Subscribe for the Argus for 1873.
— Frosty, very: yesterday morning.
— A MERRY CHRISTMAS to every ARGUS reader.

— The fashionable sidewalk: the center of the street.
— Stated at last; that tower of the Presbyterian Church.
— The Zouaves are to celebrate Christmas at Ypsilanti.
— Order your New Year's calling cards at the Argus office.
— Order your Bill-Heads and Statements at the Argus office.
— Snowing lively: last evening. The boys and girls will say good.
— Call at the Argus office and see beautiful styles of New Year's cards.
— The Argus, Godey's Lady's Book and "Our Darling," a very beautiful chromo, for $4.50.

— Dr. KIELLOG, of the 5th Ward didn't get an artesian well but claims No. 1 magnetic water.

— LAURA KEENE is next on the list of the S. L. A. She reads Wednesday evening, January 23d.

— The public schools of this city close for the holidays to day, and will open again on the 6th of January.

— L. D. SALK of the Detroit Union has been "doin'" our city this week, and will write it up for that live journal.
— Our latest letter from J. M. WHEELER was tidied on the outside, "settled in Rome for the winter and all well."
— We wish to contract for 10 cords of good green blackwood; also for 5 cords of green white-ash; apply immediately.
— Beautiful snow: that's what the early riser discovered on Wednesday morning, light and fleecy as down and some four inches deep.

— The fair given by the ladies of the Lutheran Church (German), closed Monday evening and was a great success, netting about $1,000.

— Agent BURCH, of the T. A. A. & N. R. says he expects to commence working up the Northern division immediately after the 10th of January.

— We call attention to the numerously signed address in another column concerning Water-Works. Also to the legal opinion thereto appended.

— The recent reduction of $12 per ton in the price of iron is about equivalent to putting $50,000 in the treasury of the Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Railroad.

— The pickering and other fish which frequent the mouth of the Huron are in great tribulation for fear their water supply is to be cut off by the proposed Water-Works for this city.

— 52 loads of wood: that's the number we counted standing at the head of first flight of Ann Arbor stairs at three o'clock P. M. on Saturday last, besides any number of empty racks.

— We are indebted to our friend Moore, of the Rural New Yorker, for a copy of the magnificent Rural premium engraving. It is a capital picture and not a catch-penny from a worn out plate.

— If you live on the utmost verge of the city, but have paid a dollar of tax for the building of our school houses, or have any stock in our fine churches, you are directly interested in voting for Water-Works.

— After disposing of considerable business on Saturday last, Judge HIXON adjourned until the 27th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time he will dispose of matters in his hands, hear such matters as should be properly heard by him, and close his labors here.

— The Ypsilanti Sentinel says it knows that our people have no absolute right to take any water (from the Huron River) that they do not again return to the channel, and gives hints of broad injunctions. We warn water-drawers, tee men, and city cows to beware.

— It is proposed to extend "salt-water" pipes under New York City to furnish water for fire purposes, salt water being a better extinguisher than fresh. Why don't the opponents of Water-Works in our city take the hint and propose to utilize that artesian well on Main street?

— At a recent meeting of Golden Rule Lodge 158, F. & A. M., the following officers were elected: W. M.—W. A. Lovejoy; S. W.—Jay Roath; J. W.—I. C. Handy; S. D.—Fred. Shelmire; J. D.—S. B. Cavanaugh; Treas.—Chas. Spoor; Sec'y.—C. A. Chapin; Stewards—J. W. Johnson, H. T. Morton; Tyler—J. P. Little.

— At a meeting of Fraternity Lodge, No. 202, F. & A. M., held on Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected: John P. Little, W. M.; O. F. Webster, S. W.; John Slater, J. W.; John Armstrong, S. D.; Hiram Well, J. D.; Willard B. Smith, Treas.; W. S. Corlies, Secretary; Fred. Sorg, Tyler.

— The Ypsilanti Sentinel would "like to know if the flourishing city of Battle Creek wants to be under the stigma of a repudiating bonds for which it has had the money and spent it to the satisfaction and profit of its citizens." Why don't the Sentinel propound the same conundrum concerning the "flourishing city" of Ypsilanti?

— Don't vote against Water Works because you have a well in your door-yard or a half-cent 50 barrel cistern in your wood shed or under your kitchen.

