

Missouri State Convention. Jefferson City, June 23. In convention to-day, Governor Gamble, Chairman of the Committee on Emancipation, presented the following ordinance from the majority of the Committee. 1st. The first and second classes, twenty-sixth section, third article of the Constitution be abrogated.

The Michigan Argus. ANN ARBOR - - - MICHIGAN. FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 26, 1863.

2d—Slavery or involuntary servitude, except for punishment of crime shall cease to exist in Missouri, July 1876, and all slaves within the State at that date, are hereby declared free. 3. All slaves hereafter brought into the State, not now belonging to citizens of the State shall thereupon be free. 4. All slaves removed by consent of their owners to any seceded State after the passage of the ordinance of secession, and hereafter brought into the State by their owners shall thereupon be free.

The Position. News of the rebel invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania is exciting but contradictory. Ewell's division, 32,000 strong is said to have crossed the Potomac, and is advancing without opposition. There is great excitement at Harrisburg. Lee's whereabouts is not known, nor Hooker's either, but fears are general that the latter is being out-generated, or is purposely avoiding a fight and disposing his forces to protect Washington.

From the Portland (Me.) Argus, June 20. Affairs in Mexico. Judge Lane, who resigned the judgeship of the Municipal Court of this city to take the consulship to Vera Cruz, Mexico, returned to the city yesterday, after an absence of several months. His health is excellent. From him we learn that although the French have taken Puebla, it was but a barren victory. They got the city, but the people were gone. The Mexicans resisted nobly, holding out with great obstinacy, expecting to be relieved by the forces under Comonfort, but either through negligence or bribery (the latter suspected) he allowed his army to be surprised and cut to pieces. Not long after this disaster Ortega surrendered the city, but instead of the 17,000 men and 900 officers reported to have laid down their arms, there were only three or four hundred. The rest had escaped to the capital, carrying what they could, spiking the cannon, destroying the small arms, &c. Their ammunition had been nearly all expended in the siege.

Rosecrans is said to be quiet. We were present on Sabbath evening last at the Missionary Anniversary of the Sabbath School connected with St. Andrew's Church. The church was beautifully trimmed for the occasion, and a large and appreciating audience listened to the exercises with much interest. The several classes of the School were called in their order, went forward to the altar, presented their emblem to the Rector, together with their class motto, consisting of a passage of scripture appropriate to their chosen emblem, accompanied with selections from some beautiful hymn or other religious poem—and, not the least important, the money contributed by the class during the year. The Rector made some happy and appropriate remarks to the several classes, and the exercises were also interspersed with the reading of letters from former Rectors and singing by the choir.

From North Carolina. Fortress Monroe, June 19. The transport Emelia arrived to day from Newbern with advised to the 17th. She reports as follows: The rebel committee on River Fortifications report the Union forces in possession of country 300 miles long and 150 miles wide, with inland seas and rivers filled with Union gunboats, reaching through North Carolina and Virginia, which prevents fortifications being constructed—that while this continues the permanent possession of North Carolina and Virginia cannot be expected. The Unionists in East Tennessee and Western North Carolina have organized powerful forces and are joined by thousands of deserters and conscripts from the rebel army, to whom protection is guaranteed, for the purpose of holding the mountain regions against the rebel government.

We regret to learn that Lieut. J. B. Leland, of Co. F, 20th Michigan Infantry, died in hospital, Cairo, Ill., on Monday, the 22d inst., of chill fever and diarrhea. He was taken sick after the regiment commenced its movement for Vicksburg, and was left at Cairo for treatment. Lieut. L. was a son of J. G. Leland, Esq., of Northfield in this county, and was known and highly esteemed by many of our citizens. His remains arrived home on Wednesday, and the funeral obsequies took place yesterday.

