Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sandford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, smuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, rectoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys. A RINGING LETTER FROM SECRE-TARY LITCHMAN, OF THE KNIGHTS, ON CAMPAIGN ISSUES.

Tailors of all Classes Should Support | ly made in favor of the American system Harrison and Morton, and the Tariff.

Democratic Free Trade Must be Throttled, as Highly Dangerous and Destructive. Senator Quay, Chairman of the Re-ublican National Committee, furnishes he following letter for publication: PHILADELPHIA Aug. 27, 1888.—The those trades against free trade are signifi-National Republican Committee, Everett House, New York. Dear Sir: My con-nection with the libor movement for the past fourteen years has made it necessary fgr me to be a close student of the causes main silent. My position as General of labor depress and of the needs of those who toil. While, as a body, a labor given me an intimate knowledge of the organization may refrain from active participation in politics, so much of what organized labor demands must be obtained through legislation that the individual member of the labor organization must act politically as in his judgment will best aid the aims and objects expressed in the principles of the organization he represents, and whose success he begun side issues count as nothing except to aid or hinder one of the principal combatants in the political area. combatants in the political arena. How-ever sincere may be the advocates of the most useful, to aid in securing the suc measures to secure which these separate political organizations are formed, and whatever strength in votes may be shown at the polls, the fact remains that the candidate of either the republican or of the democratic prrty will be THE NEXT PRESIDENT of the United States. Therafore to him who has the good of his country and the welfare of her people at hearf, the neces-sity exists to choose to which of these two old party organizations shall be given aid directly or indicectly, by voice or

While it may be that neither party offers all that labor organizations desire, I believe that the republican party, in adopting and advocating the American system of encouragement and protection to the labor and wages of our own land, is nearer the declarations and desires of organized labor than its free-trade opponent, the Democratic party. The conflict between the American system, as represented by the republican party, which would foster and encourage the labor of our own people and retain for them the market add wages of our own country, nd the British system, as represented by the democratic party, which would break down the barriers of protection and throw pen our home market to the productions f foreign factories and foreign labor, thus making idle our own tailors and reducing to a lower level the standard of American wages. When the Knights of abor and kindred organ zations shall have obtained in foreign lands the same commanding position and influenc en-joyed in the United States, the inequality in wages will disappear, not by leveling our wages down, but by leveling their wages up. It is far better to LEVEL UP THNN TO LEVEL DOWN, as the larger the income the larger the ower to consume. Until this equalizaon can be accomplished, and until the wages of labor abroad shall equal those it home there must be a proper restriction of immigration, so that our land may not be the dumping ground of the pauper and degraded labor of the balance of the world. This restriction, supplemented by a constitution of thought, systematic organization of the labor already here, in conjunction with the American idea of protection to American abor, cannot fail to secure for our peo ple the best results of their toil, and by ur example lift the labor of the whole world to a higher and better plane of aches, Colds, and Fevers; to cure habit-world to a higher and better plane of existence.

Whichever party wins, something must be done to regulate more strictly this importation of foreign labor under conimportation of foreign labor under consideration of paupers and the immigration of p tract, and the immigration of paupers bach & Son.

An "average reduction" of 7 per centum on the cost of goods imported will not compensate American labor for the loss of 100 per centum in wages in the lines affected, and of from 10 to 50 per centum in wages in the lines of employment by the substitution of the free trade for the protective system. The position of the protection-ist is rather strengthened by such a cause the question is then instantly forced upon every intelligent man-how can American labor earn dollars if the industry in which he is experienced is employ less help than formerly, and in this direction the volume of employment transferred to foreign lands? The theory of protection advocated by the republican this fact taken in connection with the of protection advocated by the republican party is the same as the underiving princproportionately lessened value of what his iple upon which all labof organizations are founded. A friend to organized labor that believes in the organization as a croft produces has made the problem of existence indeed a serious one. The landlord still demands the rent and even means to enhance and maintain wages

