THE OLD MAN'S PLAINT.

BY SUSAN H. BLAISDELL.

I'm sitting all alone, darling, Beneath the elm-tree's shade, Where in our childhood's happy time The livelong day we played; The river looks the same, darling, As it used to look of old, But the one who sat beside me there Lies under the churchyard mould.

Long years have passed since then, darling, And my limbs are bent with age; But still your fairy image lies On memory's sacred page. You have left the earth before me, And my locks are growing gray; And there is no one left to cheer

The old man's downward way. But you come to me in dreams, darling, And you wear an angel form; Your smile is bright as in childhood's time And the blush on your cheek as warm; You beckon me on with your snowy hand,

To your glorious dwelling there, But the hour of death has not yet come, And I bide my time in prayer. I'm sitting all alone, darling, Beneath the elm-tree's shade,

Where, in our childhood's blissful time, The livelong day we played: Are dreams of the days of old, And a hope to rest beside you soon, Beneath the churchyard mould.

I found him. Through information derived from a Philadelphia directory. I went to one of those alleys with which that city abounds, and found his name on a sign board, associated with that of my business. I had no difficulty in reanother man, over a dark and dingy shop. The sign purported that they were locksmiths and bell hangers; also that locks were repaired and keys fittled. Without ceremony I walked into the gloomy recess, where there was a blacksmith's forge, and where among several muscularlooking men up to their arm pits in work, was "my wife's cousin." He received me most cordially, and for a moment intermitted filing a huge brass key on which he was engaged, and the shake of my own dexter by one of his broad, braw-become to us, as it were, a second nany hands I can liken to nothing nearer ture." than the shock of a young earthquake.

While in our own country a temporary check has been given by the war to almost every project of internal improvement, always excepting those visionary schemes which it is the interest of speculators to foster, the old world is acting with renewed energy. Though we have little definite information in regard to Russia, there is reason to believe that the Emperor Alexander is still carrying forward his plans for bringing Eastern Siberia, and more especially his new possessions on the Amoor, into close railway and telegraphic communication with St. Petersburg, looking ultimately to a conthe prodigious effort making in Europe America has given to this branch of en-

The military situation has no longer that degree of interest which it possessed Queenstown 9th, has arrived, with during the past three months. The general public, in pate immediate or extensive action in that quarter. Both armies have had heated month of August.

It is feared that Meade's inaction is due to the delay required by a concent action of the chief armies of the East and West; that Grant, with all the force some persons in Washington and New to be spared from the garrisons of Vicks- York, to show that propositions were burg and Port Hndson, will be transferred to Virginia; and that the next batthe will be fought by a combination of the army of the Potomac and that of the vy. Grant has wholly withdrawn from the interior of the State of Mississippi, and that he is shipping large portions of his men up the river. But it is far more probable that these troops have gone home on the furlough promised them, as to defy the Western powers. the chief reward of their late arduous campaign, than that they have commenced the journey to Virginia.

Western troops are averse to fighting tered even more completely than the true strict neutrality. Jankees, who are, despite the vulgar idea to the contrary, far better troops than the brutal horde of the Nothwest Since then, a resolution to mind its own affairs has settled in the heart of the Northwest. They will fight for the Mis sissippi, but not for the James. Grant himself has refused the command of the Army of the Potomac, and his troops will decline the honors of the Chickahominy. All the forces of the Northwest will be necessary in the Autumn to hold their late conquest of the Mississippi Valley. Vicksburg and Port Hudson were powerful against the navigation of the river, but are worthless to defend it. For these and other reasons, it is thought impossible that Grant and his Vicksburg host will ever be seen on the banks of the James. But if mistaken we should have nothing to regret. Lee would be compelled perhaps to fall back on the extensive fortifications of Richmond. But this place cannot be invested; and if its thirty miles of batteries are manned by the army of Northern Virginia it can never be taken. While the armies of Grant and Meade would be shattered by assaults and wasted by disease, the Confederate Generals of the South would have an opportunity to recover Tennessee and the Mississippi, which they would not allow to pass un noticed. Meanwhile, Bragg and Rosecrans have sunk into a Summer siesta. Middle Tennessee and West Tennessee are alike under the hoof of the invader. The people have taken the oath of allegiance almost unanimously, and are reported to be worse treated since they did so than before. They have been robbed of everything that is capable of being robbed from men: have no protection, and searcely any hope; are fixed in their miserable homes, sulky and bitter. The land lies without cultivation. What is the use of drawing produce from it for their Yankee masters to seize even before it is garnered? The negroes are gone, and the cattle with them. Bragg has abandoned a considerable tract of country, but he has at last gained a line which seems to be impregnable. Rosecrans will hesitate long before he concludes to stretch away from his base toward Chattanooga, and knows too much of that position to fancy it another Murfreesboro.