Rebel citizens have petitioned Gov. Vance for protection against this organization. Vance replied that he had no troops to send; they must protect themselves. Twenty thousand insurgents have offered to join the Union army as soon as a military post is established at Raleigh. A letter from the blockading fleet off Charleston says that on the evening of the 12th inst. the rebel batteries on Morris Island opened fire on the troops on Folly Island, and for half an hour no notice was taken of the firing by our forces. Presently the gunboats Pawnee and McDonough steamed up to within good range of the rebel batteries and poured in a deadly fire from their heavy guns. The Union batteries on Folly Island now opened their fire, and for three hours the shot and shell flew thick and fast. We could see that the rebel shot fell short, while those from our batteries and gunboats burst in the midst of the rebel batteries.

The Sixteenth Michigan Infantry is reported as having had a skirmish with the rebels on the 23d, losing twenty men killed and wounded.—Capt. Mott reported mortally wounded; Lieut. Cook, severely in the thigh; Sergeant Hilton, badly. Capt. Mott and Lieut. Cook are both well known to our citizens. Miss Jenison and her pupils have had on exhibition, during the week, in Rogers' Hall, a large and fine collection of Paintings—over 80 in number. Among them were finely executed copies of Cole's Voyage of Life, the Village Blacksmith, a full-sized and really fine copy of Nydia, landscapes, portraits, etc. These paintings bespeak Miss Jenison an excellent artist and teacher. We regret that a larger number of our citizens have not done themselves the pleasure of visiting the collection.

From Charleston. Boston, June 22. A letter from the blockading fleet off Charleston says that on the evening of the 12th inst. the rebel batteries on Morris Island opened fire on the troops on Folly Island, and for half an hour no notice was taken of the firing by our forces. Presently the gunboats Pawnee and McDonough steamed up to within good range of the rebel batteries and poured in a deadly fire from their heavy guns. The Union batteries on Folly Island now opened their fire, and for three hours the shot and shell flew thick and fast. We could see that the rebel shot fell short, while those from our batteries and gunboats burst in the midst of the rebel batteries.

It is reported that VALLANIGHAM has made his escape from the Southern Confederacy in a vessel bound for Nassau, from which port it is supposed he will for Canada. The ladies of the Soldiers' Aid Society of Pittsfield give a Strawberry Festival this afternoon, in the grove of John W. Thompson, about one-fourth mile south of the Ticknor School house. We dropped in on Friday and Saturday evenings last at the Old Folks' Festival, given at Rogers' Hall under the auspices of the Soldiers' Aid Society. The gathering was large on both evenings, the old costumes attractive, the music good, the refreshments abundant, and all enjoyed themselves in a way that is sure to come from a consciousness of generous doing. The receipts of the two evenings were about $400.

Commencement Week. The exercises of Commencement week at the University have been of the usual routine character. Dr. TAPPAN delivered the annual Baccalaureate discourse on Sunday afternoon, in the Presbyterian church.—His subject was war in general and the present one in particular, and from his exposition of causes, etc., he evolved the conclusion that radical politicians came to at the outset of the rebellion, that the war must not terminate until the last slave is freed. We confess to a non-endorsement of some of the Dr.'s premises and conclusions, and express a willingness for peace whenever the rebels shall lay down their arms, and acknowledge the government, the constitution, and the laws, even though slavery may live a lingering death yet awhile.

The Dr. paid a fine tribute, in concluding his remarks, to the several graduates of the University who have fallen in defense of their country. On Sunday evening, Rev. D. C. JACOBS, of Dexter, delivered the anniversary address before the Christian Missionary Association. We were not present, but have heard it spoken of in terms of high commendation. Monday evening Prof. L. R. FISS, of Lansing, delivered an address before the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, discussing at length the principles which underlie both democratic and monarchical forms of government, criticizing severely the political corruptions which led to the present difficulties, and expressing a hope that the old Ship of State will safely outride the storm. Prof. SILL, poet of the evening, "failed to connect"—on account of sickness we believe.