— Neither affords any assurance of efficient protection to your own dwelling against fire, or even guarantees water for household use the season through. Supply and protection can only be furnished by Water-Works of large capacity.

The adjourned Water-Works meeting held on Monday evening last was largely attended. D. CHAMBER, Esq., presiding. The pending plan as submitted by the Common Council and to be voted upon on Monday next, was thoroughly discussed by Messrs. Seaman, Dr. Smith, Douglass, Frazer, Lawrence, McReynolds, Sessions, and Rogers. The plan was approved by all the speakers except Dr. Smith and Mr. McReynolds, and the electors ought to vote in about the same proportion.

Concerning a "Pavil Ball" which was circulated at several of the city churches last Sunday evening, we are desirous to say that the author or aggrieved person (two in one) is not a member of the M. E. church and has not been for several months, and that he is entitled to take no part in the social meetings. No effort has been made to exclude him from the regular public meetings, and it is only sought to exclude him from the social meetings in the interest of good order.

The death of Hon. GARRETT DAVIS, of Kentucky, was announced in the Senate on Wednesday.

The Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Agricultural and Horticultural Society was held at the Court House in this city on Tuesday the 17th inst. The meeting was quite large. The principal business done was the election of officers for the ensuing year, viz:

President.—J. J. Robinson, A. A. City.
Vice Presidents.—J. J. Parshall, J. G. Lealand, John Lowry, Jacob H. Hicks, Morgan O'Brien.

Recording Secretary.—D. M. Finley, A. A. City.

Corresponding Secretary.—L. Davis, A. A. City.
Treasurer.—J. J. Parshall, A. A. City.
Executive Committee.—L. C. Risdon, A. A. City; A. G. DeForest, A. A. Town; D. W. Palmer, Bridgeport; Norman Redner, Augusta; H. B. Jones, Dexter; G. F. Rash, Lodi; Isaac M. Whitaker, Lima; George Rowe, Lyndon; B. R. Porter, Manchester; Hascall Laraway, Northfield; Nelson Booth, Pittsfield; W. H. Dell, Saline; W. L. Crafts, Sharon; Hiram Arnold, Scio; John Campbell, Superior; J. G. Kalemach, Freedom; W. H. Holcomb, Sylvan; G. N. B. Reulick, Salem; Harrison Phelps, Webster; Peter Cook, York; A. M. Noble, Ypsilanti City; D. M. Uhl; Ypsilanti Town.

On Sunday evening last, in St. Andrew's church, the pastor, Rev. Dr. GILLESPIE, delivered a very interesting and instructive discourse on the "Sick Poor." He sketched the history and work of organized hospitals from an early day, and gave a rapid glance at the most prominent ones in our country. His conclusions were that the interests of humanity and the State required that the sick poor be cared for in hospitals rather than in poor-houses, and that it was therefore the duty of the State to provide one or more hospitals to which the sick poor could be committed, when by careful medical attendance they could be restored to health, and the public in consequence relieved of their support. This he thought could not be done in the ordinary poor-house, especially where $25 a year was the allowance for medical services, medicines included.

Dr. GILLESPIE spoke in very complimentary terms of the poor house of this country and its management, but pronounced it impossible to properly care for the sick and afflicted who are compelled to find a home there. He also referred to the modest mansion on the University grounds which had been converted into a hospital, and in which a noble work was being done, a work reflecting credit and honor upon the skilled physicians in charge.

The discourse ought to be placed in the hands of every member of the Legislature at the coming session, both for its facts and deductions. It discussed a subject upon which probably no other gentleman in the State is more competent to speak thoughtfully and intelligently.

THE BEST READING. Hints on the Selection of Books: on the Formation of Libraries, Public and Private; on Courses of Reading, etc., with a Classified Bibliography for easy Reference. New York: G. P. PUTNAM & SONS.

In this neatly gotten up volume of 256 pages—of "Putnam's Handy Book Series"—the author, "under some four hundred different themes or topics, has quoted briefly the titles of such books on each subject as are best known, and most surely acceptable either in American or English editions." He has also aimed to indicate the best and most elaborate books on given subjects, also the safest for those who want the best of the smaller works on a given subject, at moderate cost, with place of publication and price of each book catalogue.

To this comprehensive and valuable list are added papers prepared by Fred B. PERKINS: Readings on Reading—selections; Suggestions for courses of Reading; On Owning Books; and Hints on Book Clubs. Book buyers and book readers will find the volume a valuable assistant.