Mobile is not threatened, and is not likely to be so, during the three sickly months which have now begun. Charleston is always threatened; now more than ever; but holds on gloriously well. Charleston is safe. It has lately been represented as a Capan. Not only the citizens of both sexes and all ages, but the troops, from the Generals to the privates and drummer boy, are said to have been steeped in luxury procured by smuggling, and blockade running The corruption is reported to have extended to all classes, and it was supposed that every noble sentiment and gallant intension had died before the lucre of gain .-Happily the recent events do not confirm these gloomy views of Charleston. The fire on the altar is not burned out: the palmetto tree is sound at heart, and its roots still hold firmly.

We need never fear an ignominious surrender at Charleston; and while its inhabitants and its army are determined to make use of their means of defense to the last, it will be the block on which as many Yankee heads will be laid low as there are stones in its walls. If it could be securely invested by sea and land, Charleston would fall at the appointed time; but it cannot be so invested while Richmond stands. The United States has not an army of 100,000 men to employ on its circumvallation; and if it had, that army would be cut into two and destroyed by an attack from the interior. Before Charleston can be invested, Richmond must fall, Eastern Virginia be conquered, and the army that accomplished these feats might, without doubt, pierce North and South Carolina, lay siege to Charleston and take it. But before such events happen, there will yet

Many a knight to earth be borne, And many a banner rent and torn. It is a far cry to Lochow; it is a farther cry to Richmond.

Correspondence of the N. Y, Herald. From Charleston. Fortress Monroe, August 6.

The steamer Spaulding arrived here this morning from Charleston, thence on the 4th inst., but brings no later news than that already forwarded by the Adelaide. The firing from the shore and Monitor batteries are not as brisk as usual, the grand effort being reserved for a certain period. To-day, according to the programme laid down by Admiral Dahlgren and General Gilmore, several bat teries that have been erected without masked, and then Sumpter will receive a taste of two and three hundred pounder Parrotts, and the result in the main depends upen the successful operations of this monster ordnance. shore batteries bearing on Fort Sumpter are being erected by sailors. The energetic Admiral has had upwards of one thousand steady at work throwing up these intrenchments.

General Gilmore, however, has not been idle while the navy. has been at work. Our brave troops have been laporing zealously, notwithstanding their exposure to the enemy's murderous fire. Since the batteries have been in the course of constructoin Fort Wagner has remained almost unmolested. From competent authority, I learn that Gen. Gil-more could take Battery Wagner at any time; but the fire from Fort Sumpter makes it untenable; hence the necessity of approaching near enough to disable and silence the fort, after which he will not only occupy Battery Wagner, but also every other fortification, Fort Sump ter included.

A few moments before the departure of the mail boat from this place the flag of truce steamer New York, in charge of Major John E. Mulford, arrived from City Point, with 250 released prisoners. The Richmond papers of to-day have no telegraphic advices from Charleston; but their editorials sound doleful enough .-They estimate the capture of Charleston, at this time, would be one of the severest calamities that could befall their cause, and urge every man capable of bearing arms to rush to the rescue and defense of the Palmetto City and save it from the disgrace of falling inio the hands of the "Yankees."

