The Michigan Argus

ANN ARBOR. FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 8, 1872

THE ELECTION—THE RESULT. We need hardly tell the ARGUS readers that the election on Tuesday...

Without wearying our mathematical editor or testing the endurance of the reader we may say that the following States are claimed for GREELEY and BROWN:

Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, and Tennessee; 58 electoral votes. Alabama and Arkansas were in doubt on latest returns...

Majorities are not yet figured up, but are claimed all the way from 611 in Delaware to 125,000 in Pennsylvania.

—According to the Tribune the Democrats have not elected a single Senator and only five Representatives.

—The Toledo Commercial says that the result of the election on Tuesday is a vindication of the intelligence and virtue of the people...

—One of the brothers-in-law Dent, the hanger-on at the White House, is now charged with selling "his influence with the British Government" to the attorney of a claim agent.

—Panic of the Radicals in Ohio. This was the heading of an article in the N. Y. World for Monday.

—At Rochester, N. Y., the election officers were so anxious to swell the Grant majority that they permitted Susan B. Anthony and fifteen other strong-minded women to violate the election laws and vote.

—The President is satisfied with the result of Tuesday's elections, and especially "gratified that the people have vindicated his private character."

—Two women voted in the third ward of Toledo on Tuesday, one for Grant and the other for Greeley.

—Old convention goes as familiar with the phrase "informal ballot" that was what took place on Tuesday.

—It was the horse disease which kept so many Democrats away from the polls on Tuesday. If not, what was it?

—A Connecticut woman was refused registration and appealed to the courts for aid, which was refused.

—Geo. Francis Train tried to go bail for Mrs. Woodhall and Col. Clafin, but was rejected.

—The President's horses are down with the prevailing distemper.