HOW TO EDUCATE YOURSELF: WITH OUTWARD MASTERS. Same Publishers and Series.

The author claims no patent system of easy education, and disclaims the existence of any "royal road to learning," but has for his sole purpose "to make the road to learning and culture somewhat easier than it is, particularly in the case of students who have no master." In clear and sharply defined English he gives his suggestions as to "how to mark out a Course of Study," and discusses common school and collegiate studies, the study of languages, mathematics, physical, moral and intellectual science, general reading, and how to read to the best advantage. We may say of the little volume—of only 150 pages—multum in parvo.

SOCIAL ECONOMY: BY J. E. THOMAS ROBERTS, Tooke Professor of Economic Science University of Oxford. Revised for American Readers. Same Publishers and Series.

In XXXVI. chapters or lessons the author has discussed in the clearest and most concise language the principles both of social and political economy which underlie social life as well as the foundations of the State. We cannot better indicate its scope and value than by quoting from the preface of the American edition: "The spirit and purpose of the book are excellent, and its teachings combine to a rare degree, simplicity and thoroughness. A full understanding of the principles it explains, will give to our young American students the basis of the knowledge that is indispensable for the clear-headed citizen and wise legislator, they should aim to become."

And even our national legislators might study some of the chapters with profit. HITS ON DRESS OR WHAT TO WEAR, WHEN TO WEAR IT, and How to Buy It. By ETHEL C. GALE. Same Publishers and Series.

In this little book of but 106 pages we have an intelligent consideration of the out-line history of costume, what we mean by dressing well, things indispensable, color, form and suitability, estimates of cost, how and what to buy, etc. We can but think that any lady who cares carefully through its pages will not only inform and cultivate her taste, but enlarge her means by being enabled to use them more systematically and economically.

These four volumes are for sale by J. C. WATSON and Co., Huron street.

Godey's Lady's Book for January comes to our table in advance of all the monthlies. Its illustrations are "Going to School in Winter," a capital steel engraving, a steel plate of the year, containing several pictures of elaborate colored fashion plate; a colored plate of fancy work, with other timely novelties. The contents are made up of stories and articles by the best writers, among which we will name the beginning of Marian Harland's new novelette, "The Battle for Bread." It is a model number, and what more could we say? Now is the time to subscribe. $3 a year, with "Our Darling," a first class chromo to each subscriber whether single or in a club of six for $14. Address L. A. GODEY, Philadelphia.

—Godey, the Argus, and "Our Darling"—mounted ready for framing—for $4.50. The chromo may be seen at the Argus office.

The Fire in Fulton, N. Y.

From the Fulton Patriot and Gazette, Nov. 29. Yesterday forenoon our village was startled by the cry of fire. (We haven't any alarm and are obliged to depend upon human lungs for notice in such a case). The scene of the excitement proved to be H. S. Condee & Son's Knitting Mill, at the east end of the lower dam. When we first came in sight of the building, the flames were pouring out of one of the lower windows and the smoke rolled up in a dense cloud. The Fire Department was promptly astir, but in the meantime a more powerful agent than water was brought to bear upon the flames. But a few days before Mr. Condee had purchased three Babcock Fire Extinguishers, and when the cry of fire sounded through his mill he at once tested them. The fire originated in the picker, and the sparks were blown into a small room partly filled with cotton. There the fire was confined, excepting what was smoking its way through the outside window. The Babcock Extinguishers were at once taken to the fire and set in operation, throwing a stream about as large as a pipe stem into this room which was a perfect mass of fire. Two were used and in an incredible short time not to exceed three or four minutes, the flames were extinguished. There was comparatively little damage done by fire and none by water, as the flames were under control before the steamers could be got to work.

Mr. Condee informs us that at the present time his mill is unusually full of work both finished and in progress, but fortunately none of it was injured. Too much can not be said in praise of these Babcock Fire Extinguishers, and we feel that our village was saved a disastrous fire by their prompt use yesterday.

We saw the BABCOCK on exhibition at Mr. BARNUM's store in Detroit a few days ago; also the wheeled machine he was to test yesterday. And, besides, Mr. B. had in store a large and fine stock of Wire Goods, etc., including some very beautiful flower stands, just the thing for window gardening, one of which ornaments a window in our boarding house.

"Best Paper and Best Premium."