New York, Aug. 12. The Herald's Morris Island correspon dence, under date 5th and 7th reports our position stronger and safer than ever. The morale and confidence of our troops is unexampled. Although the rebels keep pouring shells from Wagner, Sumpter and other fortifications, the protection of our troops is so complete that our casualities are hardly worth noticing Captain Paine, One Hundreth New York with nine of his men, were captured by the rebels on the night of the 4th, while on a scout near Light House Creek .-They made a spirited, but unsuccessful resistance, to superior numbers. Sunday week there was a terrific engagement between the gunboat Ottawa, a monitor and the Ironsides and our works on Morris Island, and the rebel forts. The rebel guns were finally silenced. A boat belonging to the Ironsides, while on picket duty, last Wednesday night was run down by a rebel steamer. Part of the crew were drowned and the rest were saved by another of our boats. No prisoners were taken by the rebels.

Destructive Tornado. A destructive tornado passed through the south-east part of the township of Rasin, about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, the 7th inst. It first developed itself in the result. the timber of Nathan Spencer's and Deacon Rogers' farms, threw down trees and fences and next struck Moses Bowerman's orchard, tore up many trees and took the fruit from every tree in the orchard; it struck his coru-house, dashed it into pieces, took the roof from his barn and the chimney from his dwelling house; then passed south-east into his timber, which was prostrated for a distance of eighty rods, twenty or thirty rods in width .-Mr. B. lost a yearling creature killed by the falling of a tree. Passing on in the same direction, all the fences for half a mile were scattered. It then struck the orchard on the place occupied by the widow of the late Henry Young. Many apple trees were torn out by the roots and all the fruit in the orchard was knocked off. Here it took the roof off one side of the barn and half of the other. Six children were playing in the barn but none were hurt. It next struck the farm of Wilber West, took the fences and timber in its course; and then struck the farm of James G. Wells, cleaned the fences and timber in its track, and took the doors off his barn. Beyond this the tornado continued a south east direction, tore up some timber and prostrated fences, but we are not informed of the details of damage nor where its fury was exhausted. We are indebted to Van R. Miller, Esq., for this description. Mr. Miller says the tornado had the appearance of an enormous inverted pyramid, and no train of rail road cars ever began to make the tremenduous noise it made in its progress. Fence rails, timber, boards and shingles were flying in all directions with fearful violence, and carried long distances. At Mrs. Youngs' house three barrels were standing filled with water. One of the barrels was carried off beyond discovery, and the others were thrown twenty to forty rods. Mr. James Wells had a narrow escape from injury, being in the midst of flying rails and boards, which he avoided by crouching behind a stump. As it was, one of his fingers were slightly hurt. Mr. Wells was once raised from the ground by the wind.

All the growing crops of corn in the track of the tornado, are utterly destroyed. Oats were prostrated but most of half, and its extent as far as at present to manage. Cases of the chronic diarrham, and its extent as far as at presen known to us, was about three miles.— Adrian Watchtower, Aug. 8.

Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Tunckhannock Democrat, Pennsylvania.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skilful physician applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the festering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tired every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your Sarbararlla, and applying the iodice of potash lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had finished the second. Techild's eyelashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

From A. J. French, M. D., an eminent physician of Lauvence, Mass., who is a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"DR. AVER—My dear Sir: I have found your SARBAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphilis, both of the primary and secondary type, and effectual in some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerful alterative is required."

Mr. Chen S. Van Liene of New Engagence, N. I.

Leucorrhoes, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Ulceration, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of this Sarsaparilla. Some cases require, however, in aid of the Sarsaparilla, the skilful application of local remedies.

application of local remedies.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr.

Jacob Morrill, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your Sarsaparilla an excellent alterative in diseases of females. Many cases of fregularity, Leucorrhosa, Internal Ulceration, and local debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when its effect is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very debilitating Leucorrhee of long standing, by two bottles of your Sarsaparilla."

