Copyrighted by the Author, 1888. London, Sept. 6.—The phase of Eng ligh life not to be encountered in this vast metropolis is yet to be developed. The fact leads me to observe that if the student of social economy will take the streets of London in which the industrial classes exists as an object lesson, he must agree with me that the proverbial evidences of "rottenness in Denmark" could over those prevailing in England. not have been more pronounced than are the signs that something is radically wrong in the conditions which environ the wealth-producers, the workers in this poasted centre of intelligence, industry and commerce.

One thing is certain, and to discover that same requires no ordinary quality of vision—the toilers in the varied lines of industry which are represented in London, and which are also representative that there is a deplorable lack of the estandustries of the United Kingdom, are in-NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW. adequately rewarded for their labor—they are underpaid. I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTTCURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with ecz ma that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. The fact that the tin-plate manufactur-ing industry, in the United States, is subjected to a guarantee of the home market, in common with the iron and textile products of the country, renders it fairly representative in the comparison of English and American wages it affords.

Relative to the wages of those engaged in the woolen mills of Eugland, it may be cited, on the best authority of the largest manufacturer in Leeds, that the girls in the weaving department average from 12 to 15 shillings, or $2.88 to $3.60 per week, which is about half the wages received by girls in the Massachusetts mills. The men in the mills at Leeds receive from $4.50 to $6 per week, while the man-weaver in a Massachusetts mill earns from $9 to $12 per week. wages in other departments afford a similar comparison, which renders futher deover those prevailing in England.

The devoted American disciple of English methods is wont only to view the conditions of the masses, as they appear on the surface, and knowing that the industrial classes continue to live, move, and have a being, he assumes that the conditions of their existence are satisfactory. It is only necessary, however, to delve a little into the home life of the His home, be the size of the family what it may—until the children have come to years of helpfulness—seldom exceeds three rooms, and far the greater number have but two rooms, while the less fortucommonplaces in the home of the American mechanic. The two room domicile pant of the more pretentious three room establishment is subject to a rental of 9 shillings to 10 shillings 6 pence, or $2.16 to $2.52 per week. But even the frugality represented in the restricted size of the home does not tell the whole story of economy enforced by the limited income of the head of the household. The clothing—cheap as the best is boasted to come has been prominently interested in this industry in both England and be replenished oftener than absolute necessity demands. Nor is this all, for the ance. The work involved in the industry is vital phase of the economy compelled by represented in the manufacturing of tin existing conditions is found in the plainness, not to say the inadequacy, of the food consumed by the English mechanic and his family. Meat is eaten as a luxury, and not as a daily essential, as in America Its omission from the English workman's daily dietary is due, not to his lack of fondness for it, but to his want of the wherewithal to purchase it, and that he would readily append it to his every-day bill of fare, if his income would afford hours—ten hours per day, except on Saturday, when six hours completes the weekly complement. The girls complete state of the speaking to Emerson of America, the speaking the spe it, might be inferred from Carlyle's laudin it a man can have meat for his labor." It is an easy step to the conclusion that the conditions which provoke the compliments of foreigners, and are an equal source of satisfaction to Americans, are followers. Facts, however, do not appear to count with many of these doctrinaires, or the remarkable manner in which the industrial progress of the United States controverts their economic view would lead them to gravely question the advantages to be derived from the one-sided policy to which this country stands committed." The American Disease.

No people in the world are so subject o nervous diseases, such as nervous exhaustion, physical or mental overwork, head che, backache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous dyspepsia, pa pi-tation, monthly pains, and insanity, as the Americans. Every part of the body is controlled by its nerves and when they are weakened by overwork or disease the part is also affected. Now it is every-where conceded that Dr. Miles Restorative Nervine, a concentrated nerve food and medicine, is the best remedy in the world for these diseases. Ask for a trial bottle at Eberbach & Son.

Do not make witticisms at the expense of others which you would not wish to have upon yourselves.