Tuesday forenoon the graduating class held their anniversary exercises. The exercises were: an oration by ORVILLE W. COOLIDGE, a poem by STEPHEN POWERS, and a class history by CONWAY W. NOBLE. The Alumni exercises announced for Monday afternoon did not take place. Tuesday evening the Rev. Geo. B. CHEEVER addressed the Literary Societies. His subject was "Lord Erskine;" his address compounded of a eulogy of Erskine and denunciation of slavery and the slave power. In tracing the career of Erskine, he undesignedly but severely rebuked our government for its disregard of the law, its repudiation of the trial by jury, its illegal arrests for constructive treason, etc. The parallel was as clearly drawn as though he had designed to condemn the arbitrary acts of the government, and to proclaim the right of free speech and a free press to-day rather than laud Lord Erskine for nobly battling for these rights in the long-gone past.

The exercises of Commencement occurred on Wednesday. We extract from the programme the names of speakers and themes: FORENOON SESSION. 1. Our Government a Principle, J. Clement Ambrose, Sharon. 2. Radicalism and Conservatism, Levi L. Barbour, Ann Arbor. 3. Triumphs of Civilization in the West, John M. Bowers, Mansfield, O. 4. The Era of Revolution, Levi L. Brown, Freedom, O. 5. Germany, Wm. A. The excellent music on the occasion was furnished by the Detroit String Band.

High School Exhibition. A very prosperous year of the public schools of this city closed on Friday last with an exhibition of the graduating class of young ladies, at the High School. The hall was well filled, and the best of order preserved during the exercises, which were conducted in accordance with the following PROGRAMME. MUSIC—"Joy, Joy, Freedom to-day." By the Choir. 1. Delusion, - - - - - FLORA JEWETT. 2. "Sacred," - - - - - ELLEN M. CUTLER. 3. Sublimity in Action, - - - - - LOTTIE GARLAND. MUSIC—"Threatening Death to Traitor Slave." 4. Oxygen, - - - - - MARY WHEELER. 5. Tide Waves, - - - - - ELLEN M. PILCHER. 6. Power, - - - - - EMMA EASTMAN. MUSIC—Piano Solo. 7. Abbottsford, - - - - - ABBIE BARKER. 8. Chivalry, (a Poem), DELIA A. HOTCHKINS. MUSIC—"All by the Shady Greenwood Tree." 9. Grandeur in Repose, - - - - - ANNA M. MILLER. 10. Ancient Ruins, - - - - - LUCY STOWE. 11. Masterly Retreats, - - - - - ELLA E. NICHOLS. MUSIC—Aveil Chorus. * Excused. The several compositions evidenced careful study, much thought, and considerable skill in the art of writing.—The pronunciation was excellent, and the enunciation distinct, but in most instances too low to be distinctly heard at any great distance from the platform.—This was not the fault of the young ladies, but owing rather to a real lack of volume in voice. We shall not deal in individual criticism, but would say that in one or two compositions there was great surplussage of adjectives, and in one or two more too near an approach to masculinity in style, too free a criticism of men and events to look exactly well in young ladies, especially when some of the sharp-edges were based, to say the least, on a total misapprehension of the facts of history. But, despite these faults, the young ladies did credit to themselves, to their instructors, and to the school. In concluding the exercises Professor LAWTON addressed the class briefly but in a very happy vein, congratulating them on their having completed the course of study, and expressing a hope that their example would be followed by others, and that hereafter a class of young ladies would be annually graduated. In the course of his remarks he paid a warm tribute to the memory of those young men who have left our schools, and the school recently under his charge in another town, to do service for their country, and have fallen on the field of battle. The music for the occasion was under the direction of Mr. C. H. DENISON, and was appropriate and excellent.