With no rent to pay, the "crofter's" lot would be at best a hard one, and under a reduction of not to exceed a third from various phases of the labor question, and from the knowledge thus gained I do not nesitate to say that the triumph of the democratic party, dominated by intoler-ance in the South and British free trade entiment in the North, would be the most serious blow to organized labor it could possibly receive. the true conditions. The condition of the Irish tenantry is indeed deplorable, and no amount of po-litical effort on the part of the interested English press can successfully deny what is patent to any intelligent and observing traveler through the troubled Isle. Even in Ulster, the Protestant stronghold, the the loyality to English parliamentary rule and submission of the majority to conditions that exist, is due not to rela tion of equity between landlord and tenant, but to the fear of the Protestant popu lation that an overthrow of landlordism through the success of the Nationalist party would result in Catholic supremacy are officially reported to be without and intolerant religious domination. Even in the days when the prices realized from the products of the farm afforded the landlord's claim and comfort to the families of the farmers in the favored counties, such as Antrim, Down and Derry, a mere existence above the exactions of the lord was the best that the tenants of the rocky and unproductive region in the west of Donegal could ex-pect, and it was common for the farmers DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—Prior to the date of of the harvest season in the the service ny Belfast letter the course of my travel of the farmers of Antrim. The easy answer is that English capitalists are not paying out thousands of dollars to effect free trade in this country, and you know it, or you are an infernal ignormus. You have never seen one of those alleged dol-lars, nor a man that has seen one. You know the charge is a stupid lie.— Ypsilanti Sentinel. Yes, that is an "easy answer," but one as far from the truth as it is from gentle manly instincts.

Think of it, citizens of Ohio! Allen O. Myers, under indictment for the worst making stump speeches in connection with the democrat nominee for vice-president, who is also one of counsel engaged to prosecute Myers. A nice mixture that is, to ask the endorsement and votes the republican party. He hasn't ever heard of the petroleum monopoly you know; of the coal monopoly manipulated by Congressmen and Democratic Cam-paign Chairman Scott; and other monopolies and monopolists composed entirely of democrats. He only hears with about the free trade petroleum monopoly, a monopoly that has dictated the democratic policy for the past few years and which placed Mr. Payne in the United States Senate, Mr. Whitney in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, and given the cue to west ern democratic journals through Mr. McLean, the owner of the Cincinnati

The tariff is a tax you know—(according to the Argus.) We pay enormous taxes on our blankets, on our clothes, on umber, salt, wool, in fact everything we eat, drink and wear, yet 40,000 people came from free trade Great Britain—not counting those from Ireland—last year and swore allegiance to this government. They came to stay and make for themselves homes, and become citizens. Now in the name of common sense, if this is such a tax cursed country, why did they come? Why don't they stay at home and enjoy the full beauty and grandeur of free trade?

The democratic campaign fund continues to grow in a significant way that bears no promise of an honest election The list now stands:

But those who had assembled to listen to our eloquent and able representative at Washington Francisco. feeble as he is, to go about the country in an endeavor to bolster up a fast wan-len, were soon informed that he had been jaw-work."

This has been the most extravagant dministration, so far, in the history of their confidence. The following brief he United States. Not only all the rev. synopsis gives but a faint idea of the the United States. Not only all the revenues of the government will be used up, but over $100,000,000 of the surplus at the end of this year.

The Adrian Press howls terribly about foreigners coming over here to labor and make for themselves homes, claiming that the tariff is to blame for their coming "from high tariff Germany" etc. What countryman are you, Bro. Stearns?

Willard Stearns said while in Ann Arbor the other day "I don't want any republican votes; I wouldn't give a d—dfor them; what I want is the democratic votes." So if any of our republican friends feel inclined to vote for him they will not be thanked therefor.

The Evening News says emphatically that Ford should stay in congress, and that the district should re-sleet him. This is a com-served.—Adrian Press.

And the News says the same thing about Capt. Allen, and "it is certainly deserved." Isn't it, Bro. Stearns?

There is usually a reason for a man's madness, and there must have been one for the unmerefulin pounding the Adrian Press has given the Ex-Gov. Begole ever since Willard Stearns was not given an appointment. Perhaps the good natured Begole will tell the people of the district known and republican to the core, It is full of pithy, bright political items, and entertaining locals. Here's two to one that Wirt carries Lake county by a big majority with his paper.

Why didn't the Detroit Free Press publish the associated press dispatches giving the election returns from Vermont; It merely stated that Vermont had held an election and given the usual republican majority, when in fact the state never gave such a majority. It was not, the sort of news the F. P. wanted.

Even in Arkansas the idea of democratic free trade isn't very popular. Two years ago Arkansas the idea of democratic free trade isn't very popular, and republican of the core than a proposition and given the usual republican spring out thousands of doliars to not paying out thousands of doliars to not paying out thousands of the state of the sort of news the F. P. wanted.

here as under the $2 tariff, thus increasing the surplus \(\frac{1}{2} \) instead of reducing it. Would not, therefore, a high tariff be more effective in reducing the surplus than a low one.

Our country has enough resources to supply all the needs of its citizens without any outside help and capitalists should be encouraged to invest their money and give laborers a fair chance at it instead of having the same lie idle from eternal fear of foreign pauper labor competition.