Consumption Curable. It cannot be too often impressed on every one that the much dreaded con-sumption (lung scrofula), is curable, if attended to at once, and that the primary symptoms, so often mistaken as signs of diseased lungs, are only symptoms of an diseased lungs, are only symptoms of an unhealthy liver. To this organ the system is indebted for pure blood, and to pure blood the lungs are indebted no less than to pure air for healthy action. If the former is polluted, we have the hacking cough, the hectic flush, night sweats, and a whole train of symptoms resembling consumption. Rouse the liver to healthy action by the use of Dr. Pierce's healthy action by the use of Dr. Pierces Golden Medical Discovery, take healthy exercise, live in the open air, and all symptoms of consumption will disappear. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, chronic nasal catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, severe coughs, and kindred affections, it is a most wonderful

The democratic papers a couple weeks ago announced with as much pomp and circumstance as seemed to be fit such an important piece of news that the re-publican managers had heard with consternation that almost all of the Metho-dist bishops had determined to support the poor republican campaigners because their terrible and relentless enemies, according to the stories, were to reap all the benefit of the defection. Whether the supposed news came from the West Twentyninth street headquarters of the democrats or the Fifth avenue headquarters of the

It was short sighted enough to represent the bisnops of the Methodist church as dabbling in politics at all; but it was more short sighted to declare that almost all of them were for Fisk and Brooks. The very opposite is the true condition. Bishop Hurst of Washington, who has written a long letter in support of Prohibition, and Bishop Fitzgerald of Minueapolis, who has issued a tract giving five reasons why he will vote and work for Fisk and Brooks—as if one of his reasons was not enough—are the only two of the bishops who are strongly inclined that way. Bishop Goodsell of Texas has been known to vote the Prohibition ticket, and Bishop Mallalieu of New Orleans is doubtful. Bishops Bowman of St. Louis, Foster of Boston, Merrill of Chicago, Warren of Denver, Foss of Philadelphia, Ninde of Topeka, Walden of Cincinnati, Fowler of San Francisco and Vincent of Buffalo, nine in all, are well known and old time republicans. Now the rest of the sixteen, Bishops Joyce of Chattanooga, Andrews of New York and Newman of Omaha, have come out strongly for Harrison.

Bishop Joyce sald September 3 to an

The remarks of the bishop were heartily applauded by the assembly

He says:

My Dear General Bussey.—I am in receipt of your favor of the 12th inst, and feel bound to give you a frank reply on a question of so much importance. In these supreme times, when so much is at stake in our national welfare, no republican can afford to desert that party made memorable by the moblest mission, by the most heroid achievement on the field and by the most beneficient results in legislation to personal liberty, to private and public morals, and to the cause of temperance, of which you specially write. As a citizen whose duties I ambound to discharge, and as a life long republican, proud of the history of our party, and assured of the giorious future, I give you an emphatic denial of its report that I had joined the third party. The thought has never entered my mind, and no one has the right to assert that I had. On the question of prohibition we are in accord, on the methods to attain that desirable end we differ. The final triumph of temperance principles is with the republicans, who have done so much for temperance legislation in all parts of our country. And this is the apparent conviction of the people I meet in my travels. Whether clergymen or laymen, whether in the church or out, patriotism, gratitude, temperance, should inspire every republican with new zeal, should induce any one who have left the party to return at once, and give decision to those who may now hesitate as to duty. The supreme duty is to place the control of our government in the hands of Harrison and Morton. I vote as I pray and pray as I vote, Your friend.