Death of Sergeant Imus. In a letter from Vicksburg to the Chicago Times, dated May 27th, we find the following paragraph relative to the decease of Sergt. NELSON IMUS of the Chicago Mercantile Battery. Young Imus was a resident of this city, and leaves many friends to sympathize with the bereaved mother and other relatives: "The 26th was spent as before, and today is so far no better. The members of the battery have been called upon to mourn the loss of one of our most worthy members, Sergt. Nelson Imus, who died in the hospital at Grand Gulf, on the 14th inst., of typhoid fever. He was most highly respected by the entire battery, and his loss is heavily felt, as he was esteemed for his many good qualities. His friends have his most heartfelt sympathies in this their great affliction. We laid him in a soldiers' grave, and covered him with soil. We breathed a silent prayer for him, and left him with his God. His remains will be forwarded by friends as soon as possible."

Another Victory for the Monitors. Our monitors have just caused the enemy a serious loss, and somewhat redeemed their character with him. One of the two iron-clads built with much trouble, expense and exultation at Savannah has been captured, after a fight of thirty minutes, by two of our monitors, probably the Weehawken and Nahant. The Fingal was, according to rebel reports, one of the strongest and most formidable armored ships in the southern ports. She was originally a large steamer, a blockade runner; in Savannah she was cut down, heavily armored and armed, and on several occasions the mere threat of her appearance has caused uneasiness at Port Royal. She seems to be like all the other iron-clads the rebels have taken into action, good enough to scare non-combatants, but not the right stuff for battle.

The rebels have been singularly unfortunate with their iron ships. The Merrimac fought but one battle, and was then forced to retreat, though not till she had sunk several wooden ships. The Charleston rams, much talked of, surprised our fleet one night, but were so unmanageable and unsafe that their attack was beaten off by wooden gunboats, and the Cleopatra dared not stay out long enough even to secure a prize. At New Orleans they had two vessels which were truly formidable, and in the hands of good seamen might have disputed for some time the passage of Farragut's fleet, even after that had beaten the forts. But the rebel crews range their huge nondescripts ashore, abandoned and set fire to them; and the only attempt they made with them was to blow up Commodore Porter, as he lay under a flag of truce arranging for the surrender of the forts.

JEFFERSON DAVIS' PLANTATION PILLAGED.—The Murfreesboro correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes: "A body of Federals are reported to have pillaged the plantations of Jefferson Davis and his brother Joe, destroying every implement of husbandry and all the household and kitchen furniture, defacing the buildings, and driving off every negro on the estate. GEN. GILMORE.—The name of General Gilmore, the successor of the crazy fanatic Hunter, is already familiar to the public, in connection with the siege of Fort Palaski, an operation as brilliant and successful as any that has occurred during the war, and one that reflected the highest honor upon his abilities as a military engineer and a General. His career in Kentucky, during which he fought and won, against greatly superior numbers, the battle of Somerset, has well sustained his early reputation. That he will be successful now in his more enlarged command, if he is properly supported by the government, is firmly believed by all in the department."

A SUCCESS.—The National Horse Show held on the Fair Grounds last week, was entirely successful; the proceeds being sufficient to pay all premiums awarded, and all expenses attending the exhibition, with a surplus of $200, which is placed in the Treasury of the Washenaw Co. Agricultural Society, and will be applied toward liquidating its debts. We are authorized to make these statements by the Treasurer of the Agricultural Society, I. S. Pierson, Esq.—State News.

THE ALARM AT PITTSBURG.—As an evidence of the alarm which is felt for the safety of Pittsburg, the Cleveland Plaindealer states that on Tuesday evening the messengers of the American Express Company brought to that city in iron safes, fifteen million dollars in gold. The same company received the next morning $7,000,000, $650,000 of which was in gold coin. All this money was sent to Cleveland for safety by the bankers and merchants of Pittsburg—a fact which shows how thoroughly alive the Pittsburgers are to the dangers which threaten them.

"I haven't another word to say, sir—never dispute with fools!" "No," was the reply, "you are very loose to agree with them."

