Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or astened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive infinence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assatled by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sandford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease, Lowards the lines liver and Catarrh. TO A BROWN LINNET. A wild, sweet note
From a little, brown throat
As if the murmur of brooks were in it,
The songs he sings
Of the wildwood rings,
And this the song of my little linnet!

Such ripples and trills!
Ah! my own heart thrills
As the quick notes hurry and hasten alo
That I, too, may share,
Sweet bird of the air,
Thy pure, wild melody, rich and strong!

No touch as of pain
In thy glad refrain,
Thou singest as if thy heart o'erflowed!
Nothing but gladness,
No hint of sadness,
Only joyously praising thy God! Merrily ringing, Cheerily singing, Saying to the sad of heart "Be of good cheer!
God taught me to sing
The message I bring,
The bright star of hope draweth anear!"

A pure clear note From a tiny throat With the rippling murmur of streams within
The song he sings
Of the woodland rings,
And this song of my little linnet!

THE SKELETON IN THE CLOSET. The shades of night were falling fast As through a bankrupt village passed A man who bore, mid silence dead, A flag on which there could be read: Free Trade!

The grass is growing in the streets, The clothes are old on all he meets; The factory fires are dead and cold, The kids are weazened, starved and old— Free Trade.

"Try not to work," the old man said,
The wages will not pay for bread."
The flagman did not make reply,
He merely let his banner fly—

"Stay! stay!" the wretched cried, "and re Among us whom Free Trade has blest." Far off the words came on the wind, As of a spirit sick in mind: Free Trade.

Next morn they found beneath that flag A faded o'd and useless rag, A skeleton stretched out on the stones, With these strange words wrought of its Free Irade.

> The Way The Standard Oil Company Drains The Findlay Fields.

The mammoth pipe line which the standard Oil Co. has been engaged in building to carry crude petroleum from the Findlay field to Chicago, has at last been connected and a preliminary test has been made. This great line begins at Cygnet in Wood county, and runs through the tank farms west of thence through the tank farms west of that city to Lima, and from that point to port of thirty five to forty shillings, or Ss.40 to $9.60, as the weekly wages of Limanas been in operation for six months past. From Lima to Chicago the last connecting piece has been put in, and the first test has been satisfactorily made, and the transportation of oil by this line to Chicago will begin at once, as the Standard has immense quantities of oil

The main pumps are at Lima and have a daily capacity of 15,000 barrels. Pumping stations and tanks having a storage of 30,000 barrels have been erected Preble and Laketon, the former being 168 miles and the latter 122 miles from Chicago. The cost of constructing this line was $7,000 per mile. To fill the pipe will require 72,000 barrels of oil and it will be 72 hours passing from the pumping works here to the storage tanks at South Chicago. This gives the line a capacity of about one thousand barrels or 40,000 gallons per day.

Do not their lives illustrate that purity in personal character is consonant with the highest worldly success? with it Baby came; but oh, how changed I remember with what delight the anticipated coming fild me, as I stood again n the station watching the train with its precious freight roll in. I remember the pale face of the mother as she came to ward me bearing our baby in her arms, and the quiet manner of the elder girl at her side—a sad contrast to the joyous prattle and eager greeting so long waited My God! What feeling was that cam over me? Did my heart turn to stone? I knew not where I was nor what was transpiring around me. The only words I heard as I took the child in my arms, "Baby is very sick," found a response in thoughts I dared not utter, and what I could not, would not believe, -my baby is dying!

A carriage! home! the doctor!

All else was chaos; it was a dream a fearful dream should I ever awake! Before me was the precious little form for whose coming I had waited so long, who but yesterday was so well and happy in the thought of seeing papa to-day, who went from me with eyes so bright and laughing, now staring at me unconscious and moaning in her fitful dream,—it seemed as if I should go mad! And now it came to me that every hour this my precious child was nearer me, she had left just so much of her sweet little life behind, and the nearer to her home she came the further away from us she was going forever.

Baby had come back,—no, not she this was not the one who left me so full of love and joyous hopes. This was but little frame burning with fever, an anconscious body whose little life was slowly ebbing away.

Tenderly we carried her to our home and ministered to her. With aching nearts we watched the precious life go Baby had "come back to Papa" but not

We laid her in the casket, dressed in white, the same as when she promised me, "would tum back," but now I know she could not. We placed in one hand a white rose, and in the other the little missives of love from Papa, asking her to come back to him. We wound her silken "turls" around our fingers, we kissed her little hand and beautiful life like face again and again, and said within ourselves "Baby cannot come back."

And so she went out from me, and came again; and so left us all never to return. We buried her, and with her, our brightest hopes and sweetest joys, and flowers that cover her grave are seen by mortals, but they are more beautiful and fragrant than God's best, for they are the sweet thoughts which we gather from the garden of her innocent life, and they are filled with the perfume of Baby's love. With these precious memories we daily strew her grave.

