wanted to vote for Blaine, but believe the ticket is a good one.
E. J. N. Martin—I think the nominations are good, first-class every way.
J. J. Goodyear—I think it is a good ticket and will be elected all right enough.
J. C. Knowlton—I am suited and believe the party have a clean path to victory.
Eugene K. Fruess—First rate. Well pleased. Can and will support it heartily.
Prof. Teal D. Wineg—I hurrah twice and three times, for its ticket that will sweep the country.
Charlie Edwards—the 3rd ward club are as solid as a rock. No split in their ranks now.
Joseph H. Vancil—I think it is a strong ticket, and one that will be successful in the polls.

L. B. Hent—Don't quite like the ticket, but believe it will prove a strong one, nevertheless.
A. W. Ames—if we can't elect that ticket we can't elect any. It's the best that could be put up.
Rory Campbell—the ticket is a good one and so is the platform, and it will result in a victory.
C. B. Davison—it is the ticket that will please the old soldiers, and pull to the front.
Evert Scott—it is as strong a ticket as could possibly have been made, and will sweep the country.
P. Bach—it is a strong ticket. Gen. Harrison has been my choice from the beginning. I will win.
Calvin Bliss—R suits me. Harrison is lit right, a competent man for the place, and is a good school.

A. A. Terry—Alger was my preference to other men, but I am a republican and I will vote the ticket.
W. W. Whedon—Am satisfied that they are good O. P. H. It looks some like the revival of the old Tippecanoe times.
City Treasurer John Moore—I think they are excellent men, and that the local sentiment for their nomination is good.
H. Kandall—I think Hilgno and Alger would have been stronger, but am willing to fall into line with the party.
Dr. W. F. Breaker—Of course, I preferred Alger, but Harrison is a good man and will be satisfactory to the soldiers.
Christian Schmidt—Can give an opinion yet. Don't know the men well enough about Mr. Harrison to express an opinion, but my impression is not favorable.
L. M. Stafford—I tell you it's all right. Next to Hiale Harrison was my choice. He is a good one, and we shall win this time.

Dr. Frank Altenberger—we were all in hopes of having a Michigan man, but I will vote the ticket.
John M. Wheeler—I think it is all right, and should be glad to see it carried out by an election.
G. J. Josephs—I believe the ticket is a good one, and will make it warm for Mr. Cleveland.
W. W. Wine—I like the ticket, first rate. I wish the winning candidate in a competition. Couldn't have given the people a better one.
W. G. Bierchfield—Harrison is a good man or he would not have been nominated. This country is not ready to adopt free trade yet, not much.
Paris Handfield—Don't know exactly, there is no fault to find with the candidates, though not so well known as some other men would have been.
Col. H. S. Dean—I think we have got the cleanest ticket ever put up by any party.

Harrison I know. He is a clean, honest smart man.
Dr. Lawrence—First class. As good as gold have been made. I am pleased with it. Harrison is a man of brains and capacity.
Chas. Orr—Tip Top. Very well pleased indeed. If any thing could carry the ticket, Ben, Harrison can do it. And that's one of the states we need.
Hon. A. J. Sawyer—the best ticket that has been put in the field since the union union of Gen. Garfield. You can't say anything about it which is too good.
K. Ald. Biggs—I like the ticket first rate. If Blaine had been nominated but for Eugene Blaine would have voted for him, but they pretty generally favor Mr. Harrison.
Chas. A. Turner—That ticket is all right. The tin ball brigade will run opposition to the ticket. Harrison will get the full labor vote.
C. E. Mischel—It is one of the kind of ticket that everybody having the best interests of the people at heart will want to see in the ballot box next November.

Wm. A. Clark—First rate. A good strong ticket. No more spots. I believe all things considered it is the strongest ticket that could have been named. It will surely get there.
Geo. Feiner—I don't know hardly what to think about it. Harrison probably makes Indiana sure for the ticket and if Morton can do as well for New York, we shall win.
Chas. W. Wagner—It's all correct. Morton is just the man to climb over the democrats in New York, where he is very strong, and Harrison can carry Indiana of course.
Rev. A. W. Ramsey—As far as the men are concerned, I think they are good, honest men, but I do not like the platform, which does not seem to me to be of any value.
A. L. Noble—Am pleased with it. Know nothing something about Mr. Wilson of New York—which is my native state—I firmly believe that his candidacy will carry that state for the republicans.
Wm. K. Childs—the ticket is all right. Gen. Harrison is the best man to do it. The men who Cleveland has appointed to offices would have starved our soldiers had they been given a chance to do so.