It is impossible to make people understand their ignorance; for it requires knowledge to perceive it; and therefore he can perceive it hath it not. A young lady, if a visitor rings the door bell, will sometimes send word "engaged," though she never had an offer in her life.

A letter from Norfolk says that the courts were organized on the 8th instant, for the first time in Norfolk since its occupation by the United States forces. One of the first acts of Dr. Longley, the new Archbishop of Canterbury, England, upon his elevation to the primacy, was to insure his life for the sum of £20,000. VERMONT.—A Democratic State Convention has been called to meet at Montpelier, Vermont, on the 26th of June, to nominate candidates for State officers.

From Mexico. San Francisco, June 22. Dates from the City of Mexico via Acapulco are to the 24th ult. All the French residents have been compelled to leave the city. Gen. Juarez has taken command of the Mexican troops. The Mexican fortifications were being strengthened; and it was believed the government would flood the valley on the approach of the French and make a desperate resistance. All the available Mexican troops are being drawn in towards the capital. Gen. Comonfort is much censured for not relieving Puebla and in consequence has resigned. The French advance had arrived at San Martin Les Mulican. Gen. Forey had ordered the captured Mexican Generals to be sent to France and the other officers to Martinique; and 3,000 Mexican prisoners had been put to work on the railroad leading towards Vera Cruz and 2,000 were employed in destroying the intrenchments around Puebla.

Agricultural Prospects. In the interior of New York, the wheat crop is reported by all who speak or write to us as unusually promising.

Reports from all New England, as a general thing, are flattering. In New Jersey and Pennsylvania, some districts have suffered from drought, but rain has fallen copiously in several localities.

All the Western States have complained of a severe spring drought, but it has not ruined the prospects of any crop.

In Colorado, the grasshoppers, and in Oregon, the crickets, are almost equal to the locusts in Egypt in their devastations.

The drought has probably done more damage in Maryland and Virginia than in any Northern State. Grain, oats and wheat, have all been materially cut short.

From Canada we hear that the prospect in spring wheat was never better. The season for planting was dry, followed by copious rains.

Curing Butter.

Melt the fresh butter in a glazed stone-ware vessel, and heat it to 180° Fah.—The stone-ware vessel should be placed in a metal vessel containing the warm water. The butter is maintained at this temperature as long as any froth comes to the surface, and it must be skimmed until it becomes quite clear. It is then strained through a coarse flannel cloth, which will separate any of the cheesy particles that may remain in it. It is then poured into a clean stone-ware vessel and cooled as quickly as possible, by surrounding it with cold water or ice.—This is the method employed by the Tartars for preserving butter. They supply the market of Constantinople with it, and it is stated that it will remain perfectly fresh in a cool situation for six months. Butter so treated, and then salted, will preserve its fine taste for two years when kept in a cool situation. The chief cause of butter becoming rancid is due to the cheesy particles left in its curing. These may be all removed by melting the butter, but care must be exercised so as not to raise the temperature above 180° or the flavor of the butter will be injured.

Fruit Growers, Save Your Plums.

As soon as the blossoms are off the tree, take a bucket of slacked lime (air slacked is the best) in a dry state, and when the tree is wet with dew in the morning throw the lime through the tree by handfuls—don't be afraid of it. If the tree is large, get a pair of steps or something else to stand upon, so that you can scatter the lime well through the tree; and the work is done until after the lime is washed off with a rain, and then you will give your tree another liming. In this way keep your tree limed until about the 20th of June, and I will insure that the plums will be safe. My experience has satisfied me that the above is an infallible defence against the Curculio. One of my neighbors (Mr. C. D. Stark), and myself have tried it for two years past with the most gratifying results. I had two plum trees growing in my yard; they would regularly bloom, but not one of the plums would stay on the trees to ripen. In the spring of 1861 a few plums on each tree escaped destruction from the frost; I limed one of them as above and saved the fruit, whilst on the other tree not one plum escaped being stung by the Curculio. The next spring I limed both trees and found it to be a complete success. I believe that no such plums were ever before produced in this country; one of them was a Golden Drop—they were larger than Shanghai hen's eggs—the other was a beautiful reddish purple, covered with bloom and of the size or rather larger than Green Gage. I believe I never saw a richer collection of fruit than those were. Mr Stark met with the same gratifying success. I wish new papers generally would call the attention of fruit growers to this remedy. It may be applied with equal advantage to all other kinds of fruit that insects are in the habit of destroying. And permit me to suggest the same as a defence against the ravages of the caterpillar.—Ohio Farmer.