THE CAUSE OF PILES.

THE CAUSE OF PILES.

A large dose of the Drastic Pills will, by irritating the mucous membrane, produce a violent expulsion of the contents in the bowels, but in so soing other secretions are suspended. In such cases, the stools will be found to be light-colored and watery, and attended with cramps, griping pains, nausea, sickness. By this increased unmatural action of the bowels, the secretions of the killneys and pancreas are diminished, followed by affections of the kidneys, bladder, urethra, piles, tenesmus, general prostration, costiveness, and indigestion.

Why Radway's Pills Cure Small Pox. In Small Pox, Scarlet Fever, Erysipelas, Yellow, Typhold and other reducing Fenerz, renoamon is highly executed. But to administer a dose of Drastic Pilis the irritation they would produce and the relaxation and depletion that would follow, would be likely to prove fatal. If physicians, in these cases, would give RADWAY'S PILIS, they would always cure their patients. In these diseases a mild, modhing, healing and gently stimulating laxitive is required, which is secured by kADWAY'S PILIS.

that occasions the pain. By examining the stools exac-uated after severe griping they will be found thin and watery. THE TRUE PILLS TO TAKE.

The only safe pills to take are Dr. Radway's, because they are the only pills that secure purgation without de-pletion, and expel diseased humors from the system.

CASE OF DYSPEPSIA CURED.

For many years I have been afflicted with our national complaint, called Dyspepsit—my sufferings have been a constant succession of horeors. I have spent thousands of dollars with the hope of realizing a little comfort and tranquillity. God blees you, and may this letter induce other suffering victims to this accuracy mandally, to try the same means.

From J. E. Johnston, Esq., Wakeman, Ohio.

"For twelve years I had the yellow Erysipelas on my right arm, during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and took hundreds of dollars' worth of medicines. The ulcers were so bad that the cords became visible, and the doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your Sarsafarilla. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as anybody. Being in a public place, my case is known to everybody in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

"I find your SARSAPARILLA a more effectual remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphilis, and for syphilite disease than any other we possess. The profession are indebted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Liew, of New Brunswck, N. Few cases can be found more inveterate and distressing than this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Bheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, when caused by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARSAPARILLA.

AS ALTERATIVES,
They exercise a more pawe-ful influence over the liver and its secretions than calomel, mercury, blue pill, hence their importance in cases of Liver Complaints and Spleen Difficulties, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Bitious Attacks, Headache, &c. In the treatment of Fevers, either Billous, Yellows, Typhoid, and other readoury Fevers, they are superior to quinine. Their influence extends over the entire system, controlling, strengthening, and bracing up the relaxed and wasting energies, and regulating all the secretions to the natural performance of their duties, cleaning and purifying the blood, and purging from the system all diseased deposits and impure humors.

The cause of griping, nausea, sickness, truesmus and debility, that is induced by a dose of drastic pills, is owing to their imperfect operation. If with the faces, the diseased humors, left circulating in the system, were expelled by these pills, there would be but little pain or griping. It is the absence of the bile and other humors which the imperfect pills fail to purge out of the system that occasions the pain. By examining the stools avac-is a fact worthy of note that while he increased demand for the sorts of woul needed for broadclothes, cassimeres, etes, is being partially met by increased production, as yet little has been done to furnish supplies of the staple required in GENUINE PPEPARATION goods substituted for cotton; that is for the warps of worsteds, delaines, etc .-The wool needed for this use is that which will make the smallest and strongest thread with the least nap from the FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, smallest amount of stock. This is furnished in the greatest excellence by the Leicester, Cotswolds, and kindred breeds, and as comparitavely very few of these sheep are raised in this country, the great bulk of wool needed for manufacturing purposes here, must be imported. Accordingly it is found that the importations during the present year have by far execeded those of any previous period .-The amount received during the last six months has very nearly, if not quite, equaled the whole quantity imported in 1862, and is greater than that brought in during both 1860 and 1861. But Arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation ewing to the demand upon the other side Early Indiscretion, or Abuse, owing to the demand upon the other side of the Atlantic for a similar article, the price has advanced to an unprecedented figure, and such wool now commands, and must for some time continue to bring a price far beyond its actual relative worth as compared with wool of finer stuple. In other words, a larger amount of money can be realized for wool by investment in these breeds of sheep. Now it behooves American farmers to reap a share of the advantages thus offered .-Heretofore, the raising of the coarser bodied sheep has been advocated on the ground of producing superior weight and quality of mutton, and the advantage, if iny, in this respect, is not less now than formerly, as any one will find who indulges in the luxury of this meat at the present prices. The matter is worth thoroughly looking into by those who are about stocking their farms with sheep .-American Agreulturist.