General Bussey himself has just returned from campaigning trips east and General Bussey himself has just returned from campaigning trips east and west. He believes that more can be accomplished for true temperance reform through the agency of the republican party than in any other way. He said yesterday afternoon: "During the past two months the statement

"Unring the past two months the statement has frequentily been made in my presence that the Methodist church, as an organization, supported the third party movement and would vote for Fisk and Brooks. There is no truth whatever in this statement. I have given this question special attention, and have had excellent opportunities for learning the sentiment of officers and ministers of that church. I have interviewed a large number, including bishops, editors, General Conference officers, ministers from New York, Brooklyn, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston, and with two or three exceptions all of them assured me they would vote for Harrison and Morton, Gen. Harrison's Christian character and eloquent utterances in his public speeches in favor of American homes receive their warmest praise. They believe he will give to the country a pure administration, and that under him the battle for temperance can be more successfully waged than by the destruction of a party that has done so much for the country. "If you could have heard the responses of many of the distinguished ministers to my question," Do you support the third party? you would feel assured that the great majority of the Methodist clergy are true to the party they helped to create, and which saved the nation, and have no intention of casting their votes indirectly for the democratic candidates. One of the most eloquent and distinguished ministers in New York said: 'Like' Buck Fanshaw, I never shake my mother. When I want to vote for Cleveland. I will vote for him direct.' Nearly all the bishops of the Methodist church have stated that they desire the success of the candidates of the republican party. They do this because there are great interests which are dear to them which will be best secured by that party, one of which is to better the condition of their church in the South, largely composed of colored men."

THE LABORING MAN'S FRIEND.

In 1877 Mr. F. A. Baker, a democratic member of the house of representatives, from Detroit, introduced into the legislature a bill which provided as follows: SEC. 1.—If any person or persons shall willfully and maliciously by any act or by means of intimidation, impede or obstruct, except by due process of law, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company, or other corporation, firm or individual, in this state, or of the regular running of any locomotive, engine, freight or passenger train, of any such company, or the labor and business of any such corporation, firm or individual, he or they shall on conviction thereof be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or in the state prison for a period not exceeding one year.

months, or in the state prison for a period not exceeding one year.

SEC. 2—If two or more persons shall willfully and maliciously combine or conspire together to obstruct or impede by any act, or by means of intimidation, the regular operation and conduct of the business of any rall-road company, or any other corporation, firm or individual in this state, or to impede hinder or obstruct, except by due process of law, the regular running of any locomotive, engine, freight or passenger train on any railroad, or the labor and business of any corporation, firm or individual, such persons shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not more than three months, or in the state prison, for a period not exceeding two years.

A. J. Sawyer was also a member of

A. J. Sawyer was also a member of that same house of representatives, and when this bill was put on its passage, Mr. Sawyer called the attention of the house to the fact, that if persons in the employ of the railroad company, or in the em-ploy of any other person or corporation should simply quit such employment it would be an act, and that act might and naturally would impede the running of trains, and, if so, the persons so quitting work would be liable to arrest and imprisonment under the proposed law. He thought the laboring man ought to have left him the poor remedy to strike for higher wages, or to strike to redress any other greviance, either singly or by concert of action, if they saw fit, without being liable to be sent to state prison for it. And he therefore proposed the following amendment, viz:

SEC 3.-This act shall not be construed to apply to eases of persons voluntarily quitting the employment of any railroad company, or such other corporation, firm or individual, whether by concert of action or otherwise. And upon motion of Mr. Sawyer, that nent passed and became a part of This law is found in the complied laws sec. 7274, 7275, and 7276. Cannot the interest of the laboring men be safely trusted in the hands of one who has thus shown himself mindful of their interests and watchful of their rights purely from principle, and before any political party laboring man, by declarations and plat-forms in his interest, and therefore be-fore his action can be said to have been influenced by any purpose of political preferment or party advantage. We say to the laboring men, it is safer to trust your interests to one who has shown himelf not only of sufficient intelligence to detect the stab at your rights, but of sufficient ability to ward off the blow, than to submit them to the care of any untried

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It was Levi P. Morton who loaded ship with food, at his own expense, in 1880, and sent it to Ireland. Has Jay Gould joined the democracy from pure love of the laboring classes, or from selfish motives? What do you think about it?

Every dollars worth of foreign made goods admitted free of duty to this country means just so many dollars worth of day's works taken from our laborers. Is possible for any person to dispute that

The editor of the Democrat made some quite unkind personal remarks in the last ssue of that paper in reference to the editor of the COURIER. The editor of the Courier, however, is too courteous to "sass back" a lady.

A person endeavoring to ascertain the electoral vote by the Legislative Manual will have a good time unless he is a printer and can "catch on" to the manner in which the table is mixed up. A work ke that ought to be accurate.

The Mills bill only provides for an "average reduction" of 7 per cent. is the cry of all the free trade orators of to-day. That is a sly dodge. But how is it that it takes all duty off of wool, salt, lumber, etc., and leaves 82 per cent. on rice, and 68 per cent. on sugar? Isn't that a wonderful way to strike an "average?"

The democratic papers are appealing to their brethren in this state to wake up and carry it for Cleveland. The democrats will probably carry Washtenaw County—though that is doubted by some—but they might as well think of daming the falls of Niagara as to think of carrying this state for the democracy. "It ing this state for the democracy. can't be did."

What a contrast between the two candidates for congress in this district. Allen is courteous in debate; Stearns a blackguard; Allen is respectful to an audience; Stearns insults it by ribald jokes and blasphemous bar-room stories; Allen appeals to reason; Stearns to the anar chists' method of arousing prejudice among classes. The people will have no trouble in deciding between them.

In his court house speech in this city Mr. Stearns said that Mr. Allen was "receiving democratic money for misrepresenting this district in congress." On the same principle, Mr. Stearns, being a postmaster of a large city postoffice, must be receiving republican money for abusing Mr. Allen and other good republicans, on the stump, that he may profit

The Adrian Press, two years ago, called the working men who had organized for their own protection "a gang of communistic socialists." Mr. Stearns, the editor, was very bitter, sarcastic and severe on the laboring men. At that time Henry A. Robinson, of Detroit, was running for congress in the first district on the republican ticket. But the laboring men have not forgotten it. Their memories are good.

The new Chief Justice of Utah, Mr. Sanford, has signalized his accession to the beach by imposing almost the lightest possible sentence on one of the most offensive of all Mormons, George 2. Cannon, who pleaded guilty to unlawful co-habitation on two counts. It is openly charged that this leniency is due to a bargain by which the Saints are to contribute $100,000 to the national democratic campaign found in consideration of being let off easy when convicted of crimes incident to the practice of their religion.—Mail and Express.

There is an organization in England composed of workingmen, tradesmen and middle class men, calling themselves "Fair Traders," who are pledged vote and work for a protective police nd against free trade. And that class are anxiously watching the attempt of the Lords and wealthy monopolists and landowners of England to carry their pet ideas of free trade in the United States. Now on whose side will you vote? For the English aristocracy and free trade as represented by Cleveland and the democracy, or for the English laboring classes, our own laboring classes, and protection as represented by Harrison and the republicans? That is one of the real issues of the campaign.

A man wno nas money can get along anyway, and the cheaper he can buy everything the better he likes it. But the poor man who works for all he has to eat, and drink, and wear; what about him? An era of cheapness means cheap labor, it can't mean anything else. Cheaper labor means more hours of work or less food, clothes and schooling for the children. The principal reason why Millionaire Mackay, Jay Gould, Millionaire Hazard, and all that class of people have joined the democracy is because they think they see a chance to save a few cents by buying cheaper clothing made by cheap foreign labor, and cheaper necessities produced by cheap foreign farmers. That's the truth. The wealthy classes, and the non-producing classes are almost unanimously in favor and to every one he has not been afraid to make a speech, frequently three or four a day. Every speech is wonderfully adapted to the kind of delegation, which includes veterans and first voters, Irish-men and Germans, travelling men and farmers, glass workers and railroad men. Although every word is watched by the enemy they have not found an uncertain or indiscreet utterance. He does not have to crib from encyclopædias, but always has a new thought. To illustrate, we quote from a speech he made the other day to a delegation on the surplus.

I have recently been talking, and have one thing further to say about the surplus, [Cries of 'Good, good,' and "That's what we want to hear about."] There is a very proper use, I think, that can be made of more than $20, 100,000 of it. During the civil war our custom receipts and our receipts from taxes, which last had brought under tribute almost every pursuit in life, were inadequate to the great drain upon our Treasury, caused by the civil war. OurCongress, exercising one of the powers of the Constitution, levied a direct tax upon the States. Ohlo paid her part of it, Indiana paid hers, and so did the other loyal States. The Southern States were in the rebellion, and did not pay theirs. Now we have come to a time when the government has surplus money, and the proposition was made in Congress to return this tax to the States that had paid it. [Applause.] The State of Indiana would have received $1,000,000, which my fellow citizens of this State know would have been a great relief to our tax payers in the presented depleted condition of our treasury. (Cheers.) I do not recall the exact amount Onlo would have received, but it was much larger. If any one asks: Why repay this tax? this illustration will be other day to a delegation on the surplus.

A SUFFICIENT ANSWER: A SUFFICIENT ANSWER:

Suppose five men are associated in business corporations. The corporation suffers losses and its capital is impaired. An assessment becomes necessary, and three members pay their assessments while two do not. The corporation is again prosperous and there is a surplus of money in the treasury. What shall be done with it? Manifestly, justice requires that the two delinquents should pay or that there should be returned to the other three the assessment levied upon them. [Great cheering] A bill providing for the repayment of the tax was killed in the House of Representatives, not by voting it down, but ment of the tax was killed in the House of Representatives, not by voting it down, but by fillbustering, a majority of the House being in favor of its passage. And those who defeated the bill by those revolutionary tactics were largely from the States that had not paid the tax. [Cheers.] I mention these facts to show that $20,000,000 of the surplus now lying in the banks, where it draws no interests, might very righteously be used so as to greatly lighten the real burdens of taxation now resting on the people, burdens that the people know to be taxes without any argument from our statesmen. [Applause and laughter.] I am a lover of silence [laughter]; and yet when such assemblies as these greet me with their kind, earnest faces, and their kinder words, I do not know how I can do less than to say a few words upon some of THESE GREAT PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

kinder words, I do not know how I can do less than to say a few words upon some of THESE GREAT PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

I have spoken frankly and fearlessly my convictions upon these questions. [Cheers and cries of "Good, good."] And now, nnappalled by the immensity of this audience, I will complete the accustomed programme and take by the hand such of you as desire to meet me personally. [Cheers.]

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Oar Reporter Notes What He Saw

Once a year we have a fair, and once a year the weather clerk frowns and shivers, and sends rain and hail and all the unpleasant things possible to keep the people away from said fair. This year was no exception to the rule. The was no exception to the rule. weather cut up its usual unkind freaks. But our reporter was there, and in what follows is a few of the things he noted:

THE PEOPLE WHO COME. It was amusing to watch the faces of people as they walked up to purchase heir tickets. Some came smiling with a "how are you?" and threw out the exact change for what they wanted and went away leaving a streak of sunshine in their path, making those glad with whom they came in contact. Another comes along and in a gruff voice asks how much are the tickets?" Being answered he throws down a piece of noney, (not the right change if he can selp it) and growls about the outrageous charges, and with a scowl on his face and a bull dog set on his jaws walks off to growl a while at the gate keeper, and ten chances to one that he is ugly to his wife and children if he has any. Then comes the flashy fellow, with a natty cane, slick silk hat and nicely brushed clothes. He sweeps up to the ticket office with a lordly swing and demands: "How much do you charge for going into this concern?" pulls out a $5.00 or $10.00 bill—the latter if he has it—and declares that it is the smallest "change" he has got. Receiving his change he slowly puts it in his vest pocket, and salutes the ticket seller with: "I don't suppose that you have anything here worth looking at, but of course I have to help the society along, you know." Then comes the good old farmer: "Well, ye're here again are ye Toze? Glad to see ye. Got a good show this year I hear? Lets see, I want five tickets and a ticket for the team so I can drive in. And say, just give me a membership ticket so I can vote if I want to when lection for officers comes round. Mebbe I shall want to run for somethin' myself, by Jocks, who knows, eh?" Ha! ha! ha! and then he goes over to his carriage, gives each one a ticket and drives in to see the exhibition, but more especially to chat with old friends and neighbors. Then comes the sharp young rooster who wears a cap, chews, smokes, swears, and has all the "I'm a tough" accomplishments. He flips a coin, (undoubtedly a nickle) on the pile of money and demands a ticket, over which there is a jangle of course, and it usually ends with the fellow losing his nickle and ticket both. Upon which he swears vengeance, and propose o whip the whole establishment, but after blustering around awhile he walks off with a friend who comes back shortly, buys a ticket, and they pass on into the great crowd within. The inevitable youngster is on hand. He has been savng his money for some time for this very thing, and feels the importance of his purchase. But he bauters the ticket official down until he makes him believe that he is entitled to a 15 cent ticket, upon receiving which he hurries off to the merry-go-round, the peanut or the hot candy stand to spend the ten cents saved on his admission ticket by skillful diplomacy on his very condensed age. A wealthy old citizen walks up to the captain's office, having a peculiar gleam in his eye. That gleam comes to be known at sight. He is a "life member," and so is entitled to attend the exhibitions of the society without paying anything. Some years ago they gave these members five ticket, so he comes with four persons, and his carriage, expecting to get the whole outfit in free. When he finds that he only gets four admissions, and it takes one of them for the horse and carriage he "kicks." He then goes and reports, and the family get out of the vehicle, go down to the gate and wait until he fluds some give the society 25 cents to drive in and about the grounds, he runs the risk of having his whip, robes, etc. stolen out of his carriage while "taking in" the show. He is only one kind of that class, how-observed came and paid a $1, took for tickets and gave them to friends, and be side being a "life member" he had a com-plimentary ticket in his pocket also for having contributed $5 toward paying the old debt. In giving one other character, we will close our observations, though there was sufficient material for several columns of description. This last fellow is one who wants to get something for nothing. There are scores of them, too, in every community. He commences this way: "Say, Mister, I want a ticket or a pass, or something to let me in and out." treasurer. "Yes I know, but I want a pass. My brother has got some cider barrels in there and he wants me to kind a look after them." "It will cost you 25 cents every time you go in. We don't issue passes, is the cost of t cents every time you go in. We don't issue passes, is the answer. "Can't I go in and attend to them barrels?" you can go in for 25 cents," replies the hard hearted Dr. "This is a dashed nice fair this is. Why, they let me in down at Ypsi, and didn't charge me nothin'. And they didn't charge me nothin' up t the State fair either, and you needn think I'm going to pay you fellers, for shan't do it. You can go to hades with your old fair, it isn't worth looking at anyway" And so the procession pas-ed on with varied experiences. One feature about the money taken in at the treasurer's office at the fair was particularly noticeable. There was an lmost entire absence of pennies, and but little small change as compared with ommendable to beat the fair out of 25 Had the weather been half way regrand success. The show in fruits, farm and garden products, cattle, sheep, horses, etc., was better than for a number of years, while floral hall was very The display of fruit was splendid Evart H. Scott had grapes in great variety, peaches, pears, etc, whose merits we can fully attest. Jacob Ganzhorn showed 21 varieties of grapes, 3 of quinces, 11 of peaches, 10 of apples, and 12 specimens of canned fruits. Prof. Baur, who makes a specialty of pears had a row of them together with ipeaches, grapes, etc. There were few better or handsomer exhibits, excelling, it is said, even the state fair. W. F. Bird had a number of plates of grapes, as did C. H. Wooduff including his seedling, "The Woodruff" grape, which for sweetness and flavor has very few equals. There were other exhibitors also, including Mrs. Gruner, H. C. Markham, The Morgan Preserving Works, e'c., etc. In the way of garden vegetables and farm products, H. C. Markham had numerous entries. The entire department was well filled, and everything was A. No. 1 about it.