HINTS ON BREAD MAKING.—Good bread cannot be made by merely mixing flour and water and yeast. The mass must be kneaded so as to be sure and bring every grain of flour in contact with its equivalent grain of water, and so as to diffuse the yeast uniformly throughout the mass, or else the resulting gas will be liberated in excess in one spot and not at all in another. This is seen in badly kneaded loaves, in the holes they contain and in a crust that easily detaches from the crumb, as though it had been lifted up by an internal force. The air cells in a well-kneaded loaf are fine and uniform throughout the mass and all will be formed at the same time. If the flour and yeast are good, and the kneading decidedly bad, the bread will not give satisfaction. On the other hand, good kneading, good moulding, and good baking will make a second or third rate quality of flour almost equal to the best.

NORTHERN EXPERIMENTS IN COTTON CULTURE.—The report of the Department of Agriculture, soon to be published, presents information obtained by the department respecting the efforts to grow cotton in some of the Northern States. It is ascertained that the plant will not produce cotton north of 40 degrees of latitude. It will grow luxuriantly, and will make large stalks and branches, but never bloom nor poll. In Kansas, Southern Illinois and Missouri, a good deal of success has been attained, in Kansas much greater than elsewhere. On the eastern shore of Maryland, where cotton was produced long before the war of the revolution, the old wheat and tobacco fields promise this year to be white with cotton. A considerable breadth has been seeded, and will be cultivated with something of skill and assiduity. The experiment inaugurated last year will have a much fairer and decisive trial in the present.

Suffering from Irregularity, or Obstruction of the Menstrues, from whatever cause.

IT IS SURE TO CURE! IT IS SURE TO CURE! IT IS SURE TO CURE!

It is impossible to enjoy the bloom of health, and vivacity of spirits, unless the Menstrues are regular as to the time, the quantity, and quality. When they are obstructed, nature makes her efforts to obtain for it some other outlet, and, unless these efforts of nature are assisted, the patient usually experiences Debility, Nervousness, and finally CONSUMPTION assumes its sway, and prematurely terminates a miserable life.

by strengthening and invigorating, and restoring the system to a healthy condition. It moderates all excess, and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES,

They are peculiarly adapted, as they bring on the monthly period with such perfect regularity.

SURE TO DO GOOD! SURE TO DO GOOD! SURE TO DO GOOD! SURE TO DO GOOD!

CANNOT DO HARM! CANNOT DO HARM! CANNOT DO HARM! CANNOT DO HARM!

I could furnish any quantity of testimonials of its efficacy from my own patients, but the practice of parading bought and fictitious ones before the public is so prevalent I do not deem it advisable. My object is to place my medicine before the public, not alone to make money, but to do good. It is proverbially true of the American Ladies, that not ten perfectly healthy ones can be found in any one vicinity.

BE WISE IN TIME! BE WISE IN TIME! BE WISE IN TIME!

Let not disease destroy your constitution. Try a bottle of my PERIODICAL DROPS, and you will be satisfied that I am no impostor. Tell your afflicted friend what restored the bloom of health to your cheeks, and thereby confer a favor more valuable than gold.—For painful or scanty Menstruation it is just the thing. I have now in my mind an instance of a lady who had been suffering from painful Menstruation two or three years, confining her to her room each time; she had applied to several eminent physicians, without relief, when one bottle of my DROPS entirely cured her.