MINNESOTA HIGH LICENSE.

In that state a new law went into effect a year ago making the license a minimum of $1,000 in cities over 10,000 inhabitants and $500 in other places. Under their old low license there were 2,806 saloons in the state but the first year of high license cut this number down to 1,597, nearly one-halt less. The public revenue from the 2,806 was $850-000 while the 1,597 paid $1,100,000.

But the best of all is that the reports show less expenditure for drink, fewer arrests for drunkeness, less crime, and no saloons at all in several counties. 440 saloons in St. Paul and Minneapolis were closed up and they were the low grogeries. The Pioneer Press says of the re-

Permanency of the system is insured, and the saloon-keepers do not hang on, in the hope that another election will bring a change in affairs. It has brought nothout benefit to the state, and has, by its practical working for more than a year, proven itself to be a wise, just, and most successful measure.

NEW YORK ALL RIGHT. Member of the United Labor National Committee Gives His Views.

PITTSBURGH, PA., August 27.—"I'm not speaking particularly in favor of Harrison and Morton, but New York is going for protection." This was the remark made by Editor J. M. Kelly, of the Commoner and Glassworker, upon his return from New York this morning. Mr. Kelly was in New York all the week and Kelly was in New York all the week, and while there spent the entire time visiting various labor organizations. He sounded the rank and file of the labor element in New York upon the tariff question, and was surprised to see such activity in favor of protection. "This is the true situation," continued Mr. Kelly, "and I defy any one to successfully contradict Henry George is a dead dog, and his following in New York now is so small as to be almost unworthy of the least consideration. "Then you think the republicans will carry the state?" "Not the least doubt of it, unless something like the Burchard business happens on the eve of the election. Perhaps I should say protection is the issue that is going to win in New York. The labor elements hold the balance of power there this time and there are going to there this time, and they are going to wield it against free trade. I visited a large number of assembly rooms of the Knights of Labor, and I did not find one man who was in favor of free trade. Sentiment is all for protection."

Mr. Kelly is a member of the National

They do not question a man's views on the tariff or free trade. They let him follow his inclination in that respect and they are all inclined to-ward protection. It would cause some of the protection ists of Pittsburgh to feel good were they to go to New York and mingle in the ranks of labor and see how strongly they advocate the protective system and how they denounce anything which savors of free trade."

Talk of reducing the revenue! Why, there will only be $19,000,000 surplus in the treasury at the end of this year, and one more year of democratic rule will wipe even that out, and leave the treasury stranded again as it was in 1860 when the democrats went out of power. After a thorough and careful examination of the various plans presented the Board finally selected the plans submitted by Spier & Rohn, architects of Detroit, for the new building to be known as "High School Hall," the construction of which was authorized by the annual meeting of 1886. The new building is located on the north end of the old building—the State Street front of the new building being on a line with the steps of the old building. High School Hall will be larger on the ground than the present building, being 70 feet wide and 110 feet long. In the basement which will be ten feet in the clear and well lighted and verificated will be well lighted and ventilated will be two large rooms especially designed for science work and to be used by Prof. Chute, in connection with his room above, the rooms being connected by stairway and elevator. In the basement also are two large rooms—entirely disconnected to be used as tollet rooms by boys and girls respectively. On the first floor a broad hall extends north from the hall in the old buildrooms, apparatus room and library. Under the gallery in the west end will be two large school rooms, so arranged that they can be opened into hall, should occasion require it. This large hall has long been needed. The hall in the old building has been divided into school rooms and the High School has no suitable place for hapel exercises, commencements, or public exercises of any kind. All the school rooms in the building have been provided with open fire-places and the ventilation otherwise amply provided for. The building will be warmed by steam from the boilers in the old building.

The contract for the erection of the uilding was let to Daniel J. Ross for the sum of $24,900 and the building is to be completed ready for occupancy by the first day of July next. In its style and construction it will be en-tirely different from the old building and when completed it will meet the requirements of our schools for many years and we believe that it will be recognized as one of the most beautiful

VERY DISCOURAGING.

James Dodge, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was sent west by Chairman Brice, of the democratic national executive committee six weeks ago on an errand of investiga tion. He was to talk free trade to workingmen as opportunity offered, and consult the party leaders and find out whether the president's free trade policy would go down, or whether the mere apolication of "tariff reform" would be best. He said:

"I was gone five weeks. During that time I went rapidly through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. I am very sorry that I shall have to make a very discouraging report to the committee if they want to know the facts. Ohio will surely go republican. Indiana will give Harrison a reasonable majority the people there are enthusiastic over him, and the general cry is for his elec-tion. I believe there are places in Indi-ana where it is dangerous to mention Cleveland's name, but, of course there is much enthusiasm for him in large cities. Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan are, I am afraid, pretty certain to go for Harrison. In Illinois I canvassed the train, and the result was 130 for Harrison and 19 for Cleveland. Free trade is doing it. The workingmen have got protection on the brain, and are up in arms against the democratic party.'