This is the emphatic pledge of the veteran conductor and founder of Moore's Rural New Yorker in his Prospectus for 1873 and judging from his practice in redeeming promises during a score of years past, the public may expect its fulfillment. The Rural has long ranked as the leading weekly in its sphere. An exchange truly says: "Moore's Rural has now been before the public for over a score of years, and, as an agricultural journal, stands at the head of all published in America, and in many of its departments excels all competitors. To the farmer, especially, it is a most invaluable companion and counselor, furnishing interesting, instructive and reliable information on all matters relating to the Farm and Garden, Stock Raising, the Dairy and the Household. As a family paper, too, it is worthy of high commendation. Its moral tone is excellent; its summary of foreign and domestic news sufficient to give an idea of what is transpiring in the world, its reports of the markets reliable, and departments of knowledge necessary to make a live paper are properly attended to. It is also beautifully illustrated with original designs gotten up specially for it."

The improvements promised for 1873, and the fact that every one paying only $2.50 for the paper a year, will receive, as a Premium, a post-paid copy of a superb steel-plate Engraving worth $5, ought to double the circulation of the Rural New Yorker within three months. The principal office of the Rural is at No. 5 Beekman St., New York, where address D. D. T. MOORE, Publisher.

—The Rural and the Argus for $4.

The lecture of EDWARD YATES, in the S. L. A. course on Wednesday evening, drew an audience respectable in numbers, though not the largest of the season. The lecturer's subject was "Parliament," in getting to which he depicted the expectations and disappointments of the "ingenuous American" on opening day, and then took him to Parliament House and through an all night session. His descriptions were vivid and life-like, and his sketches of well-known men in their role of Parliamentary actors and debaters were entertaining. The delivery of Mr. YATES is better than we were led to expect by some criticisms, which had come under our notice, and we may say the same of both his manner and matter. He was very happy in "taking off" some of the weak points of his countrymen, and when he returns will probably be as happy in holding up to his fellow Englishmen the pen portraits of distinguished Americans.

We invite attention to the prospectus of the New York World, to be found in another column. The World is unquestionably one of the ablest papers published in the great metropolis. Its editorials are scholarly and able, and its news department has no superior.

Mrs. C. M. STONE has had on exhibition for several days at the store of J. R. WESTER & Co., three beautifully executed heads in oil: one a portrait of Madame LE BAUM, the original of Madame LE BAUM's own execution, and the others of DANTE and LEO NARDO from copies of the originals in one of the galleries at Florence. These heads are highly creditable to Mrs. STONE, and give evidence of a correct eye and skillful touch.

In commenting last week on a Register communication signed "CITIZEN" we mistook—as we are advised—the identity of the writer, and, therefore, made some allusions not exactly applicable. Hereafter we shall be more cautious in firing at writers sheltering themselves under assumed names.

We are requested to again call the attention of our citizens to the New England Dinner to come off at the Gregory House next Monday evening, Dec. 23d. The election of officers will take place promptly at 6 o'clock; the address at 7½; and the dinner at 7½. A good time is expected.

The members of the Bar of this Circuit are to meet at Jackson to-day "for the purpose of consulting together with reference to recommending to the Governor of the State some qualified and acceptable person to be appointed Circuit Judge," vice JUDGE HIXON, resigned.

Dr. TROSK says:—"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the disease for which the VERTICIL should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its rich good results. Almost innumerable complaints are cured by its use in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the VERTICIL. When the blood is perfectly cleaned, the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured."

Nervous Pain, or Irritability.—Trosc's Magnetic Ointment quiets the nerves at once, and affords the patient ease and rest. It should be applied, not very profusely, beginning at the temples, and passing over the whole skull.

It will be found more effective and less hurtful than preparations of opium.

See advertisement in another column.

Maynard.—We are now receiving the goods purchased by Mr. J. W. Maynard last week, in New York. Among them will be found many pretty articles for Christmas and the holidays.

When Dumb Animals cry out their gladness—when crabs and beetles and worms, when Rheumatism is banished—stiff joints made limber, and swellings disappear as if by magic, will we enquire into the secrets of the wonderful Centaur Liniment. There has never been anything like it. It has performed more cures of Rheumatism and muscle ailments upon man and beast in the past three months, than all other articles have in three hundred years.

Children cry—for Pinch's Castoria. It regulates the stomach, cures wind colic, and causes natural sleep. It is a substitute for castor oil.
