

The Winter term of the Public Schools of this city close to-day. Examinations in the several departments commenced yesterday, and continue during to-day, and our citizens having children in any of the schools should encourage them with their presence. This evening an exhibition of the High School will take place in the School Hall, the exercises to consist of essays and declamations. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged, the proceeds to be appropriated to the increase of the High School Library. Winners' Band will furnish choice music for the occasion. We hope to see the Hall well filled.

The Spring and Summer term will commence on Monday, March 28th.

Bishop McCoskey will administer the Rite of Confirmation in St. Andrew's Church, (Episcopal), next Sunday evening, March 26th.

We understand that "ile" has been struck in Sharon, and that considerable excitement is consequent upon the discovery.
The new "oil diggings" are located on Paint brook, on section twenty-one.

WALTER C. LYMAN, who has been successfully engaged in instructing classes in elocution in our city, by request of a number of our prominent citizens, gave readings from the Poets in the Congregational Church on Saturday evening last. We were not present, but we hear his readings highly complimented.

We have before us the Catalogue of the University of Michigan for the year 1864. The Catalogue speaks favorably of the progress of the institution, both in the number of students, and in the increase of Libraries, Museums, and other means of illustration. We append the summary of attendants in the several departments:

The Spring term of the Circuit Court commenced on Tuesday, Judge Lawrence presiding. The criminal calendar was first taken up. The People vs Van Riper, information for shooting at his brother in a Justice's office at Dexter, occupied the time of the Court on Tuesday and Wednesday, and resulted in a verdict of guilty. The information against Cleveland, charged with the murder of John C. Dewey, at Chelsea, was taken up Wednesday afternoon, and is now in progress.

Rivers of Blood.—The circulation in the system is not unlike the flow of rivers to the sea, which move smoothly until they are clogged or obstructed. But when drift wood or alluvial deposit dams them up, then comes the tearing devastation that follows the obstruction of a force which cannot be stayed.
So the blood circulates insensibly through the system until it becomes clogged by disease; then burst out the ulcers, sores and disorders which follow that condition. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and purify your blood, to save yourself from the floods, freshets and deluges which sweep unnumbered multitudes out upon that shoreless sea which swallows all mankind.—Lancaster (Pa.) Register.

Death of Edward F. Bates, Surgeon U.
S. Volunteers.
At a meeting of the students of the Medical Department of the University of Michigan, held March 18th, 1864, the following resolutions were adopted.
Whereas, the sad tidings have just reached us that Surgeon Edward F. Bates died at Washington D. C., on the 6th inst., Resolved, That we are suddenly saddened and deeply pained by the death of a classmate and friend whose genial and lively companionship is yet fresh in our recollections; who left his seat among our number to attend upon the wants of the soldier-sick; and whose eminent success, and well-earned distinction have been the objects of our fraternal pride.
Resolved, That we desire, respectfully, to tender our earnest sympathy to the relatives of the deceased, and that we beg leave to pay our tribute to the untiring industry, ripe scholarship, and refined courtesy that marked his character.
That copies of these resolutions, with the accompanying memoir, be sent to the papers of this city, to the Free Press and Tribune of Detroit, and to the Albion Union Her aid for publication.

Edward F. Bates, while a medical student, left the University of which he was a member in July 1862; upon the 2d of the succeeding month he was appointed Acting Medical Cadet; on August 24th, Medical Cadet U. S. A.; Feb. 27th, 1863, Asst. Surgeon Volunteers; Sept. 22d Member of the Examining Board of Asst. Surgeons; and Oct. 13th, Surgeon of Volunteers; being a permanent member of the Examining Board when taken ill with Enteritis, of which disease he died at the early age of twenty-three years. He was anticipating the conferment of the degree of M. D., by the University of Michigan, at the ensuing Commencement.

Correspondence of The Chicago Times.
The Advance and Return of Sherman's Expedition.
Cairo, March 10.

The diary of an officer of the 32d Ohio Infantry, just enlisted as veterans, 500 strong, and who passed here yesterday on the steamer Tycoon, en route for home, furnishes the following interesting particulars of General Sherman's late raid into the Gulf States.

The army crossed Baker's Creek on the morning of Feb. 6th, where the enemy, commanded by Wirt, Adams and French, were posted. The brigade under Colonel Potts, of the 32d Ohio, led the charge, and after hard fighting for an hour and a half, drove the rebels from their position.

The Federals pushed on, and before night had the satisfaction of seeing the enemy retreating beyond Jackson. A part of this place was burned by the Federal troops. The following morning morning Pearl River was crossed, on that evening Brandon was entered, the Confederates having been driven out. The next day, at Morton, Gen.
Sherman's troops met those of Loring and French, but the latter retired without fighting. Marching on Meridian, the Federals burned Hillsboro, and reached the former place on the 15th, which they occupied after a short skirmish with some cavalry. The infantry had left the day before. Gen. Sherman, with his army, remained in Meridian four days, during which time they destroyed eighty miles railroad track, 30,000 feet of bridging, and considerable rolling stock. From this place the federals began their march back toward Vicksburg, passing through Enterprise and Chunky Station, which they burned.
At the latter station a large amount of stores was destroyed.

Gen. Sherman took out only twenty days' rations, and did not intend to go beyond Meridian; but he expected the cavalry of Generals Smith and Grierson to join him there, intending to throw them along the Tombigbee to harass the enemy. The army did not move toward Selma at all.

The country supplied them with corn and meat.
The One Hundred and Seventy-eighth New York lost two hundred men by straggling, which was more than half of the Federal loss. One hundred and twenty-five prisoners were taken, and two hundred of the enemy were killed and wounded. Fully six thousand contrabands were brought in to Vicksburg, having been taken from the different plantations along the route.

From Charleston and Florida.
New York, March 14.
Advices from Jacksonville to the 7th are unimportant. Gen. Seymour is still in command. Our loss at the outside reaches 1,800, of whom two-thirds are slightly wounded.

Hilton Head letters report firing on Charleston ceased on Tuesday night.

The schooner Alice Clifton, a small blockade runner, had run ashore on Tybee Island, and was captured by our troops.

A Jacksonville letter states Colonel Henry's cavalry routed a body of rebel cavalry.

The rebel force now consists of seventeen regiments of infantry and twelve of cavalry, besides artillery.

The Savannah News of the 7th, contains an account of the capture of the rebel ship Edsca and cargo, valued at $20,000.

The Mississippi reports that 400 deserters in Jones county have organized and resisted successfully all attempts to subdue them.

The Mobile Tribune says on Monday there were 567 shots thrown at Fort Powell by the Yankee fleet, without doing damage.

New York, March 14.
A Jacksonville letter in the Post, dated 11th, reports heavy firing up the river. Understood to be our gunboats feeling the rebel lines. Later that day our advance, Col. Henry's cavalry, was attacked and driven in from a second position, with a loss of a number of wounded. It was expected the rebels would make an attack on Jacksonville next day. If not our forces would soon advance.

The Ways and Means Committee have completed their amendments to the national banking bill, establishing a uniform rate of interest of 7 per cent, allowing existing State banks to retain their distinctive names, and abolishing the numbering of the banks.

Protest of Gov. Bramlette.
Frankfort, Ky., March 12.
It is understood that Gov. Bramlette has addressed an earnest remonstrance to the President respecting enrollment and enlistments of slaves in Kentucky; and has notified the President that he will execute the laws of Kentucky against all who attempt to take slaves from their owners without their consent.
He claims that Kentucky has furnished more than 50,000 of her sons to defend the government, and is willing to furnish still more, and all that is allotted to her; that she has proven her loyalty and must be treated as such, and her laws constitutionally enacted must be respected.

State Teachers' Institutes.—In compliance with the request of a large number of school officers and teachers, the Superintendent of Public Instruction has appointed a series of Teachers' Institutes to be held as follows: Holley, beginning at 1 P. M. Monday March 14 Lowville, " " " " " " 21 Rochester, " " " " " " 28 Parma, " " " " " " April 4 White Pigeon, " " " " " " 11 Niles, " " " " " " 18

Each Institute will open precisely at the hour appointed, and the proper work of the session will begin at once.
Teachers should be present, if possible, as the instruction is given in regular courses, and within the first hour after opening the Institute will be in full progress. Each Institute will be in session five days.

Cleveland, Ohio, is going to have a