Brother Stearns, of the Adrian Press takes his free wooly disposition and sugar tariff temper into the canvas with him.

How a man over in England bought $8.00 blankets for $6.00 and had to pay $9.00 tariff on them, etc. But would the same man styles. who bought those brankets like to have the condition of the laboring masses and farming masses here exchanged for their condition in the country where he bought them? If so, it seems singular that he should care to remain here and rear and educate a family and become possessed of land and property all his own. Now as to this blanket business. The writer of this item cannot afford to use woven woolen blankets, and doubts very much if he desires to. They had elected only two out of five delegates in his ward, and he wasn't so awfully certain how they stood.

But finally the body got down to business and hurried it through with electric rapidity. Reading of the minutes was dispensed with and Ald. Martin, from the mmittee on finance made the following report of expenditures: 1st ward fund...

W. F. Bird gave a most interesting account of his visit among the prominent fruit growers of western New York. Keuka Lake, near Seneca Lake, the orchards and Niagara and other grapevine plantations at Lockport and Rochester were graphically described. Mr. Bird went through a catechism of inquiries in regard to the most promising grapes, pears, plums, and general fruit culture and fruit houses. Those who were acquainted with those parts of the country, who had spent their youth there, were especially interested. All were benefitted. No wonder that these men of the east succeed. Ellwauger & Barry are associated with their sons. Moody & Sons at Lockport are successful men. If our sons take the same interest in fruit culture we will and must succeed in Washtenaw and Michigan generally. The peach growers reported that peaches will be shipped in eight or ten days. Prof. B. E. Nichols arrived at the close of the meeting from his visit to Detroit where he had conferred with the railroad authorities and fruit dealers concernin transportation. Shippers of fruit will do well to conform to the rules of the com-and E. Crawford peaches. THE STATE AND COUNTY FAIR. The State Fair will be held from the 10th to 14th of September. Mr. L. D. Watkins of Manchester, who has charge of the Horticultural Department, is anxious that Washtenaw's fruit should be well represented and requested the writer of this report to make an exhibit of pears and other fruit. Fruit growers will do me a great favor if they bring to my house on West Huron street, during this work fruit which is well labell d this week, fruit which is well labell d with proper name and time of ripening.

A plate of fruit must contain five specimens with a stem and, if possible, without insect marks.

Mr. John Almand, Supt. of fruit at the County Fair, to be held Sept. 25th to 28th, asked the society for the appoint-ment of judges. The chair appointed the two secretaries to select judges. It is desirable that we make our own County Fair a success and have all the depart-ments filled with the bles-ings of field and household, as well as with the acconplishments of art and science.

We did not receive the last issue of the Adrian Press. Why? Was it because of Editor Stearn's plea of guilty in advance to all accusations of corruption, immorality, murder, etc., which we are told was made therein? J. T. Jacobs has been appointed Aide de Camp at the Columbus G. A. R. encampment, representing this post. Arrangements have been made to accomedate 75,000 people, and 50,000 of the boys are expected in line.

The following stewards were elected at the M. E. church meeting last evening, for the coming year: Dr. C. G. Darling, Prof. Levi D. Wines, J. E. Beal, Prof. J. B. Steere, J. J. Goodyear, Chas. H. Worden, A. H. Roys, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Neal, and Mrs. Hendrick-

EDITOR COURIER: - For some time past the people living in the neighbor-hood of the fair grounds in this city have at an early hour in the morning, been awakened by some one declaiming or orating in the woods just north of the grounds, and have been much at a loss to conjecture whom it could be. In a recent issue of the Argus the editor of that paper said that the young and gifted orator C. R. Whitman, Esq. was "making the woods ring with his eloquence." This Mr. Editor seems to settle it.

No other preparation has won success at home equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell, Mass., where it is made, it is now, as it has been for years, the leading medicine for purifying the blood, and toning and strengthening the system. This "good name at home" is "a tower of strength abroad." It would require a volume People to print all Lowell people

Bennett, president of the Erie Telephone Company, had a large running sore come on his leg, which troubled him a year, when he began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The sore soon grew less in size, and in a short time disappeared. Jos. Dunphy, 214 Central Street, Lowell, had

The attacks came on every fortnight, when she was obliged to take her bed, and was unable to endure any noise. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after a time the attacks ceased entirely.

What the Husband Did.

Husbands, it seems are of some account in Washington, notwithstanding the slight figure they cut on "swell" social occasions. An incident related by a correspondent shows this. A society lady of much prominence, whose husband holds a clerkship in one of the departments, has a mother of much financial realth living in the west.