Again it is claimed that everybody ought to be able to buy and sell where they wish. Just as if there were restrictions upon any American citizen from disposing of his wares just how and where he pleases, at home or abroad, and Uncle Sam's familiar form in swallow tail coat and rusty plug hat stands ever overshadowing his subjects and in case of interference to give warning to keep "Hands off! for he's my boy and he's going to market!"

He then related a very entertaining story that is, to ask the endorsement and votes of the people!—Cleveland Leader.

Hon. Wm. Ball, of Hamburg, has been nominated for state senator by the republicans of the senatorial district comprised of Livingston and Genesee counties. Mr. Ball is one of the prominent farmers of the state. He is an excellent republican and a sound man every way. He will without doubt be elected and if so will not only be an honor to the district, but to the party and the state.

The Adrian Press is at present engaged in the very sweet business of taffying up Washtenaw democrats and Washtenaw democrats and Washtenaw democrats that paper has in Washtenaw just now. It is "Major General Manly," and "Hon. E. B. Pond," and "General Schuh," and "What a strong ticket the Washtenaw democrats have put in the field," and "how enthusiastic" they are, and "My dear Mr. Richmond," and so on. Dead sea fruit, Willard.

Willard Stearns is a great talker. He opens his mouth and words flow like sausage meat out of a sausage grinder. He said in his remarks the other day that all trusts and all monopolies belopged to the republican party. He hasn't ever

Mr. Sawyer's highly pleasing and very interesting manner called forth frequent applause, held the crowd exceptionally well and no one could have felt at all disappointed in their visit to the rink. Three rousing cheers for Ben. Harri-

Capt. Allen was greatly disappointed in not being able to be present, but Mr. Stearns' delay in arriving at Britton made it impossible to finish the debate before 5:30, thus making it too late to catch a train or to drive thirty miles in fully understood by democrats in this city Monday afternoon that Mr. Allen would not be able to meet his engagement here, and that Mr. Stearns had given them to understand that he would prevent it, which fact is dishonorable to Mr. Stearns, who ought to be manly enough to be above such little dirty tricks. A prominent feature of the evening was the Capt. E. P. Allen Republican Club of the 3d ward, which formed at the Courier office at about 71/2 o'clock with 76 voters in line, each wearing a red, white and blue necktie, and many of them the white plug campaign hat, and marched to the rink headed by the band.

The boys are enthusiastic and full of confidence in ultimate victory.

The stage was handsomely decorated with bunting and flags, and the speaker's table supplied with beautiful bouquets by Mr. C. B. Davison. The assertion that the electric light was purposely "out of tune" that night, not only at the rink, but for the entire northern division of the city, was probably unfounded.

THE WAVE STILL ROLLS.

The great popular wave which Oregon ent east at the opening of the campaign, Nina E. Walker, Salem..... sent east at the opening of the campaign, bearing on its crest 7,000 republican maority, was met a few days ago by a wave rom the east, the state where the Green Mountain boys are raised, Vermont, rolling up some 27,000 majority. And now comes Maine, the Pine Tree State, following on tehind Vermont and booming and sweeping forward with 20,000 majority for the G.O.P.

Thus victory in November is presaged. Thus the pulse of the people is felt upon the great and vital question to the American laborers, American farmers, and American business men of all classes, the A DUEL ON THE STUMP.

Ypsilanti Captain Has an Exciting Tilt With an Ex-Confederate Colonel.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.-Capt. Allen, of Ypsilanti, the republican congressman from the second district, has made little hort of a sensation among the swarthy faced ex-brigadier Virginians of the Shenandoah valley. It is now nearly 25 years since the captain tramped through that historic valley with a musket on his shoulder, looking for Virginia heads to shoot. But his mission of late has been to make campaign speeches, and in doing this he has unexpectedly come in contact with that most brilliant orator of congress, Col. Breckinridge, of Kentucky. It has resulted in a challenge, a joint de set all Virginia to talking.

"Breckinridge vs. Allen" was the announcement at Harrisonburg, Va., the central point of the Shenandoah section. It is a favorite custom with these Virgin ians to have joint debates, and hardly a meeting occurs that both sides are not heard. This debate was a star one, however, for Breckinridge is known through the issues of the day with his opponent Willard Stearns at Britton, Lenawee county, to be able to catch the train for Ann Arbor. Consequently Hon. A. J. Sawyer had been requested to make a few remarks to those accompled. The south as a most gifted speaker. He is nominally next to Milts on the tariff committee of the house, but is actually the democratic leader. If some Ypsilantian had looked in on the scene he might have felt fearful of the result, for here was the most brilliant orator of congress pitted against the unknown firsttermer from Ypsilanti. Breckinridge, too, was among those other followers of Lee and Stonewall Jackson, while Allen was an ex-Union soldier among his for-play for the young unknown from Ypsi-

The sound of Breckinridge's two brass bands had just died away in a familiar old English air they had been playing, when the chairman announced that Allen was to have the first say. The captain stepped forward.