A Fragrant Breath and Pearly Teeth Are easily obtained by cleansing your teeth daily with that justly popular dentifrice, SO-ZODONT. Composed of rareantiseptic herbs, it imparts whiteness to the teeth, a delicious aroma to the breath, and preserves intact, from youth to old age, the teeth. Acidity of the stomach will destroy the strongest teeth unless its effects are counteracted with SO-ZODONT, and this pure toothwash protects the dental surfaces by removing every impurity that adheres to them. Ask your druggist for SOZODONT.

CAUTION. If you ask your druggist for POND'S EXTRACT, and he tries to impose upon you by offering 'something the same as POND'S EXTRACT, do not believe him There is nothing the same as POND'S EXTRACT. It cannot be successfuly imitated, and any article offered as are only worthless counterfeits. Put no faith in any druggist trying to so deceive you. It is sold only in bottles, inclosed in buff wrappers, with the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and is never sold in and stunned but not seriously injured. New telephones have been put in as follows: Geo. L. Moore's grocery on State st., No. 70. Stimson & Son, Ann st., No. 91. Mrs. Mary L. Gay, residence No. 67. Andrews & Co., Main st., No. Rev. Henry Gel.

Dr. W. H. Smith of St. Clair has issued a republican campaign song book containing twenty-four selections, good for republican clubs.

The services in St. Andrew's church next Sunday will be as follows: 7.30 a. n. morning prayer and litany; 10.30 a. to go down there very much. m. holy communion and sermon; 3 p. m. Sunday school; 3.30 p. m. evening prayer and catechism

Marshal Sipley made the lowest record in the expenditure of the poor fund last month that has been made for many years, $61.02. While it is not right to let the deserving needy suffer, it is right to let those who can work but are too lazy to do it, go without aid.

The registry at the University indicates even a larger attendance than last year, which was a phenomenal year. There are more students now registered in the freshman literary class than there was on the 18th of December last year. The Senior medical is far ahead of last year, and not a department in the University but shows an advance in attendance. Usually in the year of a national election the students have been slow coming in. and the present rush indicates greatly increased numbers.

John B. Dow, whose sudden death oclast Sunday night, was a familiar face on our streets, and well and favorably known in the community. He was about the streets Friday, but took a severe cold which resulted in his death. Mr. Dow was 67 years old, a contractor and builder by occupation. He came here in 1851, and helped to build the original high school building, the first university building, etc. He had held many positions of Two of our prominent farmers got to trust, and was a much respected citizen

Prof. A. A. Stanley, who comes from Providence, R. I., to take the director-ship of the School of Music is a valuable acquisition to the university and city. He comes here from a good position at a personal sacrifice as did Prof. Frieze and others because he has faith in the state university system and to build up the work in his department. He is a gentle-man of rare culture and musical ability, being one of the finest of organists and an ex-president of the National Musical Teacher's Association. Under him we trust the School of Music will be built up of take the place it ought to have.

J. C. Knowlton was removed as postma-ter in this city three years ago, charged with "offensive partisanship," because he had been chairman of the republican county committee during the campaign. Mr. Knowlton will forgive us if we state that quite a number of republicans (and many democrats) have freely asserted that he was not very "offensive" and far from being "perniciously active." But now we have a spectacle that is truly wonderful! Willard Stearns the postmaster of cellent a talker as he was a soldier, and he had four horses shot from under him during the war. HIGH SCHOOL.

The annual base ball game between he seniors and juniors will occur next Saturday afternoon.