J. Q. A. Sessions—Harrison is one of three men I named as winners when the republican ticket opened. I think he will suit the diversified interests of the country better than any other man. It is a good combination.
Jerome Freeman—it is the very best thing the party could have done under the circumstances. Harrison will carry every northern state. The people have not had time to make papers out of the laboring men yet.
Benj. Brown—I am well pleased with it. It is a good ticket. I think that Gen. Harrison's preference would have been Gresham.
Thos. J. Keech—Perfectly satisfied. I was a republican before that ticket was named, and am one now, and I am ready to fight for Harrison and Morton from now on. Every republican must work though if we win.
Chauncey H. Millen—All right. Would rather have had Gen. Alger of course, but am satisfied with Gen. Harrison. His nomination makes Indiana certain for the republican ticket, and Morton insures New York, and we shall win the victory in November.
Dr. W. W. Nichols—the ticket is all right. Of course Michigan republicans are disappointed, but Harrison being so much better than Alger will probably run better. It looks like victory in November. The Mills trade bill is enough to swamp all the republicans in the doubtful states of New York and Indiana and the republicans have no doubt of it, and every good republican has any doubts.
Dr. Howell—it's a good ticket, and will be elected. Cleveland has made the issue fair and square, and he can't dodge it now. It is the ticket that free traders and protection that must be decided in this contest, and this country is not ready for free trade yet.

Chas. S. Miller—It's a winner sure. The man who put this ticket in the field, were the highest and noblest men in the republican party, and I presume their judgment is better than that of some of us who wanted some other kind of ticket. The republicans elect the next president of the United States.
J. T. Jacobs—I was a plucky fight the friends of Gen. Alger made for him, and it was a labor of love. It was one of the great conventions ever held in this country, and though it decided against our man, yet there is no doubt but that the decision will be a tour of interviewing was inaugurated, and the ticket will be elected for we shall carry New York sure, and doubtless Indiana also.

UNIVERSITY ITEMS.
For commencement papers, poems, addresses, prophecies, etc. in full, see the Commencement Annual.
II. D. Corbin, lit. '86, of La Porte, Ind., is in the city.
W. A. McAndrews, of Chicago, '80, is attending Commencement.
Geo. C. Manly, of Denver, M. A. '87, is spending the week with old college friends.
Among the older graduates present are John Q. A. Fritchey, of St. Louis, Mo., and Joel Moody, of Kansas.
F. D. Sherman, of Charlotte, lit. '80, now principal of Charlotte school, is visiting his Jeta Theta friends.
John F. Shaforth, lit. '75, is attending Commencement, coming through from the University of Michigan. He is located at Denver, Col., in the law.
Ed. C. Pitkins, lit. '86, now of Kansas City, C. E., on the T. & Santa Fee H. R., is in the city for commencement week, and shaking hands with old friends.

There are fewer of the Alumni present this year than usual. This is accounted for by the fact of the semi-centennial celebration last year calling so many here.
Prof. F. W. Arbury, lit. '82, who has been teaching at Feuton for the past two years, goes to Houghton next year as superintendent of schools, at a salary of $3.50.
The cool atmosphere last evening was a fine thing for the young people who enjoyed the dancing at the senior reception, which was one of the most pleasant ever held.
Homer Drake, (lent. '85, of Kansas, and E. L. Drake, '87, are here for commencement. Their brother H. E., takes his diploma as an Engineer, of George Drake, of Plymouth, is here also.
Mr. and Mrs. De Vries, of Woodbridge Cal., are in the city to witness the graduating of their sons Marion and Lee De Vries, both of the law class. They are the guests of Mrs. H. Harwood, of S. Division st.

At the meeting of the regents last evening the recommendation of the medical faculty to appoint Dr. E. V. Tinkler, of Detroit, to fill Dr. Dimigler's place, was rejected, and the appointment left vacant for the present.
The following tribute to Prof. Thos. F. Moran, lit. of '80, taken from the Elk River, Minn., Star-News, will be read with pleasure by many of our M. N.-an old friends and classmates:
"Including we must not overlook the fact that a great share of the credit for the happy termination of the school year is due to the excellent men and that the local sentiment for their nomination is good.
H. Kandall—I think Hilgno and Alger would have been stronger, but am willing to fall into line with the party.
Dr. W. F. Breaker—Of course, I preferred Alger, but Harrison is a good man and will be satisfactory to the soldiers.

Chas. H. Kline—You can just put it down that Harrison and Morton fill the bill, they are hustlers, and have back of them the cluster of republican states which they are more of the laboring masses than they do of red, bandanna handkerchiefs with English trade marks.
A. W. Hamilton—they please me very much indeed, and I have a ticket for the republican ticket, and the issue is direct, made HO by both the platform and the men, and the people must decide whether they want free trade or protection.
Charles E. Hlcock—While favoring Alger, I regard the ticket "a good politics." The similarities are strong men, and hailing from different states. The coolest in my opinion will be upon the platform and "wo will have" protection and prosperity against "free trade and the uncertain results of that policy."

Chas. S. Miller—It's a winner sure. The man who put this ticket in the field, were the highest and noblest men in the republican party, and I presume their judgment is better than that of some of us who wanted some other kind of ticket. Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is a peculiar medicine, and is carefully prepared by competent pharmacists. The combination and proportion of Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Yellow Dock, and other medicinal agents is exclusively peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, giving it strength and curative power superior to other preparations. A trial will convince you of its great medicinal value. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood.
Creates an Appetite
I used Hood's Sarsaparilla to cleanse my blood and tone up my system. It gave me a good appetite and seemed to build me over.
I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for cancerous humor, and it began to act unlike anything else. It cured the humor, and seemed to come upon me, either separately or together, but prefer the latter.