Put Flowers on Your Table.

Set flowers on your table-a whole nosegay if you can get it, or a single flower; a rose, a pink-nay, a daisy.-Bring a few daisies and buttercups from your last field walk, and keep them alive in a little water; aye, preserve but a bunch of clover, or a handful of flowermg grass - one of the most elegant, as well as cheapest, of Nature's productions and you have something on your table that reminds you of the beauties of God's creation, and gives you a link with the poets and sages that have done it most nor. Put but a rose, or a lily, or a violet, on your table, and you and Lord HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHI Bacon have a custom in common; for that great and wise man was in the habit of having flowers in season upon his table-morning, we believe, noon, and night; that is to say, at all his meals, for linner, in his time, was taken at noon .-Now here is a fashion that shall last you ferrever, if you please-never changing with silks, and velvets, and silver forks. nor dependent upon caprice and change to give them importance and a sensation. The fashion of the garments of heaven and earth endures forever, and you may adern your tables with specimens of their drapery-with flowers out of the fields, and golden beams out of the blue ether. Flowers on a morning table are especially suitable to the time. They look like the happy wakening of the creation; they bring the perfumes of the breath of Nature into your room; they seem the representatives and embodiments of the very smîles of your home, the grace of its good-morrow-proofs that some intellectual beauty is in ourselves, or those about us; some home Aurora (if we are so lucky as to have a companion), helping to strew our life with sweets, or in ourselves some masculine mildness not unworthy to possess such a companion, or unlikely to gain her.

Recreations.

I must mention, first several recrea tions which are peculiary injurious to consumptives. Of these, the theatre is perhaps the worst .- How any sane in valid of this class can sit four hours in the vile atmosphere of one of these dens. amazes me. Should a patient of mine, belonging to this class, attend a theatre, I should feel conscentiously impelled to abandon his case at once. Whatever may be said of its morals, the atmosphere of the place is abominable. Language almost as strong may be applied to the concert-room and to fashionable parties. A young lady with consumptive taint goes through the fashionable round of theatres, parties, and concerts. At the same time she is swallowing cod-liver oil, and wearing counter-irritants. Can anything be more absurd and pitiful ?-Games of cards, chess, draughts, etc., in which the players are pretty sure to sit in heated rooms, with drooping shoulders and little motion, are all injurious.

FORT WAGNER.-Fort Wagner is an irregular bastioned work, situated on the northern end of Morris Island, two thousand five hundred yards distant from Fort Sumpter. It is composed entirely of sand, which, beyond doubt, is the best material to withstand the effect of shell. Its armament, as shown in the diagram, is six guns; but three guns have recently been mounted on the sea face to annoy the monitors. On the southern face of the work all the obstructions that engineering skill can devise have been placed so as to stop our troops in case of an assault. On the northern side of the work there has been erected a musketry parapet, which not only commands the approach fram the northward, but enables its garrison to be sheltered in event of our troops gaining an admittance to the interior. It has its ravelins, galleries and covered ways, and upon the whole is a very formidable work. The magazine is situated in the southern center of the senward portion of the work, and al-though exposed to the fire of our ironclads, it is so well built as to defy the the projectites which have already struck