The topic for discussion at the Christian Association meeting this week will be "Gideon's Ifs." All are invited. The senior social was held last Friday evening at the home of the vice-presi dent, Alice Beckwith. A large number were present. The enrollment at the high school last evening was 501, as near as can be ascertained. There are several who have not yet handed in their papers which will considerably swell the number. tained. Some of the classes are so large that it has been found necessary to employ an additional force. Last Saturday morning the long-lookedfor foot-ball game between '89 and '90 oc-curred on the campus, the seniors coming out ahead in two innings. The standing broad jump was won by de Pont, '90; the light weight boxing by Whitehead, '89; the heavy weight by Patterson, '90; wrestling by Jewett, '90; 100 yds dash by Miller, '89; and 50 yds. by Jewett, '90.

Mrs. L. J. Liesemer.

Death has stepped into the ranks of the newspaper fraternity in this city once more, and taken a bright and active member therefrom. Emma Martha Helber, wife of Louis J. Liesemer, died on Wednesday night last, of a combination of typhoid and brain fever, aged 29 years. The deceased had assisted her husband for the past nine years in the publication of the Washtenaw Post, and was a writer of ability, whose pleasant face and agreeable manners endeared her to a large circle of friends. She leaves a little daughter Lulu, about 3 years old. She was a daughter of Mrs. Dr. Helber who still survives, and a sister of Mrs. John Burg of this city, Eugene Helber, Esq., of Saline, and Mrs. Geo. Johnson of Lodi. Mrs. Liesemer was born in this city in 1859, and was married in 1879. At 18 years of age she had graduated from the state normal school, and was preceptres of schools at Hudson, Mich. Always bright, active and ambitious, she was a helpmate to her husband rarely equaled, and he has the sympathy of many friends in his affliction. The following peculiar circumstances in reference to her life and death have een handed us by a friend: "It is astonishing what a factor a figure will sometimes play in a person's life and death.

In the life and death of Mrs. L J. Llesemer who died in Ann Arbor last week, the figure 9 played a prominent part. Mrs. Liesemer was born in 1859; was married in 1879-9 years ago-to her husband, who was also born in 1859, and on the 9th day of the month. She helped establish the Washtenaw Post, a 9 column paper in 1879, on which paper she had done editorial work 9 years and royal mother. It's not too late yet. which ended its 9th year on the day of her death; she died in her 29th year, in the 9th month of the year and was buried on the 29th day of the month."

An Explanation. ED. COURIER:-I wish to make an explanation concerning the fox chase. In the first place, I wish to state that the object of the chase was to show what a good fox hound will do. Had the owner of the fox led the animal in front of the dogs three or four times and started off around the course on a walk, as he was told to do, and further, had the people kept off from the track, we could have given an exhibition well worth the 25 cts. paid for admission. Also, had the spectators not crowded in upon the track we would know whether the dogs were good on the scent or not I must say in all candor the spectators who remained on the track after giving them the grand stand free and urging them to give the dogs the track were not courteous or gen;

We often hear it asserted that a minister has no right to—or ought not to—express his political views. We do not see by what process of reasonable reasoning anybody can arrive at such a conclusion. Free speech is a right of every one, and it is through the interchange of different views upon any question that correct results are arrived at. Ministers ought to be leaders of the right, as they see it. If one has political views, these are the views of the right as he sees it; and should be choose to express those views he is only doing his American duty. Preachers are too intelligent a class to be morally ostracised from the politic stump, or from friendly political conference.—Stockbridge Sun.

Put few will question the right of every

But few will question the right of every American citizen to express his views or political as well as other public ques-tions. But for ministers to use the Lord's day for political speeches, or their pulpits for the stump, is an act, the propriety of which is questionable.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and pre paration of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sursaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

They Pay $500, or Care. For many years the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, who are thoroughly responsible, financially, have offered in good faith, through nearly every newspaper in the land, a standing reward of $500 for a case of nasal catarrh, no matter how bad, or of how long standing, which they cannot cure. Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents. It is mild, soothing, cleansing, leodorizing, antiseptic and healing.

No other preparation has won success at home equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell, Mass., where it is made, it is now, as it has been for years, the leading medicine for purifying the blood, and toning and strengthening the system. This "good name at home" is "a tower of strength abroad." It would require a volume People to print all Lowell people