"I wish to ask you boys only one favor," said he, "before I begin. You see, I have no brass bands, no escort.

My friend Col. Breckinridge, comes here to the tune of trumpet and sound of drum, while I came on my own hook. The band has just played for him that old English air; now I want them to play my refrain, 'America, America.'" This was unexpectedly audacious for the unknown, but they at once appreci-ated his hit of America vs. England.

"Hooray for Ypsilanti!" come from one of the Mahonites. Capt. Allen paused while the band, thus unexpectedly called on, fumbled over their music. "America" is rather a Yankee tune for Virginians, and the truth was the band did not have the piece. But the leader hit on a compromise, and as Allen listened for "America" he was amazed to hear the strains of "Way Down South in Dixie."

There was a shout of approval from the crowd and Allen joined in the laugh. He had captured Breckinridge's bands, but he couldn't make them play "America." The incident served, however, to put the captain at ease with the Virgin-

The debate which followed lasted three hours, and the papers of Virginia pro nounced it a remarkable one. It is compared with the debate of Stuart and O'Donnell, who used to hold Virginians enraptured. One leading paper says:

What seems to have most interested the Virginians is the chivalric manner in which the ex-Union soldier spoke of the confederates he had once fought against The Rockingham, Va., Register say of

He said that they had after the war admitted us to a place in the Union, had given us citizenship and access to places of trust, and had admitted us to congress, etc., and that we had been trusted as loyal citizens, and that in every way we had proved worthy of the confidence and trust reposed in us. [This is the first declaration of the kind on record, which shows the colonel far to good ror his party, and when his utterances get north off will go his head.]

That Cant. Allen could thus grand as That Capt. Allen could thus stand up before the eloquent Breckinridge, should be a source of satisfaction to the second district, for democrats as well as republicans are conceding that the Ypsilantian fully maintained his side, and that his style of ignoring "bloody shirt" and "nigger-killing" opens a new era of politics in Virginia.—Detroit Evening News.

The joint debate at Britton last Monday afternoon, between Capt. E P. Over 10,000 people had assembled, and through this immense crowd the Kentuckian was escorted by two brass bands, the local authorities and general huzzas. But Allen had no bands. He elbowed his way through the crowd of strangers and climbed to the stand, unescorted and unheralded. In the meeting, however, was a liberal sprinkling of Mahone republicans, ready to see fair play for the young unknown from Ypsiwhat he had to say in a gentlemanly way unaccompanied by abuse or flings. In Memory of Wallace H. Steele.

It is seldom that a community is more startled by any occurrence than ours has been by the sudden death of Wallace Holloway Steele, youngest son of the Rev. Dr. Steele, late pastor of the Presbyterian church. He died very unexpectedly on Monday morning last at half past eleven o'clock from an attack of who did not feel better and grander that the day had at last come when a Union soldier from Michigan and a confederate soldier from Mentucky, could stand on one of the battle fields of the war in Virginia, and discuss great national issues? Come again Mr. Allen, in the language of the great Kentucky orator, we bid you welcome as the advance guard of the republican statesmen, who come for your country's good, and not to fill your carpetbags.

He died very unexpectedly on Monday morning last at half past eleven o'clock from an attack of acute diabetes, not having been dangerously ill more than twenty-four hours. COMPARISON SOLICITED .- A wise discr mination should be exercised by all who take medicine. The proprietors of Hood's Farsaparilla solicit a careful comparison of this medicine with other blood purifiers and medicines, being confident that the peculiar merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla are so apparent that the people will unhesitatingly prefer it to any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not a mixture of molasses and a few inert root and herbs, but it is a peculiar con-centrated extract of the best alterative and blood purifying remedies of the ve, etable kingdom. There are Two Distinguishing Characteristics

Which, more than anything else, have contributed to the phenomenal growth of The Chicago Daily News, giving it a circulation larger than that of all other Chicago dailies combined. It seems strange that the first practical, combined application of two such common sense principles in journalism should have been left to a paper as yet only twelve years old. And yet true it is that in this fact lies the real secret of the unparalleled success of The Chicago Daily News. Briefly stated these principles are:
